"Yes," he said, a little sadly. "I know what you are thinking of. Seems selfish, but I'm afraid I must go. My particular chief is out there now, over the ears in work and he must have help at once."

"It's a long way," I said.

"Yes," he answered, "a long way and a big work it will be. They say it is a five years' job." He paused and then added, as if to himself, "And the mother is not very strong any time."

"Do you think you really ought to go?" I asked. "You banish yourself, you know, from civilization and decent society, and your—your people have not seen much of you for the last ten years, and—and life is going on, you know."

I could not force myself to speak out brutally any fear that, when he said farewell to the sweet-faced little lady he still loved better than all else in the world, it would be to see her face no more. He read me quickly enough.

"Don't, old chap," he said, with a shake in his voice. "I know what you mean and I have gone over all that; but my work is out there and I must not shirk it. She will say, 'Go'—you'll see."

And so she did. After a week of hard work getting his outfit together and learning something of his duties as confidential secretary to the superintendent of construction, Graeme carried me off with him to his home to say good-bye. He had written fully of his plans, so that, when his mother greeted him at the little garden gate, I saw by the way she held her arms about him, looking long into his face, that no word of entreaty would be spoken by her and that she had given him up.

Those three last days were days of tender sacrament. Graeme talked fully of all his plans and his hopes in regard to the work he meant to do for the men in the mountains.

"Poor chaps!" he would say; "they mostly go down for lack of a hand to steady them at a critical time or to give them a lift when they have stumbled; and they have, most of them, mothers at home and some of them wives." And the mother would smile at him with a light of divine compassion in her eyes, feeling at such moments that for such work it were easy to have her son go from her.

They had long walks together through the woods and would come back laden with spoils—mosses and grasses and ferns—and they were happy with each other as a boy and girl in their first love. How I envied him and how I pitied him! Such a love is earth's greatest treasure, the loss of it earth's greatest loss. But the hours of the three days fled with winged feet, as do all happy hours, and we came to that hour of sweet agony we shrink from most and yet would not miss.

Long before the sun we had all been astir, for we had to catch an early train. Breakfast by lamplight is always a ghastly affair. The food is nauseating, the conversation drags wearily, the whole atmosphere is depressing.

Graeme was making a great effort to adopt a matter-of-fact tone with a little tinge of sharpness in it, except when he spoke to his mother. The father came down half dressed, as we were rising from an almost untasted meal, to have, according to his invariable custom, a word of prayer. It was always an ideal, that prayer of his.

A man must give up pretenses when he undertakes to address the Almighty. There is no place in prayer for simulated cheerfulness and courage, and as the old man prayed the barriers were borne down by a rush of feeling hitherto held in check by force of will. The brave little mother broke down into quiet weeping while the father commended "the member of the family departing from his home this day to the care and keeping of the great Father from whom distance cannot separate and to whom no land is strange." Graeme, too, I could see, was losing his grip of himself; but the prayer rose into a great strain of thanksgiving for "the love that reached down from heaven to save a world of lost men and for the noble company who were giving their lives to bring this love near to the men's hearts." Then we all grew quiet, and under the steadying of that prayer the farewells were easier.

"Good-bye, Leslie, my son; God be with you and keep you and make you a blessing to many," said the old gentleman. His voice was grave and steady, but he immediately turned aside and blew his nose like a trumpet, remarking upon the chilly morning air. The mother's farewell was without a word. She reached up and put her arms about her son's neck, kissed him twice and then let him go.

But while the trunks were being got onto the wagon she came and stood outside the gate, looking up at us with a face so white and wan, but with a smile so brave, so trembling, so pitiful, that I did not wonder that Graeme suddenly sprang down from the seat and ran to her.

"Oh, mother, mother!" he cried in a choking voice, gathering her to him, "I can't do it! I can't do it!"

"Oh, yes, we can, my boy," she answered, smiling, while her tears flowed down her pale cheeks. "For His sake we can."

And while we drove up the hill the smile faded from the face that seemed alight with a glory not of the rising sun.—Sunday school Times.

WHILE I TRUST HIM.

Ah! how oft I grow aweary,
Of the ceaseless strife,
Of the never-ending struggle
Of this earthly life;
Of the toiling and the climbing,
Up a rugged road,
Often faltering, slipping backward
'Neath a heavy load.

Why this deep, impatient yearning
For eternal rest,
When I know my heavenly Father
Ever knoweth best?
And he will not lay upon me
More than I can bear;
All my burdens, while I trust him,
He will truly share.

Father, help me to see the flowers
Springing round my feet!
Let me feel thy Spirit's presence Infinitely sweet!
May my undimmed eyes look upward
And my faith be strong,
While my being thrills with rapture,
Bursting forth in song!

What the threat ining storm clouds lower,
Mighty thunders roll,
And a night of Egypt gathers
Round my troubled soul?
While I lean, with faith unwavering,
On thy holy word,
There can be no Alps to bar me

From thy service, Lord!

MAUD W. PRICE.

NOTICE.

Secretaries of Daughters of Zion local societies are hereby requested to send to me as soon as possible after reading this notice, a full list of members, also stating changes in membership, and giving names of those lost and gained since last report. Address: Mrs. Callie B. Stebbins, Lamoni, Iowa.

> CALLIE B. STEBBINS, Recording Secretary.

PROGRAM FOR APRIL MEETINGS OF DAUGHTERS OF ZION.

Opening hymn, No. 719 Saints' Harp. Prayer. Scripture reading, Psalm 34. Discussion of select reading in Home Column. Roll call. Business. Closing hymn, Saints' Harp No. 200. Dismissal prayer.

NOTICE.

All members of local organizations of Daughters of Zion are requested to set apart March 27 as a day of fasting and prayer, that the Lord may direct us in our work during conference. Any who are interested in this work may join with us.

ADVISORY BOARD.

Sunday School Department.

ELDER T. A. HOUGAS, EDITOR.

Henderson, Mills Co., Iowa.

(Send communications for this department to the Editor Address minutes and notices of conventions, etc., to"Editors Herald, Lamoni, Iowa.")

A COUPLE OF JACKSCREWS.

A gang of workmen were busy at the crossing of Washington and Meridian streets, repairing the street and railroad tracks, writes Charles D. Meigs. They had dug all the dirt out from between the ties, in the middle and on either side, for a distance of twenty feet. Just at that point there was a switch and a curve and four tracks crossing. It was a bad place and a specially bad time for any street car to "jump the track," but just as I was passing the spot, rattlety bang! and the ponderous car with its load of passengers dumped itself down into the ruts between the ties and the rails, "hub deep."

"Thinks," says I, "that street car is now like some Sunday schools I have known-"down in the rut." I wonder if it will stay there, or will it get out and go on? Looking at my watch, I noticed I had five minutes to spare, so concluded to watch the process of getting that car "out of the rut," thinking that I might learn a Sunday school lesson at the same time. The first thing I noticed was that the car wasn't making any progress while down in the rut. It was at a standstill. Isn't that generally the case with a Sunday school when it is down in a rut? Isn't it always at a stand-still so long as it runs in "the same old rut?" Ah! there is an "Irish bull." for how can it stand still while it runs, even if it does run in a rut? Well, that suggests another Sunday school conundrum: "What is it that stands still when it runs?" Answer: "A Sunday school that runs in a rut." But this is a digression; let us get back to the stuck-in-the-mud street car.

The second thing I noticed was that when the car got in the rut the passengers began to desert it. They did not find it very attractive, and the "attendance fell off rapidly." Ever see anything like that in an off-thetrack Sunday school? It is needless to say that the boys were the first ones to desert the street car when it got into the rut. They hustled out in a hurry, and who could blame them? Surely that point does not need any additional "pointer" to make it plain.

The third thing I noticed was that the trolly was on, and the wire was all right. In other words there was plenty of power "above," but there was no power below. Somehow the street car was in such a condition that it could not call down the power from above, and so it was "dead," and of course made no progress. Ever see a Sunday school in that kind of a fix?

The fourth thing I noticed was something that does not always happen when a Sunday school gets down in a rut. The officers of the street car-those who had it in charge and were responsible for it-the moment they discovered that their car was down in the rut, off the track, making no progress, they went to work vigorously to get it out of the rut. And how do you suppose they did it? The great car was too heavy to be lifted by mere human strength, so in less time than it takes to tell a couple of jackscrews were placed under the car, near the wheels that were off the track, and as quick as the jackscrews began to go round, the car began to go up. And who was it that turned the jack-screws? Why, the "officers," of course. You surely don't think it was the passengers' business, do you? If the officers had waited for the passengers to get the car out of the rut, the company would have discharged them before night.

Well, in just exactly five minutes by the watch, by the help of those two jackscrews, that car was out of the rut and on the track. "Ting"—"ting"—"ting" went the conductor's bell; "clang," "clang," "clang," went the motorman's gong, and slowly but surely the car moved round the corner.

On reaching the crossing it stopped, and then I noticed the fifth thing that happened. As soon as the car was out of the rut, the passengers began to flock back to it, and many new ones came, so the car was loaded full and away it went; power all right, above and below. And that is just what will happen to a Sunday school when it gets out of the rut and begins to move and make progress. The boys will come back and the girls will come back and there will be plenty of teachers for them.

And now how about those two jackscrews that lifted the car out of the rut. Did they do it themselves? No; they had to be worked, but it was much easier to work them than to lift the car back onto the track without them. I named those two jackscrews: One I called "Teachers' meeting;" and the other "Home Department," and if they won't boost a Sunday school out of the rut, no two jackscrews ever will.

But alas! how many schools there are that do not realize the need of these two jackscrews. While standing dead still, on the track, or off the track, rather, they say, "We've got a good working school," and that's enough for them. When it comes to "good, better, best," they are satisfied with the "good," and leave the better and the best for those who have the Teachers' Meeting and the Home Department properly conducted.

Some one has said that "the only difference between a grave and a groove is a little matter of depth." O, Sunday school, if you be down in a rut, you be in a groove, possibly you are dead in your grave, and don't know it!

What a pity.
Get the jackscrews, quick!

—lowa S. S. Helper.

NODAWAY.

Sunday school association met in convention at Guilford, Missouri, February 1. Bro. T. A. Ivie in the chair. Bro. T. A. Hougas offered prayer and addressed the convention. Pleasant Hope, Platte, and Sweet Home school reports were read. Report of program committee was read, finding the program consisting of two sessions: Oration by T. A. Ivie, solos, recitations, papers on school topics, quartettes, talks, and instrumental music. Officers elected: T. A. Ivie, superintendent for one year; Isaac Ross, assistant; W. B. Torrance, secretary; John Rowlett, treasurer; William Ross, librarian. The superintendent act as chairman of program committee next quarter and has the power to appoint two assistants. E. S. Fannon and Isaac Ross were the two appointed. Treasurer, C. C. Nelson, reported. E. S. Fannon, D. C. White, J. A. Davis, Isaac Ross, and J. Hawley delegates to General Convention. Bro. Hougas illustrated the work of the librarian and the library. A collection of $5.35 was taken up to defray the expenses of Bro. Hougas. Adjourned to meet with Bedison school, May 30, at 7:30 p. m.

LITTLE SIOUX.

Sunday school convention met at Magnolia, Iowa, March 1. District officers present: J. F. Mintun, superintendent; Nellie Ballantyne, treasurer; Annie Stuart, librarian; Lenna Strand, secretary. Schools reporting: Woodbine, Moorhead, Magnolia, Mondamin, Sunny Glen, Persia, Sloan, Missouri Valley, Porter Hollow, Sloux City, Bigler's Grove, Logan, and Little Sioux. East Union Center and Hope schools not reported. Treasurer's report read: On hand last report $7.42; paid out $3 90; received $1; amount on hand $4 52. Officers chosen for ensuing year: J. F. Mintun, superintendent; George Shearer, assistant; Lenna Strand, secretary; Nellie Ballantyne, treasurer; Annie Stuart, librarian. Delegates to General Convention: J. F. Min-Delegates to General Convention: J. F. Mintun, J. Atkinson and wife, Wilma Erickson, J. M. Baker, W. A. Smith and wife, Cora Smith, G. E. Erickson, Joseph Lane and wife, May Mayo, Sr. Joshua Lane, Sarah Hoffman, F. E. Cohrt, Annie Stuart, Oscar Case, D. R. Chambers and wife, W. T. Fallon, J. W. Wight, J. F. McDowell and wife, Rose Williams, S. B. Kibler and wife, C. Derry, A. M. Fyrando, M. Jensen and wife, G. M. Scott and wife. In case of division, delegates were authorized to cast majority delegates were authorized to cast majority and minority vote. Paper, "Gardens and gardening," by A. M. Fyrando; paper, "Local librarian;" by Annie Stuart; paper, "What is the best way to cure tardiness," read by Nellie Ballantyne. All these were ordered sent to editor of Sunday school col-umn in Herald. Discussion: "Shall we umn in HERALD. Discussion: "Shall we use international lesson texts for lessons in Quarterlies?" Normal work, "Visiting committee," by S. B. Kibler. Collection of $1.80 received. A special collection to be taken in each school at each quarterly business meeting. Adjourned to Mondamin, Friday previous next quarterly conference.

PITTSBURG.

Sunday school convention of Pittsburg district convened at Wheeling, West Virginia, March 1 and 2. General superintendent, T. A. Hougas, in charge. Louis A. Serig, secretary. Reports were received from the following schools: Pioneer of Pittsburg, Unity of Fayette City, and River View of Wheeling. The following officers were elected for ensuing term. Superintendent, F. G. Pitt; assistant, O. J. Tary; secretary, L. A. Serig; treasurer, Joseph Ebeling; librarian, E. H. Thomas. Adjourned to meet at Fayette City, at call of superintendent.

Conference Minutes.

KIRTLAND.

Conference was held at Cleveland, Ohio, February 23 and 24. G. T. Griffiths chairman, O. B. Thomas and F. J. Ebeling assistants, Dora McFarland secretary pro tem. Ministry reporting: Elders F. J. Ebeling, Richard Baldwin. D. M. Strachan, and J. Cramer; Priests Eben Miller and J. Hollibaugh. Bishop's agent's audited report: On band last report $39 55; present report $482 31. hand last report $39 55; present report $482 31; expenditures $408.74; balance on hand $73.37. Report of tent collections read, and F. J. Ebeling, chairman of committee, advised that the tent be dispensed with, and that all the money, except that paid in by the Sunday schools, be placed into the hands of Bishop's agent. Motion prevailed. Delegates to General Conference are instructed to work for General Conference to be at Kirtland, Ohio. Resolved that we petition Kirtland and surrounding districts to work in conjunction with Kirtland branch, by helping to provide for General Conference, and the following committee was selected to look after the same: G. T. Griffiths, O. B. Thomas, F. J. Ebeling, Richard Baldwin, and Eben Miller. Delegates to General Conference: O. B. Thomas, G. T. Griffiths, W. H. Kelley, F. J. Ebeling, Richard Baldwin, Hattie R. Griffiths, and Sr. Hanna. Resolved that we sustain all our general church officers, and that we hold them in our highest esteem that we hold them in our highest esteem. Resolved that Kirtland district requests General Conference, when it adjourns, that it appoint the next General Conference at Kirtland, Ohio. Resolved that we, the Saints of Kirtland district assembled, beg leave to ask the First Presidency, if it is in harmony with the Holy Spirit, to return to us, as missionary in charge, our beloved and worthy brother, Gomer T. Griffiths. We are willing, however, if the Spirit directs otherwise, to forego our wish in compliance with the law of God. Officers elected for next seven months: Richard Baldwin, president; W. J. Baldwin, secretary. Eben Miller sustained as Bishop's agent. Sunday morning prayer meeting in charge of Brn. Harrington and Steffe. Sacrament meeting in charge of G. T. Griffiths, Preaching O. B. Thomas, and F. J. Ebeling. by R. Baldwin, F. J. Ebeling, and G. T. Griffiths. Sunday evening meeting in charge of O. B. Thomas, G. T. Griffiths, and Eben Mil-Adjourned to meet at Kirtland, the first Saturday and Sunday in October.

LITTLE SIOUX.

Conference convened at Magnolia, Iowa, March 2 and 3. J. A. Donaldson chosen to preside, assisted by J. W. Wight and J. M. Baker, Lenna Strand and J. F. Mintun, clerks. Logan, Persia, Little Sioux, Magnolia, Woodbine, Sioux City, Union Center, Mondamin, and Missouri Valley branches reported. Bishop's agent's report: On hand December 1, 1900, $4 33; received since $668.67; paid out $625.73; on hand March 1, 1901, $47.27. Ministry reporting: J. W. Wight, C. Derry, A. M. Fyrando, J. M. Baker, S. B. Kibler, G. M. Scott, J. F. McDowell, J. F.

Mintun, W. A. Smith, J. A. Donaldson, D. A. Hutchings, W. T. Fallon, M. Jensen, F. Hansen, F. E. Cohrt, J. P. Garner, S. H. McDonald, G. H. Shearer, F. J. Seeley, A. Johnson, Joseph Lane, D. Maule, and C. F. Pratt; Priests H. L. Fry, J. N. Mann, R. A. Ballantyne, J. E. Gunsolley, and R. C. Chambers; Teachers Asa Hight, J. O. Booth, C. M. Wilder, and R. Kirkwood. Secretary's report of work done on district records read and adopted, and sufficient time to complete the work granted. The president and secretary of district were authorized to issue a priest's license to H. L. Fry. Reports of Religio and Sunday school conventions read. Delegates to General Conference: W. A. Smith, J. F. Mintun, James Atkinson and wife, Wilma Erickson, Bessie Jensen, C. Derry, J. A. Donaldson, Rose Williams, Lillie Williams, G. E. Erickson, A. M. Fyrando, J. E. Chambers, F. E. Cohrt, J. M. Baker, S. J. Hoffman, G. M. Scott, J. F. McDowell and wife, D. A. Hutchings, D. R. Chambers, Annie Stuart, A. Hight and wife, Sr. W. A. Smith, W. T. Fallon, J. W. Wight, Joseph Lane and wife, Mark Jensen, S. B. Kibler, George Shearer, Oscar Case, May Mayo, Cora Smith, and Sr. S. B. Kibler. In case of division, the delegates present to cast a majority and minority vote. The proposed amendments of Rules of Order and Debate, as published in HERALD of December 26, 1900, were discussed, and amendments 1, 2, 3, and 5, favored. No action was taken on amendment 4. District officials chosen: J. A. Donaldson, president; G. M. Scott and A. M. Fyrando, assistants; Lenna Strand, secretary. By motion, F. E. Cohrt was granted a district appointment. Bro. S. B. Kibler was requested to act with Bro. Pearsall of Galland's Grove district in organizing a choral society for the coming reunion. One priesthood meeting, one prayer service, and four preaching services were held. Preaching by C. Derry, J. W. Wight, F. E. Cohrt, and W. A. Smith. Adjourned to Mondamin, Iowa, the second Saturday and Sunday in June.

NODAWAY.

Conference convened with Platte branch, at Guilford, Missouri, February 2. E. S. Fannon president, W. B. Torrance secretary. Visiting brethren were invited to take part in the business. Those reporting were E. S. Fannon, J. Arthur Davis, D. C. White, T. A. Hougas, (stated that he was not out to preach, but as he was engaged in Sunday school work had noted an improvement in the district since last here; the outlook of J. C. Vaughn, Thomas Ivie, J. Hawley, C. C. Nelson, W. B. Torrance, Joseph Lane, Robert Nelson, and Jacob Hansen. By vote, Bro. Hougas was given from eleven to twelve o'clock to illustrate the manner of the district superintendent's preparation for convention work. Afternoon session. Report of tent committee was read. In their judgment the old tent is unfit to begin another season of tent work, and by correspondence had obtained the prices of new tents. Report accepted and committee discharged. The ordination of Bro. R. Lorensen to the office of elder was impracticable at present. A committee appointed to dispose of the old tent. Moved that we now accept pledges to see how much can be obtained toward purchasing a new tent. Moved that Bro. J. C. Vaughn be custodian of these pledges, and also receive money and report to this body. Moved that the committee appointed to sell the old tent be authorized to purchase a new tent and seats when there is money enough placed at their disposal. D. C. White, J. Arthur Davis, William Woodhead, J. C. Vaughn, E. S. Fannon, R. K. Ross, T. A. Ivie, Isaac Ross, Becca Jensen, T. A. Ivie, Isaac Ross, Becca Jensen, Arthur Hailey, and David Wyatt delegates to General Conference. E S. Fannon was elected president, and W. B. Torrance secretary for another quarter. Adjourned to Union church, Bedison branch, June 1 and 2. Bro. William Woodhead preached Saturday evening. Sunday morning found a severe snowstorm raging, hence all meetings on Sunday were not attended.

SOUTHERN WISCONSIN.

Conference was held in Saints' church at East Delavan, February 2 and 3. W. A. McDowell in the chair, J. O. Dutton secretary. Branch reports: Janesville 48, Oregon 51, Buckwheat Ridge 23, East Delavan 90. No reports from Flora Fountain or Wheatville. Ministry reporting: High Priest W. A. McDowell; Elders W. P. Robinson, F. L. Sawley, C. C. Hoague; Priest August Johnson; Teacher F. M. Ball; Deacons J. O. Dutton and Oliver McDowell. J. O. Dutton, district treasurer, reported: On hand September 6, $7.34; received $5.25; total $12.59. C. C. Hoague, Bishop's agent, reported: On hand September 6, $169 01; received $305 69; total receipts $474.70; disbursements $313 84; on hand February 2, $160 86. Audited and found correct. Delegates to General Conference: W. A. McDowell and W. P. Robinson; also, all missionaries attending from the State are authorized to cast a delegate vote for the district. Preaching by F. L. Sawley and W. A. McDowell. Adjourned to meet with Wheatville branch in June; time left to the discretion of district president.

SOUTHEASTERN ILLINOIS.

Conference convened at Springerton, Illinois, March 2. John T. Davis presiding, F. M. Davis secretary pro tem. Branches reporting: Brush Creek 297, Tunnel Hill 142, Parrish 87. Springerton, Dry Fork, Kibbie, and Kinmundy not reported. Elders reporting: J. T. Davis, I. A. Morris baptized one, M. R. Brown; Priest John M. Bass; Teachers N. L. Upton and J. E. Bozarth. A recommendation from Parrish branch that J. E. Bozarth and F. M. Davis be ordained elders was read, and their ordination ordered. Delegates to General Conference: Elisha Webb, W. A. Kelley, W. E. Sutton, F. M. Slover, J. T. Davis, Rina Casey, and Nancy Swan. At the sacrament meeting J. E. Bozarth and F. M. Davis were ordained elders. Preaching by John T. Bozarth, J. T. Davis, and W. A. Kelley. Adjourned to meet at Parrish, June 1, at ten a. m. A. H. Burroughs, district clerk.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Conference convened at San Bernardino in their chapel, on corner of Fifth and G streets, March 1. T. W. Williams and A. E. Jones presiding, E. A. Smith and Maggie Pankey secretaries. Branch reports: San Bernardino 272; 1 baptism. Los Angeles 171; 5 baptisms. Newport 251. Ministry reporting: High Priests T. W. Williams, Albert Carmichael, and A. E. Jones; Elders William Gibson, E. A. Smith, J. W. Brackenbury, H. I. Hemmingway; Priests J. Wixom, C. M. Salter, and James Baldwin; Teachers S. Penfold, H. S. Pankey, and J. Miller. Bishop's agent's audited report: On hand, $373.07; received, $1,697 35; dispensed, $1,793.13; balance due church, $278.29. A. Carmichael. A committee consisting of the president and secretary of each branch was selected to act as a committee to locate branch boundaries. On motion, branch officers were instructed to use all means to locate scattered members, and failing, they were to transfer their names to the district record as scattered. Present officers were sustained and resolution passed that the term of district officers be for one year. Delegates to General Conference: T. W. Williams, T. W. Chatburn, D. A. Anderson, and Maggie Pankey. Provisions were made for the district to defray the expenses of Bro. Williams to and from conference. It was also provided that in case

Bro. Williams could not go, that we send Bro. A. E. Jones in his stead. Preaching by Elders C. W. Earl, J. Brackenbury, A. Carmichael, and T. W. Williams. Sunday was devoted to fasting and prayer, that the sick may be healed and that the Father may be pleased to bestow more spiritual blessings upon the district. Adjourned to meet with the Los Angeles branch; time left to the district president. This was one of the most spiritual conferences ever held in the district. Complete harmony prevailed throughout. The power of God was markedly present. Addresses of branch officers: T. W. Williams, Los Angeles, 1322 Myrtle avenue; A. E. Jones, San Bernardino, 1720 Walnut avenue; A. Carmichael, Anaheim, Rural Delivery No. 1.

MOBILE.

Conference met at Three Rivers branch, Mississippi, March 2 and 3. W. L. Booker president, Wiley Mizell secretary pro tem. Branches reporting: Three Rivers 82 (on district book 94); 3 baptized, 2 died. Bluff Creek 67 (on district book 65). Theodore 37; 3 baptized. Elders reporting: W. L. Booker, G. W. Sherman, and John Mizell; and Deacon Wiley Mizell. T. C. Kelley and D. E. Tucker delegates to General Conference. W. L. Booker, Bishop's agent, reported: Received since last report $19.18; expended $45.25; on hand $34.73. Adjourned to meet at Theodore branch, June 29.

SOUTHERN NEBRASKA.

Conference met at Wilber, December 30 and 31. District president, J. W. Waldsmith, in charge; Robert White secretary pro. tem. Preaching by E. Robertson and W. M. Self; one social meeting. The following brethren reported: Of the Quorum of Twelve, James Caffall; High Priest, J. W. Waldsmith; Seventy, C. H. Porter; Elders W. M. Self, A. J. Myers, C. E. Blodgett, W. Savage; Priests E. Robertson, J. F. Lippencott, S. Brolliar. Teacher, John Hollenbeck. Branches reporting: Nebraska City, Blue River, Shelton, Hebron, and Elmwood. Total membership 478; gain 5, loss 5. District officers: President and Bishop's agent, J. W. Waldsmith; Secretaries: E. D. Briggs and J. S. Meyer. Delegates to General Conference: J. W. Waldsmith, C. H. Porter, H. E. Christy and wife, E. Robertson, W. M. Self, W. Savage and wife, S. Brolliar and wife, M. H. Forscutt, J. B. Gouldsmith, R. O. Self, J. F. Lippencott, H. W. Belville. Resolved that this conference is in harmony with the missionary in charge regarding the boundary line of the district. Adjourned to meet at Nebraska City; time subject to call of the president.

EASTERN IOWA.

Conference of above district met with Fulton branch February 23 and 24. C. E. Hand in the chair, J. R. Sutton secretary. Branches reporting: Powersville, Osterdock, Fulton, Grove Hill, Muscatine, Green Valley, and Clinton. Elders reporting: C. E. Hand, T. J. Sheldon, John Heide, O. H. Bailey, W. E. LaRue, L. E. Hills, J. R. Sutton, and J. F. Rulon; Priests F. H. Horne, C. G. Dykes, and J. C. Hosier. John Heide, Bishop's agent, reported: On hand last report, $230 56: received, $743.31; total, $973 87; expended, $630.20; on hand February 23, $343.67. District treasurer reported. Delegates to General Conference: T. J. Sheldon, L. E. Hills, and W. E. LaRue. The reunion committee was authorized to accept the invitation to cooperate with Kewanee district in a reunion. C. E. Hand was sustained as district president, O. H. Balley vice president, J. R. Sutton secretary. Preaching by T. J. Sheldon, L. E. Hills, W. E. LaRue, and C. E. Hand. Next conference to be held at Green Valley, at the call of the president.

SOUTH MISSOURI.

Conference of above district was held at Springfield, Missouri, March 2 and 3. D. W. Thomas presiding, G. W. Winegar secretary. Branches reporting: Woodside 41, Pomona 65, Grove Springs 22, Springfield 96; Ava, number not stated; Johns Mills, West Plains, and Mountain Grove, no reports. Elders reporting: J. B. Graham, D. W. Thomas, H. Sparling; Priest J. T. Davis. Bishop's agent, H. Sparling, reported having received $65 40, and had paid the same to elders' families. Resolution was passed to sell the old district tent and purchase a new one, each branch in the district paying their ratio of the amount required. Delegates to General Conference: required. Delegates to General Conference: Henry Sparling, Sarah Sparling, Leela Bishop, Sr. Hughes, Mattie Thompson, and Sr. Northrup. Preaching by H. Sparling and J. T. Davis. Adjourned to meet June 1, at Woodside, Oregon county, Missouri.

Miscellaneous Department.

REDUCED RATES TO GENERAL CONFERENCE.

TRUNK LINE ASSOCIATION.

Trunk Line Association has also granted a rate of one and one third fare round granted a rate of one and one third fare round trip, certificate plan, to General Conference, etc., Independence, Missouri. Trunk Line territory is "from Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Dunkirk, and Salamanca, N. Y., Erie and Pittsburg, Pa., Bellaire, O, Wheeling, Parkersburg, and Huntington, W. Va., and points east thereof, except in New England."

Going tickets may be purchased Avil 2.7

Going tickets may be purchased April 2-7, on this Association "Certificates are not kept at all stations. In such case delegates should purchase local ticket to station where certificates are kept and there obtain through List of roads making the reduction: B. &

O. (Parkersburg, Bellaire, & Wheeling, and east thereof); Buffalo & Susquehanna; Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg; Central of New Jersey; Chesapeake & Ohio (Huntington, W. Va., and east thereof); Chesapeake Steam-ship Co.; Cumberland Valley; Delaware & Hudson; Delaware, Lackawanna & Western; Hudson; Delaware, Lackawanna & western; Erie (Buffalo, Dunkirk, Salamanca, and east thereof); Fonda, Johnstown & Gloversville; Jamestown & Chautauqua; Lehigh Valley; New York Central & Hudson River, Main Line & Branches, including R. W. & O., Adirondack, and Penna. Divisions, but not Adirondack, and Penna. Divisions, but not including stations on the Harlem and Putnam Divisions, or St. L. & A. Ry.; New York, Oatario & Western; New York, Phila. & Norfolk; Norfolk & Washington Steamboat Co.; Pennsylvania, including Buffalo and Allegheny Valley Division (formerly W. N. Y. & P. and Allegheny Valley Rys.); Northern Central; Phila. & Erie; Phila., Wilmington & Balto.; Washington Southern; Wast Jersey & Seashore; Phila. & Reading. West Jersey & Seashore; Phila. & Reading: West Shore.

CENTRAL PASSENGER ASSOCIATION.

The Central Passenger Association has also granted the same reduced rate of one and one third fare round trip, certificate plan, to the General Conference and Conventions, Independence, Missouri, and on the same general terms; namely: that going tickets must be purchased at full fare, a certificate to be obtained with every ticket purchased and corresponding therewith. However, reduction will not be granted by this Association on tickets costing less than seventy-five cents. Provided further, that going tickets in this Association must be purchased from April 2-7, not later.

Certificates are not transferable. forget that tickets must be handed promptly to the Church Secretary on arrival; also that all holders of certificates must be present at General Conference at Independence, Missouri, on April 9 or 10, the two days only on which certificates will be filled out and returned by the joint agent of the Western

The territory of the Central Association is bounded on the East by Pittsburg, Salamanca, Buffalo, and Toronto; on the north by the line of and including points on the Grand Trunk Railway, from Toronto to Port Huron, thence via Lakes Luron and Michigan to Chicago; on the west by Peoria, Keokuk, Quincy, Hannibal, St. Louis, and Cairo; and on the south by the Ohio river, but including points on either side of that river.

The following lines of road are included: Ann Arbor R. R., B. & O. R. R., B. & O. S. W. R. R., C. & O. Ry., C. & E. I. R. R., Chicago & Erie and Erie R. R., C. I. & L. Ry., Cago & Erie and Erie R. R., C. I. & L. Ry., C. & M. V. R. R., Cincinnati Northern R. R., C. H. & D. Ry., C. C. & St. L. Ry., C. L. & W. Ry., C. T. & V. R. R., C. A. & C. Ry., C. N. O. & T. P. Ry. Co., C. S. & H. R. R., D. A. V. & P. R. R., D. & C. N. Co., D. & L. N. Ry., E. & I. R. R., E. & T. H. R. R., F. Ft. W. & W. Ry., G. R. & I. Ry., G. T. Ry. System, Hocking Valley Ry., Ill. Cent. R. R. (Peoria Division), I. D. & W. Ry., I. I. & I. R. R., J. & St. L. Ry., L S. & M. S. Ry., L. & N. R. R., L. E. & W. R. R., L. H. & St. L. Ry., Mich. Central R. R., Mobile & Ohio R. R., N. Y. C. & St. L. R. R., N. & W. Ry., Ohio Central Lines, Ohio Southern R. R., O. & L. K. R. R., Ohio River R. R., Pennsylvania Lines, Pere Marquette R. R., Pitts, Bessemer, & Lake Erie R. R., P. & L. E. R. R., P. & W. Ry., Pittsburg, Lisbon, & Western Ry., Southern Ry. (St. Louis Division), T. P. & W. Ry., T. St. L. & W. R. R., Van-dalia Line, Wabash R. R., W. & L. E. R. R. SOUTHEASTERN PASSENGER ASSOCIATION.

The Southeastern Passenger Association has also granted the same reduction in rate, and on the same general terms; except that going tickets may be purchased April 2 to 8 on any of those dates. If through ticket cannot be purchased at the starting point, the person should purchase to the most convenient point at which such ticket can be obtained and there repurchase through to the place of meeting, procuring a standard certificate from each agent from whom a ticket is pur-chased. Certificates will not be honored by conductors; they must be presented to ticket

The Southeastern Association includes the following lines: A. C. L. R. R. Co., A. G. S. R. R., A. & V. Ry., A. & N. Ry., A. & W. P. R. R., A. & V. Ry., A. & N. Ry., A. & W. P. R. R., A. K. & N. Ry., A. V. & W. Ry., Blue Ridge R. R., C. & W. C. Ry., Chesapeake S. S. Co., C. of G. Ry. Co., C. R. & S. R. R., C. N. O. & T. P. Ry., E. & W. R. R., F. & P. R. R., F. E. C. Ry., Frank. & Cin. Ry., Georgia R. R., G. S. & F. Ry., I. C. R. R. (South of the Ohio river), K. C. M. & B. R. R., L. & N. R. R., Macon & Birm. Ry., M. D. & S. R. R., Mobile & Ohio R. R., N. C. & St. L. Ry., N. O. & N. E. R. R., N. & W. Ry., N. & W. S. B. Co., O. R. & C. Ry., Pa. R. R. (South of Washington), Plant System, P. F. & P. R. R., R. F. & P. R. R., S. A. L. Ry., S. C. & G. Exten. R. R., Southern Ry., T. & N. E. R. R., V. & S. W. Ry., W. & A. R. R., W. Ry. of Ala., W. & T. R. R. The Southeastern Association includes the

TRANS CONTINENTAL ASSOCIATION.

The Trans-Continental Passenger Association, in reply to request for reduced rates on the certificate plan, makes the following statement:-

"After a thorough investigation as to the prospective attendance from Trans-Continental territory—the states of California, Nevada, Oregon, and Washington—on the part of representatives of initial Pacific Coast lines, it has been decided that the attendance will not be sufficient to warrant any reduction below the regular nine months rate. Your attention is respectfully called to the fact that the nine months' rate applying daily is approximately two cents per mile each way, or one and one third fare for the round trip, which is the general excursion fare applicable throughout the East. One and one third fare is probably the lowest rate that our lines would agree to make in this case in any event.

We understand from the above that parties going to Independence, Missouri, from above territory, will be able to obtain a rate of two cents per mile, or equivalent to that granted by other associations; namely, one and one third fare round trip, though, as we also understand, not on the certificate plan. Passengers will therefore take notice and make full inquiries beforehand, from their railroad agents, that they may purchase tickets to the best advantage.

The following named roads are included in the above Association: Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe; Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific; Colorado & Southern; Colorado Midland; Denver & Rio Grande; Florence & Cripple Creek; Midland Terminal; Pecos System; Rio Grande Southern; Rio Grande Western; Santa Fe Pacific: Santa Fe, Prescott & Phœnix; San Francisco & Josquin Valley; Silverton Railroad; Silverton Northern; Southern California; Southern Pacific (Pacific System); Union Pacific.

Take notice that of the above the Atchison, Topeka & Sante Fe; Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific; Colorado Midland; Denver & Rio Grande; Rio Grande Western; and Union Pacific; are also among those included in the Western Association as granting rates on the certificate plan; hence passengers should make due inquiries of agents beforehand, that tickets may be purchased to best advantage-whether excursion or certificate

tickets.

R S. SALYARDS, Church Secretary. LAMONI, IOWA, MARCH 14.

QUORUM PICTURE.

To the High Priests:-This is to inform you that group picture has been made, it is upon a card 16 x 20, and will be on sale at the General Conference at Independence. Have returned all photographs as requested, and if any have failed to receive their copy, please let me know at once.

ROBT. M. ELVIN. Box 224, Lamoni, Iowa.

EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENTION, SAN FRAN-CISCO, JULY 18-21, 1901.

SAINTS HERALD, Lamoni, Iowa;

Gentlemen:—At a meeting of the Trans-Continental Passenger Association held in Chicago, February 18, 19, 1901, the following resolutions were adopted affecting the Epworth League meeting, San Francisco, July 18-21, 1901:

Resolved:

1. That advertising contracts should be confined to the usual arrangements with legitimate newspapers and the transportation given in exchange must be furnished only to bona fide representatives of papers.

2. Itinerary or special advertising: In such cases in which such is necessary, no cash shall be paid organizer of party to cover cost of such printing, but the initial Trans-ontinental line may print same, arranging with lines in interest upon the division of the actual cost of printing.

3 Compensation for leaders: No salary, commission or other form of compensation shall be paid for services in working up parties. No hotel bills, meals en route, sleeping car fare or other personal expenses shall be paid.

4. No free or reduced rate transportation or concessions of any character shall be given in connection with Epworth League traffic. If any arrangements have been made which are in conflict with the above, it is the distinct understanding that such arrangements shall be at once cancelled.

Resolved:-

That the Chairman hand a copy of the agreement adopted at today's session, in reregard to concessions on Epworth League business, to the President or Secretary of the

The Saints' Herald.

(Established 1860.)

Published Every Wednesday, at Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Subscription price, $1.50 per year.
Address communications for publication to "Editors Herald."

*Mattors Herald."

Marriage, birth, and death notices: Marriages, $1.00 per 100 words or fraction thereof. Births, 50 cents per 75 words or fraction thereof. Deaths, 100 words free, above that number 50 cents per 100 words or fraction thereof. To insure prompt insertion, make remittance with notice.

For advertising rates apply to business mana-

All errors in the filling of orders or rendering of All errors in the filling of orders or rendering of accounts should be reported immediately, as receipts for all money received are sent within twe days after reaching the office.

Send all business letters and make all remittances payable to Herald Publishing House, Lock Box E, Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Entered at post office, Lamoni, Iowa, as secondelass mail matter.

Subscriptions received for Zion's Ensign, also orders for all kinds of Ensign Publications.

National organization and explain to him that in view of the fact that the railroads have made an exceedingly low rate for their excursion and have adopted this resolution in the interest of fairness to all railroad companies, that said national officers are requested to furnish copies of it to all state transportation committees and others who have to do with the selection of official routes, with the request that they observe the spirit of these resolutions by not soliciting or accepting favors from the railroads.

Respectfully J. CHARLTON, Chairman.

GENERAL CONVENTIONS.

RELIGIO PROGRAM.

Tuesday, April 2.

7:30 p.m. Preliminary meeting; appointment of committees; reports of districts and locals; brief speeches.

Wednesday, April 3.
8:00 a. m. Prayer meeting, fasting for morning meal.

10:00 s. m. Rep mittees. Business. Reports of officers and com-

2:00 p. m. Constitutional amendments; election of officers; unfinished business.

7:00 p. m. Miscellaneous program.

Voluntary.

Anthem or chorus.

Hvmn.

Invocation.
Address, "1893 to 1901," President Gunsolley.

Reading, Mrs. Ruth L. Smith. Music, in charge of Prof. Ralph G. Smith. Address or paper, "Home Class," Miss Marie H. Clark.

Music. Talk, "Place of the Book of Mormon," a. In literature of world. b. In literature of the church.

Anthem. Doxology

Benediction. Thursday, April 4.

8:00 a.m. Unfinished business. 9:30 a.m. Adjournment.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PROGRAM.

Thursday, April 4.

10:00 a.m. Organization, Report of Credentials Committee, Short Addresses, etc. Reports of General Officers.

2:00 p. m. Business—Continuation of Reports of General Officers. Reading report of Improvements Committee. Constitutional Amendments (Special order at 3 p. m.)
7:30 p. m. New Business (continued). Or if time will admit, An entertainment to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the organization of the General Association.

Friday, April 5.

9:00 a.m. Prayer meeting.

10:00 a. m. Business (continued). 2:15 p. m. Business (continued) Election of officers (special order) No new business 7:30 p. m. Business (concluded) or if time will admit, Institute work in charge of General Officers.

This is a convention at which it is expected that some very important items of business will be transacted. Let us pray that God will guide us in this work and make the convention one productive of great good to the Sunday school cause. Will you be there?

Faithfully, T. A. HOUGAS Gen. Supt. G. A. GUNSOLLEY, Pres. Z. R-L. S.

TO ST. JOSEPH AND CONFERENCE.

Dr. J. S. Lawton has arranged for a grand special excursion from St. Joseph to Kansas City and conference for Sunday, April 14 The train will leave St. Joseph in time to reach Independence for the first morning service. Saints will enjoy all the services of of the day and return to St. Joseph by a special train at night. The fare to Kansas City and return will be $1.25. Children between five and twelve years, half fare. Tickets are now ready and should be procured at once of Dr. Lawton, or those appointed to sell them. All are invited and requested to bring their

CONFERENCE NOTICES.

Western Maine conference will convene at Mountainville, May 4 and 5. All branch reports and business letters requested to be sent in by Saturday, to care of J. E. Eaton, Mountainville, Maine.

J. J. BILLINGS, Pres. A. L. COLBY, Sec.

DIED.

HAMILTON.-Sister Winnie M. Hamilton was born May 20, 1874, on the Island of Campobello, New Brunswick. When a small child she came west with her mother. She became the adopted daughter of Elder Evan B. and Mrs. Sarah A. Morgan, July 12, 1884. She was married to J. B. Hamilton at Chariton, January 6, 1896. To this union two sons were born. After two weeks' suffering she passed peacefully away February 24, 1901, at Lucas, Iowa. Funeral services at the Saints' church and the body interred in Cleveland Elder John R. Evans preached cemetery.

cemetery. Elder John R. Evans preached the funeral sermon to a large assembly.

HIATT.—Sarah A. Hiatt was born at Birmingham, England, April 19, 1842; baptized at the age of eight years by Elder John Shippy; died from the effects of cancer, March 5, 1901, aged 58 years, 10 months, and 16 days. Her hope was in Christ. She leaves bushend one daughter, and one sister leaves husband, one daughter, and one sister to mourn her departure. Funeral sermon by Elder C. Scott at her home, Des Moines, Towa.

RUDD.-At her home, Dow City, Iowa, February 25, 1901, Sr. Lulu Rudd, wife of Bro. Sanford Rudd. She was baptized June 26, 1887, at Dow City, Iowa, by Elder Warren E. Peak. She leaves a husband, father, mother, five brothers, two sisters, and a host of friends who mourn her loss. Funeral sermon was preached by Elder I. N. Roberts, in the Saints' church, a large crowd of sympathizing friends being present.

PRINGLE.—In Virginia City, Nevada, Sr.
Mary Pringle, member of Dayton, Nevada, branch.

Born in Ontario, Canada, March branch. Baptized by Thomas Daley, March 31, 1847. 14, 1900. Died March 6, 1901. After much suffering she passed quietly away to rest in Christ. Leaves a husband, Charles H. Pringle, and various relatives.

WHITEHOUSE - At Brighton, Massachusetts, March 1, 1901, Edwina Lovina, daughter of Edwin and Lovina S. Whitehouse. She was born October 31, 1896. Funeral services were held at the home; sermon by Elder F. M. Sheehy, assisted by Elder R. Bullard, and choir of young Saints of the Boston branch.

KENTY.—At Arlington Heights, Massachusetts, January 4, 1901, Marion Elmira Kenty, daughter of Alexander and Elmira Woods Kenty, aged 3 years, 9 months, and 2 days. Funeral at the residence; services conducted by Elder F. M. Sheehy.

The Critic, ever laden with its burden of good things in a literary line, is a welcome visitor at our desk. There are always in it matters to interest, and the person who sees it regularly for a time soon comes to think that he cannot do without it. "The Lounger" with his numerous paragraphs on nearly as many different subjects never fails to make the reader feel repaid for the careful reading.

We have received a copy of the "Trans-Mississippi Official Railway Guide," published by the T-M. Official Ry. Guide Co., of Omaha, Nebraska. It is for the states of Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, and the Dakotas. Its price is fifteen cents, and is a useful book for travelers in these states.

The great steel trust will be treated in the April number of The World's Work, of course, and from the human (that is the interesting) There are three great factors in this gigantic deal centering about three men.

1st. Andrew Carnegie. The chief object of this combination was to get Mr. Carnegie out of the way of the steel business. Wa print the most correct and authentic account of the man ever written, with much new and surprising information.

2nd. J. Pierpoint Morgan, who brought these great interests together. Our story of Mr. Morgan is important and absorbingly interesting.

3rd. Charles M. Schwab, who at the age of twenty-eight was head of the Homestead plant, at thirty-five president of the Carnegie Company, and at thirty-nine president of the United States Steel Corporation. A sketch is printed from first hand information.

This is an example of The World's Work treatment of one current topic. It is a live magazine. April number ready March 23. Doubleday, Page & Co., Publishers, New York.

An interesting book of the period,

LIFE AND REIGN QUEEN YICTORIA.

Including the lives of

King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra,

By MURAT HALSTEAD, famous historian and Journalist, and A. J. MUNSON, editor and author. Profusely illustrated. 485 pages. For sale at

OFFICE. HERALD

POSTPAID, ONE DOLLAR.

WM. ANDERSON, Pres. MRS. DAVID DANCER. Vice Pres. W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier. OSCAR ANDERSON, Ass't Cashier.

STATE SAVINGS BANK OF LAMONI.

Incorporated under the laws of the State of Iowa, July 1, 1898. Total assets January 1, 1900, $133,032,34; April 1, 1900, $162,781.07.

We pay interest on time deposits, and especially solicit the correspondence and deposits of all Herald readers. All etters of inquiry will be promptly and carefully answered. Direct all letters to W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier, State Savings Bank of Lamoni, Iowa

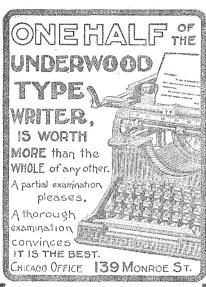

STOCKHOLDERS:—Mrs. David Dancer, Geo. H. Hilliard, A. K. Anderson, Lucy L. Resseguie, Oscar Anderson, Wm. Anderson, Frank Criley, Alice P. Dancer, Elia D. Whitehead, G. W. Blair, W. A. Hopkins.

UWANTO STOP

Using tobacco. Quit-to-bac makes it easy to do so. Three boxes postpaid, only $1.50 with positive guarantee to cure or the $1.50 cheerfully refunded! It cures others, why not you.

Address, (Bro.) B. F. ORDWAY, Peoria, Ill.

47-42 (U. S. Postage stamps taken)

Or apply to
The Underwood Agency,
LAMONI, JOWA.

SAIN	rs'	HY	M	NA	L		V	Vc	r(	ds	0	n.	ly
115.																15
		Per														60
116.	Clo	oth,	lin	qı		9 9			o .			6 9		a .		25
	]	Per	doz	én		9 49	9 10					o a	e	۵.	2	70
117.	$\mathbb{C}$ le	oth						3 9	ନ ଶ୍		, a	9 0				35
	]	Per	doz	en						9 6	. 6	4 6	œ.	a o	60	75
118.	Fle	exib	le.	gi	lt e	be	ge	3				6 8				50
			,	C)			_

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the ## Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly.

Culation of any scientific journal, year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & CO. 361Broadway.

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

88. Cloth	Swee	65 00 25 00
TRUE SUCCESSION IN CHURCH PRESIDENCY. By Elder H. C. Smith, Church Historian. 152. Paper 153. Cloth	indesti	35 50

NOT IN THE CATALOGIE.

TRACTS.

33. Trial of the Witnesses to the Resurrection of Jesus.

Each 5 cents; per doz. 50 cents.

7. The Basis of Brighamite Polygamy.

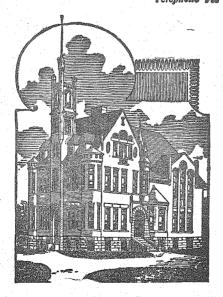

Per doz. 10 cents; per 100, 60 cents.

GRACELAND ....

COLLEGE,

LAMONI, IOWA.

Telephone 7%

For catalogue or further information, address,
PROF. R. A. HARKNESS, President,
or I. W. ALLENDER, Secretary,
LAMONI, DECATUR Co., IOWA.

COMMERCIAL BANK

LAMONI, - IOWA, Solicits your Deposits and pays

4 1-2 % INTEREST.
D. F. Nicholson, Cashier.

VISIONS OF JOSEPH SMITH THE SEER. Discoveries of Ancient American Records and Relics, with the statements of Dr. Lederer (converted Jew) and others.

184. Each 10c.; per dozen...... 1 00

LADIES' KID GLOVES.

AGENTS WANTED. — These gloves comprise all the qualities of fit, *tyle, comfort, and economy, perfectly made and thor ughly reliable. We want a lady or miss to act as our home agent for these gloves, in every city and town in the United States and Canada. Liberal inducements. No capital required. Address with stamp, CENTURY PUBLISHING CO, 94t St. Joseph, Missouri, U. S. A.

BRING YOUR LAUNDRY TO South Side Barber Shop.

For every five dollars worth of Laundry you receive a

HANDSOME SHAVING MUG. BLACK & SHOOK, Props.

DR. E. S. SWEET,
DENTIST.
Decoe Building.

WOODBINE, - - IOWA.

FOR SALE.

A brick business house centrally located in Lamoni that earns fifteen per cent on overteent.

If interested, inclose stamp to Lock Box 7, Lamoni, Iowa.

Burlington Route passenger service between stations on Grant City branch and Chicago, both directions, is better than ever in the history of the road. Leaving Lamoni at 8:05

p. m, arriving Chicago 7:20 a. m following morning. Leaving Chicago at 5:50 p. m., arriving Lamoni 6:25 a. m. following morning. HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSIONS.

Dates of sales, February 19, March 5 and 19, April 2 and 16, 1901, one lowest first class fare for the round trip, plus $200. Good for return 21 days from date of sale.

Cheap one-way colonist excursion rates to San Francisco, Los Angeles, and San Diego, California. Dates of sale February 12, 19, and 26, March 5, 12, 19, and 26, April 2, 9, 16, 23, and 30, 1901.

One-way second class settlers rates. Denver, Colorado Springs, and Pueblo. Ogden and Salt Lake. Bozeman, Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Grantsdale, Missoula, Grant Falls, Kalispell, Spokane, Portland, Tacoma. Victoria and Vancouver.

KEOKUK & WESTERN R. R. CO.

North—Leave Leon 2:40 p. m., arrive at Des Moines 6:05 p m.

South—Leave Des Moines 8:25 a. m., arrive at Leon 11:45 a. m.

Trains daily except Sunday; connect with C. B & Q. at Leon.

THE SAINTS' HERALD.

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE REORGANIZED CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER DAY SAINTS.

"If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."-John & 31, 32.

"Hearken to the word of the Lord: for there shall not any man among you have save it be one wife; and concubines he shall have none."—B. of M., page 116.

VOL. 48.

LAMONI, IOWA, MARCH 27, 1901.

NO. 13.

The Saints' Herald.

JOSEPH SMITH - - EDITOR.

FRED'K MADISON SMITH ASSISTANT EDITOR.

JOSEPH LUFF
D. W. WIGHT

CORRESPONDING EDITORS.

LAMONI, IOWA, MARCH 27, 1901.

TRUTHS TOLD AT RANDOM.

The Yoeman's Shield of January, 1901, contains a purported report of a visit of one Dr. C. B. Paul to Salt Lake City, Utah, in which visit he had an interview with Elder Ephraim Jenson, of the Utah Church. An item or two taken from that interview will be of interest. He wrote thus:—

Here is a little history learned from him: First—Polygamy was not practiced by the Mormons prior to and at the time of the execution of Joseph Smith, who was executed at Nauvoo, Illinois.

C Second—Polygamy was abolished from the canons of the Mormon church three years before the act of congress making it a crime, especially applicable to Utah especially applicable to Utah.

Third—It was not polygamy that invited persecution of the Mormons, resulting in the public shooting of Joseph Smith and the stoning and otherwise maltreating of the preachers or elders, as they are called, from that time down to the present, but that persecution was because of the claim made by the church and the elders that Joseph Smith was a prophet and that God had revealed to him the truth as it was revealed to the apostles in the time of Christ.

Fourth—That only three per cent of the Mormon men practiced polygamy—a proof itself, says Mr. Jenson, that it was not essential to the creed.

If these peculiar statements continue to be made by our Utah contestants, the world will be compelled ere long to admit that our contention that polygamy was never a legitimate part of the faith as promulgated by Joseph Smith, the Seer, is correct.

THEIR CHILDREN RISE UP IN JUDG-MENT AGAINST THEM.

Mrs. Susie Young Gates, of Provo, Utah, visiting in New York, is reported in the Deseret News telegraphic items for March 16, 1901, as saying:—

As to plural marriages, I wish as much as possible to follow the advice given me by the President of my church. He said to me, "Don't talk about that. The time is past when it could be talked about, and the people have given it up." But I would like to say that, even in the old days, only about four per cent of the Mormons were of that order. At Provo, where I live, I had occasion the other day to count up the number of families that had practiced that institution; there were just two out of fourteen hundred. I would not have anyone understand me as opposed to the doctrine in theory, but our fellow citizens may be sure that as Mormonism began without polygamy, so it can go on without polygamy, now that we are sure that polygamy is against the laws of our country.

The contention of the Reorganization has been all the time that the faith of the church and the church itself was instituted and flourished without plural marriage; and in every state and territory in which the church was located up to the death of Joseph and Hyrum Smith, polygamy was against the laws of our country and the father of Mrs. Susie Young Gates with his official compeers knew it to be so.

Senator Howell in the discussion of the veto message of Governor Wells in his statement of his position said:—

It is nearly ten years since the practice of polygamy was abandoned in Utah. I believe the good faith of the people has been kept, and five years after the manifesto the representatives of the people met in convention and prohibited polygamy in the State. The discussion in the Senate has shown the general sentiment to be that polygamous cohabitation is the outgrowth of polygamous marriages, which ought not to be prosecuted and punished. I believed in the sincerity of the people, and after ten years of faithful adherence to the compact, I believe that the same laws and restrictions applied to other States ought to be applied to this State.

This is peculiarly specious reasoning. No other State in the Union has such an anomalous condition of things in regard to the marriage relation as Utah has. In no other State of the Union is bigamous or polygamous cohabitation a virtue. In no other state is there a class of polygamous men who seek to be protected by legislative enactment from the consequences of their acts.

We agree with Senator Howell that "polygamous cohabitation is the outgrowth of polygamous marriages."

It is just that continuous outgrowth that the people of the States object to. We are of the opinion that the people of the States would not be seriously disturbed if the one per cent, or two per cent, or four per cent of the men of the church in Utah should marry, or espouse an extra companion or two. with whom marital relations were to be consummated and enjoyed in the celestial world after death; but when those marriages result in the outgrowth of "polygamous cohabitation" within the confines of a state of the United States, and the attempt is made to enact laws to protect persons in the "practice of polygamy," as contradistinguished from the celebration of the rite or ceremony of polygamous marriage, then the people have very serious objection, and will be likely to be earnestly condemning that practice and the laws framed in its defense.

In the same discussion in the senate Mr. Kiesel said:—

I think the introduction of this bill has been very beneficial, and we are going to sustain the governor's veto. It has been beneficial in the respect that it will be seen all over the United States that our high authorities are not in sympathy with this movement to go back to the old conditions. Young Utah has been vindicated. I vote no.

The action of Governor Wells in vetoing the bill and the subsequent action of the legislature in sustaining that veto, will, as Senator Kiesel justly said, go far towards convincing the people of the states that the now leading men of Utah sincerely desire to wipe out the long standing causes for friction between the citizens of the states and the citizens of If indeed "Young Utah is vindicated," as Senator Kiesel said, it is to be hoped that such vindication as Governor Wells has given that element will be taken as an example for many others; until the sense of distrust in the sincerity of the men of the Utah church now so universally felt outside of Utah, will become a thing of the past."

THE following will explain itself:—
COÖPERATION CRYSTALLIZED.

An organization has been effected by the Saints of Colorado which we think is a step in the right direction, and in keeping with the spirit of the age—cooperation and combination.

"The Independent Live Stock Association" is the name of the company that has been fully organized, and incorporated under the laws of Colorado, with a capital stock of $250,000 divided into twenty-five thousand shares of $10 each.

The object of the association is to deal in live stock of different kinds, to grow cattle, sheep, hogs, and other live stock that may be deemed profitable, to maintain meat markets, to own and control, buy and sell real estate, or any and everything else necessary to the carrying on and maintaining of the live stock industry.

Seven directors have been elected, who have the managing of the whole company. The following are the names of those elected for the first year: Emsley Curtis, Leapold Korf, D. H. Bellrose, Geo. E. McConley, J. W. Gilbert, Michael Wagoner, and Charles Curtis.

Emsley Curtis was elected president of the board of directors; D. H. Bellrose vice president and treasurer, J. W. Gilbert secretary.

The bond for the treasurer was fixed at $10,000 for the first year. The board ordered one thousand copies of the articles of incorporation and by-laws to be printed, to be circulated among those who would like to investigate, with a view to becoming share-holders in the company.

There will be representatives of the company at the General Conference to answer inquiries and receive applications for stock, which will be sold at par.

The section of country selected for the growing of stock is Yuma county, Colorado. The main office or headquarters of the company is Denver, Colorado.

We mean business, and intend to make it pay, and would like the cooperation of any and all members of the church who would like to become stockholders in this company.

All inquiries will be promptly answered if directed to J. W. Gilbert, 1458 Washington avenue, Denver, Colorado, or to Emsley Curtis, Bryant, Colorado.

J. W. GILBERT, Sec.

THE Headlight, a paper published at the Omaha Commercial Business College, in its issue for February 22, has the following to say of Bro. Heman C. Smith and his debate with Elder Bays:-

The lecture on last Wednesday morning by Elder Smith, a member of the Latter Day Saints Church, was greatly enjoyed by all the students. Elder Smith is a man well read and scholarly. He has just closed a series of debates with Mr. Bays of the Christian Church at 26th and Grant streets. This debate lasted for thirteen or fourteen nights. The discussion was ably conducted, and it was certainly profitable to all who were pres-

Elder Smith addressed the students by invitation of the president of the college.

EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS.

Bro. A. B. Dunnam, Palestine, Texas. writes:-

I am an isolated one-the only one here now. I belong to the Elkhart branch, but we are scattered over three or four counties. I hope Texas can have a tent before long. The gospel is doing nothing here. We cannot get a congregation; hard to get a house. Mammon is their God. My prayer is that their eyes may be opened that they may see out of obscurity. I see that Graceland is still pleading for help. I hope her wants will be supplied. Remember me, dear Saints, in your prayers that my afflicted wife may be your prayers, that my afflicted wife may be healed and brought into the fold of Christ.

Sr. Mary E. Clark, writing from Comstock, Nebraska, says:-

I am some better in health. I have been taken to my daughter's at Comstock. The Saints here are of the right kind.

The following is the last letter of report from Bro. Alma N. Bishop, of Wales, whose death we lately chronicled:-

> 19 Rectory Road, Canton, CARDIFF, February 23.

Dear Brother Joseph:—Please find attached summary of my labors from May 5, 1900, to to December 27, 1900, since which date I have been laid up on a bed of affliction. I am happy to say by laboring in the field preach-ing the gospel on the streets and on the highways that I felt considerable of the holy influence of God's Spirit aiding me in his work. I have been solicited by district president and branch presidents and branch officials to aid them in local work, and have I cheerfully responded. Considerable pruning has been done, but we believe the tree will bear more fruit in the future. Things seem to look brighter right along the line, and there seems to be a better understanding of the laws and usages of the church. I have every reason to believe that our labors will be more successful in the future than what they have been in the past. I have distrib-uted a large amount of literature in different localities, which I believe will allay considerable prejudice. I know you will be pleased to learn that since I have been unable to follow my labors the Saints have visited me from every quarter of the mission, and have shown me great sympathy. It is sweet to dwell in the love and esteem of those among whom you labor. Now I am in the hands of God and his church, and still willing to devote my time to the ministry. I hope you will have a good conference, and that righteousness may prevail.

Your colaborer in Christ,

A. N. BISHOP.

P. S.-Kindly breathe a prayer for my re-

By courtesy we clip from a letter by Elder Richard Ellis, Sydney, New South Wales, February 26:-

We are getting along nicely with church work, adding to our number twos and threes, and we will soon have our church paid for; there are only two more payments and then we shall be free from the debt on the money we borrowed to buy the land.

In a letter to Bro. H. A. Stebbins, Bro. W. S. Pender writes, under date of March 18, from Salt Lake City:

I was allowed the use of the second ward (Mormon) meetinghouse to reply to an attack upon us by an Elder Tanner. This is the first time, I believe, that they have ever allowed one of our men to occupy a church of theirs in this city. The meeting was held last Thursday night. The house was full beyond its seating capacity. I should say about four hundred people were in attendance. I was requested to limit my effort to about one hour, as Elder Tanner desired to follow me. I suggested that my effort be allowed to rest upon its merits, same as his had done; and, if he were dissatisfied, to appoint another meeting. Then, if I wished to speak again, appoint another service, thus letting each of us occupy an entire evening. This he would not consent to do, so I spoke an hour and twenty minutes, and he followed in a speech of the same length. The Saints seem pleased with the results. One of Brigham Young's sons was present, and said I spoke in a fair, gentlemanly way, and there was a good feeling at the meeting. They (the Mormons) hold a series of lectures there all this week, and when they get through I hope to get the use of the house for two or three lectures.

Bro. I. C. Willis writes from Carbon Cliff, Illinois, March 17:-

We like to read the HERALD, and looking over the debates, they tally up to the letter. I was once a Methodist, but am now a Latter Day Saint, and the more I see, the better I love the Saints. I am a member of the Rock Island branch, but live ten miles in the country and we do not get to church as often as we wish—four in family, all members of the latter-day work. I live midway between four stations, two miles each way; viz., Carbon Cliff and East Moline on the Rock Island, Chicago route, and Barstow and East Moline on the C. B. & Q. branch coming into Rock Island. My home is a home to any elder that will stop off. We have a fine schoolhouse 36x46 within forty rods from my house, which is open to us. There is no preaching at this date. The Methodists sent ahead for money, but got none, but, No money no preach, so go to the bad for all we care!

Bro. Rees Jenkins wrote from Johnstown, Pennsylvania, March 18:

Four Brighamite elders have been laboring in this city of late. Their presence has called forth some scathing denunciations from the pulpits, in which the Martyr's name was included. So I made it my business to visit the reverend doctor and have a long talk with him. He promised to investigate the matter again and make an apology before his congregation for misrepresenting the church. My faith in his promise, however, is very little. The papers here have published what has been said against us, but will not allow us to defend ourselves at all. have asked the Brighamite elders to meet us in public to discuss the differences between us, but they have refused, stating that they "are under orders from headquarters not to meet elders of the Reorganized Church under any consideration." The main issues just now are between us and the ministerial association of this city, and we are waiting developments. We hope they will grant us a hearing.

Bro. W. L. John writes from Malad, Idaho, March 18:-

Elder D. W. Wight, who has been here for about two weeks, preached his last sermon here last night, and leaves here today, on his way to General Conference. Bro. Wight has started a Sunday school here, and gathered in some good young workers. are sure this Sunday school is the hope of the work in this valley. The Malad branch has expressed a desire for the return of Bro. Wight to this mission. Before he came here we had no Sunday school, and now we have a large one, composed of bright scholars. are preparing to paint the church this year, and make things look a little pleasanter, inside and out. We are still hopeful of better conditions and surroundings in this branch.

Bro. H. F. Durfey, writing from Seiling, Oklahoma, March 18, says:-

We are still holding the fort here in Seiling. There are now about twenty-four of us in this vicinity. We are expecting our district president, Bro. George Montague, here soon to organize us into a branch. We have $107.50, mostly in cash, towards building a church. Two were baptized lately by Brother Crawley. The writer preached twice yesterday in the town hall to good and attentive congregations. Some are inquiring, and so the good work goes on. I ever pray for the success of the work.

EDITORIAL ITEMS.

Some time ago we noted the fact that John C. Graham, of Utah, had been convicted by a district court of unlawful cohabitation. That decision has been reversed by the supreme court of Utah, the decision of the supreme court being based, as we understand it, on a defect in the charge.

Advices of the 25th state that a cyclone has struck Birmingham, Alabama, which, besides destroying an immense amount of property, killed a large number of people. Up to noon of the 25th the estimated number of dead was twenty-five, at least seven of that number being killed at Irondale, about fifteen in the city of Birmingham, and others in suburban towns.

Original Articles.

TWO DREAMS. WHAT DO THEY MEAN?

I am not much of a dreamer, but have had several dreams, since I embraced the gospel, which I regard as spiritual, or inspirational. Two of these, with the permission of the HER-ALD, I have concluded to put upon record. I have no definite and complete interpretation for either one (am not gifted in that line), although, of course, I gather from both of them a few leading and important ideas.

On November 29, 1883, I was at the residence of Bro. David Brand, about five miles from Marengo, Illinois. I had just received a letter from Bro. E. L. Kelley (then of Kirtland, Ohio), in which he urged me to attend the debate which was soon to take place between him and Clark Braden. In the afternoon, I walked from Bro. Brand's to Marengo, during which time I was engaged in earnest meditation.

I asked myself the question: "Why is it that there is such active opposition to our faith manifested just now. and such a general desire, seemingly, for debate? There is Braden at Wilber, Nebraska, and Kirtland, Ohio, also L. L. Luce in Nebraska; Phillips at Stewartsville, Missouri, and elsewhere; and others."

I answered my own question in the following manner: "It is providential. God intends by this means to bring the work which has been committed to our trust more fully before the people."

Then came another question: "Will we be equal to the task of properly supplying this demand?"

I reasoned this way: "This is God's work; it cannot be done successfully except in God's way. Intellectual and worldly qualifications are not sufficient."

Then I could see, or thought I could see, so many moral and spiritual deficiencies, that I was led to doubt our present ability to meet the demand as it should be met.

Before I was badly aware of it, I found myself at Marengo. The distance seemed very short, though I walked slowly, and I was not tired, for I had been deeply absorbed with my own thoughts. I went to the residence of Bro. and Sr. Charles Alderman; and as I was weary, retired to rest a little before nine o'clock. I soon fell asleep, rested much better than usual, not awakening till just before four a. m. When I awakened the following dream was very clear in my mind:-

I saw myself, without coat, and with my sleeves rolled up, a little way out from the shore of a large lake, or sea, and nearly waist deep in the water. I could not see the other shore. behind me was a large steamship, which also contained masts for sails. The construction of the ship seemed to be perfect. I seemed to be doing some kind of preparatory work, reaching my hands down to the bottom of the sea, and clearing the way. To my left I saw another man doing similar work. I did not pay much attention to him, nor he to me. There may have been others, but this man was the only one I saw.

My thought was, "We will continue this work for a season, then step on board and move right off to the other shore."

As the ship only moved with the same speed we did in preparing the way, and it being large, its motion was not perceptible to the eye.

Becoming somewhat weary by laboring in a bent-over posture, I straightened up, turned my face towards the ship, and stood still for a few minutes, to rest. All at once I saw another ship coming right towards ours, with full steam and at full speed. It seemed to be very angry and determined to crash into and destroy our vessel. I made up my mind not to return to my work until after I had witnessed the results of the collision. As the ship approached, I noticed that it was more stoutly built than ours; that is, the timbers were larger. I noticed, too, that it was heavily freighted with what I understood to be shelled corn, the sacks being piled eight or ten feet high on the deck.

In less time than it takes to tell it, the ship dashed into the left hand side of our vessel. My nerves fairly started, my ears tingled, but I held my position. Our ship shook and trembled as though it might fall to The masts shook like aspen leaves, and the air was full of sound. Without leaving my tracks, I leaned over one way and then the other, and was able in a moment's time to see every part of our ship. To my delight and surprise, it was not harmed in the least, nor had it been moved one inch out of its place!

Seeing that our own ship was safe and sound, I quickly glanced my eyes over the water to see, if I could, the mad monster which had so lately tried to destroy us. I saw it at once, moving back and away as fast as it had come, and in the same track. It soon lost its power to move any farther away. It trembled and shook. The sacks of corn began sliding off into the sea as though they were alive, and continued till the last one was gone. The ship then sank, leaving only the tops of the masts and the pilot house in sight. I awoke, my soul was full of peace, and I felt that whatever might intervene, the church of God would win a glorious victory in the

On or about the 15th of May, 1896, while staying with Bro. Robert Moore, near Lineville, Iowa, I had another and very different dream. I was in very poor health, but was holding services at the Hickory schoolhouse when the weather permitted. I was suffering much and almost constantly. On retiring to rest at night, I felt considerably discouraged. I poured out my soul to God in an almost silent, but tearful prayer. I thought not only of my peculiar physical condition, but of other opposition which, to me, was unkind and unjust.

After a time I fell asleep, and found myself standing outside of the building near by what appeared to be a rude but strong stairway, standing by I had just approached this itself. place, either by accident or design, and was conscious of the fact that I had been engaged in a long and difficult fight with a snake, or serpent. I had been victorious, but was very wearv.

It seemed to be twilight about where I stood, but gradually grew darker in the distance all about me. The thought occurred to me that the conflict was not ended, and I must be on my guard. I immediately mounted the third or fourth step of the stairway, for the purposes of protection and advantages in watching. Glancing to my left, which seemed to be to the north, I saw my old enemy, near by, stretched full length upon the ground, and watching me most intently. It was black, and about twenty feet long. I watched it closely; and feeling too weak for another conflict like the one through which I had just passed, I determined to elude the attack the best I could. I was especially anxious to keep my head out of the way of danger. All at once I discovered that I had friends working for my deliverance. Off in the northwest, about one hundred yards or more, I saw a number of men, perhaps five or six, whose countenances showed great earnestness and extreme anxiety. It was too dark where they were to see with the natural eye, and yet I could see them plainly.

These men saw my danger, and were working for my deliverance. They speedily improvised a kind of windlass, procured a long, new cord, fastened one end of it to the roller, made a noose on the other end and dexterously threw it onto the tail end of the snake. In some unexplainable way, they quickly worked the noose onto the thick part of the snake's body, and began to wind up the cord on the windlass. I never saw men work faster and more earnestly.

Up to this time, the snake did not seem to realize what was going on. I calmly but anxiously awaited results. My thought was that as soon as the snake felt the noose tightening on its body, it would make a lunge for me at once. In this I was not mistaken, for all at once it made a desperate leap into the air, bringing its head within about one foot of mine. I stood on the farther end of the step and leaned my head to the south so as to keep out of its reach. The snake hissed, opened its mouth wide and quickly. and snapped most ferociously. I saw its long, white teeth. And while I did not despair, I must confess that the head of this angry serpent bobbing around so near my own did not produce a pleasant sensation. In a few moments the men succeeded in drawing the monster away from me, and with great force it fell upon the ground.

At this juncture it seemed to be necessary for my deliverers to readjust their contrivance and speedily prepare for another pull. I readily understood that the snake would make a second attack as soon as it felt the cord tightening, and so it did, but was not able to come so near my head as before. However, its fury was indescribable, and its determination to reach my head knew no bounds. It elongated its body with the force of its movements to such an extent that it actually seemed in danger of breaking in two. But in a few moments, as before, it was brought to the ground with increased force, falling much farther away from me than before.

Here my dream ended, and I awoke to ponder on the things which I now knew to be only a dream. But they had been as real and vivid to me as anything that ever transpired in my life's history. As I thought upon the dream, my soul was filled with gratitude, wonder, and admiration.

J. R. LAMBERT.

SCIENCE VS. CHRISTIANITY.

In the article entitled, "Haeckel's Solution of the 'Riddle of the Universe," found on page 71 of the present volume of SAINTS' HERALD, there is much food for thought to those watching the world's progress, and especially those interested in the latter day work.

The century just closed has been one of extraordinary progress and development; old conditions have given place to new; the theories of the past, many of them, have been crowded out by those of the present; ancient creeds have been fast crumbling before the overwhelming waves of popular opinion, and all to what purpose? Have the world's changes brought them nearer to God? Have the new theories and revised creeds made men more like their Creator? In the past, the Holy Scriptures, with their fundamental doctrines, have been generally accepted; but during this period of extraordinary development there has been a growing tendency to lay aside heavens, and all their host have I comthese things until now in the article manded.—Isa. 45:9, 12. these things, until now, in the article referred to, the author regards religion as "superstition." Special creation, the personality of God, divine control or guidance of the universe, immortality, and the freedom of the will, he declares to have been "shattered" by modern science and the discovery of "the great eternal iron laws" throughout the universe.

We are not aware of what the scientific evidences are that have "shattered" so many fundamental doctrines of Christianity, but are led to wonder what are the evidences in support of those doctrines. Are their inherent evidences sufficient to prove and sustain their truthfulness? Will they endure the tests, or must they remain "shattered" by the world of science, and leave us to hope for nothing beyond this life?

Christianity presents itself as the revelation of God; science as the revelation of nature. Where there is conflict, however, it would be preferable to accept the revealments of the Supreme Ruler rather than those of his works alone, for the former come through an intelligence far superior to the latter. But science rejects the belief of a revelation from God, no doubt because it finds no proof of it in nature which fact, however, does not affect the evidences in its favor.

Gladstone, speaking of the Holy Scriptures says:

Though assailed by camp, by battery, and by mine, they are nevertheless a house builded upon a rock, and that rock impregnable; that the weapon of offense, which shall impair their efficiency for aiding in the redemption of mankind, has not been forged; that the Sacred Canon, which it took (per-haps) two thousand years from the accumulations of Moses down to the acceptance of the Apocalypse to construct, is like to wear out the storms and the sunshine of the world, and all the wayward aberrations of humanity, not merely for a term as long, but until time shall be no more.—Impregnable Rock of Holy Scripture, p. 5.

The attacks upon the Scriptures have been many and various, but they still stand, and it remains for future generations to see whether the science of the nineteenth or twentieth century will overturn them.

In setting aside the Scriptures, men of science have also set aside Him who is represented therein as the Creator of the world, who is also its Savior, making the promise of immortality of no effect, and leaving the present life as the only hope for mankind.

He, who knows the end from the beginning, has not failed to forewarn the world of such a condition. Listen:-

Woe unto him that striveth with his Let the potsherd strive with the Maker! potsherds of the earth. Shall the clay say to him that fashioned it, What makest thou? or thy work, He hath no hands. I have made the earth, and created man upon it; I, even my hands, have stretched out the

Is not man "striving with his Maker" when he uses "the great eternal iron laws" to "shatter" the grand revealments of the Creator? Does he not say, "He hath no hands," when he denies the personality of Men of learning have been searching deep into the creations of God to find him; they have sought for the source of life, and for the life itself, but what of the result? other testimony has been added to the truthfulness of God's word, which says:-

How unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!—Rom. 11:33.

Hear their confessions:-

It is no valid objection that science as yet throws no light on the far higher problem of the essence or origin of life.—Origin of Species, by Charles Darwin, p. 493.

The origin and nature of both matter and mind are beyond the limits of science. We can study the phenomena of the soul, but not its nature.—Patrick's Pedagogics, p. 9.

The problem of body and soul is as insoluble in its modern form as it was in the pre-scientific ages. - Felix Adler.

We grant at once that the innermost character of nature is just as little understood by us as it was by Anaximander and Empedocles twenty-four hundred years ago, by Spinoza and Newton two hundred years ago, and by Kant and Goethe one hundred years ago. We must even grant that this essence or substance becomes more mysterious and enigmatic the deeper we penetrate into the matic the deeper we penetrate into the knowledge of its attributes. . . We do not know the "thing-in-itself" that lies behind the knowable phenomena. But why trouble about this enigmatic "thing-in-itself" when we have no means of investigating it, when we do not even clearly know whether it exists or not?-Prof. Haeckel, Saints' Herald, present volume, p. 71.

But what saith the scriptures?

Canst thou by searching find out God? canst thou find out the Almighty unto perfection? It is as high as heaven; what canst thou do? deeper than hell; what canst thou The measure thereof is longer than the earth, and broader than the sea.-Job

For it is written, I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and will bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent. Where is the wise? where is the scribe? where is the disputer of this world? hath not God made foolish the wisdom of this world? For after that in the wisdom of God the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe.-1 Cor. 1:19-21.

Why, then, should men search for God where he cannot be found, and because of failure, deny his existence? It would be as reasonable to search a book for its author, or a temple for its architect, and because of not finding him. deny his existence.

If there is a Creator, and man is his creation, there is certainly a close relationship between them; and because of that relationship, man would be entitled to know something of his Creator. But how shall he gain that knowledge? Men of science have sought a knowledge of God, but have always stopped at that insurmountable barrier which says, "So far, but no farther;" and their confessions stand in perfect harmony with that which is represented as the revealment of this Being which says, "The world by wisdom knew not God."

But there is a way by which men may find him. Listen again:—

There is a spirit in man, and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding.—Job 32:8.

Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God.—1 Cor. 2: 9, 10.

No man knoweth the Son, but the Father; neither knoweth any man the Father, save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal him.—Matt. 11: 27.

No man can say that Jesus is the Lord, but by the Holy Ghost.—1 Cor. 12:3.

Thus is given the means of finding God; namely, by his own revealment and that by the power of the Holy Spirit; and this is given only to those who believe on the Son and obey him; for "as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God;" and "as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God," and being sons, would have a right to know him. Yes! God has revealed himself in ages past, and has shown men how they might find him, but how few have done so! They have failed to discover the source of life, or to understand the phenomenon of death, yet these are realities, and the only means of knowing of them. or what they are, are by the revealment of him who controls both. Through him is given also the promise of immortality to mankind; he, himself, having become immortal, as shown by evidences which have never been destroyed, notwithstanding some have thought that the doctrine has been "shattered" by the discovery of some supposed "eternal iron laws."

It seems the enlightenment of the present age is leading many of those most learned away from God, Christ, and the Scriptures. The greatest effort in the world's history is being made to know God, but without suc-Not only men of science are turning from him, but many others, even to professed Christians. The writer read a work a short time ago, under the signature of one who suffixed D. D. to his name, which claimed the Scriptures did not teach a literal resurrection of the body. Another book in his library, entitled, "Advanced Christianity," teaches that Christ was not divinely born, but simply "evolved" through a certain lineage.

Thus we see the trend of the world; and these conditions are growing, right in the face of the plain teachings of Holy Scripture, and bring us to this thought: Is there not an extreme need for divine guidance at the present day of another revelation? The world says, "No, the Bible is sufficient." But why is the world, with Bible in hand, departing from God? Why deny the divinity of Christ and his greatest doctrine—immortality? Ah, reader! the world needs another testimony from God himself, of his present existence; of the divinity of Christ, and of the future immortal state. Would a loving Father refuse this need?

In 1830 there was published to the world what was claimed to be a revelation from God, the Book of Mormon, giving a history of God's dealings with his people upon the American continent. The preface states the purpose of the record, a part of which says that it

Is to show unto the remnant of the house of Israel what great things the Lord hath done for their fathers; and that they may know the covenants of the Lord, that they are not cast off forever; and also to the convincing of the Jew and Gentile that Jesus is the Christ, the Eternal God, manifesting himself unto all nations.

Here, then, is the world's need supplied. But do you yet say there is no need for it? Is the Bible convincing the Jew and Gentile that Jesus is the Christ? Or, are they not doubting more and more the teachings of that great book? But here comes another witness testifying of God, Christ, and immortality, proving the truthfulness of the things taught in the Bible, and though, like the Bible, in the words of Gladstone:—

Assailed by camp, by battery, and by mine, it is nevertheless a house builded upon a rock, and that rock impregnable; that the weapon of offense, which shall impair its efficiency for aiding in the redemption of mankind, has not been forged.

It stands today a living testimony, side by side with the Bible, in support of the eternal and unchangeable character of God, and the divinity of Jesus Christ; and while many in past ages testified of the immortal life, by the power of the Spirit, God be praised, that in this day of God's revealment, there are thousands who, -having done his will as taught in the Bible, Book of Mormon, and later revelations,—have been able to "know of the doctrine," and look forward with a glorious hope to the resurrection of the body, and an immortal life. Thus God sought to counteract that growing tendency to skepticism which he foresaw, and against which the world had been previously warned.

While the investigations of science have given much light to the world, much of such light does little more than satisfy the natural desire to know, just for the sake of knowing, and too often the result of these researches are many hypotheses and theories which tend to confuse and darken the mind rather than enlighten. Man cannot know all the conditions which surround him and the physical world. and because of this, may draw imperfect conclusions. He finds in the world the footprints of him who "sowed the tares," and mistakes them for the work of the "One Great Cause." He discovers what appears to be a "great, eternal, iron law," which perhaps is only a temporary "law" which operates as the result of the sowing of the tares. To science, death is an "eternal, iron law," for every living organism dies, yet such a "law" was not directly established by the Creator, but was brought about by the "enemy," and the Scriptures, including the second witness - the Book of Mormon—clearly teach that this "iron law" shall be destroyed by him who has lifted himself above it by overcoming the enemy "who hath the power of death."

We believe that true science sought out in the light of God's revealments will always harmonize therewith, and if men find evidences in nature disproving God's divine character, it will be because nature does not reveal sufficient of itself to show the true character of its author. One writer, S. S. Smith, has said, "True religion and true philosophy must ultimately arrive at the same principle." When men search into the things of nature for the honor and glory of God, then will be fulfilled the Psalmist's prayer:

Praise the Lord from the earth, ye dragons [sea serpents], and all deeps; fire, and hail; snow, and vapor; stormy wind fulfilling his word: mountains, and all hills; fruitful trees, and all cedars: beasts, and all cattle; creeping things, and flying fowl: kings of the earth, and all people; princes, and all judges of the earth: both young men, and maidens; old men, and children: let them praise the name of the Lord.—Ps. 148: 7-13.

By searching for God in the way he has ordained, man shall surely find, and all other things "shall be added" unto him. But to search for the deep things of nature independently of its author, there must come failure, because he who is the "Life and light of men" says, "without me ye can do nothing." CHARLES FRY.

Tabor, Iowa, March 5.

THE COMING GENERAL CONFERENCE.

I am impressed with the vast individual responsibility attaching to all who may be in attendance at the coming General Conference. The question comes, "What can I do to make this gathering all that it should be?" What quality, inate or conferred, can I call into requisition that will eliminate friction, dispel clouds, and cause the sun of righteousness to shine in on every soul; dispelling the frosts of adversity, warming up the chilled and dying hopes of the disappointed and consuming all spirit of hate, envy, strife, and personal ambition. Could this question be answered correctly, and said answer applied by every member of this august assemblage, from president down to porter, how happy would we be.

We will meet to do service for God; to act for him, not ourselves; to carry out his wishes, not our own; to permit him to influence us, not that we should influence him; to so act, that, when all the deliberations are over, we can have the consciousness of divine approbation. We should never for a moment forget this statement, "All ye are brethren." If we could always have this in mind, how many harsh statements would be still-born? Christ, when speaking upon the great essentials of human effort said, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind." Selfishness cannot enter in under such a regime as this. If the first clause of this prophetic constitution were closely adhered to there could not be any great divergence of thought on things vital in the spiritual domain.

If each of those who may attend the General Conference was approximately loving God with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his mind, the heavens could not hide the Infinite from us.

Again, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

This admits not of personal ambition; this allows not selfish ends to gain. Under this rule I cannot go to the conference with anything but absolute love for every brother and sister in the church. The one who goes to this meeting with any other feeling than absolute love for all his fellows is nurturing a serpent in his bosom which will sting him to death.

This law will not permit me to seek undue advantage over another, to impugn the motive of my brother, to in any way cast reflection on any man. to take partisan sides, incite division, or stir up contention. It pledges me to have, equal love for my brother as for myself; equal interest in his success; equal desire for his advancement as for my own.

Christ once said, "Therefore, whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them, for this is the law and the prophets." If every member of our coming conference would live up to the letter and spirit of this command we would have the greatest endowment ever conferred.

According to this rule, we are not to treat men as they would have us treat them; we are not to treat them as we would like to treat them. are to treat them as we would have them treat us.

Is there a quorum in the church which desires consideration from any other quorum? Do you wish their respect and confidence? Then you are bound, by this law, to manifest the same spirit and attitude towards them.

Brethren, let us try to keep this "golden rule" during all the deliberations of this coming conference. not go to conference expecting a fight, for men frequently get what they are expecting. Let no quorum assemble anticipating friction with another quorum, for this, in itself, is sufficient to precipitate such a contingency.

The conference will assemble under the surveillance of our heavenly Father. We should consider that if we render the respect which we should he will continue to preside over all our deliberations. This being the case, there cannot be anything but the best results. The worst evil that can possibly materialize is that which will flow from those who will assemble under a spirit of apprehension and undue suspicion of others. I should never entertain the thought a moment, that some one else has ulterior motives, unless I have absolute proof therefor. I take it that the majority of this church have equal love and equal devotion for the cause that I With this as a base it will be impossible for that majority to be imposed upon or swerved from the path of duty so long as they, not somebody else, keep the "golden rule." man who is always afraid that somebody else will do wrong, who thinks that he has received a dispensation from the Almighty to be the spiritual "watchdog" of the church, has ever been in evidence. It is time that such self-appointed characters learned that the whole is greater than any of its parts, that all the brains of the church is not resident in one cranium. God has not more interest in this work than we have, we may as well give up the struggle now. If he has, then we can afford to "never trouble trouble until trouble troubles" us.

There are some characters who have infinite faith in the Almighty and yet they constantly are carrying a load of self-appointed responsibility, and ever evidence their fearfulness that the rank and file are in the dark, and, unless they "wail and howl" from morn till night the boat will be upon the breakers. I have faith in Christ. the captain of our craft. He has selected his subordinates, and so long as they are carrying out his instructions, or until he releases them, I am under covenanted obligations to uphold the force. It is not when "all is well and all is bright," and we are sailing under cloudless southern California skies that we need discipline and order. Insubordination can be easily handled then. It is when the tempest rages and the sea heaves and our craft is in danger; then is the time when every man should stand in his appointed place and seek to keep captain, and ever carry out his instructions. Are there breakers ahead? Let us meet the situation like men. When the clouds lower and the storm breaks, then is our opportunity. Calmness, deliberation, caution, silent action, will save the ship.

Sisters, are you going to the conference? Is it for an outing? Is it to have a good time? Then do not go. Have you contemplated a trip which comprises rich gowns and supremacy in the field of fashion? Then desist now. Do not take all your best clothing to Independence. Be modest, unassuming, yet dignified. Remember you are going there to meet God.

How should you meet him?

Brethren, are you planning a rest there? Are you giddy and frivolous? Have you a joke on your tongue and a dozen in your head? Then cast the demons out and assume that staid but becoming dignity which men who hold the destiny of the race in their grasp should manifest. And ye Zionites, are you planning festivities and dainty tidbits and multiplied dishes to tempt the appetite of your guests? Then refrain. Let your pantry contain only the simplest dishes; for we wish to have our minds clear and our nerves steady during this short interval. Best of all, we wish you to remember our sojourn with pleasure, not with a recollection of days of drudgery and vexatious care. Let us fast more and feast less, if we would secure the divine benediction.

Let every man resolve to make this the best conference we have ever held. We can do it if we will. Do not despair, my brother. God, the infinite mind of the universe, is supervising this work. Defeat has never been recognized as worthy a place in the dialect of the just. Trials we have had, crises we may meet, but we will pass them successfully.

At the siege of Lucknow, in India, when the English soldiers were looking hopelessly day after day for their countrymen to come to their rescue, Jessie Brown, a poor Scotch girl, was lying sick unto death. One day she lifted herself upon her elbow and "They're comin'! They're cried: comin'! I hear the bagpipes and the slogan! They're comin'! They're comin'!" And those by her bedside said, "Nay, nay, Jessie, it can na' be! It's delirium. It can na' be!" And she answered, "Nay, I hear it! I hear it afar! The slogan! They're comin'! Dinna' ye hear 'em! Dinna' ye hear 'em." And within an hour the pibroch burst upon their ears, and there floated above them the Union Jack.

So, lay your ears along the ground today. They're comin'! They're You will hear the steady comin'! march of this ever increasing host. They come, and their even tread in constant communications with the sounds like the rush of many waters.

And before them you will see the Smiths, Gurley, Marks, Blairs, Kelleys, Derry, and a thousand others, captains of the Most High. They are maching on, on to victory. And though you may not live to hear it. the hour shall strike, when for the last time the cry shall be heard, Watchman, what of the night?" And the watchman from the watchtower shall send back the answer.

> "Out of the darkness of the night. The world moves into light. It is daybreak everywhere."

The contest wages warm, now. We need heroes who will ever rally the forces when the enemy attempts our rout.

Steady, comrades, and the field is ours; the victory won, the promised land we enter in. God bless each and every one. May love, good will. and peace everywhere abound. Yours with absolute assurance of the finality of this work. f this work, T. W. WILLIAMS. 1322 Myrtle Ave., Los Angeles, Cal.

Letter Department.

ORCHARDVILLE, Ill., March 8. Editors Herald:-Since my last communication to your columns, of January 11, have been compelled to pass through that severe trial which is common to all who dwell in houses of clay. My dear mother has passed over to the other side of the river of death. Her spirit took its departure from her body February 28. While we mourn her absence, yet we do not mourn as do others who have not obeyed the gospel, and hence have not that hope in Christ which is to be found in the hearts of the children of God. As death is a separation of body and spirit, we have great consolation in the gospel of Christ, and are satisfied that our angel mother is in the land of peace and rest. She was willing to go. In her sickness she suffered severely at times, but was relieved through administration. But the time had come for her to return to the spirit land. Surely our Father in heaven doeth all things well. With John we say, "Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors: and their works do follow them."-Revelation 14:13. Our mother had a full right to the blessing promised above. She was obedient to the gospel law.

It is not nearly so hard for us to say good-bye to our dear ones at death who have complied with the gospel requirements as it is to say those words to one who has not been so obedient. The writer can say with his mother that since his connection with the latter-day work. he has tried to be obedient to the perfect law, and with Paul can say further: "I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord."

Eight years of my life have been spent in the general ministry in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling, and my speech and my preaching have not been altogether with enticing words of man's wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power: and while a degree of success has crowned my weak efforts, to God be all the praise forever. I hope to be ever worthy of such endowments in the future. There is no stopping place for me in the great conflict for everlasting life in the mansion which will be prepared for the true and faithful. The victory is not ours until the battle is o'er.

"We may, like the vessel, by tempests be tossed On perilous deeps, but we cannot be lost; Though Satan enrages the wind and the tide, The promise engages, the Lord will provide.

"His call we must honor like Abram of old; Like him we may wander, but faith makes us bold, For though we are strangers we have a good guide, And trust in all dangers, the Lord will provide.

"When Satan endeavors to stop up our path. And fills us with doubtings, we triumph by faith; He cannot take from us, though oft he has tried, This heart-cheering promise, the Lord will provide."

While the struggle may seem dark and very fierce at times, we should not forget the promise in the above words of the poet, and remember that Jesus Christ is the great captain of our salvation, and he, like all other good generals, has said, Come and follow me. He is the leader and commander; and in order to gain the victory we are told to obey his orders in every particular. "Live by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God," is the order given; and as every good soldier is always willing to obey the instructions of his superior officers, even during the darkest period of the conflict upon the field of battle, so we as Latter Day Saints should not be less courageous in the conflict for eternal life in the New Jerusalem with Jesus Christ as our great leader and commander. In order to be a good soldier of Jesus Christ we must obey his orders, and as a soldier upon the battlefield would be considered a coward if he did not obey the orders of his good general, in like manner those who enlist in the army of which Christ is leader and commander that do not obey his commands will also be considered the same; and as the poet says:--

"We want no cowards in our bands, Who will our colors fly, We call for valiant-hearted men. Who're not afraid to die."

While we are soldiers of Jesus Christ, our weapons are quite different from those who go forth to defend their country upon the field of battle. For the weapons of our welfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds. And our uniform should be the whole armor of God, that we may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we wrestle not against the flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. Our loins should be girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness, as well as our feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace. Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith we shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God, which word is quick and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart. Surely victory will be ours, with such a uniform and weapons of warfare under the leadership of Jesus Christ our great commander. We have a soul cheering promise in Doctrine and Covenants 34: 4. Wherefore, I have called upon the weak things of the world, those who are unlearned and despised, to thresh the nations by the power of my Spirit; and their arm shall be my arm, and I will be their shield and their buckler, and I will gird up their loins, and they shall fight manfully for me: and their enemies shall be under their feet: and I will let fall the sword in their behalf; and by the fire of mine indignation will I preserve them. Those who fight manfully for him, will receive a crown of righteousness which the Lord will give unto all them that love his appearing. It is the desire of my heart to continue in the work, nourished up in the words of faith and good doctrine, so that I can truly say at the close of my work here like one of old; I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith. To one who has received the testimony of Jesus Christ, there is much to encourage him, to press forward in the path of duty. He can look far beyond the weakness and follies of men here; and say, "Father, have mercy upon these thy children, for it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that when he shall appear we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is." A desire for activity is the normal condition of all those who love the latter-day work, and everyone can find plenty of work to do, and when performed the Lord will reward each F. M. SLOVER. one abundantly.

ALBION, Iowa, March 14.

Editors Herald:-Home sweet home, again. A missionary should aim to be at home in his mission field; but after all there is a freedom under his own roof it is hard to feel elsewhere to the same extent.

When last I wrote of my rambles I was at Bro. Jason R. Butler's, near Rosetta, Idaho, and as I like to follow the footsteps of others at time, I will give those with whom I sojourned the past winter a sketch of mine. Not that they are so important, or fraught with interest beyond many others who might entertain with more important matter, but this gives the scattered sheep a chance to know of conditions in their field. I have not been over as much of my field as I would have liked, neither accomplished all I desired, for then I could tell a different story. There is one thing I want to say to all Saints: If you have been "baptized with fire and the Holy Ghost," and have ever felt its illuminating light, and desired to see all men enjoy the same blessed freedom and heavenly peace, wherever you are, when you read these lines, remember that was the work of divine grace as a foretaste of the supper that God has prepared for those who love him and wicked. And take the helmet of salvation, I keep his commandments. That loving desire begotten by the Holy Spirit must be kept growing, must be fed day by day from the throne of grace if we wish to keep its soul satisfying sweetness as a continual feast day by day through our lives. I am not going to say scattered Saints need to watch more closely or pray more constantly than those enjoying communion with Saints, but I can say one thing, I like to go into communities where people say, Yes, you have some members here and you need not be ashamed of them, either, for if there are any Saints in this degenerate age, they are worthy. What of Saints of whom the people say, I see no difference between Saints and sinners as far as conduct is concerned? We may all be misjudged at times, but "except your righteousness exceed the righteousness of the Scribes and Pharisees you shall all likewise perish." This is the situation today as well as of old. I do not intend to convey the thought that we should pass judgment with the world, but to stir up the Saints to examine ourselves and see if we be in the faith, practically as well as theoretically. Let us all pray earnestly that the Lord send more laborers into the harvest, and then buckle on the whole armor of righteousness, looking well to our own individual lamps that they be filled and kept full, well trimmed and brightly burning, and shining full and clear wherever we roam. In our homes, or abroad. Can we, and will we, all see to this all important work of the committee of the whole. Then let us pray the Lord to send elders to second our efforts and await the result of the preaching of the word.

The fact is too apparent that many expect too much of the Lord, and disappointment is sure. Let us become coworkers with God, for this is the covenant. I see these things much clearer than I did before I commenced visiting among the people, and I write this in love for those who have not had the experience askirmisher soon gets. "Be ye clean who bear the vessels of the Lord." We are all vessel bearers. Saints, you want to see the ministry by word and deed reflect honor on the cause they represent, and they should. What shall the ministry rightfully expect of the members, the rank and file?

While at Rosetta, Nez Perce county, Idaho, I awarded the palm to Bro. Jason R. Butler's family for church attendants,—and going on horse back, too. They are a troup of themselves. It is not always those who have easiest access to meetings who are the best attendants. There is good material for Saints up in those everlasting hills. Considering roads the people about Rosetta came out nicely.

Leaving these for Nez Perce City, Bro. and Sr. Butler took me by sleigh to Bro. John D. Price, about forty miles the way we went, where, as the day was far spent we met two friends indeed, and were soon warmed and fed, thankful for the two Saints of that city. Bro. and Sr. Butler stayed over a day and two nights and left us for their home. Although Bro. Price had hired a hall and fitted it for meetings, the attendance was not as good as we hoped for, as secret order meetings seem to claim prior rights over everything except a dance. However, the attendance was not bad considering they were Mormon meetings,—even compared well with the other meetings, Methodist and Presbyterian. The spirit assured fruitage in due time. Sister Maude was a little discouraged at the prospect; but, bless her kind heart, she had not had the experience I have had visiting among the people calling themselves Christians. Yet I know all are not willfully blind. It takes time to overcome the prejudice which turns away as from scent of carrion, at what bears the stigma—Mormonism. I can have no feeling other than pity for the rank and file of this class. "They know not what they do."

Bro. John D. Price kindly helped me by team to Kamiah, when I left there on February I, where I took the train for Lewiston, sixty-five miles distant. On this trip down Clear Water River, I had a long conversation with an ex-editor and others on the merits of Christianity and its advocates; and on reaching Lewiston as I walked up from the depot one of the train men stopped me and said he wanted to thank me for so earnestly and kindly defending the right against unreasonable men like the editor who once published a paper at Lewiston.

Here at Lewiston I found a home till Monday with Bro. Dan Goebel and family, and trust ere long his help-meet will join our circle of Saints.

Here I met three of the Utah elders, Elders Neilson, of Logan, Utah; Jenkins, Fremont county, Idaho, and Coon, of some Utah point, who showed genuine brotherly kindness, insisting that I stop with them a day and night at least. So, as my boat, the Spokane, did not go go down till Tuesday to Riparia. I attended M. E. class meeting. Sunday school and morning services. Took part in first two services, and all were very cordial with welcome. The milk of human kindness was full and warm, till my faith was known, when the temperature dropped quickly, and but for a couple who appeared unaffected by the blight of prejudice. I would have been left as a stranger in a strange land. But such sudden changes from shepherds, or other flocks only have the tendency to rouse every energy in my being to make straight my pathway before the all seeing eye of Him who pondereth the heart. I want my testimony to all people to stand. It is, indeed, the grandest privilege man may enjoy, to stand as a witness for Christ, to have the testimony of Jesus. However, my stay over Sunday in Lewiston was not in vain nor misspent time.

Monday I put in visiting the Lewiston Normal grounds, distributing tracts and chatting gospel topics, till afternoon, when I called at the room of the Utah elders; and as I had been there Saturday awhile comparing and contending on doctrine, we settled down for an evening's earnest consideration of the great work ahead of establishing Zion. Everything passed off very pleasantly, and at bed time they kindly invited me to thank the Father for his mercies and ask his favor. They told me they met our people in various places and were very kindly treated, and found homes with the Josephites. Inwardly I blessed the Lord for this testimony. May it ever be thus. Elder Neilson was up early preparing breakfast, for I was to leave at 8:30 a.m., and thirty minutes of a walk to the landing. Elder Neilson insisted on carrying my heavy satchel to the boat, where he gave me a brotherly good-bye, as did the others, telling me if I ever visited around their homes to come and be welcome. After all which separates us on doctrinal lines, I love to see enemies at peace with each other.

The return to Weiser was pleasant and not void of privileges to sow the good seed. However, Bro. James N. Cato and his son John met me at the train, 4:25 p. m., and Bro. Cato carried the heavy end while we tramped to his home. His nephew, John A. Ross, waited baptism, which I witnessed by his uncle in Warm Spring Creek, when we returned to Bro. John A's home, where I and his uncle. Elder James N. Cato, confirmed him. Bro. John says he served the Devil heartily, and now he wanted to give most loyal service to the Lord, and if he acts as readily where the good Shepherd leads as he has with the tobacco habit it is a good enlistment. It means very much to be "a soldier in the army of the Lord." At Boise City Sister Strickland had two new Saints to rejoice with, Sr. Laura A. Savage and daughter Grace. With them and Ray I had a pleasant home while there. I told the people there we expected to lay seige to the city. Here I attended a protracted Quaker service on Saturday evening, and the speaker said at the close of meetings they would keep up till Tuesday evening they thought. So after dismissal I found the trustees and asked for the use of the house after the close of their meetings, and gave them a few tracts, with Epitome of Faith on, so they might know the line of thought-our faith. I attended Sunday school in the morning, and one of the trustees, Deam, came to me as I took off my overcoat and said to me, "Your room is better than your company sir."

I said, "Do you mean-"

"I mean your room is better than your company, sir."

I attended morning and evening service and meeting on Monday evening. After this service was dismissed I concluded to try the temper of the Quakers by telling them of the reception I met at Sunday school. Another of the trustees came up to me (Mr. Hughs) while talking and told me they all agreed with Mr. Deam, and tried to hush me from talking by saying that if I were a gentleman I would not talk so there. However, I soon learned they did not all agree with Deam and Hughs. I wrote a little article on the matter and asked the Statesman to be kind enough to publish, but I do not know if they did, as the editor said he was too busy to examine it at the time, and I have not seen all the issues since.

Now, I am sure there are people in Boise who will make good Saints, and such work only makes me more determined to keep in the fight. While here I blessed two of Sister Strickland's grandchildren, Daisy Emma and Susan Pearl, children of Bro. Harry F. and Mrs. Carrie Strickland. We expect to baptize her and Sister Strickland's daughter soon.

Proceeding to Hagerman from here I found the Baptists were having a continuous service in the hall. Held sacrament meeting with the Saints on February 24, and the Saints expressed a strong desire to organize a branch as soon as expedient after conference in April and arrangements can be made for it. About thirteen members live in this vicinity and there is great need for unity and concert in effort, such as only branch work can bring. Some good worker is needed in in this locality, more than has been, to strengthen the feeble knees. Bro. and Sr. E. E. Sherman live here, and are not cumbered with small children, and here is an excellent field for willing workers. My son, J. Durfee and family of four members, say they are ready to cooperate heartily for the cause and put away folly. This has the gospel ring clear and bright. What a grand little world this could be made if we would put away all carnal desire, walk uprightly, and be perfect with the Lord. Sickness, pain, and death, would soon pass away as the overshadowing evil when "sin reigned unto death."

For fear of taking up too much space in our HERALD I have omitted much that I would have written; but I dare say this is necessary, as, if all the elders should write the incidents of travel and experience extended much, the HERALD must be greatly enlarged or issued oftener. However, the missionary field is a world of experience which should make all the weak ones strong.

The isolated are not the only ones having discouraging conditions to face. Carnality in its thousand forms is very like a vast whirlpool into which the rich and poor are pouring, as a continuous torrent, their wealth and their lives, none living can see and hear its fearful swirl more plainly than the missionary, or as "it is written," "He hath said, which heard the words of God, and knew the knowledge of the Most High, which the vision of the Almighty, falling into a trance. but having his eyes open," Numbers 24: 16. Surely the eves of the Saints should get open soon. Would that mine had been open in childhood's guileless days, and my ears quick to hear only the voice of wisdom. "Straight is the gate, and narrow is the way, and few there be that find it." The true significance of this I was slow to learn. Parents should commence to teach their children wisdom. long before their children are born. Even our tables have become a snare and a trap for those who do not find the "narrow way."

To the Saints of western Idaho, one and all, let us join hands and loose the shackels of our bondage, that Zion may put on her "beautiful garments."

I have not returned home for rest, for to my mind that is inconsistent. To leave the mission field for rest sounds like "French leave," in army parlance. The Master does not expect any one to weary in his service. "Those who wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength." So it is written. Isaiah 40: 31. To "wait upon the Lord" means to cultivate a closer relationship with the Lord, which is man's true normal condition, whereby we may be under the influence of the Spirit of Christ. His Spirit's fruit is love, joy, peace, etc.

Ever for Zion's weal, CHARLES ALBERTSON. YOAKUM, Texas, March 14.

Readers of the Herald:—It is a pleasant duty to write to the Saints through our beloved paper this morning. I have long been a reader of the HERALD, and it has always been a welcome visitor; and now since I am one of the scattered Saints, its weekly visits, with its pages of instruction and letters of encouragement, are a source of great comfort to me. It does my very soul good to read of the church and Sunday school work in other places. I humbly pray that the time may come when the gospel may be preached here, and the honest hearted gathered in.

I am the only Latter Day Saint here that I know of. I thought when I came here it would be very hard for me to meet all opposition alone. But I find I have not been entirely alone,—God has ever been with me, and in every time of need has heard and answered my prayers. He has helped me through many trials and temptations. Many times through prayer he has manifested his healing power. He has blessed me abundantly in many ways; even more than I feel worthy.

What a glorious thing it is to be in the light and truth of the gospel! I ask the Saints to pray that I may keep myself unspotted from the world, and set an example worthy for my children to follow, and that I may ever be able to guide their little footsteps in the straight and narrow way. I will try to scatter the gospel truths to my neighbors. Some will listen and some are prejudiced while others are very careless in regard to religion. But with God's help and mercy that I may never tire of well-doing I will work for the Master, though I meet with much opposition and disappointment, for I do not want to be an idle servant.

Ever praying for the prosperity of the gospel, and asking a heartfelt interest in the prayers of the Saints, I am,

Your sister in gospel bonds, ETTIE ALLBRIGHT.

HALLOWELL, Kansas.

Editors Herald:—We are still alive yet, and feel good in this latter-day work. We have weekly prayer meetings, Sunday school, and preaching services, and are in hopes that the coming General Conference will prosper throughout all its sessions. I have not much talent in writing letters but I love to read the letters in the HERALD from other Saints, and feel that they all, like me, would like to hear from all the Saints.

I have just returned home from a quarterly conference at Webb City. We had a splendid conference and Saints are feeling well in general. I would like to hear from all the Saints about the Graceland College. It has bothered me for some time to know whether it is right or not. I would like to send some money to help the College along if I knew it would be prospering God's cause, but I do not want to do anything wrong if I know it. Remember me in your faith and prayers. I have three little boys to bring up in this latter-day work, and I hope and pray I may be able to bring them up right.

Your sister in the one true faith,
MRS. CLARA M. MERCER.

CHARITON, Iowa, March 21.

Editors Herald:-Since my last communication I closed a series of meetings at the Con schoolhouse, near Sandyville, which resulted in making many friends for the church. On January 5 I went to Butler county and held meetings which were well attended and will result in good. I found the few Saints there alive in the work. Bro. and Sr. Metcalf, Bro. and Sr. Sherman, and Sr. Hurd who is old and quite feeble but loves this latter-day work which brings so much comfort and cheer as she nears the goal of her fondest hope-eternal life. Also Sr. Fuhr. who is a Saint indeed. Her husband and children are not members of the church, but they are Saints at heart, and only lack the one thing.

From there I went to Des Moines to attend the district conference. While there I received a request to come to Boone and hold a series of meetings. I held thirteen meetings, and while the outside attendance was small, I am sure a number will accept the gospel the first favorable opportunity. I visited all the Saints in Boonesboro, Boone, and Incline. I think: and to say I found all strong in the faith is but a mild term for their zeal in their Master's work. The love and unity of purpose and desire among the Saints in the branch is commendable to any branch, and I know that a great shower of refreshing from the Lord is near them, and I expect to hear of a gathering in the branch during the June conference.

From Boone I came home to Chariton, where there is but one family of Saints besides my own, that of Bro. and Sr. Aumick. I applied for the assembly room in the court house, which was refused me a year ago by the board of supervisors, or rather by one of them, who has since lost the office. The Methodists were using two rooms in the court house at the time, and I asked why I could not have an equal right with them. Mr. Ashby informed me that the M. E's. had made this town and I had done nothing but pay my taxes, and they were under no obligation to me. Now this was an undue slap in the face of the good people of Chariton, as there are ten other churches here besides theirs, which have many good people in them and have done just as much for the town and have begged no more for the support of their churches.

I got the use of the assembly room from Mr. Larimar, one of the present members of the board of supervisors, and up to the present date I have held fifteen services with as large congregations as could be expected. Better attention could not be asked for. Bro. Lovell, of Davis City, called and preached one evening. I still have appointments out for two Sundays. Sr. Kephart has been keeping up a Sunday school for six months, with the two families, but at the close of our services Wednesday evening quite a number who have been regular attendants during the meetings pledged themselves to become regular members of the school, which we hope to hold in the assembly room every Sunday at three p. m. We now have many friends here, and I hope to see many gathered into the fold soon.

This is not in my district, and I am laboring here by permission. I expect this to be my future home, and I do hope to see a branch here, and by careful work I know there will be. We were not well received here two years ago, but through our getting acquainted things have changed wonderfully. I am preparing to attend General Conference. In bonds,

W. H. KEPHART.

CADILLAC, Mich., Feb. 25.

Editor Herald:-There seems to be great difference of opinion in the political world, insomuch that it breaks down and buries up that which we were to be known by, of all men. Those differences of opinion should not be like that if we ever reach perfection to attain to that which God would have us. We will have to come to a social stand in temporal as well as spiritual. There is a common root and identity between the philosophy of socialism and the philosophy of Jesus. The socialist movement is preparing the material for the realization of the lovelife of the world. Socialism is a spiritual necessity of the race. Men must learn to live together, how to work together for a common good, how to combine for free and creative ends, and not under the mere stress of defense. Men's discovery of power and of how to use it in making the kind of a world he wants can never far outrun the development of his ccoperation or spiritual sense. Power is cooperation, love is cooperation, spirituality is cooperation. You will find how radical is the identity if you go deep enough into the class-conscious philosophy, and then read the burning and divisive commands and warnings of Jesus and his apostles in the light of that philosophy. First, last, and all the time his disciples and friends were told to stand together, to be true to one another, with a love that would never be beaten and a loyalty that would never fail. "By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, If ye have love one for another, even as I have loved you."

Why should this great love be devoured by the political cankerworm, and when restored again only to fall to the same fate at the very next political race. But after all, this is a question of words. Most of our discussions about the antithesis between self-sacrifice and self-interest are idle definitions. In the end it is every man's personal good to sacrifice himself for common good. The highest self-interest of the individual, his real joy and liberty, lies in pouring himself out in the service of his brothers, in throwing himself away for them if need be; and so every man's true self-sacrifice lies in presenting the richest and noblest possible individuality to the world. True self-sacrifice and true selfinterest are merely different names for the same principles of being different names for self-realization; for holiness and freedom of life. On the whole, our attitude toward ourselves and our brothers is about the same. We must love our neighbor as ourselves. That is about what we generally do, whether we know it or not. If we try to live the life of free sons of God ourselves, we shall have most sensitive and sacred regard for the free individuality and divine worth of others. If we truly love our neighbor, we will nobly love ourselves for their sakes, and for their sakes make our lives whole; and if we truly love ourselves, we will seek to awake in our brother the strongest and loveliest selfhood. A cross-section of our feelings, our thinking and doing, taken anywhere and at any time, will reveal about the same quality of love and life in relation to self and to others. Neighbor-love and self-love will always register the same quality in the spiritual thermometer.

Ever your brother in the one faith,

H. WHITEHEAD.

BOTTINEAU, N. D., March 18.

Editors Herald:-Perhaps a few words from the Bottineau branch will be interesting to some. This town has been considered very hard to reach with the gospel. It certainly has been very difficult to get large audiences here in the past, but we are glad to know that those days are past. Elders Houghton and Sparling came here about a month ago and began meetings in a private house. They had small but interested crowds. They were offered the use of a large hall by a very kind gentleman who has been very kindly towards us for some time. The offer was accepted, but some, from past experience, thought that it would not be worth while. But they were agreeably surprised at the attendance. The Saints gathered and had a season of prayer, and all seemed united in a determination to give the people of Bottineau ample opportunity to accept or refuse this gospel. Ten sermons were preached in the brother's house, with small attendance; but when we moved to the hall we had from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred and fifty people in attendance, while sixteen sermons were preached there.

The Saints feel that it has been a grand thing for Bottineau. There was good interest to the last. An opportunity was given for all to ask questions, but the questions took so much time after each sermon that they decided to appoint an evening and devote it entirely to questions. Saturday evening, the 9th, was appointed, and a large crowd gathered; some to see the "Mormon" preacher "done up," and others for the sake of the truth. Some of those who asked questions seemed to have no other motive than to try to catch the brother and make him contradict himself. Among these was an exdivine of the Baptist persuasion. But we are glad that they were not successful. Bro. Sparling was blessed with the Spirit, and, although some feared these questions might end in confusion, a good impression has been left and nothing lost by the cause.

Much prejudice has been removed, which is very encouraging for the Saints of Bottineau and vicinity, especially for the older ones here who have had to bear with the ignorance and prejudice of the people for several years. There have been two requests for baptism, and a number of others are investigating.

This branch has about sixty members, but we are so scattered that we cannot all meet together often. We hope that we may so live that we may not undo that which the servants of God have accomplished here. We give God the glory, and hope and pray that the good work may go on.

Your brother in Christ, W. H. CALLIN.

LISMORE, N. S. W., Feb. 22.

Editors Herald:-Since last writing, I have left home, and am at present on the northern border of our state, making another assault upon the forces of the world, the flesh, and the Devil. I find that the enemy is securely entrenched, and have not even the faintest hope of routing him completely. I hope, however, to be able to take a few prisoners from his forces-prisoners of hope.

I went the other evening to hear the Seventh-day Adventists, discoursing on the "cleansing of the heavenly sanctuary." Of course, all who are acquainted with these people, know that all their "thunder" about the "cleansing of the heavenly sanctuary" in 1844 is simply a cunning ruse to cover up William Miller's mistaken calculation that Christ would come in that year. The "pastor" spent an hour among the "hoofs and horns" of Daniel, to show that the cleansing of the sanctuary took place in that year; but, unfortunately for his theory, he gave leave for questions at the conclusion. In his remarks he referred to the cleansing of the earthly sanctuary, and went into detail to show how it was done. "For 359 days of the year, the Priest went out into the outer compartment of the sanctuary, but upon the last day he went into the inner compartment, taking with him the blood of a goat, which he sprinkled upon the mercy seat. The slain goat which furnished the blood, was typical of Christ. But the cleansing was not completed by the sprinkling of the blood upon the mercy seat. It was not complete until the priest had taken the scapegoat, and had confessed the sins of the people upon its head, and had turned it adrift into the wilderness, or, according to the marginal reading, 'into oblivion.' The scapegoat represented Satan. The cleansing of the earthly sanctuary is but a type of what the cleansing of the heavenly one will be. The same ceremony will be observed. The blood of Christ will be sprinkled upon the mercy seat." etc.

This seemed to me to be so "thin" that I thought it advisable to ask a few questions. I asked: "The cleansing of the earthly sanctuary is typical of the heavenly cleansing?" "Yes."

"In the cleansing of the earthly one, two goats were used, one typifying Christ, and the other typical of Satan?"

"Yes,"

"Was the earthly cleansing complete until the goat representing Satan was turned into the wilderness, or into oblivion?"

"No."

"You say the heavenly sanctuary was cleansed in 1844?"

"Yes."

"Were the sins of the people confessed upon the head of Satan in that year? And was Satan turned into oblivion at the time?"

"Well-er-No."

"Then the heavenly sanctuary was not completely cleansed at that time, for the earthly cleansing was not complete until the goat representing Satan was turned into oblivion bearing with him the sins of the people?"

"Well-er-No." A painful pause, and then: "Well, you see it is, and it isn't."

"When will Satan be turned into oblivion?"
"Why, when he is cast into the bottomless pit." (Rev. 20.)

"Then according to your own theory, the heavenly sanctuary will not be cleansed until that time."

"Well-er-No."

All these questions were asked in the mildest kind of a spirit, no attempt being made at a speech. And thus the mighty theory, which it had taken an hour to explain, went down before a very few questions. The prophecies referred to by him cannot possibly refer to the cleansing of the heavenly sanctuary at all, for Paul tells us that even in his time work was being carried on in it.

He says: "For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us." (Heb. 9: 24)

So the work has been going on all the time, and the sins of those who have believed in Christ, and obeyed his commands, have been remitted, and transferred from the heads of God's people to the head of Satan.

Our Adventist friends have also been telling the people that the Jews would never return to Palestine, and that Jerusalem would never be rebuilt. Of course they are very positive upon that point, for Mrs. E. G. White, their "prophetess," has said that in one of her "visions," she saw "that old Jerusalem would never be built up."

We spoke on the subject on Sunday, pointing out the material disagreement between the above statement and those which have been made upon the subject by holy men of God who wrote and spoke as they were moved upon by the Holy Spirit. We brought out the statement of the Palmyra Seer upon the subject, in contrast with the above one, and then settled the matter-in the favorite way of Adventists-by an appeal "to the law and to the testimony." I do not think they will deceive any who heard with that theory again. How dense must be the darkness of persons who make such statements, in the face of the developments of the past fifty years, and of the voice of inspiration! Truly, they speak not according to the law and to the testimony, "because there is no light in them," at least upon that subject. Although the "pastor" promised to be present when I spoke, he failed to appear, but he could go to hear another person speaking against some of his theories, on the same day. We shall continue to labor here until April 1.

> Yours in bonds, WALTER J. HAWORTH.

Balmain Branch, N. S. W., Feb., 1901. Editors Herald:—The seventh of this month will be the completion, for me, of four years' service in the glorious latter-day work; and in those years I have received many spiritual manifestations and blessings to clearly convince me that the work is of God. I have had a great many difficulties to overcome, a good many barriers to surmount; but I thank our heavenly Father that with each victory comes the desire tenfold to do God's will and that which pleases him. He has seen fit, in his infinite wisdom, however, to afflict me by loss of sight, and, on account of this affliction, I sometimes think that I cannot do as much for him as I would desire, as I would otherwise be enabled to do. But then, on the other hand, I recognize that in my own strength I am as nothing, and, having faith in his infinite wisdom in him whose loving kindness and care will leave the fold to seek the lost sheep and rejoice in its recovery. I feel confident that this affliction, although so hard to bear, has been placed upon me for some wise purpose, the magnitude of which my human perception cannot realize. At the same time, I have the hope that he will, in his infinite mercy, rebuke the affliction and restore my sight; and to this purpose I would request the Saints of that part of the vineyard to pray for me, that God will, through Christ Jesus, bless and make perfect my spiritual as well as my physical vision.

I meet with much opposition in the world, but I thank God that I am invariably able to give good reason for the hope that is within me—to be a dweller in God's mansion with him who is our Savior.

We held our conference at Hamilton on 29th to 31st of December. The Holy Spirit I verily believe was with us during the whole of those blessed days! and God's approval of our efforts was made manifest unto us in divers ways, notably by "tongues" and the interpretation thereof per medium of Sr. Ellis, and our souls were filled with joy! I will not dwell on that glad time (for a full report has no doubt ere this reached you) other than to heartily endorse one of the resolutions carried during the business portion of the proceedings anent the revival of the Ensign. I was particularly pleased with the resolution, as I consider the newspaper a great factor in forwarding the work, as it can be scattered broadcast, and can penetrate into regions where, owing to our fewness in this part of the vineyard, it is, at present, impossible for

In conclusion, I desire to continue in the work in which I glory, and to that end reiterate my desire for an interest in the Saints' prayers, that I may remain faithful. I realize that God's will will be done; that his ways are not like man's; and that he will do everything wisely and well!

Yours in brotherhood,
ANDREW H. BROWN.

Soberly and with clear eyes believe in your own time and place. There, is not, there never has been, a better time or a better place to live in. Only with this belief can you believe in hope.—Phillips Brooks.

No man was ever healed of a disease by reading a medical book alone.

Mothers' Home Column.

EDITED BY FRANCES.

"Though love repine and reason chafe,
There came a voice without reply:—
"Tis man's perdition to be safe,
When for the truth he ought to die."

MAKING THE MOST OF THINGS.

It is not unusual to hear our grandmothers declare that the children of today have too many toys, and are less happy and contented than little folks were in their childhood with a few, and those of home manufacture.

A little girl of our acquaintance did not care for "store" dolls, but found royal entertainment in playing with the children of a poor neighbor who were richly supplied with homegrown dolls, plucked from the squash and gourd vines in their garden and on the cottage wall. These were dressed in the clothes of the little ones, and were readily marshaled into schools with pupils of assorted sizes, or into church congregations or passengers of a railway train.

In the capacity of pupils, they were brought up in the way they should go by vigorous and often original forms of discipline, and when their dumbness proved irritating, they were ignominiously termed "squash heads." As church audiences, they were belabored with such fragments of the commandments and familiar Scripture texts as could be readily recalled, with more or less personal and startling applications, while as railway passengers they were subjected to terrible collisions, and often the whole trainload went to general smash.

The fun of these plays was largely due to the opportunity for the exercise of the children's imagination. Boys and girls who have every variety of games and toys finished up and ready to their hand often weary of them because there is so little to stimulate their wits.

The story is told of two little girls, a boy, and a dog, who were having a make-believe ride on an old log. All were in the highest glee, the children laughing and the dog barking a lively accompaniment.

A gentleman driving past said, "Isn't that rather slow, little people? Wouldn't you like a horse and carriage?"

"Yes, sir," said Robbie; "but we haven't any, and so we are getting the most fun we can out of what we do have."

That is always wise, and happiness almost always comes from making the most of small pleasures. Those who wait for some great thing to make them happy, are pretty likely to wait in vain. Boys and girls with small means and limited advantages are likely to think they haven't much "chance in the world." But curiously enough, the most famous people have been of their class. The need of thinking and doing in order to have some coveted good, quickens the brain and the step, and helps small and large people to do what they might think at first impossible, and the consciousness of the power to do gives joy and strength. Make the most of what you have and you will get more and be more.

LET US NOT REND IT.

Seamless and fair! Let us not rend Thy perfect garment, Lord! But ever keep it whole throughout, Maintaining in Thy Church a blessed accord.

Let all be one!

One Church, one faith, one love, one hope,
one joy,

One Bridegroom, and one holy Bride— This unity divine let none destroy.

One temple vast!
Builded on living stones by Thine own hand,
One household and one brotherhood—
Knit all together by love's perfect band.

Let truth prevail!
Truth ever true, not shifting with the wind;
Walk we in light as sons of noon,
The shadows that divide us left behind.

Let love prevail!

Love, the most excellent of gifts divine,
The love that seeketh not her own—

Long-suffering love, all-patient, Lord, like thine.

Let love prevail!
The love that envies not, that thinks no ill,
That faileth not, but ever lives,
All things believing, hoping, bearing still,

So be it Lord! Even here on earth, where all things broken lie.

So shall it be in love's own day, In love's own kingdom everlastingly.

-Horatius Bonar.

AMERICAN BOYS SHOULD LEARN A TRADE.

Why is it that so many of our American boys are prejudiced against learning a handicraft or trade? It is said with a great deal of truth that such Americans as must work at the mechanical trades find themselves at a disadvantage when competing with trained foreigners.

Americans lay the bricks, but the stone masons are from Europe. There are native plasterers, but the ornamental work is nearly always entrusted to a German. There are American and English carpenters, but the fine joiner work in hard woods, and the carving and other decorations are necessarily entrusted to the French technically trained workman. Americans paint houses, but for the frescoing and decorative work the Italian, French or German has the call.

One valid reason against training a boy to a particular handicraft is the progress of invention whereby ingenious machinery has supplanted manual labor.

Our apprentice laws have fallen into disuse, and the trades unions have discriminated against lads who wish to become mechanics.

Then there are so many opportunities for making money in trade and speculation that ambitious young Americans are eager to enter the fields of commerce, to become politicians, to do anything, in fact, rather than confine themselves to the farm, the shop, or the factory. And so it comes about that when any work requiring technical skill is required foreigners have to be employed.

A change has taken place of which our people have not taken advantage. It is true that machinery has supplanted manual labor in the manufacture of clothing material, but no inventor can take the place of the skilled workman. We have too many traders and speculators.

An advertisement for a bookkeeper or a salesman is answered by a hundred boys and young men, while skilled and artistic workmen are so scarce that we are forced to import them from Europe.

What we need is such an extension of our public schools as will give our boys and girls the same advantages of art education as those possessed by the young French, German, and Italian workmen. We want technical industrial schools. And we want sensible boys to appreciate the advantages of these schools and to consider it an honor to be a thorough master of some trade or handicraft.

There are too many bookkeepers, salesmen, merchants, and politicians in the United States. It is a mortifying fact that the most keen-witted, inventive, and intelligent people on earth allow themselves to be beaten in many of the industrial arts by foreigners who have not the same natural capacity, but who have the advantage of an excellent technical and artistic education.

The boys of today—yes, and the girls, too—should see to it that they are taught occupations in which foreigners now excel, and in which there is no danger of competition in the way of improved machinery. It is only when the boys lay aside their prejudice against trades, and look at the matter from a common sense standpoint, that we can hope to compete with the skilled workmen from other countries.—Selected.

Sunday School Department.

ELDER T. A. HOUGAS, EDITOR.

Henderson, Mills Co., Iowa. (Send communications for this department to the Editor Address minutes and notices of conventions, etc., to "Editors Herald, Lamoni, Iowa.")

VALUE OF TEACHERS' MEETINGS.

This subject is one that should receive very close attention from every Sunday school worker, because it is one of very great importance to the Sunday school work. . . . I wish to present to you a few thoughts in regard to teachers' meetings and the Sunday school work and show a few of the good results accomplished by the teachers' meetings. I say teachers' meetings, because the teachers and officers of the Sunday school should be the most active workers for the advancement of the Sunday school work; and as the teachers' meeting is one of the principal elements in a successful Sunday school, so should the teachers and officers of the Sunday school be the principal elements in the teachers' meetings, although the attendance of the members of the senior classes should be encouraged.

The Sabbath school work is

NOT IN THE SAME CONDITION. it was a few years ago, but it has reached a higher, broader, and more level plane, and is now recognized over all the world as a necessary adjunct to churches of almost every denomination. While this state of advancement has been general, the rapid strides with which our Sunday school has come to the front in the last few years speaks volumes for the ability, activity, and energy of the Sunday school workers in our church.

We now have our lessons prepared and issued in neat quarterlies, with notes and guides to assist us in our study, and we also have Bibles and books of reference that enable us to search out almost anything, no matter how complicated, that is connected with our lessons. With these very convenient advantages on the side of the pupil, it becomes necessary for the teacher to and hunt for material from other reliable sources in order to be able to teach all the points contained in the lesson, and the best place for a teacher to obtain this necessary information is at the teachers' meetings.

GO OUTSIDE OF THE QUARTERLY

The teachers should come to the meetings, each one with his lesson thoroughly prepared, and then as they go over the lessons together each one will have some good thought that perhaps has never occurred to any of the others, and in this way there will be many new, interesting, and important thoughts in the lesson brought out which perhaps would have gone unnoticed had it not been for the teachers' meeting.

Sometimes some of our lessons contain so many good thoughts that it is impossible for us to follow them all out during the short session of the Sunday school, and perhaps in the class work one teacher will choose one particular line of thought and follow it out while another has chosen a line entirely different, and perhaps a third teacher has chosen still another line; and when the time to review the school comes, some of the pupils will know one part of the lesson, and some another, while the principal theme in the lesson outline has been entirely overlooked by all the teachers. With the assistance of the teachers' meetings the teachers can all discuss the different themes in the lesson, and then decide upon which line of thought they will teach, and then each will work in harmony with the others, and the lesson will be thoroughly explained to all the pupils. This is especially helpful to primary teachers. *

ANOTHER IMPORTANT POINT

in favor of teachers' meetings is one that has perhaps been overlooked by many who have not had the privilege of regularly attending a good teachers' meeting, and that point is this; in all church work, and in almost any other kind of work, I have always noticed that the best workers at one place will be the best ones at another, and this rule is also applicable to Sunday school work. The most active workers in the Sunday school work are usually the most active in the church and Religio work, and also in the teachers' meetings. This is especially true of the young people.

There a few (sometimes a very few) of these people in every church, Sunday school, and Religio, and they are the ones who are the life and soul of the work, no matter where they are. It is usually this class of people who attend the teachers' meetings; and when a few of the most active Sunday school workers, gather to study God's word and ask him for guidance, it is then that they are made to fully realize the truthfulness of the statement that "the things of God can only be understood by the Spirit of God;" and as they study the lesson and are made to see things so plainly, it is then that they are made to realize that they are truly the children of God and that their work in the Sunday school is pleasing to him.

I have been interest d in the Sunday school work for some time, and have been a regular attendant at teachers' meetings for the last three years, and I can say, candidly and truthfully, that the best instruction I have ever received has been at the teachers' meeting, and the best Sunday school I have ever attended was one where they held teachers' meetings regularly, and where the officers and teachers of the Sunday school were the principal elements in the teachers' meetings.

ROBERT WINN.

For the Northeast Missouri district convention.

Conference Minutes.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Conference convened in Saints' chapel, Sacramento, March 8. F. B. Blair and C. A. Parkin presiding, E. S. Chase secretary. Branches reporting: San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Stockton, Santa Rosa, Lower Lake, Irvington, Alma, and Humboldt. Elders reporting, written: C. A. Parkin, A. Haws, J. A. Anthony, G. S. Lincoln, John A. Saxe, A. B. Phillips, J. H. Parr, Thomas Daley; and priests, John S. Hommes, C. C. Joehnk, and T. J. Lawn. Elders F. B. Blair, George Daley, and E. S. Chase reported orally. Financial reports from Bishop C. A. Parkin, district treasurer C. A. Parkin, and district tract fund treasurer C. C. Joehnk. District officers unanimously sustained: F. B. Blair president, C. A. Parkin vice president, E. S. Chase secretary, C. A. Parkin treasurer. District tract agency continued with E. S. Chase treasurer in place of C. C. Joehnk resigned. Ten delegates were chosen to represent the district at General Conference. Petitions addressed to First Presidency and Quorum of Twelve; and all established societies auxiliary to the church, were unanimously sustained. Preaching by Elders G. H. Hilliard, E. A. Blakeslee, C. A. Parkin, and F. B. Blair. Social service on Sunday morning. Bro. Ira Lytle was ordained a teacher. A spirit of unity and peace prevalled at the business sessions, and the Holy Spirit was evident in all devotional exercises. The sermons were uplifting and encouraging in a marked degree. Adjourned to meet in Oakland in connection with district reunion.

SPRING RIVER.

Conference convened at Webb City, Missouri, March 1. District president, E. A. Davis, in the chair; T. S. Hayton, secretary; W. S. Macrae assistant. Branches reporting: Weir City, Lamanite, Fairland baptized 3, Blendville baptized 20, Pleasant View baptized 5, Webb City baptized 9, Columbus baptized 3, Maysville and Traverse reports referred back for correction. Ministers reporting: Seventies F. C. Keck baptized 4, E. A. Davis; Elders A. H. Herke, J. W. Thorpe, J. L. Lancaster, S. D. Love baptized 2, W. S. Taylor baptized 1, J. C. Severine, J. A. Graves, Noah Karahoo, J. T. Riley, W. E. Haden baptized 1, A. M. Baker baptized 3 W. S. Macrae baptized 17, T. S. Hayton, B. N. Sims, E. Depue, Z. Decker, W. H. Smart, J. M. Richards; Priests H. J. Thurman, W. B. Hillen, J. I. Young, Richard Bird; Teachers G. M. Rhonemous, L. H. McCall, V. A. Herron, George Jones, I. N. Fuller, A. P. Free, M. S. Frick; Deacons R. O. Drake, and R. J. Parker. District treasurer's audited report showed $38.21 on hand. Bishop's agent's audited report: Receipts $674.55, paid out $538.76, balance $135.79. The petition of Saints at Galena, Kansas, for branch organization was granted, and referred to E. C. Keelt missionary, and referred back for correction. Ministers refor branch organization was granted, and referred to F. C. Keck, missionary, and the district president to effect an organization. District secretary was authorized to have blanks printed for branch presidents' reports to district president. The welfare of Weir City branch was placed in the hands of the missionary in charge and district president. Bro. J. M. Richards was elected district president, T. S. Hayton secretary and treasurer. A vote of thanks was given expresident E. A. Davis for faithful service rendered the district. The reunion boarding house committee was authorized to draw on district treasury for $15. Delegates were appointed to General Conference. Frank G. Christie was ordained an elder. As a token of good will, a motion prevailed to pay out of district treasury, the expenses of our district secretary to the General Conference. Adjourned to convene with Pleasant View branch, June 7. T. S. Hayton, secretary, 1102 Bellevue street, Galena, Kansas.

NORTHWEST TEXAS.

Conference of above district met with the Saints at Oklaunion, March 9. Elder A. J. Moore in the chair. After prayer and singing, E. B. Stafford was chosen secretary protem. Morning session was spent in short speeches. Report of Oklaunion. Elders reparted: A. J. Moore, J. H. Amend, Bro. Wilcox, T. J. Sheppard, E. L. Hensen, and C. C. Holcombe. Bishop's agent, reported. Committee appointed to audit Bishop's agent's book find that agent had made a mistake of $5 against himself. This report was from the time agent was appointed up to December 31, 1900. Meetings were well attended, and a peaceful time enjoyed. Prayer meeting on Sunday morning. Preaching by E. L. Hensen and A. J. Moore. Adjourned to meet with the Beaver branch, on Saturday before the first Sunday in October.

OKLAHOMA.

Conference of above district convened at Okarche, March 2. R. M. Maloney, district president, in the chair; H. C. Hughes, assistant; H. Case and wife secretaries protem. Ministry reporting: H. O. Smith, Hubert Case, R. M. Maloney, H. C. Hughes, T. J. Smith, W. P. Pickering, D. S. Crawley, J. M. Brown, H. F. Durfey, and F. F. Vrooman; Priests James Yates, S. S. Smith, W. H. Rhodes, and H. K. Rowland; Teacher L. W. Pate. Branch reports: Oak Grove 36, Canadian Center 66, Oklahoma 30. Sunday school convention minutes read. Delegates to General Conference: R. M. Maloney, George Montague, Hubert Case, H. C. Hughes, J. M. Brown, W. H. Rhodes, and Alice Case. Officers elected: George Montague president and W. P. Pickering assistant, S. S. Smith clerk. The majority of delegates present at General Conference were empowered to cast the full vote of district. Bro. W. M. Aylor was released from the committee to locate time and place of next reunion, at his request, and Bro. H. K.

Rowland was selected in his stead. Next conference to meet with the reunion. matter of branch organization for Seiling, was referred to the missionary in charge and district president. R. M. Maloney was ten-dered a vote of thanks for past services. Our present Bishop's agent was requested to report by next quarterly conference as to whether he is willing to continue in and discharge the duties of the office in the future. L. W. Pate, H. C. Hughes, and H. F. Durfee were appointed to solicit means to procure a horse and buggy for the use of district president. A vote of thanks was given the Okarche Saints for their kindness. The spiritual officers of the church and district were sustained. Conference passed off agreeably, peacefully, and we trust profitably to all.

FAR WEST.

Conference convened at St. Joseph, Missouri, on March 16 and 17. I. N. White and T. T. Hinderks presiding; C. P. Faul and W. W. Smith secretaries. Branches reporting: w. Smith secretaries. Branches reporting: Plesant Grove 92; gain 6. Delano 111; loss 1. Mt. Hope 42. Wakenda 65; gain 2. Stewartsville 165; gain 7. DeKalb 51. German Stewartsville 79. Kingston 95; loss 1. St. Joseph 473; gain 3. C. P. Faul, Bishop's agent, reported. Report audited and found correct. Ministry reporting: Fldger A. W. agent, reported. Report audited and found correct. Ministry reporting: Elders A. W. Head, William Lewis, H. B. Taddicken, Swen Swenson baptized 9, Ben J. Dice, Alma Booker, J. S. Constance, R. Archibald, M. Shaw baptized 2, J. C. Foss, D. E. Powell, W. E. Summerfield, C. P. Faul, T. T. Hinderks, J. W. Adams. J. W. Robert; Priests C. N. Gentry, J. N. York, F. Uphoff, R. Garlich, W. W. Smith, and David H. Schmidt. Delegates to General Conference: T. T. Hinderks, C. P. Faul, William Lewis, John-Dacks, C. P. Faul, William L Delegates to General Conference: T. H. Hinderks, C. P. Faul, William Lewis, John Davis, W. C. Cather, S. F. Cushman, Swen Swenson, Carrie M. Lewis, Ben Dice, A. W. Head, J. C. Foss, W. E. Summerfield, J. W. Adams, J. S. Lawton, Maggie Blair, G. W. Sample, C. E. Guinand, Samuel H. Simmons, W. W. Smith, S. William Sould, S. C. W. Sample, C. E. Guinand, Samuel H. Simmons, W. W. Smith, Sr. William Soule, Sr. G. W. Best, J. N. Duncan, C. Householder, D. H. Schmidt, G. W. Best, D. E. Powell, M. Shaw, J. Friend, M. T. Short, C. J. Craven, J. A. Gardner, Alma Booker, R. S. Parker, J. D. Flanders, Sr. M. Shaw, Ella Gartside, and R. J. W. D. Decenter present an armorphysical street. L. Ware. Delegates present are empowered to cast the full vote of the district. On recommendation of St. Joseph and First Kansas City branches, brethren George W. Best, Richard Jeffries, and Walter W. Smith, were ordained to the office of elder. The condition and progress of the Religio were reported by the president, W. W. Smith, and secretary John Gardner; as was also the Sunday school association by the superintendant. ent, C. P. Faul, and secretary, Sr. Grace Constance. An appeal was presented by J. N. York counsel from the action of the Stewartsrork counsel from the action of the Stewarts-ville branch vs. W. C. Duncan. Chair ap-pointed C. P. Faul, W. W. Smith, and D. H. Schmidt to investigate and report. After this committee heard the case and reported to the conference W. C. Duncan by his coun-sel appeal the matter to the First Presi-dency. Present officers reliefed for the dency. Present officers reflected for the coming quarter. Preaching by Swen Swenson, H. O. Smith, and I. N. White; these brethren were assisted by S. F. Cushman, W. W. Smith, and T. T. Hinderks, respectively. Social meeting in charge of William Lewis and D. E Powell. Adjourned to meet with Kingston branch, June 29 and 30.

Take thy self denials gayly and cheerfully, and let the sunshine of thy gladness fall on dark things and bright alike, like the sunshine of the Almighty. — James Freeman Clarke.

I have observed many who by speaking have fallen into sin, scarcely one who has fallen by silence.—Ambrose.

REPORT OF MISSIONARIES

TO THE CONFERENCE OR CHURCH.

*		ed.		52			_` i	0:	rdi	na	tio	ns.	-	)r	ga	niz	at'ns.
Names.	Whole No. of services attended.	Times preached	Times assisted	Other service held.	Number bap- tized.	Number con- firmed.	Times assisted to confirm.	High Priests.	Seventy.	Elders.	Priests.	Teachers.	Deacons.	Districts.	Branches.	Sunday School.	Zion's Re- ligio-Liter- ary Society.	Marriages.	Children blessed.	Administered to sick.	Field of Labor.
APOSTLES. William H. Kelley R. C. Evans G. T. Griffiths I. N. White J. R. Lambert J. W. Wight Heman C. Smith John H. Lake James Caffall	350 226 366	100 271 140 146 38 148 62 127 196	11	74 75	10 21	12 9 23 4 14 8 11	27 3 17 18	2 5 5 1 1 5	4 4 1 2	1 2 1	1 2	2 1 1	1		1 3 1 1			3 2 1	14 4	88	Kansas, Missouri, and Southern Illinois. Under direction of the First Presidency. Iowa and Minnesota. Michigan and Indiana mission.
SEVENTIES IN CHARGE C. A. Butterworth T. C. Kelley H. O. Smith D. W. Wight ELDERS IN CHARGE.	349 238	70 172 185 116	8 34 5 21	130 15	13 16	6 13	3		1	3	1	1	71		hand hand	-		2	5 12 15	58	Australasia. Southeastern mission. Southwestern mission. Rocky Mountain mission.
N. C. Enge HIGH PRIESTS. J. M. Baker Fred B. Blair M. H. Bond		189	40	32	$\begin{vmatrix} 4\\13 \end{vmatrix}$	7	6		-		1	9					1	0	4 4	88	Wash., U. S. A.; Norway and Denmark.  Little Sioux district.  Northern California.  Fastorn mission, Massachusetts district
M. H. Bond Richard Bullard C. E. Butterworth J. C. Crabb J. T. Davis R. M. Eivin J. R. Evans M. H. Forscutt G. H. Godby V. M. Goodrich Charles J. Hunt	291 146 386 246 250 163	86   107   105   141   163   61   150   150   75	41 40 30 50 76	148 76 50 12	6 6 9	1 1 6 2 8 6	3 1 3 2	1,42		1	2	2 2 1	1 1 1		1	1 2	1	3	3 11 7 4 8 5	31 201 16 54 50 54	Eastern mission, Massachusetts district. Massachusetts. Galland's Grove district. Kewanee and Des Moines districts. Southeastern Illinois district. Kirtland district. Nauvoo dist., and Lucas and Cleveland, Io. Southeastern Nebraska. West Virginia and N. E. Kentucky. Ohio district. Galland's Grove district.
S. J. Jeffers Henry Kemp W. A. McDowell James Moler A. J. Moore A. E Mortimer E. W. Nunley A. H. Parsons F. G. Pitt I. N. Roberts	298 250 249 108 100 192 350 217	209 108 181 131 75 149 132 181	50 50 50 68 28 30 25 20 33	15 50 32 12 10 37	1 8 1 23 6 6	1 34 3 5 5	3 1 4 4	1			1 2 2 1	1	1		1 1 2	in in		2521 11115	20 10 16 4 1 3 12	100 103 119 90 40	Ohio district. Pottawattamie and Fremont districts. Wisconsin. Ohio district. Northwestern Texas. Canada. Central Texas. Eastern mission; Missouri and Kansas.
F. M. Sheehy Frederick A. Smith J. S. Snively J. A. Tanner M. M. Turpen J. W. Waldsmith T. W. Williams SEVENTIES.	213 375 114 177 345	82 146 96 198 50 43 135	35 50 41 149	45 65 14 32 8	11 1 9 1 8	16 2 7 1 7	3 2			1	1						1	1 5 2 3	11 5 9 2 9	119 75 67 15 28 110	New York and Pennsylvania. Nebraska. Nauvoo district. Northeast Missouri. Decatur district. Southern Nebraska. Southern California.
J. W. Adams Arthur Allen Peter Anderson T. J. Beatty W. W. Blanchard Charles H. Burr J. F. Burton Duncan Campbell Hubert Case George Montague D. R. Chambers A. M. Chase F. J. Chatburn J. C. Clapp S. D. Condit J. J. Cornish Thomas Daley E. A. Davis John Alfred Davis J. Arthur Davis J. Arthur Davis L. R. Devore C. R. Duncan F. J. Ebeling W. D. Ellis J. D. Erwin R. Etzenhouser J. C. Foss J. L. Goodrich M. F. Gowell	346 259 208 2198 240 270 290 289 334 197 200 216 300 231 321 163 324 119 228 144 306 289 306 289 320 320 321 321 321 321 321 321 321 321 321 321	91788   1255   1256   1266   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267   1267	31 53 64 50 73 40 84 28 25 44 33 13 75 16 39 43 11	65   48   30   175   76   43   15   70   42   9   67   100   80   28   124   28   17   180   100	3 5 6 9 9 2 8 8 111 3 30 111 4 2 2 5 8 5 144 4 5 7	5 6 9 6 7 9 16 4 1 4 4 5 3 3 7 12 5 4 5	2 1 8 6 4 4 7 9 7 2 1 10 12 1 2 5 2 2 3 8 8	1	tod today	1 1 1 2 1	1	2	1 1 2 1 2 1 1 1 1		2	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	1		3 4 11	30 55 43 68 32 39 19 98 33 30 26 65 69 56 24 24 24 33 43 131 25 94 218	Society Islands and California. Decatur district. Oklahoma and Indian Territory. Little Sioux district; Oklahoma district. Pottawattamie district. Central California and Oregon. Northeast Missouri. Decatur and Nauvoo districts. Idaho. Michigan. Nevada. Spring River district. Northwestern Kansas. Nodaway district. Washington. Oklahoma. Ohio and Missouri. Colorado. Kirtland district. Southern Michigan. Arkansas and Louisiana. Northern and Central California. Far West district. Virginia.

		Ġ				-		0	Ordinations.  Organizatins									I
Names.	Whole No. of services attended.	Times preached	Times assisted.	Other services held.	Number bap- tized.	Number con- firmed.	Times assisted to confirm.	High Priests.			T		Deacons.   Districts.	Ī			Zion's Re- ligio-Liter- ary Society.	Marriages.	Children blessed,	Administered to sick.	Field of Labor.
SEVENTIES. (Con.) U. W. Greene Frederick Gregory H. N. Hansen D. L. Harris	233 211 153	138 178 71 111	18 44 40	30 15	19	20	1 4 6		2		2		1		1 1 2	1		1 2 3	6 6 9 5	30 62 14 12	Canada.
E. L. Henson Richard B. Howlett George Jenkins John Kaler F. C. Keck	88 217 197	34 175	76 10	50 25 6	11 8 11	1 15 2 9	5 14 9			2					İ	1		1 2	8	25 101 112 416	Southwestern Texas. London district, Canada. Southern Indiana. Australasia.
W. H. Kephart J. F. McDowell D. MacGregor James McKiernan W. C. Marshall	354 175 193 344 241	197 118 155 102 119	17 76 91	116 21	10 2 4 3 1	7 2 4 4	31141			1	2	1	1			2 1 1		6	6 4 2 20	28 30 10 22	Des Moines district. Pittsburg district, Pennsylvania. British Columbia. Nauvoo district. Southern Indiana.
J. F. Mintun H. E. Moler J. W. Morgan R. J. Parker S. D. Payne	317 198 219 152	97 136	108 47 27 11	17 5	6 8	- 8 9	8 1			1	2	1	1		1	1	2	1	17 1 2 2	88 70 44 68 16	Western Nebraska.
W. E. Peak W. S. Pender C. H. Porter B. F. Renfroe H. H. Robinson George W. Robley	198 180 52		24 7 10	10	2	2							1					3 2	3 1 15 1	77 35 50	Southern Michigan. Rocky Mountain mission. Nebraska. Texas. Missouri and Eastern mission. Eastern mission.
J. S. Roth J. B. Roush David M. Rudd F. A. Russell B. St. John	253 237 396	173 84 189 138 165	48 50 15 98	103	6	1 4 1				1	1	1	1					4 3 1 1	9 3 5 2 13	63 70 45 77 45	Iowa, and Kewanee, Illinois. Colorado. Des Moines district. Kewanee, Illinois.
C. Scott James M. Scott M. R. Scott, Jr. John Shields D. L. Shinn M. T. Short	250 199 208 375 61	96 125 195 197 50	27 35 84 18	39 29 74	2 3 6 12	5 3 6 12	7 1 1		1	1	2 1 2	1	1		2	1		1 1 1	5 4 3 14 2	111 24 14 93 5	Michigan and Iowa. Southeastern mission. Southern Indiana. Ontario, Canada. West Virginia.
F. M. Simmons F. M. Siover David Smith F. C. Smith Isaac M. Smith	123 380	158 135 109 174 106 206	10 25	13	13	15 3 11	3 3 4										•	2 3 1	10 10 12 4	30	Arkansas and Indian Territory. Southern Illinois. Northern and Eastern Michigan district. Eastern Michigan.
Henry Sparling C. J. Spurlock J. D. Stead E. A. Stedman Swen Swenson O. B. Thomas	287 198 32 274 223	228 128	64 64 66 26	48 6 101 40	$\begin{bmatrix} 17 \\ 2 \\ 6 \\ 7 \end{bmatrix}$	26 5 6 8	5 5				3		1	Andrews of the Control of the Contro		1	1	1	9	102 20 27 54 91	Southern Missouri. St. Louis district and S. E. Missouri. Central Illinois. Minnesota. Far West district.
B. Tucker B. T. Walters G. R. Wells D. C. White A. L. Whiteaker	327 363 267	165 165 78 136 110	32 56 57	19 20 42 74	6 12 1 10	12 12 1 2	2 5			2	1	1	-			1		1 1 5	19 4 3 5 4	$\frac{27}{108}$	Southeastern mission and Missouri. S. Mo., Clinton, Mo., and Cent. Ill. districts. Rocky Mountain mission. Nodaway district.
Eli M. Wildermuth ELDEES. S. D. Allen J. N. Ames D. A. Anderson	216 92 203 314	59 82 42	19 38 53	30 14 24	2 4 3	4 1 3	6 6 7				1	CONTRACTOR MANAGEMENT	1			1	1	5 2 5	1 11 2 2	20 13 46	Northern Illinois and Wisconsin.  Florida.  Maine. Southern California.
W. M. Aylor Richard Baldwin Andrew Barr D. D. Babcock John J. Bailey Ora H. Bailey	237 161 132	100 99 131 34 160 105	45 30 16 20	17	18 3 1 5	13	5 2 4			1	1	Tura	2			-		1 3 3 2	2 3 7 9 25	41 118 39	Kirtland district. Eastern Michigan district. Texas, Indian Territory, and Arkansas. Eastern Michigan district.
T. J. Bell Amos Berve A. N. Bishop W. J. Booker W. L. Booker	153 143 218 89	118 74 115 55 64	28 27 7 30 25	$\begin{vmatrix} 7 \\ 20 \\ 106 \\ 2 \end{vmatrix}$	7	7	7 10 3 10 3			٠	2	1	1	-		1		3	5 7 10 3 5	83 21 18	Southern Indiana. Northern Michigan district. Waies and South England. Alabama and Florida. Southeastern mission.
J. W. Bryan James Craig Charles E. Crumley D. S. Crawley S. G. Cunningham J. F. Curtis	210 165 150 183		12 38 10 24 60	3 2	13 3 3	5 11 6	5 1 1				1					1 1 1		2	2 1 6 1	122 23 16 45 37	Pittsburg district. Oregon. Oklahoma. Western Maine. Colorado.
S. F. Cushman R. R. Dana William Davis E. H. Durand E. A. Erwin Charles Fry	294 126 152 207	91 19 111 91 187	68 25 30 12	135 11 40	10 1 1 19	1 7 2 12	3						1			1		2	4 5 4 10	104 57 59 15 50	Far West district. Rocky Mountain mission. Eastern Michigan. Southern Michigan and Northern Indiana. Northeastern Texas.
Charles Fry Levi Gamet William M. Gibson E. J. Goodenough	212	114 132 17 140	39 12	21	1	2 1	2							The same of the sa	:			1	1 3 14	$\frac{24}{128}$	Central Nebraska district.

		- G		  -				Or	din	atio	ons	3.	[Or	• 0* 9	niz	at'ns.	 	1
	of.	Times preached	Times assisted.	services	ap-	-uo:	Times assisted to confirm.	 	1	Ī				8				Children blessed.	red
Names.	e No ices	s pre	s ass	ser	ber b	ed.	nffr	sts.	, pi	,	ers.	ns.	cts.	hes.	v.	Lite occie	ages	ren ed.	niste	Field of Labor.
	Whole No. o services attended.	lime	Jime	Other held.	Number bap- tized.	(um) firm	lime to co	Priests.	Elders.	Priests.	Teachers.	Deacons.	Districts.	Branches.	Sunday School.	Zion's Re- ligio-Liter- ary Society.	Marriages.	hild	dmi to sic
EF DEDG (Continued)		_				~		$- \frac{1}{2}$	-   =	_	-	H —		В	00,00		-	-	A
ELDERS (Continued). E. A. Goodwin	282	122	105	55	2										1		1	2	9	Northern Michigan.
J. A. Grant G. H. Graves	270	$ 139 \\ 207$	28	34		6	1		١,		1				ī		3	10		Michigan.
W. E. Haden	281	1 109	104			3	3		1	1							4	1	26	Chicago, Illinois. Oklahoma and Indian Territory.
C. E. Hand M. P. Hansen	223	67	28	28													1	1	37	Eastern Iowa district. Norway and Denmark.
W. J. Haworth	353	3,119		234	4	3	3										4		120	New South Wales, Australia.
Eli Hayer L. E. Hills	100	101 50				4	$\frac{4}{2}$											$\begin{vmatrix} 2\\2 \end{vmatrix}$	47	Minnesota. Eastern Iowa.
R. W. Hugill L. F. Johnson	130					4	1		1	1	1						1	20	90	Northern Michigan.
Noah Karahoo	143	38	25	36			1											3		Northwestern Kansas. Indian Territory.
Adam J. Keck E. Keeler	179	153  148				5 7	6	-									1	9	47	Northern Illinois. Central California.
W. H. Kelley A. J. Layland	213	80	43	12	9	8 2	2	i									1	10	22	Southern Indiana.
S. D. Love		3 150	12	6	10	6											3	3 3		Idaho and Wyoming. Spring River district.
W. S. Macrae William H. Mannering		$0 188 \\ 6 131$			26 6	7	10								1		1	3 5	81	Southwestern mission. Northwestern Kansas district.
A. B. Moore	80	) 55	15	10	4	7 2 20	3 2 6	İ		1		1							77	Eastern Oregon.
J. L. Mortimer P. Muceus		3 141 3 169				20 4	6				1							14	55 61	London district. Wisconsin.
W. R. Odell F. D. Omans	14					9					4								20	West Virginia.
A. B. Phillips	313	3 147	29	17	2	$\frac{3}{2}$	1				. 1				1		2	1	16 30	Minnesota. Northern California.
T. A. Phillips C. W. Prettyman	213	$\frac{3 123}{66}$				9	10	Ì							1		2	7	26	Canada. Central Nebraska.
J. T. Riley Bradbury Robinson	24	5 79	87	35		3	3										-		74	Indian Territory.
W. P. Robinson	204	$\begin{vmatrix} 3 \\ 76 \end{vmatrix}$				1	3		'									5	65	Wherever I am. Wisconsin.
J. W. Rushton F. L. Sawley	208	$\frac{8}{1175}$			6		4		1	1	1				6			2	6	Scotland. Wisconsin.
John Schreur	154	1 117	47	8	6	11	3			1	1				2		2		20	Michigan.
Walter M. Self Elbert A. Smith	280	112				1	3			1	1				6	1		4	55   16	Southern Nebraska. Southern California.
Henry C. Smith W. R. Smith	16 130				2	1	1									-	ĺ	1	21	Kirtland, Ohio.
S. K. Sorensen	164	1 69	63		4		7											2	7	Oklahoma. South Dakota and Minnesota.
Henry Southwick William Sparling	15	$  \begin{array}{c c} 42 \\ 121 \end{array}$		17	1 8	3   8	1 4		1						2			3 14		Northern Illinois and Wisconsin. North and South Dakota.
William Summerfield J. M. Stubbart	278	$\frac{8}{120}$	34	124	2	4	3		3		1							4	29	Northeastern Missouri district.
J. R. Sutton	208	5 120	53	14	6	3 8 4 2 3 6	1		10	1					1		3	6	1	Galland's Grove district. Eastern Iowa district.
G. W. Thorburn G. C. Tomlinson	120	$\frac{5 90}{1 138}$			4 5	6 6	4 2 2		1	1								8	18 42	North and South Dakota.
S. Tomlinson L. D. Ullom		7 173	4	50		13	2				2	1						14	126	London district.
Alfred White	328	5 118	55	13		7	11										1	1 -	87 127
John D. White T. R. White	29:	3 111 5 50		26 21			4 3								1			3	79 23	Kansas City, U. S. A. Clinton, Missouri, district.
L. L. Wight R. Wight	8-   170	1 81	3	l l															4	Southwestern mission.
J. B. Wildermuth		1 127			5	2 5	4										1	$\begin{vmatrix} 2\\1 \end{vmatrix}$		Galland's Grove district. Wisconsin.
PRIESTS. D. L. Allen	276	31	115																	California and Washington.
George W. Beebe, Jr. H. W. Belville	20 36	75	61	( 3												1				St. Louis district and S. E. Missouri.
James J. Boswell	119	)	37	18	1								ľ		1		1			Nebraska. Southern Indiana.
Leon A. Gould Francis Granger	173		$\begin{array}{ c c c c c c c c c c c c c c c c c c c$		1												1			Middle and Western States. Southern Michigan and Northern Indiana.
L. G. Gurwell	318	148	53	33	2												1			Northwestern Kansas.
Alma B. Hanson J. E. Hanson	177							-							1		1			Colorado. Northern Michigan.
Paul M. Hanson Leonard Houghton	78		32		3		İ				j				-		1			Pottawattamie district.
Charles E. Irwin		168	42	55	8						.				3					North and South Dakota.  Northern Michigan district.
W. H. Rhoads C. H. Rich		61 56		165	2					1	Ì								1	Oklahoma. Maine.
E. P. Schmidt	182	47	53							*			-			ļ				California.
A. C. Silvers S. S. Smith	1 107	110 45	24	6						ů.		ĺ	Ì						-	Clinton, Missouri, district. Oklahoma.
Walter W. Smith Joseph N. Stephenson	290 131	93	40	13	4										1	4	2			Far West district.
D. D. Williams	45		42 4	15				-				-				.	1			Clinton, Missouri, district. Kewanee, Illinois, and S. W. Missouri.
RECEIVED LATER. A. C. Barmore		232	41	169	2	9										3		13	133	Canada.
R. M. Maloney J. M. Terry		108 109	671		2 2 10	6	3		6	4	1	7			1		9	2	70 172	Oklahoma.
G. A. Smith	ששט	92		400	5	15	9		2 1	1		1					$\frac{2}{1}$	ช 5	172 87	S. Michigan and N. Indiana district.
Gilbert J. Waller	į.	, ,	.	,	2	· 2	Ţ	. 1	1 -	ı	- 1		l	i.		.	1	ļ	. 1	Territory of Hawaii.

BISHOP'S ANNUAL REPORT OF RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES

OF THE REORGANIZED CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER DAY SAINTS.

From January 10, 1900, to January 10, 1901.

SUMMARY STATEMENT.	Paid Patriarch, office
RECEIPTS BY BISHOP,	" public libraries, books
On hand last report$14,009 55	" Quorum of Twelve
Received, tithes and offerings 14,480 39	" " recording deeds 5 25
" " " from Bishop's agts 13,588 32	" " taxes 396 79
bills payable	" rent
offis and accounts receivable 0,190 00	Sames frome, running expenses 1,250 11
" corrections	" Seely estate
deposit accounts	tracts to missionaries and elders
" expense and salary returned	Total
"Galveston sufferers' fund	Balance on hand
"Graceland College	$89.030 87
Lieralu I dollishing Liouse
"Hilliard, G. H., Counselor	ACCOUNT WITH AGENTS.
" India relief fund 18 70	RECEIPTS.
"Interest 718 16	Balance due church last report $ 9,477 90
Kirtland temple fund, visitors 87 67	Received from Bishop
Sale books 20 66	Due agents
'' library, check returned	Total
"memorial fund	1.0001
" produce 5 95	EXPENDITURES.
" real estate 6,382 27	Paid elders' families$42,084 18
redemption fund	" expenses 5,157 61
1010	aiu, poor
" return aid	" G. H. Hilliard, Counselor       671 06         " Bishop       13,588 32
"Saints' Home	" miscellaneous, real estate, taxes, contracts,
" supplies sold 10 72	insurance, agents' expenses, etc 5,937 42
" surplus property 100 00	In hand of agents 14 107 86
tract fund	Total$85.515 29
Transcript and Abstract of Evidence 10 00	AMERICAN AND AND AND AND AND AND AND AND AND A
Total$89,030 87	REPORT OF GEORGE H. HILLIARD, COUNSELOR.
EXPENDITURES BY BISHOP.	RECEIPTS.
Paid, accounts $ 8,192 43	From tithes and offerings$ 411 96
" aid poor 1,186 36	" Bishop
"Auditing Committee, expense	Disnop a agenus
" bills and accounts payable	Total$ 1,258 02
"Bishop's agents for elders and families 5,543 36	EXPENDITURES.
" Corrections 374 71	Due G. H. Hilliard last report$ 47 38
" elders for clothing and expenses 7,915 74	Paid elders' families
" elders' families	" expenses
"Bishop's office, stationery, printing, fuel, etc. 216 48 "bookkeepers and stenogr'ers, 1,025 85	"Bishop
" " internal revenue 60 39
" postage 84 45	Total$ 1.258 02
" Church Secretary, office 33 10	REPORT OF ELDERS.
" " allowance, nine months 450 00	RECEIPTS.
" Historian, office	Balance on hand last report $ 758 43
" Library 150 90	Donations by Saints and friends 12.313 80
" Recorder, office	Received from Bishop and agents 11,454 24
" " allowance 380 00	Expenses furnished by elders
" Assistant Recorder, allowance 140 00
First Flosidency, Onico	Total
" President, allowance	EXPENDITURES.
"Galveston sufferers' fund	Due elders last report$ 2,207 86
" general courch expense 575 37	Traveling expenses and clothing
" Herald Publishing House 205 75	Balance due church
ringh Council, J. B	Total$27.186 36
" history and biography, J. S	AVAILABLE ASSETS: TITHE AND OFFERING
"Independence church fund
"India relief fund	FUND.
" interest 1,355 97	January 10, 1901.
" insurance	Cash, Bishop's account       $5,510 56         Cash in hands of agents       14,107 86
" Kirtland Temple fund	Cash in hands of G. H. Hilliard, Counselor
" live stock	Accounts receivable
" merchandise 28 15	Bills receivable, No. 1
" missions, Chicago colored mission 125 00	" No. 2
" " Duluth and West Superior 18 00   60 00	Real estate contracts
ixii mang	Abstract and Transcript of Evidence
" Minnesota	Real estate last report less $1,950 sold
" Oakland church, Independence committee 41 00	" D. F. and Minnie B. Nicholson 225 00
on contract, S. W 114 00	" Joseph and Anna Vernon 1,000 00

 Real estate, I. A. and Emma Bogue	LIABILITIES.
" certificate No. 10,354 551 46	Amount due church
" N. E. L. & T. Co 500 00	Bills payable
" lots, Independence, Missouri 625 00	Due on real estate
" improvements	Net assets
Total$91,039 32	Total
LIABILITIES.	INDEPENDENCE CHURCH
Due Bishop's agents$ 79 76	RECEIPTS.
Accounts payable. 2,850 98 Bills payable. 17,174 99	Balance on hand last report
Net assets last report	Collections
Gain during year	Due church
Total$91.039 32	Total
Assets over liabilities January 10, 1901$70,933 59	EXPENDITURES.
Estimated value of real estate, January 10, 1901 32,576 48	Paid Oakland, California, church
D.fference in valuation 12,240 82	Paid Chappell note and interest
SAINTS' HOME AND RESERVE FUND.	Total
RECEIPTS.	. =
By sales, corrections, and donations, per itemized	TEMPLE SPECIAL CONSECRA list	RECEIPTS.
From bills payable	Balance last report
From deposit account	Corrections
Corrections	Donations
Total$16,965 14	Interest
EXPENDITURES.	Total
Due church last report $ 5,510 52	TOTAL ASSETS OF CHURCH
Paid per itemized list.       4 340 44         " real estate.       2,035 00
" bills payable	January 10, 1901.
" deposit accounts	Church less $6,500.00 due from Home
" corrections       2,031 74         Balance on hand       448 89	Saints' Home
Balance on hand	Total
10681	TOTAL LIABILITIES AGAINST
HOME FUND.	HOVE.
ASSETS.
159% acres land	January 10, 1901.
Buildings and fixtures	On church account
Real estate, Omaha, Nebraska	Home account less $6,500 00 due church.
Live stock, grain, etc., 1,442 00	Assets over all indebtedness
Accounts receivable	Total
Total	E. :
L Uton	LAMONI, Iowa, March 20, 1901.

LIABILITIES.
Amount due church       $ 6,500 00         Bills payable       4,831 74         Due on real estate       1,200 00         Net assets       20,410 40
Total$32.942 14
INDEPENDENCE CHURCH FUND. RECEIPTS.
Balance on hand last report       $ 507 48         Collections       3,300 00         Due church       136 34         Total       $ 3,943 82         EXPENDITURES
Paid Oakland, California, church.       $ 684 70         Paid Chappell note and interest.       3,259 12         Total.       $ 3,943 82
TEMPLE SPECIAL CONSECRATION FUND. RECEIPTS.
Balance last report.       $ 1,066 07         Corrections.       3 50         Donations       5 00         Interest       36 68         Total       $ 1,111 25
TOTAL ASSETS OF CHURCH AND HOME.
January 10, 1901.  Church less $6,500.00 due from Home$84,539-32 Saints' Home
TOTAL LIABILITIES AGAINST CHURCH AND HOME.
January 10, 1901.
On church account.       $20,105 73         Home account less $6,500 00 due church.       6,031 74         Assets over all indebtedness.       91,343 99         Total.       $117 481 46
E. L. KELLEY.

Missellaneous Department.

ROSE HILL CEMETERY.

To the Lamoni Branch in Business meeting assembled, Greeting:-

We, your committee appointed to draft rules and regulations for the government of Rose Hill Cemetery, beg leave to submit the following report for your consideration and adoption.

Signed, WILL J. MATHER. F. M. WELD. W. W. SCOTT.

RULES AND REGULATIONS GOVERNING ROSE HILL CEMETERY.

Owing to the lack of understanding and the necessity of order, we the members of Lamoni branch of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints and the patrons of Rose Hill Cemetery adopt the following rules and regulations to govern said cemetery:—

Rule 1.—It shall be known as Rose Hill Cemetery, and the care and control of same shall be vested in a board of three trustees, appointed by the Lamoni branch, subject to instructions received by them from time to time by a vote of said branch. RULE 2.—The term of office of said trustees shall be three years, one to be elected at each annual business meeting of the branch. One of trustees to act as chairman, one as secretary, and the other as treasurer of said board. Officers of trustees to be appointed or elected by themselves; no trustee eligible to more than one office on the board at the same time. In case of removal by death or otherwise, the vacancy shall be filled by branch at next regular business meeting. The sexton shall be appointed by the trus-tees, and shall labor under their direction and shall not be one of the trustees. trustees to regulate his compensation.

RULE 3.-Said trustees shall make a complete report, in writing, to said branch at its regular annual business meeting, of all improvements made and moneys received and expended; said report to be audited by a committee appointed by said branch.

RULE 4.-All money received from sale of lots or otherwise shall be used for improving and keeping up cemetery. The lots shall be sold by the trustees at regular established prices, and terms thereof shall be cash or a good bankable note bearing legal interest; provided that the purchaser shall acquire no title, nor be permitted to erect any monument, headstone, or other improvements until the lot is fully paid for and deed issued. RULE 5.—All persons claiming lots and not holding deeds for same shall forfeit all rights to same if not settled for according to rule four (4) within sixty (60) days after receiving

RULE 6.-The branch through its trustees desire to leave the improvements of lots as far as possible to the taste of the owner; but in justice to all, it reserves the right given it by law to exclude or remove from any lot any headstone, monument, or other structure, tree, plant, or other object whatever, which may conflict with these regulations, or which it shall consider injurious to the general appearance of the grounds; but no tree growing within any lot shall be removed or trimmed without the consent of the trustees. shade or forest trees shall be permitted to be planted on lots or alleys, but only in streets, and then under the direction of the trustees

RULE 7.—The trustees are empowered, if need be, to make one annual assessment, pro rata, on lot owners, not to exceed twentyfive cents on each lot, for the purpose of improving and caring for said cemetery.

RULE 8.—All interments on lots shall be restricted to the families of lot owners, except by written consent of lot owners.

RULE 9 -No disinterments will be allowed without permission of the next of kin of the deceased

RULE 10 .- No inclosure around lot shall exceed eighteen inches in height, and if said inclosure is of wood or metal it shall be kept painted and in good condition.

RULE 11.—All foundations for monuments or headstones shall be built under the supervision and advice of the trustees; provided, however, that every foundation must be as wide and as long as the base stone resting upon it, and must not project above the ground.

All foundations must extend low enough to reach solid clay.

Material for stone or marble work shall not be permitted to remain in cemetery any longer than shall be strictly necessary, and refuse or unused material must be removed as soon as the work is completed. In case of neglect, such removal will be made by the trustees at the expense of lot owners and contractors, who shall be severally responsible.

RULE 12.-The said trustees shall have authority to designate and set apart a certain portion of said cemetery as a place for burial

The Saints' Herald.

(Established 1860)

Published Every Wednesday, at Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Subscription price, $1.50 per year.
Address communications for publication to "Editors Herald."

"Editors Herald."

Marriage, birth, and death notices: Marriages, $1.00 per 100 words or fraction thereof. Births, 50 cents per 75 words or fraction thereof. Deaths, 100 words free, above that number 50 cents per 100 words or fraction thereof. To insure prompt insertion, make remittance with notice.

For advertising rates apply to business manager.

All errors in the filling of orders or rendering of accounts should be reported immediately, as re-ceipts for all money received are sent within two days after reaching the office.

Send all business letters and make all remittances payable to Herald Publishing House, Lock Box E. Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Entered at post office, Lamoni, Iowa, as second-class mail matter.

Subscriptions received for Views Freien also

Subscriptions received for Zion's Ensign, also orders for all kinds of Ensign Publications.

of all persons who are not provided for by friends or relatives.

RULE 13.-Any act of vandalism shall be promptly reported to the trustees for prosecution.

RULE 14.—All officers heretofore for the management of said cemetery become vacant, and all rules and regulations conflicting with the above become null and void on the adoption of the same.

RULE 15.—The trustees are hereby directed to enforce the above and foregoing regulations, and to exclude from the cemetery any or all persons willfully violating the same.

The above rules and regulations were read and adopted by the Lamoni branch of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints on .

Printed by order of branch.

FIRST QUORUM OF PRIESTS.

Address wanted of Robert G. Livingston. Anyone knowing same, please forward to me at Lamoni, Iowa.

DAVID J. KRAHL, Pres.

TO ST. JOSEPH AND CONFERENCE.

Dr. J. S. Lawton has arranged for a grand special excursion from St. Joseph to Kansas City and conference for Sunday, April 14. The train will leave St. Joseph in time to reach Independence for the first morning service. Saints will enjoy all the services of of the day and return to St. Joseph by a spe-cial train at night. The fare to Kansas City and return will be $1.25. Children between five and twelve years, half fare. Tickets are now ready and should be procured at once of Dr. Lawton, or those appointed to sell them. All are invited and requested to bring their friends.

QUORUM PICTURE.

To the High Priests:-This is to inform you that group picture has been made, it is upon a card 16 x 20, and will be on sale at the General Conference at Independence. Have returned all photographs as requested, and if any have failed to receive their copy, please let me know at once.

ROBT. M. ELVIN. Box 224, Lamoni, Iowa.

FOURTH QUORUM OF PRIESTS.

By communications from some members of the quorum I understand that no blanks have been sent out for reports. At this late date It will be impossible for me to send such in time. Make out your reports and send them to W. H. Murphy, box 269, Independence, Missouri.

GENERAL CONFERENCE.

RECEPTION COMMITTEE.

Members of reception committee will wear a ribbon on the lapel of their coat; will meet all trains on Missouri Pacific and Chicago and Alton railroads, and escort visitors to the church and places of boarding. Parties coming via Electric Line from Kansas City will ask conductor to please let them off at stone church.

J. J. LUFF, Sec.

REDUCED RATES TO GENERAL CONFERENCE

NEW ENGLAND ASSOCIATION.

Word has just been received from the New England Passenger Association granting reduced rates to the General Conference, etc., Independence, Missouri, on the certificate plan. Going tickets from this Association may be purchased from April 2-7 only. the ticket agent at a station from which delegates or others are expected to come is not supplied with certificates and through tickets to the place of meeting, he may inform the delegate or person of the nearest important station where the certificates and tickets can be obtained, in which case local ticket should be purchased to the point and there obtain certificate and through ticket." No certificate issued where the going fare is less than seventy-five cents.

List of roads making reduction: Aroostook; Boston & Albany; Boston & Maine; Central Vermont; Grand Trunk; Maine Central; New York, New Haven & Hartford; Portland S. S. Co.; Washington County R. R.

SOUTHWESTERN ASSOCIATION.

This Association, covering portions of Texas and Oklahoma (portions of which territory are covered by rates granted by the Western Association however) has not yet replied definitely on rates, though early applied to. Should rates be granted it may be too late to give due notice. Persons in said territory should therefore inquire of local or general agents of their roads. R. S. SALYARDS, Church Secretary. Lamoni, Iowa, March 25, 1901.

REUNION NOTICES.

The Northern Missouri reunion committee met on the 22d of March, 1901, at the home of Bro. A. W. Head. This committee decided to hold the next reunion at Stewartsville, Missouri, from the 16th to the 25th of August, inclusive. Watch the HERALD and Ensign inclusive. columns for further announcements on speakers and other arrangements.

T. T. HINDERKS, President. CHARLES P. FAUL, Secretary. A. W. HEAD. BEN J. DICE. D. E. POWELL.

DIED.

WIBBERLY.—At Lagrange, Ohio, Friday, November 2, 1900, Sr. Annie (Gwilliams) Wibberly. She was born October 21, 1852, at Aymstrey, Herefordshire, England, and became a member of the Reorganized Church on January 23, 1883, at Burton-on-Trent, England, sailing for America, March 28, 1888; landed at New York, April 6, and at Ironton, Ohio, June 6, of the same year. Funeral sermon at La Grange, Ohio, on December 30, 1900, by Elder I. I. Godrich. She was an ardent Elder J. L. Goodrich. She was an ardent friend, kind neighbor, the beloved sister, loving mother, and the cherished and dutiful She leaves her husband and one mar-

HAWKINS.—Alice M. Hawkins was born March 28, 1871, in Tama county, Iowa; married to Hyrum Hawkins, August 10, 1887; baptized in 1897. Lived a consistent life up baptized in 1897. Lived a consistent life up to her death, which occurred March 11, 1901, leaving her husband and five children to mourn her departure.

BLACK.—Martha Jane Black, was born September 6, 1850; baptized in her youth; married to Alexander Black, August 25, 1872. She was the mother of fourteen children, eleven of whom, with the husband and father, are left to mourn her departure. She lived a consistent life, was a faithful wife, a tender and loving mother. Her home was always open to the needy. Her afflictions were great, but her faith and patience sustained her to the last, and she passed away in a sweet sleep of peace, with hope of a part in the first resurrection.

JONES —At Malad City, Idaho, February 25, 1901, Carey T. Jones, infant son of Mr. Richard and Sr. Martha Jones. Little Carey was born June 4, 1900, and blessed in early infancy by Elder D. W. Wight. Funeral services from the home, in charge of Elder William John. Sermon by D. W. Wight from Matthew 19:14.

BISHOP.—Alma Nephi Bishop was born May 21, 1856, at Lurhoury, Breconshire, Wales; baptized March 20, 1869 by J. J. Watkins; was ordained an elder April 25, 1875; died March 6, 1901. Our brother is well-known in Wales and to many in America, having labored as missionary in Someton Boungland district. Pennsylvania, district, and appointed last April Conference as missionary in Wales and South of England. His dili-gence, geniality, and ability as a defender of the work has won for him the lasting affection of the Saint's here, and many friends. "How we loved him," has been the general acclamation. Simple, but elequent. His death is an inestimable calamity to the work here. He was just adapted to meet its demands. He was laid to rest in the beautiful cemetery at Cardiff, followed by a large concourse of relatives, Saints, and friends. Funeral services were conducted by Elder J. W. Rushton, by request of the late brother, who arranged just prior to his death all necessary details. A wife, two daughters, and three sons mourn his loss, but not without hope.

CHAPMAN.-At the home of Elder Warren Turner, Clinton, Iowa, March 20, 1901, Sister Dolly Chapman. She was born May 9, 1815, at Potsdam, St. Lawrence county, New York; was baptized August 8, 1880, at Clinton, Iowa. She was confined to her bed several months before her death. Always bore a faithful testimony to the latter-day work. Seven children survive her, two having gone on before. Funeral services conducted by Elder O. H. Bailey.

An interesting book of the period,

IFE AND REIGN

QUEEN YICTORIA,

Including the lives of

King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra,

By MURAT HALSTEAD, famous historian and Journalist, and A. J. MUNSON, editor and author. Profusely illustrated. 485 pages. For sale at

HERALD OFFICE.

POSTPAID, ONE DOLLAR.

WM. ANDERSON, Pres. MRS. DAVID DANCER, Vice Pres.

W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier. OSCAR ANDERSON, Ass't Cashier.

STATE SAVINGS BANK OF LAMONI.

Incorporated under the laws of the State of Iowa, July 1, 1898. Total assets January 1, 1900, $133,032.34; April 1, 1900, $162,781.07.

STOCKHOLDERS:—Mrs. David Dancer, Geo. H. Hilliard, A. K. Anderson, Lucy L. Resseguie, Oscar Anderson, Wm. Anderson, Frank Criley, Alice P. Dancer, Ella D. Whitehead, G. W. Blair, W. A. Hopkins.

WANTO

Using tobacco. Quit-to-bac makes it easy to do so. Three boxes postpaid, only $1.50 with positive guarantee to cure or the $1.50 cheerfully refunded! It cures others, why not you.

Address, (Bro.) B. F. ORDWAY, Peoria, Ill. (U. S. Postage stamps taken )

Or apply to The Underwood Agency, LAMONI, JOWA.

CI A STO	TICL TTTTTATTT	TTT 3
	rs' hymnal
115.	Paper		 15
	Per dozen
116.	Cloth, limp		 25
	Per dozen		 2 70
117.	Cloth		 35
	Per dozen		 3 75
118.	Flexible, gilt e	edges	 50

ely illustrated weekly. Largest cir-any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers. MUNN & CO. 361Broadway, New York Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

And have been decreased to the contract and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and the section and th	88. 89. 90.	OF MORMON. Cloth	25
And Charles of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Co	-	SUCCESSION IN CHURCH PRESIDENCY. By Elder H. C. Smith, Church His- torian.
ALL PROPERTY OF STREET	152.	Paper	36 5(

NOT IN THE CATALOGUE.

TRACTS.

Trial of the Witnesses to the 33. Resurrection of Jesus.

Each 5 cents; per doz. 50 cents.

The Basis of Brighamite Polygamy.

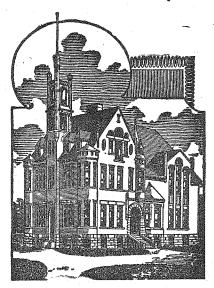

Per doz. 10 cents; per 100, 60 cents.

GRACELAND....

COLLEGE.

LAMONI, IOWA.

Telephone 71.

For catalogue or further information, address,

PROF. R. A. HARKNESS, President, or I. W. ALLENDER, Secretary,

LAMONI, DECATUR Co., IOWA.

THE COMMERCIAL BANK

LAMONI. IOWA. Solicits your Deposits and pays

> 4 1-2 % INTEREST. D. F. NICHOLSON. Cashier.

VISIONS OF JOSEPH SMITH THE SEER. Discoveries of Ancient American Records and Relics, with the statements of Dr. Lederer (converted Jew) and others. 184. Each 10c.; per dozen...... 1 00

THE INSTRUCTOR. A compendium of the faith and doc-trines of the church by Elder G. T. Griffiths. 126. Cloth ..... 127. Leather..... 128. Flexible .....

BRING YOUR LAUNDRY TO

South Side Barber Shop. For every five dollars worth of Laundry

you receive a HANDSOME SHAVING MUG. BLACK & SHOOK, Props.

DR. E. S. SWEET. DENTIST.

Decoe Building.

WOODBINE,

IOWA.

FOR SALE.

A brick business house centrally located Lamoni that earns fifteen per cent on nvestment.

If interested, inclose stamp to Lock Box 7, Lamoni, Iowa.

Burlington Route passenger service between stations on Grant City branch and Chi-cago, both directions, is better than ever in the history of tha road. Leaving Lamoni at 8:05

p. m., arriving Chicago 7:20 a. m following morning. Leaving Chicago at 5:50 p. m., rejving Lamoni 6:25 a m. following morning. HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSIONS.

Dates of sales, February 19, March 5 and 19, April 2 and 16, 1901, one lowest first class fare for the round trip, plus $2 00. Good for return 21 days from date of sale.

Cheap one-way colonist excursion rates to San Francisco, Los Angeles, and San Diego, California. Dates of sale February 12, 19, and 26, March 5, 12, 19, and 26, April 2, 9, 16, 23, and 30, 1901.

One-way second class settlers rates. ver, Colorado Springs, and Pueblo. Ogden and Salt Lake. Bezeman, Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Grantsdale, Missoula, Grant Falls, Kalispell, Spokane, Portland, Tacoma. Victoria and Vancouver.

KEOKUK & WESTERN R. R. CO.

North-Leave Leon 2:40 p. m., arrive at Des Moines 6:05 p m. South-Leave Des Moines 8:25 a.m., arrive at Leon 11:45 a. m. Trains daily except Sunday; connect with C.

B & Q. at Leon.

SAINTS' HERALI

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE REORGANIZED CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER DAY SAINTS.

"If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."—John 8:31, 32.

"Hearken to the word of the Lord: for there shall not any man among you have save it be one wife; and concubines he shall have none."—B. of M., page 116.

VOL. 48.

LAMONI, IOWA, APRIL 3, 1901.

NO. 14.

The Saints' Herald.

JOSEPH SMITH FRED'K MADISON SMITH ASSISTANT EDITOR. TOSEPH LUFF CORRESPONDING EDITORS. D. W. WIGHT

Lamoni, Iowa, April 3, 1901.

THE FIELD.

The general reports of the missionaries in charge of the various fields are quite encouraging.

Of the Eastern mission, Bro. Kelley wrote:-

In some communities there are encouraging signs of success; in fact, the mission work taken as a whole is in a reasonably prosper-ous condition. The elders as a rule have sent in good reports from their fields, and each appears to have tried to render a proper service to the cause; circumstances permitting some to make a better showing than maners with equal service rendered; conditions having much to do with it, but of course skillful workmen are always in the lead. There are no serious conflicts or open raptures among the Saints anywhere. Saints are zealous in the cause and striving to contribute in various ways to its interests.

Bro. James Caffall writes briefly:-I have visited my mission, so far as possible. My recent visit to western Nebraska, impressed with thought of some good being done, if systematic labor was attainable.

Bro. Caffall has, as he states, bilived a few years over man's alletted time," and of course he cannot labor so extensively as was his habit years ago.

Bro. John Lake, of his field, Michigan and Indiana.

The work at Detroit is in good condition, and at Bay City. Old troubles have nearly all passed away. Some little friction at Grand passed away. Some little friction at Grand Rapids; but there are hopes that the end of parts of the field are good, and there has been a number added by baptism. I have felt well, and enjoyed liberty of the Spirit of the Lord in presenting the gospel to the people. I feel fairly well satisfied with the mission; have been respected and cared for by the Saints, and have had no trouble with associate laborers; most have done well.

Bro. J. R. Lambert has been able to do but little, but has enjoyed the Spirit of the work in what he was able to do.

Bro. I. N. White:-

This missions, embracing Zion and the region round about, needs men of special care and wi-dom, more so than any other field in the United States. How successful I have been in supplying that demand, you and God must determine. . . . I have sought the God of Joseph and Hyrum oft in fasting and prayer, that I might have the necessary wisdom to manage and care for the work in so important a field in order that the hearts and minds of the people might favor returning Israel, as he came to reoccupy "Zion" and her "regions round about," without malice and hatred as of old. I have also exhorted and plead with those occupying, and contemplating occupying homes in the "regions" to so live and deport themselves, that their neighbors cannot truthfully accuse them of wrongdoing.

Bro. Heman C. Smith, of the Northern Illinois and Wisconsin field:-

I have done the best that I could to look after the interests of the work in that appointment, though my duties as Historian have prevented me being in the field the most of the year. During the last year those who have been associated with me have in the main done nobly, and by their wise and careful work made it possible for me to get along with the field though absent the most of the time. There has been considerable agitation in my field occasioned by pending issues in the church, but on the whole I think that the work is in fairly good condi-

Bro. G. T. Griffiths, Pacific Slope:-The mission is in fair condition with ample room for improvement. The branches are getting along nicely. I never felt better in the work and am willing to do whatever the Lord commands, by the aid of his Spirit. I have enjoyed much of the Holy Spirit in my labors for the Master.

Bro. J. W. Wight:—
So far as known by me the condition of the Iowa and Minnesota mission is good, as you will see by a later report. The men appointed to the mission have, mostly, done good, faithful work. As to baptisms western Iowa is far in the lead, unless reports still to come in shall be much greater in these results than those already received. Little Sioux is the banner district.

R. C. Evans, Canadas:

Under the fostering hand of Divinity the Canada mission has prospered, spiritually, financially, socially, numerically, and in every other good way. My colaborers have in the main proved themselves to be men of God. Many of them young and inexperienced have done remarkably well, and the future for them is big with promise.

Cornelius A. Butterworth, Australia:-

Taking a retrospective view of the work, I think I am safe in saying, that our cause is steadily progressing; though not so rapidly as we could wish to see it. However, through a number of prophecies given during the last year, I have become very sanguine for the future of this mission; and am persuaded that the harvest will be a good and bounte-ous one in the end. "An extensive field lies before us untouched, and the laborers are few; but the sentiment of all is, that we wish to move on, and fight a good fight even till our Lord comes

Bro. T. C. Kelley, from the Southeastern mission:-

Prospects are brightening somewhat in some places in the mission, though there has not been the advancement I should have liked to see. The financial department in the mission is in fairly good condition, better than formerly, and this is a good sign. There has been perfect harmony and good feeling among the missionaries, and so far as I know, between all missionaries and local men in the mission.

Bro. G. J. Waller, Hawaii:

I hope you will consider the needs of this mission, and if you can I should like you to send some one to assist in carrying on the work here. If you cannot, I hope you will take some action in regard to the translation and printing of tracts for distribution among the Portuguese, Japanese, and Chinese peoples of the city of Honolulu. It seems to me that the church ought to try to bring our work to the notice of these nations, of which there are many here.

Bro. Hyrum O. Smith, of the Southwestern mission:-

I believe I can report progress all along the line, though it is not very marked in some places. Spirituality is at rather a low ebb in the Texas part of the field, but averages very well in other places.

Bro. J. W. Peterson's late report, connected with those received from Bro. Joseph F. Burton, give a very encouraging picture of the work in the Society Islands. Bro. Peterson has had a lot of hard conditions to meet, but seems to have dealt with them wisely. His health, as well as that of his wife Lillie, is good, and he enjoys the climate. The mission is controlled from Tahiti, where the church and church house are located in a sort of organized town plat containing thirty-one lots, or concessions, one for each branch in the district, and upon which each branch is to build a house for mission and local government use; it is called Tarona. An epidemic of some sort has reached the islands from the east somewhere, which is called "soldier sickness." probably from having followed the landing and temporary abiding of soldiers passing enroute to or from the "seat of war" in the east. It is hard on old people and infants. February 18, Bro. Peterson was about the only well one in a branch of seventy. At a later date our people were mostly recovered from the attacks of the Things were going reasonably well. Bro. Peterson thinks help ought to be sent to the Isles and looks forward to a busy year.

The work in England seems to be in fair condition, though help is Bro. A. N. Bishop is dead, needed. thus taking a laborer out of the field in Wales. Bro. J. W. Rushton is in Scotland, and is doing what he can.

Bro. N. C. Enge is at work in the Scandinavian field, with partial promise of success.

Brn. D. W. Wight and Peter Anderson at work in Utah are of opinion that an opportune time for our labor there is now offered for several reasons, one the growing trend of thought among the younger element is to hear and to investigate.

We are pleased to note that in all the reports of the missionaries in charge, it is stated that there is a condition of cordial unity and understanding in labor between missionaries and associate laborers both general and local. This is a very encouraging condition which will readily engage the attention of all and will doubtless lead to more extended usefulness of all coworkers.

The absence of official jealousy is marked, for which the laborers are to be much commended.

These are but hastily gleaned from the reports, and will not, of course, give an idea of detail in each field. But so closely have the Saints been kept in touch with the laborers by reports in the Herald and Ensign, a detail is not needed.

For the good we receive may we all be always thankful.

The mission of Colorado, Eastern Wyoming, and New Mexico was looked after by Bro. Luff, who put Bro. John B. Roush into the active oversight. Considerable labor has been done both in the branches and in new places with some prospects of success. A good work seems to be doing in Denver City.

There are few, very few laborers in this field, but those who have been in it have done well.

IN THE SPIRIT.

Much depends upon the manner and spirit in which a thing which may be commanded to be done, or which wisdom directs, or necessity requires, is performed.

If the person who is commanded, requested, or required to do any specific work goes about that work with the intention of accomplishing it, he may do it, as a rule, in one of two ways. He may become self-absorbed in his work, grow taciturn, magnify his own importance to the general work and make a disagreeable impression upon those he may be connected with in the work and those outside its influence with whom he may chance to come into contact. Or, he may become interested in his work to the extent that he is fully impressed with its importance in itself and in relation to the general work; and estimating himself by his ability to do the work, may set about it with earnestness and devotion fully determining to succeed; but, with due regard to his coworkers and a full recognition of his powers, he has a proper understanding of the worth of his fellow-men and exhibits in his work a cheerful, trustful, frank.

and amiable openness of disposition that affects all around him with a sunny temper; aids, comforts, and cheers, instead of depressing them.

Which of these two laborers is likely to receive the better commendation, granted that each does the work assigned him? Which is the more agreeable companion? Give this a thought.

PUNISHMENT OF CRIME.

A writer in the last number of the American Journal of Sociology, a magazine published by the University of Chicago, in discussing the subject, "Punishment to fit the Crime.' reaches a conclusion which is inclined to startle some, though the reasoning of the writer in reaching it is characterized by a deal of logic and sound-He, after considering the relation of crime to the punishment of the same as fixed by law, points out that three elements are more or less clearly recognized in the infliction of punishment, viz., "first, the reparation of the wrong that has been done, which includes the idea of retribution; second, the reformation of the wrongdoer; and third, the warning of would be criminals of the consequences of crime—to deter them."

With these three objects of punishment in view he then discusses the crime of murder and the punishment thereof, and finally lays down the conclusion that the punishment in this country, as in all others, is not adequate, and that of the "elements" of punishment only one appears as of positive value, and that is as a warning. "Even here," he remarks, "its utility is sometimes doubtful." The elements of reformation and reparation are entirely lacking.

Considering, then, the right of society to protect itself against the murderer, both in the way of reforming the individual and receiving retribution for the crimes already done by that individual, the writer declares that a new punishment is needed that will fulfill all the requisite elements Then, atof an ideal punishment. tempting to point out such punishment, he suggests that a human experiment station be established, in which the condemned murderer be made the subject of experiments to test the properties of various remedies and specific applications for the relief of disease, and that such experimenting be kept up until the murderer dies. He says:-

His death in this way would satisfy all the ends of punishment: the majesty of the law, which he ruthlessly violated, would be vindicated; as a warning to others it would have all the deterrent value attached to the present forms of capital punishment, and probably a greater value; the opportunity for his spiritual welfare would not be diminished; and, in addition, his death would offer unlimited possibilities for the benefit of society, for repairing the injury he had wrought. In short, his punishment would have a direct relation to the offense—it would fit the crime.

The suggestion of the writer will no doubt cause considerable comment from many, for, as suggested by an editorial writer in the Chicago Tribune, the author's plan trenches rather closely upon the constitutional provision against cruel and unusual punish-The author, however, had anticipated such opposition, and devotes a considerable portion of his article in arguments to show the reasonableness of his position, and argues that the unusual features are in no way more so than several changes which which have been made in the punishment of the murderer. A few years ago killing a murderer by electricity would have been decided unusual, though now it is practiced to quite an extent. As to the cruelty of it, the author thinks it would be in no way more cruel than the present method, and justifies what cruelty there may be by calling attention to the fact that the convict would suffer no more than if attacked by some of the dreaded diseases of the day, and the knowledge the physicians would glean would revert to the many; hence the state in inflicting such punishment upon the murderer would be doing so for the benefit and good of the thousands.

EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS.

Bro. O. J. Wheeler, Belding, Michigan, March 26:—

Through the efforts of Bro. W. D. Ellis, of over two weeks' labor here, assisted by Bro. Erwin the first week, a few are asking for baptism. He helped us to organize a Sunday school, to begin next Sabbath at 10:30 a. m.

EDITORIAL ITEMS.

Bro. G. W. Hull, of Chauncey, Ohio, writes relating an instance called to his mind by Bro. Briggs' autobiography. It is of one Thomas Gaskill, then a member of the Baptist Church, who hearing the gospel preached by Bro. L. R. Devore, was converted, but hesitated because of the tales in circulation about Joseph Smith and the early Saints. Bro. Hull tells how he and Bro. Gaskill called on Mr. James Corwin, Belle Vernon, Ohio, who was personally acquainted with Joseph and the Saints, and relates the conversation, the result of which was that all doubt was removed from the mind of Bro. Gaskill, and he was immediately baptized, and is now a priest and a worthy Saint. He thus corroborates Bro. Briggs' statement that as a rule those who, even though outside the faith, were well acquainted with Joseph Smith had naught but good words for him, it being left for those who knew him not to speak evil of him.

Original Articles.

THE TEMPLE.

WITH A SKETCH OF ITS BUILDERS.

Being inquired after by many who visit the building known as "The Mormon Temple," solicits an effort to place before the public a few leading facts to answer the inquiries made, and we hereby submit them.

On September 22, 1827, a young man by the name of Joseph Smith, having been previously informed of their character, was permitted to take from their resting place, in Manchester township, Ontario county, state of New York, a record containing an abridged account or history of an enlightened people that inhabited South and North America, being colonies from Europe that at different periods landed on their borders. The record was engraved on plates of brass having the appearance of gold; were about the thickness of common tin; were about seven by nine inches square, and the volume was about six inches thick and was held together by three rings passing through the edges. A part of the record was sealed. Mr. Smith was told by the heavenly messenger who delivered them, to translate the unsealed part and have it printed in a book, which was done at Palmyra, New York, and the book put on sale in early spring of 1830. The book was called after the name of the man who abridged the record, "Mormon."

The record is that referred to (see Isaiah 29:11) as the "book that is sealed," and is the words of the people that "speak out of the ground" (verse 4), that should come forth just before Lebanon should "be turned into a fruitful field" (verse 17). It is that "Truth" that should "spring out of the earth" (Psalms 85:11) just before the land of the Jews should yield her increase. It is the stick "for Joseph" that should be in the hand of Ephraim (see Ezekiel 37:16-20).

The book is not to take the place of the Bible, but is auxiliary to it, and is additional testimony that "Jesus is the Christ," and like the Bible, it bears its own weight. Read the book.

The plates were hid up about A. D. 420. After the translation, the plates were returned to the one who delivered them to Mr. Smith.

During the year 1829, the Aaronic priesthood was committed to Mr. Smith with authority to preach the gospel of repentance, and baptize for the remission of sins. He was also commanded to organize the church after the ancient pattern as contained in the Bible, with officers and gifts, with signs following the believer; which was done April 6, 1830, in the town of Fayette, Seneca county, New York. About this time the Melchisedec order of priesthood was conferred, delegating the right to lay on hands for the gift of the Holy Ghost; elders were ordained, and the gospel as restored began to be preached as in the days of the Master, in fulfillment of Revelation 14:6, and the beginning of the work mentioned in Matthew 24:14.

Mr. Smith was now instructed to translate, or, as might be said, correct the King James translation of the Bible; which was done by inspiration of God, from June, 1830, to July, 1833.

The first preaching done in Kirtland, Ohio, by the church called Latter Day Saints, was in the fall of 1830. Sidney Rigdon, living then at Mentor, heard the new doctrine (as it was called) for the first time, and embraced it, being baptized November, 1830. About one thousand came into the church in a short period of time. Mr. Smith moved to Kirtland, January, 1831. Was instructed of the Lord to build a house of worship called a Temple, to the intent that those who are called and chosen to represent the gospel of Christ might be endowed with power from on high, as were the disciples of our Lord eighteen hundred years ago.

A pattern of the building, with dimensions, was shown to him in vision, and on July 23, 1833, the corner stone was laid, and the building completed March 27, 1836.

The building stands on a beautiful table land on the south side of the Chagrin river, about one hundred feet above its bed, nine hundred feet above sea level, five miles west of Little mountain, the highest point in the state of Ohio.

The building is fifty-nine feet wide by seventynine feet long; one hundred and twenty feet to top of spire. The walls are sixty feet high, including the basement; they are built of good, quarried standstone, and are two feet thick. The corners are laid up with nicely dressed block stone, six inches thick, nine inches wide, and four feet long, and project from the finished wall about one and one half inches.

The windows are gothic in style and twelve feet high, the jam casings being of fine grade sandstone, five inches thick, the upper one third being cut circular. There are thirty-five hundred lights of glass in the entire building.

There are two doors in the east end of the house, finished to compare with the windows in style.

The walls are plastered on the outside with a coat of strong cement, with a skim coat filled with powdered glass, giving it solidity and a sparkling appearance in the sunlight.

The cornice is of wood, and heavy; finished fittingly to compare with the work below. The cupola and belfry compare favorably in size and finish with the body of the house.

The building faces the east, and is said by recent survey to stand exactly in line with the points of compass.

The roof is of shingles, and there are five dormer windows on either side to accommodate five rooms in the attic.

The first floor is divided into four parts, as follows: Auditorium, fifty-five by sixty-five feet; vestibule, ten by thirty-five feet, with vestry room at either end. From each end of the vestibule a winding stairway leads to the rooms above.

The auditorium is provided with a pulpit in either end, representing the two priesthoods in the church; viz., the Melchisedec and Aaronic. Each pulpit is divided into four pews of three seats each to represent four grades of presiding officers, with their counselors; the highest being elevated about eight feet from the floor.

The seats are boxed pews, and arranged to permit audiences to face either pulpit.

The finish on the pulpits is highly elaborate and ornamental, and is said by architects and builders of today to be fully equal if not superior in design and architectural grandeur to the work of the present day.

There are eight pillars, or columns, nicely finished, extending from stone abutments in the basement, through the floors, supporting the floors and roof.

The second floor is divided off the same as the first, excepting the vestry rooms, and boxed pews, and not being so elaborate in finish; but bears the marks of propriety and symmetrical neatness that makes it pleasant to the eye, and of which one does not tire.

The third floor is plainly finished into five rooms, to be occupied as school and committee rooms, and for the benefit of the several quorums of the church in times of general gatherings. The building is supposed to have cost about sixty thousand dollars.

Thus we have before us one of the wonders of the age, a monumental evidence of skill and workmanship acknowledged by this advanced age in arts and sciences to be equal if not superior to that of today. This is equivalent to saying, that those who builded the structure were seventy years in advance of their time; and in no way can we account for this advance but to acknowledge the hand of God in its construction.

In 1835 there were about one thousand members of the church in the vicinity of Kirtland.

Soon after the completion of the house the anticipated hopes of its builders were realized according to promise, and the elders went forth preaching the newly revealed gospel in England, Wales, and the islands of the seas, rapidly increasing in numbers at the rate of about one thousand per month for fourteen years, or until the death of Joseph Smith, which occurred June, 1844.

It is not our purpose to follow in detail the meanderings of this people, the first fourteen years, or from 1830 to 1844; but, suffice it to say, that many evil-designing men came into the church, and by their warrings, jarrings, envyings, lustful and covetous desires, and failing to keep the commandments of the Lord, they brought upon themselves persecutions and troubles of various kinds, until these evils cul-minated in the death of their chief shepherd, the rejection of the church as an organized body, and the scattering of its members to the four winds. The principal part of those living in Kirtland moved into Missouri in the year 1838, and from there were driven into Illinois in 1839, where they builded a city and nearly completed a magnificent temple said to have been one of the finest structures on the continent at the time. But the fires of violent persecution followed them, as it had been frequently told them, that if they did not heed the commandments of the Lord, they would be persecuted, scourged, and driven from place to place until the voice of God through a living prophet should no longer be heard, and they left to follow the imaginations of their own hearts, like Israel of old.

It is quite evident that vain ambition and aspiring motives, hitherto latent in the hearts of leading men, were now culminating in wicked practices and abominations suited only to depraved hearts; and a release from the restrictions hitherto felt, checking the ambitions and the gratification of unholy desires that had been cropping out from time to time were beginning to take form and shape.

June 27, 1844, Joseph Smith, their prophet and chief shepherd, and Hyrum Smith his brother were killed by an armed mob of about one hundred and fifty men, in Carthage Jail, Hancock county, Illinois.

Before his death he stated to a large congregation of Saints to the effect that "If Brigham Young ever gets the lead of this church, he will lead it to hell." He also pointed to his son Joseph, sitting near (then about twelve years old), and said, "There is my successor."

He also told his wife, before starting for Carthage, to stay in Nauvoo with the family, which she did; then bade them a final adieu, stating that his earthly work was completed, and he should not see them again in the flesh, and so took his departure from them.

Aspirants for the Presidency soon filed their claims, the bewildered disciples began to scatter this way and that way with their several followings; Brigham Young to Utah; J. J. Strang to Beaver Island, etc., until from sixteen to eighteen, in course of a few years, had each located in different parts of the country with their followers.

The child of lust, evidently begotten, was born, but secretly hid in swaddling bands until outside limits of legal jurisdiction were reached; and then, in 1852, in the territory of Utah, the birth of the child was publicly announced and the claims to its existence legitimatized, the bands cast off, and it was called "Polygamy."

The scattered members of the body that had not united themselves to any of these factions, were looking forward to the time previously mentioned by their deceased leader, when "the remnant," or those "that halted" (did not follow the aspiring element), should be called together, and the legal successor in the prophetic office should be chosen, and the church reorganized; and for this they did not wait long, for at Amboy, Illinois, in 1860, a conference of these scattered ones was held, at which conference Joseph Smith, of Nauvoo, Illinois, the one already designated by his father, as before-mentioned, appeared among them and was chosen as President of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

This reorganization has been slowly growing in numbers and in favor with both God and man from that day to the present. It stands incorporated as a church in Illinois, Iowa, and other states, and is acknowledged by the courts of our country to be in legal succession to the church that was organized at Fayette, Seneca county, New York, in 1830; and because of this the title to the Temple property at Kirtland, Ohio, is quieted and in their possession, so decided in 1880. This property, after having been neglected for about forty years, has been repaired by the Reorganized Church and placed as nearly as possible in its first condition.

The church now (1900) numbers some forty-five thousand members. The headquarters of said church is at Lamoni, Decatur county, Iowa.

Said church does not believe in polygamy, Adam God worship, blood atonement, secret endowment system, or any other heresies as taught by the people in Utah. Neither do they believe Joseph Smith the Prophet to be the author of them. The language used by Mr. Smith concerning matrimonial affairs by revelation is as follows: "Thou shalt love thy wife with all thy heart, and shall cleave unto her and none else." Again, speaking of man, "Wherefore it is lawful that he should have one wife, and they twain shall be one flesh."

The marriage ceremony is as follows: "You both mutually agree to be each other's companion, husband and wife, observing the legal rights belonging to this condition; that is, keeping yourselves wholly for each other, and from all others, during your lives."

The Book of Mormon declares, "There shall not any man among you have save it be one wife; and concubires he shall have none."

AUTOBIOGRAPHIC SKETCH AND IN-CIDENTS IN THE FARLY HIS-TORY OF THE REOR-GANIZATION .- NO. 13.

BY EDMUND C. BRIGGS, OF THE QUO-RUM OF THE TWELVE.

I shall now quote from my journal so the Saints may see how the first two principal missionaries began their labors in the vineyard of the Lord in order to bring back the wandering sheep to the fold from whence they had wandered in the dark and cloudy day of the latter-day apostasy.

"Tuesday, June 21.—This day Bro. William W. Blair and myself left Amboy to prosecute our mission west. We took the train at twelve o'clock for Lasalle. Reached Lasalle at one p. m. Walked eight miles west of the city to Bro. Edwin Miller's.

"June 22. - Walked and rode on the cars to Bureau station on Burlington Walked eight miles and railroad. again took the cars to Chillicothe. Arrived at four p.m. Then rode with Mr. Sanders eight miles, and walked to Bro. Rufus Benjamin's, three miles east of Princeville.

"Thursday morning, June 23.-Called on Elder Z. Brooks and had a long talk with him. He holds that it is necessary for Jesus Christ in person to ordain all apostles by laying on of hands, therefore all who have attempted to act in that capacity without being thus ordained are impostors. He was a powerful and fluent reasoner, building on the Bible and Book of Mormon exclusively, rejecting the Book of Covenants, though claiming to be inspired himself. We were made to realize in fact that he was possessed of an evil spirit, and it accompanied us as we left him until we fasted to be delivered from it.

"We called on Brn. Phineas and Charles Bronson and families in Princeville, Peoria county, whom I had met before. They were with us in faith, and received us with marked kindness, and with whom we took dinner. In the afternoon we walked six miles west to Sr. Bachellor's and daughter, Jerusha, where we stopped over night.

"Friday, June 24.—We concluded to fast today, so we started very early this morning and walked three miles and called on a Sr. Drusilla, a widow, who is a very firm believer in the gospel and latter day work. Seven miles from Princeville we found Michael Walden and family. He has been looking for young Joseph to be the successor of his father ever since the martyrdom of the Prophet in 1844, and he received us with great joy, and the Spirit rested on us in power as we told him of our hope and the promises to us, and of Reorganization. In the afternoon we walked eight miles farther to Bro. Harvey Strong's.

where Elder Blair stopped over night, and I tarried over night with Bro. Joseph Wilder. They received us very kindly and were much interested in our hope. S. G. Cook was also very much interested. They all bade us Godspeed, and we left Bro. Strong in tears as he wept with joy over the glad news we brought them of our work, and desired interest in our prayers for himself and family. Bro Silas Cook resides in Victoria, but was not at home.

"June 25.—We walked eleven miles to Wataga station, part of the time in the rain, so we got very wet. We reached the station at three p. m. and took the train to Oquawka on the Mississippi river. Here we took the steamer for Burlington, fifteen miles distant, arriving at 9:15 in the evening, where we found Bro. William Morton in the post office, who was looking for us, and we remained with him over night and Sunday.

"June 26.—Visited with Bro. Dwight Webster. His wife was very much interested in the gospel and was a firm believer, though she had never heard a sermon.

"On the 27th we walked to Madison, where we took the boat again and reached Montrose, Iowa, at 9:30 p. m., and soon were kindly welcomed by Bro. John Bowen. It seems indeed a happy home for me this evening, as I am very tired, and have been suffering with a severe headache all day and with a burning sun beating on me, it seemed without mercy. And while I pen these few lines in my diary for future reference, let me say this has been a day of severe trial and suffering. It seems that the very enemy of my soul is trying to torment me.

"Tuesday, June 28.-Crossed the river to Nauvoo and had dinner in the Mansion House. We met Brother Joseph and his mother but had no special conversation with them; in fact, nothing on our hope. I settled with Major Bidamon and paid him $23.00, and recrossed the river to Montrose.

"June 29.—We visited Brn. Bowen, Spinning, and others; also Bro. Dungan, of String Prairie. He has lost all interest in the latter-day work.

"Thursday, June 30.—We visited Bro. John Newberry, who is very sick with lung and liver complaint, and realizes that his time is short on earth, and said he relied on the mercies of Christ. Also called on James Newberry and Michael Griffith, who are very much interested in the faith. We left him two pamphlets, 'A Word of Consolation' and 'The Voice of the Captives,' the first two publications of the Reorganization. We then continued on our journey and crossed the Des Moines river at Sweet Home and took dinner with Mr. David Miles, two miles west of the river. Crossing a beautiful prairie to Mount Sterling, we stopped over night at a hotel.

"July 1.-We called on Bro. James T. Pierson, at Keosaugua, and five miles west of Pittsburg stopped over night with Mr. Millington; but the weather was very warm, so we started on our journey very early in the morning and reached Bro. Jacob Crandall's for breakfast at nine o'clock. He was very much interested in the gospel. We stayed with him until the afternoon and then went six miles to Stringtown, where we found Bro. Boran and John W. Archer. They were hid up and wished to remain so for the present, entirely indifferent to religion, and did not wish it known among their neighbors that they were ever members of the church. Bro. Townsend was not at home. His wife is in the faith and was glad to see us. and spoke of her hope with much in-

"Sunday, July 3.—Three miles west of Stringtown we remained with a Mr. William Awalt, a Methodist, over Sunday. Attended their meeting and Sunday school, and Bro. W. W. Blair preached an excellent sermon. The Spirit comforted us very much while we talked of our hope, and much good was done.

"Monday, 4th.—Our stay with our Methodist friend was very pleasant, and he invited us to return and preach for them again, and bade us Godspeed. This day we walked thirty-eight miles, and at 12:30 o'clock we called on Bro. Porter. He was cold and indifferent, and did not wish to talk on religious matters, and did not invite us to stop for dinner. stayed over night four miles west of Centerville.

"Tuesday, July 5.—Reached Corydon, county seat of Wayne county, and took dinner at a hotel. In the afternoon went to Garden Grove. Walked forty miles today. This place was formerly settled by the Mormons, but only three families remain in this vicinity. We did not visit them.

"On the 6th we visited Brn. Haskins, Capoline, and Hall at Brush Creek, five miles west of Garden Grove. Here we were kindly received as brethren.

"Thursday, July 7.—Held meeting at five o'clock p. m. Had large audience. The Spirit rested on the people. By request, again made another appointment for two o'clock Friday afternoon.

"July 8.—We held meetings again. Had very large audiences. Bro. Patterson. Moss. and Martin Hall and their wives gave in their names to join the church and were baptized. They were of the Disciple Church. From present appearances others will follow, and it is creating quite a stir among their former brethren.

"Saturday, preaching again at five o'clock p. m. Two more came forward for baptism.

"July 10.—The Disciples (or Campbellites) commenced meeting last evening, and occupied the church until three_o'clock p. m., and by request Bro. Blair preached again on the first principles of the gospel. Three hundred people present. He then announced baptism to be attended to in the morning at ten a. m.

"Monday, July 11.—Preaching at n a. m. Bro. Blair spoke on the ten a. m. order of the kingdom of God, and baptized Benjamin Harding, Eliza Ann Harding, Jemima McNew, and Lucinda Haskins, and they were confirmed at the water's edge. At six o'clock a. m. we preached another sermon.

"Nine Eagles, or Pleasant Plains (now Pleasanton), July 12.—Today came to Bro. George M. Hinkle's. He seems to have great faith in the latter-day work, yet is in the dark and cannot believe in the law of lineage or the rights of Joseph to the presidency.

"July 13.—Today called on Bro. and Sr. Ebenezer Robinson. They seem firm in the faith of the gospel and wished us prosperity in our work.

"July 14.—Bro. Hinkle tells us he thinks the church has a right, under present circumstances, to choose three high priests, and they be upheld by the prayers and faith of the Saints as such officers to compose the presidency, and that God is bound to recognize them, and that he will wager his soul's salvation that Joseph will not take his Father's place in the church, or be president of the church, and yet he thinks we have the Holy Spirit and are doing good, but our organization is not right, hence will fail and come to naught.

"Friday, July 14.—I visited Bro. Alfred W. Moffet. He was formerly from Laharpe, Illinois, and has great faith in the latter-day work. He was well acquainted with Z. H. Gurley, Sen.; his wife, formerly Ann White. They are much alive in the hope of the gospel, and receive our message of the Reorganization with a ready They have great experience mind. in the history of the church. He also informs me that he heard Brigham Young in a meeting held in the temple at Nauvoo, while preaching to a large audience, say, that the Bible, Book of Mormon, and Book of Doctrine and Covenants they might leave on their shelves, when they left Nauvoo, as they would not be needed any more than a last year's almanac is of use this year, for he was as their God to them, and if the Saints obeyed his counsel, he would be responsible for their salvation.'

"July 15 we visited with Brn. George and David Morey. Saints are all much interested in the latter-day work.

"Sabbath, July 17. — Sr. Morey, this morning, thinks of being baptized again to renew her covenant. think it is not required, as she is a regular member of the church, though perhaps in this time of the scattering since the rejection of the church they may not have lived as Saints ought at all times, yet it does not affect their membership if they now repent and take up their cross daily, and in faith seek the God of our fathers in the name of our Savior Jesus Christ, who is our intercessor with the Father of the spirits of all flesh. Bro. Blair preached at ten a. m., and in the evening we held another meeting. Saints are very much revived in their faith. There are some thirty members of the church in this vicinity. Bro. Blair baptized Sr. Martha Ann Truman and we confirmed her into the church at the water's edge.

(Continued.)

SPIRITUAL GIFTS AND SPIRIT MANI-FESTATIONS.

Now concerning spiritual gifts, brethren, I would not have you ignorant... But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal.—1 Corinthians 12:1, 7.

The fact that God has in our day exposed his willingness to speak to or communicate with mankind, and that thousands have already testified to their belief in this contention by uniting with the church with unified consent upon this point, should not lead us or permit us to fall into a careless forgetfulness of the important fact that there are today, as there have always been in the past, conditions governing the manner and matter of a heavenly communication which for our safety it is absolutely necessary to observe.

God, having succeeded in displacing and disposing of "these dumb idols," even as we or "our fathers" "have been led," and "carried away" hitherto, has by his counsel in these last days sought to warn his people against other, and perhaps not less dangerous, agencies calculated to defeat and to destroy the effect of the atonement, mission, and sacrifice of his Son,—defeat the purposes for which the gospel has been restored and the church is to be established in these last days.

The superiority of a false god over a dumb god will be hard to determine; a bogus or counterfeit revelation no better, if as good, as none at all.

That a renaissance or revival of spiritual power and manifestation is needed to awaken Saints of God to a sense of privilege and of duty I think will be conceded by all, and since we have been placed in charge again to an extent in local watchcare, it has good intent to help along lines of revival in this direction; but as the real and true begins to develop, so have we been forced to note the revival or presence of what we have discerned as a most dangerous counterfeit, dangerous and troublesome at times, and of this we feel impelled to write.

To lose sight of the object for which these "gifts" with which the Church of Christ, both in ancient and in modern times, was and is endowed, is likely to destroy their effect as a means of gospel salvation. The "salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory," of which St. Paul speaks, is to our mind, the glory of "intelligence," of a "knowledge of God." To this end God has always placed in his church, whenever he had one upon earth, first, inspired apostles, prophets, evangelists, pastors, teachers, etc., "for the perfecting of the saints," "till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man." (Eph. 4:11-13.) Perfect and completed salvation must be preceded or accompanied by perfect knowledge of God and his Christ. "We know in part," was St. Paul's wise and modest statement. In his exhortation and instruction to the church at Corinth, he urges the necessity of a cultivated understanding in these important matters, whether in the exercise of the gift of tongues, or prophecy, as well as in singing or praying, and the intelligence or understanding is to be appealed to and regarded.

True, this same apostle said, "I thank my God, I speak with tongues more than ye all." I do not know to what extent, however, the church at Corinth was comforted or afflicted with manifestations of the gift of tongues, but I know that danger and trouble must have arisen, else this discrimination would not have been enjoined by this "wise masterbuilder," neither would he have followed the statement with another like this:-

Yet in the church I had rather speak five words with my understanding, that by my voice I might teach others also, than ten thousand words in an unknown tongue. Brethren, be not children in understanding: howbeit in malice be ye children, but in understanding be men.—I Corinthians 14: 19, 20.

To "know" as he was "known" of him in whom were "hidden all the treasures of wisdom and of knowledge," to rise to the great fellowship of an equality of wisdom and of understanding was the magnificent idea of this wisely ambitious man.

The church in an early day, as recorded in the history of its sojourn in Kirtland and elsewhere, was troubled by the subtile imitations or manifestations that for a time succeeded in been a pleasure to perceive God's deceiving some, if not many. The cheapening of these most precious agencies of our heavenly Father through unedifying, uninstructive, and profitless imitations by the subtile enemy of Saints and of the Church of God is something that calls for attention and notice upon the part of those who are really seeking to know "the power of the enemy," and to be armed against his subtile and counterfeiting devices.

Behold, I am Alpha and Omega, even Jesus Christ. Wherefore let all men beware how they take my name in their lips; for, behold, verily I say, that many there be who are under this condemnation; who useth the name of the Lord, and useth it in vain, having not authority, and the church is warned to repent,

Remember that that which cometh from above is sacred, and must be spoken with care, and by constraint of the Spirit.—Doctrine and Covenants 63: 15, 16.

If to misrepresent our neighbor. our brother, by putting words into his mouth which he never uttered, in order to make him a party or witness to our contention, may be properly called a serious wrong or even a crime, what shall we say of him who would assume the risk of bringing almighty God down to the level of our mistakes by carelessness or failure to "try the spirits" who may suggest speech for us, in the name of the Most High? If the mistakes or misdemeanors of men may be corrected or forgiven (and being human we understand they may), yet the mistakes of a God can never, no never, with thoughtful men or women, be forgiven or remedied. Once made a party to our weaknesses or folly, he is forever dethroned. We may charge our fellows with error justly or unjustly, wisely or unwisely, and may be mistaken or forgiven, but the mistakes of a God can never be, in reason, overlooked or condoned or apologized for: and he or she who assumes to say that they truly love God should, it would seem, be exceedingly careful of his reputation or maintain in right reason the character of perfection with which he is by us-in theory or word at least—invested or accredited.

To our mind, the "thus saith the Lord God" with which utterances that have greeted our ears have been prefaced, falls little short, at times, of sacrilegious performance. A "gift of tongues," of familiar and frequent repetition, without variation, many times without interpretation, or perhaps with an interpretation that interprets nothing of profit, or point or edification, to an intelligent mind; a "spirit" not "subject to the prophet," but seizing with an irresistible "control" the oracle, mastering the organ of speech—a power that irresistibly "controls" the tongue—to use their own explanation and defense, and the intelligent stranger who may be present a decidedly wrong cue for a just judgment of the stability of our claims, are among the mistakes which fanaticism or unwise zeal has too often challenged the attention of the sober and discerning spirits.

A "prophecy" that has no semblance of future forecast,—only an ordinary and ofttimes pointless or unedifying commonplace exhortation, possibly,—"full of sound or fury, signifying nothing," as Shakespeare has it, are among the hindering instead of helpful causes to true spiritual growth.

Dreams, sometimes, have been made the vehicle for the display of an opposition to the plain enactments of the law governing, or that should govern, Saints; who, on the other hand, might betray a ready refusal to receive any manifestation that fails to harmonize with their conception of, or desire for, things to their liking, no matter from what source or of what indorsement.

When "spiritual gifts," or more properly or safely termed, at times at least, "spirit manifestations," are made the vehicle for destruction of the peace of Saints,—for rebellion against law, or common or majority consent,—it is time to begin an analysis of the motives that are impelling our action and the true character of the spiritual influences, as well as of our fleshly associations, that may control us.

Evil communications corrupt good manners. Let us as Saints not forget this when dealing with men or devils, and let us try to realize what contemptible and ignorant business it is that brings the great and good, the all-wise, and perfect God down to the level, or to endeavor to make him the indorser of our small spites and human—or worse

Some agnostic has said that "An honest God is the noblest work of man." Shall this sarcasm, evidently directed against Babylon's votaries and adherents, have any force as against true Latter Day Saints? That these things still exist in more than one branch of the Church of Christ is as undeniable as it is painful to confess. Is there a remedy provided in the law?

To another, the discerning of spirits.

This gift is not to all, but to some one or ones, perhaps, and whom the law should properly point out or designate, and which we believe has designated, as we find it in the books of the church which must, for lawabiding Saints, be the standard of reference. In Doctrine and Covenants 46:7, 8, we read:—

but seizing with an irresistible "control" the oracle, mastering the organ of speech—a power that irresistibly "controls" the tongue—to use their own explanation and defense, and chills the majority of Saints, or gives

And again, it is given to some to speak with tongues, and to another it is given the interpretation of tongues: and all these gifts cometh from God, for the benefit of the children of God. And unto the bishop of the church, and unto such as God shall appoint and ordain to watch over the church, and to be elders unto the church, are to have it given unto them to discern all those gifts [for the benefit of the children of God], lest there shall be any among you professing and yet not be of God. And it shall come to pass that he that asketh in spirit shall receive in spirit; that unto some it may be given to have all those gifts, that there may be a head, in order that every member may be profited thereby: he that asketh in the spirit, asketh according to the will of God, wherefore it is done even as he asketh.

In a revelation given to the church in 1831, the Lord, in addressing the elders who were inquiring in regard to the matter of which we speak, says.—

According as ye have asked and are agreed as touching the church, and the spirits which have gone abroad in the earth. Behold, verily I say unto you, that there are many spirits which are false spirits, which have gone forth in the earth, deceiving the world: and also Satan hath sought to deceive you, that he might overthrow you. Behold, I the Lord have looked upon you, and have seen abominations in the church, that profess my name... But woe unto them that are deceivers, and hypocrites, for thus saith the Lord, I will bring them to judgment. Behold, verily I say unto you, There are hypocrites among you, and have deceived some, which has given the adversary power, but, behold, such shall be reclaimed; but the hypocrites shall be detected and shall be cut off, either in life or in death, even as I will... Wherefore, let every man beware lest he do that which is not in truth and righteousness before me.—Doctrine and Covenants 50: 1-3.

That the Reorganized Church has not altogether escaped these dangers and trials is already proven by the experience had in some localities. Persons exercising or imitating through their own or some congenial or "familiar spirit," the gifts and graces of the gospel, while living in adulterous relations, or otherwise violating the plain provisions of the law of God, are among the facts that stagger, alarm, or destroy confidence in human nature, or the practicability or efficacy of gospel teaching or profession who are unacquainted with "Satan's devices," or his superlative interest to plan and to execute the overthrow of his greatest enemy, the kingdom of God, the Church of Christ upon earth.

True charity and pity for the unfortunate or overtempted, as well as the persistent wrongdoer or hardened hypocrite, is found in the counsel of him whose life of pity and compassion for the tempted, still makes its appeal to him or her of reason or righteous desire in the careful, kindly, but firm administration and enforcement of his law given to us as a church.

In paragraphs six and seven of same section, the Lord continues his counsel to the elders of his church:—

And again, verily I say unto you, and I say it that you may know the truth, that you may chase darkness from among you, for he that is ordained of God and sent forth, the same is appointed to be the greatest, notwithstanding he is least, and the servant of all: . . . but know this, it shall be given you what you shall ask, and as ye are appointed to the head, the spirits shall be subject unto

you. Wherefore, it shall come to pass, that if you behold a spirit manifested that you cannot understand, and you receive not that spirit, ye shall ask the Father, in the name of Jesus, and if he give you not that spirit, that you may know that it is not of God; and it shall be given unto you power over that spirit, and you shall proclaim against that spirit with a loud voice, that it is not of God; not with railing accusation, that ye be not overcome; neither with boasting, nor rejoicing, etc.

The "head," and those whom God has appointed, through abeyance to the law of common and majority consent, is evidently this proper legal head, and it is his prerogative, right, and duty—if the gifts, callings, and ordination have been properly complied with in his case—to know what spirit or spirits are friendly or hostile to the true growth and progress of the work intrusted to his care.

Strange is it, indeed, if it should not be clear to the student and observer of God's law that an honest, legal, kindly effort to fulfill the law and raise the standard of intelligent worship should not meet with other than hostility and opposition, and that those whom God has set in the church as advisers and helps, "for the perfecting of the saints," should be counted an enemy, while the seductive flatterer, cheap imitator, and counterfeiter should be taken to our bosoms and our confidence as a friend and adviser instead.

For vain man would be wise, though man be born like a wild ass's colt.—Job 11:12.

Let us not forget our lowly beginnings, either in our common fleshly. but more especially our spiritual or gospel, life; nor how far are we removed by our earthly limitations and education from the perfect knowledge of things- of that of which we should know before we speak-of God, of men, of women, of devils, and of the influence or spirit that controls these agencies at times. If the Apostle Paul, with all his natural and acquired gifts of knowledge, could only "see through a glass darkly," let us fear betimes lest our view be obstructed in these important matters. and if counsel and safety and the right in such matters is earnestly desired rather than our own asserted or unproved wisdom, let us seek for it in the quarter where God has always placed it, as a matter of discrimination and wisdom under the law.

For the priest's lips should keep knowledge, and they should seek the law at his mouth: for he is the messenger of the Lord of hosts.—Malachi 2:7.

Nor let us boast of a faith that we are not able to discern, from a belief that after all may be proved to be simply human, and therefore fallible. Faith, gospel faith, is in its highest expression a divine "assurance," a heavenly revelation, a gift of God, susceptible of an intellectual analysis in application to human need, and must not, or should not, be confounded with hereditary weakness, susceptibility, or gullibility ofttimes denominated belief or "faith." Modesty is commendable in these matters. St. Paul says:—

For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith.—Romans 12: 3.

Abraham was a man of faith. It was not human assumption, born of human desire, the suggestion of men or of devils. If the term belief has been ever properly used as a substitute for the word faith, it is in the sense in which the Book of Mormon has it, "A belief in the things that are true." God gave Abraham wonderful, practical, genuine revelations, not flattering, cheap answers or indorsements to human conceptions already possessed and at hand.

The worthies mentioned by St. Paul, in Hebrews eleventh chapter, were men who gave high service toward God and men before the "gift" of faith that made their life work a lighted tower for all generations to see, ever became their heritage and possession. Whatever is not of faith is doubtful in our religious service, "is sin," St. Paul observes. And if an exhibition of supernatural power is essayed or undertaken by us, let us be sure of the influence that controls us and reckon with the dangers that counterfeiting agencies of a spiritual character so prevalent in our day may possibly deceive us ere we are aware of their true nature or presence. Whatever our "gift" from God may be, let us endeavor to use it under the safe rule of intelligence as from God -for profit and for edification of all. The ministrations of the preacher or the teacher should be and need to be, in order to be effective, under the guidance and assurance of faith and commendation of God and of spiritually minded and discerning men and women.

The giving of gifts should be under this simple and effective rule. An unknown tongue, a "gift" so easily counterfeited, and not uncommon among other people than Latter Day Saints, should be under the watchcare of the appointed judges in such matters. If the gift of "prophecy" is "coveted." let us not venture out too far upon the uncertainty of human desire or forecast, but let us be content to "prophesy in proportion to our faith." or in other words, see that our performance in this regard is suggested by that divine intelligence and heavenly "assurance" worthy of him whose name should only be spoken of in honor and of good report by us. In short, our every service should savor of the "wisdom that cometh down from above, and which is first pure;" etc.

To what extent are we all, or any of us "in," or out of "the faith"?

M. H. BOND.

PROVIDENCE, Rhode Island, Jan. 16, 1901.

JUSTICE.

But the certainty of a future state appears also from the righteousness or justice of the Supreme Being. Let it once be admitted that the Supreme Being is unbounded in goodness and infinite in wisdom, and it must of necessity follow that he is inflexible in justice, for justice is an inseperable accompaniment of goodness and wisdom. To dispense justice is simply to do what it is wise and good should be done. Hence every individual who has ever formed any conception of a Supreme Being, has associated justice with the other essential attributes of his character.

The author of the above is unknown to the writer, yet the sentiments are compatible with what God's word teaches of justice.

Judge not unrighteously, that ye be not judged: but judge righteous judgment. For with what judgment ye shall judge, ye shall be judged; and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again.—Matthew 7: 2, 3, I. T.

Justice continueth its course, and claimeth its own —D. C. 85: 10.

Thus we have a warrant for belief that retributive justice does not always slumber, but continueth in its course. Then the measure we mete to others is to be measured to us again; we cannot, therefore, escape the consequence of wrongdoing. Hence to do justly, love mercy, and walk uprightly forms an important part of the God imposed good works.

Justice and judgment are the habitation of thy [God's] throne.—Psalm 89: 14.

Clouds and darkness are round about him: righteousness and judgment are the habitation of his throne.—Psalm 97: 2.

Could we be like God and ignore judgment and righteousness and advocate justice? No. Could we be like God in advocating righteousness and judgment, and ignoring justice? No. What, then, would be understood by the claim "Twere better to err in justice than mercy"? Don't know; who does?

If God's laws which direct us in duty are perfect, then so far as we advocate and enforce those perfect laws, whether in the interest of mercy or justice, our work is perfect in so far as we are directed by perfect laws; and God is pledged to take care of results growing out of or from the administration of his perfect law. If he don't, who can? The evincing of too great solicitude for consequences growing out of a practical loyalty to God's law would be like borrowing trouble for some unknown purpose, if not giving evidence of the lack of faith in God.

But there is a law given and a punishment affixed, and repentance granted; which repentance, mercy claimeth: otherwise, justice claimeth the creature, and executeth the law.

and the law inflicteth the punishment; if not so, the works of justice would be destroyed, and God would cease to be God. But God ceaseth not to be God, and mercy claimeth the penitent, and mercy cometh because of the atonement; and the atonement bringeth to pass the resurrection of the dead; and the resurrection of the dead bringeth back men into the presence of God; and thus they are restored into his presence; to be judged according to their works; according to the law and justice; for behold, justice exerciseth all which is her own; and thus, none but the truly penitent are saved. What, do you suppose that mercy can rob justice? I say unto you, Nay; not one whit. If so, God would cease to be God. And thus God bringeth about his great and eternal purposes, which were prepared from the foundation of the world. And thus comet shout the salustion world. And thus cometh about the salvation and the redemption of men.-Alma 19: 12, 13, small edition.

And the church did meet together oft, to fast and to pray, and to speak one with another concerning the welfare of their souls: and they did meet together oft to partake of bread and wine, in remembrance of the Lord Jesus; and they were strict to observe that there should be no iniquity among them; and whose was found to commit iniquity, and three witnesses of the church did condemn them before the elders; and if they repented not, and confessed not, their names were blotted out, and they were not numbered among the people of Christ; but as oft as they repented, and sought forgiveness, with real intent, they were forgiven. And their meetings were conducted by the church. after the manner of the workings of the Spirit, and by the power of the Holy Ghost; for as the power of the Holy Ghost led them whether to preach or exhort, or to pray, or to supplicate, or to sing, even so it was done. -Moroni 6: 2, small edition.

The above serves a twofold purpose: 1. It evidences the existence of a method of adjudication. 2. The results of bringing this method of adjudication into requisition is the expulsion of those failing to repent. On the hypothesis that this method of adjudication is God given, then all that the law imposes as the preparatory work, with a view to the ultimate, as seen above, is imperative: therefore, any hindrance to clog or prevent the preparatory work is to delay or hinder the ultimate, and would be evincive of ignorance or rebellion, whether by priest or people. And it is high time that, as a church, we properly and thoroughly distinguish between (if we have not done so) the imperativeness of God's laws and rights, duties, prerogatives, etc., under the same.

But for having read, I never should have dreamed of commandments of men. But having learned from Book of Doctrine and Covenants of the fact (sec. 46), I cannot afford to pass over the matter lightly. God's revealment of the gospel reveals a fullness; but men's commandments frequently have their incipient stages; the embryo, the bringing forth, their advocacy sometimes savoring strongly of some sort of policy - strongly scented at times of feigned piety, then the indorsement, with a guaranty of some present advantage, involving a necessity for a closer and more prolonged look into Christ's given gospel mirror; to wit, the last thirty two or thirtythree words of Doctrine and Covenants 52:4 to have them, as it were, written on the tablets of our hearts, which would injure none. If we would keep out the power of the whirlpool which irresistibly draws to the center, we must keep clear of its limits, keep away. Spiritual darkness may be dense indeed, but the luminous rays of truth, if possessing the same, will penetrate its density on the recognition of the verity of the following:

And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts.— Galatians 5:24.

If those claiming to be Saints are being overcome by the flesh, instead of crucifying the same, they give evidence of a drifting from the Godgiven mooring, and should be dealt with for unsaintlike conduct. God's work makes provision for sinners and

A vivid description of the works of the flesh is seen in Galatians 5:19 to 21 in contradistinction to the fruit of the Spirit as narrated in verses 22. 23, with the assurance that such are above the law. It follows, then, that those giving evidence of the works of the flesh are not above, but condemned by, the law. Then what? Let them alone, lest by interfering they may get offended and make matters worse? Who has authority thus to reason? Who? I don't know, but do know I have not. It's wise, I think, to keep up a sharp distinction between what we do know and what we don't know.

Therefore, let every man stand in his own office, and labor in his own calling.—Doctrine and Covenants 83:21.

Wherefore, now let every man learn his duty, and to act in the office in which he is appointed in all diligence.—Ibid. 104:44.

The foregoing, when properly applied, prevents friction and disapproves inactivity even to the considering those failing to show themselves approved, not worthy to stand.

If any have trespassed, let him not partake until he makes reconciliation.—Ibid. 46:1.

What! Deprive one of the sacrament? Yes; so says the law. Do you, reader, know more than the law? Are you wiser than he who gave the law? But it might hurt the feelings of Bro. A. or Bro. B. to be denied the sacrament before a congregation of Saints, you know. We must be merciful. Then, if mercy consist in allowing him who has trespassed to partake without seeking reconciliation, as no words or expressed law can express two opposite injunctions, then God is unmerciful in imposing a deprivation as above; or those who advocate its evasion are rebelling against God! Under such specious reasoning the sacred precincts of divine law may be entered and some silly, sentimental, of affairs continue.

despicable, undignified, God-forbidden dogma obtain in lieu thereof.

And yet the decree stands forth in all its grandeur as a waymark to those essaying the arduous task of steering their frail bark over the tempestuous sea of time to the haven of rest.

"That which is governed by law, is also preserved by law," etc., with a startling depicted consequence accruing from a violation of law, or becoming a law unto one's self, thus defying God's power.

Judges and officers shalt thou make thee in all thy gates, which the Lord thy God giveth thee, throughout thy tribes: and they shall judge the people with just judgment. Thou shalt not wrest judgment; thou shalt not respect persons, neither take a gift: for a gift doth blind the eyes of the wise, and pervert the words of the righteous. That which is altogether just shalt thou follow, that thou mayest live, and inherit the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.—Deuteronomy 16:18-20.

There is nothing ambiguous in the above necessitating a lengthy disquisition to unfold some complicated method, to inveigle the uninformed into wresting judgment, respecting persons, etc. No; but a procedure that will judge the people with a just judgment, to the prevention of taking a gift, that the eyes of the wise be not blinded. Hence we are presented here with a warrant for belief that a proper and impartial administration was designed by the Lawgiver as a preventive to inequalities attributable to partiality in the enforcement of the

Nothing could be more effective in the establishment of equality among men than a practical demonstration of all loving their neighbor as themselves. The practicability of this is seen in the imposing of this command. But the covetousness for that which does not belong to one will greatly interfere with the cultivation of the golden rule. We ought to see to it that we do not live in opposition to it. For what shall it profit though we soar to heavenly heights and delve to all depths if lacking in a practice of that we hold out to our fellow men? We are too little concerned in giving evidence of following the examples of the meek and lowly Jesus, and too anxious to ape the Gentiles. As if those staggering under the terrible effects of a universal apostasy were fit examples for those testifying to the power of a restored gospel!

Father, and shall we ever live At this poor, dying rate?

Visible effects growing out of cooperative, legislative acts afford evidence to the sober thinker of a lack of confidence in each other's integrity, tried virtue, uprightness, sincerity, etc., and such in their studious moments are led to look forward with fearful foreboding as to the dire consequences to ensue if such a condition

I have no right to expect the confidence of my constituents on the strength of former integrity, sobriety, etc. No, they have a right to expect a practical evidence of a Christ-imspiritual rectitude today. Now, should I in an unfortunate moment digress from the gospel-imposed integrity, the sooner I concede and retract with a confession, the better for me and the cause I represent. shall do this or continue to drift and drift. If I fail in the former, and remain in the latter, it were the bounden duty of the church to see to it, and not allow the fair fame of the church to be brought into jeopardy, or to encourage some vain ambition or unrighteous act on my part, for I am not the church, but only a part thereof.

JAMES CAFFALL.

Selected Articles.

IS THE CHURCH FALLING BEHIND THE COLLEGE AS A SOCIAL INFLUENCE?

In the recent discussions about the alleged decline in church attendance. attention has largely been centered upon the numerical features of the case, and little has been said of the deeper but very striking changes that have taken place in the public estimate of the church and its ministers in our time, as compared, for instance, with its great prestige in colonial New England, or even forty years ago. An editorial writer in the Boston Evening Transcript (March 2) calls attention to the fact that the college and its officers are rapidly taking the place formerly held by the church, both as the chief object of public benefactions and of public esteem. Commenting on the course of lectures entitled, "The Message of the College to the Church," now being given in the Old South Church. Boston, by the presidents of Bowdoin, Yale, Williams, Amherst, and Dartmouth colleges, the writer says:

"Both in England and in this country now the tide of benevolence on a large scale sweeps toward the college rather than toward the church. It is some years now since any of the theological seminaries, missionary boards, or local churches of any of the Protestant denominations in this country have had gifts that startled the public by their size. The total amount received annually by such agencies now no doubt is larger absolutely than it was a decade or two ago, but it is relatively smaller than it was, when the increase of national wealth is considered.

"A like change is apparent in the standing in the community of the educator and the clergyman. Whereas formerly the clergyman's place of precedence was undisputed, it now often happens that within a given city or State there is no clergyman at all comparable in influence or esteem with the head of its leading educational institution. The personal equation enters into this as well as the official standing, but it does not account for the fact. More of it is due to the popular conviction that somehow the college president is the product of a severer preliminary test of fitness for his position, and that the methods of enlightenment for which he stands are more intelligent and durable than those of the clergyman. Again, the representative of the college today, as he addresses men, is generally deemed to be speaking a language more up to date, to be setting forth a theory of the universe and of life more in harmony with the known facts than the average clergyman puts forth. It will be instructive therefore to see just what these administrators of colleges have to say to the church at large, as they stand in a pulpit now notable for freedom of thought and speech. They will have to report, what would not have been the case twenty years ago, that at college and university centers materialism is dead, philosophically considered; that teachers of philosophy and ethics are burning with an idealism which the world at large has not yet begun to feel and which the church will be recreant if it does not imitate. But with all his idealism as a basis of his fundamental thought the college man of today is a realist in the sense that he insists always on a reality of expression and life which make antiquated creedal forms and institutions quite impossible for him to tolerate so soon as they are meaningless or inefficient.

"In family life it often happens that a daughter becomes wiser than a mother, and as candid as wise, though to be candid to one's mother is not an easy, though often a high, duty. Precisely this is the situation today of the universities and colleges, which though they long since ceased to be controlled by ecclesiastics as denominational institutions are nevertheless the offspring of the early churches of New England and still draw most of their students from Christian families. The colleges and the universities have an idealistic philosophy which the clergy need to underpin their theology, a new psychology and pedagogy to make preaching and teaching in Sunday school more rational and effective, and a scientific, experimental method in facing the facts of life, including religion, which the church needs."—Literary Digest, March 30, 1901.

Letter Department.

Vosholl, Mo., March 22.

Editors Herald:-Bro. C. J. Spurlock and the writer came among the Saints of the Whearso branch the 8th of last December. and owing to the conditions of affairs there. were chosen as officials in the same, to act as such during our stay. While this was a little out of the ordinary for missionaries appointed by conference, we consented, believing it to be for the best. While Bro. Spurlock spent most of his time laboring in the regions round about, my time was confined principally to branch work, visiting the Saints as priest, meeting with them in Sunday school and Religio, which has been revived, we hope to remain so. These departments of work we tried to encourage all we could, though it was new but profitable experience to us.

This branch seems to have had its share of the dark and trying scenes, and at the present time seems to be laboring under clouds of difficulty; but we hope ere long these will pass away, and pray that the glorious sunbeams of light may be sent forth from the realms of bliss to dispel every cloud.

We have some truly devoted Saints here, and in my short missionary experience never have been better treated than at this place.

Bro. Spurlock has labored faithfully in the country around to sow the gospel seed in the hearts of men; but because of priestcraft many are blinded to the truth, and the pure gospel of Christ is not prized very highly, by the major part of mankind.

Am feeling well in the work and desire to make my every effort subservient to the eternal interest of the race.

> Yours in Christ, GEO. W. BEEBE, JR.

JANESVILLE, Wis., March 22.

Editors Herald:-I do not desire to burden your precious columns, but feel it my duty once in a while to contribute my mite, that the Saints may know I am alive and active in the work, for I realize we are all members of one great family and as such feel interested in each other's welfare and progress. I shall not relate all the peculiar and trying circumstances one finds himself in the northern part of Wisconsin among the new settlers; for while they might be interesting to some, others might think I had written in a spirit of faultfinding and complaint, which I do not desire to do. My love for this grand work shall ever enable me to take all the trials and sacrifices I may be called upon to make, with patience, as they are not to be compared with the glory to follow.

Leaving home about the middle of November I went to Oregon, intending to labor with Bro. W. P. Robinson. Here I spent some pleasant days while waiting for the weather to settle so we could hold meetings; but after awhile concluded to depart for some more favorable locality, and bade the family good-bye. A few hours' ride after the iron horse brought me to Necedah, where I found Bro. and Sr. Fisher ready to welcome and entertain me. From them I obtained the use of their horse and buggy to carry me to the home of Bro. D. R. Wildermuth.

I found there a pleasant home and inmates ready to welcome the lonely missionary. The next day I gave a short talk in the evening at their home, where the Saints and a few friends had gathered. The schoolhouse was obtained, and the following evening I commenced a series of meetings which lasted over two weeks; not very large attendance was had, but good interest and attention were received. The Spirit was present with me in marked degree, making the spoken word powerful and convincing to those present. How many times after services my heart seemed to be filled with love to God for his kindness toward me in enabling me to present his word, for I feel I am not qualified except when the Spirit is present.

Departing from dear Saints my next field of labor was Porcupine, where I preached off and on for a month. I visited the Saints of Spring Valley, Ono, and Lost Creek. In the last named place I held forth a week and a half, with good liberty and good attention.

Some rather peculiar experiences were had in Porcupine with reference to my way of presenting the gospel. Some thought I was rather too plain, as certain not of the fold had been offended. I made it a subject of prayer, asking God to forgive me if I had done wrong, and also to show how to present his word as he would have me do it. I shall not give a lengthy account of what the Lord revealed to me, but I received sufficient of his Spirit to understand that God's ways are not man's, and that God knows more about preaching than those who made the complaint. I thank God for the gift of the Holy Ghost; it is the life and power of this work and the nearer we keep our bodies and minds pure the more we will enjoy in our labor.

By request of a sister I left Pepin county and went to Burnett county, where I have been laboring about five weeks with good success.

The majority of the settlers are poor, so there are great many inconveniences to put up with.

The people were anxious to hear and learn of the gospel, so while there are some disagreeable things to meet, there is much to encourage one to labor. I hope that in the coming year some missionary may be returned to water the seed, for I received many welcomes to return.

I feel very much encouraged in the work, owing to the blessings and recognition I have received from the Lord. I shall ever strive to be humble and faithful at all times, as our success depends upon humility and faith rather than personal ability.

Yours in the conflict for truth and love, P. MUCEUS.

LADD, Ill., March 22.

Editors Herald:-Something from this little branch might be of interest, especially to those who were once in our midst. I often think of Sr. Jeanette and others who once enjoyed the little meetings in this place, and wonder where they are, and if they still have the privilege of meeting with God's people. There are only a few left to carry on the work here; yet I am pleased that they are still striving to go on in the work of the Master, and letting their lights shine so that others may see the light of the gospel. We have had many dark clouds and trials to pass through. Bro. Twiner, our branch president, has been afflicted so that he could not attend meetings as often as he would like. We ask the Saints to pray for him, that if it be God's will he may be able to resume his work.

We are expecting Bro. J. T. Hackett scon, and feel we shall be encouraged once again. Bro. E. M. Wildermuth was with us for a couple of days, and I feel it is good to meet with the Saints in prayer and testimony. Though I often become discouraged with myself. I am never discouraged as to the work, for I know it is of God. I have received some grand testimonies and we shall continue to receive them if faithful. It is when watchful and prayerful that we receive the Spirit to lead us aright; but when we become careless and neglect daily prayer, then temptations come, and we do and say many things displeasing to our heavenly Father.

I desire the prayers of the Saints that I may be faithful. Your sister in Christ,

HATTIE FLETCHER.

RUNNELLS, Iowa, March 25.

Dear Saints:—There is a little band of Saints at Runnells still striving to serve our Lord and Master.

In the past three months I have been made to realize the ruthlessness of death. On the 20th of December my brother Arthur, twenty-two years old, while doing the chores was wounded in the leg by the tusk of a hog. Physicians were called to dress the wound, but blood poison developed, and his leg was amputated, but to no avail, for the poison had penetrated his system, and soon he was dead. No tongue can tell how hard it is to give him up, and how hard it is to say, "Thy will be done." But I console myself by thinking that my heavenly Father doeth all things for the good of his children. Mother has been poorly for over two years, but now her health is improving some.

Dear Saints, remember me at the throne of grace that I may be able to bear this trial.

EMMA PARK.

DIGHTON, Kansas, March 1.

Editors Herald:-I have never attempted to write to your columns before, but as I am one of the hungry sheep I feel it my duty to bleat. I have no right to "preach, teach, expound, exhort," or invite any to come unto Christ; but I know that the gospel has been restored to earth again. If not, then there is no God; and if there is no God, then there was no creation; and if there was no creation, then we are not. I see by our beloved Bro. Kent's conference notice that only two branches out of eight reported to the last conference, and about the same per cent of the ministry. I think we should strive to encourage one another when in line of duty; but when the shepherds are slumbering and the sheep which they have been told to feed are starving for spiritual food. I think it is the duty of the sheep to bleat, and see if they can arouse the shepherds, that they may come forth and feed the hungry sheep. And if they do not arouse themselves enough to hear the bleatings, our Father who is in heaven will hear them, and either arouse the sleeping shepherds, or remove them from their places and put live shepherds in their Brethren, how can you slumber and let the sheep perish?

The gospel is likened unto a net that is cast into the sea and catches of all kinds. We know by this that there are all kinds in the church of Christ today. If there were not all kinds in this church to which I belong I would know that it was not the true church of Christ. Grievous wolves have entered in and are scattering the sheep. Oh, brethren, arouse and come forth, and feed us, the hungry sheep! I tell you the bridegroom is almost at the door and the sheep are being scattered instead of being gathered. Let us be ready to go forth with our lamps trimmed and burning and oil in our vessels!

I never felt so much need of help from on high in all my life as now. The perils are coming thicker and faster all the time. We are isolated in so much that we do not get to hear a sermon once in twelve months, and sacrament not at all. The headquarters of our branch has been moved to Bazine, about fifty miles away, which makes it impossible for us to attend meetings. Before it was removed it was only about six miles, so we could attend regularly; but we are studying the books, and praying to God that we may not faint by the way.

The Father has said he would scourge his Saints if they did not their duty, and as I feel it my duty to give the alarm, I herewith give it, with the kindest of feelings for every Saint of God. Saints, we need your faith and prayers.

Ever praying for the welfare of Zion, I am your brother,

A. P. PELTON.

P. S.—Any of the ministry who desire or can come and labor in this part of the vine-yard, will be welcome at our home as long as they wish to stay and labor, and we will try and help them by our faith and prayers.

FARNAM, Neb., March 21.

Editors Herald:—We have been having some good meetings this winter. Bro. Lippincott came and preached a week with Bro. Payne; then Bro. Caffall came and preached a week. It was his first visit here, and every one outside as well as inside the church was pleased with his preaching. We will be glad to have him come again. Bro. Lippincott comes every winter, and we are always glad to see him.

Our little Sunday school has stood the storms through winter while nearly all others closed early in the fall.

Our ministers who have preached here have surely done their duty by sounding the warning. If not appreciated, that is not their fault. The Saints seem united, and our prayer is that they may remain so. One of our visiting brethren remarked that he found as great harmony in the Eustis branch as any branch he had ever visited.

I love to read the letters in the HERALD. I see some of our people seem very impatient (that is it seems so to me) for a revelation in regard to the gathering. Now, while I think it will be grand for God's people to live together, my way of thinking is that instead of spending too much thought on hurrying the time it would be best to spend the time (mostly) in preparing ourselves to be ready when that glorious call shall come, which will be in due time.

Ever hoping for the welfare of Zion, I remain your sister.

MINERVA JOHNSON.

LITTLE SIOUX, Iowa.

Editors Herald:—We have been very busy so far in 1901, and I never have been blessed more with the Spirit of the Master in my labors. The Lord be praised! I feel more like doing all I can to warn my neighbors.

"Occupy till I come," means you, me, and every Latter Day Saint. How shall we occupy? Do whatever our hands find to do in any department of this great latter-day work. Luke 19:25, I. T., has been a great anchor and a kind of "prod" to help me in the discharge of duty. When I become discouraged I only have to think, What if the good Lord would take away from me what he has given me? "Where should I go? Thou hast the words of eternal life." I think some of us do not prize the gift of God highly enough. If we did, we would be more willing to sacrifice for the spread of what we know and verily believe to be true.

"Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy," is another injunction we might do well to heed.

May God bless this conference with greater wisdom than ever before. May he purge from us all the old leaven, that we may be a new lump, is and shall ever be my prayer.

Your brother,

"LITTLE SIOUXITE."

DEATON, Texas, March 23.

Editors Herald:—The HERALD has been a strength to me indeed, especially since coming to this place, where I have been deprived of all church privileges such as I used to have. To be so situated as to enjoy all these blessed privileges is the grandest thing in this life. Sundays seem so long when at home all day and not at church; but my time is spent mostly in reading the HERALD and church books, as I feel the need of study to fit myself so that I may be of some use in this latter-day work.

We received the sad news last evening that our Bro. H. E. Goff, of Nevada branch, was dead; and I thought how the gospel was brought to me at Nevada by him, and of the many good words of cheer and counsel he gave us. He was prepared to go.

I feel strong in the faith and hope the time may soon come that we may have a branch here.

I have read Bro. E. C. Briggs' article, and have felt the Spirit, indeed; and I have thought of the early days of the church, and I feel that we as a people ought to rejoice now that we have the gospel, and that we can have a true knowledge of this work. It is a pleasure to me to read of the good meetings the missionaries are having. I felt to rejoice when I read Bro. W. A. Smith's letter in the HERALD a few weeks ago, as it made me think of the times in our prayer meeting in Persia, Iowa.

I miss the prayer meetings more than any other meetings. Have only been in one in about four months, and I long to attend another.

CI hope we may have the prayers of the Saints that we may be able to let our light shine and that we may continue to grow stronger in the faith. Your sister,

N. E. BELKHAM.

LONDON, Ontario, March 13.

Editors Herald:—Before coming into the work I was attached to the Methodist faith. But there came a time when the gospel was presented to me as I had never heard it before. But when in our conversation the Book of Mormon was mentioned, it set me to thinking, and at times I would say, "Mormon! That cannot be right," because the fire of opposition had always been kindled against it. But that did not stop me from investigating, and every time I would get into conversation about the gospel as taught by the Latter Day Saints, the more I craved it. I borrowed a few books, among them the Book of Mormon. I began reading it, asking God to give me light and understanding concerning it, and the light shone in every word I read, verifying to me the truth of it. By reading the Bible I found that the gospel as taught by this people was the same gospel Jesus and the apostles taught, and that they held with a firm grip the principles of heaven. I clearly saw that all they taught on the principles of the gospel was characteristic of the Bible, and taking that as my guide, and Jesus as the man of my counsel, I consented to go down into the watery grave. While we wended our way to the water I repented of all my sins, and, unvoiced by human speech, I asked God to remove everything from my heart that was not of him. I came up out of the watery grave believing I had done a good act and was justified before God. This ordinance was performed by Elder B. St. John, May 21, 1899.

I was then the only colored Saint in the Longwood branch. The fire of opposition was kindled on every hand, and the finger of scorn was pointed at me by some of my own race, but as I began to learn and advance in the work, I knew I had the word of God for my bulwarks against race, creed-worshipers, or infidels. I would often enter into conversation with them concerning the work, but Methodism, Presbyterianism, Roman Catholicism, and all manner of doctrines were to be had by them save the pure word of God. As I would point them to what is taught in the scriptures, they would often say that the written word did not mean what it said, and that I was badly deluded. Sometimes clouds of darkness came over me, and I would think that I was a lost sheep without a shepherd: then realizing that God was no respecter of persons, but that he loved me as much as any one of the human family, I would meditate on the pearls of the law and admire the gems of the gospel, delighting in his word.

As time passed by, my good and dear old mother was called to try the realities of another world. The funeral sermon was preached at the house in power by Bro. T. A. Phillips, of St. Thomas. The seed fell upon good ground, and not many days after, three offered themselves for baptism, followed by others, and I was delighted and thanked the God of heaven that honest souls through the preaching of the word were brought into the kingdom of God.

At this writing nine colored Saints help make up the Longwood branch. My prayer is that many more will be brought into the church. Brother Phillips continued with us for a time, and the Spirit of God was poured out upon us in prophecy, confirming, encouraging, and establishing us in the work. I feel strong in the faith and ask the prayers of all Saints that I may prove faithful unto the end. If we live our religion there are many blessings in store for us. But where there are disunion, backbitings, and janglings in the church, we cannot expect the blessings of Heaven. The beautiful lines that were sung in tongues by one of the faithful ones in Canada ought to arouse all Saints to a newness of life:—

Listen unto me, my people,
And I will give unto thee advice.
Think not you I have forgotten,
For before me thou art prized.
If in me you'll be united,
Then my power you will see;
But when vice and grave disunion,
Then, O then, how can it be;

I would speak unto my people— Send my angels to their homes, If in me you'll be united, Ne'er, O ne'er from me to roam. O, my people, take the counsel Of my servants, o'er the land. Cease to be in such disorder, Then, O then in me you'll stand.

Then you'll see my power displayed,
Then you'll have my angels come.
O, my people, they are waiting,
They are waiting. Will they come?
It is on you I am waiting,
For my storehouse it is full,
Then, O cease, cease all your jangles.
Be united. Be you one.

May the God of heaven, who is no respecter of persons, bless all Saints and inspire us with that ever thirsting after righteousness, is my prayer.

Your brother in Christ, JAS. H. BURRISS.

BYRNEVILLE, Indiana, March 7. Editors Herald:-My mind runs back to my boyhood days, long before I heard of this latter-day work. If memory serves me right, the first manifestation I had of God's work was when I was about six years old, though it had never been taught in this community that the end of the world was at hand, or that Christ would come. At about this age I dreamed of looking toward the east, about midway between sunrise and noon. I saw two lines of red capital letters. I could not read at that time, but it was made known to me if I could read these lines it would tell me when Christ would come and when the end of the world would be. This dream is vet fresh in memory.

I began early to believe that God had a work for me to do, but I always said I would join no church until I married and settled down. This I did March 25, 1884, and not long thereafter joined the United Brethren Church and began in earnest to serve God. Got along fairly well for awhile. Would enjoy myself some with my brethren, but could not say I had received the converting spirit as they had, to make one shout. Yet at times I felt happy.

One night I was determined to seek God for this blessing. Wife and I bowed down in prayer. We prayed for some time, but received no evidence from God. We continued, for I was determined God would answer me. I became almost exhausted, and asked God if I could be saved where I was, or not, and to let me know if I was in a saved condition. Then I received this vision: I beheld myself swinging over a large opening in the shape of a cistern. I could see neither bottom nor sides, it was so deep and dark. I could touch nothing—was swinging over this pit. When the vision left me I quit praying, but wondered what the vision meant.

After this I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs. I then began to pray the Lord to heal me, and asked that if I was not walking in the straight and narrow path that Jesus walked in, to show me, and I would do as he commanded, that I might be healed, for I read in the Bible that he healed the sick in the apostles' day.

About this time Bro. Thomas Wheeler was directed to come to this place, and told that a work could be done here: so in the month of April, 1888, he moved to this place. Up to this time I had never heard an elder of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ preach. Soon after they came they had the elders come. Bro. J. M. Scott was the first one I heard. His uncle, Moses R. Scott, continued to preach. During this time my health had become so bad I had to quit the farm and move to town. I heard them preach. I used all the scriptural argument I could to prove them wrong, but all in vain. While in deep study to show they were wrong, the Spirit of God fell on me and bore testimony that this church was the kingdom of heaven. Soon the Spirit left me, then I doubted, and the Spirit came on me again with more power than ever that this was the kingdom of God. I told my wife that this was the kingdom of heaven and that I was going to join it. This time the Spirit stayed with me, and May 25, 1888, my wife and I were buried with Christ in baptism, at this place. I will never forget the day nor the place, for when Bro. M. R. Scott, Sen., put me under the water, the Spirit came on me. I felt its cleansing power as it passed over my lungs. When I arose from baptism I could breathe with perfect ease, which I had not done since I was taken sick. At this time (thirteen years ago) everybody thought I would die; but when Bro. Scott confirmed me, he said I would bring many unto the light and knowledge of this work.

On June 11, 1888, I was ordained a teacher, and June 21, 1889, I was ordained an elder, and in 1892 I received my first mission to preach.

As soon as I was baptized, trouble began. All my relatives and friends turned against me. I was poor and could not work, so I did not know what to do. I bought thirty-seven dollars worth of groceries, borrowing twentyfive dollars of Mr. Ephraim Byrn. I now had to depend on the profits from these goods. The way was dark for me to make a living, as everybody turned against us because I had joined the church. In this condition I told my wife I would serve God if I starved to death, for I knew this work was of God, for it had been revealed to me. As I would go and preach I would get stronger, and health better, until now I weigh about one hundred eighty pounds. So I feel better today than I ever have.

None of my kindred came into the church, until yesterday, when I baptized my brother, David. That was the happiest and the best meeting to me I ever enjoyed. I cannot express the joy it gave me when we began to prepare for his baptism. Night and day have I meditated over my relatives and prayed for them with tears, and asked God in some way to show them that this work was of God, but it seemed all in vain. Saints, I rejoice this morning, for this privilege of telling you that I have one brother with me in this great work. No wonder the angels rejoice, when poor mortals can. O, how glad I am to know that I have one of my relatives in this work. May God speed the time when all of them will come in.

This great work is everything to me, and as the first dream is fresh in mind of Christ coming, and the end of the world, this event is clearer to me now than ever, that the end is nigh at hand. Ever laboring for the cause of Zion, Your humble servant,

G. JENKINS.

COMINS, Mich., March 19.

Editor Herald:—Up here we have few settlers, and most of them are enemies to the faith. There is a Baptist missionary striving against the gospel. It keeps him busy tramping through the deep snow from house to house trying to put down God's work by distributing tracts.

We are striving to do the Lord's will. We knew we were gaining ground, so we took up a collection and sent for Bro. David Smith, of Standish, who came and baptized four precious souls. He remained three weeks, leaving others interested, and the Saints rejoicing in the gospel. We have a snug little schoolhouse and a goodly number of hearers to our Sunday school and prayer meetings, so the Saints feel glad. We shall try to pay all our tithing and offerings. I feel like coming up higher and keeping all the commandments and be ready to meet our Savior when he comes with the loved ones who have gone before. It seems hard to part with our little ones, but if we live right we shall see them again. So it gives me courage to endure to the end. If we try to do the Lord's will, we will never fail. Those who have lately obeyed the gospel seem firm.

Ever praying for the welfare of Zion,
MRS. MAGGIE BURT.

RAYMOND, Idaho, March 26.

Editors Herald:-Since leaving the Snake river valley, Idaho, I have visited the Saints living in Dingle and Bloomington, Idaho. Also took a trip to Evanston, Wyoming, and visited several points in the upper Bear river country, Wyoming. No Saints living in this region of country, did no public preaching; but did what I could for the Master's cause in the way of fireside preaching. I also visited several points in Rich county, Utah; and at Round Valley and Meadowville did some preaching. At the latter place an old gentleman (a "Mormon") seemed much pleased with the first sermon I preached, and after the meeting he was asked (by the gentleman, Mr. Judd, with whom I was domiciled) what he thought of the sermon. He replied it was a good sermon: "It was grand; it was the truth, every word of it." He then asked his questioner how Bro. Layland happened to come to Meadowville to preach or who had sent him. Mr. Judd replied he was sent by his church.

"His church," echoed the old man. "Yes," it over a year and I will give that to help the replied Mr. Judd; "his church, the Reorgan work and if the college could get the money ized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints."

"Well," replied the old man, "I thought there was something wrong. I felt it! I felt it." And that was the last meeting he attended. He had understood that I was a "Mormon" missionary, but as soon as he learned his mistake, there was something wrong with the sermon.

One of Heber Kimball's sons was out to hear me the last night, and expressed himself as well pleased with the sermon.

From there I went to Round Valley, where I was kindly received and cared for, and the choir did the singing for me. But the last sermon (which was on the necessity for a Reorganization) aroused some opposition and I was interrupted several times. But judging from the many invitations I had to come again and preach to them I believe good will result from the effort.

From there I went to North Eden, Utah, and visited Sr. Mabel Jones and her husband. She is a daughter of the late Elder R. J. Anthony. Gave them such counsel as seemed best and went on to Montpelier, Idaho, and then over the divide into the Thomasfork valley, to my home, which I was pleased to reach after the long trip of two hundred forty miles on horseback. Was nearly sick from a severe cold I had contracted. Found all well at home, but there is plenty of the "beautiful" here yet, and old King Winter still holds everything in his icy embrace.

May the blessings of God rest upon all his Saints everywhere, is the prayer of,

Yours in the true faith,

A. J. LAYLAND.

CLARKSDALE, Mo., March 20.

Editor Herald:-I feel that the HERALD and the Ensign have helped me more than anything I ever got for the money. When I first joined the church, in 1877, I used tobacco and drank coffee. I had often tried to quit, and could not; but when I was baptized I asked God to take away the desire, and he did. I was then called to be a deacon, then a priest, in 1879, and I tried to magnify my office. Then the Devil led me from my duty by making me think I was too poor to spend my time. Then I got so I could not hear, and my head hurt me so that I could not read more than an hour at a time. My mind was bent on trying to make money, until I thought in 1896 my time was short.

I went east and the trip helped me. When I came back I was impressed to go to church. I went, and the more I went the better I could hear. Then I was impressed to pay my tithing, and was blessed greatly. My hearing is much improved. I think I have had to suffer because I did not go on in the work, for my faith in the work was strong. Four years after this affliction came on me, I began to smoke again, not thinking but I could quit. But this time I asked God to take the desire away to no effect. I suffered on account of the evil habit. I have heard it said it was an evil weed; the Devil sowed the seed, and I believe it. I have quit it over a year and I will give that to help the that is used for that evil, it would help it out, and if the Saints would observe the law and pay their tithing, the work would move along. All we can do is to do our duty, not judging any, but exhorting all to the law and testimony. If they do not do this, it is because there is no light in them.

We see families of children growing up in the church who never pray nor speak in meeting. Now Christ said, "Feed my lambs." I think they ought to be fed at home, and that would give them strength. If parents only teach their children to be baptized, I think they will be weighed and found wanting at the judgment. It is not often that a man will set out trees and then do no more. Children may go to Sunday school, but if the father would read a chapter once a day and pray, and invite them to take part, they would be stronger and more ready to do their part in everything. I hope the time will come that these things will be done. May God help us all to do our part.

Your brother,

F. T. DOBIE.

COLUMBUS JUNCTION, Iowa, March 16.

Editors Herald:—After I had written in regard to some one coming here to hold meetings, a voice told me that there would be no preaching here till after General Conference. A few days after that, I received a letter from Bro. J. S. Roth stating that he did not think he could come till after conference, but thought he could then.

I have been wonderfully blessed of late with beautiful visions. I will give two of them.

One was the temple built of precious stones, clear, almost, as glass. A large, beautifully paved street running through the center of it, and in the temple, near the door to the right, stood a beautiful woman dressed in pure white, and her garments were decorated or dotted all over with sparkling jewels. Then I saw the Savior come down from the upper part of the temple and put a beautiful ring on her finger. Then they went up into the temple together.

Another time I was shown the judgments of God coming upon the wicked, and it seemed to me that the whole face of the earth was in darkness and misery; and as I was looking for some place of safety, I saw a large hand in the southwest, just in the position to cover or protect something, and I looked to see what it was, and I saw a small crowd of people gathering there for protection from the terrible scourges that were covering the earth.

Dear Saints, to me this means something. I have felt of late that I could not claim any protection under that hand, simply because I had done nothing to warrant the protection of such a hand. I have never paid any tithing or helped to keep up any of the expenses that I should have done, simply because I did not possess very much. But now we have covenanted with the Lord to give the tenth of every dollar that we receive which is ours, and the Lord's part shall be taken out first; for, dear Saints, I could not feel at home in Zion unless I had made an effort to help redeem her.

I have several here, investigating, some ready for baptism; or at least they say they are

I am now reading the second volume of Church History, and to say that I am buried soul and mind in the work, is putting it lightly. One unacquainted with the work can form no idea what it contains. Saints, get them, even if you have to do as I do, one volume at a time. We surely would die, spiritually, if it were not for the church papers.

In gospel bonds,

I. M. LANE.

Mothers' Home Column.

EDITED BY FRANCES.

"Not by smooth ways o'er fair and sunny field, Where flowers their fragrance, birds their music yield; Where the rich harvest waves before the wind, And generous bounties please the willing mind; Not always 'mid such scenes of joy as this The path of duty leads to bliss; But desert sands oft spread their wastes around, And thorns and rocks and pitfalls strew the ground."

For the following item, which will be found of interest to all Latter Day Saints, we are indebted to the kindness of Bro. Daniel Cooper, son of Bro. I. N. Cooper, of Lamoni, who was present at the meeting in Council Bluffs, when the "tongue" was given, and has been to considerable trouble to get correct information in regard to the same, and place it at our disposal for the benefit of our readers.—ED.

On the 13th of February, we were edified by another testimony and evidence of the divinity of the great latter-day work, in that the gift of tongues and interpretation was manifest through one, Bro. S. J. Roberts, during a prayer and testimony meeting. The nature of the tongue was of an exhortation to the Saints, while part of it was directed to a Mr. M., who is not a member of any church at present, but is searching for light, and was at our meeting through invitation. It was quite plain that Mr. M. understood at least a part of the tongue before it was interpreted, by the way he seemed to sanction what was said, by an assenting nod of the head, and the expression of the face, while Bro. Roberts was talking.

After the interpretation was given, Mr. M. asked Bro. Roberts where he learned the Indian language.

Bro. Roberts replied that he knew nothing of the Indian language.

Mr. M. then went on to state to the church that he was a half-breed Indian, and that he was familiar with thirteen languages used by thirteen different tribes of the Indians, also that he understood the language used by Bro. Roberts which was that used by a tribe called "Nez Perce," a branch of the Sioux Indians with which he used to be connected, and that Bro. Roberts repeated a prayer used by this tribe in their worship. This Indian tribe used to worship the sun; and it was the custom among them to commence and end a ceremony by repeating their own name.

This prayer given in the tongue, is as it was used by the chief of this tribe. It shows some of their traditions, and what they were looking forward to, and is as follows:—

"I, Yo-lo-oo-ta (the chief). Bringing together the children of Israel, the scattered tribes of Indians. Our heavenly Father, in whose hands lies the destiny of our scattered brethren, and who will in these last days be restored to our former selves, receiving the lost records and parchments of our forefathers, who suffered death at the hands of fanatics and vandals. Yo-lo-oo-ta. Mukwana-go." (Muk-wana-go, is the Indian name of that tribe.)

The chief here speaks of the "children of Israel," referring to the scattered tribes of Indians. Their claiming to be children of Israel is a tradition among them, but why they claim it, Mr. M. cannot tell when asked. It also conveys the fact that in their worship they are and have been looking forward with expectancy to the time when they will be restored to a better condition, once enjoyed by them.

Mr. M. is now fifty years old, and when quite young, after having both legs shot and broken by fighting with the "pale faces," was cured in three days by this Chief Yo-lo-oo-ta whom he knew well and who was a great medicine man.

May the time soon come when "the Lamanite shall blossom as the rose."

WILL YOU BE AT THE COMING CONFERENCE?

The annual conference of the church is near at hand, and everywhere preparations are being made by the Saints to attend. In every home of the Saints at Independence, preparations are actively going on to welcome and entertain the scattered Saints who have few church privileges, as well as those from large branches, where church privileges are many. Are you among the number making ready to attend? If you are, then it is for you these few words are written, and we ask you to read patiently and carefully. At Independence you will have the privilege of making yourself thoroughly acquainted with the work of the Daughters of Zion. There is a large local there, fully organized and actively at work. All the officers of the general association, excepting one, reside there, or very near there, and all are prepared to extend a warm welcome to you, and will be glad to assist you in any way which will advance your interest in their work, or give you a better acquaintance therewith. Great possibilities lie undeveloped in this movement, and this, dear sister, may be the opportunity of your lifetime to interest yourself and friends therein. Their meetings will be announced from the stand, and we would like to have you feel that you have a special invitation to meet with them. Not only this, but if you are a mother, to feel and feel deeply that their cause is your cause; their interest is your interest.

As mothers and wives, ought we not to be actively engaged in the work which is absorbing the best talent, the best years of our fathers' and husbands' lives? While they labor abroad, let us labor at home. While they go out into the world to win souls, let us labor to keep the altar fires of home burning and its sanctuaries pure and free from the evil that is in the world. There is help in union and strength untold. We need your help and influence. We have not the means to travel and reach the many branches, where we have been assured a warm welcome and hearty cooperation would be extended to us. It may be you are coming from some one of these. If not from one of these, then from some other, where the sisters would gladly aid the work, if the opportunity was presented. Won't you take this opportunity to them? This work is the cornerstone, the foundation of all others. Before Jesus entered upon his public ministry, thirty years of his life was given to his home. There he grew up learning like other boys the lessons which would go with him all the years of his after life. We often think with what care his Father must have selected that home. since there beneath its humble roof impressions were to be made lasting as eternity itself.

The present conference will be no exception to the general rule. It will be one of absorbing interest, and your minds will be fully taken up with the various questions to be discussed. But let us ask of you that you do not forget this question of home interest; but meet with the mothers, and by manifesting your sympathy, encourage them to press on until together we shall rejoice in the redemption of Zion. We ask you to read and ponder carefully the following selection:—

POSSIBILITY AND RECOGNITION.

"Great possibilities," says Dr. H. H. Seerly, "and grand privileges are not uncommon, they are indeed very frequent and general-the rule rather than the exception. Possibility and privilege is one thing, recognition of them through gaining real success and true greatness and creditable distinction is quite another thing. Many a one who thinks he has never had a chance, has had a multitude of chances, but did not recognize them and take possession. If all who hear my words would use rightly their talents, would develop possibility, would accept the promises and obey the injunctions, the roll call of the eternities would show a long list of the great, the worthy, the distinguished, and the successful in this company. Great are the chances, the openings, and the opportunities-such are the universal laws of life, but only the fully worthy, the genuinely noble, the truly holy, the rich in godliness are able to triumph gloriously and possess the things that last forever. God uses men, but those alone who are in harmony with the conditions, who are willing to put themselves into the proper attitude of usefulness, who are able to be sincere in fidelity, and thus carry out the laws of God in the gaining of things of value, eternity, and indestructibility. 'Many are called but few are chosen,' not because many are not desired, nor necessary to the great work of the world, but because the few alone are ready and respond to the call. Heed the call, be ready for the service, prepare for great things, is the proclamation of the King of kings, the Maker of destiny—the Rewarder of the upright in heart."

IF Sister Alice could only have lifted the curtain and looked into our heart when we finished reading her letter, she would not then have been able to say,-"I do not know if it will do you any good to know how I appreciate the Home Column," for she would have known that our heart was filled with gratitude to God that our labors in this particular field had not been entirely in vain. It compensated for much which has been disheartening and discouraging in the past. and we thought it no small thing to have been the means of arousing, even in one heart, the spirit of true motherhood. And we felt like returning to our work with a firm determination that through encouragement as well as discouragement, with God's help we would ever be found at the post of duty-ever striving whether in sunshine or in shade, in calm or in storm, to do the duty nearest to our hand to do and leave the result with God.

PRAYER UNION.

SPECIAL REQUESTS FOR PRAYER.

Sister Alice Strickland, of Geneva, Nebraska, asks the faith and prayers of the Prayer Union in her behalf, that God who knows her sore need of grace and strength, will remember her in mercy.

Sr. Martha Proctor, of Dallas, Oregon, requests the faith and prayers of the Sisters' Prayer Union in behalf of Sr. Jewell, also of herself, that it may please God to restore them to health if consistent with his righteous will.

Sr. G. L. Sweet, of Persia, Iowa, asks the prayers of the Prayer Union in behalf of her aged mother who has been for months sorely afflicted; that if it please God she may be healed, and if not, that she may have grace to bear her sufferings with patience and resignation.

Sunday School Department.

ELDER T. A. HOUGAS, EDITOR.

Henderson, Mills Co., Iowa.

(Send communications for this department to the Editor Address minutes and notices of conventions, etc., to "Editors Herald, Lamoni, Iowa.")

BEST CURE FOR TARDINESS.

Tardiness is defined by Webster as being "slowness of motion, late, dilatory." Tardiness when inexcusable and oft repeated is a habit, and habit is a disease. So we may call it a disease, because in the topic assigned us you ask for a cure. It is

A TROUBLESOME, ANNOYING, DISEASE to the teacher, and is a lack of vitality in the patient, for we speak of its presence in the scholar. It has been perplexing to us, and no doubt to the rest of you, to know how to cure it. The disease is with the person habitually tardy—a chronic complaint, sometimes inherited, often acquired. A constitutional treatment is necessary. It is a close kin of laziness, unless based upon causes of ill health, or other unavoidable hindrances.

THE SAME REMEDY

may not cure all cases, as "what is one man's meat, is another's poison." So we must not confine ourselves to one idea as suited to needs of all.

To cure, find the cause, remove it, and your patient will speedily recover. First use KIND TREATMENT.

Go to the home, solicit the cooperation of the parents, for we believe a lack of interest on their part in urging promptness and assisting them to get ready is the most abundant cause of tardiness. Then cultivate in the child; not a pride of dress, rivalry, and worldly emoluments, but a pride to succeed, to excel in every honorable way in virtue and advancement.

A SPIRIT OF PRIDE

HAVE PRIVATE TALKS

with your patient; give your class talks on the bee and drone in their work and lack of it; the pace of the hare and snail. Use illustrations of the homely yet trite saying, "The early bird catches the worm." Thirty seconds too late is as bad as thirty minutes, in reaching a train. "Time waits for no man." The ten virgins, and that the five indigent, tardy ones had no oil in their lamps. Use examples of how push, promptness, energy, will bring success. Show how men of actions have fought life's battles and won. Ask your tardy pupil for AN EXCUSE FOR BEING LATE, and knowing they will be called to account, they will desire to escape the questioning. A giving of credit, a roll of honor, are simple and

EFFECTIVE STIMULANTS.

Pray with the child, if necessary, and encourage him by showing a deep love for him and that you are grieved when he is unnecessarily late, and I think if your case is a curable one it will respond to this treatment.

Briefly summarizing, we will say a coöperation of parent and teacher and the cultivation of a just pride for success, and to excel because of a hope for true reward, is the cure we need.

A. M. FYRANDO.

For the Little Sioux, Iowa, district convention.

A TWILIGHT DREAM.

"Auntie, will you help me?" and the bright eyes of the speaker eagerly sought the face so kindly bent above her. A perfect day in June was whispering a soft goodnight, and the twilight shadows, as they lengthened across the purple hills, seemed to cast some of their glow upon the bright face of our sweet Marion.

Aunt Mary's hand gently caressed the soft brown hair as she answered, "Certainly I will help you if I can, dear. Is it about your new duties in the Sunday school?"

"Yes, Auntie; you know Alice gave up class No. 3, and the superintendent asked me to take it. I never taught, and I feel helpless. I regard it as a sacred obligation, and do so want to be a real helper to my pupils."

"Well," said Auntie, "I see my Marion has the prime essential of a successful teacher, a sincere desire to succeed. Now one word of caution: You are considered a very good Bible student, and I shall be sorry to miss you from my class; but, my dear child, never, in your work, depend alone upon your own strength. In earnest prayer to Christ for help, and an honest endeavor on your part, you will, I am sure, work wonders on your class. Never dare to go before your class without asking God's blessing upon your efforts. Now, another thing; you must love the children. No pretense will suffice, for these little ones are not to be deceived. I never have seen a successful teacher of the Christ-love who had not some of that divine affection in her heart for those whom she taught."

"But, Auntie, how can I induce them to study their lesson?"

"Well, first you must make them see the importance of so doing. Your pupils are in the Intermediate grade and all can read. Insist upon their bringing their Bibles, and require them to use them in the class. Strive to awaken within them a real interest in the lessons. One great help is the use of the class book, which gives each pupil a showing of ten credits for each perfect lesson; give them their markings at the end of each quarter. You will find them very eager for good marks, and if you succeed in making them understand that you are interested in them, they will be as eager for their teacher's approving smile. It is a good plan to ask, before beginning the lesson, how many have studied it, and to get their reasons for neglect, if neglect there be. Never be severe or harsh with the children, you may frighten them away; but do let them see that you appreciate their efforts to please you. In your teaching, always keep before the minds of your pupils the spirit of your lesson, asking yourself, How much of the gospel am I teaching? otherwise you lose sight of the object of your work. Remember these things, and come before your class thoroughly prepared upon the lesson, and with God's help my Marion will be a blessing to class No. 3."

"Thank you, Auntie, you've made the clouds show their silver lining, and I believe I shall succeed."

As they talked, the twilight deepened into darkness, and now the silver orb of night casts her magic light o'er Marion's sweet face, from which the shadows are all passed away, leaving a peaceful, almost lovely, expression on one who is seeking to serve her Christ.

BESSY LAUGHLIN.

In S. S. Newspaper, Des Moines district.

GALLAND'S GROVE.

District Sunday school convention met at Deloit, Iowa, February 15. Superintendent R. Wight presided, assisted by William Mc-Kim. Dora Young secretary pro tem, of forenoon session and A. H. Rudd of the afternoon and evening sessions. The following schools reported: Dow City, Salem, Harland, Pilot Rock, Auburn, Deloit, Galland's Grove, and Benan. No reports from Coalville, Defiance, and Mallard. Superintendent R. Wight reported having visited three schools, and said reports from other quarters indicate an increase in interest and attendance. Assistant superintendent William Mc-Kim reported having visited four schools, and said that indications are that there is improvement all along the line. The treasurer reported a balance of $13.10 on hand. The librarian reported an increase of two libraries since last report, making a total of The following local superintendents reported: John Jordison, J. L. Butterworth, Etta Byerly, and D. A. Holcombe. District officers elected: J. L. Butterworth, superintendent; William McKim, assistant; Mary Schafer, secretary; Lora Duckett, treasurer. Etta Hunt, librarian; and James Pearsall, chorister. Delegates to General Convention. A. H. Rudd, May Rudd, R. Wight, C. E. Butterworth, Benan Salisbury, Dora Young, C. J. Hunt, J. M. Stubbart, J. L. Butterworth, David Miller, Jane Miller, D. M. Rudd, Nellie Rudd, and Emma Jones. The subject, "Teachers' meetings," was quite Delegates to General Convention: chorister. subject, "Teachers' meetings," was quite thoroughly and profitably discussed. Short interesting papers were read on the following subjects: "Is Home Class Work Practiing subjects: "Is Home Class Work Practi-cal?" "Shall Children's Day be Observed?" "Should the Memorizing of Scripture be Encouraged? Why?" In the evening papers and discussions were had on "Musical Training" and on the "Visiting Committee." The Sunday school newspaper was quite a new feature, it being the second issue for this district. Adjourned to meet at place of next district conference, and the day previous, at 10:30 a.m.

KIRTLAND.

The above district Sunday school association met in convention at Cleveland, Ohio, February 25. General superintendent, T. A. Hougas, being present, was by unanimous vote placed in the chair; associated with him were district superintendent Richard Baldwin and assistant superintendent Charles Cramer. A motion that delegate voting be suspended under present circumstances carried. Sr. Hattie Griffiths was chosen chorister; Emma Warnock organist; John Gillespie and John B. Gillespie ushers. The following officially reported: Sharon, Akron, and Cleveland. two being held for correction. Kirtland. The last The following officers reported verbally: Richard Baldwin, district superintendent; Charles Cramer, assistant superintendent; Dora E. McFarland, secretary. Superintendents of schools reporting: Hattie R. Griffiths, Kirtland, Ohio; John W. Baldwin, Sharon, Pennsylvania; Charles Dalberg, Akron, Ohio; Minnie Ebeling, Conneautville, Pennsylvania; Charles Charles Plate Mills Ohio. sylvania; Charles Cramer, Blake Mills, Ohio; F. J. Ebeling, chairman of program committee, wished to have it explained that the reason for the program not being published sooner was due to the fact of its being lost in the mail on the way to Bro. Hougas, a copy having been sent to him for correction before being sent to the publishers; hence the de-A motion to send circular letters to the schools in the district not belonging to the district association, urging them to unite with the association and showing the benefits derived therefrom. Carried. appoint committee to draft said letters. Hattie R. Griffiths, F. J. Ebeling, and Richard Baldwin were chosen. The election of officers resulted as follows: Richard Bald-win reflected superintendent; Hattie R. Grif-Richard Baldfiths elected assistant, Dora E. McFarland continued as secretary; Charles elected treasurer; Thomas Russell librarian. By request Superintendent Hougas gave an outline of the duties of secretary and treasurer. Delegates to General Convention: Richard Baldwin, F. J. Ebeling, Hattie R. Griffiths, G. T. Griffiths. A motion made to authorize the chairman of the delegation to appoint any A motion made to authorize member of the district association attending convention as a delegate and issuing credentials to them carried. Program commit-tee chosen: Richard Baldwin, Hattie R. Griffiths, Belle McMillen, Minnie Ebeling, and Roscoe Ollum. A motion that when we adjourn we do so to meet in Kirtland, Ohio, the Monday following district conference. Carried. Short talks were given by F. J. Ebeling, George Powell, Hattie R. Griffiths, Belle McMillen, T. A. Hougas. Devotional exercises, followed by a twenty minutes blackboard work showing the duties of district officers by General Superintendent Hougas. Primary class review by Sr. Emma Lutz. Senior class review by Minnie Ebeling. Hymn number 6 was sung, after which the following papers were read: "A mother's duty to the Sunday school," Hattie R. Griffiths. "What makes a successful Sunday school," Belle McMillen. "How to obtain and maintain the interest of my school, Charles Cramer. "The teacher," T. H Charles Cramer. "The teacher, 1. Darst. "Primary teaching," Dora E. McFarland. At the conclusion of these Bro. Hougas gave a thirty minute blackboard exercise, subject—"What is teaching." In the evening a literary program was rendered. Opening address by G. T. Griffiths. Recitations by Lizzle Crawford, Belle Mc-Millen, Vera Dalberg, Pearl Kimball. Song by Cleveland quartet. Solos by Emma Warnock and Charles Cramer. All being of a very high order. At the conclusion of program Superintendent Hougas gave an interesting blackboard work, the subject being, "Object Lessons." A vote of thanks was rendered to Cleveland Saints for their hospitality and also to Bro. Hougas for his presence and efficient work. Remarks by Bro. Hougas. Adjourned to meet as previously agreed.

NEW YORK.

New York district Sunday school association convened at No. 199 Saratoga avenue, Brooklyn, New York, February 22. Called to order by Elder Albert E. Stone; prayer by Elder W. H. Kelley. The superintendent presided over the convention, with Elder Joseph Squire associate. Sr. Estella Stone secretary. Minutes of last session were read, and the statistical reports referred to a committee. All present were allowed to participate in the convention. The nominations were as follows: Bro. Eohraim Squire superintendent, assisted by Bro. J. C. Mottashed, Sen., Sr. Marie L. Squire secretary and treasurer of district. The association introduced a teachers' institute in New York district for the purpose of adopting the best methods of teaching. Delegates to General onvention: Brn. W. H. Kelley and U. W. Greene; they were authorized to assist [enlist] others that might attend the convention. Adjourned to meet six months hence, time and place being left to the superintend ent.

INDEPENDENCE.

Sunday school association of Independence district met in its thirty-first convention at Independence, Missouri, March 8. Miss Eva M. Bailey presiding; Mrs. Abbie A. Horton secretary; R. Winn, Jr., assistant; Mrs. Flo McNichols organist. Schools reporting: Mt. Zion, Armstrong, First and Second Kansas City, Holden, Lee's Summit, Chelsea Park, and N. E. Mission. According to report of secretary of association to district conference: total enrollment 873, total average attendance 593, one school gained last year, number books in libraries 706, Quarterlies 775. Officers and school superintendents reporting: Eva M. Bailey superintendent, bill of $3.10 for expenditures being allowed; Abbie A. Horton, secretary, with statement, $2.15, ordered paid; Mrs. B. C. Smith, librarian; Elias Dawe, E. Etzenhouser, of First Kansas City school, also of Missionary Sunday school; C. F. Scarcliff, and Mrs. Ida Stewart. Fred Koehler, district treasurer, reported receipts $24.18, expenditures $8.19, balance on hand $15.99. Referred to an auditing committee and found correct. Motion carried that the money received from the treasurer of Independence Mission Sunday school reunion be paid over to the treasurer of the Sunday school district. Resolution passed "to set aside, if necessary, $20 for the traveling expenses of the superintendent and her assistant in the work of visiting the different schools of the district the next six months. Literary exchange committee reported for expenditures and pur chase of volumes 1 and 2 Church History for public library here $3.97. Receipts $4.03. On hand six cents. On motion, $4 was appropriated for purchase of volume 3 Church History and distribution of church papers, etc., for ensuing term. etc., for ensuing term. Also reported over 10,000 church papers, beside books, tracts, etc., sent out since first appointment of a committee in September, 1892. Present committee, Mrs. Horton, Mrs. Gerber, Miss Kinmittee, Mrs. Horton, Mrs. Gerber, Miss Kinney. Officers of association elected for ensuing year: By ballot, Miss Eva M. Bailey superintendent, and Eli Etzenhouser assistant; Mrs. Abbie A. Horton sustained as secretary, Fred Koehler as treasurer, and Sr. Lucina Etzenhouser was elected librarian. Two sessions were held, one in afternoon for business, and one in evening for entertainment, at which Sisters Eunice Winn and Eva Bailey read papers on primary work and Independence district Sunday school work, respectively. Amendments as per HERALD of January 2, 1901, were referred to committee of five and reported at close of session. Sr. Mary McIntosh and Bro. W. N. Robinson gave talks, the former on library work, the latter on "How to cast an influence on the world through the Sunday school." The brother took for the basis of his remarks the words "Thou shalt love the Lord with all thy mind and with all thy heart and with all thy strength." He spoke of the necessity for high mental and spiritual attainment and closed by saying "here we are to make a start for the enjoyment of eternal life, and if we are consecrated to this work, there is a mission field for all." O. L. James was in charge of the music, and was ably supported by the convention and by the choir in songs, anthems, duet, and solo. It was moved and sustained that "at our next convention the Sunday schools give the literary feature of the regular Friday evening meeting to the Religio Society." Prayer was offered by Religio Society." Prayer was offered by Elder I. N. White. Adjourned to meet at ten o'clock on the Friday before district conference, and at the same place, which will be September 20, at Holden.

NORTHEASTERN KANSAS.

District Sunday school association convened at Netawaka, March I. District officers reporting: Superintendent, H. Thomas; assistant, F. J. Pierce; clerk, J. W. Burns. Almira Miller, treasurer, reported. Schools reporting: Atchison, Scranton, and Fanning. The ministry were granted the privilege to participate in the business sessions. District officers elected: Superintendent, H. Thomas; assistant, F. J. Pierce; clerk, J. W. Burns; treasurer, Almira Miller. Delegates to General Convention: H. Thomas, F. J. Pierce, J. W. Burns, Almira Miller, Lillie Munns, John Cairns, Samuel Twombly, Henry Green, Jessie Baillie, and M. T. Short. Those present to cast full vote. The superintendent was instructed to call the next convention. Short talks: "What new things have you tried in your school and proved helpful." Paper: "Why should we work in Sunday school?" by Sr. Miller. Moved that the paper be sent to the editor of the school department for publication. Quartette by Netawaka school. Talks on "Three ways in which the assistant can aid the superintendent," by Samuel Twombly. "The blackboard, its general use," J. W. Burns. The superintendent was instructed to appoint a committee of four to make a program for the next convention. He appointed A. L. Gurwell, Samuel Twombly, Srs. Miller and Munns.

Conference Minutes.

NORTHEASTERN KANSAS.

Conference convened at Netawaka, March 2. I. N. White and M. T. Short chosen to preside; J. W. Burns and F. J. Pierce clerks. Short talks by A. H. Parsons, H. Green, James Baillie, N. S. Dunnington, Sr. Miller, and I. N. White. Branches reporting: Topeka, Netawaka, Atchison, Scranton, Centralia, and Fanning. The clerk was intralia, and Fanning. The clerk was instructed to return the Fanning and Centralia reports for correction. Reports of ministry: Seventies, M. T. Short; High Priests, A. H. W. Burns. John Cairns, Bishop's agent, reported: Balance last report $25 69; received to date $464 81; total $490 50; total expended $308; balance on hand_$182.50. F. J. Pierce, treasurer, reported: Last report $14 06; expended $1 90; balance $12 90. The committee on location of the reunion reported Atchison as a favorable place, and report accepted. The missionary in charge, James Baillie, S. Twombly, and R. Warnock, were chosen a committee of arrangements for the reunion. The following preamble and reso-lution were adopted: Whereas, the Lord has from time to time commanded us to come the commanded as to the commanded as to the up higher, and has said in Doctrine and Covenants, 85:8,—"And again, verily I say unto you, That which is governed by law, is also preserved by law," and as we have adopted no rules to govern our business sessions, that peace may be preserved; therefore be it resolved, that we adopt the Book of Rules as printed by this church as a standard to govern our business sessions. Atchison was chosen as the place of our next conference before the reunion. The tent was put in the hands of the missionary in charge. in the hands of the missionary in charge. Delegates to General Conference: F. J. Pierce, M. T. Short, A. H. Parsons, H. Green, James Baillie, H. Thomas, W. Menzies, R. Warnock, S. Twombly, W. Parker, J. W. Burns, Sr. Boston, and John Cairns. The case of Greffett George was referred to the Netawaka branch. District officers elected: S. Twombly, president; J. W. Burns, clerk; F. J. Pierce, treasurer. The cases of Presnell and Hambleton were referred to the district president. The Sunday school was granted the hour from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m., on Sunday morning. A vote of thanks was tendered the Saints of Netawaka. The clerk was authorized to draw from the treasury for expenses. Preaching by I. N. White and M. T. Short.

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA.

District conference convened at San Jose, California, March 1 to 3. An informal meeting was held at eleven o'clock. The regular business of conference taken up at two. Bro. R. Etzenhouser in the chair; Bro. J. F. Burton, assistant; J. B. Carmichael and F. H. Lawn secretaries. Reports of ministry: Elders R. Etzenhouser baptized 2, J. F. Burton, baptized 1, J. B. Carmichael baptized 1, E. Keeler baptized 7, Joseph Flory, C. W. Hawkins; Priests F. H. Lawn, C. W. Deuel baptized 1, J. Swensen, E. P. Schmidt. A motion prevailed requesting those of the ministry laboring with the tent, to report to district conference finances received and expended. Delegates to General Conference: G. H. Hilliard, J. F. Burton, R. Etzenhouser, and E. A. Blakeslee. Reports of branches: San Jose 79, Santa Cruz 65, and Jefferson 22. Bishop's agent, Bro. A. Page, reported: Due church last report $69.49: received $492.84; total $552.33; cash paid out $480; balance due church March 1, $72 33. Brn. J. F. Burton, R. Etzenhouser, G. H. Hilliard and E. A Blakeslee of the missionary force were present all during conference. Brn. Hilliard and Blakeslee addressed the Saints grandly on the tithing question and other matters. Bro. J. F. Burton also gave a grand sermon. The following motion prevailed: That this conference request the General Conference to return Bro. G. T. Griffiths to Pacific Slope mission, and Brn. R. Etzenhouser, E. Keeler, and E. P. Schmidt to the Central California district. District officers: J. M. Putney, president; assistant president to be chosen by president; secretary, Mrs. Mary E. Lawn. Sacrament meeting on Sunday afternoon. Adjourned to meet at Monterey in October.

WESTERN WALES.

Conference of above district was held at the town hall, Porth, on Saturday and Sunday, February 23 and 24. Elders reporting: D. Lewis, D. Thomas, A. N. Bishop, and D. Thomas. It was resolved that a preaching band be formed, under the supervision of the district president. Bro. D. Collen was chosen as district secretary. It was resolved that we recommend Bishop E. L. Kelley to release D. Williams as Bishop's agent. Moved that brethren L. Bishop and D. Morris audit his book, and balance his account. Eider L. Bishop chosen as district president. On Sunday morning the follow-ing elders spoke, L. Bishop, J. G. Jenkins, J. O. Evans, D. Lewis, and Priests W. Cox, and E. Davies. Thus closed a pleasant meeting in the morning. In the afternoon a prayer and testimony meeting was held; twelve bore testimony to the restored gospel, eleven implored God's blessing on behalf of his work. The gifts were in our midst to cheer and comfort. Thus closed a splendid spiritual meeting. In the evening preaching by Elder D. Lewis in Welsh, who enjoyed great liberty. Priest W. Cox also occupied in Welsh. Good sermons, edifying, and comforting. A vote of condolence was passed to missionary A. N. Bishop, as he has been sick for a time now and the prayers of the Saints are for his speedy recovery. The spiritual authorities of the church were sustained by our faith of the church were sustained by our faith and prayers. Thus closed a spiritual conference-the best one held for some time.

NEW YORK.

The semiannual conference of New York district, held at Brooklyn, New York, February 23 and 24. Elder W. H. Kelley elected to preside, S. Guilfoy secretary. Addresses from Elders W. H. Kelley, U. W. Greene, and Joseph Squire, Sen., on the gathering, etc. Business session opened at six p. m. Statistical reports: Brooklyn 126; baptized 1. Broad River 26; no change. Ministerial reports: Elders Joseph Squire, A. E. Stone, George Potts, U. W. Greene, Thomas H. Truman, and W. T. Rushton; Priests James Cocks, William Hobson, and Samuel Guilfoy. Elders William Hobson, and Samuel Guilfoy. Elders William Hobson, and Samuel Guilfoy. and approved of purchasing tent for district work. Financial report: On hand last conference $10.66; half of last conference collections $5.35; special collection $3; expenditures $18.35; balance on hand 66 cents. Conference voted to procure tent for missionary work, and Brn. U. W. Greene, Joseph Squire, Sen., and A. E. Stone were appointed to procure means and purchase the same. Bishop's agent's report: On hand last conference $89.40; received since $42.28; total $131.68; paid out $105; on hand $26.68. District officers sustained: Elder Joseph Squire president, A. E. Stone, associate, Samuel Guilfoy secretary. Elder U. W. Greene, the missionary to the district, was sustained, and General Conference petitioned that Bro. Greene be returned to the New York district. Bro. Thomas Lester was sustained as Bishop's agent. Delegates to General Conference: W. H. Kelley, U. W. Greene, and Joseph Squire. Motion unanimously carried by the conference, that General Conference be requested to return Elder W. H. Kelley as president of Eastern mission. The general authorities of the church were unani-mously sustained. Morning preaching service in charge of Elders W. H. Kelley and U. W. Greene. Bro. Kelley read the 17th of John and preached from same, but through sickness had to give way. Bro. Greene then continued from same lesson. Sacrament and prayer service in the afternoon, in charge of Elders Squire and Stone. Evening preaching service in charge of Bro. A. E. Stone, Bro. Greene being the speaker. Adjourned to Greene being the speaker. Adjourned to meet six months hence, in Brooklyn, at call of district president.

Miscellaneous Department.

MEMORIAL FUND TO JOSEPH AND HYRUM SMITH, THE MARTYRS.

Previously reported	.$67	57
O. Owen, England	•	25
Kingsley, Michigan, Sunday school	. 2	00
M. E. Limpus, Nebraska		50
George Herbert, Illinois	. 1	00
Mary Hawley, Iowa	. 1	00
Arthur Adams, Minnesota	. 1	00
Lloyd Marteeny, Nebraska	. 1	00
A. H. Mehrkins, California	•	30
Ezra Pettit, Utah		50
Sr. E. Pettit, Utah	4	25
Ann Johnson, Iowa		50
Sarah Galland, Iowa		10
D. F. Coombs, Massachusetts		00
J. P. Larsen, Nebraska	. 2	25
List C. S. Shippy, Iowa, as follow	/8:
C. S. Shippy		25
J. R. Sutton and wife		25
John Hodges		05
Arminda Adams		25
Milton Dewald		25
John MacRae		25
Lylie Dewald		10
Ethelyn Shippy		10
Melissa Clark		25
Laura Clark		25
LeRoy Shippy		25
Total to date	000	47
Total to date	• DOO	46

In list of receipts published in issue of February 20, Hans Lorensen and family were credited with 50 cents. It should have been $1.00. A. D. Penrod was credited with $1.00. It A. D. Penrod was creum.
should have been 50 cents.
E. L. Kelley,
Presiding Bishop.

APPOINTMENT OF BISHOP'S AGENT.

DISTRICT OF VICTORIA, AUSTRALIA.

To the Saints of Victoria:-By the removal of Bro. David Craig from the Victoria district, it became necessary for him to resign the position of agent, and I have his recommendation, also that of Bro. C. A. Butterworth, missionary in charge, and resolution of the Victoria conference asking the appointment of Bro. Max F. W. Kippie, of Hastings, Western Port, Victoria, for Bishop's agent of the district.

I take pleasure in making the appointment, and trust the Lord will abundantly bless and fit Bro. Kippie for the proper discharge of every duty under agency.

The Bishopric are very grateful to Bro. David Craig for the efficient service rendered by him as agent in the district, and extend to him most cordial thanks. We also trust that the Lord may bless each member of the household of faith in the district to perform his or her full duty under the law, in temporal and spiritual things; and finally give great rejoicing to the Saints of Australia by a great awakening of the people in the interest of the truth.

Ever hopeful of the coming and holy reign of our blessed Lord, I am, in behalf of the Bishopric, Your coworker in board, E. L. Kelley, Presiding Bishop.

DIED.

JENSEN.-Died, as the result of a collision JENSEN.—Died, as the result of a collision on the B. & M. railroad, during a heavy snow storm, March 19, 1901, Bro. Frederick Wester Jensen. The deceased was born at Nebraska City, November 5, 1875, and has lived here all his life, respected by all who knew him, a credit to the church, to his mother, to himself. He was baptized August 5, 1885. It was a sad blow to his mother, and to his wife, to whom he had been married less than five months. Funeral the 24th, from the Saints' church. Sermon by Mark H. Forscutt.

POWELL. — At Hemple, Missouri, Ann Powell, wife of David J. Powell, March 2, 1901. She was born August 15, 1832, in Liandorre, Wales; united with the church in 1849. Married to D. J. Powell in 1850, and came to America the same year. United with the Reorganization in 1866, and lived a consistent life to the last. She was the mother of thirteen children, and leaves a husband and eight children. She was buried at the Freeman chapel. Services were conducted by Elder William Lewis; sermon by Elder T. T. Hinderks to a large concourse of relatives, Saints, and neighbors.

COLLINS - George W. Collins, born in Vinton county, Ohio, February 22, 1842; died at Union Furnace, Hocking county, Ohio, February 11, 1901. He was baptized September 10, 1899, and was a consistent Saint; having the love of his fellow members and the respect of all his neighbors. Funeral sermon by Elder G. T. Griffiths. "Blessed are the by Elder G. T. Griffiths. dead that die in the Lord."

KIRKENDALL—Rachel A. Kirkendall was born in West Virginia, March 29, 1826; died at Creola, Ohio, February 18, 1901. She left a bright testimony of her acceptance with God. She was the oldest member of the church in Creola branch, having been baptized by Elder L R. Devore in August, 1881. Funeral services in charge of Elder S. J. Jeffers.

JONES -Bro. Evan J. Jones had worked as brakeman on switcher for eight years, at What Cheer, Iowa, slipped and fell under car and was killed instantly, March 14, 1901. He was born March 12, 1855, at Blackwood, Monmouthshire, South Wales; baptized March 19, 1887; married Sr. Martha Ann Thomas, December 25, 1880, at Macon, Missouri. This union was blessed with six daughters; five survive. Funeral took place the 17th. E der Evan B. Morgan preached the funeral sermon in the Methodist church to a large and attentive congregation from 1 Samuel 20:3. Interred in the What Cheer

THE UNCERTAINTIES OF NITRO-GLYCERINE.

Long experience commonly makes the oil well shooter unconsciously, if not avowedly, a fatalist. Nitro-glycerine would make a fatalist of any man. It is a substance that is likely to do almost anything except what is predicted of it. A ten-quart can of it had been dropped off the roof of a house with no disastrous consequences, while it is on record that a man, in passing a can that had been emptied and that was lying beside a forest path, struck it with his walking-stick and was promptly blown into a neighboring tree-Instances are numerous where men have "thawed out" the erratic fluid by standing the cans on top of a hot stove and have continued to eat three meals a day, and yet the dropping of a piece of hot iron into a tub of water in which such cans had been standing wrecked a building and the adjoining derrick. Instances such as these could be multiplied from the annals of the oil country and serve to show how unreliable nitroglycerine is. As one shooter expressed it:—

"If only a man sticks to this business long enough, he is pretty certain sooner or later to be spread all over the next county."— George E. Mayo, in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for April.

In variety and value of contents McClure's Magazine for April will be a notable number. Timeliness, literary worth, historical researches, analysis of character, studies in natural history, and life next to the soil, in the metropolis, in the Orient, all these and more will distinguish the forthcoming issue, and it will be adorned throughout with illustrations contributed by the best artists and reprodued with the extreme of skill in art-

An article entitled, "The search after Novelty in Literature," by Mr. Albert Schinz, instructor of French Literature in Bryn Mawr College, in the current number of The Forum, treats of the literature of the ages and the literature of today. Mr. Schinz shows that the literature of the present day is largely founded on ideas centuries old, and that merely the introduction of a novelty in any literary work is sufficient to attract the general reader.

Know that strength is yours in proportion to your progress, enough for each day, be it mental, physical, or spiritual. Realize that there is a reward for every labor, rest after every task, and rise for every faculty developed. Your reward may not be what you expect; probably it will be much better. The power which comes from trying is more than worth the effort. -Adelaide Keen, in the April Ladies' Home Joannal.

After all we must come back to the old truism: that men and women are like water; they always find their true level. And where you live happiest, that is your level. polluted water, and there's clear water. But one law is inexorable: the closer you get to Nature, the truest and simplest thing there is because it is closest to God, the clearer always will you find the water. - April Ladies' Home Journal.

MONEY NOT THE ONLY THING.

Money is not the only thing that is worth saving in this world, nor is it the best thing. If both men and women would only realize this before it is too late. But the knowledge is always tardy in its arrival; they have gained the one thing at the expense of another quite as valuable, and with the price which they have paid they have lost the capacity of enjoying what they have gained. A little stopping once in a while to think and to take account of one's mental, physical, and nerve stock will very soon set things to rights, especially if the women will be sensi-ble, think in the right direction, and be governed by those thoughts when they have fully formulated them; and, above all, if they will dare to be independent of the opinions of other women, who, like themselves, are held down by tradition, and do the right and sensible way, even if it is diametrically opposed to "the old way." Why do we live if not to learn?—Sallie Joy White, in the April Woman's Home Companion.

THE APRIL "ARENA."

The opening article of The Arena for April will prove startling to conservative patriots who pin their faith to the Declaration of American Independence. It is from the pen of one of the professors of Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa—Leon C. Prince, LL. B., who asserts that both the Constitution and the

The Saints' Herald.

(Established 1860.)

Published Every Wednesday, at Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Subscription price, $1,50 per year.
Address communications for publication to
"Editors Herald."

Marriage, birth, and death notices: Marriages, $1.00 per 100 words or fraction thereof. Births, 50 cents per 75 words or fraction thereof. Deaths, 100 words free, above that number 50 cents per 100 words or fraction thereof. To insure prompt insertion, make remittance with notice.

For advertising rates apply to business mana-

All errors in the filling of orders or rendering of accounts should be reported immediately, as receipts for all money received are sent within two ceipts for all money received are sent within two days after reaching the office.

Send all business letters and make all remittances payable to Herald Publishing House, Lock Box E., Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Entered at post office, Lamoni, Iowa, as secondelass mail matter.

Subscriptions received for Zion's Engine also

Subscriptions received for Zion's Ensign, also orders for all kinds of Ensign Publications.

Declaration are obsolete instruments. paper will encourage the defenders of Imperialism, while old-fashioned democrats will find in it cause for dismay. Dr. R. Osgood Mason, a member of the Society for Psychical Research, discusses Professor Fiske's remarkable new book, "Through Nature to God," in its relation to the New Thought, and shows that the fundamentals of a scientific religion are already clearly defined in the minds of advanced thinkers.

COLLEGES AND CULTURE.

The easier and better way of retaining, restoring, and greatly broadening the culture-studies of a college course is to recognize the culture-value of our own language and literature. A broader and saner and more "humane" and thorough and loving study of the literature of our own race is the obvious way out of the dilemma. And it is more than an escape from a dilemma. It is a better means of broadening and deepening our culture than we have ever utilized or tried. We are approaching it gradually. We had one generation or more of rhetoricians and dilettanti as teachers of English the slip-shod easy old tomfoolery of general "English Literature" courses. We now have a generation of accurate and narrow English philologians and text-tinkers. Presently we shall have, let us hope, a generation of broad and mellow scholars who know their subject technically of course, but who likewise know it "humanely." There is a new culture and an adequate one in this direction. Surely we have been slow in coming into our inheritance.—World's Work.

The National League of Improvement Associations, with headquarters at Springfield, Ohio, is seeking to secure the organization of a local affiliated society in every city and town in the country.

The object of the League is to bring into communication for acquaintance and mutual helpfulness all bodies interested in the promotion of outdoor art and public beauty, town, village, and neighborhood improvement. It is said that there are already in existence more than a thousand local improvement associations in various parts of the country, with an aggregate membership of fully one hundred thousand. A pamphlet just issued by the National League gives some notable examples of the splendid work these societies have accomplished. Copies of the same, with further information in regard to the movement, may be procured by addressing the Corresponding Secretary, D. J. Thomas, rooms 8 and 10, Citizens' National Bank Building, Springfield, Ohio.

WRITER AND PUBLISHER.

THE CHANCE FOR THE UNKNOWN AUTHOR.

For everyone who reads, and especially for everyone who writes, an article in the current World's Work, called "The Unknown Author and the Publisher," will have great interest. It is signed by A Publisher's Reader, and is an appeal from the popularly supposed decision that it takes a great name or influence to get one's writing into print. The frank truths about the inside of the publishing house are told,—the fact that the publisher wants the good new writer more than the new writer wants a publisher.

"Remember an axiom," he says. "If you submit a manuscript, it will be read; if it is good enough, it will be published,—published whether your name be Rudyard Kipling or Sarah Brown."

A few bits of advice, coming from the experience of the reader of many manuscripts, follow, and the writer ends with this stirring encouragement:-

"That is the word to end upon, sincerity, sincerity, and again and again, sincerity. If the unpublished is sincere, if he takes his profession seriously, if honestly he tries to present life as he sees it (not as the public have pretended to like to see it), then he is the 'New Man' for whom the clashing presses are waiting, for whom every House is searching. He may not be accepted at once, but his work is watched, he himself is kept in view and in mind. Encouragement, even to the advancing of royalty upon work yet to be written, is awaiting him; and not only will his manuscripts be read as earnestly and seriously as he has written them, but in the end his work will be published, and with all the energy and resource of which the house is capable pushed to the extremest limits of its circulation.

GREEK IDEAS OF DESTINY.

Of all the philosophical ideas of Æschylus, the most general is the notion of fatality, or, to use a different word, predestination. Traces of this notion are visible all through the history of Greek thought, but nowhere is it so emphasized as in the Æschylean drama. In every play, though less strongly in the "Suppliants" than in the others, we are made to feel from the beginning to the end that all is the result of a previous decree of an over-ruling power. In the "Persians," we are told that oracles had foretold the greatness of the empire, to be followed by its fall; the death of Agamemnon, the vengeance of Orestes upon Clytemnestra and Ægisthus, the fall of King Œdipus, and the death of his sons by each other's hands, all are portrayed as foreordained and inevitable. The manner of the foreordination is not always clear. Sometimes it appears as if Fate or Necessity were something mightier than the gods, something entirely beyond their control, and again the gods seem to be omnipotent. It is probable that Eschulus had no year clear. probable that Æschylus had no very clear ideas on this subject. He believed in om-nipotent gods, and he believed in a kind of predestination which determined beforehand the conduct of gods as well as men; but he did not try to reconcile these two beliefs, or if he did, he has left no record of the attempt. But the belief in a power higher than man was with him as an ever-present source of inspiration. In one passage in the "Agamemnon" the poet seems to confess that he is not sure by what name to call the higher power:-

> "O Zeus-whate'er he be If that name please him well, By that on him I call."

These words may express the real feeling of the poet, but in general he does not attempt to be consistent or to cast in the same mold all his expressions concerning destiny. In the "Prometheus" destiny is clearly a power to which gods as well as men are subject, while in the "Seven Against Thebes" and in the "Agamemnon" trilogy destiny, the will of the gods, and the passions of men, seem to work independently, but all toward the same end.—From "The Inner Life of Æschylus," by Harold N. Fowler, in the April Chautauquan.

NATURE-STUDY IN RURAL SCHOOLS.

The first effort was to teach the teacher in the rural district school; but this teacher is hard to reach. She is removed from associations and conventions. She is the teacher of least experience, and frequently of least ambition. She follows. It soon became apparent that the leaders must first be reached. In the largest cities of New York State, the agitation bore its first fruits. The country places are now taking it up. Before the movement was definitely organized, many rural schools were visited. The teachers were found to be willing to introduce a little sprightliness and spontaneity into their work, but they did not know how. They wanted subject-matter. The children were delighted with the prospect of learning something that had relation to their lives.

Readable leaflets were prepared on living, teachable subjects, for the purpose of giving the teacher this subject matter and the point of view. It was not desired to outline methods, for methods are not alive. If the teacher were awakened and given the facts, the teaching would teach itself. The first constituency was secured by sending an instructor or lecturer with the State teachers' institutes,-for the State Department of Public Instruction kindly made this possible. From teacher to teacher the idea spread. Now 17 leaflets have been issued and about 26,000 teachers are on the mailing-list by their own request.

The leaflet attempts nothing more than to say something concise and true about some common thing, and to say it in a way that will interest the reader. The point of view is the reader rather than the subject-matter. The leaflets aim to send the reader to nature, not to record scientific facts. The first leaflet was entitled, "How a Squash Plant Gets Out of the Seed." A botanist said that the Out of the Seed." A botanist said that the title was misleading: it should have read, "How the Sqrash Plant Gets Out of Its Integument." Herein is the very core of the whole movement: it stands for "seed," not for "integument."—From "Nature-Study on the Cornell Plan." by L. W. Bailey, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for April.

An interesting book of the period,

IFE AND REIGN OF

OUEEN VICTORIA.

Including the lives of

King Edward VII. and Oueen Alexandra.

By MURAT HALSTEAD, famous historian and Journalist, and A. J. MUNSON, editor and author. Profusely illustrated. 485 pages.

HERALD OFFICE.

POSTPAID. ONE DOLLAR.

WM. ANDERSON, Pres. MRS. DAVID DANCER. Vice Pres.

W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier, OSCAR ANDERSON, Ass't Cashier,

STATE SAVINGS BANK OF LAMONI.

Incorporated under the laws of the State of Iowa, July 1. 1898. Total assets January 1, 1900, $133,032.34; April 1, 1900, $162,781.07.

We pay interest on time deposits, and especially solicit the correspondence and deposits of all Herald readers. All etters of inquiry will be promptly and carefully answered. Direct all letters to W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier, State Savings Bank of Lamoni, Iowa

STOCK HOLDERS:-Mrs. David Dancer, Geo. H. Hilliard, A. K. Anderson, Lucy L. Resseguie, Oscar Anderson, Wm. Anderson, Frank Criley, Alice P. Dancer, Ella D. Whitehead, G. W. Blair, W. A. Hopkins.

UWANTO STOP

Using tobacco. Quit-to-bac makes it easy to do so. Using tobacco. Quit-to-bac makes it easy to do so. Three boxes postpaid, only $1.50 with positive guarantee to cure or the $1.50 cheerfully refunded! It cures others, why not you.

Address, (Bro.) B. F. ORDWAY, Peoria, Ill. (U. S. Postage stamps taken) 47-42

Or apply to The Underwood Agency. LAMONI, IOWA,

SATN	TS' HYMNAL Word	la.	ഹരി	₩.
115.	Paper					15
	Per dozen		9 8 9		1	60
116.	Cloth, limp
	Per dozen
117.	Cloth
	Per dozen
118.	Flexible, gilt edges			• • •		50

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest cir-ulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a ear; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers. MUNN & CO. 361 Broadway, New York Branch Office, 625 F. St., Washington, D. C. 625 F St., Washingt

89. Morocco grain russia	1	00 25 00
TRUE SUCCESSION IN CHURCH		ometusca.
PRESIDENCY. By Elder	9
H. C. Smith, Church His-	•
torian.
152. Paper		35
153. Cloth		50

BOOK OF MORMON.

NOT IN THE CATALOGUE.

TRACTS.

Trial of the Witnesses to the Resurrection of Jesus.

Each 5 cents; per doz. 50 cents.

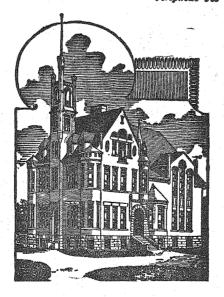

The Basis of Brighamite Po-

Per doz. 10 cents; per 100, 60 cents.

GRACELAND .... COLLEGE.

LAMONI, IOWA.

Telephone 74

For catalogue or further information, address PROF. R. A. HARKNESS, President, or I. W. ALLENDER, Secretary, LAMONI, DECATUR Co., IOWA.

THE COMMERCIAL BANK

LAMONI. Solicits your Deposits and pays

4 1-2 % INTEREST. D. F. NICHOLSON. Cashier.

VISIONS OF JOSEPH SMITH THE SEER. Discoveries of Ancient American Records and Relics, with the statements of Dr. Lederer (converted Jew) and others.

184. Each 10c.; per dozen...... 1 00

THE INSTRUCTOR. A compendium of the faith and doctrines of the church by Elder G. T. Griffiths. 126. Cloth ..... 127. Leather..... 1 00 128. Flexible ...... 1 50

BRING YOUR LAUNDRY TO

South Side Barber Shop.

For every five dollars worth of Laundry

HANDSOME SHAVING MUG. BLACK & SHOOK, Props.

DR. E. S. SWEET. DENTIST.

Decoe Building,

WOODBINE.

IOWA

FOR SALE.

A brick business house centrally located in Lamooi that earns fifteen per cent ca

If interested, inclose stamp to Lock Box ?. Lamont, Jowa

Burlington Route passenger service between stations on Grant City branch and Chicago, both directions, is better than ever in the history of the road. Leaving Lamoni at 8:05 p. m., arriving Chicago 7:20 a. m following morning. Leaving Chicago at 5:50 p. m., arriving Lamoni 6:25 a. m. following morning.

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSIONS.

Dates of sales, February 19, March 5 and 19, April 2 and 16, 1901, one lowest first class fare for the round trip, plus $2 00. Good for return 21 days from date of sale.

Cheap one-way colonist excursion rates to San Francisco, Los Angeles, and San Diego, California. Dates of sale February 12, 19, and 26, March 5, 12, 19, and 26, April 2, 9, 16, 23, and 30, 1901.

One-way second class settlers rates. ver, Colorado Springs, and Pueblo. Ogden and Salt Lake. Bozeman, Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Grantsdale, Missoula, Grant Falls, Kalispell, Spokane, Portland, Tacoma. toria and Vancouver.

KEOKUK & WESTERN R. R. CO.

North-Leave Leon 2:40 p. m., arrive at Des Moines 6:05 p m.

South—Leave D s Moines 8:25 a.m., arrive at Leon 11:45 a m.

Trains daily except Sunday; connect with C. B & Q. at Leon.

AINTS' HERA

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE REORGANIZED CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER DAY SAINTS.

"If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." -John 8:31, 32.

"Hearken to the word of the Lord: for there shall not any man among you have save it be one wife; and concubines he shall have none."—B. of M., page 116.

VOL. 48.

LAMONI, IOWA, APRIL 10, 1901.

NO. 15.

The Saints' Herald.

JOSEPH SMITH FRED'R MADISON SMITH ASSISTANT EDITOR. JOSEPH LUFF CORRESPONDING EDITORS. D. W. WIGHT

LAMONI, IOWA, APRIL 10, 1901.

SELFISHNESS.

Christ declared that, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." It is not a difficult matter to demonstrate the truth of this assertion. The general disposition, however, is to make an attempt to secure happiness by an opposite course.

The very prevalent thought that satisfaction of mind can be secured by self-consideration alone, is evidently wrong. True happiness can result only from unselfish effort to help others: from a consecration of life to the uplifting of the human race. Certainly no one can be truly happy when he knows a fellow being is unhappy, and, possessing the power to help him. refuses to do so. The love of God for mankind was manifested in the unselfish sacrifice and labor of Christ for their redemption. Man's love for man should be manifested in the same way. In fact it is the only way in which it can be manifested.

And yet, unlovely as the trait of selfishness is, the world is dominated by it to a lamentable extent. It is really the mainspring of practically every fault mankind is heir to. There is scarcely a wrong act that cannot be traced to self-love in some way or

It is true there are a great many things not apparently chargeable to this unpleasant characteristic, but a little careful analysis will not fail to reveal selfish tendencies somewhere. Desire for power leads men to tyrannize over and oppress their fellow-men. Love of wealth, and the opportunities for self-gratification it brings, lead to a multitude of evils. whose baneful effects permeate every grade of society.

But rich people and powerful people are not the only selfish people, by any means. Doubtless there are few of us that have to go far from home to find representatives of this very numerous class of individuals. our daily intercourse with others, in a thousand different ways the trait of selfishness is continually cropping labor for 196 sermons read 176.

out. We say unkind words because we had rather gratify our desire to do so than to save others pain by refraining. Simply to please ourselves we do things unpleasant to others, regardless, many times, of their feelings or rights.

We are even selfish in going to church. If we think some especially agreeable elder is going to preach, or we can in any way receive satisfaction ourselves by going, we are quite willing to go, even if difficulties must be surmounted in order to do so. But if we think some less brilliant brother is to occupy, or are afraid the prayer meeting may be a little dull, we prefer to remain at home because—well, because we do not think we shall be sufficiently self-gratified to make the effort. We forget that it is our duty to give as well as to receive; that we ought to support as well as to be supported; that all that we do should be done with a view to help others, as well as to receive benefit ourselves.

Truly, selfishness is the bane of society. It ought to find no resting place in the bosom of a Saint. It ought to be sought out continually with the avowed determination of banishing it completely from our characters.

We cannot help but admire unselfish people. They may be poor and unpopular, but so was Jesus. Their labors of love may not be duly appreciated. Neither were those of our divine Master. They may not have a home to call their own. Neither did our Lord. Their lives, as did that of the Christ, may end in darkness, and apparent shame; but their unselfish work will make for them characters that will live among the angels, when all that is born of avarice and greed shall be covered with its own shame.

When the world is in a condition to realize the truth of the Master's statement, that, "It is more blessed to give than to receive," then will they have learned the true secret of happiness. While we hope and pray for the redemption of Zion, and of the world, let us remember that it can never be fully accomplished until selfishness is completely banished from the minds of the people.

CORRECTION.

In Bro. James Caffall's report of

RELIGIO CONVENTION,

The Religio General Convention of 1901 was decidedly a harmonious one, one calculated to do good to the Religio cause. The business was dispatched with promptness, and the harmony which existed is indicative that the healthy growth of the near past will continue.

The Religio has become an auxiliary of which the church can well be proud, for the work now being done is such that it cannot but result in good to the general church and its work. As was pointed out by President Gunsolley in his address to the assembled workers, the Religio has at last fallen into the line of work along which its progress must be made.

When the work of this society was begun some years ago there were those who predicted that the society would not succeed. This prediction was based upon the fact that it was attempting to cover too much ground. It was working along too many lines. The predicted failure came near being realized in 1897, and was averted, as Bro. Gunsolley pointed out, only by a change of policy.

Everything, every organization, must have a reason for existence; and if that reason does not exist to a sufficient degree to create a healthy demand, any attempt to call such thing into existence, will prove abortive.

If there is any reason for the existence of the Religio it is that the young people of the church need an auxiliary society which shall work along the lines, somewhat, of the church. The work of the church is distinctly religious, and religious must be the nature of work of any society auxiliary to the church. The attempt to make the society any other than religious, as was done, to carry on work along literary, temperance, and historical lines, was what came so near proving the ruin of the Religio.

Since 1897, however, the society has found that its raison d'etre is work is needed along certain lines of religious work directly connected with the church. Responding promptly to the demands of this discovery, the society has forged steadily forward until it is now in a pleasingly flourishing condi-

For sometime, now, the society has been making the study of the Book of Mormon the chief feature, and the result has been good to both Religio and church. May the good work go on!

As an illustration of the harmony of the work of the convention of 1901, the election of officers will afford an example. No nominations were made: but blank ballots were distributed among the members. Each wrote the name of his candidate upon the slip and the ballots were collected with the understanding that when one received a majority, the choice was made. Every officer chosen was elected on the first ballot.

We congratulate the Religio upon the work of the 1901 convention.

GENERAL SUNDAY SCHOOL CON-VENTION.

The General Sunday School Convention of 1901 was as successful as was expected, though the business done was not characterized by the smoothness of the Religio, and considerable time was spent in doing work which had to be done over, and thus time was lost. Despite this, however, considerable unity of spirit existed, and there was an earnestness which shows a healthy condition.

The question most warmly debated was the one concerning the International Lesson texts, when an attempt was made to adopt such for the use in the Quarterly. This was defeated by a decided vote, the only vote on which a yea and nay vote was taken. However, though the debate was an earnest one, a good spirit was maintained throughout, and when the question was finally decided the defeated workers graciously submitted.

Other questions were of course discussed of considerable moment, as will be seen by the report in another place.

The Sunday School Association has been with us now about ten years, and its work is of such a nature that all are more or less acquainted with it. It is, and has been, working along well-known and substantial lines, and its permanence as an auxiliary to the church is unquestioned.

Some changes have been made in the personnel of the officers of the association, and we trust that the changes will be for the better and not the worse. We wish them blessings of divinity.

In presenting to our readers a synopsis of the proceedings of the General Conference now in session at Independence, we do not try to give anything like an extended report, for that will be given in the published minutes, usually issued as a supplement to the HERALD. However, we shall try to give an adequate idea of what is being done, and shall endeavor to give interesting speeches not given in the minutes.

It is generally known that in this church it is considered that when a child has reached the age of eight he is old enough to be baptized into the church. Whether or not the child is old enough to have reached the age of accountability at the age of eight has been a question which has caused considerable discussion, and we as a people have maintained that the child at that age has become old enough to be thoroughly accountable for his acts, and is, therefore, old enough to understand for what he is baptized, and is sufficiently developed in an intellectual way to have an understand. ing of his obligations as a Christian.

On the 24th of February last, at a meeting of Sunday school workers in Chicago, Bishop J. M. Thoburn, of the Methodist Church, the principal speaker, said, as reported in the News:

"About little children," he said, "I often hear the question asked, 'Are they old enough to be converted?' Instead of asking the question in that way, it would be proper to ask, 'Is the child old enough to be a sinner?' A child is not too young to be imbued with the Spirit of God and practically converted at seven years of age. Children may be gathered into the church at ten years of age as intelligent Christians, having a clear knowledge of the Christian life and its obligations.

It will thus be seen that the conclusions of Bishop Thoburn on the subject are about what we as a people have for some time been advocating. It is some satisfaction, at least, to know that others are advocating what we have been teaching and practicing.

EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS.

Bro. H. W. Belville, Hebron, Nebraska, April 1:-

The work is flourishing in these parts of the Lord's vineyard.

Bro. J. W. Whitley, under date of March 26, writes from Brewster, Washington:—

I am waiting to see the elders here, preaching the latter-day gospel. It would be a feast for me to meet with my brethren and hear them preach. I hope some faithful brethren will be sent. We have a large field in which the gospel has not been preached. Many are waiting to hear.

There is much to be done before Zion and Christ come. If any elders come, they can come to Spokane, then to Coulee City, then to Bridgeport on the Columbia river.

EDITORIAL ITEMS.

About sixty persons, large and small, left Lamoni Tuesday morning, April 2, bound for Independence. Others left later, so that Lamoni is well represented.

The Herald is well represented at the Independence conference, there being there of the HERALD force, Joseph Smith, editor in chief; John Smith, business manager; F. M. Smith, assistant editor; B. M. Anderson, foreman; F. E. Cochran, proofreader; and Vida Elvin, folder.

The conference at Independence promises to be one of the best attended in years.

There is in attendance at the conference at Independence a native of Ceylon, a native of the South Sea Islands, American Indians, besides some colored brethren.

GENERAL RELIGIO CONVENTION.

Sixth convention met at Independence, Missouri, April 2, 1901, at eight p. m. After the usual preliminaries, J. A. Gunsolley called the house to order. Because of lateness of opening, speeches were dispensed with and business at once entered upon. Because of the absence of the acting secretary, Marie H. Clark was chosen secretary pro tem. The president was authorized to appoint organist and chorister; also, being so empowered, he appointed D. A. Anderson, Dora Young, and W. H. Murphy to act as credentials committee, which committee retired at once. While waiting for them to report, speeches were made by F. G. Pitt, A. J. Keck, Walter W. Smith, A. M. Chase, J. F. Mintun, M. H. Bond, Marie H. Clark, Alice Thorburn. The credentials committee then presented its report.

A committee was appointed by the chairman to draft resolutions of respect in memory of the late departed secretary, J. C. Hitchcock; viz., M. H. Bond, Roxanna E. Anderson, and Arthur Allen.

President appointed F. G. Pitt chorister, Ada Cudsworth organist.

Annual report of President J. A. Gunsolley was then read.

Wednesday, April 3.—The morning prayer service was presided over by J. A. Gunsolley, assisted by Walter

W. Smith. Business session convened at ten. After opening exercises, the secretary, Sr. Etta M. Hitchcock, was authorized to select an assistant. She chose J. J. Billinsky. Reports of the general officers were taken up. That of the secretary showed ten districts, one hundred forty societies, and a membership of more than four thousand.

An additional report of the committee on credentials was read, received, and the committee continued. Courtesies of the floor were extended to all interested in Religio work.

Treasurer S. A. Burgess reported: Nothing on hand last report; total receipts, $233.90; expenditures, $177.49; balance on hand, $56.41. An additional report of the treasurer was read, showing the general financial condition. The secretary's financial report was read, showing a total expenditure of $7.10. Marie H. Clark, superintendent of Home Class department and Gospel Literature bureau, reported what had been done in those branches of the work, also presented her financial report, showing a total expenditure of $2.00 and $13.17 respectively. Financial parts of all three reports were referred to an auditing committee composed of F. P. Hitchcock, Nephi May, and D. Morgan.

The report of the improvement committee, composed of J. A. Gunsolley, Etta M. Hitchcock, Louise Palfrey, and J. F. Mintun, was read:

1. We recommend that a special committee be appointed to draft blanks for reporting locals to district associations and district associations to General Association.

We further recommend that a special committee, of which Sr. Marie Clark shall be chairman, be appointed to revise Home Department Leaflet. And when considering the subject of Home Class work, should it be considered that sufficient authority is not given for its existence, that such action be taken as will correct this deficiency so far as practicable.

3. We further recommend that a special committee be appointed authorized to consider the subject of pronouncing vocabulary for Book of Mormon, and complete such work as may by them be considered necessary to present to convention for approval; and we it advisable that the convention through its president, or some one or ones specially appointed, present the action of this convention upon this matter to General Conference for their action.

4. We favor a small edition of the Book of Mormon paragraphed as is the present large edition, and also a cheaper edition than at present published, and would recommend that the convention authorize the executive committee to confer with Board of Publication with reference to the issuance of such editions.

5. We further recommend that a special committee be appointed to examine junior lessons on Book of Mormon now prepared and report what action they may consider advisable to take in regard to the preparation and use of such lessons for Religio work.

Section one was adopted and the special committee appointed, consisting of Dora Young, Alice Thorburn, and Bro. Sherman. Section two was divided and the second sentence considered first, and a resolution indorsing the Home Class work adopted. The first sentence was then adopted, and the chairman appointed Marie H. Clark, W. W. Smith, and Dora Young as the committee. Section three was referred to a committee appointed by the body, to consider and report to this convention, composed of J. A. Gunsolley, S. A. Burgess, F. M. Sheehy.

Adjournment was then taken:

The afternoon session was opened by usual exercises. After reading of minutes, an additional report of the credentials committee was heard, and according to program the constitutional amendments were taken up. Constitution of local societies, article 4, section 1, was amended by adding at the end, "except in cases where letters of removal are presented, when vote may be taken at time of presentation." Section three of the same article was substituted by the following:

Any member who may wish to withdraw from the society shall give one week's notice of his intention to do so, except when he desires to remove and unite with another society, in which case, if in good standing, he shall be given a letter of removal recommending him to membership in said society, and vote may be taken without one week's

The election of officers was then taken up, and D. A. Anderson, A. B. Hanson, Nephi May, and S. F. Simmons were appointed by the chair to act as tellers. A resolution was adopted providing that if, on the first ballot, anyone receive a majority of all votes cast, he should be declared elected on the first ballot; if otherwise, as provided by the constitution. The present general officers; viz., J. Gunsolley, president; Ammon White, vice president; Etta M. Hitch. cock, secretary, and S. A. Burgess, treasurer, were reëlected, each upon the first ballot, and the choice of each was made unanimous.

Section four of the improvement committee's report was then taken up. A number of amendments and substitutes were offered, but all were lost, as was also the original section. While this is true, it is also true that the general sentiment seemed to be that we should have a low-priced edition of the Book of Mormon, and further, that at the earliest practicable time the Board of Publication should issue a new, standard edition of the book, carefully paragraphed and versified, all future editions to be uniform therewith.

After the chairman had explained the lessons, section five was adopted and the committee was appointed to consist of Louise Palfrey, Eunice Winn, and Walter W. Smith.

The auditing committee reported the accounts of the treasurer, secretary, and superintendent of the Home Class department correct, and their report was adopted.

Committee on Book of Mormon vocabulary reported, indorsing the work already done by Sr. LaJune Howard as a work of progress, recommending that it be referred to conference, to make definite and final action. An amendment was offered. much discussion resulted, and the matter was finally recommitted to the committee, for report later.

The committee appointed to draft resolutions of condolence and respect re the death of the late secretary reported, and it was adopted by rising vote, and the audience, while on its feet, sang the third stanza of 118, Winnowed Songs, as a prayer from the body for the family of the departed brother. This part was characterized by great solemnity, and was so touching as to bring to the eyes of many, sympathetic tears. It was then voted that the resolutions passed be engrossed and presented to Sr. Hitchcock.

A petition from the Des Moines district requested the convention to take steps to issue graded quarterlies for use of students in their lessons. It was referred to a committee, F. M. Sheehy, F. G. Pitt, and J. A. Gunsolley, they to report as soon as pos-

Question of a Religio badge was taken up, and samples of badges were submitted. It was moved that these. with the question of badge, be referred to a committee of three appointed by the chair. A substitute was offered, in effect that "this society does not need a badge." This provoked considerable discussion, pro and con. The whole matter was finally tabled indefinitely. Adjournment was then taken.

Wednesday Evening.—"Uncle Mark" Forscutt offered prayer, and Ammon White presided, while a very interesting program as follows was rendered:

Vocal solo by Miss Corda White. Address by J. A. Gunsolley. speaker very interestingly traced the history and development of the society in the eight years of its existence. He stated at the first that the Religio existed because of a demand therefor. The demand arose because there were numerous local societies throughout the church organized for moral and social purposes, each independent, but yet all working along certain lines in common. Unity of cause demanded unity of action, and the Religio was the outgrowth of the demand for unity among these societies. In 1892 the "correspondence" department was established in Autumn Leaves for the literary development of the youth of the church. In this department appeared the first agitation for a general organization, and in it also appeared a call for a convention, in response to which a few assembled in Independence and took the first steps toward organization. About twelve or fifteen were present. At present the Religans are about four thousand strong, -an increase highly gratifying. At the meeting of the few a committee of three was appointed to devise plan of organization, to report to conference of 1894. In February, 1893, the committee met in Lamoni, and experienced the presence of the Spirit in their meetings, thus being assurred that their efforts were approved of God.

In 1893 the committee reported, the report was adopted, officers were elected, a name selected, and the organization started auspiciously.

In June, 1893, the executive committee decided upon course of study, also decided to publish program in periodical called the Program, which was first issued by the Ensign. Four lines of work were laid out; viz., literary, temperance, religious, and missionary, a week for each successively. This plan proved successful for a time. Next year each department was divided, and the missionary was displaced by historical. Thus the attention of the workers was still further divided. The committee on organization had thought the work of the general society should be on church lines; but the tendency towards the social side, or for entertainment swayed the organization until it finally was seen a change must be made to prevent dissolution. In 1897 the climax of discouragement was reached by the president and secretary and The stability and life of the others. organization were threatened. The true spirit of church work had been ignored. A fast and prayer service resulted in unity of thought, and changes were instituted which resulted in a healthy growth of the society. The society is now making religious work its chief object. The present prospect is encouraging, and Divinity's blessings are on the society.

Following the address, Mrs. Brackenbury and Mrs. Flo McNichols sang a duet, and then Marie H. Clark read a paper on Home Class work, which was a resumé of home class work in general and of the class work of Religio society specifically. She succinctly summarized a number of lessons learned in her work and pointed out a number of ways where good would result to the work if cer-tian changes were made.

Next number was an instrumental duet by R. G. Smith and George Hulmes, Jr. This was followed by a recitation by Katie Chatburn, the little daughter of Frank J. Chatburn.

Miss Louise Palfrey read an excellent paper on the Book of Mormon and its relation to the literature of the world and the church. She paralleled it with the Bible, and showed the peculiar relation of the Book of Mormon to the people of this world, and called attention to the many evidences which have developed vindicating the positions of the book. No doubt her paper will appear in due time in the Autumn Leaves.

Two of the Kansas City brethren then sang a duet, which was followed by some announcements, when the closing number was rendered, - a quartet of Independence young ladies.

On account of unfinished work it was found necessary to hold a special session on the morning of Thursday, the 4th, at 7:30 a.m. The committee on report blanks reported, and it was recommitted to them, to report during the session.

Committee on Home Class leaflet reported, and the executive committee was authorized to make slight corrections made and to have the leaflet as corrected, published.

The adopted report of the committee on Book of Mormon vocabulary reads as follows:-

We recommend that this convention indorse the work of Sr. L. Howard as one of progress, and that we ask the General Conference to provide for its being fully authenticated and the General Conference publish at as early a time as practicable.

Committee on petition from Des Moines district was read:

We favor the granting the petition, and that this convention authorize the executive committee to take such steps as will put into operation as soon as possible the publication of the said quarterlies.

A motion to adopt was followed by a lengthy discussion, after which, because of lack of time, and because that the programs in Autumn Leaves were likely to be published separately, it was voted

That we defer further action upon this matter till next convention.

Committee on blanks reported forms for report of locals to district, district to General Association, and letter of removal. After slight amendments, the forms were adopted.

Committee appointed to examine junior lessons reported they had not had time to examine thoroughly, whereupon it was voted,

That the junior lessons be left in the hands of the executive committee.

The president, vice president, and secretary were authorized to appoint a credentials committee prior to next The executive General Convention. committee was also authorized to prepare charters and commissions for organizations of local societies.

Minutes of previous sessions were read, the Doxology was sung, and the General Convention of 1901 was a thing of the past.

GENERAL SUNDAY SCHOOL CON-VENTION.

The tenth annual convention met in the stone church, Independence, Missouri, Thursday morning at ten o'clock. After usual opening exercises the superintendent, Bro.T.A. Hougas, offered a few opening remarks as to purpose; reported the outlook good. The secretary, Bro. W. N. Robinson, being so authorized by vote, chose Bro. J. F. Mintun and Sr. Belle James as his assistants. The assembly chose Bro. A. M. Chase chorister, with power to choose assistants and organists. The appointment of a credentials committee the evening previous by the superintendent was indorsed, the committee being U. W. Greene, Maggie Pankey, and Alice Schwartz. The chairman was authorized to provide janitor and ushers. It was then voted that Bro. Hougas talk to the convention three minutes while waiting for the report of credentials committee. He urged the necessity for concentration of thought; time was short, and it was necessary to shorten preliminary work if possible; still we should proceed carefully and thoughtfully; do the work rightly and promptly; not all nominations for office must be sec-speculate on fine theories—take notes and do that later; speakers should limit themselves to short speechesto that which is extremely practical hard facts; be careful, be thoughtful, be prayerful.

The credentials committee report was then adopted, the committee continued. The temporary organization was then made permanent.

Report of the general superintendent was read. He mentioned that ten years ago this morning the General Association was organized. He believed the needs of the work demanded a periodical, but thought the only feasible plan for the present would be to secure enlargement of space in the HERALD. To this there would be expense attached, but the good accomplished would more than compensate therefor. He reported a need for a field worker. The general sentiment existed that this worker should be the general superintendent, but on account of increase of work, the present superintendent was not available any large portion of the year. The only way of solving the problem was to find a superintendent whose hands were not tied and support him. He reported that a teacher's quarterly is yet needed. Regarding a song book, there was not enough good music to make a book, and that it would be folly to publish unless we could improve. Said we must meet conditions as they are. We build the stairway because we cannot make ascent at one step. He closed with the exhortation to be practical, kind, and prayerful.

The first assistant superintendent, Bro. J. A. Gunsolley, and second assistant, Bro. F. M. Pitt, also reported. The report of the secretary, Bro. W. N. Robinson, showed that out of fiftytwo districts fourteen had not reported.

Report of the treasurer, Bro. A. B. Hanson, showed the following totals: On hand last report, $1,139.06; receipts, $925.08; expenditures, $451.00; on hand April 1, $1,613.14. The general superintendent's financial report showed: Total receipts, $219.54; expenditures, $224.06; due superintend-The first assistant's ent, $4.52. financial statement gave the following totals: Receipts, $54.16; expenditures, $38.68; on hand, $15.48. All these financial reports were referred to an auditing committee composed of Brn. C. C. Pease, R. Wight, and C. C. Joehnk.

An additional report from the credentials committee was received, and the assembly adjourned till 2:15 p.m.

Afternoon Session: — Convention met at appointed hour. After reading of minutes, the chairman rendered some decisions. He said a two thirds vote would be required to carry a "previous question" motion, and that onded. No person shall be allowed to decline, unless by permission of the body, after nomination is announced by the chair.

The editor of the Quarterly reported she had lessons prepared until October. She had prepared Teachers' Quarterly, but by action of Executive it had not been published.

Bro. H. A. Stebbins of the revising committee reported, and declined to serve longer thereon.

The committee on improvements reported. Favored suggestions made last year, and urged favorable consideration of the suggestion to enlarge department in the HERALD, and the placing of the Hope under control of the association for improvement.

The convention then passed to the special order of the day,—the consideration of proposed constitutional amendments. The courtesy of the floor was extended to the ministry. The chairman answered questions and made explanations in reference to the ministry, and urged the ministry to unite with the Sunday school work, then they would be delegates undoubtedly.

Article 1, page 15 of 1900 edition, Constitution and By-laws, amended to read:-

The officers of each Sunday school shall consist of a superintendent, assistant superintendent, secretary, treasurer, chorister, and librarian, and other assistants, as may be Article 2, section 1, page 15, same edition, was amended by striking out, "see that teachers follow methods advised by the superintendent of the association," and inserting instead, 'and advise the adoption of such methods of teaching as he by investigation shall decide to be practicable."

Paragraphs 2, 4, 5, and 6, in Herald of January 2, 1901, page 17, were adopted as they there appear, and paragraphs 3, 7, 8, 9, and 10 were laid on the table.

F. G. Pitt, Sr. W. N. Robinson, A. H. Mills, of the song book committee, reported in lieu of the chairman of the committee, who was absent, and from him no word was received. A number of pieces had been received. but the committee doubted the advisability of continuing the committee. The material received was not appropriate and was not up to the standard of Winnowed Songs. They recommended that a committee of three be appointed who shall be custodians of the music now on hand and that they be empowered to solicit and receive new music. The majority report of the committee was adopted and the chair was authorized to appoint such committee.

The chorister announced D. L. Morgan and A. H. Mills as assistants and Audentia Anderson and Belle James as organists for the convention. Adjourned till 7:30 p.m.

Thursday Evening.—Minutes were read, corrected, and approved.

Auditing committee reported accounts of superintendent, first assistant, and treasurer, correct. Report adopted.

The report of the improvement committee was taken up. It was reread, as was also last year's report, and it was decided to consider it by section. The first section was read, as follows:

We approve of the appointment of a lesson committee to decide on the lesson course. Farther, that this committee also act as the We recommend that revising committee. the executive committee, associated with this committee appoint the editor and fix compensation (the editor having authority to appoint sub-editors.)

The following amendment was offered:-

To strike out, "To decide on the lesson course," and to insert instead, "That we follow the international lesson text as far as

This provoked an animated discussion, and the remainder of the evening session was devoted thereto, the motion to adjourn till ten o'clock next day prevailing about 9:30.

Friday Morning, April 5.—After opening exercises, discussion on the international texts amendment was resumed, lasting nearly all the fore-The previous question obnoon. tained, and yea and nay vote called for. Being so taken, the vote stood, 308 7-15 for, 973 8-15 against, and the amendment was declared lost. The assembly then adjourned till the afternoon hour.

Afternoon Session.—The minutes were approved, after which the vote was taken on the original motion, viz., to adopt the first clause of the improvement committee's which resulted in its being adopted.

Various matters of business were read, and the special order, election of officers, proceeded with. Bro. T. A. Hougas was chosen general superintendent, Bro. J. A. Gunsolley first assistant, Bro. G. H. Gates second assistant, Bro. D. J. Krahl secretary, Bro. John Smith treasurer, Bro. S. A. Burgess librarian, the choice of each Votes of being made unanimous. thanks were tendered the outgoing secretary, second assistant superintendent, librarian, and treasurer; also to the superintendent and first assistant for efficient services rendered.

A motion to reconsider the election of John Smith as treasurer was made, but it was laid on the table.

Appointment of a lesson and revising committee in harmony with the resolution passed providing therefor was taken up, and many nominations were made. But so many declining, it was seen that the rule had been misunderstood, and its reconsideration resulted in its defeat. It was the choice of Brn. J. W. Wight, Heman C. Smith, and R. S. Salyards. Adjournment was then taken till the evening hour.

Friday Evening.—After usual preliminaries and reading and correcting minutes, it was resolved to limit speeches to three minutes. Voted that appointment and compensation of editor of Quarterlies be left to the executive committee of the association.

On motion, two hundred dollars were set aside for the expenses of the executive officers.

Improvement committee made its final report. No recommendations. Moved to receive the report and continue the committee another year. An amendment was offered to strike out the words, "and continue another year." The amendment carried, as did also the motion as amended.

J. W. Wight, as member of the revising committee, made individual re-

It was moved that a music committee of two be appointed to revise the music on hand, and that from two to four pieces be published in each number of the Quarterly; pieces to be stereotyped, and put in book form when sufficient number had been Various amendments and amendments to the amendments were offered, and finally the whole matter was tabled.

It was resolved that this body do now appoint a committee consisting of the first primary teachers present, to confer and agree on some plan for infant class lessons.

A movement was made to appoint a committee, of which the superintendent be one, to revise Constitution and By-laws, their report to be published in the HERALD three months prior to next convention. Action was postponed.

Report of Sr. Burton on Sunday schools in the South Sea Islands was Minutes of the session were then read and adopted.

It was then voted that names of the music committee, when appointed, appear in published minutes.

Convention then adjourned till eight o'clock on the morning of the 6th.

April 6, eight a. m.—Minutes read and approved.

The committee of primary teachers appointed last evening made a report favoring the issue of a teachers' help for the use of those having infant classes. They also recommended that the subject be the life of Christ and indicated a system of classification and illustration which in their judgment would be suited to such quarterly. They also recommended that these helps be edited by Sr. Lucy L. then voted that we proceed to elect a Resseguie, assisted by Srs. Dora revising committee, which resulted in Young and Audentia Anderson.

A movement was made to adopt the Speeches were limited to three minutes and the rule regarding new business was suspended to accommodate new features. The report was taken up by sections and the first part, that providing for the issuing of the helps, was adopted. The part concerning the subject, provoked considerable discussion, which verged on the old question of uniformity of texts. After considerable discussion, that part was also adopted, as were the rest of the recommendations, including the setting apart of fifty dollars for incidental expenses. The entire report adopted as amended.

Minutes were read and approved. Adjournment was had after listening to a verbal report from Sr. Emma Burton of the Sunday school work in the South Sea Islands.

THE GENERAL CONFERENCE.

SATURDAY, APRIL 6.

Promptly at ten o'clock President Joseph Smith called the conference to order.

Moved that President Joseph Smith and his counselors, A. H. Smith and E. L. Kelley, preside over conference.

"Redeemer of Israel," was then sung, Bro. F. G. Pitt leading, and Bro. A. H. Smith offered prayer.

Bro. R. S. Salyards was chosen secretary and authorized to choose assistants. He chose Brn. D. W. Wight and G. R. Wells.

Credentials committee was appointed by the chairman: Brn. G. H. Godby, T. J. Sheldon, U. W. Greene. Brn. R. M. Elvin, F. E. Cochran, D. F. Lambert were selected as press committee, to afford information to newspaper reporters, etc.

Bro. O. L. James was chosen chorister with authority to choose assistants and organists.

Sr. Belle James was chosen stenographer to the conference.

It was then voted to have short addresses from the presidency, and then others, if time.

President Joseph Smith then addressed the conference as follows:-

Responding to this call, I greet you this morning, with a degree of confidence in what we understand to be the work of God. And when I make this statement, I make it with the understanding that I give my personal confession to that statement, that I can have no personal mental reservation, and that whatever may be the fate of the body or of any individuals in the body, without respect, without limit, he must necessarily make answer for that confession at the bar of God, after this earth-life shall have ended, or his Majesty, the King of kings, shall come; that there is for me no halting place, and that my chief effort should be to serve God and the Master, his Son, that when I shall be called hence to answer, I shall be able to answer to Him with a conscience clear of offense. And while confessing infallibility belongs only to God and Christ and the directions of the Holy Spirit, I confess that I am fallible, liable to err, fail in judgment, fail in proper discernment under trying conditions. And it is fortunate for me this morning that from 1860 until now I have never made any claim to infallibility, but have persistently held that in Christ, the great Revelator to the church and in the Father and in the Holy Spirit only is there infallibility.

I do not know how it may be with others, but the question must be settled by them, for they, too, hold responsibility to God as do I, and in accordance with the talents which are conferred, the degree of responsibility imposed, the sphere of action in which each and every one is called to pass his life and give his service, there must be a continued responsibility from which we cannot be absolved until we lay down our weapons of earthly warfare and return our spiritual responsibility to him by whom it has been conferred.

I believe that under the realizing sense of this agency, we are individually prepared to move forward. I assure you that I am. With this understanding, as I before stated, I have no mental reservation. As a servant of the body I expect to serve the body according to the light and intelligence which may be given to me; and if I serve the interests of the body in the light of inspiration that may be granted unto me, answering to God for my responsibility in a spiritual sense and to my brethren of the church in their proper spheres for my open action in the church, I must continue to serve until the end, and submit myself unto the laws which we have consented are good.

The opening prospect before us as a body, judging from what I see represented this morning from the different districts and places whence this assembly has come, must necessarily be good; that the influences of the gospel are at work where these ministers have been and that there are continued openings for the passing in and occupying of those who are called into this wondrous ministry. And I believe it to be the maxim of the most of you, at least I venture to make that statement, that the gospel is true. Jesus Christ is the Lord and God the Father over all; and though men may fail, organizations come to naught, even the stars and the moon and the sun apparently fail in their orbits, he who remains faithful to the end shall not lose his reward. And when I think further along in this line, I see how immeasurably wide is the latitude that is afforded us, and yet how narrow the path upon which we are to walk the way unto life and salvation, as the Master has stated that the gate was straight and the way was narrowthere were but few who found it, entered and walked therein.

But the promises made by the Spirit to us are excellent. The admonitions by dream, by vision, by prophecy, for the months that are past have carried the continued injunction to come up higher, to increase in personal righteousness, to make a better, a more continuous effort to achieve personal purity, and, so far as possible within the reach of everyone in his respective sphere, to keep the influences of immorality from injuring, destroying, or hurting the body and the cause.

I look upon my brethren as individuals with the understanding that their motives are good, that their intentions are upright, that the purposes they propose to serve are, in their estimation, correct and for the purpose of the best results. I believe that to be the true spirit which should exist among coworkers. And, if we observe the injunction that "charity preventeth a multitude of sins," as we have it in the Inspired Translation, we shall be moved upon by that degree of charity that will prevent sin and we will fail in making men sinners constructively. I will try to give you my understanding of that thought, so that we may see whether or not we agree in regard to what is a constructive sin. There are a great many things that are not forbidden in the law; there are a great many things which men may do that are not specifically stated in the law and as duties obligatory upon them: but men differ in their organizations, in their impulses from the pressure of conditions that may be brought to bear upon them, see things in different lights. They act according to the light that is upon them and with them, and they may, by thus doing, run counter to some portion of what is known or may be known as the unwritten law. If we make transgressors out of them because of this, I understand that to be a constructive sin, and makes a man constructively a sinner.

Now, for instance, we have what is termed "apostasy." And what is apostasy? It is said to be the departing from the faith to which a man has given his previous volun-tary consent. A man's opinion may change; the moral structure or moral element of his organization may be changed in a sense, and under his changed conditions and differing influences he may see things different from what he did, and refuse to subscribe unto that to which he had hitherto unconsciously given his adherence without specific thought, and that may make him constructively an apostate; while his moral condition, his intentions may be just as pure, just as good as our own. I hold that is making a man con-structively a sinner.

The question of apostasy is a peculiar one; but as I once told a Baptist minister, it was a question that could not be decided this side of the great judgment bar, and asked him if he knew of any tribunal this side of that great judgment bar that was authorized to sit in judgment and determine whether a man was orthodox or whether he was heterodox.

"Well," he said, "I do not know that I do."
I confessed to him that I did not. As a consequence, it has always seemed to me that we ought to be very careful in regard to how we pronounce a man an apostate. Having borne the title so long myself-now over forty years—and as a consequence, smarting to a certain extent under it-I think I am prepared to look somewhat leniently upon men who may differ from me before I pronounce them apostates, especially so when there is no viciousness in their change of opinion, when they quietly take up the rôle of their every day efforts and go about their business with good moral intention, and without attempting to do injury and hate toward their fellow men.

I regard the situation in which we are placed this morning as one largely propitious of good to the church, whatever may result to individuals; and I trust that while we shall remain together, while we shall undertake the important business of the conference now before us-the most of it, perhaps, not fraught with so much danger as has sometimes been the case when we have assembled—we shall be exercised by the spirit of uprightness of intention and correctness of thought, and that that unity of spirit which will enable us to work together for the accomplishment of good unto the great body to which we belong, and to the world that now is looking upon us with more or less favor in some places, and perhaps with more or less disfavor in others.

Thanking you for the kindness in which you have listened to me, I will permit others of the Presidency to address you according to Counselor A. H. Smith then said:-

It is with a degree of satisfaction and pleasure that I greet you this morning, engaged in the greatest work that has ever been delivered to men. And when I look around me and see these faces in the assembly and realize that they have come from almost all quarters of the globe, I realize the importance and extent of this work and the magnitude it has assumed, and I can comprehend how it is growing, in looking back over the history of the last thirty-five years of my life.

My brother struck a chord that vibrated when he made the statement that he had no mental reservation, that he could see no halfway resting place; that once having entered in upon this great work and given himself to it, he gave all—all that he was, all that he Such has been my experience; and one of the strongest arguments that was made by the adversary-because I believe it was made by the adversary—before I entered in upon this work, was that it was presented to me as a continuous work, an arduous work, and that there was no place for me, once having entered in upon it, to rest; that once entering in upon the work and taking upon myself the responsibility of it, I became, in a sense, a wanderer upon the face of the earth. While I may have a home and a resting place temporarily, the demands of the work upon me are such that I must be in motion con-stantly to fulfill the duties devolving upon me under the call.

My work in the ministry has demonstrated to me, beyond the question of a doubt, that this thought is correct, that once having enlisted in the work, if we expect to win the race, we must continue in it. I was once permitted to have, in a sense, a vision: There was presented an open door, and I could look through it and see the beauties that are represented in the gospel work, and the ultimate triumph of the gospel, and I was looking through the door, and I was on the outside of the door, but there was begotten in my heart an earnest desire to get in the door and through the door into the midst of the beauties that were presented and the grandeur. I have been laboring to so prepare myself that when coming to the door, I may pass over the threshold and enter into the beauties and the grandeur that are found in the redeemed world, accomplished by the preaching of the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ.

And now as I see before me this vast assembly, gathered for the purpose of transacting the business of this latter-day work, represented in the Church of the Lord Jesus Christ, I comprehend that there is before me still the same vista, the same view. I once thought earnest study and a few years of experience in the ministry would enable an in-dividual to become so thoroughly acquainted with the principles of the gospel and its application to the human family, that I could become conversant with it in all its forms. I want to say to you that the longer I live, the more I see the work, the more I understand it, the grander it seems to me. The more I understand of it, the more it is revealed to me that there is more yet to be learned; there is an individual and collective work. If I seek to attain to the heights of glory and honor that is promised in it by the Master, I must prove myself faithful in all my service to God, and there can be no mental reservation with me, there can be none with you: and if you have entered in upon this work to accomplish it and to build up that which is developing and depending upon you and build up and establish the kingdom of God among men, recognized as his church, there can be no compromise, no mental reservation; you must look for no place to rest until you achieve the victory, the end. It is a continuous, energetic work, a continuous work of development, of learning. We can comprehend from the experience of our years in the ministry the promise made of God through Christ, that he will permit his children to become wise; he will reveal unto them his will and they shall learn; but it is declared farther, they shall receive precept upon precept, here a little and there a little. Hence you perceive in passing along up the great heights of knowledge, we must acquire this knowledge little by little. No man has been promised that he will receive it all at once.

I have found this to have been my experience, and I see before me yet that labor, that will continue so long as God leaves my intellect firm. There is no resting place for the ministry of God in this great latter-day. The best place in the world for the ministry to find rest is in the field in active service. I want to say to you that the best moments of my life have been spent in the field in the attempt to preach the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the best moments of my life have been spent when the influences of God's Holy Spirit have thrilled my whole being and filled me with the knowledge of the work that would enable me to stand before countless thousands bearing testimony to the work. When that Spirit is upon me I feel that I am in the presence of God, and, under these influences, the best company in the universe. And I believe that is the experience of every minister who has felt the thrilling influence of the Spirit of God.

There is no necessity for us to fear if we are faithful to God's commandments. If we live pure and holy lives, if our whole heart is centered in the thought that we will do God's commandments and move forward for the accomplishment of God's work, there is nothing in this world that will check or prevent the gathering out from the world of the pure in heart and the righteous, and the establishment of God's kingdom and the building of God's city and the gathering of his people preparatory to the coming of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Now, I feel encouraged; I have felt happy since I came here to meet in this conference; I feel still that God will lift the cloud, if there be one, he will break it, and he will let the sunshine of his Holy Spirit in upon us and fill us with joy and comfort and we shall realize that God is leading; and if we permit him to grasp our hands and lead us along, we shall feel the impress of his fingers and know that he is God, that he is leading.

Counselor E. L. Kelley said:-

I am glad to be able to meet you this morning in conference. Glad also to be able to state to you that I am in the faith of the gospel of our blessed Lord. And I can say this morning that my faith is as unswerving in the final triumph of his work and the full accomplishment of his purposes and all that he has promised through his servants in the past as it has ever been at any time. My work, so far as I have been able to perform any for the church, has been also of that character that I did not hold in my efforts a mental reservation, as was presented by the presiding officer of the conference. Accepting the work as I believed it was at the begiuning of my connection with it, as of God, in which he proposed to bless his children; and believing that he would give me according to my labors as he would every other child, and that he had no reservations on his part, I felt it my duty in making the convenant to say, All that I have is at the direction of our blessed Lord. And whether it was myself or whatever I had to do with in this world, it was my duty to hold it subject to the good and prosperity of the body

In my work I have done this at all times, God being my witness, and I believe, if we should all get in such a spirit as this, the accomplishment of the work that you and I have prayed for so long would be brought to a nearer close than any other one thing that we could do will bring it.

It is that confidence, that mutual trust, that sincere hope between each other and with each other that is most needed today in order to strengthen all the lines and to build up the church and kingdom of God. I know that the basis of all our work, in order to be sure, must be in accordance with the law of God as it has been revealed. Any individual in the church who shall walk outside of this is wrong, and any individual who walks outside of this must that far fail to bring good to the body, but rather than bringing good, if he walks in such way, it will bring evil; it will bring contention and strife; it will bring whisperings and backbitings; it will bring that that will disturb and cause a lack of faith in the body and a lack of confidence rather than that true confidence that should inspire the hearts of God's children in his work and his promises.

I do not think that an individual is in the full faith, the gospel of our blessed Lord, when he loses faith in the grand work in which we are engaged. Why? Because if this work is God's work, faith in God means faith in his work, and if this is his work, and we claim that we have lost faith in that, where is our faith in him? A lack of confi-dence in the cause of Christ shows a lack of faith, true faith, in Jesus Christ, he being the great Head of the church and directing. When I say this I do not understand that I am detracting in the least from the right of every individual in the body to feel and act freely and criticise for himself or herself; but if I did not have full faith and confidence that God had established the work, that he was directing it by his hand, I would not stand with you one moment this morning. I could not stand here and say that I believe it is God's work, but I think it will come to pieces because somebody is not doing as I think he ought to in his work. If it is God's work, it is true regardless of what individuals in this world may do, if we are his children, but it is necessary for us to take such steps in accordance with it that we may have lot and part in the building up and establishing of the same. It is possible for us to fail on our part of improving the opportunities that are allotted to us. It may be said that the fathers before have failed, and no doubt they did to some extent, for the revelations indicate it, not only of the last time, but of the earlier times as may be seen in the earlier revelations of God to man. So we may come short, and while it is a fact that we may come short, it ought to occur to every individual that the way that we may fail to come short in our labors and work, is to exercise greater faith and confidence in the power of God to move his own work; and that instead of trying to fight our battles ourselves, that we trust in God a little more to direct and to fight the battles for us. other words: Sometimes we may think that we are wholly right and others are outside of the law, when we are in the wrong and it is us who have been outside of the law of God. Consequently we should be as ready, and more ready, to criticise ourselves and our own actions and views than we are those of our brethren, and trust God, who has promised to direct his work, that he in his own way will look after them, as us, and if they are in the darkness of midnight, that they may be brought to the light also. So that while I believe it is the duty of individuals to criticise, and to compare, and to reflect an unselfish but individual view in the church so that God may have a people who are at liberty to think and act for themselves and not slaves, yet there is such a duty devolving upon every individual connected with the body, that he owes to his brother and his sister that will and should forever debar him from setting forth his hand in a manner that would push his brother or his sister further from the work of God than he finds him when he begins to deal with him. We are not only here that we may be saved ourselves, but we are here that we may save others, and the individual who comes to the church of God with the selfish purpose of being saved himself alone is very likely to fall out before he runs very long. He must change such purpose and such feeling as that; it is not akin to the spirit that was manifest by the great Missionary, Jesus Christ, when he left his own and came to labor that the children might be saved and have part with him. So we should manifest charity. It is not the warfare that we are engaged in wherein the individuals within the body are to be attacked. If it is necessary to correct, they must be approached according to the law of God, which provides not an attack, but a brotherly communion, so they may be drawn from the evils they may be drawn into instead of being hurled from the place of safety that is within our ranks. I am wholly confident in the work in which we are engaged and that it will accomplish the work that has been promised in the latter days; but in God's own due time. The evidences that have come to me in the past year have been as sure as of any year in the past, and my hopes are builded as high today as they ever have been builded. My determinations are as sure this morning to keep within the divine line, if I am able to so direct my feet under the inspiration of the Almighty, as they ever have been, and I am glad, as these brothers have said, to be able to greet you in the hope that in the conclusion of our work here we may all go forth with more implicit trust, a greater brotherly feeling, and with the assurance in our hearts that we have better discharged our duties than we did one year ago; and if we can do that there will not only be progress in the line of the church work but in every line of God's work. It is unity, humility, harmony, which should come to this body and should remain with the body, and not distraction, and differences, and unkind feelings, or envy, hatred, and malice.

In the work that I have been especially engaged in for the year, I can say that it has never been in a better condition than at the present time. Not only that; but it has never been in as good condition as it is at the present time, as you will further see by the reports to this conference; and understanding and feeling as I do, looking over the ground of the year's work, notwithstanding the difficulties that have had to be met; notwithstanding the fact, too, that in some regards I have felt during the year that my brethren were looking upon me, with especial criticism, I have felt this, that as God is my judge I have been right in my doings in my official character in the church, and I expect ometal character in the church, and I expect that he will acquit me, whether men do or not. And I have not been in the least alarmed. While I have been standing in this full confidence, I have been careful not to injure any of my brethren, nor to say that that would injure them so that it could be pointed to in the future and say that I was the means of driving this one or that one the means of driving this one or that one from his sure footing wherein he had the right to the tree of life. I would have to answer for that in the future, and I expect in time to come to have to answer for my deeds, all my work, my relationship and dealings with my brethren; my relationship and dealings with my brethren not only in a spiritual way, and in the bond of love and peace; but also in a financial way, and in my dealings before God. And knowing this, why should I fail or fear any examination if I have done conscientiously in my life that could be made in any line that I have engaged in.

Now I thank you this morning for the one great evidence that I have had during the year, that has given me consolation, too, because I believe that I can thank all that are before me this morning for that. Notwithstanding all the hindrances, there has never been a year in which you have come more readily up with your finances to support the work of the church, that you have more readily paid into the treasury than the past year, and that has encouraged me and I can say this morning, and you will notice from looking over the report, that God's children are maintaining and sustaining his work, and that I have confidence in his children, and I have confidence that this work will move on, and whatever cloud may arise, or from whatever source or direction, that he is able to move that cloud away. That God may grant before these conference sessions shall all close that every cloud may be rifted and the great sunlight from the sun of righteousness may shine in upon us and every one may feel that the Master's hand is with us, is my prayer in Jesus' name. Amen.

Original Articles.

AUTOBIOGRAPHIC SKETCH AND IN-CIDENTS IN THE EARLY HIS-TORY OF THE REOR-GANIZATION.—NO. 14.

BY EDMUND C. BRIGGS, OF THE QUORUM OF THE TWELVE.

"Monday, July 18.—A feeling of persecution exists and some threats are made against us, and two men from Missouri visited us today, claiming to be a committee sent to warn us not to hold any more meetings in this part of the country. They said, 'You must think we are G ____ d___ fools to allow you to build up a church in our midst. You will soon rise up and undertake to drive us out of the country.' We very plainly informed said committee that we were American citizens and preaching the gospel of Christ and were not in any manner connected or associated with the Mormons in Utah; and after some little explana-tion of our doctrine they made apologies to us and said: 'Gentlemen, go ahead; we have been misinformed in relation to you, and we will not do anything to hinder your work.' They bade us good-bye, and we took no further notice of the rumors that were put afloat against us. But we observed the little opposition against us in this place was indicative that Satan was aware a great work was going to be done in here."

We did not then think that near this place would be the headquarters of the church. Lamoni is only about fourteen miles from where this committee waited on us July 18, 1859, ever memorable in my history, for I admit I felt a little indignant at first to have a committee wait on me on such business. My own grandfathers were in the war to secure the liberty of our country from all oppression and that our government might be enjoyed as an asylum where religious intolerance should not have one breath of God's free air; and my father was in the war of 1812 to perpetuate that sacred boon for all ages to come - and to have these two men come to warn me to cease preaching the gospel of Christ, -well, I may say it served to stir up all the latent powers of my mind against intolerance and persecution that had culminated and been fostered by religious fanaticism since the world be-Whenever I see people get gan. angry and discourteous with each other on account of a difference of religious views, I always call it Cain's religion, who slew his brother. Inspired Translation of the Scriptures informs us that Satan inspired Cain to kill the first martyr through religious disappointment and to rob his brother Abel; and I must say, when any people or religious person gets mad with others while conversing on religious subjects, I cannot help thinking they have Cain's religion. love of God sent Jesus, the blessed Master, to this earth to teach good will and peace on earth to all men, and my religion is to help the unfortunate to see the light of life that is revealed in the pure doctrine of Christ, and my weapons are spiritual (not carnal) to the pulling down of all ignorance and the establishing of knowledge in the hearts of my fellow men, which is eternal life through God's eternal Spirit. The Blessed One clothes the beautiful thought with these golden words:-

And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou has sent.—John 17: 3.

All who have been or ever will be saved in the kingdom of God must be taught and led by the Holy Spirit, which gives them a knowledge of the truth, which is not an ecstacy of excitement and confusion, to bewilder the sober, candid, thinking mind to weigh facts and solid problems of logical truth submitted by the Divine Being. Jesus again gives us the sublime rule in this strong sentence and arbitrary statement:—

Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth.—John 17:17.

Notice, my dear reader, it does not say through human rituals or ceremonies devised by mortal men or synods, which deny present revelation and God's willingness to commune with his children whom the Christ came to save.

But to return to my journal.

"July 19.—I wrote letters and read what I could in the Bible, though my head ached most of the time except when in meeting or earnestly talking upon our glorious faith. It seems very strange that since I started from Burlington every day and most of the time I am suffering with the headache, and a part of the time quite ill in health. Bro. Hinkle takes back today what he said a few days since when he proposed to wager his life that Bro. Joseph would not be president of the church, but he says, I will take back what I said, for truly there is truth in the law of lineage, but whether Joseph inherits the office of president or not is not clear to my mind yet.' We held a prayer meeting at Bro. Morey's. It was very spiritual and interesting. Two sisters requested baptism during the meeting.

"Wednesday, 20th.—This morning went to the river for baptism. Bro. Blair addressed the large audience who gathered to witness the example and obedience to the sacred ordinance which Jesus the Christ commanded, and who hallowed Jordan's waters by his example and commands to take his cross and burden, which is light and easy to bear, and 'follow me.' Bro. Blair was lit up with the Spirit to impress the thought that obedience to the command of God was better than to sacrifice, and illustrated his thoughts by King Saul's disobedience to sacrifice in the minister's office instead of hearkening to the word of the Lord. He then immersed ten precious souls for the remission of sins according to the doctrine of Christ."

One who was baptized, a Miss Elizabeth Hartman, deserves particular mention by me. When confirming her, I rebuked the disease that had troubled her and pronounced her well in the name of Jesus Christ. I was especially moved by the Spirit to say, "Be well." It troubled me very much, for she looked so well and hearty I did not think she could be ill in any way, and I often thought of it, and was much perplexed over it. Years passed and I had crossed the continent in the defense of the gospel. and yet that instance of administering and blessing Sr. Hartman with health was just as fresh in my memory as though it were but yesterday. A few years ago on my recent visit to Lamoni I met her again and she was telling me a dream she had some little time before. She said, "I do not know as it means anything, but I feel like telling you of it. I was walking in a very narrow path, and on each side of the path were thorns, thistles, weeds, and briars, and scattered among them on either side of me were now and then beautiful flowers, but I was not paying any attention to them. I looked ahead of me and saw an elevation like a plain, and all around it had banisters, and I saw a gentleman up there, and he said to me, 'Pluck some of those flowers and bring with you.' But I replied, 'I am going to a land of flowers.' 'Yes,' he said, 'but they are not yours,' and I could see the flowers hanging over the banisters."

I had the Spirit when she told me the dream, and felt to tell her the dream fitly represented the narrow path that but few could find in this world. The flowers represented the Christian graces that Saints should put on in this pobation, and the thorns, thistles, weeds, and briars represented the troubles and trials incident to this life, and only those in the midst of trials who secured the flowers and graces of the Christian life would indeed adorn the higher and better world. The sweet, happy influence of the Spirit indeed gave me comfort of soul as she then continued:-

"I have never forgotten the time when you confirmed me into the church. I had been subject to some complaint or disease, I do not know what, but I would be around the house or walking along in the road, when all of a sudden I would fall down helpless as a child without a single premonition or warning to my senses. I would fall anywhere I happened to be. But I never had one of those falls after you confirmed me."

My dear reader, I must indeed say in the language of the Psalmist David, The word of the Lord tried me (Ps. 105:19) all those years since I had confirmed this dear disciple, and pronounced her well, when to my human senses she seemed the very picture of health. I had often thought over this manifestation, but when she now told me of her illness and how she was healed from that very day, it lifted a load of doubt and fear from me that had distressed me many times for years. I had often thought how many of the prophets must have been tried in their very souls in olden time after they had received the word of the Lord and from every human standpoint it appeared impossible for the thing promised to them to come to pass. Nay, more, the very revelation they had received was so very forbidding and even brought trouble upon them, it would seem, yet they proved faithful. But I never applied the lesson to myself in those early days and so gained comfort from them, as I should have done.

It would seem I was often left alone. I now see why it was so. For example, let me illustrate, for the benefit of my reader, from the devoted son of Jacob:—

And Joseph dreamed a dream, and he told it his brethren: and they hated him yet the more. And he said unto them, Hear, I pray you, this dream which I have dreamed: for, behold, we were binding sheaves in the field, and, lo, my sheaf arose, and also stood upright; and, behold, your sheaves stood round about, and made obeisance to my sheaf. And his brethren said to him, Shalt thou indeed reign over us? or shalt thou indeed have dominion over us? And they hated him yet the more for his dreams, and for his words. Ah, they seem to have had a presentiment that the dreams meant something.

And he dreamed yet another dream, and told it his brethren, and said, Behold, I have dreamed a dream more; and, behold, the sun and the moon and the eleven stars made obeisance to me. And he told it to his father, and to his brethren: and his father rebuked him, and said unto him, What is this dream that thou hast dreamed? Shall I and thy mother and thy brethren indeed come to bow down ourselves to thee to the earth? And his brethren envied him; but his father observed the saying.—Genesis 37:5-11.

Again:-

And when they [his brethren] saw him afar off, even before he came near unto them, they conspired against him to slay him. And they said one to another, Behold, this dreamer cometh. Come now therefore, and let us slay him, and cast him into some pit, and we will say, Some evil beast hath devoured him; and we shall see what will become of his dreams. And Reuben heard it, and he delivered him out of their hands; and said, Let us not kill him. And Reuben the distress of this poor boy's mind none can tell at this late date, though, thank God, a little light is thrown on it by those same cruel, self-condemned, wicked brothers, in just two verses in the Bible, when they, too, were bound in a lonely said unto them, Shed no blood, but cast him into this pit that is in the wilderness, and lay no hand upon him; that he might rid him out of their hands, to deliver him to his father again. And it came to pass, when Joseph was come unto his brethren, that they stripped Joseph out of his coat, his coat of many colors that was on him; and they took him, and east him into a pit: and the pit was empty, there was no water in it. And they sat down to eat bread: and they lifted up their eyes and looked, and, behold, a company of Ishmaelites came from Gilead, with their camels bearing spicery and balm and myrrh, going to carry it down to Egypt.

And Judah said unto his brethren, What profit is it if we slay our brother, and conceal his blood? Come, and let us sell him to the Ishmaelites, and let not our hand be upon him; for he is our brother and our flesh: and his brethren were content. Then there passed by Midianites merchantmen; and they drew and lifted up Joseph out of the pit, and sold Joseph to the Ishmaelites for twenty pieces of silver: and they brought Joseph into Egypt.-Verses 18-28 inclusive.

It is seen in the above that the word of the Lord given to Joseph must have been a great trial to him, suffering and pain. But the hand of the Lord overruled, even in this cruel event of wicked men, and made the wrath of man to praise God, and Joseph to be a savior to those wicked men. Let the Psalmist David describe this wonderful event:—

He sent a man before them, even Joseph, who was sold for a servant: whose feet they hurt with fetters: he was laid in iron: until the time that his word came: the word of the Lord tried him. The king sent and loosed him; even the ruler of the people, and let him go free. He made him lord of his house, and ruler of all his substance: to bind his princes at his pleasure: and teach his senators wisdom.—Psalms 105:17-22.

O, my brethren, what a flood of light is poured on this sacred passage! Just think of the cruel suffering this little lad must have passed through! He was only seventeen years old when he was sold to the Midianite merchantmen as a slave. Stripped of his coat of many colors; torn away from affectionate father, mother, and sisters; bound with chains and driven into Egypt, a foreign land. dark night that passed over this loved son, loved of God and all good men, can only be imagined by us in this way off and late age of the world. What was in reserve for that young prophet of God was hid from him. The cruel, voluptuous Potiphar's wife. The dark dungeon where the hideous criminals were incarcerated had not yet opened its iron doors, grating on his sensitive ears. The accusations against him as one of the blackest criminals that ever was thrust into a prison he had never as yet thought of. And all of this was awaiting the young prophet. What must have been the distress of this poor boy's mind none can tell at this late date, though, thank God, a little light is thrown on it by those same cruel, self-condemned, wicked brothers, in prison house as spies, though they did not mean to admit their crime. Let us read it:—

And they said one to another, We are verily guilty concerning our brother, in that we saw the anguish of his soul, when he besought us, and we would not hear; therefore is this distress come upon us. And Reuben answered them, saying, Spake I not unto you, saying, Do not sin against the child; and ye would not hear? therefore, behold, also his blood is required.—Genesis 42: 21, 22.

And again:-

And when Joseph came home, they brought him the present which was in their hand into the house, and bowed themselves to him to the earth.—Genesis 43: 26.

O, how the eleven sheaves bowed to his sheaf!

And Judah and his brethren came to Joseph's house; ... and they fell before him on the ground.—Genesis 44: 14.

Yes, Joseph's dreams came to pass.

SANCTIFICATION .- NO. I.

BY C. SCOTT.

Sanctification is a principle of divine truth taught in all the revelations of God to man, so far as we possess them, both ancient and modern. It is testified to by our Savior, the prophets, and apostles. It is characteristic of our Father, his son, and the angels of heaven, and must be made characteristic of all mankind who are made free from sin through the atonement of Christ, and who are redeemed, finally.

A belief in the work of sanctification, as taught in the gospel, has ever manifested itself among those who understandingly accepted the gospel and lived faithfully in accordance with it. It is just as important and essential to salvation in Christ, in its place, as any other principle of truth.

Much speculation has been and is indulged in by many good, religious peoples, and a vagueness of ideas exists as to what sanctification really means. Some claim to be sanctified who have never obeyed the gospel, and who, therefore, are in an unjustified condition; and some have gone so far in their claims to being sanctified as to have become infallible, so far as their liability to err or sin is concerned. And withal, they claim to receive such infallibility from God in answer to their prayers. And again. some confound sanctification with holiness, and claim to receive holinessa second blessing — directly from heaven, a bestowment immediate and direct.

It seems to us, under these circumstances, it would be wise to investigate this question, briefly at least.

WHAT, THEN, IS SANCTIFICATION?

Webster's second definition of the word sanctification is:—

To separate, set apart, or appoint to a holy, sacred, or religious use.

We think Bible usage justifies this sense of the word, as follows:—

But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts; and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you, with meekness and fear.

—1 Peter 3: 15.

This is the water of Meribah; because the children of Israel strove with the Lord, and he was sanctified in them.—Num. 20:13.

According to the Apostle Peter, all true followers of Christ will set the Lord God of all created things apart as the only object, being, of their adoration and worship. In the second passage cited, Jehovah was known and separated from all others as the God whom Israel should reverence. Also, when the children of Israel were called upon to consecrate the first of their all to the divine service, it is written:—

Only the firstling of the beasts, which should be the Lord's firstling, no man shall sanctify it; whether it be ox or sheep: it is the Lord's.—Lev. 27: 26.

No man in ancient Israel could "sanctify" or set apart, or appoint to any other purpose or service that which had been already consecrated to God. In Numbers 35:11, we read that God commanded Israel to "appoint" cities of refuge for certain purposes when they should enter their promised land; and in Joshua it is recorded (see marginal reading), chapter 20, verses 6, 7, the names of the cities sanctified or appointed. When the tabernacle was finished and its furniture completed, Moses, by divine command, sanctified, separated, and appointed it to the divine service. (Lev. 8:10.) In the divine instructions given to ancient Israel regarding their keeping themselves from defilements, we read:-

For I am the Lord your God: ye shall therefore sanctify yourselves, and ye shall be holy; for I am holy: neither shall ye defile yourselves with any manner of creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.—Lev. 17.44

In this text we are taught that both sanctification and holiness are conditional, depending on the active observance of the duties of those who are sanctified, and who, by sanctifying themselves, thereby become holy. And thus were the children of Israel sanctified. God set apart to the holy worship of himself, or "sanctified," the temple builded by Solomon. (See 2 Chron. 7:16.) Our Savior separated or appointed to be the Redeemer. Savior of man, to be the Prince of life, to be the Judge of quick and dead; and by this divine appointment was he sanctified.

Say ye of him, whom the Father hath sanctified, and sent into the world, thou blasphemest; because I said, I am the Son of God?—John 10:36.

Sanctification is the state or condition of being sanctified. Infallibility is not being liable to error or to making mistakes. A child of God, a saint is, briefly stated, a sanctified one. But saints do not by being such become infallible, or of a condition where they may not make mistakes, —mistakes too, that may be sins. In order not to be liable to mistakes, one must know all things, and be so impervious to the tendencies of the propensities of his being, that because of his knowledge of all right and wrong, he can and does abstain from all wrong, and know, infallibly, to do just right, and always do right. one but God could, therefore, be infallible. To be sanctified, then, does not carry us over into the realm of infallibility, or that state of absolute perfection, in this life where we are beyond committing wrong, or of liability to err.

To avoid the extremes on any subject is an evidence of the operation of sanctification in us. Some of our modern advocates of sanctification are so extreme that should one wear clothes like, or in imitation of, those that God had made and sanctified for his ministers, the high priests, to wear (see Ex. 28), they would be adjudged to be anything else but sanctified. It reminds one of the incident that transpired where one condemned another for wearing a robe, costing five cents per yard, with a little ruffle just at the hem, while the pin that held her long, beautiful hair cost more money than the condemned robe! Whenever so-called holiness, perfection, or sanctification goes so far as to cause its votaries to sit in judgment, or accuse others merely because of external appearances, so long as they are of humble spirit, it is something else than sanctification. Jesus was holy and sanctified, but he judges no man.

If any man hear my words, and believe not, I judge him not; for I came not to judge, but to save the world.—John 12: 47.

It is the province of the true followers of Christ to judge principles in their relation to religion; it is the province of all to examine, bring to the test, the doctrines and teachings, religiously, of men, receive the truth, and reject the error. But sanctification, as used in the Bible and the other revelations, signifies more than to appoint, or separate to, or consecrate to a holy and sacred use. It also signifies:—

In a general sense, to cleanse, purify, or make holy.—Webster.

This definition applies under the gospel as well as under the law. All who render obedience to the gospel, by such obedience to the truth, sanctify or set themselves apart, or separate themselves from the service of sin to the love and service of God. So the Apostle Paul, while addressing the Corinthians, addressed "them that are sanctified in Christ Jesus, called to be saints." He did not address them as those who were either individually or collectively, absolutely without sin. Sanctification involves the process of becoming holy and perfect.

Our obedience to the truth is the process. "Sanctify them through thy truth; thy word is truth," says our Savior to the Father. (John 17:17.)

A number of years after the temple was builded, it was permitted to be defiled by leaving many things in it that were not right, so King Hezekiah determined to cleanse the house of the Lord, and the priests who had the care of the house were directed to see that the work was done.

And the priests went into the inner part of the house of the Lord, to cleanse it, and brought out all the uncleanness that they found in the temple of the Lord into the court of the house of the Lord. And the Levites took it, to carry it out abroad into the brook Kidron. Now they began on the first day of the first month to sanctify, and on the eighth day of the month came they to the porch of the Lord; so they sanctified the nouse of the Lord in eight days; and in the sixteenth day of the first month they made an end.—2 Chron. 29:16, 17.

In this case, as we see, to cleanse and to sanctify is used interchangeably. And it will be observed that the process, or actions, or work of cleansing the house, was sanctifying it. To cleanse the house of everything unholy was to sanctify the house. The power of God's law, and a strict obedience to it, to all of its requirements, are essential to the cleansing of or sanctifying men from all past sins, and this involves their own efforts in complying with all its commandments. By the word or law of God is man begotten through his faith in that word.

Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth, that we should be a kind of first-fruits of his creatures.—Jas. 1: 18.

The law of the Lord is perfect converting the soul; the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple.—Ps. 19: 7.

Hear David again on this point:-

Let thy mercies come also unto me, O Lord, even thy salvation, according to thy word. So shall I have wherewith to answer him that reproacheth me: for I trust in thy word. And take not the word of truth utterly out of my mouth; for I have hoped in thy judgments. So shall I keep thy law continually for ever and ever. And I will walk at liberty: for I seek thy precepts. I will speak of thy testimonies also before kings, and will not be ashamed. And I will delight myself in thy commandments, which I have loved. My hands also will I lift up unto thy commandments, which I have loved; and I will meditate in thy statutes. Remember the word unto thy servant, upon which thou hast caused me to hope. This is my comfort in my affliction: for thy word hath quickened me.—Ps. 119: 41-50.

The prophet here holds forth the all essentiality of the keeping of God's statutes, law, and commandments, as a means ordained of God to man's perfection, holiness, and sanctification; also, that by the word of truth he had been "quickened," or began to have of the divine life. Jesus says:—

The words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life.—John 6: 63.

In harmony with the foregoing is the following language of Jesus:—

Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth. As thou hast sent me into the world, even so have I sent them into the world. And for their sakes I sanctify myself, that hey also might be sanctified through the truth. Neither pray I for these [apostles] alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word; that they all may be one; as thou Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us: that the world may believe that thou hast sent me. And the glory which thou gavest me I have given them; that they may be one, even as we are one; I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me. —John 17: 17-23.

A number of points in this statement of the Christ are of special importance in this connection. He sanctified himself for our sakes, that we might be sanctified through the truth—God's word. All who believe on Christ Jesus, as the one sent of God, Savior, Redeemer, God manifest in the flesh, on the word or testimony of his apostles and witnesses, are "one" in faith. Paul says:—

For both he that sanctifieth and they who are sanctified are all one; for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren.—Heb. 2: 11.

Will Jesus be ashamed to call all brethren who are not sanctified and are one by believing the word of God by his witnesses? The unity of God's children in faith through his word is made a basis for the world to believe that Christ is sent into the world—sent of God, the Messiah. Now hear Paul again, and but a short time before his martyrdom, and when tendering his final charge in this world to the Ephesian elders, how solemn the words appear:—

And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them that are sanctified.—Acts 20: 32.

Through God's word as a means men are converted, are brought to believe in God, made one in belief, and by their faithful, continual obedience thereto are sanctified, are brought into the relation of children, adopted into his family, and are brought into a state of sanctification. Perfection, holiness, and sanctification are principles in which the children of the Father are developed, not all at once, but gradually. They grow in these as in other principles of the gospel. "Let us go on unto perfection," says Paul.

Wherefore laying aside all malice and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings, as new born babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that we may grow thereby.—1 Peter 2: 1, 2.

That our own efforts in keeping the law of God are all essential to our sactification further appears from the following:—

And they who are not sanctified through the law which I have given unto you, even the law of Christ, must inherit another kingdom, even that of a terrestrial kingdom, or the kingdom.

that of a telestial kingdom. For he who is not able to abide the law of a celestial kingdom, cannot abide a celestial glory; and he who cannot abide the law of a terrestrial kingdom, cannot abide a terrestrial glory; he who cannot abide the law of a telestial kingdom, cannot abide a telestial glory: therefore, he is not meet for a kingdom of glory. Therefore, he must abide a kingdom which is not a kingdon of glory.

And again, verily I say unto you, That which is governed by law, is also preserved by law, and perfected and sanctified by the same. That which breaketh a law, and abideth not by law, but seeketh to become a law unto itself, and willeth to abide in sin, and altogether abideth in sin, cannot be sanctified by law, neither by mercy, justice, or judgment; therefore, they must remain filthy still.—D. C. 85: 5, 8.

This language of God from the late revelations to the church is plain and positive, and fully accords with the words of the New Testament. And all the foregoing statements go to show that sanctification independently of the law of God—the gospel—is unfounded in truth, is a delusion. If man desires to be separate from sin and evil. let him put away his sins and turn and do whatsoever the gospel law requires. Aside from strictly keeping God's law, neither mercy, justice, nor judgment can sanctify him. By obedience to the truth of the gospel man becomes cleansed from All the praying in the world avails nothing so long as obedience to the holy commandments is neglected. Here is the proof of this proposition.

Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven.—Matt. 7:21.

Whosoever cometh to me, and heareth my sayings, and doeth them, I will shew you to whom he is like: he is like a man which built a house, and digged deep, and laid the foundation on a rock; and when the flood arose, the stream beat vehemently upon that house, and could not shake it; for it was founded upon a rock. But he that heareth and doeth not, is like a man that without a foundation built a house upon the earth; against which the stream did beat vehemently, and immediately it fell; and the ruin of that house was great.—Luke 6:47-49.

By these statements of Jesus we see at once that to hear God's commandments and not do them is as vain as to build our house without a foundation in a flooded district. The house here referred to is our hope for salvation. Where are we building; on God's commands, or on man's traditions? Can we by praying only, change the immutable Jehovah from his expressed purpose?

Three things are essential for us to do: Come unto God—Christ; HEAR his sayings, and then do them, and not some man's interpretations of them. Jesus' words relating to our duty need no interpreting, except as the Holy Ghost, who guides into all truth has explained or may explain and define them. We must do God's will if we become sanctified, and enter the kingdom.

WHAT THEN IS THE WILL OF THE FATHER?

Since sanctification, holiness, and perfection depend on doing the will and commandments of God, it is of infinite importance that we become acquainted with that will. Let us read:—

Wash ye, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil; learn to do well; seek judgment, relieve the oppressed, judge the fatherless, plead for the widow.—Isa. 1: 16, 17.

Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon. For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord.—Isa. 55: 7, 8.

For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lasciviousness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness: all these evil things come from within, and defile the man.—Mark 7: 21-23.

According to these latter statements of holy writ, sanctification must begin in the heart, and from thence evil must be rooted out. We must do this before the Holy Ghost will come to us, for he will not enter into and abide in unholy temples.

What! know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?—1 Cor. 6: 19.

If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy.—1 Cor. 3: 17.

Thus wrote Paul to the church; and Jesus, speaking to his disciples, said: And I will pray the Father, and he shall

And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you.—John 14: 16, 17.

And the promise of the reception of the Holy Ghost as here made, is on the stated condition that the disciples love God and keep his commandments. We cannot receive the Holy Ghost without obeying the commandments, nor can we go on with the work of sanctification to a complete success without the help and direction of the Holy Ghost; so there is no complete sanctification, holiness, or perfection, without the faithful persistence in obeying all the gospel requirements, and so we become a partaker of the Spirit. The Apostle Peter thus testifies:—

And we are his witnesses of these things; and so also is the Holy Ghost, whom God hath given to all them that obey him.—Acts 5: 32.

How then shall man begin the work of cleansing himself of evil, that he may be sanctified before the Lord? St. James says:—

Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls. But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves.—Jas. 1: 21, 22.

Again he says:-

Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double-minded.—Jas. 4:8.

Peter, in harmony with James, savs:—

Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently. Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible by the word of God, which liveth and abideth forever. . . And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unto you.—1 Peter 1:22, 23, 25.

From the testimony here adduced it is evident that sanctification is brought about through faith and obedience to the law or word of God, the gospel. Obedience to the truth purifies the soul, and to purify or cleanse is to sanctify. By obeying or accepting the gospel we separate or set ourselves apart from the corruptions of sin to the service of God. By a continuance of the observance of its boly requirements we learn to live holy, pure lives, and the work of sanctification continues its development in all the obedient, and is effected in all such as rapidly as they "cease to do evil and learn to do well." The Master says:-

Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.—Matt. 4:4.

(To be continued.)

CLARKSDALE, Mo., Feb. 6, 1901.

Editors Herald:—Inclosed is a true translation of the latest Encyclical of Pope Leo XIII., which has been sent to me by my relatives from Germany. I send this article to you with the desire of its being published for the benefit of the elders in the church, if it is of any value. Yours in bonds,

ROBERT GARLICH.

CHRISTIAN REUNION.

ARGUMENT FOR THE PRIMARY OF ST. PETER.

The Holy Father, intent upon the work of bringing all to one fold of Christ, considers that it would conduce to that end were he to set before the people of the Christian world the ideal and examplar of the church as divinely constituted, to which church all are bound by God's command to belong. In accordance with his usual providence, God makes use of human instruments to effect the sanctification and salvation of men. To this end not only did he take upon himself human nature, but, in order to perpetrate his mission, the Son of God. those apostles and disciples whom he had trained that they might faithfully hand down his teaching and commands to those who desired the blessings he had purchased for all mankind by his death.

In commanding the "apostles and their successors to the end of time to teach and rule the nations, he ordered the nations to accept and obey their authority." In scripture the church is called a body, and the body of Christ. It is visible, as being a living and organized society, and is animated by the invisible, vital principle of supernatural life. Those, therefore, who either deny that Christ's church is a visible body, or refuse to allow that it "has the perennial communication of the gifts of divine grace" are equally "in a grievous and pernicious error." The connection and union of both elements is as absolutely necessary to the true church as the intimate union of the soul and body is to human nature;" and as this is the essential constitution of the church according to God's will, who also determined that it was to last to the end of time, this it must possess at the present day. It is obviously of the first importance to determine what Christ wished his church to be and what in fact he made it. According to this criterion it is the unity of the Christian church which must necessarily be considered, for it is certain that "he who founded it wished it to be one." The mission of Christ was to save" not some nations or peoples only, but the whole human race, without distinction of time and place." Hence, as the mission of his church was to hand down through every age the blessing of this salvation by the will of its founder, it is necessary that this church should be one in all lands and at all times. A church which should embrace all men, everywhere, and at all times, was clearly foretold by the prophet Isaiah, and was typified as our Lord's mystical body—a body united to himself as head; a mystical body, the members of which, if separated one from the other, "cannot be united with one and the same head."

And so another head like Christ, that is, another Christ, must be invented, if besides the one church, which is his body, men wish to set up another. Furthermore, "He who made this one church also gave it unity—that is, he made it such that all who are to belong to it must be united by the closest bonds, so as to form one society, one kingdom, one body." And he willed that this unity amongst his followers should be so perfect "that it might in some measure shadow forth that union between himself and his Father." necessary consequence, in his divine wisdom he ordained in his church a virtue which is the first of those bonds which unite man to God, and whence we receive the name of the faithful. The nature of this unity of faith must and can be ascertained from the commandments and teachings of Christ himself. The mere possession of the scriptures is not sufficient to insure unity of belief.

"Not merely because of the nature of the doctrine itself and the mysteries it involves, but also because of the divergent tendency of the human mind and the disturbing elements of conflicting passion." It was necessary "that there should be another principle" to insure union of minds in the Christian church, and it is consequently proper to inquire which of the many means by which Christ our Lord could have secured this unity he, in fact, adopted. It is the duty of all followers of Christ not merely to accept his doctrine generally, "but to assent with their entire mind to all and every point of it. Since it is unlawful to withhold faith from God, even in regard to one single point." Christ endowed his apostles with authority like to his own, and promised that the spirit of truth should direct them and remain with them forever; and because of this commission, "it is no more allowable to repudiate one iota of the apostles' teaching than to reject any point of the doctrine of Christ himself."

This apostolic mission was intended for the salvation of the whole human race, and consequently must last to the end of time. The magisterium instituted by Christ in his church was by God's will perpetuated in the successors appointed by the apostles, and in like manner the duty of accepting and professing all that is thus taught is also "perpetual and immutable." There is nothing which the church, founded on these principles, has been more careful to guard the integrity of the faith. The fathers of the church are unanimous in considering outside the Catholic communion anyone who in the least degree deviates from even one point of the doctrine proposed by the authoritative magisterium of the church. Wherefore Christ instituted in the church a living, authoritative, and lasting magisterium. He willed and commanded under the gravest penalties that its teachings should be received as if they were his own. As often, therefore, as it is declared on the authority of this teaching that this or that is contained in the deposit of divine revelation, it must be believed by everyone as true." The very nature of divine faith makes it impossible that we can reject even one point of direct teaching, as this is practically rejecting the authority of God himself.

Christ commanded all men, present and future, to follow him as their leader and savior, and not merely as individuals but as forming a society. organized and united in mind. He established in the church all those principles which necessarily tend to make organized human societies, and through which they attain the perfection of earth. That is, in the church founded by Christ, "all who wish to supreme and absolutely independent; so be the sons of God by adoption might to the perfection demanded by their high calling and might obtain salvation." The church is man's guide to whatever pertains to heaven. That she may watch over and may order all that concerns religion, and may, without let or hindrance, exercise, according to her judgment its charge over Christianity." Wherefore they who pretend that the church has any wish to interfere in civil matters or to infringe upon the rights of the state either know it not, or wickedly calumniate it.

Besides being the guardian of the faith, the church must afford the means of obtaining the salvation pur-chased by Christ. The dispensation of the divine mysteries was not granted by God indiscriminately to all Christians, but to the apostles and their successors, and in this way, according to God's providence, a duly constituted society "was formed out of the divided multitudes of people, one in faith, one in end, one in the participation of the means adapted to the attainment of the end, and one as subject to one and the same authority." As "no true and perfect human society can be so conceived which is not governed by some supreme authority," so Christ, of necessity, gave to his church a supreme authority to which all Christians must be obedient. For the preservation of unity there must be unity of government, jure divino; and men may be placed outside the one fold by schism as well as by heresy. The nature of this supreme authority can be ascertained from the positive and evident will of Christ on the matter.

As he willed that his kingdom should be visible. Christ was obliged to designate a viceregent on earth, in the person of St. Peter. also determined that the authority given to him for the salvation of mankind in perpetuity should be inherited by St. Peter's successors. It cannot be doubted that the words of holy writ prove that the church by the will of God rests on St. Peter as a building on its foundation. St. Peter could not fulfill this duty "without the power of commanding, forbidding, judging, which is properly called jurisdiction." It is [by] the power of risdiction." jurisdiction that nations and commonwealths are held together. A primary of honor and the shadowy right of giving advice and admonition, which is called direction, could never give unity or strength to any society of men.

The metaphorical expressions of the "keys," and of "binding and loosing," indicate "the power of making laws, of judging and of punishing"-a power which our Lord declares to be of such amplitude and force "that God would ratify whatever is decreed by it. Thus the power of St. Peter is that, having no other power upon earth as its superior, it embraces the whole church and all things committed to the church." As the governing authority belongs to the constitution and formation of the church, as the very principle of unity and stability, it was clearly intended to pass to St. Peter's successors, from one to another. Consequently the pontiffs who succeed him in the Roman episcopate receive the supreme power in the church, "jure divino," and this is fully declared by the general councils and is acknowledged by the consent of antiquity. But though the authority of St. Peter and his successors is plenary and supreme, it is to be regarded as the only authority. The bishops, who are the successors of the apostle, "inherit their ordinary power," and "the episcopal order necessarily belongs to the essential constitution of the church. They are, consequently, not to be regarded as mere vicars of the Roman pontiffs, since they exercise power which is really their own and are most truly called the ordinary pastors of the people over whom they rule." For the preservation of unity in the Christian church it is above all things necessary that there should be union between the Roman pontiff, the one successor of St. Peter, and the bishops, the many successors of the apostolic college. "It is necessary to bear in mind that no prerogative was conferred upon them in which St. Peter did not participate, but that many were bestowed upon St. Peter apart from the apostles. He alone was designated by Christ as the foundation of the church. To him he gave the power of forgiving and retaining, and to him alone was given the authority to feed."

From this follows "that bishops are deprived of the right and power of ruling if they deliberately secede from Peter and his successors, because by this secession they are separated from the foundation on which the whole edifice rests." As the divine founder of the church decreed that his church should be one in faith, in government, and communion, so he chose Peter and his successors as the principal, and, as it were, the center of this unity." The episcopal order is rightly judged to be in communion with Peter. as Christ commanded, if it is subject to and obeys Peter, otherwise it becomes a lawless and disorderly crowd." For the due preservation of unity of the faith it is not sufficient "that the head should have been charged merely with the office of superintendent, or should have been invested solely with the power of direction; but it is absolutely necessary that he should have received real and sovereign authority which the whole community is bound to obey."

It is opposed to truth, and is in evident contradiction with the divine constitution of the church to hold that, while each bishop is individually bound to obey the authority of the Roman pontiffs, the bishops taken collectively are not so bound; for it is the nature and essence of a foundation to support the unity of the whole edifice and to give stability to it, rather than that of each component part. It was through the strength and solidity of the foundation "that Christ promised that the gates of hell should not prevail against his church—a promise to be understood of the church as a whole, and not of any certain portions of it." Moreover, he who is set over the flock must have authority not only over the sheep dispersed throughout the church, but also when they are assembled together. Do all the sheep gathered together rule or guide the shepherd? Do the successors of the apostles assembled together constitute the foundation on which the successor of St. Peter rests in order to derive therefrom strength and stability? popes have ever unquestionably exercised the office of ratifying or rejecting the decrees of councils. "Leo the Great rescinded the acts of the Conciliabulum of Ephesus; Damascus rejected those of Rimini, and Adrian I. those of Constantinople. twenty eighth canon of the Council of Chalcedon, by the very fact that it lacks the assent and approval of the apostolic see, is admitted by all to be worthless."

Holy writ attests that the keys of the kingdom of heaven were given to Peter alone, and that the promise of binding and loosing was granted to the apostles and to Peter, but there is nothing to show that the apostles received supreme power without Peter or against Peter. Such power they certainly did not receive from Jesus Christ. Wherefore, in the decree of the Vatican Council as to the nature and authority of the primary of the Roman Pontiff, no newly conceived opinion is set forth, but the venerable and constant belief of all ages.

Will the United States have a population of 300,000,000 by the end of the twentieth century? Mr. O. P. Austin, chief of United States Bureau of Statistics, in an article in the April Forum, answers the question in the affirmative. Mr. Austin very carefully considers the most densely populated districts and countries of the present day, and their conditions, and holds that the United States, with its enormously increasing cultivatable area, its resources, its rapid progress in economics and mechanics will be more able to sustain such a population a century hence than are the prosperous nations of Europe to sustain their population of today.

Happiness is a relative term but not always the term of relatives.—Saturday Evening Post.

Letter Department.

SALT LAKE CITY,

Utah, April 2.

Editors Herald:—As yet, we have not secured farther use of the second ward meeting house, where Elder Tanner and the writer spoke upon the same subject, the same evening, recently. I have made application, through the courtesy of Apostle Cowley, for a limited use, under certain restrictions, of the various ward meeting houses in the city. Will get an answer in a few days.

We have been materially helped by brethren stopping over Sundays on the way to General Conference and preaching for us. We hope they will not forget us on return trip westward, sending notice of their coming to T. Thoreson, Box 168, or to the writer, so your efforts can be advertised.

Mail sent to above address will reach me promptly; telephone No. 012y.

Box 168.

W. S. PENDER.

DENVER, Colo., April 1.

Editor Herald:—I am glad to inform the HERALD readers that my health is much better of late. Yesterday I attended five of the church services, preaching three sermons besides riding six or eight miles to Fairmont cemetery and back and observing the fast appointed for the church. I thought it was a pretty good day's work for an invalid.

The outlook is quite encouraging for the work in Denver. Several outsiders are attending regularly, and some have told me they were about ready to unite with us. And there is quite an improvement in the interest on the part of the membership. Some, however, need a little more energy yet. Some of our members are still sorely afflicted and need the prayers of the Saints. God has not seen fit to answer our prayers in behalf of some of them, but we will continue to pray for them, and feel we can safely trust them to our heavenly Father. We have had some really wonderful cases of healing in this branch in the past few years, and it should inspire us with great confidence in asking of Brn. G. H. Hilliard and E. A. Blakeslee stopped over one Sunday with us enroute to Independence and gave us some rousing sermons on the duties of the Saints in spiritual and temporal matters. We enjoyed their visit to our city very much, and believe it will have a lasting effect for good on the Saints here.

Bro. E. F. Shupe, who is in charge of the branch here, is a presiding officer of no mean ability, and a man with whom it is a pleasure to be associated. He and the writer have been quite closely associated in gospel work for nearly five years, and our relations have been of the most pleasant and brotherly character. This is as I believe it should be. The world is so large and so much work to be done in the gospel that there is plenty of room and plenty of work for all of us, and we certainly should not feel envious or jealous of our fellow laborers.

The work in this city has grown to such proportions and is in that condition that it seems they must have a man stationed here who can devote his time to the work or we will lose much of what we have seemingly gained.

We hope to see a good work done in the Colorado mission this year, and I believe that hope embraces good reasons.

Yours in the conflict, JNO. B. ROUSH.

GUILFORD, Mo., April 2.

Editors Herald:—I rejoice in this latter-day work, and shall hope and labor for the promised reward of the faithful. Am trying to live so I might be able to fulfill the promise of God unto me, that I should be able to do a noble work for the Lord, and that I should be able to preach the gospel according to the desire of my heart, and be the means of bringing some into this church. May God bless my feeble efforts, I pray.

Bro. F. L. Sawley came into this branch March 21, preached to a few Saints Sunday, the 24th, and at night. Would have continued during the week, but bad roads and weather hindered, so he visited among the Saints. His visits were appreciated.

Sunday, the 31st, quite a number of outsiders came in, and Bro. Sawley preached on the subject of "The vine and the branches," illustrating it on the blackboard.

He announced that he would preach at night and locate "hell" geographically. A goodly number came out. Bro. Sawley took as a text "Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter; fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man. For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil."—Eccl. 12: 13, 14. He illustrated by his chart, proving by scriptural texts.

The people in and around Guilford are friendly to us as a people or as individuals, willing to do us many favors, stating that they can trust us in financial matters, that we are honest and fair; but they want none of the religion we teach.

I believe that it is possible to do a good work here at this place if the Saints would live just a little nearer to God and would improve the talents given them of God, and more regularly attend meetings and Sunday school.

The gospel has not accomplished its work, nor will it so long as Saints permit worldly influences to lead them. We forget from what we were purged when we were baptized. Satan puts in his best work while Saints are in such condition.

Saints should pray often; have prayer in their homes with the whole family, also engage in secret prayer, that God who seeth in secret may reward openly. Read section 59, Doctrine and Covenants. When Saints do as is stated in this revelation, God will bless with his Holy Spirit, and Saints will be one. Zion will be here and we shall rejoice. This community was shocked Sunday by the suicide of a young and a beautiful maiden, the daughter of a respectable citizen of the vicinity of Guilford, a member of the Methodist Church. The cause is yet unknown.

Conference is soon to convene. May God bless Bro. Joseph Smith in his calling, and every member of every quorum in the church, and send a rich endowment of the spirit.

Brn. White and Davis have made a good record, I believe. My prayers go with them and all of God's servants. Remember me, Saints, in your prayers.

For Zion's weal, W. B. TORRANCE.

DUNNVILLE, Ontario, April 2.

Editors Herald:—I live a town where there is no branch of the church and where the gospel has not been preached for over five years. My parents are not in the church, yet they do not seriously oppose the latterday work and are quite friendly to the elders and other Saints who occasionally visit me, which visits are not numerous.

Though isolated, and circumstances and environments those that have a tendency to fully occupy the mind with things not secular, [?] and with opportunities few for hearing our ministers or conversing with Saints, I have, through reading church publications and studying all the books obtainable and that time would permit, gained a very fair knowledge and understanding of the doctrine. In five years I have not developed along gospel lines as I should have, or as I would have liked; but if necessary I can explain our belief understandingly to others; have been told this by those asking for information.

This angel-restored gospel that has been to me of untold blessings is now just as precious and beautiful and even more interesting than when I first heard and obeyed it.

Just previous to that time, through illness and circumstances over which I had no control, my life was one of such sadness that it seemed my sun had gone down at noonday into a midnight of gloom and darkness that no ray of light could ever penetrate; but the blessed gospel of Christ dispelled it all and brought life, light, and peace and has taken the place of all the earthly essential elements and conditions that make a happy life.

"Grief and troubles often sweep Across the surface of Life's deep; But in my soul resides A peace untouched by sorrow's tides,— A steadfast peace, an inward joy Which nothing earthly can destroy."

The aim and object of life at present is to do all possible for the advancement of the gospel and helping others to a knowledge of its truth and blessings.

The nearest branch—to which I belong—is at Low Banks, twelve miles from here. I was there three weeks last month visiting the Saints, not having been there for several months; was cordially received and entertained at the homes of Brn. Barrick, Pew, MacDonald, Minor, and Sr. Kinnard. While there I saw the most beautiful of earth's pictures—the happy homes of large families of brothers and sisters with the protection of loving fathers, and sanctified by mothers' influence and where the gospel is the daily guide and counselor. Such homes are the paradise of childhood and the Eden of older hearts. It was a heartfelt pleasure to be with the Saints on the first Sunday of the month in prayer and testimony meeting and to partake of the sacrament. With the blessings of this meeting, seeing old friends and again hearing the gospel preached by Elder A. C. Barmore, before night head and heart were both full to overflowing.

While at Low Banks, Elder Barmore preached about sixteen sermons. With clear, ringing voice, fervency, eloquence, great reasoning power and pleasing style peculiarly his own our young brother has the rare but happy faculty of preaching as well to small as large audiences, and in a manner that appeals to the minds of the educated and intellectual and that can be understood by the very young or most unlearned.

Another event that made my visit so pleasant was the return to Bro. Pew's of Elder S. W. Tomlinson who has done a good work at Low Banks and vicinity. He is greatly respected and seems to be the favorite of outsiders, and is loved by all the Saints. His preaching and conversation has been effectual in removing all existing prejudice and making friends to our cause. We heard him preach only one sermon which was splendid, making me desirous and anxious to hear him again soon.

The Saints of the branch of which Bro. Lincoln Pew is president, are alive and upto-date. They have a good Sunday school, with officers well fitted for their work. The scholars by their ready answers to review questions, and reciting of verses of scripture (some of the scholars only four and five years old) show the diligence and thorough tuition of their teachers.

Bro. Barmore organized a Zion's Religio-Literary society, with twenty charter members. They are taking up the study of the Book of Mormon. "Religio" is now a household word among the Saints, and even the little tots are learning recitations and practicing pieces to sing at the Religio. If the Religians continue to show the same interest in their society they have already evinced we will before long hear "great things" of the new society.

The Lord's blessings be upon the Sunday schools and Religios and all other organizations of the church.

It is with gratitude to the Great Giver that I can say my health, which for years has been impaired, is now improving, and through the administrations of Elders Tomlinson and Barmore one affliction has been removed. It was of long standing, and repeated expensive medical treatments had no effect. To God be all praise and glory!

FLORALICE MILLER.

You are never quite conscious of how many disagreeable lodgers there are in that many-chambered mansion you call your 'self' until anger or envy or hate knocks at the door—and presto! out come trooping such a lot of unhappy creatures—rancor and uncharitableness, and suspicion, and all unkindness, a perfect army of enemies to peace and happiness.—Helen Watterson Moody, in the April Ladies' Home Journal.

Mothers' Home Column.

EDITED BY FRANCES.

LITTLE KINDNESSES.

If you are toiling up a weary hill, Bearing a load beyond your strength to bear. Straining each nerve untiringly, and still Stumbling and losing foothold here and there; And each one passing by would do so much As give one upward lift and go their way, Would not the slight, reiterated touch Or help and kindness lighten all the day? There is no little and there is no much; We weigh and measure and define in vain; A look, a word, a light, responsive touch Can be the minister of joy to pain, A man can die of hunger, walled in gold, A crumb may quicken hope to stronger breath, And every day we give or we withhold Some little thing that tells for life or death. -Susan Coolidge.

HAPPINESS.

We are apt to think that happiness is not a cause, but an effect, and there are various causes which contribute to that one great aim of all mankind. Who can enumerate the many ways? One might as well think of numbering the fishes of the sea. Each individual has his own views in regard to the causes that will yield the much desired effect—happiness, consequently parents deal with their children according to their individual understandings.

But as that which will give one person or one child happiness, will not another, all who have the care of children should study their temperaments and abilities, and should mete out causes that will produce the desired results. Our own movements, words, and works are mirrored back to us by the little ones—then of what sort should they be?

Parents and guardians think it a very important part of their duty to teach those under their care to be very nice and orderly—and we think so too; and we also think that there are other duties equally important.

We are acquainted with a very nice woman, who moves in the first society, lives an exemplary life in all points except one—or that is our opinion—and in that one point she is trying to do her best.

"She must have approached very near perfection," thinks the observing reader; "but I want to know about that one point."

Not near the perfection of God, but the perfection of woman. In governing her children she imbibes too much of Solomon's rule. uses the rod so that the child shall not be spoiled. We think, although the old fellow was called very wise, that he erred fearfully in domestic affairs. The woman referred to teaches her children to be useful and selfreliant, neat, and orderly-we wish every woman would do so; but she is so severely neat and orderly, there is no room in the house for the children to have even a few playthings, nor is there room in the woodhouse, and in fact no room on the premises for play or playthings. We do enjoy order, and believe it to be of divine origin, but when it becomes so exquisitely nice, or so excruciatingly nice, as to deprive the boys and girls of their privilege of home play, home is not complete—one very important place is lacking. And if harsh, discordant language and the free use of the rod are used in order to attain perfect obedience and order there will be a lack of home's most important factor, love, without which there can be no happiness, whether in heaven or on earth. The dwelling place of love is the heart, and whatever reached it with a pure influence by torturing the body and irritating the mind of those given them to educate. 'Tis the love of the Father and the Son that should constrain us to repent, not the fear of punishment; the former is a free agency, the latter a compulsion.

On the same plan rests the repentance and the obedience of children.

Children's play is their own work, and often their most favorite kind is the embryo of their future business. So, dear parents, give them opportunities for and encouragement in their play. They will derive much happiness from such a course, and will have more interest in the work you have for them to do, and you, too, will derive much, very much happiness from the same, if you only think more of the children's happiness than you do of the little inconvenience and the extra work you have to do.

Children should learn to work, and should learn to do it well; but if they are kept continually delving, with no kind loving words, they will lose their interest. If we do not have a pure, unselfish love for them, without which no brain is fully developed, and no heart is fully rounded, we do not come up to the requirements of Him who still blesses them, and holds us accountable for our dealings with them.

May God bless our feeble effort to the good of the reader.

AUNT ALMIRA.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 25.

Dear Sister Walker:-For a long time I have thought of writing to you of the Daugh ters of Zion, and what a help it was to me in training my little ones. It seems such a task since our society has been disorganized, and yet I know I am helped by the things I learn from the Home Column. One day a sister of our branch, who seldom comes to church, said to me: "What good children you have in church; how did you teach them to keep so quiet. I told her the credit was due to what I had learned in our society. Again,early last spring, while I was talking to a Catholic nun who stopped at my door on business, I had occasion to ask a favor of my oldest son, he being four and a half years old. I only had to speak once, then I had to speak to my baby two years of age, and his obedience surprised her. She looked at the children and then at me, and said: "What fine discipline you have;" but she did not notice I had not forgotten to use that little word, please.

I then told her I belonged to a society known as the "Daughters of Zion," and of its object. We talked for over an hour on the subject, she asking one question and I another; then, turning to go, she said: "What a grand society it must be to have such an object, and how much good it will do.

Now I do not want to give you the impression that I have better children than any other person. I only want to show the effect the society has had on their mother, for I know I have not naturally the patience I have with them.

How I do wish we could arrange to have our meetings continued. If we only had four or five mothers to meet and talk over the lesson in the HERALD, and our experience, it helps one another so much.

We are more in need of such a society than ever in this place, for we have more young mothers now than we ever had, and like myself, they need help.

I do not know if it will do you any good to know how I appreciate the Home Column or not, but it certainly has made a mother of Praying for the success of the society, I am your sister, ALICE OMOHUNDRO.

EMSWORTH, P. O.

THE CHILDREN IN CHURCH.

In the morn of the holy Lord's day
I like in the church to see
The dear little children clustered,
And worshiping there with me.
I am sure that the gentle pastor,
Whose words are like summer dew,
Is cheered as he gazes over
Those dear little heads in the pew.

Faces earnest and thoughtful,
Innocent, grave, and sweet—
They look in the congregation
Like lillies among the wheat;
And I think that the tender Master,
Whose mercies are ever new,
Has a special benediction
For those dear little heads in the pew.

When they hear, "The Lord is my shepherd,"
Or, "Suffer the babes to come,"
They are glad that the loving Father
Has given the lambs a home—
A place of their own, with his people;
He cares for me and for you,
But close to his breast he gathers

So I love, in the great assembly,
On the Lord's day morns, to see
The dear little children clustered
And worshiping there with me,
For I know that our heavenly Father,
Whose mercies are ever new,
Has a special benediction

Those dear little heads in the pew.

For those little heads in the pew.

-Margaret Sangster.

"MAMMA'S SUNSHINE."

She was a wee bit of a girl, but she did more to keep the household sweet-spirited and happy than anyone else in the family. From morning till night she pattered about, playing, singing softly to herself and "just loving" everybody, as her brother put it. Did mamma look tired and careworn, Lucy was quick to see it and her little arms were around mamma's neck and a little voice was whispering softly: "I love you." For papa and brothers and sisters it was the same. One sad week the child was ill and how they missed her laughter and playing. The doctor had a talk with mamma, and mamma with the others. She said: "Lucy has had too much comforting to do. It has been a strain on her poor little nerves that we didn't understand. It has cost her something to be 'our sunshine.' In her baby way she has been carrying our troubles. We must be 'sunshine' for her too."

Are any of us shadowing little lives by sorrowful faces? Children rarely show how much they feel the atmosphere of trouble around them. A child needs sunshine as much as a flower.—The Christian Herald.

WHY NOT?

Why not always speak well of your neighbor? Many people who speak ill have no malice: they would be filled with remorse if the wrong they do could be brought home to them. But they have no conception of the value of reputation and the power of words. The true wealth of a community is the character of its citizens, and the sum of that priceless capital is made up of individual reputations. Whoever smirches one of these leaves a black mark on the whole community; whoever detracts from one of these weakens the moral power of the whole community. There are men and women in every country town who are not only pests and plague spots, but in reality public enemies. They are nihilists of the worst sort. They go about blindly injuring, if not actually destroying, that which, of all things that a man can acquire, is most invaluable.—Christian Union.

Sunday School Department.

ELDER T. A. HOUGAS, EDITOR.

Henderson, Mills Co., Iowa.

(Send communications for this department to the Editor Address minutes and notices of conventions, etc., to "Editors Herald, Lamoni, Iowa.")

WITH THE EDITOR.

"Of the making of books there is no end," and while it is eminently desirable that books should be multiplied it is to be regretted that increase in the number of books has some serious attendant evils.

For one thing we read too much nowadays, for another we are so taken up with new books that old ones are neglected. "for every new book read at least three old ones," was the advice given by an authority upon literature recently. Whether this be good advice or not it is advice which is followed by the few, and the admonition, frequently seen in old volumes, to "read, mark, learn and inwardly digest," is no more generally observed. We have no time to follow such advice, neither, indeed, it is to be feared, have we the inclination. We have flitted hither and thither among the flowers of literature, sipping here and tasting there, until our palate is jaded and our digestive organs so impaired that we care only for highly-spiced mental food, served in the newest fashionand we seek a continual change of diet.

ONE RESULT

of all this is, as has been remarked, a turning away from books which were dear to our fathers. Who nowadays reads "The Pilgrim's Progress," which was such a favorite that its characters and incidents were used to point a moral or adorn a tale by teacher, preacher, and writer for generations? Robinson Crusoe still appeals to the unspoiled taste of the young, but where will you, nowadays, find their elders reading the "Saints' Everlasting Rest," or "Thomas a' Kempis?" Even the Bible is no longer read as it used to be. Reports of Bible societies and publishing houses indicate that the sale of the old book goes on much as of yore, but there is unmistakable evidence that it is no longer read as it once was.

One indication that Bible reading is less general than it was is the ignorance displayed by various classes regarding its contents.

THE IGNORANCE OF MEN OF AFFAIRS concerning Bible incidents and characters has been notorious for some time. It seems to be regarded as a huge joke by many in our day that men prominent in public places, law makers and judges, should know practically nothing of the book in which is preserved as fine a code of laws as the world vet knows. After thousands of years we have not improved upon Moses, but, though the Mosaic code lies like granite below the legal structure of modern days, Moses, the man who compiled it, seems likely to be forgotten. When those in high places joke about ignorance on any topic it is not to be wondered at if their social inferiors follow the pace they set, consequently it is not surprising that cartoonists and "funny men" find a rich harvest in poking fun at the flagrant mistakes made through ignorance of a book once as familiar as books could be.

THE LOSS ATTENDANT UPON DECLINE of Bible reading is difficult to estimate, because it is many-sided. Bible reading means contact with some of the grandest lives the world has known; it means inspiration for high living and pure thinking; it means drinking from a well of pure and beautiful English; it also means acquainting one's self with a library so old and so valuable that nearly all writers of any worth have drawn from its treasures to such an extent that to appreciate them one must have acquaintance with Bible history and Bible characters.

A certain university president, who is a lover of the Bible, had fears that his students were neglecting the good, old book. To settle his doubts one way or the other he compiled paper, using poems of Alfred Tennyson containing simple Biblical allusions, and gave it to his students. Only one student, a young woman, answered every question correctly; about forty-three per cent of correct answers was given by man students and about forty-nine by the women; the significance of this result will be better understood by studying the questions, which were as follows:—

AN EXAMINATION

- 1. My sin was as a thorn among the thorns that girt thy brow.
  - 2. As manna on my wilderness.
- 3. That God would move and strike the hard, hard rock, and thence sweet in their utmost bitterness, would issue hearts of pentinence.

- 4. Like that strange angel which of old, until the breaking of the light, wrestled with wandering Israel.
- 5. Like Hezekiah's backward runs the shadow of my days.
  - 6. Joshua's moon in Ajalon.
  - 7. A heart as rough as Esau's hand.
- 8. Gash thyself, priest, and honor thy brute Baal.
  - 9. Ruth among the fields of corn.
  - 10. Pharaoh's darkness.
- 11. A Jonah's gourd, up in one night and due to sudden sun.
- 12. Stiff as Lot's wife.
- 13. Arimathean Joseph.
- 14. a. For I have flung thee pearls and find thee swine.
- 14. b. Not red like Iscariot's.
- 15. Perhaps like him of Cana in Holy Writ, Our Arthur kept his best until the last.
  - 16. And marked me even as Cain.
  - 17. The church on Peter's rock.
- 18. Let her eat it like the serpent, and be driven out of her paradise.
  - 19. A whole Peter's sheet.
- 20. The godless Jeptha vows his child to one cast of the dice.
  - 21. A Jacob's ladder falls.
- 22. Till you find the deathless angel seated in the vacant tomb.

The young people who were asked to explain these Biblical allusions were from nominally Christian homes, of ordinarily intelligent people, and doubtless, at some time, they had known the facts connected with most of the allusions made, but this knowledge was stored in some inaccessible place, judging by the results of the examination.

Some of the answers given revealed an almost

UNBELIEVEABLE STATE OF IGNORANCE. For instance, eighty-five students could not tell anything about either the manna, or, what is even more surprising, the crown of thorns; Jonah's gourd was too much for sixty-six of them and Joshua's moon and Peter's sheet floored sixty each. Most of the women were able to explain about Lot's wife and all but ten about the serpent; both stories have a special interest for women, it is supposed. Perhaps this is the reason that thirty-two men knew nothing of either while they were apparently posted about the treachery of Judas—a subject on which the women appeared to be ignorant.

In winter time, on the farm, there is LEISURE FOR READING, though not always an abundance of reading matter. There is, however, it is safe to say, a Bible in every house. In many homes the book is a library, the contents of whose volumes might with advantage be more fully "marked, learned, and inwardly digested." Possibly this talk "With the Editor" may lead to some study of the neglected book, and thus indirectly pave the way to a greater appreciation of its treasures. With a view to this end the editor will be glad to make a place in the "home" for satisfactory replies to the questions set by Dc. Thwing.—From "Our Home Department" in the Homestead, Des Moines, Lowa.

BENEFITS OF A LIBRARY.

It is a well understood fact that early impressions are the most lasting; and that the child mind is more susceptible to impression than the adult mind. How important it is, then, that these early impressions be of a character that will tend to elevate and lead the young mind into right channels; to love truth, virtue, honesty, and all things pure and good. One of the means to this end is to place in the hands of the child

GOOD LITERATURE.

Comparatively few families that I know have a first-class library in their homes. This is partly due to the fact that many do not appreciate books, and so do not understand the importance of placing mental food within the reach of their children. Others cannot afford to buy a collection of good books, and so their children are left to fill their minds with the cheap, trashy literature with which the country is flooded. To the above classes a good Sunday school library would be a blessing.

If you want your children to have strong, healthy bodies, you understand that you must supply them with good,

WHOLESOME FOOD.

And so with the mental faculties; if you wish them to have clear, well-balanced minds, they must have suitable mental food.

Zella Allen Dixon, associate librarian, of the University of Chicago, has this to say in regard to this mental food. "Child life is one of the great problems to which this country is devoting itself." What is the best intellectual food for the little growing mind, is one of its most vital points.

There are certain books called of which no little child should be deprived; not only because they furnish the good, mental diet upon which the little mind will be developed to its fullest completeness, but also because such books form the corner stone in the foundation of all literature. The adult reader finds in general reading of mature life, continual references to incidents, and characters utterly unintelligible to one who has never read children's books.

CLASSICS

For the matured mind the reading of juvenile literature is often a hardship, and undertaken only because necessary to understand general allusions; but to the little child it is a delightful recreation, of which no child should be deprived. The object to be gained in directing the reading of the young should be fourfold; viz., to develop the imagination, teach kindness to dumb animals, give true pictures of real life, and lay the foundation for serious instruction. The books which give these four elements in their purest types are called "classics."

I believe that a Sunday school library containing such books as these as well as many others found in the lists published in the HERALD a few months back would not only tend to increase the attendance and interest of our schools, but would be conducive of great good to the reader.

It is not the amount we read, but the read, and the manner in which we read, that benefits or injures the mind.

QUALITY OF THE MATTER

We have heard individuals say, in trying to excuse themselves for reading light, trashy literature, that it did not hurt them as they remembered it no longer than while reading it. But they make a very great mistake when they think that skimming over the pages of a book and never thinking of the contents afterward does not weaken and impair the memory. If you wish to have a retentive memory, you should think about what you read; close your book after you have read a few pages and briefly sum up in your mind that which you have read.

A writer in the HERALD some time ago in referring to books suitable for Sunday school libraries said: "The Bible, Book of Mormon, and Doctrine and Covenants are the first books to be considered," etc. And we say, very true, these books should not only be in every Sunday school but in the home of every Latter Day Saint. But we believe we should not confine ourselves to these books, neither to our own Church History and publications; but we should make ourselves acquainted with the history of other churches, so that if we have occasion to refer to them we can do so intelligently. We are admonished in Doctrine and Covenants to glean knowledge from all good books. But would it be wise to place such literature in the hands of little children? How much would the child-mind be able to grasp unaided from such books?

Paul understood the necessity of supplying mental food according to mental capacity, when he said, in Hebrews 5:14: 'Strong meat belongeth to them that are of full age, even those who by reason of use have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil."

The wise, careful

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER CAN GUIDE

and control to some extent the reading of her pupils; advising them what books to read, and encouraging them to give her a brief outline of what they read. This would only take a little time, and it would help the child remember what he reads.

GREAT CARE

should be taken in selecting books for a Sunday school library; and nothing but that of the highest moral tone should be allowed in the library.

Some think that all works of fiction should be discarded; but there is a difference of opinion in regard to that. I have heard some of the leading men of the church say that some of the noble characters which they found in works of fiction in their boyhood had been an incentive to them to strive to attain unto that high standard of perfection, represented by these fictitious characters. Better place your standard high and come a little short of attaining thereto than place it below the level of perfection and fail to reach it. You need not be afraid to read, or let your children read, anything which creates within the mind and aspirations. As an evil tree cannot bring forth good fruit, nor a good tree bad fruit, neither does evil tend to elevate nor good to degrade.

PURE AND HOLY DESIRES

Our work, therefore, is to place the right kind of literature in our Sunday school libraries, and to encourage the children and young people to read it. Socrates says: Employ your time by improving yourself by other men's writings, so you shall come easily by what others have labored hard for.

George Crabbe says:-

"This, books can do;—nor this alone; they give New views to life, and teach us how to live; They sooth the grieved, the stubborn they chastise; Fools they admonish, and confirm the wise: Their aid they yield to all; they never shun The man of sorrow, nor the wretch undone: Unlike the hard, the selfish, and the proud, They fly not sullen from the supplicant crowd Nor tell to various people, various things, But show to subjects what they show to kings."

-Mattie Hughes, for the Des Moines, Iowa, district convention.

Conference Minutes.

ST. LOUIS.

Conference convened in the Rock Church, 1240 Glasgow Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri, on Saturday evening, March 23, 1901. Elder Arthur Allen, president; Elder M. H. Bond, assistant, John G. Smith, secretary. Reports assistant, John G. Smith, secretary. Reports were read from Elders Arthur Allen, Henry Roberts, R. Archibald, N. N. Cooke, John Beaird, A. S. Davison; Priests J. Christensen, J. G. Cole, G. F. Barraclough, T. J. Elliott; Teacher J. J. Billinsky. Branch reports: St. Louis, last report 452, present number 394, changes, 38 transferred to Cheltenham on its reorganization as a branch, 11 removed by letter to Cheltenham, 4 expelled and 5 died; Cheltenham branch reorganized February 7, 1901, by Elder I. N. White; 38 charter members, 11 received by letter, total 49 members, including 4 elders, 1 priest, and 2 teachers; St. Clair branch, 8 members, 1 died; Whearso branch, 59 members, 1 died, 1 priest ordained, and one marriage. Bishop's agents report: J. G. Smith, Last report December 31, 1900. Balagent. ance tithing $72.87; Received during the quarter $108 65; total $181.52; paid out during the quarter $17 00; balance tithing March 23, 1901, $164 52; report audited and found correct. District treasurer's report, A. Allen, treasurer, received balance of former treasurer $9.06; received by collection $5.90; total $14.96; paid out $4 70; balance on hand March 23, 1901, $10 26; report audited and found correct. Delegates to General Conference: Arthur Allen, M. H. Bond, John Beaird, J. J. Billinsky, S. A. Burgess; Sisters Linna Christensen, Ruth Volz, Etta M. Hitchcock, Bessie Trowbridge, Mary G. Johnson, and Josie Billinsky. They are authorized to appoint others from this district, who may be present at General Conference, to also act as delegates, and that our delegates who may be at General Conference are instructed to cast the full vote of this district. There are 616 members in the district. A committee was appointed to draft a petition to the Twelve and General Conference asking that Elder Arthur Allen be returned to labor in this district, also that an elder be sent to labor exclusively in the city and suburbs of St. Louis. Sunday, morning session, preaching by R. Archibald; afternoon, sacrament, prayer, and testimony. The attendance was large, much of the Spirit of God was enjoyed by the Saints; evening preaching by M. H. Bond. Adjourned to meet in St. Louis, Missouri, Saturday evening, June 22, 1901, at eight o'clock.

Miscellaneous Department.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Whereas, As in the providence of Almighty God this society has within the past year been called upon to suffer, what to us has seemed, naturally and to the finite mind, an almost irreparable loss in the removing from our midst, by the hand of death, our beloved secretary, Bro. John C. Hitchcock, therefore be it

Resolved, By this body of delegates in the General Annual Convention assembled, that we, in this memorial, present to the afflicted family of our departed brother, his wife, child, and relatives, this public expression of our deep and heartfelt sympathy in this great affliction and loss that has come to them. To express, if possible, by as much as words can convey, our deep and profound regard for his memory: our appreciation of his most absolute, tireless, and unselfish endeavors to promote the particular interests of the Zion's Religio-Literary Society; his faithful and effective work as general secretary, and withal and in a word, his kindly, never to be forgotten, and effectual service as a Sunday school worker, as gospel minister and servant of the Church of Christ. And be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the afflicted widow, our sister, Etta M. Hitchcock, and also that their publication be ordered in Autumn Leaves, Ensign and HERALD. (Signed,)
M. H. BOND.

M. H. BOND. SR. D. A. ANDERSON. ARTHUR ALLEN.

A CORRECTION.

In the HERALD of March 20, in the Western Maine conference notice sent in by J. J. Billings, president, read: "All branch reports and business letters requested to be sent in by Saturday, to care of J. E. Eaton, Mountainville, Maine." It was voted at the last Western Maine conference that all business and branch reports should be in the hands of the district clerk three days before conference convened. As I did not see the other report until it came out in the HERALD I could not make corrections before.

Respectfully,
ABBIE L. COLBY, District Clerk.

P. O. Box 19, Stonington, Maine.

DIED.

PETERSEN.—Sr. Wilhelmina Petersen was born at Posgrund, Norway, December 21, 1817. Died at Provo, Utah, January 28, 1901. Funeral services from the Saints' chapel in charge of Bro. James Downs. Sermon by Elder D. W. Wight.

MILLEB.—Myra Pearl, daughter of Bro. and Sr. M. P. Miller, Hebron, Nebraska, was born December 26, 1900; died March 12, 1901. A large number of Saints and friends were in attendance. Services were conducted by H. W. Belville. Text, 1 Corinthians 15: 21-23. May the Lord bless the little ones.

BURNETT.—Near Lamoni, Iowa, March 22, 1901, Miss Elma A. Burnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Burnett, aged 26 years, 6 months, and 14 days. She was a member of the Christian Church. It is said by daughters of the Saints, who were her schoolmates, that she was always very pure-minded and noble in character from childhood. Elder H. A. Stebbins was called upon to preach the sermon, services being held at the house, four miles west of town, on Sunday noon. There was a large attendance, the family having many friends. She was buried in Lamoni cemetery.

The Saints' Herald.

(Established 1860.)

Published Every Wednesday, at Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Subscription price, $1.50 per year.
Address communications for publication to "Editors Herald."

"Marriage, birth, and death notices: Marriages, $1.00 per 100 words or fraction thereof. Births, $0 cents per 75 words or fraction thereof. Deaths, 100 words free, above that number 50 cents per 100 words or fraction thereof. To insure prompt insertion, make remittance with notice.

For advertising rates apply to business mana-

All errors in the filling of orders or rendering of accounts should be reported immediately, as receipts for all money received are sent within two days after reaching the office.

Send all business letters and make all remittances payable to Herald Publishing House, Lock Box E, Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Entered at post office, Lamoni, Iowa, as secondelass mail matter.

Subscriptions received for Zion's Ensign, also orders for all kinds of Ensign Publications.

REYNOLDS. - Near Lebeck, Cedar county, Missouri, Sister Amanda Reynolds departed this life on March 12, 1901. She was born May 29, 1818, in New York City. She was the beloved wife of Elder Charles Reynolds. She had a stroke of paralysis last May, and never fully recovered, and on the 12th of March, 1901, fell asleep to awaken at the trump of the archangel in the first resurrection. She leaves her aged husband and three children to mourn her loss. The remains were laid away in the Coal Hill cemetery. Sermon by Elder A. Lloyd, assisted by L R Devore. Quite a large attendance of Saints and friends were at the funeral.

Farewell, my husband, children, all— From you a mother, Christ doth call. Weep not for me, for it is vain To call me to your sight again.

BEATTY.-Dora, daughter of Thomas J. and Martha Beatty was born at Limerick, Ohio, June 4, 1873; died March 19, 1901. She was baptized April 22, 1884, by Elder L. R. Devore. Dora lived her religion, and will be missed in the church services, where her voice was always heard in song and praise. He parents, brothers, and sisters have the sympathy of the entire community. Funeral services in the Saints' church at Limerick, Ohio. A. B. Kirkendall, preached the funeral sermon, text, John 14:19, "Because I live, ye shall live also."

From Marshell, Flawick, was born

ELSWICK — Marshal Elswick was born April 4, 1853, at Wheeler's Grove, Iowa, where he resided till 1882; at which time he moved to Carson township, where he has since resided. Was united in marriage to Miss Francena Weedham, May 11, 1881; died March 9, 1901, aged 47 years, 11 months, and 5 days. He leaves to mourn his departure a loving wife and aged mother, four brothers and four sisters. The funeral was held at the Saints' church in Carson. Sermon by Elder D. R. Chambers, assisted by Leroy Wood, president of the Wheeler's branch.

GOFF.—At his home, near Nevada, Missouri, on Sunday, March 17, 1901, Elder Henry E. Goff, aged 69 years, 9 months, 18 days. For five years he presided over Laguna branch, Los Angeles county, California, and for ten years over Nevada branch, Missouri. Death came to him years suddenly. He had been came to him very suddenly. He had been pleasantly conversing after supper, when he fell from his chair, expiring instantly. He was esteemed by all who knew him, and leaves a wife, two sons, and three daughters to mourn his loss. He was buried at Nevada, Missouri. Fuueral sermon by High Priest A. H. Parsons.

SARGENT.—At Vincennes, Iowa, Friday, March 22, 1901, Bro. Horace C. Sargent. He was born at Millsfield, New Hampshire, September 14, 1834; was married to Miss Adeline D. Washburn in 1855. She died in 1883. On May 9, 1888, he was married to Sr. E. I. Griffith, of Vincennes. He was baptized at Montrose, Iowa, August 27, 1896. His house was a home to the elders, where he and his wife, "Sr. Nellie," always gave them a glad welcome. Funeral services were held at the residence, Elder James McKiernan in charge. Interment was at the Meeks cemetery.

Powers -Clifford Ray Powers, was born at Edsworth, Kansas, September 27, 1882; died at Denver, Colorado, March 30, 1901 United with the Reorganized Church April 17, 1898; was an active member of the Religio at Denver and a faithful attendant at Sunday school, also a member of the choir. Funeral services in charge of Elder E. F. Shupe; sermon by Elder J. B. Roush. Interment at Fairmont cemetery. A consistent Christian life has gone out, not to die, but to live on under higher and better conditions. Mother, two sisters, besides a host of friends, mourn.

SHORES.—Sr. Emma Della Shores died at St. Joseph, Missouri, March 27, 1901. She was born April 4, 1861, in Ohio; married to Madison Shores in 1884; baptized in 1890. Passed through many dark days and hard trials, and died firm in the faith, with a bright hope of coming forth in the first resurrection. Funeral sermon was preached in the St. Joseph church on March 30, 1901, S. Roth, assisted by H. O. Smith. Music by the St. Joseph choir.

KNOWLES —Sarah Hanson Knowles, was born November 28, 1840, in Northamptonshire, England. She became a member of the church under Brigham Young. Migrated to Utah; became dissatisfied and returned to Missouri, where, on August 21, 1888, she was baptized into the Reorganzation near Mound City. She remained a consistent member until death, March 28, 1901. Her husband had preceded her to the spirit Her husband had preceded her to the spirit and about two years. She left three boys and four girls to mourn. Burial from her home near Maitland, Missouri, March 29; services in charge of R K. Ross, sermon by Hyrum O. Smith

EDUCATION AND PRODUCTION.

The power of education in production may be presented in this concrete way:

Massachusetts spent in 1898-99 $12,261,525 more upon her public schools than Tennessee. But see what a return she gets. Each one of the 2,805,346 citizens of Massachusetts-men, women, and infants—has, as we have said, a productive capacity of $260 a year, against $170 a year for the average inhabitant of the whole United States and $116 a year for the average inhabitant of Tennessee. The inhabitant of Massachusetts has thus an excess of $90 a year over the average inhabitant of the United States, and $144 a year over the average inhabitant of Tennessee. This means that the people of Massachusetts earned in that year $252,487,140 more than the same that year $252,487,140 more than the same number of average people of the United States and $403,969,824 more than the same number of people in Tennessee. Twelve million dollars invested in superior education yield 400 millions a year.—Charles W. Dabney, in The World's Work.

GOSPEL QUARTERLIES.

Published by the General Sunday School Association. Designed for use in Sabbath school work. Issued quarterly.

Senior Grade, per quarter ... Per year, in advance..... Intermediate Grade, per quar $ter \ldots \ldots \ldots$ 15 Per year..... 05 75. Primary Grade, per quarter...

An interesting book of the period,

LIFE AND REIGN OF # QUEEN VICTORIA.

Including the lives of

King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra,

By MURAT HALSTEAD famous historian and Journalist, and A. J. MUNSON, editor and author. Profusely illustrated. 485 pages. For sale at

OFFICE. HERALD

POSTPAID, ONE DOLLAR.

THE 7	WO RECORDS. The Book of Mormon and the New Tes- tament. Inspired Transla- tion; large type, in one
98. 99. 100. 101.	volume. Leather back and covers Seal grain russia Imitation morocco, gilt edges, Morocco, gilt edges	223	00 50 50 00
THE	HOLY SCRIPTURES. Inspired translation, by Joseph Smith.
79. 80. 81.	Cloth	1 1 2	25 75 25
NEW	TESTAMENTS. Inspired Translation. Large type edition.
84. 85.	Cloth	4	65
86. 87.	ners	1	00 25 50
SMITE	H-PELOUBET'S DICTIONARY OF THE BIBLE. Teachers' edition. Over 800 pages, with colored maps and 440 illustrations.
185.	Cloth	band 4	60
1.00	RD BOOKS, for minutes of business meetings, 300 pages. Leather and canvas	1	25
110	EN - KELLEY DEBATE.	A	a.u
	Report of the discussion be- tween Elder Clark Braden of the Christian Church and Elder E. L. Kelley of the Re- organized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Cloth	1	50
SPIRI	TUAL GIFTS AND THE

Elder M. H. Bond.

134. Paper ..... 135. Cloth..... WM. ANDERSON, Pres. MRS. DAVID DANCER. Vice Pres.

W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier. OSCAR ANDERSON, Ass't Cashier.

STATE SAVINGS BANK OF LAMONI.

Incorporated under the laws of the State of Iowa, July 1, 1898. Total assets January 1, 1900, $133,032.34; April 1, 1900, $162,781.07.

We pay interest on time deposits, and especially solicit the correspondence and deposits of all Herald readers. All etters of inquiry will be promptly and carefully answered. Direct all letters to ...W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier, State Savings Bank of Lamoni, Iowa.

STOCK HOLDERS:—Mrs. David Dancer, Geo. H. Hilliard, A. K. Abderson, Lucy L. Resseguie, Oscar Anderson, Wm. Anderson, Frank Criley, Alice P. Dancer, Ella D. Whitehead, G. W. Blair, W. A. Hopkins.

WANTO

Using tobacco. Quit-to-bac makes it easy to do so. Three boxes postpaid, only $1.50 with positive guarantee to cure or the $1.50 cheerfully refunded! It cures others, why not you.

Address, (Bro.) B. F. ORDWAY, Peoria, Ill. (U. S. Postage stamps taken.)

Or apply to The Underwood Agency,

LAMONI, JOWA.

SAINT	S' HYMN	AL.	Word	ls or	aly.
	Paper					15
	Per doze
116. (	Cloth, lim
	Per doze
117. (	$\operatorname{Cloth} \ldots$
	Per doze
118. 1	Flexible, g	gilt edg	ges			50

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers. MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

800K OF MORMON. 88. Cloth	1	25
 TRUE SUCCESSION IN CHURCH PRESIDENCY. By Elder H. C. Smith, Church Historian. 152. Paper 153. Cloth.	- Interest	35

NOT IN THE CATALOGUE.

TRACTS.

Trial of the Witnesses to the Resurrection of Jesus.

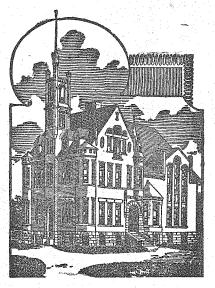

Each 5 cents; per doz. 50 cents. The Basis of Brighamite Polygamy.

Per doz. 10 cents; per 100, 60 cents.

GRACELAND .... GOLLEGE.

LAMONI, IOWA.

Telephone 76

For catalogue or further information, address,

PROF. R. A. HARKNESS, President, or I. W. ALLENDER, Secretary, LAMONI, DECATUR Co., IOWA.

THE COMMERCIAL BANK

LAMONI. IOWA. Solicits your Deposits and pays

> 5 % INTEREST. D. F. NICHOLSON, Cashier.

VISIONS OF JOSEPH SMITH THE Discoveries of An-SEER. cient American Records and Relics, with the statements of Dr. Lederer (converted Lederer (converted Jew) and others.

184. Each 10c.; per dozen...... 1 00

THE INSTRUCTOR. A compendium of the faith and doc-trines of the church by Elder

G. T. Griffiths. 126. Cloth ...... 127. Leather.....

BRING YOUR LAUNDRY TO

South Side Barber Shop.

For every five dollars worth of Laundry vou receive a

HANDSOME SHAVING MUG. BLACK & SHOOK, Props.

DR. E. S. SWEET, DENTIST.

Decoe Building,

WOODBINE, IOWA.

FOR SALE.

A brick business house centrally located n Lamoni that earns fifteen per cent on nvestment.

If interested, inclose stamp to Lock Box 7, Lamoni, Iowa.

Burlington Route passenger service between stations on Grant City branch and Chicago, both directions, is better than ever in the history of the road. Leaving Lamoni at 8:05 p. m., arriving Chicago 7:20 a. m. following morning. Leaving Chicago at 5:50 p. m., arriving Lamoni 6: 25 a. m. following morning.

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSIONS.

Dates of sales, February 19, March 5 and 19, April 2 and 16, 1901, one lowest first class fare for the round trip, plus $2 00. Good for return 21 days from date of sale.

Cheap one-way colonist excursion rates to San Francisco, Los Angeles, and San Diego, California. Dates of sale February 12, 19, and 26, March 5, 12, 19, and 26, April 2, 9, 16, 23, and 30, 1901.

One-way second class settlers rates. ver, Colorado Springs, and Pueblo. Ogden and Salt Lake. Bozeman, Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Grantsdale, Missoula, Grant Falls, Kalispell, Spokane, Portland, Tacoma. Vic-toria and Vancouver.

KEOKUK & WESTERN R. R. CO.

North-Leave Leon 2:40 p. m., arrive at Des Moines 6:05 p. m. South—Leave Des Moines 8:25 a. m., arrive at Leon 11:45 a. m. Trains daily except Sunday; connect with C.

B & Q. at Leon.

THE SAINTS' HERALD.

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE REORGANIZED CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER DAY SAINTS.

"If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."—John 8: 31, 32.

"Hearken to the word of the Lords for there shall not any man among you have save it be one wifes and concubines he shall have none."—B. of M., page 116.

VOL. 48.

LAMONI, IOWA, APRIL 17, 1901.

NO. 16.

The Saints' Herald.

JOSEPH SMITH
FRED'K MADISON SMITH
JOSEPH LUFF
D. W. WIGHT

- EDITOR.
Assistant Editor.

Corresponding Editors.

LAMONI, IOWA, APRIL 17, 1901.

GEORGE Q. CANNON DEAD.

George Q. Cannon who has for many years been a leader among the people in Utah, breathed his last on April 12, at Monterey, California, succumbing to an attack of pneu-He was seventy-four years old, being born in the year 1827, in England. He came to this country in 1844, and since that time has been associated with the followers of Brigham Young. Since the death of Young, Cannon has probably been the most influential man in that church, and his death is a severe blow to the Utah church. Indeed, he has long been looked upon by many as the real head of the church, though President Snow has been such nomi-The following from one of the daily press gives somewhat of an idea of the character of the man:-

He was an irreconcilable Mormon and did not give in to the Edmunds bill. An attempt was made to arrest him, but he jumped from a moving train on which two United States marshals had him as prisoner. Later he jumped a $45,000 bond. He afterward conformed outwardly to the anti-polygamy law.

In 1872 when Mr. Cannon was elected a delegate from the territory of Utah to the House of Representatives his seat was contested on the ground that he was a Mormon and a polygamist. In the period from 1878 to 1882 his continued presence in Congress in spite of his polygamy was the storm center of a wave of popular opposition and passion. Mr. Cannon adhered unwaveringly to his professed principles and withstood an amount of personal vilification in Congress and in the press and pulpit of the country. He retired from his office only when compelled to do so by the will of the House in 1882. From 1882 to 1890 he underwent exile from his home and imprisonment, but still refused, in conjunction with his associates in the presidency of the church, to yield a fraction of his doctrine. It was only when the supreme law, and the supreme power of the United States rendered the practice of plural marriages an impossibility, and when resistance would have been fatal to the church itself and to all its divinities and all its preachings, that he finally surrendered his views.

His demise will bring great sadness to the people in Utah, for he has long been a prominent factor in the development of the state.

EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS.

N. A. Boyd, Hill City, Kansas, writes April 6:—

We have been housed up with what the dcc ors call smallpox, but have trusted in the Lord for recovery, and have had no serious trouble, while others who have trusted in the doctors have had a hard time, and some deaths. Five of our family were afflicted, but are now well.

EDITORIAL ITEMS.

By request we announce for the benefit of the Saints in the Idaho district that Henry A. Evans is Bishop's agent for that district, and he will gladly receipt for tithings and offerings.

By a handbill handed us we see that Elder Emsley Curtis was advertised to give a series of meetings at the Christian church in Sterling, Colorado, beginning April 6. He also announced a lecture to be delivered against Utah Mormons.

Original Articles.

GENERAL CONFERENCE.-NO. 2.

Bro. W. H. Kelley, President of the Twelve, said:—

I am pleased to meet the brethren here this morning. I have been interested in listening to those who preceded me. Our presence here indicates that we are all in the faith of the Saints. We have trained in it for a good many years, and cannot very well be anything else. We have had splendid opportunities to be something else, but we have chosen to follow in this way not because of emoluments or worldly laudation or praise, but because we were convinced that truth lies here, liberty and freedom, that God's Holy Spirit directs here. That is the reason I am here today.

I am here today.

The last year, no doubt, has been a very peculiar one to Latter Day Saints in general. We started out last year under peculiar conditions and circumstances. It has been a time of thought and examination. Our presence here indicates our interest in the work, our loyalty to the truth. So I find today, I have no reservation of mind in expressing my faith in this latter-day work. I started out in it convinced that it was God's work; I believe it is his work today; it doesn't make any difference whether I go out or stay in, or anybody else does that. Our objective point is in the future. We have Zion and the redemption of Zion in view and we have heaven and its enjoyment in view, but we, like all that have preceded us, have to pass through things in this world before we attain those conditions that we hope to attain. Jesus Christ, when he came to those who were sinners, had the redemption of the race in view, and he wrought to the attaining of the joys and the glory he had with the Father before the world was. In order to attain to this he had to pass through some very sad and trying experiences. You will remember the dark night of his

You will remember the dark night of his betrayal, on the day of the trial that led finally to the crucifixion and Joseph's new tomb, but he attained unto the resurrection and was borne from the things of this world to the world above. He went through that ordeal and worry. You and I have a work individually and collectively and we may be put under trial individually and collectively, but if we are occupying our places and we are moving under the direction of the Divine mind, I do not believe there is any impediment that can be put in our way that will defeat our purpose. Like the great Napoleon, I believe that difficulties are made to be overcome, and it has to be done in a national sense, in a social sense, in a religious sense, and when they come in the way, the thing to do is to move them out of the way and in the way that is provided.

The New Testament says, "It needs be that offenses come," but it goes on to say, "Woe to them by whom they come," and hence this individual and collective responsibility, in a great way, to move on and carry burdens, pass through trials in achieving success, is upon all.

I have felt well in my work during the past year, at times I do not know as I ever felt better, and nothing has occurred to shake my faith in the gospel or what we understand to be the latter-day work. Sometimes there are things that come up that are very trying, and we gain or lose confidence in one another by reason of conclusions arrived at under our experiences, and of course we can get together and act together a great deal better when lost confidence is restored, and it is very beautiful and gratifying to be placed under circumstances by which confidence can be regained, and we can move forward with greater strength and encouragement. A simple glossing over doesn't restore confidence and doesn't make us strong. The way to feel strong in this work is to feel that all is well, that we are right, and that we are all moving in the right way and then God moves with us and we are all strong—cannot help but succeed

And so far as anything that may have come to us in the past and may have moved individuals in the body, I do not believe there is anything but what can be properly corrected in its place and we move forward with diligence to the accomplishment of the important work that is committed to our care, which is the evangelization of the world, preaching the gospel of the kingdom to every creature.

That was a very happy thought expressed by the speakers preceding me; i. e., that this is God's work, Christ the head of the church. Now there isn't anything too strong for God nor too strong for the Master who is at the head. I remember the Israelites, when they were down in the wilderness, felt bad and tried, and even Moses felt discouraged, and he told the Lord that if he did not help them through that the people would say that he was not able to bring them through. They felt that something was in the way, and some got the idea, "God is not with us." They were under trial, individually and collectively. Are you and I going to let little trifles come up and cause us to doubt and lose confidence in ourselves and in God and his work, with all the evidences of inspiration and comfort that have That ought to be come to us in the past? the last thing that moves men's and women's minds. When I set out in this work—and I think that is the way with you—I meant to try to run with patience the race to the end.

Now sometimes I read about Paul's experience in this world, and you remember he was out among false brethren, individuals who were ready to kill him, and five times he received forty stripes save one. He was in the ministry, yet he had to wade through these difficulties and trials. By and by he got to the point that he could say, "Henceforth there is a crown laid up for me, and not for me only, but for all those who love the Lord and keep his commandments." He had won the day, made the fight. You and I are in this world to fight along in the same line that Paul did. We cannot expect roses and lilies on each side of the road as we pass along. We may expect trials, temptations, and opposition of various kinds such as men, especially Satan, is able to throw in our way. Satan is older than any of us. He knows all our weak points and how to cause us to doubt or to get despondent and to become weakened. If he can weaken us, we are not able to accomplish the work that is committed to our care. He knows how to attack us. We want to adjust ourselves if we are not just right, and we are here in part at least for that purpose, to look over the ground and correct ourselves individually and collectively, if we need correcting, if not in harmony with God, the great head of the church. And we believe he is able to lead us on to success, triumph, and all that he has promised to bring to the children of God.

I hope when we go out from this place, it may be with an endowment of brotherly confidence and love more than anything we have enjoyed in the past, to go forward and not backward. We cannot be excused. There is no place for you and I to stop and dally away the time. We are soldiers in the work. If we are soldiers in this great cause, we have to press on until victory is won. Hence we have no time to idle, but try to eliminate that which should be eliminated, and stand together for the accomplishment of the work that is being committed to our care, whether building up our association as an association, or carrying out the work that the association expects its representatives to carry out, to the world, and so preach this gospel and let our light shine so that others may see the light.

I am in the faith.

Bro. Duncan Campbell, President of the Seventies, addressed the assembly as follows:—

Brothers and Sisters:—I felt well while coming to this conference. I have felt well since being here, and hope to feel well while I remain. So far as I am personally concerned, I know of no reason why it should not be so.

The brethren who have preceded me have spoken of the additional comfort received in regard to the work during the past year, and in spite of many things that have arisen that might have been considered discouraging, above all was shining the brightness of the everlasting light that has come to us through the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ.

My experiences have been very much the same as those of many others, and I have today a deeper sense, a higher appreciation of this gospel than ever I had before. It appears to be growing wider, deeper, and higher as I become better acquainted with it, and I expect that the future will enable us to see, as we have never seen before, what our heavenly Father has done for us in bringing to us the glorious tidings of this latter-day gospel.

And I believe we should seek after that harmony that has been referred to by several of the brethren already, and the only way that that harmony can come about is by each one putting himself in harmony with the great author of the work, Jesus Christ. place myself in harmony and in unity with him, and my brother, does the same, that brother and myself will be in harmony, and if we as a body do that all the way through, we will be in perfect harmony and unity.

It requires a work and a struggle to do but I propose by the grace of God to continue on in this line until success is attained. Jesus Christ made a grand success for the reason that he was able to say, "I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do," and that work was to do the will of his Father who is in heaven. That is all that you and I have to do. It is my right, my privilege, and my duty, then, to put myself in such a way that I may enjoy the light and the effulgence of the Holy Spirit that will put us in harmony with the divine Son in order that we may labor in unity with him and one another. And when we do that, the work we are engaged in will meet with grand and great success, and we shall realize in the future, as we have never done before, that this is indeed the work of God.

Before ever I entered into this church, I received the testimony and witness that it was of God, that the gospel presented was the gospel of Jesus Christ. I realized it and felt it through every fibre of my being, and although the way seemed dark before me and many obstacles stood in the way of my accepting this gospel and, from a human point of view, much humiliation was to be endured in embracing it, I knew that the testimony I received would abide with me through all eternity and would condemn me if I failed in obedience. I feel today, as I felt then, that all my hope for future bliss and hope is in this gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. And I trust that the spirit of unity may prevail in our midst. That the light of God may shine over us and be with us in our hearts and minds, is my prayer, in Jesus' name.

Bro. Charles Derry, President of the High Priests' Quorum, said:-

I am pleased to be here. I do not know that I can say any more than my brethren have said. They have uttered the sentiments of my heart. I came here with the desire to help in promoting unity, peace, and

From the moment of my acceptance of this work until the present, excepting one dark hour, when the clouds overspread my mind and I could not see through the darknesswith the exception of that brief hour, I thank God that I have had the realization that this was the work of God, and I have had no fears with respect to that work. The only fear that I have ever had has been lest I should be unequal to the work that I was called to perform in the great work of God in the last days. This has been my only fear.

I have tried to spend my life in this cause. I still desire to spend the remainder of my days, be they few or many, and my efforts feeble or strong. I want to spend that life in the cause of God.

I realize that I cannot stand alone; I am and have always been too frail for that. God has blessed me with that realization and I have leaned upon his arm. There I still shall lean.

I pray God that his work may prosper, may go forth to the ends of the earth. I have prayed and labored for the spreading of this truth and my heart's desire is for the spread universal of this truth.

God bless you all, that we may have the Spirit of God to be with us in all our deliberations, is my earnest prayer in Christ's name. Amen.

Bro. James Caffall, of the Twelve:-

Mr. Chairman, Brethren, and Sisters, and Conference Assembled:-The year 1844 as it dawned toward Christmas time, I undertook a journey of twenty miles on what is com-monly called pony shanks—we in the west understand what that means, peradventure you do. The purpose of this journey was to find an individual authorized to administer the ordinance of baptism for the remission of sins, accompanying the laying on of hands. The principal reason that I had in undertaking this journey for the purpose named was that I had studied the word of God so far as my very limited capacity would enable me to understand. The written word of God had made an impression on my mind, leading me to an observance of those precepts and the indorsement of those designs and purposes which the revealed word of God disclosed to my mind: and however strong the conviction might have been prior to my being inducted into the kingdom of God through the ordinances of the gospel, that conviction became more intense subsequent to an obedience to those God-revealed ordinances. And however diligently I may have sought to have reached a higher spiritual rectitude, I am conscious of having reflected no credit on the church in an intellectual sense.

Yet in view of the fact that He that was sent forth of God as a witness, as a teacher, and a missionary came to offer the gospel according to God's everlasting covenant, I was therefore impressed with the thought, and I may say without arrogating to myself, that the impression became so intensified in my mind that I was led to believe that the acceptation of this everlasting covenant revealed by the gospel, brought me, through my obedience thereto, within the limits of that everlasting covenant, and so in a sense the covenant that I entered into through my willingness to accept this gospel, I made with God an everlasting covenant, which suggested the thought to my mind that if I would finally, ultimately be made the partaker of the blessings accruing to those who should prove faithful in this everlasting covenant, it must be everlasting on my part. While I was made conscious that my willingness to accept this covenant did not render me infallible, yet per virtue of that covenant,

I must, of necessity, assert my loyalty to God. And I believed because I could not believe any other way, that I could only show or practically demonstrate my loyalty to God by rendering myself familiar with the written word and thus stand ready to carry out in practice the commands and the precepts that that written word reflected to my mind. And however my practical course of pro-cedure may fail to impress those with whom I stand connected in the great latter-day work, may fail to convince them of this, yet I say that this is my feeling and my understanding this morning without any pretext that would justify me in asserting that I shall continue in a practical sense and demonstrate my loyalty to God the residue of my days.

I have learned by experience that it is sufficient for me to express my feelings as they are now. I do not live in the past; I do not live in the future; I know nothing of the future unless it shall please the good Lord for a purpose best known to himself to enlighten my mind in relation to the future. And hence the present time, the present hour, the now, is the battlefield in which I have to remain, and so far as possible, occupy until Christ shall come, and if I fail to occupy as he has commanded, the consequences will come to myself, and no one else will be hindered.

Bro. Columbus Scott, one of the Presidents of Seventy, being called from the gallery to the stand, said:-

Mr. Chairman, Brethren, and Sisters:—I was struck with a kind of comic thought, and was almost doubting the wisdom of expressing it after being announced to speak, by the chairman. It occurred to me that men had talked to people's faces, perhaps talked to their flattery, their pride; but if I had been allowed to speak for a moment in the gallery, I was congratulating myself that I would have spoken to their heads.

I never have had a feeling of discouragement come to me in my experiences in this latter-day work. Not but what I have had moments of thought, but somehow or other, it may be I was not allowed to look into those things that created a doubt and troubled so deeply as others; it may be on account of a lack of appreciation, I have endeavored to keep this thought before me continually that firstly, in my religious life I am dealing with God, and believing that he knows us all, I want to say, not to boast, but I believe it to be my duty to try and keep a clean breast with him as I go. In dealing and laboring along with my brothers and sisters, I have always endeavored to give them credit for being honest, and if anything ever happened to suggest the thought that they were not, then I felt sorry about it, but I did not allow it to come to me as a conviction, if it ever did come until it came through their own actions and conduct, and I saw those actions or their results.

I have always desired to be loyal to the right if I knew it. In that view of the case the only thing with me was, What is right? Is this measure right? Is that measure right? You can remember, perhaps, that loyalty to the right leads men through successfully. Daniel had an entire empire arrayed against him one time and they conspired and passed laws to reach him particularly, and ask a petition of any God or man save the king for a period of thirty days should be cast into a den of lions, but Daniel says, "No, not until God tells me to," and God, through Daniel, made him the conqueror of the entire empire because he was loyal to the right.

Another thought that I believe should govern us in our proceedings in our work is a due consideration of the principles of conservatism in moving, in acting, in attempting to carry out what we may be required to carry out; not that I would be so fearful of doing wrong that I would not do right; but move slowly, so that when the work was done, we should not have to turn around and retrace our steps to too great an extent to get right.

Now we have to move slowly in the work of the Lord. It is continually moving. It is like the potent powers in the universe, moves almost unheard, and yet it is the greatest power in the world, like the power exerted by the sun. The church is the light of the world, morally and spiritually, as the sun is the light of the world physically.

Another thing that I have thought was proper to do since we are all convinced, and I have the solemn conviction that we are engaged in the divine work as human beings, and that is, that we endeavor to distinguish between the divine and the human. If we could always do that with the consciousness of the thought that God never makes any mistakes, we would never doubt God's work, but we would accredit the mistakes where they belong, at the feet of humanity. A distinguishment of this between the human and the divine in the work will save us, perhaps, from a great deal of trouble and of many things that we would otherwise feel to repent of.

We would save ourselves from doubt. Doubts may come to me, clouds may come over me yet, and with this thought before me, I always try to fear God, but as I feel today, I have no doubt with regard to the final consequences of God in this work in the salvation and the redemption of man. have many times fallen in the past, and sometimes as I have thought, I am now be ginning to grow old. I think how some good men when they got old made their mistakes; they were all right until they were getting old, and I want to see that breaker, and if possible avoid it.

I feel that I would just as willingly testify to the divinity of the work today as any time in the past, and that one of the beautiful things, one of the encouraging things to l those of us who are looking to those who are in the advance and whom we expect to step outside in the advance of us, lead the way, is to feel satisfied that they are loyal to the right; that is the success of the men and the people of God, if we may judge the present or form ideas of the future by the experience of the past.

I am not therefore discouraged with regard to this work. I might have reasons for discouragement, but they may be known only to myself. I feel that I am just as strong in the gospel faith today as ever I was; that God is just as near to his work as he ever was, and that the thing for us to do is to try and keep the clouds and the mists from between us and the Lord, from between us and his law, his revealed will, making known the principles upon which his work is to be developed, and move along in the line indi-cated, and the success will come to us, and as the brother who has just spoken, and, like Paul of old, at the conclusion we will be able to say, "I have finished my course, I have kept the faith, henceforth there is a crown of righteousness laid up for me, and not for me only, but for all those who love the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ," which is the grand and glorious ultimate of our faith in the gospel restored.

A motion that the President direct the order of meetings, appoint the speakers, etc., obtained.

Bro. B. C. Smith was placed in charge of the ushers and authorized to choose others besides the following: Brn. W. Ballinger, J. J. Luff, G. Nesbit, S. B. Preston, G. H. Hulmes, Jr., and F. H. Criley.

"Praise God from whom all blessings flow" was sung, President noted arrangements for seating, and benediction was pronounced by the Presi-Afternoon Session.—The minutes were approved.

Report of the credentials committee was read. In it a recommendation was made in which Bro. Burton and wife, Bro. Hubert Case and wife, and Bro. Devore and wife were to be added to the Society Islands delega-This recommendation was tion. adopted. A number of motions were made and carried to accommodate various conditions, and the report as amended was adopted and the committee continued.

Chorister James announced the selection of F. G. Pitt, B. M. Anderson, and A. M. Chase as assistants, and Arthur Mills, R. G. Smith, and Audentia Anderson, organists.

A communication from President Joseph explaining his reasons for withholding from the conference minutes of 1900 the report of the Twelve concerning E. C. Briggs. He then vacated the chair, asking that he be purged at the beginning of conference from any blame that some might wish to attach.

Bro. F. G. Pitt was called to the the chair, and it was moved that this matter be made the special order for Tuesday afternoon. It was earnestly discussed at considerable length and finally, because another matter had been made the special order for Tues I to order by President Joseph Smith.

day afternoon, the time for its consideration was set for Monday's business session.

An additional report from the credentials committee was received.

A motion then obtained that one thousand copies of the communication of the President touching the E. C. Briggs matter be printed and placed in the hands of members of conference, and a verbatim copy was ordered given to reporters of papers.

A memorial from Colorado district was read, asking conference to appoint a committee to visit Andrew Carnegie on behalf of the Saints' Home and College. An amendment and substitute were offered, and an animated discussion followed, which resulted in the memorial being laid on the table.

Announcements were made, and the assembly adjourned.

At the evening hour Bro. S. W. L. Scott was the speaker, assisted by Bro. B. St. John.

SUNDAY, APRIL 7.

A priesthood prayer meeting was held in the lower auditorium at eight in the morning, in charge of Brn. W. H. Kelley and Charles Derry. Many prayers and a few testimonies were offered. The prayers were characterized by intense devotion, and earnest desire that the Father would be pleased to speak from on high to his servant the prophet of the church, for our guidance and comfort

In the upper auditorium at 9:30 regular session of the Independence Sunday school was held.

The forenoon sermon at eleven was by President Joseph Smith, assisted by Bro. I. N. White.

Prayer meeting at 2:30 was in charge of Brn. Jonas Chatburn, T. W. Chatburn, and F. J. Chatburn, three generations, holding the priesthood. Another noticeable feature of this session was that there were present a native of the island of Ceylon, a native from the South Sea Islands, representatives from two tribes of Lamanites, persons of the Afro-American race, besides Americans, English, Scotch, Welsh, Germans, French, Scandinavians, and probably others which we have not named. These suggested the thought that the Master is preparing the way for sending the gospel for a witness to all nations.

The evening hour was occupied by Bro. R. C. Evans, assisted by Bro. J. W. Wight.

MONDAY, APRIL 8.

The morning prayer service at nine o'clock was in charge of Brn. T. W. Williams and F. A. Smith.

Preaching at eleven by Bro. U. W. Greene, assisted by Bro. O. H. Riggs.

At two p. m. the audience was called

Prayer was offered by Bro. J. W. Wight. Minutes read, corrected, and approved.

Credential committee made additional report.

The secretary read the ex officio list. which was responded to by those present.

A petition from the Council Bluffs branch was read, in which was couched a request for the appointment of a missionary to that branch for the coming year. This was referred to the Quorum of the Twelve.

A petition from the Montana district of the Rocky Mountain mission was read requesting the return of Gomer Reese and Gomer R. Wells as missionaries to that district. The petition also requested the appointment of J. H. Wells as a missionary to labor in the Montana district. This was referred to the Presidency and the Twelve.

The Blendsville, Missouri, branch presented a petition requesting the appointment of a missionary to labor in that field and have charge of the work there. This was referred to the Presidency and Twelve.

Members of the Chicago and West Pullman branches presented petition expressing appreciation of the work of Bro. J. M. Terry and also of his wife, and asked that Bro. Terry be returned to that field of labor. This was also referred to the Presidency and the Twelve.

Lamoni branch also presented a request for the appointment of a missionary to labor in the branch. Referred to Presidency and Twelve.

W. C. Duncan, defendant in case of Stewartsville branch vs. Duncan, presented appeal from action of branch. This was referred to a committee of three appointed by the chair: F. C. Keck, T. C. Kelley, Benj. St. John.

An appeal was read from members of the Grand Rapids, Michigan, branch concerning right of branch officers to preside when district authorities were present, bringing charges against some of the authorities of the mission and district. The appeal was entertained and referred to the Quorum of Twelve.

President Smith then vacated the chair, Bro. F. G. Pitt was called on to preside, and the special order was taken up.

Preambles and resolutions were then offered, the resolutions in effect, that "the statement of the President of the church, that 'the trial was ex parte; and the trial the statement relates to with the decision based thereon," and "that the act of the President in refusing to publish, with the decision on which it was based, be referred to an assembly of the Quorums for examination and approval or disapproval of said act." The chief this course was that it was a matter in which the General Conference had no jurisdiction.

Moved as a substitute that the reasons given by the President of the church be accepted as sufficient, and that he be exonerated from blame and sustained in his action.

This led to a prolonged debate, and motion to adjourn prevailed while Bro. E. L. Kelley was on his feet.

Benediction was pronounced by the

The evening sermon was by Bro. J. W. Wight, assisted by Bro. O. B. Thomas.

TUESDAY, APRIL 9.

The morning prayer meeting was presided over by Brn. S. F. Cushman and Levi Gamet.

The sermon at eleven o'clock was by President A. H. Smith, assisted by Bro. George W. Thorburn.

Promptly at two o'clock President Joseph Smith called the assembly to

After reading of minutes, an additional report of committee on credentials was read.

It was decided that on pending question a motion for previous question should prevail only on a two thirds majority.

President Smith then yielded the chair, and Bro. F. G. Pitt was called to preside.

Bro. G. T. Griffiths rose to a question of privilege, admitted signing protest read yesterday, admitted he had made a mistake in signing, and was sorry therefor. He read statement addressed to conference stating his reason for signing.

Bishop Kelley resumed the floor, and the debate continued. Adjourn. ment was moved while Bro. Heman C.

Smith was on his feet.

Pres. Joseph Smith asked privilege to make statement of facts before the matter was closed. This was granted.

Adjournment was then taken. Bro. G. T. Griffiths was the speaker at the evening hour, Bro. C. H. Porter assisting.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 10.

At nine o'clock the prayer meeting was presided over by Bro. John Chisnall, his associate being Bro. James Bro. H. O. Smith discoursed at eleven o'clock, assisted by Bro. I. P. Baggerly.

Promptly at two o'clock President Smith called the meeting to order.

Minutes read and approved.

A request from the Daughters of Zion was read in which they asked for the use of the lower room from 10:30 to 12:00 on Thursday and Friday mornings. This request was granted.

President Smith then vacated the chair, which was taken by Bro. Pitt, reason assigned in the preambles for and Bro. Heman C. Smith resumed Gates.

the floor. Before he began, however, a motion was entertained which provided that when Bro. Smith had completed his argument the speeches be limited to fifteen minutes, and that at 4:15 President Smith be permitted his statements, and then the vote be taken on the previous question. This was carried, and Bro. H. C. Smith resumed his speech. When he had closed, a motion was made to amend the substitute by striking out all after the word "Resolved," and inserting the following:-

That it is the sense of this body that the President of the church does not have the right to suppress General Conference minutes from publication, in part or as a whole, temporarily or permanently; but considering existing conditions and circumstances surrounding the case complained of, and believing the motive of President Smith to have been good, we hereby declare him to be fully released from any disability which may have attached to him by reason of the act of suppression, and exonerated from blame. And be it further Resolved, That we cheerfully express our willingness and determination to support President Smith in all the high and important duties which belong to his office and

This was debated up until the time for hearing the statements of the President, and he then arose and briefly stated some facts concerning the case, but offered no word of appeal or argument. In part he said:

I have never refused to be amenable to the church in its corporate capacity or to its laws, and was never charged with any offense against the law or my brethren. This is the first time I was ever called on to answer. I This is the want no member of this conference to vote to exonerate me out of personal friendship or through sentimentality. I learned when a boy to go close to the hand that held the rod and not beg for pity, nor do I now. I am here to meet the law. I have talked to no one in reference to the case. I have not argued it before, nor do I propose to do so now. only hope that no man will condemn through the exercise of hate or malice, but I feel myself a manly man among manly men, and am not here to beg."

After his statements the vote on the previous question was taken and or-

The amendment to the substitute was denied, and then the yeas and nays were ordered on the substitute, which was taken, resulting in the adoption of the substitute by a vote, leaving off fractions, of 1,048 yeas, 517 nays.

Bro. Joseph Luff explained that circumstances had hindered him from ordaining Bro. J. B. Roush to the office of high priest, and asked conference to provide for said ordination. It was referred to the Presidency.

Various announcements were made, and a motion to adjourn obtained about seven o'clock,—a session of about five hours, - one of the longest in the history of the church.

Bro. James Caffall was the preacher in the evening, assisted by Bro. G. H.

THURSDAY, APRIL 11.

Morning prayer service in charge of Brn. J. A. Robinson and John

Bro. T. W. Williams was the speaker at eleven o'clock. He was assisted by Bro. F. M. Slover.

The afternoon business session was called to order by Pres. Joseph Smith; prayer by Bro. E. A. Blakeslee. Minutes read and approved.

The request of priests, teachers, and deacons to be made ex officio members of General Conference was read, and motion made to grant request. This was discussed some, when it was decided to defer until the proposed amendments to rules of representation should be taken up.

President Smith reported that the Presidency and Bishopric had visited St. Joseph branch as per instructions of last conference.

The general church recorder, Bro. H. A. Stebbins, reported. The totals are: Baptisms, 2,316; 574 deaths; 189 expulsions; received by letter, 1,507; removed, 1,503; a net gain of 1,557 members, making the present aggregate, 45,381.

The church secretary made report, as did also the committee on compilation of General Conference resolu-The committee was distions.

charged.

Historian's report was read and received. Bro. F. M. Smith offered his resignation as assistant historian, which was accepted, and the historian was authorized to choose an assistant subject to ratification of body.

Report of committee on histories and encyclopedias was read. By motion the committee was discharged, the work to be intrusted to the historical department.

Committee on credentials made a recommendation, which was adopted.

A report from the Second Quorum of Teachers was read.

A vote of thanks was tendered members of committee on histories and encyclopedias, also assistant historian.

Second Quorum of Deacons reported. It was received and spread on the minutes.

Report of J. W. Wight on the matter of D. H. Bays' membership was read. He had appointed an elders' court, and they reported charges sustained, and recommended expulsion. This was adopted and D. H. Bays was on motion expelled.

Chairman then adjourned conference till nine o'clock tomorrow for prayer service, stating the evening would be given to the Independence choir for rendering of cantata.

In the evening the Independence choir rendered in a most excellent manner the cantata entitled, "David the shepherd boy." The production showed most careful preparation, the wand of directress Sr. Belle James seeming to control the large chorus as one piece of machinery. The Independence branch is fortunate in possessing some excellent talent in the musical line. With such artists as Professors Smith and Mills at the organ and piano, and such independent singers as Srs. W. N. Robinson, Myra Brackenbury, and Flo Mc-Nichols, and Brn. Arthur Murphy, Orville James, and Ola White, backed as they were by a strong body of good chorus singers, Sr. James' wand could not but guide to success. The Independence Saints, and, indeed, all Saints, may well be proud of the Independence chorus.

FRIDAY, APRIL 12.

The nine a. m. prayer and testimony service was presided over by Brn. William Anderson and C. J. Hunt.

Bro. W. A. Smith was the speaker at eleven o'clock, assisted by Bro. I. M. Smith.

Afternoon.—Called to order at two o'clock by President Joseph Smith. Prayer by J. H. Lake. Minutes read and approved.

Report of committee appointed to meet in council with committee from the Church of Christ was read, which was adopted and the committee con-

Report of church librarian was read. He recommended that $75 additional be set aside for binding and repairing books. The recommendation was adopted.

A resolution was presented by First Seventy concerning letters of removal. It was amended, but was laid on the table without final action.

Report of board of trustees Graceland College was read, as was also the report of the treasurer of the board: Borrowed and from other sources, $3,473.90; expended, 389.51; on hand, $84.39.

Report of college librarian was read. Received about 70 volumes in year; about 1,127 volumes total in About 350 specimens received in year in museum. About one thousand specimens placed in herbarium by Bro. J. P. Anderson.

Report of President Harkness was read concerning work. About 140 students enrolled in all departments outside musical department, and about 46 in music department. Outlook encouraging.

Report of Bishopric of financial condition of Graceland College: Total receipts, \$4,123.51; total expenditures, \$3,897.10; balance due college, \$226.41; total assets, \$38,817.70; liabilities, \$25,400;  $\mathbf{net}$ assets, \$13,417.70. Bishop stated he had promises for about \$11,000 on the one thousand \$25 subscription plan.

Treasurer's report was referred to committee for auditing.

The proposed amendments to articles of incorporation were taken up. Moved to act upon the recommendations as a whole. Carried. They then read as published in HERALD for February 6, current volume, and by motion they were adopted.

The term of W. Anderson, Wm. Leeka, and J. H. Hansen as trustees having expired, Wm. Anderson was reelected, and F. M. Smith and John Smith were elected to replace others.

The Fourth Quorum of Deacons reported.

Report read from the First Quorum Elders.

Report of committee on archæology was presented, comprising about forty pages typewritten matter. By request, in lieu of reading the report, Bro. Sheehy gave a synopsis of the report, and the report was ordered published in separate form from published minutes and made supplemental to former archæological report.

A report from the Religio Society was read.

Auditing committee of last year presented a bill which should have been presented last conference, and the bill was allowed.

A resolution was adopted tendering a vote of thanks to those in charge of the cantata for giving free tickets to missionaries.

Committee appointed to audit Ensign books reported them correct.

As the church historian had made recommendation that district historians be appointed, it was decided that the historian be authorized to appoint such persons in such places as he may deem proper. The present historian was süstained.

Elder Hill, of the Hedrickite Church asked privilege to address the audience some evening. Granted.

Bro. J. R. Lambert addressed the conference at the evening hour. He was assisted by Bro. E. H. Durand.

SATURDAY, APRIL 13.

Brn. J. C. Crabb and P. Cadwell were in charge of the morning prayer and testimony service.

At eleven o'clock Bro. C. A. Beebe had charge of the service, Bro. W. E. Peak being the speaker.

2:00 p. m.—After usual preliminaries, a report signed by two of the auditing committee on HERALD Office books was read. Bro. R. M. Elvin arose and made some statements concerning same, and submitted minority report.

Committee appointed to audit accounts of college treasurer reported same correct.

Second Quorum of Elders reported, as did also the Fourth Quorum of Letter from Gustavus Lund, of Michigan, was read concerning the printing of some Swedish tracts.

Bishop's reports were read.

A petition asking that the fortieth parallel be established as the boundary between the Southern Michigan and Northern Indiana, and Southern Indiana districts, was granted.

A request was read from some of the brethren wherein they petitioned for setting apart Sunday, April 14, for prayer and fasting by quorums for divine light and guidance. It was finally decided that there be a prayer meeting of the priesthood, in the basement Sunday morning at eight oclock, to come fasting. Also a meeting of the laity in auditorium at eight, the fast also to be observed.

Brn. Swen Swensen, John Wahlstrom, and Peter Anderson, were appointed a committee on resolution of condolence on the death of Bro. M. P. Hansen, who died at his post in the Scandinavian mission.

Third Quorum of Priests reported. Recommendation of Religio concerning work of Sr. LaJune Howard on pronouncing vocabulary of Book of Mormon was read and referred to a committee of three, J. A. Gunsolley,

F. M. Sheehy, A. J. Keck. Lamoni, Kirtland, Independence, and Boston were placed in nomination as places to which to make final adjournment. Lamoni was selected as the place.

Bro. J. H. Lake discoursed in the evening, assisted by Bro. B. St. John. SUNDAY, APRIL 15.

The prayer meeting in the auditorium was presided over by Pres. J. Smith.

The priesthood prayer meeting, by vote, called Brn. A. H. Smith and J. H. Lake to preside, and they invited Brn. W. H. Kelley, C. Derry, D. Campbell, and R. S. Salyards to occopy the stand with them, which they did. Many fervent prayers were offered, and some excellent testimonies borne.

At eleven o'clock President Joseph Smith delivered an interesting sermon to a house literally packed. He was assisted by Bro. F. M. Smith. Added to the Saints in and around Independence, a large delegation of one hundred or more came from St. Joseph, Missouri.

Bro. John Smith, assisted by Bro. Fred A. Smith, preached at 2:30 p. m. to an audience equal in size to that of the morning hour.

The evening discourse was delivered by Bro. Heman C. Smith, assisted by Walter W. Smith.

This day has been, as President Smith announced it Saturday evening, a veritable "Smith day."

The difficulty that the Bible presents to many skeptics is not that it will not stand deep and rational examination, but that it will not stand superficial examination .-Ram's Horn.

AUTOBIOGRAPHIC SKETCH AND IN-CIDENTS IN THE EARLY HIS-TORY OF THE REOR-GANIZATION .- NO. 15.

BY EDMUND C. BRIGGS, OF THE QUO-RUM OF THE TWELVE.

But let us see just one more thought in this connection.

And Joseph said unto his brethren, Come near to me, I pray you. And they came near. And he said, I am Joseph, your brother, whom ye sold into Egypt. Now therefore be not grieved, nor angry with yourselves, that ye sold me hither: for God did send me before you to preserve life. For these two years hath the famine been in the land: and yet there are five years, in the which there shall neither be earing nor harvest. And God sent me before you to preserve you a pos-terity in the earth, and to save your lives by a great deliverance. So now it was not you that sent me hither, but God: and he hath made me a father to Pharaoh, and lord of all his house, and a ruler throughout all the land of Egypt.—Genesis 45: 4-8.

No anger nor vituperation burned in his devoted soul. He was all sunshine between his flood of tears and affection for his brothers.

Ah, say some of my readers, why was all this suffering permitted to come on this young prophet, seer, and revelator? Let me answer. The ancient apostle says,

Though he were a Son, yet learned he obedience by the things which he suffered; and being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him.-Hebrews 5:8, 9.

Jesus himself learned through suffering. Joseph was destined in the economy of Almighty God to be a ruler and preserver of life and a counselor and a teacher to instruct senators wisdom, as testified by David the Psalmist before quoted. If Joseph could not have endured trials, suffering, and distress, and yet not lose his faith in God, he would not have been so well prepared for the arduous duties that fell to his lot to bear when he was raised to affluence, honor, and great responsibility. To use his own words.

And he [God] hath made me a father to Pharach, and lord of all his house, and a ruler throughout all the land of Egypt.

Yes, my dear reader, the whole tenor of the scriptures teaches the doctrine that we must learn to appreciate the good by the opposite. The conthe good by the opposite. trast seems to be absolutely necessary in this life to make us competent to judge between good and evil; and if we cannot endure trial without getting sour and saddened in our dispositions, we will never be worthy to enjoy the "crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me [us] at that day." (2 Tim. 4:8.) And John the divine says:

What are these which are arrayed in white robes? and whence came they? And I said unto him, Sir, thou knowest. And he said to me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of Therefore are they before the l throne of God, and serve him day and night in his temple: and he that sitteth on the throne shall dwell among them. They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more; neither shall the sun light on them, nor any heat. For the Lamb which is in the midst of the throne shall feed them, and shall lead them unto living fountains of waters: and God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes.—Revelation 7:13-17.

When I think indeed Joseph's eleven brothers all bowed to him, and his father also, it is evidence there is a hereafter to be enjoyed and appreciated by us all. No, my dear brethren, trials are good for us all, if we can endure them and, like Joseph, lose not our integrity, purity, and holiness; and like Job, who said:-

But he knoweth the way that I take: when he hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold. My foot hath held his steps, his way have I kept, and not declined. Neither have I gone back from the commandment of his lips; I have esteemed the words of his mouth more than my necessary food.—Job 23:10-12.

But I must hasten in my narrative. "Wednesday, July 20.—The Saints are revived in their faith, but Bro. Hinkle takes great exception to the name of Latter Day Saints being acknowledged by the church, and is very much hurt because we confirmed the members into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, and seemed to be really angry about it, though we would not contend with him. Our argument was that most of the brethren and sisters have been confirmed under that name, and in our opinion think the words Latter Day Saint add substantially nothing to the name, Church of Christ, but was added that we might be distinguished by the law of the land from other churches of our day which are known by the law of the land as the Church of Christ. And again, those who are confirmed in the church under the name in full are blessed with the gifts of the Holy Spirit, also substantially the Church of Jesus Christ is composed of Latter Day Saints, and signifies and distinguishes them from the Church of Jesus Christ of former day saints. Hence, for convenience' sake it only distinguishes the age when the Church of Jesus Christ was authoritatively established among men. We had an excellent prayer meeting this evening at Bro. George Morey's.

"July 21.—We returned to Franklin Grove, or Brush Creek. Hinkle is with us-has promised to take us eighty miles in his carriage on our journey to Council Bluffs. Brn. Blair and Hinkle stopped with Bro. Elijah Hall, while I remained at David Hall's.

"Friday, July 22.—We held meeting at ten o'clock a. m. and at seven o'clock p. m.

"Saturday, 23d.—Again Elder Blair preached an excellent sermon at two o'clock p. m.

"Sunday. 24th. — We held three meetings and organized a branch of the church of seventeen members.

"Monday, 25th.—We held another meeting at eight o'clock. Elder Blair preached. After services, Elijah B. Hall, Mary Hall, William Harris, Amanda Harris, and Jacob Morse were baptized. In the evening at six o'clock, preaching again at Bro. Hall's, and confirmation followed the services. Saints are rejoicing in our hope and are all alive to the interests of the work of the Reorganization, and have been anxious to have all the meetings possible. Since we have been with them they have treated us so loyally and grandly that it has paid us for all the cold rebuffs we have received by the prejudiced world for a long time. Many friends have been gained for our blessed hope, for we have had large audiences most of the time during the week as well as on Sundays.

"Tuesday, 26th.—Continued on our journey. It has rained part of the time today, but we arrived at Afton at seven p. m.

"Wednesday, 27th, at six o'clock we were on our journey. Bro. Hinkle thinks we have driven forty miles. It has been a beautiful day. Reached Fontanelle at 5:30 o'clock p. m."

I find this note in my journal:—
"After dinner today I took a walk in the grove. It is beautiful timber, and all nature looks cheerful and happy; but, alas! I am lonely. My health has been poor for three weeks. Headaches most of the time except when in meeting and while reflecting on the past of my life, which is not very inviting; but I have done the best I could under the circumstances, and now I would fain penetrate the future; but that is known only to God, though my impressions are that my sea is going to be a rough one. Time alone is the revealer, but my choice is that my grief shall not disturb the happiness of my dearest friends, but I will suffer without a murmur if alone. Truly, the Lord has blessed me many times with the comfort of his Spirit, but of myself I truly feel my weakness and frailty in this wicked world, and like our blessed Master, I have not a place to lay my head that I can call my own, but do not covet what the world enjoys."

We stopped over night with Bro.

Ireland.

"Thursday, July 28.—From this place Bro. Hinkle leaves us and returns home. It has been very kind in him to bring us so far on our journey, and I have appreciated it very much, for I have been very sick most of the time with a severe pain in my head, and it does not seem possible this morning for me to continue on our journey on foot, but I feel to had very poor water to drink most of make us holy independently of thank Bro. Hinkle with my whole the way through the state, therefore word or our obedience to it?

heart for bringing us this far. May he be rewarded by our blessed Master for his kindness to us. We gave him four dollars and paid his expenses for bringing us to this place.

"This day we have traveled across the prairie from Bro. Ireland's over the old Mormon route. The grass was high as our heads all along the road, so we got very wet with the dew this morning. Distance between houses, fourteen miles. We took dinner in Cass county, and tonight lodged with Mr. V. M. Conrad.

"Wheeler's Grove, Pottawattamie county, Friday, July 29, 1859.—This day we traveled twenty-three miles. I have been very poorly in health all day, so weak and distressed I have almost wished Bro. Blair would go on and leave me alone on the prairie so I could rest and sleep. My head has pained me all day in a most dreadful manner, and it seems a great trial to be so afflicted when I am on an errand of love to my fellow-men and really commissioned of Jesus Christ to call back the wandering, scattered, latterday Israel to the fold of Christ. If there was any doubt in my mind in this matter I believe I would now stop the mission field, and, like Elders Samuel H. Gurley and Reuben Newkirk, go home. But my confidence in God is unshaken, his promises yea and amen to me. I know in whom I have trusted, and the wonderful principles of the gospel of Christ surpass in excellency all the devices and schemes that have been established by men. My severe trial and afflictions now are so unnatural that I believe indeed it must be the power of darkness is determined to make shipwreck of my faith; but like the ancient apostles I can truly say, Lord, to whom shall we go? thou hast the words of eternal life. And we believe and are sure that thou art that Christ, the Son of the living God.-John 6:68, 69.

"I have seen and conversed with the heavenly messenger myself, so I cannot doubt my calling in the min-

"We stopped at Mrs. Wheeler's for a late dinner, and the widow informed us Mr. Levi Graybill was a Latter Day Saint, lived near there, and was a fine man. This was good news to us, and we soon went to see him."

The notes in my journal, penned that day ever memorable to me, read as follows:-

"For dinners paid fifty cents, and went to Bro. Levi Graybill's who received us as warmly as though we were old acquaintances. We stopped over night. I have some of the symptoms of ague chills, and in the evening have some fever. We have been unwell for the last few weeks. It has been very warm weather, and we have are both somewhat ill, and the power of Satan is our enemy.'

I was too sick to visit very much, but I appreciated the kindness of Bro. Graybill and family. were firm in the faith and at once received our hope. Bro. Blair did most of the talking. I was too ill to take much interest in the conversation. We learned there were quite a number of families of the Saints in that vicinity.

"Saturday, the 30th, we visited Bro. Calvin Beebe, Sen., at Farm Creek, in Mills county, seven miles from Wheeler's Grove. Elder Beebe is presiding elder of a branch of forty members who are looking up to Elder Alpheus Cutler, of Manti, as their leader, and who claims to be a specially commissioned high priest to teach the oracles given through Joseph the choice seer, also claims authority to organize a school of the prophets, so Bro. Beebe informs us. The brethren receive us very kindly and tell us the gifts of the Holy Spirit are enjoyed by some of the members of the branch, mostly gifts of tongues and interpretation, also dreams.

"I am very poorly in health today; can do but little talking. Have been very much distressed, and the power of the evil one is sensibly felt by both of us. Bro. Blair is not well, but he is not so ill as I am. It has seemed almost impossible for me to travel today, and it seems almost a Godsend to me to find such a friendly feeling here at Bro. Beebe's. I have tried to keep up courage for some days and not let Bro. Blair know how bad I have felt, but I cannot hide all of my feelings from him."

(Continued.)

SANCTIFICATION .- NO. 2.

BY C. SCOTT.

If sanctification is, in a general sense, to purify or render holy, does it not follow that sanctification is one of the very important elements of the process of bringing holiness about? It must not be forgotten that the Holy Spirit has a divinely appointed agency Truly. and work in sanctification. One of the cardinal elements of the gospel, and with the word of the gospel, the holy commandments does its work as we yield ourselves to the influence of the gospel in willing and loving obedience. The gospel consists not in word only, but through the word are the operations and intentions of the Holy Ghost understood. In other words, the gospel word and the Holy Ghost agree in their testimony and work. They work together in their sanctifying influences. Will God command us to be holy and then go to work on his own account and make us holy independently of his

We must wash our own robes and make them white in the blood of the Lamb. (Rev. 7: 14.) Christ does all the work, in a general sense, by placing in our hands the gospel as the means, and proffers to us all the aid essential, and then gives directions how these means are to be used to bring to us sanctification, holiness, and perfection. This is self evident. No difficulty need be encountered by anyone who truly desires, with all his heart, to do what God says to conform to his will; for it is by doing his will that we enter the kingdom. the will of God that we 'have faith in God"? (Mark 11:22.) Is it not the will of God that we have faith in the Messiahship and teachings of Jesus his Son, our Savior?

This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ye him.—Matt. 17:5.

He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life; and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him.—John 3: 36.

He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him; the word that I have spoken, the same shall judge him in the last day. For I have not spoken of myself but the Father which sent me, he gave me a commandment what I should say, and what I should speak. And I know that his commandment is life everlasting; what-soever I speak therefore, even as the Father said unto me, so I speak.—John 12: 48-50.

Surely, since Jesus revealed God's commands, not his own, whatever is said unto one is said unto all the human race. He does not teach one way to one class of men and an entirely different and contradictory way to another class. Such an idea would go to show conclusively that God has no decisive and unquestioned standard of truth. We must not admit this and ever feel safe in our hope of life eternal. How, then, are we to believe in God and his Son?

How then shall they call on him in whom they have not believed? and how shall they believe in him of whom they have not heard? and how shall they hear without a preacher [a witness]? and how shall they preach [testify], except they be sent? as it is written, How beautiful are the feet of them that preach the gospel of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things! . . . So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God.—Rom. 10: 14, 15, 17.

Neither pray I for these [apostles] alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word.-John 17: 20.

Is not this evidence or testimony from God through Jesus and the other witnesses a unity, a divine unity? Does it not portray the same truth to all who hear it? Or does it conflict with itself, saying one thing to one and something entirely different to another? Such idea from the premises here laid down would not be rational. Others, then, than God, Christ, or their witnesses are responsible for the diversified opinions now existing on the question of sanctification. But believing or having faith in God and Christ and their word is not all we have to do to be saved?

For as we cannot be saved in our sins, we must forsake or repent of all our sins, must cease to do evil. Jesus opened his ministry with these themes:

Now after that John was put in prison, Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God, and saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent ye, and believe the gospel .-Mark 1: 14, 15.

Repentance includes a sincere sorrow of heart towards God for the rejection of his mercy and the wanton violation of his law. What is repentance, as defined by Paul?

Now I rejoice, not that ye were made sorry, but that ye sorrowed to repentance: for ye were made sorry after a godly manner, that ye might receive damage by us in nothing. For godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation not to be repented of: but the sorrow of the world worketh death.-2 Cor. 7: 9, 10.

Faith and repentance are two of the principles of the doctrine of Christ, according to Paul; but is that all that is required of us to bring us into a justified state? or, how shall we "go on unto perfection," and be fully sanctified? (See Heb. 5: 2, and 6: 1, 2.) No. These two principles do not include even the beginning of the gospel. For we read that when "the beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ" was introduced to Israel, the Elias, or restorer of the gospel order, it is said:-

John did baptize in the wilderness, and preach the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins.-Mark 1: 4.

Luke's testimony is:-Annas and Caiaphas being the high priests, the word of God came to John the son of Zacharias in the wilderness. And he came into all the country about Jordan, preaching the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins.—Luke 3:2, 3.

And in John 1:33, John Baptist testifies that God sent him "to baptize with water," and thus "make straight the way of the Lord." Repentance and baptism for the remission of sins!

"Ah," say some, "we do not accept this as essential to remission or forgiveness of sins."

This you have made us aware of, but this is the straight way of the Lord, and you must not forget that the Lord says, as before cited:

For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord.—Isaiah 55:8.

It is the Lord's way we are seeking out, and your ways and opinions must go for what they are worth. Of John and his gospel mission given of God, it is written:-

And thou, child, shalt be called the Prophet of the Highest: for thou shalt go before the face of the Lord to prepare his ways [not man's ways]: to give knowledge of salvation unto his people by the remission of their sins.-Luke 1:76, 77.

How did John give the knowledge of salvation to the people by remission of their sins? so making "straight the way of the Lord." Here is God's answer: -

The word of God came unto John the son of Zacharias in the wilderness. And he came into all the country about Jordan, preaching the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins.-Luke 3:2, 3.

And John's work was afterward acknowledged of God thus:-

For I say unto you, Among those that are born of women there is not a greater prophet than John the Baptist; but he that is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he. And all the people that heard him, and the publicans, justified God, being baptized with the baptism of John. But the Pharisees and lawyers rejected the counsel of God against themselves, not being baptized of him.— Luke 7: 28-30.

Here, kind reader, are two classes of people represented in contrast by our Savior, the obedient and the disobedient, publicans and sinners, and the Pharisees and lawyers. The one class accepted God's "straight way, the other class differed from God. Which of these two classes was justified from its past sins, or was forgiven and became sanctified? I have been present at services where a series of prayers was offered before the congregation rose from their kneeling posture, and yet in not one of those prayers was pardon for any sin asked, or the slightest intimation that any of the number were guilty of any sin whatever, or even liable to sin. Our Savior once illustrated the two classes, those willing to accept the divine way, and those who think they can do better in some other way, thus:

And he spake this parable unto certain which trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and despised others; two men went up into the temple to pray; the one a Pharisee. and the other a publican. The Pharisee, and the other a publican. The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with him-self, God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican. I fast twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I possess. And the publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast, saying, God be merciful to me a sinner. I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other; for every one that exalteth him-self shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.—Luke 18: 9-14.

This enables us to see ourselves as others see us, and to see that God's way of life, truth, and sanctification is our only hope of success, and that human ways of salvation are vain.

But we now return to the line of thought digressed from: "Baptism of repentance,"-that is, our act of being baptized, - is the offspring or outgrowth of gospel repentance! Kingdom of God is a kingdom originating with or springing off from God. Solomon, son of David, is David's offspring. Baptism of repentance for the remission of sins. Repentance is a principle of the gospel, and baptism as a principle associates itself directly with faith and repentance to the convert in accepting the gospel. Is repentance "for the remission of sins; or do we repent because God has already forgiven us our sins? Which? On this subject of pardon, or being cleansed from sin, Jesus says:-

He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved [pardoned]; but he that believeth not shall be damned.—Mark 16:16.

"Be damned," that is, remain unpardoned, unforgiven.

We have already seen that we are sanctified by the law, or in accordance with the law of the Spirit of life. And continuing to pursue the directions of the law, in practice, will most surely continue the process of sanctification till perfection is attained. There is no way of determining how man can become holy save it be by continually obeying the law of holiness. If being in a sinful condition is being unholy, and sin be transgression of law, then to keep, do, or observe the divine law, will work our sanctification and holiness; that is, if we also avoid that which the law condemns as sinful. Hence the modern idea that prayer and humiliation alone will bring us into a sanctified condition before the Lord, is vain. The law of the Lord being perfect, if faithfully observed, will bring about perfect results. It is the faithful observance of the law of the Spirit of life that develops our spirituality and lays the foundation in us for an upright and pure life. The holy commandments being the rule of our action, we avoid evil and work the holy works of God, and we thus have our "fruit unto holiness."

Wherefore laying aside all malice and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speaking, as newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the work, that ye may grow

thereby.-1 Peter 2:1, 2.

According as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain to life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue: whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises; that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust.—2 Peter 1:3, 4.

According to these statements we cannot develop or grow as children of God, independently of the word of God. Nor can we become partakers of "the divine nature" unless we obtain the things promised, and this we cannot even hope to do without doing what he has commanded, with all the heart and mind.

On the day of Pentecost, Peter, being filled with the Holy Ghost, preached the word of the Lord unto a large concourse of people. Preaching the word unto them, he preached Jesus, or the gospel. Having quoted from the standard of law accepted by his audience, and the word being carried to their hearts with the convincing power of the Holy Ghost in Peter, the testimony offered penetrated their understanding and hearts, and being unto Peter and the rest of the apostles:-

Men and brethren, what shall we do? Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost. For the promise is unto you, and to your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call.—Acts 2: 37-39.

The gospel as here preached by Peter has repentance and baptism for the remission of sins, just as did the same gospel when preached by John the Baptist, before referred to. three thousand of those people re-pented and were baptized for the remission of their sins. And by their obedience to the law taught, and accepting the authority vested by the Father in these servants of his, were forgiven of all past sins, and therefore were not then under condemnation, or damned.

In the light of these apostolic transactions on this ever memorable day, we can easily understand Paul's statement to the Romans:-

But God be thanked, that ye were the servants of sin ["though ye were"—I. T.] but ye have obeyed from the heart that form of doctrine which was delivered unto you. Being then made free from sin, ye became the servants of righteousness. I speak after the manner of men because of the infirmity of your flesh: for as ye have yielded your members servants to uncleanness and to iniquity unto iniquity; even so now yield your members servants to righteousness unto holiness. For when ye were the servants of sin, ye were free from righteousness. What fruit had ye then in those things whereof ye are now ashamed? for the end of those things is death. But now being made free from sin, and become servants to God, ye have your fruit unto holiness, and the end everlasting life.—Rom. 6:17-22.

Men ought to be thankful that the terms of pardon of past sins are so Thankful that by accepting Jesus Christ as their Savior, by believing with all their heart, repenting of all their sins, and being baptized in the name of, or by the authority of Jesus Christ, for the remission of their sins, they enter a justified state in the sight of God. Being baptized by one authorized of God, and that one so authorized being an officer in God's kingdom or church, the penitent believer is by his baptism preceded by faith and repentance "translated" into the kingdom of God's dear Son. (Col. 1:13.) By baptism, our act of passing under the water and being buried and rising, we indicate that we have died to the world, to sin, have broken off our allegiance to the sinful ways of this world, being thus buried with Christ in baptism, as saith the apostle:-

Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death; that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life.—Rom. 6: 3, 4.

For ye are all the children of God by faith convinced, and believing, they said in Christ Jesus. For as many of you as have the believers in Christ, but by these been baptized into Christ have put on Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus. And if ye be Christ's then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise.— Gal. 3: 26-29.

Surely the Apostle Paul knew no other way of passing out of the world into Christ, or the body of Christ, except we are baptized. He preached no other way.

Being delivered from the power of darkness and being translated into the kingdom of God's dear Son, by believing, repenting, and being buried by baptism into Christ Jesus, constitutes what Paul calls being "adopted" into Jesus Christ; and as adopted children we are thus made heirs of God, and joint heirs with Jesus Christ. (Gal. 4: 1-5.) Being thus an adopted heir of God, we are entitled to all the blessings and privileges of the members of the family of God. After this adoption, the children are entitled to the rite of confirmation, or the ordinance of laying on of the hands of the authorized ministers of God's house or church, in order to the reception of the Holy Ghost, the spirit of adoption.

Because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father.—Gal. 4: 6.

God being unchangeable, and no respecter of persons, and infinitely just, would grant us the same right now to receive the sacrament of laying on of hands, as to those at Samaria, who were confirmed by Peter and John, or as those at Ephesus by the Apostle Paul, or as when Timothy was confirmed by the presbyters or elders at Ephesus, for the gift of the Holy Ghost. (Acts 8: 14-16; Acts 19: 1-6; 1 Tim. 4: 13, 14.) The laying on of hands for the gift or baptism of the Holy Ghost being a principle of the doctrine of Christ (Heb. 6: 1, 2), could not be separated from the gospel, and yet it be perfect. And besides, to do so would be to question the impartiality of the God of the gospel.

The seven "principles of the doctrine of Christ" enumerated by Paul in Hebrews, chapter six, and verses one and two, being the foundation of all gospel righteousness, must all be accepted in order to gospel obedience. This was a test of Christian character in the apostolic age, so we read:

Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son. If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house, neither bid him Godspeed: for he that biddeth him Godspeed is partaker with him of his evil deeds. -2 John 9-11.

The doctrine of Christ here referred to includes all that Christ taught, all the gospel, both first and secondary principles, and was not only a test of principles of the doctrine, the "deceivers" and the "antichrists" were Anyone denying one or all of these principles denies that Jesus Christ, as "God was manifest in the flesh," had come. Any man denying the essentiality of the principles, or any part of them, presumes to set his judgment up against God, and is therefore "a deceiver and an antichrist." It is well for this reason that Paul defines the first principles of the doctrine of Christ to be "faith toward God," "repentance from dead works," "and the doctrine of baptisms" (baptisms could not be less than two, that of water and the Holy Ghost, as John Baptist and Jesus taught. See Matthew 3:11, 12; Luke 3:2, 3; John 3:3-5: Acts 1:4-8), and of laying on of hands, resurrection of the dead, and of eternal judgment,seven principles in all. (Heb. 6: 1, 2.) How vain the idea in anyone to suppose a principle of any system can be changed or done away, and the system remain intact. Here then are the foundation principles of sanctification, and hope of eternal life.

Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not. Beloved, now are we the sons of God; and it doth not yet appear what we shall be; but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure.—1 John 3:1-3.

Thus as man moves along step by step in obedience to the law of the Spirit of life in Christ, so purifying his soul in obeying the truth, and being moved by this mighty hope in God, and having been adopted into the family, and purifies himself even as God is pure, the process of sanctification goes on and on.

When adopted into the family of the Father, men receive the Spirit of their adoption, the Spirit in them cries, Abba, Father. And not only so, but:-

There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit. For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death.—Rom. 8:1, 2.

THE WORK OF THE HOLY SPIRIT IN SANCTIFICATION.

There is no Bible evidence that any one who has not accepted the gospel and is therefore out of Christ, is in a sanctified condition in any gospel sense. There is no evidence regarding this matter, that we are aware of, outside the divine revelations. That God has any other way of sanctifying men than by yielding implicit obedience to "the law of the Spirit of life," the gospel, we are not informed in the divine word. Any venturing outside of the information given, would be but vanity and presumption. Our only safety, then, is in abiding in the word. We are told, however, in a latter day revelation thus:-

And again, verily I say unto you, That which is governed by law, is also preserved by law, and perfected and sanctified by the same.—D. C. 85:8.

To be sanctified is to be free from, separate from, morally and spiritually purified and cleansed from sin, and the desire to intentionally or willfully sin is dead. To be dead to the sinful ways of the world. To be crucified with Christ (Rom. 6:6, 7); for he that is dead to sin is freed from sin. But having been "baptized into Jesus Christ," and risen to walk in a new life, and being entitled to the reception of the inbreathing of the new world or kingdom into which we are born, we receive the Spirit of adoption, and the Spirit helpeth our infirmaties.

For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die; but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God.—Rom. 8:13, 14.

Sin is the transgression of the law.-1 John 3:4.

And to refuse to accept and live according to the law leaves man under condemnation. (Mark 16:16; John 12:48; John 3:36.) And it was through the Spirit, as a medium, God gave the law to man, and it would be unreasonable to conclude that our Master would sancify anyone while living out of harmony with, or refusing to accept, his holy law and commandments.

It might be well to notice the fact that all that is said on the subject of sanctification in the New Testament record is addressed to baptized believers, except the one statement of our Savior addressed in prayer to his Father.

Anyone not adopted into Christ by faith and obedience to the law of adoption, could not receive the Spirit of adoption, and to contend that they could, would be to argue that the Spirit would come to a person and "bear witness" to an untruth. Testify they were adopted into God's family when they were not!

We have already observed that sin is the transgression of the divine law, and the Savior informs us that one of the office works of the Holy Ghost is to reprove the world of sin. (John 16: 8.) It was the Holy Ghost in John that led him to teach the Jews:-

I indeed baptize you with water unto repentance: but he that cometh after me is mightier than I, whose shoes I am not worthy to bear; he shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost, and with fire; whose fan is in his hand, and he will thoroughly purge his floor, and gather his wheat into the gar-ner; but he will burn up the chaff with unquenchable fire.-Matt. 3: 11, 12.

The Holy Ghost here sets forth the afterwards put it, "repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ;" so John baptized with water unto repentance, and declares that the same ones shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost and fire, and gives us to understand that by the agency of the Holy Ghost and fire, he (Christ) will consume the chaff; or the sinful propensities of our natures; or as Paul teaches, if we through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body we shall Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin. For he that is dead is freed from sin.-

"Chaff," "deeds of the body," is "the body of sin."

Herein is the sanctifying power and work of the Holy Ghost, in all who are sanctified, washed, and "justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God." (1 Cor. 6:11.)

The gospel precedes sanctification to all those who will be purified by it. Paul says again:-

That I should be the minister of Jesus Christ to the Gentiles, ministering the gospel of God, that the offering up of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being sanctified by the Holy Ghost.—Rom. 15: 16.

By the Holy Spirit's aid we overcome and subdue our carnality. Purifying our souls by obeying the truth, we receive the Spirit's light and help in its sanctifying enlightening power to mortify the deeds of the flesh, to crucify the body of sin, to bring the propensities of our natures so completely under subjection that they have no dominion over us; so much so, that for us to transgress the law would require extraordinary circumstances.

Being sanctified in a gospel way and sense, we have no desire to lie, steal, swear, covet, drink intoxicants, or in any way be conformed to the world; to dance, or partake in other ways-as gambling, betting, backbiting, adultery, lasciviousness, or any other degrading, demoralizing influence, as prompted by the unregenerate minds. But on the contrary, abstaining from all "fleshly lusts" that "war against the soul" (1 Peter 2:11), we desire the sincere milk of God's word, that we may grow thereby, and

Besides this, giving all diligence, add to your faith, virtue; and to virtue, knowledge; and to knowledge, temperance: and to temperance, patience; and to patience, godliness; and to godliness, brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness, charity.-2 Peter 1:5-7.

Doing these things, we take unto us the whole armor of God. Being thus armed, we are "able to stand," and "to quench all the fiery darts of the adversary." We are also enabled to do unto all men even as we would wish them to do unto us; and to manigospel law in general terms, as Paul | fest in our lives the fruits of the Spirit, love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance, against which there is no law.

If we are barren of these fruits, what evidence is there that the sanctifying Spirit of truth is in us.

Being sanctified by the truth and Holy Spirit, we will walk strictly in the requirements of the divine law, without resort to human expediencies in any respect, not required by his holy law.

PRECIOUS PEARLS.-NO. 2.

GATHERED FROM THE DEPTHS OF THE BOOK OF MORMON.

Hearken, O ye house of Israel, and hear the words of me, a prophet of the Lord. For behold, as yet, ye have been obedient unto the word of the Lord which I have given unto you; and we also had many revelations, and the spirit of prophecy; wherefore we knew of Christ and his kingdom, which should come: wherefore we would to God that we could persuade all men not to rebel against God, to provoke him to anger, but that all men would believe in Christ, and view his death, and suffer his cross, and bear the shame of the world. Wherefore, we labored diligently among our people, that we might persuade them to come unto Christ, and partake of the goodness of God, that they might enter into his rest, lest by any means he should swear in his wrath they should not enter in, as in the provocation in the days of temptation while the children of Israel were in the wilderness. O all ye that are pure in heart, lift up your heads, and receive the pleasing word of God, and feast upon his love; for ye may if your minds are firm forever.

Behold, great and marvelous are the works of the Lord. And how merciful is our God unto us; for he remembereth the house of Israel, both roots and branches; and he stretches forth his hands unto them, all the day long; and while his arm of mercy is extended towards you in the light of day, harden not your hearts: for there is nothing which is good, save it comes from the Lord; and that which is evil, cometh from the Devil: wherefore, brethren, despise not the revelations of God. No man knoweth of his ways, save it be revealed unto him. Look unto God with firmness of mind, and pray unto him with exceeding faith, and he will console you in all your afflictions.

Wherefore, I must tell you the truth, according unto the plainness of the word of God. For behold, as I inquired of the Lord, thus came the word of the Lord unto me, saying, Jacob, get thou up into the temple on the morrow, and declare the word which I shall give unto thee, unto this people. And now behold, my brethren, this is the word which I declare unto you, that many of you have begun to search for gold, and for silver, and all manner of precious ores, in the which this land, which is a land of promise unto you, and to your seed, doth abound most plentifully: and the hand of providence hath smiled upon you most pleasantly, that you have obtained many riches. But before you seek for riches, seek ye for the kingdom of God. Think of your brethren like unto yourselves, and be familiar with all, and be free with your substance, that they may be rich like unto you; and ye will seek them for the intent to do good, to clothe the naked, and to feed the hungry, and to liberate the captive, and administer relief to the sick and the afflicted. Because some of you have obtained more abundantly than that of your brethren, ye are lifted up in the pride of your hearts, and wear stiff necks and high heads, because of the costliness of your apparel, and persecute your brethren, because ye think ye are better than they. And now my brethren, do ye suppose that God justifieth you in this thing? Behold, I say unto you nay. Do not ye suppose that such things are abominable unto him who created all flesh? The one being is as precious in his sight as the other, and all flesh is of the dust; and for the selfsame end hath he created them, that they should keep his commandments, and glorify him forever: O that ye would listen unto the word of his commands, and let not this pride of your hearts destroy your souls.

And now I make an end of speaking unto you concerning this pride; and were it not that I must speak unto you concerning a grosser crime, my heart would rejoice exceedingly, because of you. But the word of God burthens me because of your grosser crimes. For behold, thus saith the Lord, This people begin to wax in iniquity; they understand not the scriptures: for they seek to excuse themselves in committing whoredoms, because of the things which are written concerning David and Solomon his son. Behold, David and Solomon truly had many wives and concubines, which thing was abominable before me saith the Lord. I have led this people out of the land of Jerusalem, by the power of mine arm, that I might raise up unto me a righteous branch from the fruit of the loins of Joseph. Wherefore, I, the Lord God, will not suffer that this people shall do like unto them of old. Wherefore, my brethren, hear me, and hearken unto the word of the Lord: For there shall not any man among you have save it be one wife: and concubines he shall have none: for I, the Lord God, delighteth in the chastity of women.

And whoredoms are an abomination before me: thus saith the Lord of hosts. Wherefore, this people shall keep my commandments, saith the Lord of hosts, or cursed be the land for their sakes. For behold, I the Lord have seen the sorrow, and heard the mourning of the daughters of my people in the land of Jerusalem; yea, and in all the lands of my people, because of the wickedness and abominations of their husbands. And I will not suffer saith the Lord of hosts, that the cries of the fair daughters of this people, which I have led out of the land of Jerusalem, shall come up unto me, against the men of my people, saith the Lord of hosts; for they shall not lead away captive, the daughters of my people, because of their tenderness, save I shall visit them with a sore curse, even unto destruction; for they shall not commit whoredoms, like unto them of old, saith the Lord of hosts. And now behold, my brethren, ye know that these commandments were given unto our father Lehi; wherefore, ye have known them before; and ye have come under great condemnation: for ye have done these things, which ye ought not to have done. Behold ye have done greater iniquities than the Lamanites, our brethren. Ye have broken the hearts of your tender wives, and lost the confidence of your children, because of your bad examples before them; and the sobbings of their hearts ascend up to God against you. And because of the strictness of the word of God, which cometh down against you, many hearts died, pierced with deep wounds.

Wo, wo, unto you that are not pure in heart; that are filthy this day before God; for except ye repent, the land is cursed for your sakes, and the time speedily cometh that except ye repent, the Lord God will lead away the righteous out from among you. Behold, the Lamanites, your brethren, whom you hate because of their filthiness and the cursings which have come upon their skins, are more righteous than you: for they have not forgotten the commandment of the Lord, which was given unto our fathers, that they should have, save it were one wife: and concubines they should have none; and there should not be whoredoms committed among them. And now this commandment they observe to keep; wherefore because of this observance in keeping this commandment, the Lord God will not destroy them, but will be merciful unto them; and one day they shall become a blessed people. Behold their husbands love their wives, and their wives love their husbands, and their husbands and their wives love their children; and their unbelief and their hatred toward you, is because of the iniquity of their fathers; wherefore, how much better are you than they in the sight of your Creator? O my brethren, I fear, that unless ye shall repent of your sins, that their skins will be whiter than yours, when ye shall be brought with them before the throne of God. Wherefore, a commandment I give unto you, which is the word of God, that ye revile us no more against them, because of the darkness of their skins; neither shall ye revile against them because of their filthiness; but ye shall remember your own filthiness, and remember that their filthiness came because of their fathers. Wherefore, ye shall remember your children, how that ye have grieved their hearts, because of the example that ye have set before them: and also, remember that ye may, because of your filthiness, bring your children unto destruction, and their sins be heaped upon your own heads at the last day.

O my brethren, hearken unto my word, arouse the faculties of your soul; shake yourselves, that ye may awake from the slumber of death; and loose yourselves from the pains of hell, that ye may not become angels to the Devil, to be cast into that lake of fire and brimstone, which is the second death. I this day am weighed down with much more desire and anxiety for the welfare of your souls than I have hitherto been. Know ye not that if ye will do these things, that the power of the redemption and the resurrection which is in Christ, will bring you to stand with an awful guilt before the bar of God? I beseech you in words of soberness, that ye would repent, and come with full purpose of heart and cleave unto God, as he cleaveth unto you. O that he would rid you from this iniquity and abomination; which sin appeareth very abominable unto me, and abominable unto God. O that he would shew unto you that he can pierce you, and with one glance of his eye he can smite you to the dust; ye have come under great condemnation, for ye have done these things, which ye ought not to have done. But he condemneth you. and if ye persist in these things, his judgments must speedily come unto you. Behold the Jews were a stiffnecked people; and they despised the words of plainness, and killed the prophets, and sought for things they could not understand. Wherefore, because of their blindness, which blindness came by looking beyond the mark, they must needs fall; for God hath taken away his plainness from them, and delivered unto them many things which they cannot understand, because they desired it. And because they desired it, God hath done it, that they may stumble.

Wherefore, brethren, seek not to

at his hand: for behold, after ye have been nourished by the good word of God all the day long, will ye bring forth evil fruit, that ye must be hewn down and cast into the fire? O then my beloved brethren, repent ye, and enter in at the straight gate, and continue in the way which is narrow, until ye shall obtain eternal life. Yea, today if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts: for why will ye die? As many as will not harden their hearts, shall be saved in the kingdom of God. Wherefore, beloved brethren, be reconciled unto him, through the atonement of Christ his only begotten Son: for this intent, we keep the law of Moses, it pointing our souls to him; and for this cause it is sanctified unto us, for righteousness, even as it was accounted unto Abraham in the wilderness, to be obedient unto the commands of God, in offering up his son Isaac, which is a similitude of God and his only begotten Son.

Marvel not that I tell you these things, for why not speak of the atonement of Christ, and attain to a perfect knowledge of him, as to attain to a knowledge of a resurrection, and the world to come. Behold, my brethren, he that prophesieth, let him prophesy to the understanding of men; for the Spirit speaketh the truth, and lieth not: wherefore, it speaketh of things as they really are, and of things as they really will be; wherefore, these things are manifested unto us plainly, for the salva-tion of our souls. But behold, we are not witnesses alone in these things: for God also spake them unto prophets of old: and also, I had heard the voice of the Lord speaking unto me in very word, from time to time: wherefore, I could not be shaken. Wherefore, I know if there should be no atonement made, all mankind must

How unsearchable are the depths of the mysteries of him; and it is impossible that man should find out all his ways. He counseleth in wisdom, and in justice, and in great mercy, over all his works. Yea, come unto him, and offer your whole souls as an offering unto him, and continue in fasting and praying, and endure to the end; and as the Lord liveth, ye will be saved. And how cursed are they who shall be cast out into their own place. And now my beloved, how is it possible that these, after having rejected the sure foundation, can ever build upon it, that it may become the head of their corner? And how blessed are they who have labored diligently in his vineyard: otherwise their blood would come upon our garments, and we would not be found spotless at the last day.

And in the day that he shall set his hand again the second time to rethe last time, that the servants of the Lord shall go forth in his power, to nourish and prune his vineyard: and after that the end soon cometh. Finally, I bid you farewell, until I shall meet you before the pleasing bar of God, which bar striketh the wicked with awful dread and fear. Amen. -From Jacob and Omni.

THE WHY?

From early childhood I have believed it possible to live by the example taught by Christ, for Christians, or followers of him. Having belonged to one of the orthodox churches a long period of my life, and learning of the inconsistency of their teachings and practice, I was dissatisfied and resolved to look for something better, and finally landed with the Latter Day Saints. And since obeying the the angel's message by being baptized into the kingdom of God, many things that come under my observation appear strange to me in a people who claim the true gospel; and in consequence of the strangeness of these things, I have asked many questions, and in return had many asked me.

This gospel of Christ has so completely met all my wants and applied to all my conditions and circumstances, that I have offered it to my brothers and sisters as a panacea to all ills, a scapegoat from these things that seem so strangely mixed and unanswerable. But I find the remedy is objected to as not practicable for many reasons, too numerous to mention. This is one of the strange things that I have noticed. Why is it not practicable and also profitable to live by every word that proceeds from the mouth of God? Can anyone tell why the plan of God, or the gospel, will not meet the every necessity of man needed in this life, both spiritual and temporal?

Some said to me (after refusing to take medicine when sick) that I was cranky, an extremist. Why was I? God always healed me. They said further, When you have been in the church long as I have, your faith will not be so strong. Why? According to what is written, it will be stronger. They said further, There were mild herbs for the weak in faith provided in Doctrine and Covenants. I do not wish to be weak in the faith, and it occurs to me that that logic smacks of creed-bound faith.

When I was surprised on learning Saints used tobacco, and drank liquor, I was told to be charitable, that I had no idea how hard it was to quit. As you do not use them, you do not know what you are talking about; wait till you have made some sacrifice, then you will know. O my! It was by reason of the things given up that counsel the Lord, but to take counsel cover his people, is the day, yea even made the crave of appetite appear easy. What God does for one he will do for another. He has no respect of person. Try him and see.

When wonder was expressed at the absence of our young people from all or nearly all of the church services. I was informed the society of the Saints was not desirable for their young Why? Then they did not folks. wish their daughters to marry Latter Day Saints. Why? Whom will they associate with in heaven?

We read in Doctrine and Covenants. those that marry out of the church shall be counted weak in the faith. (Perhaps these are the ones who need the mild herbs.) Have heard it said by some, when others were trying to be useful and doers of the word, that we have too much to do now; the church is burdened already, and we have no time for anything more. Why? These same parties can be seen at nearly all the free public affairs, and some that are not free-picnic on Sunday, etc., etc. Whose time are we using? Do we need any more time than is necessary for our temporal affairs and our spiritual development?

Have heard remarks like these in answer to questions asked: No use to spend time trying to raise the Saints to a higher understanding, it is a waste of time. Why? How can anyone tell? It is God that gives the increase. Another strange thing one finds is the disorder of both old and young in the church services. The strangest thing about it is, that the parents seem to think it all right, too. In conversation with a close observer in some things along this line, she remarked that this blight on the escutcheon of our church made her feel very sad, as she knew no remedy to better it. I replied, There are two rules given by our Savior, which would be well to follow before the children are grown up. Spare the rod and spoil the child, I quoted, knowing how disorderly her own were. "Oh," she said, "I do not think it right to whip children! I have made it a rule that if I could not control by reasoning with and talking to mine, and have them obey me through love, I would not whip them and force them to do so." At the same time some of hers do not love her well enough, or respect the house of God, either, to behave. (And she, poor thing, feels so sad at the disorder we have during worship.)

Another said, The confusion at Sunday school and prayer meeting disturbed her peace of mind to such a degree that she did not enjoy the services at all, and finished with. What shall we do about it? Then followed what this one and that one had done, when three of her own had that same day brought toys at two of the services,—baby rattlers, bells, and dolls, either. One is forced to the conclusion that consistency is a jewel very much needed and desired.

Now, dear Saints, don't say another crank trying to air his opinion; for such is not the case. I have often been impressed to write on this and other subjects, but excused myself by asking the same questions you ask yourselves, What good would it do? and what I could say would be too silly to benefit anyone. I know there are others more gifted than I; let them think of those things. You will be called a crank, and criticised. Many excuses came into my mind. Yet at the same time I would bear my testimony at prayer meeting and say I desired to do my duty, and also desired to be useful. Lip service, that was all. But now, dear brothers and sisters, I am willing to be laughed at, called a crank, or anything, if it pleases God. He alone can reward or punish, and I want to live with God in the celestial kingdom. I want to earn my reward. I want to feel I have a perfect right there, by having a clear conscience before God, and the only way to accomplish that end is to do what is required of me. I have been warned, and I dare not procrastinate longer, for it is fearful to fall in the hands of the living God. I only hope, dear Saints, what I may say through the medium of my pen will help some one, and that God's Spirit will give you understanding of these things, and all come to a better knowledge of our duty. Hebrews 5: 12, 13, reads something like this:-

For when for the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need that one teach you again which be the first principles of the oracles of God; and are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat. For every one that useth milk is unskillful in the word of righteousness: for he is a babe.

How many members have we over twenty years old (I mean those that have been in the church that long) that are yet babes? Now, Saints, whose fault is it? I pray God you may think of these things and profit by them also. This is an individual warfare; none can do your duty for you, hence one can see the importance of doing for one's self, and we read in the word what becomes of the "unprofitable limbs." Let us be up and doing; the victory is ours through QUESTION BOX. Christ.

CONSISTENCY.

The following is offered for consideration by those who have a dual nature to cultivate and educate to the standard of a man in Christ Jesus; so we will consider the subject of consistency in assigning to places of responsibility those who are qualified, and those who are not.

One observes occasionally such a —and they were not small children lack of consistency on these lines, low each an opportunity to "thrust in that one is tempted to remonstrate, and to exclaim with appreciation, "Consistency, thou art a jewel of great worth.

Is it consistent for one to stop with an appreciation only, or shall we rather strive in wisdom that inconsistency in judgment may be more evenly balanced to harmonize with the law of the Lord regarding this subject of qualification?

"Certainly," says one; "but how are we to get at the matter?"

The answer is readily found in the injunction to love our neighbor as ourself, then we will seek in honor to prefer each other to self, and seek to exalt one another, then we will ever act with an eye single to God's glory, rather than to please our individuality without due regard to necessary qualifications.

Self is ever seeking for commendable recognition in every act of our lives, and to gratify self is one point where consistency is ever needed to be on the watchtower, lest intemperance instead of temperance be strengthened in one's character.

Now if one has an "eye single to the glory of God," he will ever seek to consider what will be for the best interests of the Lord's work, and the good of all, rather than to gratify self, and ignore the law regulating this subject. And we find the law governing qualification in section 3, Doctrine and Covenants; and while it specifically applies to the priesthood, we find it also applies to "all ye that embark in the service of God," and all who embark in the service of God are to see that ye serve him with all your might, mind, and strength, and that ye may stand blameless before God at the last day; therefore if ye have desire, ye are called to the work, for behold the field is white to the harvest, and lo, he that thrusteth in his sickle with his might, the same layeth up in store that he perish not, and bringeth salvation to the soul; and faith, hope charity, and love with an eye single to the glory of God, qualifies him for the work, each in his proper sphere.

We are admonished to remember the specific results of the five fundamental principles spoken of above: faith, hope, charity, love, with an eye single to the glory of God, includes the following fruits of the Spirit. Faith, virtue, knowledge, temperance, patience, brotherly kindness, godliness, charity, humility, and diligence, to enable one to be consistently qualified to take positions of trust, and to thrust in their sickles to reap. We are further admonished to inquire with all diligence "to know when a person is thus fully qualified, and when such a one or many are found, will it not be consistent to alhis sickle, to lay up in store that he in stock to be polished, and would en-perish not?"

In one of Bro. Luff's sermons he used this illustration. Speaking of natural deficiencies that the person who was naturally not equal to an. other in a mental or spiritual understanding, the Lord would put under his feet to elevate him in understanding revelations, prophecies, dreams, etc., that there be "no schism in the body; and where the Lord finds it necessary to so elevate a person mentally and spiritually, such a one should be doubly cautious on lines of humility, that one interprets and uses the light thus given in the wisdom designed by the gift loaned to elevate the natural mind, so it can look into the windows of the spiritual realm with consistency.

For an illustration, let me cite an instance which came under my knowledge, where one person not being able, spiritually, to discern the natural and spiritual qualifications and gifts another person had. No. 1 was given a spiritual dream about No. 2. and dreamed she had placed in her lap many jewels that belonged to No. 2, that needed polishing; and while No. 1 was handling those many jewels, one large diamond fell to the floor, and a big man stepped on it, but did not crush it; and while No. 1 was anxiously concerned for the safety of the jewel that fell from her lap, still she was relieved that the big man had not crushed it. Now No. 1 interpreted the dream to mean No. 2 possessed a number of worthless jewels, and was not yet what she appeared, or what was claimed for her; and No. 3 interpreted the dream that No. 2 needed an opportunity to be actively engaged to be able to polish those jewels, so they would become valuable to those concerned in this matter: and the fact that No. 1 had those jewels in her lap showed it was necessary for her to have the dream to elevate her understanding to know the spiritual accomplishments of No. 2, which naturally she could not discern, and the fact that she let one large one fall to the floor and be stepped on, shows she might have prevented it had she been sufficiently watchful; and No. 3 having the gift to interpret spiritual dreams, was shown the big diamond stepped on, represented the characteristic of willingness, and so No. 3 & Co. rejoiced that the diamond-willingness —was not crushed by the big man, who represented those then in authority, who allowed the diamond to fall and be stepped on, and shows No. 1 could assist to make the opportunity for No. 2 to have place and opportunity to polish those jewels, if she could only discern the spiritual qualifications No. 2 possessed—which the jewels represented which No. 2 had courage No. 2 to this end.

But the fact of her not naturally being able to discern, to assist, shows the reason she had to have the light which the dream gave, to enable her to judge according to the truth; so she could be consistent in her privilege to assist No. 2 to polish those many jewels.

But if No. 1 should form judgments and make decisions according to the interpretation of No. 1, why the result would be to hinder No. 2 from filling places of responsibility and activity, and thus hinder No. 2 from polishing those jewels and hinder the pleasure, joy, and beauty to the body that those jewels in a polished state would give.

Now consistency asks, which interpretation is the most reasonable, and wisdom decides the interpretation of No. 3 because of previous light and a knowledge of the natural and acquired accomplishments No. 2 was known to possess. So consistency and wisdom mourn, while deprived of the joy the Master designed in sending such a gifted person to assist; but the natural mind, unaided by the law and light of truth, was not able to understand and wisely direct, so the work of the Lord was thereby hindered. Wisdom reminds one that the "natural mind is at enmity against God, and is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be and that it is an enemy to God. Hence consistency asks that wisdom rule, and the law regarding qualifications be observed in practice as well as in theory. L. A. B.

Selected Articles.

THE discontinuance of the New World because of lack of support has caused some debate as to recent changes in religious journalism. The Boston Evening Transcript remarks: "The religious weeklies, owing to changed typographical form and altered methods of make-up, print fewer addresses on theological themes, and print less elaborate reviews of new works on theology and Biblical scholarship than they formerly did. This fact would seem to make far greater need of the monthly review, in which space can be set apart for such lengthy and technical articles as the weekly cannot publish. And yet, one by one, the denominational quarterlies have died, the few that remain in the country at large either being subsidized by great denominations like the Methodists or Presbyterians, or by educational institutions like the University of Chicago, which is sponsor for The American Journal of Theology."—Literary Digest.

"THE question of fatigue caused to the eyes by various kinds of artificial lights has recently been taken up and studied at some length by a Russian government expert," says Electricity. "He says that the involuntary closing of the eye (winking) is a sign of weariness. Using surfaces illuminated by various lights he counted the involuntary movements of the eyelid, his results being that when candle-light was used eyes were closed 6.8 times a minute; with gas-light, winking occurred 2.8 times a minute: with sun-light, the eyes closed 2.2 times, and with electriclight 1.8 times. From these facts he draws the conclusion, which seems to be corroborated by other observations. that electric-light is the least injurious to the eyesight of all varieties of artificial illuminants."—Literary Digest.

Letter Department.

CANTON CARDIFF, South Wales,

Dear Bro. Joseph:-With sorrow I inform you and the readers of the HERALD that our worthy missionary, Elder A. N. Bishop, passed away March 6, 1901. We thus lose a faithful brother and an earnest worker in the Master's cause. I say this from personal experience as I have labored considerably with our late brother in all the branches of the Eastern district of Wales. He was president of the district for three years prior to his last visit to America, and since his return, by faithfulness he has won the confidence of the Saints and many friends. His mourning wife, two daughters, and three sons have the sympathy and prayers of the Saints. He seems to have drawn out that brotherly love that should be manifest by all Saints toward each other, that makes us feel as one family. If prayers could have spared him, he would have remained with us, for it was the earnest desire of all the Saints here that he might be spared to continue his labor of love, in preaching the gospel. It pleased the Lord to call him from us, and we must be content with the promise that all things work together for good to those that love the Lord.

Bro. J. W. Rushton, by request of deceased, came from Scotland and officiated at the funeral on the 17th. He remained four successive evenings and preached some stirring gospel sermons, which have done the Saints much good. He has made quite a number of friends in Wales. He has visited Nantyglo and Porth by special request, and has an invitation from Lydney; but his associates in Scotland are requesting his return. I think his services are appreciated by all who have heard him, and I for one feel proud we have one so able and efficient for the mission field. When our brethren and sisters in Scotland can spare him, his services will be appreciated by those in eastern Wales, at least, and I believe in western Wales also. There is room for many such noble-hearted men-full of zeal and love for the work. We have often felt Bro. Rushton's mission has been a hard one in Scotland alone. Elder A. N. Bishop, at almost the last meeting he attended, asked an interest in the prayers of the Saints for his colaborer in Scotland, hoping help would come to each during next conference year. In his last sermon in Cardiff he told us he had received a dream or vision which he could not quite understand unless it was his early departure. He stated that that might be his last sermon; and so it was. We earnestly pray that our Father in heaven will comfort his handmaiden and family in their grief and sorrow by his Holy Spirit, also all of his children, and make up by some means the loss we have sustained.

> Your brother in Christ, THOS. GOULD.

84 Wyndham Crescent.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 29.

Editors Herald:-We are pleased to state the work is onward here. I came here February 16, and labored over three weeks. One fine lady was baptized in the baptismal font of the new church, Elder Place administering the ordinance.

On the 13th inst. I took a run up to Welland and Low Banks. Staid at Low Banks six days. Elder Barmore had been preaching there over a week before my arrival. He and I went to Port Colborne on the 19th, and held three meetings in Mr. Matthew's hall, which I had previously secured. We then opened up at Humberstone, and held six services, with an average attendance and good interest.

On the 27th I received word from the Saints of this place to come here. Bro. Barmore thought it best for me to come as I had awakened the interest here; so I boarded the train for Niagara Falls the following morning, attended prayer services that evening, and announced for preaching tonight. Expect Bro. Barmore to come to assist in a few days.

While walking down the Grand Trunk railroad track, one very dark night, from Port Colborne to Humberstone, Bro. Barmore and I fell into a cow-pit, shaking me up considerably, but I did not feel the effects of it as much at the time as afterwards, and I have not been feeling well since. I ask an interest in the prayers of the Saints for restoration to health.

I pray God's richest blessings to attend this coming conference, for his work's sake. Your humble servant.

S. TOMLINSON.

HOOD RIVER, Oregon, April 5. Editors Herald:-It has been a number of years since I have written to the HERALD, thinking some of our old friends would like to know what we are doing here. We have been doing all in our power to start the work in this valley with the excellent assistance of Elder W. A. Goodwin, of Condon, Oregon. He came here the 8th of March, and commenced preaching on the following Sunday evening, in our house. Very few came for the first few evenings, but the number kept increasing until there were all we could seat. Elder Goodwin preached every evening for two weeks, and had excellent attention. and those present gradually took part in the singing as they learned the tunes.

Elder Goodwin teaches the gospel so plainly one cannot but understand him. A Mr. Mooney took quite an interest, and invited the brother to talk in his house; and with a fine piano to assist we had nice singing. The Spirit was manifest in power, and the speaker was wonderfully blessed.

Oh how good to be a Saint in Latter Days! We met with opposition from the Christian church. Bro. Goodwin arranged with a Christian minister for a debate, but the church committee compelled him to give it up. Their regular minister himself is preparing for debate when Bro. Goodwin returns, sometime in June. We have promised help to build a church, and intend to build one as soon as deemed necessary; perhaps will conclude preparations when Bro. Goodwin comes back as he is a carpenter: and with the assistance of the three brothers here can build it in a short time. We may have to ask the church to help us, as there are only five members here. I hope a number will respond to the call when it is made, for we intend to make a success of the work here.

Elder Goodwin intends to make this valley his home. He is the right man in the right place, and will do much good, for he is all energy. Pray for us, brethren and sisters.

> Yours in the one faith. FRANCES M. CHAPMAN.

> > ARAPAHDE, O. T., April 5.

Editors Herald:-As you get no letters from this part of God's vineyard, I will write. I am in receipt of letters from the Saints and others inquiring about the country, and will take this means of answering them.

This is a nice farming country, as the soil is deep and sandy. This country has been settled only about eight years and one cannot tell what the future will bring; but as yet there have been no failures in crops. We grow corn, wheat, cotton, oats, rye, and all kinds of vegetables. The winters have been dry and nice for the last seven years, I am told. While the winters are dry, there has always been sufficient rain to raise good crops.

There are places in Oklahoma that are smoother than here; yet I doubt whether the soil is as good as here. The price of land is becoming higher right along, and think in a few years it will take as much money to get land as it does in Missouri and some of those states. There are very few farms here that could be deeded, as they have not been lived on long enough. Land sells at from four hundred to three thousand dollars per one hundred and sixty acres; and if one buys one of those claims he must file on the land. and move on as though it were vacant land. In fact, it is vacant, for the one selling releases his claim and the land is free.

The canyons here indicate volcanic eruptions ages ago. I say ages because there are large trees in those canyons, and the smooth bottoms grow thick grass. Shells are plenty in places. They are generally found on the banks of the canyons. The soil is red, and looks as though it had been burned at one time. "Gip" rock occurs which is so soft that one can cut with a knife. This rock hardens the water, and I know of no place where water is as hard as it is here. We have to use salsoda to break the water for washing as well as for cooking. I am sure this land was at one time under the sea, and the Book of Mormon tells us that there were terrible groanings in the earth, and that cities were buried in the earth and sunk in the sea, during the three days of darkness when our Savior was crucified. Then is when the earth was rent and the sea was swallowed up; and during all those ages those canyons have filled up to where we now see them; and they are still filling, as is proven by stumps being found under the ground in them.

I do not think I can do without the HERALD. I sometimes think I would give a dollar to see a Saint. There are no Saints here except my wife and mother and myself: but I am trying in my weak way to tell the people of the gospel two Sundays out of the month,—the second and fourth Sundays. Oh how I wish I could preach to the Saints once? I think it would be a treat. Yes, it would be a treat to see one. W. T. ROOK.

PENYGRAIG, South Wales, March 28. Editors Herald:-No doubt you would like to hear how things are looking in this part of the Lord's vineyard. Some of us look forward to the weekly visits of HERALD. We love to read its pages, as it contains much food for thought for all good Saints.

We regret to inform you that our missionary, A. N. Bishop, left this world on March 6, 1901, after about ten weeks' illness. He was patient in his affliction and smiled in his sickness, and his hope was strong in the faith of our Master. He preached in open air several times and no doubt hurried his death through his hard labor in the church. We lose a faithful minister, a kind shepherd. May we follow his advice and live faithful to the end of our career, that we may vet meet on Mount Zion in the last day. Bro. Rushton came to officiate in the funeral, which took place on Saturday, March 9, 1901. There was a large gathering of Saints, brethren present from all parts of Wales. The funeral sermon was preached on Sunday, March 17. There were a lot of relatives and Saints and friends. Bro. Rushton spoke well. His sermon was comforting to the relatives who

Bro. Rushton then visited Porth and Penygraig and preached twice in the open air and once on Sunday evening in the hall. His visit was short, only a few days. We would like if Bro. Rushton could be with us on a mission, as he seems a noble brother, a noble minister, and just the preacher for this part, as he is young and strong to climb the hills and mountains, and perfectly willing and anxious to preach out, as it is useless to send missionafound here that are surely sea shells, and are I ries here unless they are agreeable to preach out, as we see no other way to get the gospel before the people.

Our branch is not so flourishing as we would wish. Several have been brought before a court of elders and cut off for transgression. Some again are lukewarm and will be dealt with, as we realize the house of the Lord should be clean so as we can invite others in to sup with us. Our branch business meeting was held on Saturday evening last. Bro. L. Bishop was reflected president, Bro. David Morris reflected priest, Bro. D. Collin teacher, and Bro. D. Edwards deacon. All the officers are endeavoring to magnify their calling, especially Bro. D. Edwards, deacon, who is zealous in his work.

We here have to stand a lot owing to the bad conduct of some men who were once our leaders. Our desire is to be faithful, live upright and just, that we may live down the reproach that some have brought upon the fair name of our church.

We have a nice little hall at Porth, and good could be done if all would pull together and live faithful and magnify our calling in Christ Jesus. We have a small Sunday school. Our noble sister, Annie Edwards is superintendent, and she does all she can for that department of God's work. May God guide all superintendents of Sunday schools that the young may be taught the way of life, as we believe the Sunday school is a nursery to the church, as some day those tender plants will be transplanted into the church and grow up to be noble men and women.

We are in hopes that some noble brother will be sent here to labor with the local officers in his work, that the honest-hearted people may be gathered into the garner of the Lord.

We trust that God's Spirit may be with all concerned in General Conference and that God may superintend his work, and that all those who attend the same may be fed spiritually.

In conclusion, we ask you to pray for the Welsh mission, trusting that God will send some one here to look after his work.

May God keep us faithful that we may enter in through the gates into the city. Ever praying for the welfare of Zion.

Your humble brother,

DAVID MORRIS.

Mothers' Home Column.

EDITED BY FRANCES.

"By thine own soul's law learn to live,
And if men thwart thee take no heed,
And if men hate thee have no care;
Sing thou thy song and do thy deed,
Hope thou thy hope and pray thy prayer."
—Whittier.

DIFFERENT OPINIONS.

The sewing circle met on Thursday afternoon in its turn at the home of the president, Mrs. Sarah Noble, Mrs. Hearall, and Mrs. Wideawake were a little tardy, in consequence of discussing the topics of the day, and Mrs. Homebody and Mrs. Closemouth were about to adjourn, but concluded to stay when they came. The work was brought out, and each took her allotted portion. For awhile silence seemed to prevail—a wonder—each was thinking, but none thinking so strong as the late ones.

The latest news was uppermost in their minds, and each had agreed not to mention it before the circle—did not want news to go from them, and especially news of such a nature. They turned it over and pondered it well, and before Mrs. Wideawake was aware, she was thinking audibly.

Mrs. Hearall was thinking which side of the question to take, when it was generally known—it had several, and she always stuck to her own opinion if it was not right. She rather enjoyed opposition. Before she was aware, that little company knew her secret, and possibly the reader would like to know it. Well, this is the substance of it, as she related it:—

"Then Sam Goodwin is about to be married, can it be possible? I think 'tis perfectly horrid." This was the overflow of Mrs. Wideawake's interest in the matter.

Mrs. Hearall tried to get her attention and shook her head as a reminder of their agreement, but to no purpose. She was too wideawake to be silenced by anybody, and directly asked Mrs. Homebody's opinion concerning the matter.

"Well I have not thought much about it, and in fact don't know anything about it, I merely heard that he had a housekeeper, and he needs one sure," was the reply.

"That is the fact, and I am glad he has a housekeeper," said Mrs. Noble.

"So am I," chimed in Mrs. Wideawake," but I should not think he would marry that young woman, and besides his wife has not been dead a year yet," accompanied by a sad look

"I think just as you do," broke in Mrs. Hearall. "Yes, 'tis perfectly awful for a man to forget the wife of his youth so soon, and take another, and in so short time, too. I should feel terribly if my husband should do so. Now, what do you think about it, Mrs. Closemouth."

Before she could get her mouth open, Mrs. Wideawake exclaimed, "If he did, you would not know it." About this time there was more attention given to talk than to work.

When the one addressed got a chance to speak, she reluctantly said: "I don't know the first thing about the business, and as I never was in like circumstances, I cannot conjecture what I should do."

"Well, he will make a terrible mistake if he marries that young girl. She is not twenty yet, and not experienced in work either," said the speaker before the last.

"Are you sure he is to marry her?" queried Mrs. Noble, with apparent interest, yet doubting the report.

"Well, really, I don't know for certain, but they say the girl has told of it herself, and of course she knows," broke in Mrs. Hearall. She said, so I hear, that he had asked her to marry him, and no doubt she will."

"That's so," replied Mrs. Wideawake. "Of course a poor girl like her would not let such a good home as that slip."

"Probably she would like to have his home and his money, so has flattered herself into the belief that he wants her, or she might have made the statement just to hear herself talk, or to hear others talk," replied Mrs. Noble.

"Yes, probably;" retorted Mrs. Hearall, and one might say Mrs. Believeall, if the subject was in gossip.

"But what does he keep her there for, if he don't intend to marry her? She has been there all of six weeks, I should think," continued the speaker.

"To cook his food and to look after his household affairs," was the charitable reply from the quiet lady.

"That is just the truth of the case," said Mrs. Noble. "The poor soul lived alone as long as he could. He had to spend so much time looking after the housework, he could not attend to his business. So what could he do but get help, and as he could not get an experienced woman, took a young lady, and of course she can do better than he could. Men of business don't have much knack in doing housework."

"Just so," echoed Mrs. Homebody, "they were not designed to keep the house," and consequently it is his duty and privilege to have a housekeeper, and I am glad he has one."

Mrs. Wideawake's sharp voice assumed a high pitch as it gave utterance to her opinion: "I think if he had lived alone a year or so, it would have saved the speech of people. He could have taken his meals out, and some of the neighbors would have gone in and looked after the house, occasionally."

"He did take his meals at the boarding house, till he got help, and I wonder how many times you went over and looked after the house," was Mrs. Noble's pointed reply to the speaker.

"O, my, I couldn't go over and help him. I have more work than I can possibly do, every day of my life, and besides, I could not go there, I should feel so bad—I have not been into that house since his wife died. I could not think of it, 'tis so lonesome without her." A sad look, and a slight shake of the head confirmed the remark to herself.

"I think that many of his neighbors felt about it just as you did, but a few of us went in occasionally.

"If callers are lonesome there, because of her absence, how think ye can he feel alone with no one to cook for him, or to speak to him?" quietly interrogated Mrs. Closemouth.

Mrs. Noble replied with candor, "Yes that is the fact. I, too, had to neglect my work in order to help him, and was willing to do so, because I knew he needed help and sympathy, and I was glad when he got it, both for him and for myself. And I shall be more glad when he has permanent help. I believe in planning my own business, and allowing others the same privilege."

"So do I, and always did, it is the best way by all means," affirmed Mrs. Hearall. "But," she continued, "I can't imagine why a man sixty years old wants to get married? Who ever heard of such a case?"

"O, I have several times, but I never could see any sense in such cases, either. There can be no love about it, only a business matter like buying a pig or a cow," was the wideawake reply.

A few minutes silence ensued, and all were busy at work, and Mrs. Noble spoke thus: "I think I understand his case, and I don't see why any conscientious person cannot. First, he is alone and lonesome. His wife is dead, and his children have homes and business of their own, as we all know. 'Tis a very sad, lonely condition, to be alone, and more so with those who have had a family. And besides the good book says 'tis not good for a man to be alone, and my grandmother used to say: 'Tain't good for a woman nuther.'"

"That is just so," replied Mrs. Homebody with emphasis. "My father was left in circumstances similar to Mr. Goodwin's, and my sister and I were more than glad, when he got a good housekeeper, and delighted when he married her. Then he had some one to take care of him when he was sick, to cook his food, in short to make his house a home, to say nothing about caring for him in his declining years."

"That sounds very well, but I should not want a woman to come into my father's house, and use and destroy my mother's things, and last of all take entire command of the things that would rightly belong to us. No, not I," argued Mrs. Wideawake, "and a young inexperienced girl at that."

"No, I wouldn't either," echoed Mrs. Hearall, laying down her work and waiting for the next remark. It was made by Mrs. Noble:—

"Mr. Goodwin will never marry a young girl, you mark my words for it. I presume he will marry again, and why shouldn't he? Let us never fear, he is capable of managing his own business."

"No doubt of it, but I do think he might wait till spring at least, just out of respect to his wife," replied Mrs. Wideawake, sorrowfully.

Mrs. Closemouth had been very quiet, but she heard and thought, and spoke as follows:—

"If his wife knows how he is situated, no doubt she would be glad for him to have a good companion, and if she does not know, of what use is it for him to drag out his life alone? And besides, who has a better right to enjoy the comforts of his home than he has? They worked together for all they had, reared and educated their children, and not one of them can live with him—have business of their own as has already been said, so let the man alone, and he will manage his own business and if he should err in judgment it will not harm us." Quite a difference in opinions.

When the writer heard that Bro. T. W. Smith had married the second time, her first thoughts were, "How foolish for a sick man to marry! What sense can there be in a woman marrying a man of his age, and an invalid too?"

After a moment's consideration, she could see that it was sensible on his part to have a companion to care for him, and if they were agreed whose business is it?

A few weeks after gossips were so deeply interested in Mr. Goodwin's case, he married, but not the young lady in question. Mrs. Noble's opinion was right. He chose a companion who is well qualified to make his house a home, and no doubt every sensible, charitable friend rejoices with them, or ought to.

SR. ALMIRA.

DUTY.

It is a word I do not like, and therefore seldom use it. What is duty, and what are the influences of such an act upon those around us? Duty relates to, and implies, actions. It looks to the performance of an act that is an obligation; something that we must do, and not a thing that we love to do. Our duty we are compelled to do. Duty, as I understand it, is the action of law and not of love. Acts performed of duty are barren acts. Moral in their character they may be, but they are not voluntary, and therefore fail in securing a reward.

It is our duty to perform military service for our country in times of war. The law forces us from our homes.-from the society of loved ones. Do we perform that act because we love to do so? No, but for the reason that we must. The moralist says it is our duty to love God. Can anyone conceive of anything so outrageous as this? Love the offspring of duty? The idea is too absurd! What God desires us to do is to love him and to manifest our love by giving him our confidence, and proving that love and confidence by our acts. We delight to honor the objects of our love because we love them. If we love God we will not think of duty, we simply ask what we can do to please him, and when we have ascertained his will, we perform it and derive a pleasure in doing so. Then we gain the reward.

Our Savior tells us that love prompts us to keep his commandments. God has nowhere said he would compel us to do his will, but he invites us to do so, and promises a reward. Our services of God come not within the realm of duty, but are a voluntary offering of love.

Now we will consider duty in domestic affairs. Husbands, you are under obligations to provide for your families. Do you do so simply from a sense of duty? Is it from a sense of duty that you whisper the name of your wife in accents of love? No; every element of your nature rises up to negative this question. Duty is a stranger to your thoughts, your acts, for their comfort is prompted by love. Wives, how would you enjoy the society of your husbands if they were compelled to be by your side and not because they loved to be? The arms of the unloving are no shelter, nor are their hearts in any sense a "holy of holies." Duty is a cold word here. I pity those who are bound together simply from a sense of duty. Life to such is but a barren waste. PAULA.

PRAYER UNION.

SPECIAL REQUESTS FOR PRAYER.

Flora Polley, Cedarville (no state given), desires your prayers that she may be healed of affliction and that God may show her the right church, as she wishes to become a true follower of Christ, promising that if the way is shown, she will surely obey.

Bro. George H. Parker, Box 200, Youngsville, Warren county, Pennsylvania, requests the sisters and brothers to pray for him and send him a few Ensigns and HERALDS.

Sunday School Department.

ELDER T. A. HOUGAS, EDITOR.

Henderson, Mills Co., Iowa.

(Send communications for this department to the Editor Address minutes and notices of conventions, etc., to "Editors Herald, Lamoni, Iowa.")

LOCAL LIBRARIAN.

As to this department of work, there is a great deal to be considered. Some suggestions might be offered that would be beneficial to one school while they would not to another, but I hope to be able to present some thought, or idea, that will be a help to us in our local work, as that is what we are all engaged in.

WHO SHOULD BE SELECTED

as a local librarian?

There are several ways to answer this question! I may say, first,

ONE WHO LOVES THE GOSPEL WORK. They are then willing workers, not acting just because some one wants them to, but because they want to; and again, they are anxious to see the Sunday school work grow in every department.

A librarian, as any other officer in the school, must be alive.

ONE WHO IS PUNCTUAL.

You who are superintendents know how discouraging it is to have three or four of your teachers tardy, or absent, about every other Sunday. So it is with any officer. The librarian should be on time, for it is his duty to see that each one has a song book, that all may take part in the singing at the opening of the school, and that as others come in, a book can be given them.

Our general librarian says,

"ONE WHO UNDERSTANDS CHILDREN'S TASTES

in reading, that they may suggest what books would be best for different ones to read." In most of our schools I think it would be rather difficult to select one that could do this, unless they knew each scholar personally, for there is no one who knows the scholars of the different classes as the teachers do, or should.

I think

A GREAT MISTAKE

is made many times in selecting a librarian, or any officer, as you will hear in some schools, "I believe we had better put Lucy Smith in as librarian; maybe she will come more regularly."

While I believe a child feels better when he feels he is needed, I think a librarian should not be selected in this manner, for if a child does not come regularly it is the teacher's duty to see to it, not that the books should suffer just for an experiment.

We cannot always find one who has all the qualities for making a good librarian, but let us select the best material we have, and then encourage him, and pray for him that he may be able to carry on the work in a way that will be acceptable before God.

Let us consider the duties of the librarian in caring for books.

a. SECURING BOOKS FOR LIBRARY.

Our general librarian gives us two suggestions in securing books for library. First is that "a portion of each Sunday's collection be set apart for library fund." Second, that "a special collection be taken so many times during the year." If our collections are large enough to purchase our necessary supplies and give to library fund, too, the first suggestion is a good one, but all schools cannot do this. We have tried the second plan in our home school, and find it quite successful thus far.

We never had a library until within the last two months, but find it is a great benefit to the Sunday school. When our first collection was called for some of the children. whose parents do not belong to the church, did not bring what they thought they could, for they said, "Mamma said the books would not amount to anything when they came." Since the books have come and the parents have seen the quality of both binding and reading, no more has been said, and on Sunday, February 17, when called upon to bring their nickels, the little hands went up all over the room. We only hope to put such reading before them that will teach them to be better men and better women.

b. DISTRIBUTION OF BOOKS.

This should be done with as little confusion as possible and at the close of the session, as then they will not be showing their books to their neighbors and asking questions about the same. I have tried both before and after and find the latter the more successful.

I do not wish to hold our school as a model, but being better acquainted with its ways, I wish to say, our librarian brings the books to the teacher of each class, leaving the teacher the judge of his or her scholars, and after lessons they are selected as quickly and quietly as possible. The song books are distributed before the opening exercises and taken up after school dismisses.

- c. Keeping record of books.
- d. PREVENTING DAMAGE TO BOOKS.

The teacher of each class can do more to prevent damage to the books than the librarian, I think, as the scholar, when carefully and kindly shown how to handle the books, and told how necessary it is to bring them back as clean as possible, will take great pride in presenting them to the teacher in such condition. A word of encouragement from the librarian to them, will be a benefit, however.

Never let the child be privileged to leave the books in the seats, as their backs are very apt to be broken. The teacher can here show some of the Winnowed Songs as an example, for I have never been in a Sunday school yet where this was not the condition of some of their song books. REPORTING TO DISTRICT LIBRARIAN.

In the first place the district librarian's duty is to oversee all of the local libraries; and to assist in building up the library work of the district. This cannot be accomplished unless he knows something of the condition of these libraries.

We have some thirteen or fourteen Sunday schools in the district, and I think there are only four or five libraries. While several of these are new schools, if they could only see the interest the little ones, as well as older ones, take in a library they would not be long in making the effort to purchase one. The number of books should be given in the report, also condition of same. If at any time the local librarians have any suggestions to offer, or questions to ask the district librarian would be glad to hear from them.

So I pray that God may bless us, that we may ever work together as a band of Saints in the spreading of the gospel work.

Annie Stuart.

For the Little Sioux, Iowa, district convention.

INTROSPECTIVE.

"Do I plan and ask God to bless, or do I ask him to guide me in my plans?"

"Do I say, what would Jesus say, or what would Mrs. Grundy say?"

"Am I self-sufficient?"

I was seated alone in my room. Before me was an open Bible. I was pondering over my Christian work. What will I do with it? How shall I plan it that our interest and number may be increased? What can I say to help Sr. B to return unto this, the gospel she once loved so dearly, and once more lead a Christian life? I have planned every way I can think of and I have even asked God to bless my plans, and make my work a success; why has he thus forsaken me and his work in such a way? What more can I do than I have done?

But while pondering I heard a voice as one speaking to me. Startled, I lifted my eyes and glanced about the room, but saw no one. Yet clearly I heard that voice ringing these words in my ears: "Why not ask God to guide you in your plans, instead of asking him to bless your plans?"

I arose and picked up my Bible; and while carelessly turning its pages my eyes beheld the words of Job, where he said, "God's ways are far greater than man's." What does this mean? Quite a new idea!

MUST I DEPEND UPON GOD these things? Must I await his to do these things? Must I await his time? Why, if I depend upon God to bring about these things, it may be weeks or months. But again comes back those words, "God's ways are greater than man's." So I cannot but feel that though the time may not be hastened as I would have it, yet if I place myself in a proper condition and ask God to guide me in my plans, then I will be given means whereby I can easily solve the questions over which I have been dreaming.

Again I find myself spending the evening with a company of young people, some of which are of the same belief as myself. The evening is partly spent with harmless amusements, chatting, etc. But all too soon

I hear some one suggest a game of cards. Then the hand of one who bears the name of a Latter Day Saint is sought for the next quadrille. Soon the company is divided. All must participate in the present pastimes. I now see a lady who bears the fair name of the church seat herself at the card table. Now she, with the rest, takes them into her hand, and soon she becomes one of the most interested players. Can she be thinking what Jesus would say if he were to pass his judgment at the present moment? Surely she will be called to give an account for every deed done, and for the example set. To me, as I now stand as an observer, it looks very much as though she is more afraid of what Mrs. Grundy will say if she does not indulge than what Jesus will say if she does.

However her thoughts may be turning, she is now placing herself in

A MOST DANGEROUS CONDITION.

For certainly she is placing her faith in the rear and setting the example of a foolish virgin before her associates and the world.

Now I hear a young man, also a member of the church, calling for a dance. From all appearances he is supremely happy. I wonder if he considers that he is letting his light shine as a city set upon a hill; or is he, too, one of the foolish number, who neither have their vessels filled nor lights burning? Ah! do these young people realize that by their present and careless conduct they may be leading souls into the wide path of the world, which will eventually lead to destruction? Why could they, why did they, not allow their influence to lead these young people to the gospel?

While thus thinking, I have been engaged in perusing the leaves of a noted book, which was lying near me. Having been overlooked the first time, I had hoped to be thus fortunate the remainder of the evening. But now a young man steps up and asks for my company for the next set in dancing. Being somewhat surprised, I am at a loss to know what to say. He knows I once did dance. and considered it no more harmful than he does at the present moment. He has been in the west for some months, and does not know that I have united with the church and changed my way of living. If I refuse, it will call forth an explanation. Can I stand the finger of scorn pointing at me from the hand of Mrs. Grundy? Or will it be easier for me to stand beneath the rod of correction held by the hand of Jesus? I feel my cheeks burning, my heart beats faster and faster! What shall I say?

The trials and temptations of Jesus now enter my mind and with the picture of all this so vividly before my vision, I answer, "No sir;" I wish to be excused." A lengthy conversation follows. If on learning the fact that I had united with this sect termed Latter Day Saints, he at once begins to investigate its teachings.

Not once does he show a desire to join in the dance or games of cards. Now the clock reminds me that it is about time for my brother to call for me. Hark! the door bell rings, and our conversation is at a close.

Little did I realize that that evening's con-

The Saints' Herald.

(Established 1860.)

Published Every Wednesday, at Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Subscription price, $1.50 per year.

Subscription price, $1.50 per year.
Address communications for publication to
"Editors Herald."
Marriage, birth, and death notices: Marriages,
$1.00 per 100 words or fraction thereof. Births,
$0 cents per 75 words or fraction thereof. Deaths,
$100 words free, above that number 50 cents per $100 words free, above that number 50 cents per $100 words or fraction thereof. To insure prompt insertion, make remittance with notice.

For advertising rates apply to business manaser.

All errors in the filling of orders or rendering of All errors in the filling of orders or rendering of accounts should be reported immediately, as receipts for all money received are sent within two days after reaching the office.

Send all business letters and make all remittances payable to Herald Publishing House, Lock Box E, Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Entered at post office, Lamoni, Iowa, as secondelass mail matter.

Subscriptions received for Zion's Ensign, also orders for all kinds of Ensign Publications.

orders for all kinds of Ensign Publications versation and conduct was the very one which started one soul into the straight and narrow path which led him into the church. What will Jesus say? Certainly he will not say when I stand before the judgment bar of God, I did not improve that opportunity and do my duty. The more I think upon the events of that evening the more I am made to rejoice I did not deny Christ or his work. From this time forward I do not intend to ask myself the question, What would Mrs. Grundy say, but rather, What would Jesus say?

Do I consider myself

SELF SUFFICIENT

to carry out these resolutions? No, indeed! Now, more than ever before, I realize that this is God's work, and by his help I hope to ever say what he would say, or do more often as he would do. I feel myself very incapable of planning the work without his guidance.

I hope ever to keep myself so entirely unspotted before the world and God, that I may be worthy of his guidance. Then all things will be done in order and for the best of his cause and kingdom.

As I now look upon the work which lies before me I can truthfully say,

> "My times are in thy hands; My God I wish them there, My soul, my friends, my all, I leave Entirely to thy care."

> > ELSIE RUSSELL.

For the Des Moines, Iowa, district convention.

Miscellaneous Department.

CONFERENCE NOTICES.

Northwestern Kansas conference will meet at Bazine, May 4 and 5, 1901. All members of priesthood, especially branch officers, please note resolutions passed at last conference and send reports to reach me at Stockton, Kansas, at least one week before time of meeting. ELLA LANDERS, Sec.

Alabama conference will convene with Lone Star branch, April 27, 9:30 a.m. A full report and a good representation are desired.

M. K. HARP, Pres.

CHICAGO, Illinois, April 8. Saints' Herald:—At the regular bi-monthly business meeting of the Chicago branch, held April 1, 1901, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:-

Whereas, The conference year is about to close, and inasmuch as we have no assurance that Bro. and Sr. Terry will be returned to this city, and

Whereas, They have been located with us during the past three years and during the time have made many sacrifices and have labored hard, continuously, and we believe conscientiously for the work we all love, and, Whereas, We believe that their efforts have been productive of much good to the gospel work in this city in general and to this branch especially; and,

Whereas, The efforts put forth in behalf of truth have won for them our love and esteem as our brother and our sister in the gospel bond, therefore

Be it resolved, That we, the Chicago branch, express our appreciation for all the faithful efforts of our missionary and his wife during their sojourn with us by extending to them a vote of thanks for the same; and

Be it further resolved, That we as a branch will deeply regret if circumstances are such that a change in Bro. Terry's appointment is necessary, but if in the providence of God and his people represented at the General Conference, Bro. and Sr. Terry are again re-turned to us, we shall be greatly pleased, and we can assure them a hearty welcome back to our midst; and

Be it further resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the SAINTS' HERALD and also to Zion's Ensign for publication.

MABEL SANDERSON, Sec.

DIED.

POOL.—Lee Verden Pool, at Iron Hill, Iowa. Born in Farmer's Creek, Iowa, May I, 1880; died April 5, 1901. He was united in wedlock to Ella V. Roush, August 23, 1899. To them was born one son. Wife, father, mother, five brothers, and one sister mourn his untimely death. Funeral services conducted by Eldon Iohn Holdo.

his untimely death. Funeral services conducted by Elder John Heide.

HAMANN.—Sr. Margaretha Hamann was born September 21, 1851, in Heilgen, Stedtener, Kamp, Germany; died March 24, 1901, in asylum No. 2, St. Joseph, Missouri. She was the mother of six children, five of whom with the husband and father, are left to may but not without home. May God to mourn, but not without hope. May God bless the bereaved ones. Sermon by T. T. Hinderks.

Toy.—At Onawa, Iowa, March 27, 1901, Grace Helen, infant daughter of Mr. J. J. and Sr. Susie Toy (formerly Lindsey), aged 1 month, 7 days. Funeral service by Rev. Mr. Perkins of the Christian Church, at the residence of Nathan Lindsey.

GOSPEL QUARTERLIES. Published by the General Sunday School Association. Designed for use in Sabbath school work. Issued quarterly. 73. Senior Grade, per quarter ... Per year, in advance..... 74. Intermediate Grade, per quar-Per year..... 75. Primary Grade, per quarter.. Per year..... OBJECTIONS TO THE BOOK OF MORMON AND DOCTRINE AND COVENANTS, SWERED AND REFUTED. By Elder J. R. Lambert.

40

142. Paper .....

143. Cloth .....

An interesting book of the period.

LIFE AND REIGN OF

OUEEN VICTORIA,

Including the lives of

King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra,

By MURAT HALSTEAD, famous historian and Journalist, and A. J. MUNSON, editor and author. Profusely illustrated. 485 pages. For sale at

OFFICE. HERALD

POSTPAID, ONE DOLLAR.

THE 1	rwo records. The Book of Mormon and the New Tes- tament. Inspired Transla- tion; large type, in one
99. 100.	volume. Leather back and covers Seal grain russia Imitation morocco, gilt edges, Morocco, gilt edges	2 3	50
THE	HOLY SCRIPTURES. Inspired translation, by Joseph
78. 79. 80. 81. 82.		1 1 2 3	25 75 25
NEW	TESTAMENTS. Inspired Translation. Large type edition.
84. 85.	Cloth	4	65
86. 87.	Seal grain russia	freed freed freed	25
	H-PELOUBET'S DICTION-ARY OF THE BIBLE. Teachers' edition. Over 800 pages, with colored maps and 440 illustrations. Cloth	I	60
RECO	RD BOOKS, for minutes of
194.	business meetings, 300 pages. Leather and canvas	1	25
BRAI	EN - KELLEY DEBATE, Report of the discussion be- tween Elder Clark Braden of the Christian Church and Elder E. L. Kelley of the Re- organized Church of Jesus
125.	Christ of Latter Day Saints.	1	50
SPIR	ITUAL GIFTS AND THE SEER OF PALMYRA. By Elder M. H. Bond.
134.	Paper		25

135. Cloth.....

WM. ANDERSON, Pres. MRS. DAVID DANCER. Vice Pres.

W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier. OSCAR ANDERSON, Ass't Cashier.

STATE SAVINGS BANK OF LAMONI.

Incorporated under the laws of the State of Iowa, July 1, 1898. Total assets January 2, 1900, $133,032.34; April 1, 1900, $162,781.07.

STOCKHOLDERS:—Mrs. David Dancer, Geo. H. Hilliard, A. K. Anderson, Lucy L. Resseguie, Oscar Anderson, Wm. Anderson, Frank Criley, Alice P. Dancer, Ella D. Whitehead, G. W. Blair, W. A. Hopkins.

WANTO

Using tobacco. Quit-to-bac makes it easy to do so. Three boxes postpaid, only $1.50 with positive guarantee to cure or the $1.50 cheerfully refunded! It cures others, why not you.

Address, (Bro.) B. F. ORDWAY, Peoria, Ill.

47-42 (U. S. Postage stamps taken)

Or apply to

The Underwood Agency,

LAMONI, JOWA.

SAIN	rs,	HY	MN	TAT	[a.	A	70	rđ	8 :	OE	al v	7.
115.	$\tilde{\mathbf{P}}_{\mathbf{a}}$	per													15
	-	Per	doz	en.										1	60
116.															25
		Per	doz	ėn.								•	. :	Z	70
117.															35
		Per
118.	$\mathbf{F}\mathbf{b}$	exib	le,	gilt	ed	ge	s.					٠	۰		50

Layone sending a sketch and foscription may leikly ascertain our opinion froe whether an ention is probably patentable. Communicans strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents there, Oldest agency for securing patents, atents taken through Munu & Co. receive will notice without the probability of the confidential of the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the confidential for the con

MUNN & CO. 361Broadway, New YORK Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

BOOK OF MORMON.

88.	Ulotn		90
89.	Morocco grain russia	Post	(9)
90.	Imitation morocco, gilt edges	1	25
91.	Morocco, gilt edges, flexible	2	00

TRUE SUCCESSION IN CHURCH PRESIDENCY. By Elder H. C. Smith, Church Historian.

152.	Paper			0				8	6	ø	8	0	8	e	۰	9	0	ø		9	•	9	0		35
153.	Cloth.	•	•		•	0	6	0	۰	ø	e	٥	9	•	0	0	æ	٥	0	0	ò	6			50

NOT IN THE CATALOGUE.

TRACTS.

Trial of the Witnesses to the Resurrection of Jesus. Each 5 cents; per doz. 50 cents.

The Basis of Brighamite Polvyamv.

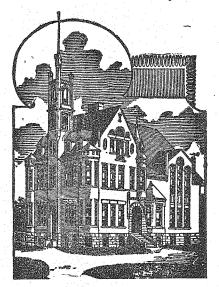

Per doz. 10 cents; per 100, 60 cents.

GRACELAND....

COLLEGE.

LAMONI. IOWA.

Telephone 7%

For catalogue or further information, address, PROF. R. A. HARKNESS, President, or I. W. ALLENDER, Secretary, LAMONI, DECATUR Co., IOWA.

THE COMMERCIAL BANK

LAMONI, - IOWA.

Solicits your Deposits and pays

5 % INTEREST. D. F. NICHOLSON, Cashier.

VISIONS OF JOSEPH SMITH THE SEER. Discoveries of Ancient American Records and Relics, with the statements of Dr. Lederer (converted Jew) and others.

184. Each 10c.; per dozen...... 1 60

THE INSTRUCTOR. A compendium of the faith and doctrines of the church by Elder G. T. Griffiths. 126. Cloth ..... 127. Leather..... 1 00 128. Flexible .....

BRING YOUR LAUNDRY TO

South Side Barber Shop.

For every five dollars worth of Laundry you receive a

HANDSOME SHAVING MUG. BLACK & SHOOK, Props.

DR. E. S. SWEET. DENTIST. Decoe Building,

WOODBINE,

IOWA

FOR SALE.

A brick business house centrally located in Lamoni that earns fifteen per cent on investment.

If interested, inclose stamp to Lock Box 7, Lamoni, Iowa.

Burlington Route passenger service between stations on Grant City branch and Chi-cago, both directions, is better than ever in the history of the road. Leaving Lamoni at 8:05 p. m., arriving Chicago 7:20 a. m. following morning. Leaving Chicago at 5:50 p. m., arriving Lamoni 6:25 a. m. following morning.

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSIONS.

Dates of sales, February 19, March 5 and 19, April 2 and 16, 1901, one lowest first class fare for the round trip, plus $2 00. Good for return 21 days from date of sale.

Cheap one-way colonist excursion rates to San Francisco, Los Angeles, and San Diego, California. Dates of sale February 12, 19, and 26, March 5, 12, 19, and 26, March 5, 12, 10, and 26, April 20, 16 and 26, March 5, 12, 19, and 26, April 2, 9, 16, 23, and 30, 1901.

One-way second class settlers rates. Denver, Colorado Springs, and Pueblo. Ogden and Salt Lake. Bozeman, Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Grantsdale, Missoula, Grant Falls, Kalispell, Spokane, Portland, Tacoma. toria and Vancouver.

KEOKUK & WESTERN R. R. CO.

North-Leave Leon 2:40 p. m., arrive at Des Moines 6:05 p. m. South—Leave Des Moines 8:25 a. m., arrive at Leon 11:45 a.m.

Trains daily except Sunday; connect with C. B. & Q. at Leon.

SAINTS' H

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE REORGANIZED CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER DAY SAINTS.

"If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."-John 8:31, 32.

"Hearken to the word of the Lords for there shall not any man among you have save it be one wifes and concubines he shall have none." - B. of M., page 116.

VOL. 48.

LAMONI, IOWA, APRIL 24, 1901.

NO. 17.

The Saints' Herald.

JOSEPH SMITH FRED'K MADISON SMITH

EDITOR. ASSISTANT EDITOR.

JOSEPH LUFF D. W. WIGHT

CORRESPONDING EDITORS.

LAMONI, IOWA, APRIL 24, 1901.

WE have had occasion before to call attention to the fact that in the economy of God and nature the tendency is towards the existence of more males than females in the human family. Here is something from the Chicago Tribune on the subject which will be of interest to our readers:--

NO WIVES FOR 15,300,000.

There are 15,300,000 men in this world who would have to remain single even though all women on earth should become married. In other words, there are 15,300,000 more men than women in this world. The total population of the earth is estimated at about 1,500 millions. More than one-half of them have been actually counted, while the other half is roughly estimated. Statisticians have investigated the question of the numerical strength of the two sexes, and their estimates involve 1,283 millions souls, or about 88 per cent of the total population of the earth. According to their estimates Europe has a population of 334 millions, with 3\frac{3}{8} millions more women than men; Asia has a population of 815 millions, with a male plurality of sixteen millions; Africa, with a population of twenty-seven millions, has about one million more men than women; in America, which has a population of 102 millions, there are also about one million more men than women; the plurality of men in Australia, with a total population of four millions, is about onehalf million.

According to the estimates of the statisticians there are 6493 millions men and 6333 millions women in this world, giving the men a majority of 15% millions. Europe is the only continent with a numerical preponderance of women. But even in Europe there are many countries where the men outnumber the women. That is the case in Italy, Greece, Roumania, Bulgaria, Servia, Bosnia, and Herzegovina, and in the small principality of Liechtenstein. The aggregate of the result in the small principality of Liechtenstein. the populations of those countries gives the men a majority of about a half million. Portugal, Sweden, Norway, Russian Poland and Great Britain show a preponderance of women at the ratio of 1,060 women to 1,000 men. In Germany there are 1,039 women to every thousand men, while the majority of women in Hungary, Russia, France and Bel-gium is comparatively insignificant.

Although the other continents show a more or less pronounced numerical preponderance of men, it would be a mistake to assume that there are no countries on those continents where the women outnumber the men. Nicaragua, the South African Republic, and other countries have more women than men. The most peculiar conditions are found in Hong Kong and Hawaii. In Hong Kong there are only 409 women and in Hawaii 533 women to every 1,000 men.

It has been found that women are more sociable than men and that they avoid countries where the population is thinly scattered over a large territory. Hunting and pastoral peoples and even those in the first stages of agricultural development, for that reason invariably have more men than women. countries with the greatest industrial development in proportion to their area show the greatest numerical perponderance of women. Other elements which greatly influence the percentage of women are their legal status, including the laws of inheritance and succession, unfavorable marriage laws, and other conditions inimical to the rights of women.

Climate and meteorological conditions also influence the relative ratio between men and women. In tropical and polar zones the men preponderate in numbers, while in the mod-erate zone the women slightly predominate. Dry and sterile countries invariably have more men than women, while the opposite is the case in fertile countries with sufficient rainfall.

EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS.

Bro. J. L. Sawyer, Dighton, Kansas, writes the 9th inst:-

I love the latter-day work for I believe it is God's work and that it will stand forever and will go forth until it will fill the whole earth. We have some exciting times out here, but prejudice is subsiding and we are holding the ground. Through the preaching and other talking we have got some people to thinking, and I think before many years we will have and I think before many years we will have some of them in the church. May the good work go on, and may the Lord bless and scatter the good seed, that some honest in heart may see the truth and accept the gospel in its fullness. We live in a beautiful country, and there is lots of room for more Saints. Land can be bought cheap for cash.

Bro. E. H. Ebert, writing from Bazine, Kansas, April 12, says:-

Bro. Gurwell and the writer held four meetings in the Christian church at Dighton, which was then closed against us. One brother promised to erect a platform for us this summer, so the people would have a chance to hear the truth. We were refused the M. E. church by its pastor. Our district conference will meet with Homestead branch, of Bazine, May 4. If possible, let us have our missionary in charge present, also Bro. Gurwell, as we having more opposition than

Bro. J. F. Spinnett, New Bedford, Massachusetts, the 18th inst.:-

Any of the missionaries returning from conference to this vicinity are invited to call on the branch here. Address J. F. Spinnett, 176 Allen street, or Thomas Barker, Union street lunch cart (between Sixth and Fifth streets).

If God gives death it will not be less precious than any of his other gifts.

Many troubles may be God's spades digging deep for the foundation of his temple in our lives.

Original Articles.

GENERAL CONFERENCE.-NO. 3.

MONDAY, APRIL 15.

The morning social service was presided over by Brn. M. H. Bond and J. C. Crabb.

At 10:45 o'clock Bro. I. M. Smith preached, assisted by Bro. W. A. Smith.

Business session at two o'clock; prayer by Bro. Charles Derry.

President Joseph Smith then arose and stated to the audience that the night before he had been "in the Spirit," and by it had been bidden to come to the house of assembly and tell what was given to him. He did so, and after presenting it, withdrew, and by motion the matter was ordered to be prepared and presented to the quorums, to be afterward presented to conference.

Majority report of auditing committee on the Bishop's books was read, as also a minority report.

The church historian stated he was not prepared to choose an assistant. and asked to do so later. He was permitted so to do.

It was moved to adopt the minority report of committee on Bishop's books. Moved to adopt the majority report of committee on Bishop's books.

Moved to receive majority and minority reports and discharge the committee.

Matter of statement and allied matters ordered stricken from the minutes, and minority report ordered returned to Bro. R. M. Elvin.

As per previous arrangement and permission of conference, Elder Richard Hill, of the Church of Christ, commonly known as Hedrickites, addressed the conference in the evening.

TUESDAY, APRIL 16.

Brn. R. Wight and D. A. Hutchings were in charge of the morning prayer and testimony service.

At eleven o'clock the speaker was Bro. J. D. Erwin, assisted by Bro.

Henry Kemp.

Two p. m.—After prayer by Bro. H. O. Smith, and reading of minutes, business was begun by a motion that no new business be received after two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, which prevailed.

The Third Quorum of Elders reported.

A resolution was presented calling for the hiring of an auditor by the bishop and bishops to audit accounts of Herald Office, bishop, and bishops, Ensign, Graceland College, etc. This was amended, and lost.

Moved to adopt majority report of auditing committee on Herald Office books, which was in effect that the books were correct. Same reread, as was also the minority report. After some debate the motion carried, and the committee was discharged.

The Quorum of Twelve, to which was referred a question arising from the Grand Rapids, Michigan, branch matter, reported recommending dismissal of case and referring matter of branch organization to missionary in charge, and any complaint against brethren named to their respective quorums. The report was adopted.

Report of the Board of Publication was read.

A motion that the previous question can be ordered during the remainder of conference only by a two thirds vote was laid on the table.

Second Quorum of Seventy reported. Forty-nine in quorum at present.

High Priests' Quorum reported.

Committee to which was referred matter regarding Book of Mormon vocabulary reported, recommending that the Board of Publication be authorized to authenticate by the best authority, and publish as soon as so authenticated. Recommendation was adopted.

Business then adjourned till next regular session.

In the evening at 7:30 Bro. D. W. Wight replied to the discourse of Elder Hill the night before.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17.

The morning prayer meeting was conducted by Brn. Charles Albertson and A. J. Layland.

Bro. J. M. Baker spoke at the eleven o'clock preaching service. He was assisted by Bro. J. M. Terry.

Two p. m.—Usual preliminaries, prayer being offered by Bro. J. R. Lambert.

The various quorums reported that they accepted the matter presented Monday afternoon by President Joseph Smith. The document was then read and adopted as a revelation from the Lord, and the Board of Publication was instructed to publish same in Book of Doctrine and Covenants. The entire congregation, or those belonging to the church, was permitted to vote whether or not they gould accept the instruction as a part of the law governing the church, and the vote was unanimous.

that the revelation be printed in Book supplements to HERALD and Ensign.

Then, by motion, it was decided of Covenants form and sent out as It is as follows:-

STATEMENT AND REVELATION.

Before entering further upon the business, I have something to present. I spent a sleepless night. After retiring to my rest, weary, as you must know, I engaged in a season of prayer, quietly, as I had been doing all day; and I suddenly found myself very wide awake; and from that on I was, as we say, in the Spirit, the Spirit of inspiration burning in my breast; and by it I was bidden to come to the house of assembly and tell what was given to me of light and instruction. I trust that it shall be so to you.

I arose in the morning early and took down the heads as they were presented to me, remembering quite well the substance of the instruction that I received; and with your permission, Brother Chairman, I will present it.

THE VACANCY IN THE PRESIDENCY.

1. The successor of my servant W. W. Blair is with the body, but the conditions are not ripe for this addition to the presidency; but it shall be made in due time. In the meantime, let the presidency continue as at present constituted.

VACANCY IN THE TWELVE

2. To fill this vacancy I was instructed to present the name of "my servant Peter Anderson."

EVANGELICAL MINISTERS.

3. The patriarch is an evangelical minis-er. The duties of this office are to be an evangelical minister; to preach, teach, expound, exhort; to be a revivalist, and to visit branches and districts as wisdom may direct, invitation, request, or the Spirit of God determine and require; to comfort the Saints; to be a father to the church; to give counsel and advice to individuals who may seek for such; to lay on hands for the conferment of spiritual blessing, and if so led, to point out the lineage of the one who is blessed.

4. He is to be free from responsibility—ministerial—as a traveling minister, and from the care of the local branch or church and district affairs. When traveling and preaching, holding revival meetings, he is to labor in connection with the branch and district officers, not subject to the ministerial control of the missionary in charge, except he should transcend his bounds and teach false doctrine or be found in transgression. He is not to meddle with branch affairs or district affairs. He is not to listen to complaints made by individuals to him, but if persons insist upon presenting their troubles, he is to request them and require them to make them in writing, signing the name, giving time, place, and character of the trouble, with the witnesses, which it will be his duty to present to the branch or district officers, as the case may require. He is not to be put in charge of either branch or district. These are the privileges which attach to the office of patriarch and evangelical minister.

5. The presiding patriarch is to be considered the first, and when patriarchs meet in council, is to preside. Besides these duties, the patriarch may meet with quorums in their quorum meetings, where he may be asked for counsel, but will not have either voice or vote, except by courtesy, having no direct countryl of except by direct control of quorums. 6. Other evangelical ministers beside the presiding patriarch have similar duties in the districts where they are appointed. Revelations have been given, as my people know, that these men should receive ordination, but hitherto those upon whom this burden has lain have neglected, for the reason that they did not understand the duties and prerogatives that attach to the office. Let my servants take heed and hesitate no longer.

RULES OF REPRESENTATION.

7. My servant was directed to present to the church rules of representation, and he so stated to the body at different times that he was so led; but the conferences of my people saw proper to change these articles and rules of representation, and propositions are pending that they be still further changed. The direction of the Spirit is that they be left as they now are until such time as the increased numbers of the members of the church shall require either an enlargement of the number entitled to delegate, or that there may be a closer line drawn as to the number of delegates which the church shall require to meet.

8. The word "elders" used in the law signifies those holding the Melchisedec priesthood only; all classes and orders of this priesthood are characterized by the word "elder."

9. The only qualification for delegates chosen by the branches or districts should be membership and good standing, it being given by the Spirit that those other than the eldership should be represented in this way.

STAKES.

10. My people are directed to establish two stakes; one at Independence, one at Lamoni, Iowa, organizing them after the pattern which is found in the law; a presiding high priest with counselors, a high council, and a bishop and his counselors. These stakes shall be made to comprise the boundaries of the districts as they now stand, the center at the towns and places named; and the ma-jority of the councils that should be chosen should be residents of the places named, in order that there may ever be a sufficient body to transact the business required.

TRACTS

11. It is the duty of the church to provide tracts in the Scandinavian, German, Chinese, Japanese, and Portuguese languages, and others, as the missions may require; these tracts to be written by those in the ministry and those of the brothers who are not of the ministry who have a talent for writing, and to be submitted to the presidency before be-ing published. They should be short, clearly stated, and a sufficient number should be printed to furnish the traveling ministry with the quantities desirable for them to distribute.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

12. The missions abroad other than those in the land of Joseph which were opened officially during the lifetime of the martyrs shall be considered as having been opened unto us, whether they were at once undertaken and prosecuted during the lifetime of the martyrs, or whether subsequent to their death they were prosecuted in righteousness -wherever they were sent. Other missions not thus opened, it will be requisite that the twelve shall either go, or in the exercise of their missionary authority send, as provided in the law, of the seventy.

13. For prosecuting the work in two of these missions, this is offered and directed: Send the bishop to England with my servant Gomer T. Griffiths, to aid in arranging the affairs of the church there, organizing the ministry locally and determining what help in the missionary field may be required from America. Authorize the selection and the ordination of a high priest to officiate in the office of bishop in England, that it may be accomplished as soon as practicable and without fail, in answer to the request made by my servants in that land. Authorize the patriarch as one of the presidency to visit Australia and the islands of the sea, Society Islands, authorizing him to assist the authorities there in arranging their mis-sionary labor by his advice, and also selecting and ordaining a high priest to act in the ofof bishop, carrying with him the authority of the conference.

14. Branches and districts are to be conducted according to the rules given in the law as directed in a former revelation: They shall take the things which have been given unto them as my law to the church to be my law to govern my church. And these affairs are not to be conducted by manifestations of the Spirit unless these directions and manifestations come through the regularly authorized officers of branch or district. If my people will respect the officers whom I have called and set in the church, I will respect these officers; and if they do not, they cannot expect the riches of gifts and the blessings of direction.

15. Prophesying over them that are sick in administering to them has been a fruitful source of trouble among my people. They must observe that this they are not required to do except there be a direct manifestation of the Spirit which may direct it. Pray over the sick, anoint them with oil, as commanded in the law, and leave them in my hands, that the Spirit may deal with them according to my wisdom. Many spiritual manifestations have been had. Some of these have been false, and under the operation of the law which I gave many, many years ago, those who make these false presentations are not to be feared among my people. They are not justified in permitting their human sympatcies to overcome that which has been written in my scriptures: The spirit of the prophets is subject to the prophets.

16. The college debt should be paid, and ministers going out from the conferences held by the elders of my church are not ex-pected or authorized to throw obstacles in the way of the accomplishment of that which has been instrusted to the bishopric to pay this great debt. Their right to free speech, their right to liberty of conscience, does not permit them as individuals to frustrate the commands of the body in conference assembly. They are sent out as ministers to preach the gospel, and their voices if opposed to what may be presented to the conference should be heard in the conferences, and not in the mission fields, to prevent the accomplishment of the object with which the officers of the church have been intrusted.

These things, brethren, were given unto me in the light of a quickened mind; and all through the night I was blessed in the spirit, though weary in body. They are with you.

Committee appointed therefor reported resolutions of respect and condolence on the death of Elder M. P. Hansen, which were adopted by the

By motion, the Presidency was instructed to provide for the ordination of Bro. Peter Anderson as soon as possible, so he might act with the Quorum of Twelve.

The ordination of Jacob Hanson as second counselor to Robert Nelson, president of Fourth Quorum of Deacons, was ordered.

Brn. Anderson and Roush were then called forward, and Bro. Peter Anderson was ordained an apostle by President Smith, and Bro. J. B. Roush a high priest by Bro. W. H. Kelley.

A petition was read from E. C. Briggs asking for reinstatement in his quorum. The petition was referred to Bro. Briggs for completion by adding some papers thereto. In a few minutes he returned the document, and on motion the petition was referred to the High Council.

A motion was made that the matter of organization as authorized by the late revelation be referred to the First Presidency, Twelve, High Council, and Bishopric, they to arrange for same as soon as practicable. While discussion on same was pending, motion to adjourn the session prevailed.

by Bro. T. J. Sheldon, assisted by Bro. J. N. Ames.

THURSDAY, APRIL 18.

The morning social service was in charge of Brn. E. H. Durand and J. W. Metcalf.

Bro. H. E. Moler was the speaker at 10:45, assisted by Bro. W. S. Tay-

Two p. m.—After usual preliminaries, report of Seven Presidents of Seventy was read. Also report of First Seventy, which recommended the following names for ordination as seventy: Oscar Case, W. S. Macrae, M. Baker, Richard Baldwin, Walter J. Haworth, Romanan Wight, L. E. Hills, S. O. Foss. The ordinations of the brethren were ordered provided for.

Second Quorum of Seventy recommended the following names for ordination to seventy: E. A. Erwin, Eli Hayer, J. W. Rushton, J. M. Stubbart, William Aylor, G. W. Thorburn, J. R. Sutton. Their ordinations were ordered provided for.

First Quorum of Priests reported. Recommended ordination of J. J. Luff as second counselor. Approved and ordination ordered.

Committee on appeal of W. C. Duncan reported sustaining branch in its action. Referred to missionary in charge.

Matter of proposed amendments of Book of Rules, as proposed in HER-ALD, proposing a substitute for section 161, paragraphs 5 (a) and (b), was deferred and made the special order for third day of next General Conference.

The president referred the ordinations ordered to the president of Twelve. A hymn was sung and President Smith offered prayer. Bishop Ellis Short having chosen Brn. Earl D. Bailey and A. L. Newton as his first and second counselors, their ordination was ordered. following named brethren were then ordained: To the First Seventy, Brn. W. S. Macrae, A. M. Baker, Richard Baldwin, L. E. Hills, Romanan Wight, S. O. Foss; Second Seventy, W. M. Aylor E. A. Erwin, J. M. Stubbart, George W. Thorburn; counselors to Bishop Short, E. D. Bailey and A. L. Newton; second counselor to president First Quorum Priests, J. J. Luff. These President Smith welcomed on behalf of the church.

The president then nominated Brn. A. J. Moore, M. H. Bond, and F. M. Sheehy to temporarily fill vacancies on the High Council and they were approved.

Resolutions adopted by a joint council of the Twelve and Presidency were read and adopted. These authorized organizing an elders' quorum in England, and quorums of priests, The evening sermon was delivered teachers, and deacons, if practicable, and permitted brethren there to drop membership in quorums already existing for membership in such quorums if organized.

Elder J. R. Haldeman, of the Hedrickite brethren, was the speaker at the evening service, replying to Bro. David W. Wight's effort of the evening but one before.

FRIDAY, APRIL 19.

Brn. W. M. Self and W. H. Mannering were in charge of the nine a. m. prayer and testimony service.

At the 10:45 hour Bro. J. F. Mintun was the speaker, assisted by Bro. V. M. Goodrich.

Two p. m.—After prayer by Bro. F. E. Cohrt, minutes were read. Bro. Joseph Luff presented the name of Bro. A. B. Hanson, recommending that he be ordained an elder, stating that he expected to take the field at once without going to his home. Bro. Hanson's ordination was ordered provided for.

By request of Bishop R. Bullard, made through E. L. Kelley, the ordination of M. H. Bond and G. H. Gates as bishop's counselors was ordered provided for.

Second Quorum of Seventy recommended ordination of Peter Muceus to office of seventy. His ordination was ordered provided for.

Report from High Priests' Quorum was read. Charles Derry had resigned as president of quorum, and Bro. F. G. Pitt had been chosen president, F. A. Smith first counselor, and T. W. Williams second counselor. The quorum asked for ordination of the brethren. This was ordered.

The Fifth Quorum of Elders and Fourth Quorum of Priests reported.

A report from the Fourth Quorum of Elders was referred back.

The Second Quorum of Elders presented additional report.

A report from the Daughters of Zion was read, as was also a report from the Sunday School Association.

The Second Quorum of Priests reported.

A letter from the Birmingham district was read expressing thanks for action of conference last year in appointing a bishop for England.

First Presidency and Twelve reported adopting a resolution that Sandheden's Banner be republished. This was adopted by the conference.

The motion pending at adjournment Wednesday was taken up, and the final action was that the matter be referred to the First Presidency and Twelve, they being authorized to proceed with such organization.

A resolution was offered providing that the First Presidency, in council with the Bishop of the church and Twelve, appoint a board of auditors of three to audit finances of Bishop's office for years 1900 and 1901 and report to conference in 1902. This committee to be selected by the Presidency. Twelve, and Bishop was also authorized to audit the accounts of the Board of Publication and Graceland College for current year.

Some matters regarding boundary lines of districts were presented.

A resolution to provide the compilation of from two hundred to two hundred and fifty hymns and music, to be issued as Hymnal No.2, was presented and voted down by a large majority.

By motion the persons named in the revelation to perform work in England and the islands of the sea were authorized to perform the work designated.

A resolution was adopted to the effect that letters of removal must be granted to applicants, or if objections be made, charges should be preferred against such applicants and action taken.

Moved that all advertisements by specialists and for patent medicines be kept out of Zion's Ensign. This was referred to the Board of Publication.

President Joseph Smith made some remarks to the ministry by way of advice and instruction as follows:-

I may not have another opportunity to address all of you, as some of you are proposing to leave. I hesitate somewhat in attempting to address or instruct those who are engaged in the ministerial field, as I myself have never been an itinerant missionary, but have done some preaching away from home.

The questions that are agitating our minds in regard to salvation and the church and its establishment and its continuation, are, as a matter of course, matters vital to us, and it ought not to be necessary for me to call attention to this one factor, in the contest that is waging; that is this, that the personal conduct in dress and in speech and pulpit, the actions of the representatives of our faith, are taken cognizance of by those to whom we preach; and carelessness of statement, care-lessness of speech, uncleanliness of person, carelessness of conversation, all go to make up the minister and the effect that he has upon the people to whom he addresses him-self; and it behooves every man that represents the church to strive to make his representation the fairest, the most honor-able, and the cleanest that he possibly can under any and all circumstances.

Another important factor is that the elder and minister ought not to be a tale-bearer; he ought not to listen to nor retail what may be said in regard to a fellow-minister, either in the same field or in another field, whether a near or a remote field; and I trust that we shall take it into consideration that we are considerate of each other's feelings and observe the proper courtesies as between brethren in the field.

There is an important mission for us to fill in this religious conflict. The position that we occupy is a unique one. No other elders or ministers who are abroad occupy a similar field to the one that we do. We are not advocates of the plenary inspiration of the Bible, and yet we are expected to maintain the Bible as against criticisms made by unbelievers.

We are not atheists, and yet we have to contend against what we hold to be an improper understanding of the Godhead, and sometimes get the reputation of lessening the character of God by making him like unto a mortal man. We are not extremists. and yet we have to stand against a great amount of superstition and dogmatism that are in the world. It makes a kind of threecornered fight.

We deny the successive authority received from the original church, and hold that all who have been teaching can trace their authority only back a certain distance, and that they all stand on the same level. Fortunately for us, to a certain extent, this thought is being impressed upon the world here and there in this religious controversy, but we for the restoration of authority, through the ministration of an angel. It subjects us to the charge of being supersitious, of being credulous, of being fanatical. Now it behooves us to prove to the world and those among whom our labors lie that we are not fanatical, that we are not superstitious, but that we are open to such inspiration as God may give from the heavens to us as individuals.

And it behooves us to not be afraid that our position may be overturned. I know something about the character of you men as a rule in this regard. The same spirit that makes you maintain your position here among your brethren, when you go out into the field makes you specially antagonistic to what you do not approve of there. But there is a way of meeting these exigencies that frequently turns inquiry from us. There is a method of inviting men to come to Christ that wins their confidence and their esteem; it is far better for us to adopt this under the philosophy that the Savior instituted or gave voice to when he said, "And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me." It is far better to draw men than to drive them.

We have been for some little time, and are still being recognized as strongly antagonistic to doctrines that have grown up under the appellation of Mormonism with which the world especially has confounded us in the days that are past; and now in almost every place the difference is being strongly emphasized. While we are thus showing this attitude, we ought to be careful to remember that up to a certain distance we believe alike. Now it is not right for us to say that we have nothing in common with them, for that is not true. We have a great deal in common with them, as we have with the religious world. We have something in common with the Methodists; we have something in common with the Baptists; we have something in common with the Christians, and something in common with the Catholics, for we believe in authority as they do. We believe that there should be a place where men may be able to say authoritatively in these days, as servants of Christ, thus it is and thus it shall be, and we as a people having accepted obey that. While we do not believe in infalli-bility, we concede the fact that Christ has commanded and does command his church and his people, and that his command when received by us is our rule of conduct. Now just as closely as we follow that, we have every right to anticipate that he will stand by us in the conflict; but wherever we depart from it, we understand that we cannot bind him. I think we ought to all understand that.

Personally I have no conflict with any man as an individual. I accept the statement made by the Apostle Paul that our weapons are spiritual, not carnal, and that we are engaged in a spiritual conflict, and we ought to stand by our principles and the rules that we have ourselves subscribed to that we are laboring under. One thing that must surely result to us if we do not, is precisely what occurred to the Apostle Paul when he said that he consented to the law that it was good and by the law he died, sin revived and he died simply because he admitted that the commandment of God was good. Now this may happen to

Another thing: A great many of us are intensely anxious to have realized while we are connected with the work and living, that incoming of such a spirit of unification as will unite all classes of believers in the angelic message and what is known as the Book of Mormon. A great many of us can echo the statement made by Elder Hill the other night: "How long, how long shall be this continued division and separation?" Now I can predict without any appeal to what may be said to be divine, that there never will come a unification unless there is a mutual or all parties insist upon the rigid applica-tion of their own rules and their own declarations or professions of faith, you can calculate that we will always be far apart, always.

I understand that the revelation that was given in Kirtland, Ohio, some years ago, indicated that we were not to be overcareful about receiving those of other factions, evidently foreshadowing the thought that there might come a time when some portion of these would desire to unite. Now I do not want anybody to suppose that I anticipate or expect to compromise a vital principle for the sake of numbers. I admit just as frankly as Elder Hill stated it, that righteousness does not go by numbers, and we cannot always tell and count on those that are accepted of God because they are more numerous than any other party may be, but the recognition that we receive from the Spirit, whether we be few or many, indicates whom he will receive sooner or later, and our labor should be to so continue to serve Christ that when the time of our probation shall have ended, when we lay down our ministry, we shall do so, confident that when the time shall come that we shall stand in the presence of the Judge, that he whom we recognize now as our Prince, the Captain of our salvation, will simply say to him that sits upon the throne, "These are mine," and will claim that we will be exempted from punish-

It behooves us as individuals, as ministers, as citizens, both of the state and of what we understand to be the kingdom, to live upright, cheerful, attentive, honest lives before God and before men, and credit every man and woman with whom our lives are associated with being just as honest and having motives just as good as we have ourselves. It seems to me that if we will do this, it will remove the mist and the pain of suspicion that frequently interferes and prevents a proper association of colaborers in the ministry. Let us do just what the Spirit has en-joined upon us to do time after time, and that is to stand together.

Some of you may remember that some fifteen or twenty years ago, I prophesied that the adversary would seek to bring dissension into the body through making a division among the eldership. How many of you are not willing to say that I prophesied straight? I guess the most of you that have been in the field any length of time are willing to concede that that prophecy is true; but I do not want you brethren to be afraid of me, for all that. I simply foresaw it.

Personally, speaking for myself, I believe that that revelation given in 1834 after the people had been driven from this part of Missouri, is in force, to gather into the regions round about as many in one place as is consistent with the feelings of the people and try to live upright, conscientious lives, commending ourselves to the citizens of the state wherever we may be, and continuing to do that until the Master tells us to do something else, then we can accomplish what he bids us to do. A great many things may be thought of and may appear very nice when presented by a good talker and a man of good brain and fluent speech, but sometimes some of these speculations are not good, so that we have to be very careful about it. I once stated that I would sooner be sectarian and right than to be nonsectarian and wrong. Not all things that are sectarian are bad, by a great deal.

I have a compliment for the people of this place here, uttered by a minister of this town, that to me was very grateful when I heard it. He said to me in the presence of another, "I wish our people were as faithful as yours," and stated further that in conversation with other ministers in the place, they had expressed a concurrence of opinion that they wished that their members were as earnest and as faithful as the Latter Day Saints. Now see to it, my brethren, that neither here, nor anywhere else, there shall ever be any other record than that. That we are not only earnest and faithful, but that we are also honest.

Let me tell you one of the finest things this world can show is a manly man against whom the law of the land, nor the law of God has condemnation: a man who so lives that neither in the statute books of man nor the statute books of God is a line written for his condemnation. That is a free man.

I thank you brethren for the kindness with which you have sustained me as your presiding officer during the conference. I hope to continue to merit while my faculties shall last good, the confidence of the brethren, and I say to you as men, if anything occurs by which that confidence may seem to be shaken, if you will come to me, I will try to make the wrong that I may have done you right, and I am approachable, I believe, to every man in the church.

Adjournment was then taken.

In the evening Bro. D. W. Wight replied to Elder J. R. Haldeman, who spoke the evening before. He was assisted by Bro. A. H. Smith.

SATURDAY, APRIL 20.

At two p. m. Bro. I. N. White offered prayer and the minutes were approved.

The High Council reported on They recommended Briggs case. that he should retract certain statements and make due apology. motion the report was adopted.

Fifth Quorum of Elders reported. Report of First Presidency on appointment of the Twelve was read:—

1. Heman C. Smith, Northern Illinois and Wisconsin, except Nauvoo district.

2. J. R. Lambert, under direction of First Presidency.

3. James Caffall, Nebraska and Dakotas.

 W. H. Kelley, Eastern mission.
 R. C. Evans, Canada.
 J. H. Lake, Michigan and Indiana. 7. Joseph Luff, Colorado, Eastern Wyoming, and Pacific Slope.

8. G. T. Griffiths, European mission. 9. I. N. White, Missouri, Kansas, Southern and Central Illinois.

10. Peter Anderson, Rocky Mountain mission. 11. J. W. Wight, Iowa, Minnesota, and Nauvoo district, Illinois.

Report of First Presidency and Twelve on appointments read, as fol-

To the Conference:-

Herewith is submitted the report of appointments made by joint council composed of the First Presidency and Quorum of the Twelve:

MISSIONARIES IN CHARGE.

- 1. Butterworth, C. A., Australasia.
- 2. Smith, H. O., Southwestern mission. HIGH PRIESTS.
- Burton, J. F., Society Islands.
   Roberts, I. N., Southeastern mission.

ELDERS.

1. Waller, G. J., Hawaiian mission. The following appointments were made:-

HIGH PRIESTS

- . Baker, J. M., Little Sioux district. 2. Blair, F. B., Northern California dis- trict. 3. Bond, M. H., Massachusetts district.
- 4. Bullard, Richard, Massachusetts district.

5. Butterworth, C. E, Omaha.

6. Carmichael, A., Southern California dis-

7. Carmichael, J. B., Central California district.

8. Closson, A. V., Wisconsin.
9. Crabb, J. C., Des Moines district.
10. Davies, J. T., Southern Illinois.

11. Derry, Charles, Iowa.

12. Elvin, R. M., Decatur district.
13. Evans, J. R., Decatur district.
14. Forscutt, M. H., Southern Nebraska district, Nebraska City objective point.
15. Godbey, G. H., West Virginia and Northeastern Kentucky.

16. Goodrich, V. M., Ohio.
17. Green, George, Canada.
18. Hulmes, G. H., Independence district.
19. Hunt, C. J., Galland's Grove district.
20. Jeffers, S. J., Ohio district.

Kemp, Henry, Fremont, Iowa, district.

Leverton, Arthur, Canada. Longhurst, R. C., Canada. 23.

24. May, Roderick, Independence district.
25. McDowell, W. A., Wisconsin.
26. Moler, James, Clinton, Missouri, district.

27. 28. Montague, George, Oklahoma

28. Moore, A. J., Southwestern mission.
29. Mortimer, A. E., Canada.
30. Nunley, E. W., Texas.
31. Parsons, A. H., Kirtland district.
32. Pease, W. H., Independence district,

Kansas City and suburbs objective.

33. Peters, J. H., Michigan. 34. Pitt, F. G., Pittsburg district, Pitts-burg objective.

35. Roush, John B., Colorado. 36. Sheehy, F. M., Chicago. 37. Smith, F. A., St. Louis.

38. Smith, G. A., Southern Michigan and Northern Indiana

39. Snively, J. S., Nodaway, Missouri, district.

40. Tanner, J. A., Northeastern Missouri.

Terry, J. M., Far West district. Turpen, M. M., Nauvoo district. Waldsmith, J. W., Southern Nebraska 42. 43.

district.

44. Weld, F. M., Decatur district. 45. Williams, T. W., Southern California district, Los Angeles objective.

The following action was had regarding matters referred to us by the body:—

Resolved, That we find it inexpedient to grant the petition for a special missionary to Lamoni, Iowa.

The petition from Southwestern Missouri for special missionary was referred to missionary in charge to supply the demand, with a recommendation of F. C. Keck for the place.

The following appointments were made in the Society Islands:-

Hawkins, John.
 Janssen, Herman.

3.

Kehauri

Luis Bellais.

Maevatua Hururau.

Mahuru.

Metuaore. Pou Haroatea.

Taneterau.

Tuteirihia, a Pamanu. 10.

Tuteirihia a Tehopea.

12. Tapuni.

13. Varoa a Moo.

The following seventies were appointed to foreign fields:

1. Kaler, John, Australasian mission.
2. Peterson, J. W., Society Islands.
3. Wells, G. B., Australasian mission.

The following elders were appointed to foreign missions:

1. Enge, N. C., Scandinavia.

Gilbert, J. W., Society Islands.
Haworth, W. J., Australasian mission.
Muceus, Peter, Scandinavia.
Rushton, J. W., Scotland. 6. Williamson, James, Scotland. Respectfully submitted, HEMAN C. SMITH, Secretary.

Report of the Twelve on mission appointments was read:

To the Conference:-

The following appointments are presented by the Quorum of Twelve for your considera-

FIRST QUORUM OF SEVENTY.

1. Adams, J. W., Far West district, Missouri.

2 Allen, Arthur, St. Louis district.
3 Baker, A. M., South Missouri district.
4 Baldwin, Richard, Kirtland district,

5. Beatty, T. J., Southern Ohio.6. Campbell, Duncan, Decatur district.

7. Case, Oscar, Nepraska. 8. Chambers, D. R., Pottawattamie district, Iowa.

9. Carpenter, J. A., Michigan.

10. Case, Hubert, Oklahoma.

11. Clapp, J. C., Decatur district.

12. Cooper, F. M., Pottawattamie district, Iowa, Council Bluffs objective point.
13. Cornish, J. J., Michigan.
14. Daley, Thomas, Northern California district.

15. Davies, E. A., Eastern mission.

16. Davies, J. Alfred, released at his request.

17. Davies, J. Arthur, Kewanee district, Illinois. 18. Davis, R. W., Central Illinois district.

19. Devore, L. R., Ohio and West Virginia.
20. Duncan, C. R., Colorado mission.
21. Etzenhouser, Rudolph, Northern and Central California districts.

22. Foss, J. C., Northeast Kansas district.
23. Foss, S. O., Maine.
24. Greene, U. W., Eastern mission, New York district objective point. 25. Hansen, H. N., Little Sioux district, 26. Harris, D. L., Rocky Mountain mission. 27. Henson, E. L., Texas. 28. Hills, L. E., Eastern Iowa district.

29. Holt, H. L., released in harmony with his request.

30. Jenkins, George, Southern Indiana. 31. Kephart, W. H., Galland's Grove district, Iowa.

32. Macrae, W. S., Arkansas. 33. McDowell, J. F., Ohio and Pennsyl-

34. McKiernan, James, Nauvoo district. 35. Maloney, R. M., Oklahoma.

36. Mintun, J. F., Fremont district, Iowa. 37. Morgan, J. W., Eastern Colorado.

38. Payne, S. D., Eastern Nebraska. 39. Peak, W. E., Galien, Michigan, and

39. Peak, W. E., Galien, Michigan, and vicinity.
40. Pender, W. S., Rocky Mountain mission.
41. Reese, Gomer, Eastern Montana.
42. Renfroe, B. F., Texas.
43. Robinson, H. H., Eastern mission.
44. Robley, G. W., Eastern mission.
45. Roth, J. S., Eastern Iowa district.
46. Rumel, W. M., Nebraska.
47. Sheppard, T. J., Texas.
48. Short, M. T., Northwest Kansas district. trict.

49. Smith, David, Northern and Eastern Michigan.

50. Smith, F. C., Eastern Michigan.
51. Smith, I. M., Eastern mission.
52. Spurlock, C. J., Southeast M.ssori and western part of St. Louis district. 53. Thomas, O. B., South Missouri district.

54. Whiteaker, A. L., Wisconsin.

55. Wight, Romanan, Pottawattamie district.

56. Wildermuth, E. M., Northern Illinois and Wisconsin.

SECOND QUORUM OF SEVENTY.

1. Aylor, W. M., Oklahoma and Indian Territory.

2. Baggerly, I. P., Oklahoma.

3. Barmore, A. C., Canada mission.
4. Beckley, J. R., Northern Michigan.
5. Blanchard, W. W., Western Maine and

New Hampshire.

Burr, C. H., Wisconsin.

 Chase, A. M., Oregon.
 Chatburn, F. J., Northeast Missouri district

9 Chatburn, T. W., Wisconsin.
10. Condit, S. D., Rocky Mountain mission.
11. Davis, John, Washington.
12. Ebeling, F. J., Kirtland district, Ohio.
13. Ellis, W. D., Michigan.
14. Erwin, E. A., Texas.
15. Erwin, J. D., Spring River district.
16. Goodrich, J. L., West Virginia and Jortheast Kentucky.

16. Goodrich, J. L., West Virginia an Northeast Kentucky.
17. Gowell, M. F., Wisconsin.
18. Gregory, Frederick, Canada mission.
19. Howlett, R. B., Canada mission.
20. Jackson, J. W., Arkansas.
21. Kelley, T. C., Minnesota.
22. Keck, F. C., Spring River district.
23. MacGregor, Daniel, Canada mission.
24. Marshall, W. C., Southern Indana.
25. Moler, H. E., Southern Ohio.
26. Parker, R. J., Colorado mission.
27. Porter, C. H., Nebraska.
28. Rudd, D. M., Northern Illinois.
29. Russell, F. A., Kewanee district, Ill

29. Russell, F. A., Kewanee district, Illinois

30. St. John, Benjamin, Canada mission. 31. Scott, Columbus, Des Moines district, Iowa.

32. Scott, J. M., Southern mission

32. Scott, M. R., Southern mission.
33. Scott, M. R., Jr., Southern Indiana.
34. Scott, S. W. L., Eastern mission.
35. Shields, John, Canada mission.
36. Shinn, D. L., West Virginia.
37. Simmons, S. W., Northern Texas.
38. Slover, F. M., Southern Illinois district.

39. Smith, W. A., Little Sioux district, Iowa.

40. Snow, C. L., Kentucky and Tennessee. 41. Sparling, Henry, South Missouri district.

42. Stead, J. D., Decatur district.
43. Stedman, E. A., Davenport, Iowa, and Rock Island and Moline, Illinois.

44. Stubbart, J. M., Colorado mission. 45. Swensen, Swen, Far West district, Missouri.

46. Thorburn, G. W., Dakotas.

47. Tucker, D. E., Oklahoma. 48. Walters, R. T., Central Illinois district.

49. Ward, Joseph, Arkansas. 50. White, D. C., Nodaway district, Mis-

51. Wight, D. W., Rocky Mountain mission. ELDERS.

1. Albertson, Charles, Rocky Mountain mission.

2. Allen, S. D., Southeastern mission. 3. Ames, J. N., Maine.

4. Anderson, D. A., Eastern mission.

Bailey, J. J., Eastern Michigan.
 Bailey, O. H., Kewanee district, Illinois.
 Baker, J. H., Oklahoma.
 Barr, Andrew, Eastern Michigan.
 Belkham, C. F., Eastern Texas.

10. Bell, T. J., Southern Indiana. 11. Berve, Amos, Northern Michigan.

Berve, Amos, Northern Michigan.
 Blackmore, Joseph, Canada mission.
 Booker, W. J., Southeastern mission.
 Booker, W. L., Southeastern mission.
 Bryan, J. W., Texas.
 Chute, G. T., Kentucky and Tennessee.
 Cohrt, F. E., Little Sioux district,

Tows.

18. Craig, James, Southern Ohio. 19. Crawley, D. S., Oklahoma. 20. Crumley, C. E., Oregon.

21. Crippen, A. R., Galland's Grove district, Iowa. 22. Cunningham, S. G., Maine.

Cushman, S. F., Eastern mission.
 Curtis, J. F., Colorado mission.
 Dana, R. R., Southern California.

Davis, William, Eastern Michigan.

27. Davison, H. J., Nova Scotia.
28. Depew, E. W., Northern Pennsylvania.
29. DeVries, H. J., Michigan.
30. Dice, B. J., Far West district, Missouri.

31. Durand, E. H., Southern Michigan and Northern Indiana.

32. Fannon, E. S., Nodaway district, Missouri.

33. Flinn, P. A., Southern Indiana,

34 Fry, Charles, Fremont district, Iowa. 35. Gamet, Levi, Nebraska.

36 Gibson, William, San Bernardino, California, and vicinity.
37. Goodenough, E. J., Eastern and Southern Michigan.

Goodwin, E. A., Northern Michigan. 39. Grant, J. A., Northern Michigan.

40. Graves, G. H., Chicago, Illinois.

41. Grimes, J. F., Arkansas. 42. Hackett, J. T., Northern Illinois. 43. Haden, W. E., Far West district, Missouri.

44. Hand, C. E., Eastern Iowa district.
45. Hanson, A. B., Colorado mission.
46. Harder, H. R., West Virginia and Northeast Kentucky.

47. Hawley, John, Texas.
48. Hay, S. R., Texas.
49. Hayer, Eli, Minnesota.
50. Hayton, T. S., Spring River district.
51. Henley, C. H., Canada mission.
52. Hudgens, J. W., released for cause.

53. Houghton, Leonard, Dakotas.
54. Hugill, R. W., Northern Michigan.
55. Hutchings, D. A., Nodaway district, Missouri.

56 Jett, T. J., Southwest Texas.

57. Johnson, L. F., released on account of ill health

58. Joehnk, C. C., Northern California district.

59. Karahoo, Noah, Indian Territory. 60. Keck, A. J., Northern Illinois.

Kemp, James, Colorado mission.

62. Keeler, E., Central California district.
63. Kelley, Uriah, Maine.
64. Layland, A. J., Rocky Mountain mission.

65. LaRue, W. E, Eastern mission.

66. Love, S. D., Spring River district.
67. McCoy, H. A., Des Moines district.
68. Mannering, W. H., Clinton district,

Missouri. 69. Metcalf, J. W., Kentucky.

o9. Metcall, J. W., Kentucky.
70. Miller, B. F., Eastern Iowa district.
71. Mortimer, J. L., Canada mission.
72. Odell, W. R., West Virginia and Northeast Kentucky.
73. Omans, F. D., Minnesota.
74. Perry, Robert, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Virginia

75. Phillips, A. B., Northern California district.

istrict.
76. Phillips, T. A., Canada mission.
77. Pickering, W. P., Oklahoma.
78. Porter, J. D., Indiana.
79. Prettyman, C. W., Nebraska.
80. Rannie, E., Colorado mission.
81. Riley, J. T., Indian Territory.
82. Roberts, J. W., Northeast Kansas dissict. trict.

83. Robinson, W. P., Wisconsin.
84. Russell, R. C., Canada mission.
85. Sawley, F. L., Nodaway district, Missouri.

86. Schreur, John, Michigan.

87. Self, Robert, Nebraska. 88. Self, W. M., Nebraska. 89. Sheldon, N. V., Galland's Grove dis-

90. Sheldon, T. J., Eastern mission.

91. Shimmel, George, referred to missionary in charge and Bishopric.
92. Smart, W. H., Northern Texas.
93. Smith, E. A., Southern California.

94. Smith, Henry C., Kirtland district, Ohio.

95. Smith, W. R., Southeastern mission. 96. Smith, W. W., Northeast Missouri district.

97. Sorensen, S. K., Des Moines district, Iowa

98. Sory, M. L., Memphis, Tennessee. 99. Southwick, Henry, Northern Illinois. 100. Sparling, William, Dakotas, to labor seven months in the year. 101. Stroh, Samuel, Southern Michigan and Northern Indiana. 102 Summerfield, William, Far West district. Missouri.

103. Sutton, J. R., Eastern Iowa district.
104. Tomlinson, G. C., Canada mission.
105. Tomlinson, Samuel, Canada mission.
106. Ullom, L. D., Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

107. Vaughn, Joseph, Northwest Kansas district.

108. Welch, C. P., Clinton district, Mis-

109. White, Alfred, Clinton district, Missouri

110. White, J. D. Independence district, Kansas City and suburbs objective point.

111. White, T. R., Clinton district, Missouri.

112. Wight, L. L., Texas. 113. Wildermuth, J. B., Colorado mission.

 Allen, D. L., Ohio.
 Baggerly, J. M., Oklahoma.
 Beebe, G. W., Northeast Kansas district.

4. Bennett, Walter, Canada mission.

Boswell, J. J., Indiana. Burr, A. E., Northern Michigan. 5. 6.

7. Corthell, Earl, Northeast Missouri district.

8. Davis, J. T., South Missouri district. 9 Davis, J. W., Eastern Michigan. 10. Fuller, W. H., Detroit, Michigan.

11. Gurwell, L. G., Northwest Kansas district:

12. Hansen, John, Northern Michigan.13. Hansen, Paul, Little Sioux district, Towa.

14. Harp, John, Southwestern Texas. 15. Irwin, E. A., Southern Michigan and Northern Indiana.

16. Knieley, Alvin, Canada mission.
17. Long, E. E., Ohio.
18. Luff, J. J., referred to missionary in charge of Colorado and Bishopric.

19. McMullin, Alex, Canada mission.
20. Nunn, J. C., Minnesota.
21. Pierce, F. J., Northeast Kansas.
22. Powell, D. E., Washington.
23. Rich, C. H., Western New York.
24. Schmidt, E. P., Central California.
25. Silvers, A. C., Clinton district, Missey.

souri.

souri.

26. Smith, S. S., Oklahoma.
27. Sweet, J. L., Eastern Michigan.
28. Stephenson, J. N., Clinton district,

Missouri. 29. Thomas, Harry, Southeast Missouri, and western part of St. Louis district.

30. Thurman, Henry, Indian Territory.

31. Upton, Alma, Oregon.
32 Washburn, G. D., Northern Michigan.
33. Williams, D. D., Clinton district, Mis-

Respectfully submitted, HEMAN C. SMITH, Secretary.

By motion the reports were adopted. A supplemental report from the Fourth Quorum of Elders was received.

Reporters of the Kansas City Journal and Times expressed appreciation for kindness shown them, and a vote of thanks was tendered by the conference to the papers for fairness shown, also the Daily News, Examiner, and Sentinel.

On separate motions the following were sustained: The First Presidency, the Quorum of Twelve, the Bishopric, the High Council, the Patriarch, the Quorums of Seventy, the Quorum of High Priests, the various quorums of Elders, the quorums of the Aaronic priesthood, the Recorder of the church and his associate, the Secretary of the church, the church Librarian, Graceland College, the Daughters of Zion, the Committee on Revision of History, the Sunday school, Religio, and the Prayer Union.

A resolution was adopted discharging committees existing on auditing bishop's books for 1891–1900, and authorizing appointment of a committee consisting of one of the Presidency, one of the Twelve, and one of the High Priests, to appoint a professional auditor to examine books and report to the committee, committee to report next General Conference. The quorums were authorized to make selection.

Bishop Kelley stated one member of Board of Publication should be in Independence, hence instead of J. A. Gunsolley, he nominated Ellis Short, Roderick May, W. N. Robinson, and H. R. Mills. Bro. Short declined. Vote resulted in selection of Bro. H. R. Mills.

By motion, Board of Publication was sustained on separate votes, Bro. Kelley being sustained as president.

The Board of Trustees of Graceland College was sustained.

The standing committees were sustained.

Ordinations were then performed as follows: F. G. Pitt, president High Priests, by Joseph Smith, F. A. Smith, first counselor, by G. T. Griffiths, and T. W. Williams, second counselor, by Joseph Smith; Alma B. Hanson, elder, by John A. Robinson; Peter Muceus, seventy, by Joseph Luff; M. H. Bond, first counselor to Bishop Bullard, by J. A. Robinson, and George H. Gates as second counselor, by G. T. Griffiths.

On motion, General Conference adjourned after reading of minutes. Benediction by President Joseph Smith.

AUTOBIOGRAPHIC SKETCH AND IN-CIDENTS IN THE EARLY HIS-TORY OF THE REOR-GANIZATION,—NO 16.

BY EDMUND C. BRIGGS, OF THE QUORUM OF THE TWELVE.

"Sunday, 31st.—This morning I am still very ill—sick all night, but not yet willing to give up. I sat at the breakfast table, but I was soon taken so deathly sick I asked to be excused and retired to a new house Bro. Beebe was building, where I lay down on the bed and said these words: 'O Lord, my God, I am on a mission appointed of thee. I do not know any wrong I have done. I have tried to do right, and I have suffered most of the time since the day I left Burlington; have walked most of the way across the state in pain except when in meeting and when bearing testimony of thy work. I am near my special field of labor, and I am sick, too sick to fill my mission. I have prayed and sought for help, and none has come to me except when I am telling of thy work and presenting the gospel of Christ to my fellowmen. I cannot ask any more for help until I know why I am so severely afflicted and sorely tried in my patience. If I am at fault I do not know it, and I will now suffer until relief comes to rescue me.'"

I felt resigned to whatever might be my fate, much cast down and discouraged, yet trusting in the Lord, for it was impossible for me to doubt but that the rich blessings I had often received from his hands were indeed all they professed to be, indeed the providences of God to me, and whether they were or not, the excellency of the knowledge I had received through the blessings of the gospel of Jesus Christ, I knew exceedingly far surpassed any benefit that could accrue through any system devised among mortal men, and I could not deny my hope in Christ and still be conscientious in my integrity and love of right principles. While I was thus meditating over my condition, so frail and weak, and the sad condition of the church, then in the wilderness of fear and doubt, humiliated and disgraced through the latter-day apostasy, Bro. Blair came to the door of the room where I lay, sick and distressed, and said, "Bro. Briggs, let us go and take a walk." I knew what he wanted. We had often gone together to have our season of prayer in the silent forests or shade of the lonely, scattering trees of the fields. "What shall I say?" came as a flash to my mind. I had but just said to the Lord himself I would pray no more until I knew where the fault was, (and, my dear reader, while I pen these lines, I confess I then felt it was not fair for the Lord to bless me only when I was engaged in his service actually in conversation upon the principles of the gospel of Jesus Christ, and then let me suffer all the rest of the time, when I was traveling or seeking rest from the fatigue of the day's tedious journey across the state,) but I readily decided to go with Bro. Blair and hear him pray, though it was a great task to walk to the lonely tree of Bro. Beebe's field. We knelt together, as we had so often done before. His fervent prayer reached the heavens, but I was silent knees, and after some little conversation he said:—

"I had an impression as I arose from the breakfast table that if we would go by ourselves and have prayer and I should administer to you, that you would recover your health."

I replied: "I do not feel worthy now to receive such a blessing, for I have told the Lord this very morning that I would not pray to him any more for my health."

He continued: "Well, if you will allow me to administer to you, I will do so." He then prayed again and anointed my head with oil, and while his hands were still on me, the Holy Spirit came to me in mighty power and I was well—I did not begin to recover, but I was strong and well from that very moment. I have felt to be particular in giving the details of this remarkable incident of my life for several reasons. It did not then occur to my mind why the Lord permitted me to suffer in this manner for so long. I had often read in the scriptures of Jesus,

Though he were a Son, yet learned he obedience by the things which he suffered.
—Hebrews 5:8.

And of Job:-

Then Satan answered the Lord, and said, Doth Job fear God for naught? . . . And the Lord said unto Satan, Behold he is in thine hand, but save his life. (See Job 1:9-12 and 2:6, inclusive.)

But I had never applied such lessons to myself. It is very well to read those wonderful events, and many thousands more that can be referred to, as experiences of those men of God, but oh! it is another thing to have them to endure yourself. I will just add here briefly that this sad experience of suffering so long, and the sudden relief under the circumstances, have never been erased from my memory, neither have I forgotten that the power of God is indeed mighty to save—save from all suffering and pain. Since that happy moment I have never suffered from the headache. I may have had some little symptoms of headache through indiscretion in eating, or severe cold, but thank the Lord, such suffering as I had been subject to for so long in that tedious journey in my mission has never since come to my lot to endure. Oh, why should I doubt the power of God, and his willingness to help his children in our day, as well as is so fully attested and believed in by the whole Christian world as things so common in the first century of the Christian era. It is unbelief and disobedience that have bereft the world of these wonderful gifts of the Holy Ghost. But to return to the theme of this sketch.

reached the heavens, but I was silent Bro. Blair and I returned to the and listened. We arose from our house just in time to accompany Elder Calvin Beebe to his appointment. After he had opened meeting in the usual manner, he introduced us to his congregation as men of God, saying, "By the spirit I am of, I discern that they have the Spirit of Christ, and the message they bring is good news," and then called on me to occupy the time, and gave the meeting into our hands. I spoke briefly of the rise of the church in 1830, of its wonderful and rapid progress in numbers for the first fourteen years; of the threatenings of the Lord to reject it if not faithful, and of the disaster that followed the martyrdom of the choice seer on the 27th of June, 1844. and of its rejection as an organization, which affected its quorums as such, and they were broken up and scattered; but as members of the church, all who continued in the integrity of their hearts were still accepted of God, as is suggested in the language of the revelation which says:--

Behold, this is my doctrine: Whosoever repenteth and cometh unto me, the same is my church.—Doctrine and Covenants 3:16 Hence, as in the case of the abandonment of Israel from Jerusalem and their rejection as a government in Babylon for seventy years, yet Daniel, Haggai, and other prophets received the word of the Lord concerning their deliverance, so has the Lord said to us scattered latter-day Israel that the blessing of the choice seer should descend to his seed after him, not after any of those false shepherds who have risen during the dark and cloudy day of the apostasy, and that the Lord had indeed through the gift of prophecy revealed to us that Joseph would be called to take his father's place, as it is his right by lineage and blessing.

Bro. Blair then in a clear, definite manner set forth the law of lineage governing the whole matter of authority. He was lit us by the spirit of argument and doctrine, which carried conviction to the whole audience. The meeting continued two hours. Brn. W. H. Kelley and Hougas, now of Lamoni, and Bro. Newberry were in that meeting.

A brother, James Badham, a young man, spoke in tongues and testified that indeed we were servants of the Lord, bearing the glad tidings of the gospel. Bro. John Smith predicted that we should lay the foundation of a great work in western Iowa, and said many things to comfort us in our mission. The meeting was held at the home of Bro. Newton Richards.

Levi Graybill and others spoke. All seemed to recognize that indeed we had the same Spirit that they enjoyed when they first embraced the gospel in the days of Joseph, as many of them had been well acquainted with the choice seer.

"Monday morning, August 1, 1859.—O, I am so well I cannot be thankful enough. This is the first day I have felt well in body since the 27th day of June. To appreciate health is to be deprived of it for a time. This beautiful day Bro. Graybill has kindly volunteered to take us to Council Bluffs, twenty-five miles.

"In the evening we held meeting at Bro. George Graybill's, five miles from the Bluffs, with twenty-five of the old Saints present. They manifest interest in the latter-day work, though very much discouraged. They have seen so much evil among those who claimed to be Saints, it has nearly discouraged them.

"Tuesday, 2d.—At Council Bluffs. Here we received a letter from Bro. Z. H. Gurley, of Henderson Grove, Illinois. He is very much cheered in our hope. Bro. Blair also received a letter from his wife, Lizzie, which brings the sad news of their little daughter, Fannie, being very sick. I see by the tone and spirit of her letter she thinks there is no hope for her recovery, but adds: 'We have everything we need but you, and we have received the gift of prophecy that the Lord is with you, also that Satan has accompanied you on your mission to Iowa.' When I read this letter I received evidence by the Holy Spirit that the little one would be taken from the evil to come. She was one of the most affectionate and bright children I had ever seen, and I felt in my heart if Bro. and Sr. Blair knew the wisdom of God in taking the little one to himself, they would be glad, though the parting be a great trial. And I also felt to realize indeed the truthfulness of the statement, 'Satan has accompanied you on your mission to Iowa.' The passages in Job 1:6 and Revelation 12:10-12 came to my mind. Up to this time I have not realized that the Devil and evil spirit were constantly on the alert to hinder the work of God everywhere as I do today, and I do not wonder now so much at the command of Jesus when he said, 'Pray lest ye enter into temptation; and again, when he taught his disciples to pray, Suffer us not to be led into temptation.' (See also Daniel 10:13, 14.) All these passages of Holy Writ prove that intelligent beings, of what we call the unseen world, are all alive to the interests of this world for either weal or woe, and he who comprehends the things of this world only, truly cannot see the kingdom of God, as attested by our Lord and Master. With these comforting thoughts we now feel that we are fully enlisted in the heart of our mission, and today we visit my brother, Edwin Briggs, who lives three miles north of the city, and have an appointment for meeting tomorrow evening.

"Friday, August 5.-We visited Florence, Nebraska, known as Winter Quarters, and met several families of Saints who have just returned from Salt Lake, Utah. They are firm in the faith of the gospel, but have renounced Brigham Young as an impostor, and his polygamy, with all its kindred doctrines, as the works of darkness. Also visited Sr. Walker, who lives in the little village. She is a daughter of the patriarch, Hyrum Smith. She says: 'I am in the faith of ancient Mormonism, as it is called, but no faith in Brighamism.' called on many of the old members of the church during the day, and returned to my brother's in the evening.

"Saturday, August 6.—In the city. Today we visited quite a number who have just returned from Salt Lake. They denounced Young as a wicked man, and are now looking for deliverance and expecting Joseph Smith to take his father's blessing and be the president of the church.

"Bro. Richard Golden today made me a present of the Book of Covenants, which I very much needed.

"Sunday, 7th.—Held meetings at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. at the Allen schoolhouse, near Wick's mills. Brethren here are very cold and indifferent, but we had a large audience. Brn. Samuel Waldo and Jonathan Heywood, who are old members of the church and used to live in Nauvoo, are all alive in the work and welcomed us and our mission with joy."

(Continued.)

IS THERE A CONTRADICTION?—NO. I. BY ISAAC M. SMITH.

Since the publication of tract No. 17, "The Atonement of Christ and the Final Destiny of Man," some of my brethren have asked me to harmonize the position set forth in said tract with the teaching of the Book of Mormon. And, while I make no pretentions to being an adept at "splitting hard knots," I am always willing to give others the benefit of what little light I may have been able to gather from the study of God's word. And I do so the more readily because I feel myself indebted to others for nearly all of the little light I have. I am not an original thinker. But I promised those brethren to comply, if possible, with their request and, since then, have been giving the matter some little attention. having examined the matter as critically as I was capable of doing, in the length of time devoted to the work, I have become more thoroughly convinced than ever before that there is no contradiction.

That there are "some things hard to be understood" (2 Peter 3:16), I frankly concede; but as the same is true of Paul's writings, some of them at least, we should not hastily reject simply because we cannot understand. We know only "in part," brethren, and are still compelled to "see through a glass darkly;" but, if we continue in the faith, we may hope, "when that which is perfect is come," to "see face to face" and to "know even also as we are known."

In attempting to write on this subject, I assure you I have no pet theory to sustain; and feeling sure that nothing but the truth will stand the final test, I shall try to refrain from putting any "private interpretation" upon the word of God. When I shall stand before the Judge of all the earth, it would be humiliating, indeed, to there learn that I had been in the dark myself; but it would be far more humiliating to there learn that I had been the means of leading others into the dark, and that my life had been simply another example of the blind leading the blind. And believing that I fully realize this, I shall strive to write in the fear of the Lord. and shall hope for sufficient light to prevent my teaching anything that would cause my brethren to stumble, even though my effort may not be entirely free from error.

THE NEPHITES WERE VERY HARD HEARTED.

Inasmuch as the Apostle Paul said to the Corinthian saints,—

And I, brethren, could not speak unto you as unto spiritual, but as unto carnal, even as unto babes in Christ. I have fed you with milk, and not with meat; for hitherto ye were not able to bear it, neither yet now are ye able (1 Cor. 3: 1, 2),— and inasmuch as the Savior said to his disciples,—

I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now (John 16:12),—it will be necessary for us to know what kind of people the Nephites were, in order to properly understand that which was spoken to them; and I shall therefore call your attention to the testimony of some of their prophets respecting their peculiar dispositions. (I quote altogether from the large print edition of the Book of Mormon.)

And the people were a stiff-necked people, hard to understand. And there was nothing save it was exceeding harshness, preaching and prophesying of wars, and contentions, and destructions, and continually reminding them of death, and the duration of eternity, and the judgments and the power of God; and all these things stirring them up continually, to keep them in the fear of the Lord. I say there was nothing short of these things, and exceeding great plainness of speech, would keep them from going down speedily to destruction.—Enos 1:27-29.

(All italics in the above and subsequent quotations are mine; and are used simply for emphasis, with no intention of changing the sense.)

Now this great evil, which came upon the people because of their iniquity did stir them up again in remembrance of the Lord their God. . . . And thus we see, that except the Lord doth chasten his people with many afflictions, yea, except he doth visit them with death, and with terror, and with famine, and with all manner of pestilences, they will not remember him.—Helaman 4: 39, 47.

And Nephi said of his brethren:

And there was nothing, save it were the power of God, which threatened them with destruction, could soften their hearts.—1 Nephi 5:123.

The foregoing statements, others of a similar import, in different parts of the book, give us an idea of what kind of people the Lord had to deal with, and also of the kind of teaching best suited to their peculiar dispositions. Hence, if you have been inclined to think that the writers of the Book of Mormon used strong language, in portraying the punishment of the wicked, and in threatening the people with destruction, you will please bear in mind that "nothing short of these things" would "soften their hearts," and "keep them in the fear of the Lord;" that it was only by "continually reminding them" of "the judgments of God," and the "duration of eternity," that they were kept "from going down speedily to destruction." And, if our Savior and the Apostle Paul withheld many things from the people, until they were sufficiently developed in the divine life to comprehend them, we should expect the Nephite prophets to use the same discretion in teaching the people on this continent; and I am sure they did so. They "kept back nothing that was profitable" unto the people, but at the same time they refrained from giving them that which they were "not able to bear."

With the foregoing description of the peculiar disposition of that people before us, let us now investigate the teaching of the Book of Mormon respecting the final destiny of man.

THOSE WHO HAVE SINNED THROUGH IGNORANCE.

Of those who have never had the law of God, the Book of Mormon says:—

And where there is no law given there is no punishment; and where there is no punishment there is no condemnation; and where there is no condemnation, the mercies of the Holy One of Israel have claim upon them, because of the atonement: for they are delivered by the power of him: for the atonement satisfieth he demands of his justice upon all those who have not his law given to them, that they are delivered from that awful monster, death and hell, and the devil, and the lake of fire and brimstone, which is endless torment; and they are restored to that God who gave them breath, which is the Holy One of Israel.—2 Nephi 6: 24.

There is no misunderstanding this, surely; for it is clear, pointed, and full of mercy. The atonement of Christ satisfies the "demands of justice upon all those who have not his law given unto them," and for them there is "no condemnation" and "no punishment," but they are restored to that God who gave them breath."

Another writer says of this class:-

And these are those who have part in the first resurrection; and these are they that have died before Christ came, in their ignorance, not having salvation declared unto them. And thus the Lord bringeth about the restoration of these; and they have a part in the first resurrection, or have eternal life, being redeemed by the Lord. And little children also have eternal life.—Mosiah 8: 42-44.

"Not only is there "no condemnation" and "no punishment" for this class, but "they have part in the first resurrection," and "have eternal life."

And Mormon testifies as follows:-

For behold that all little children are alive in Christ, and also all they that are without the law. For the power of redemption cometh on all they that have no law; wherefore, he that is not condemned, or he that is under no condemnation, cannot repent; and unto such baptism availeth nothing.—Moroni 8: 25, 26.

All those who are without law are placed upon the same basis as little children; they are free from condemnation, cannot repent, are alive in Christ, and are to have "part in the first resurrection." So far, all is clear. But there is another class of people who have the law, and yet they are as ignorant of God and his will as many of the heathens; and this, to my mind, is the class of people represented in this text:—

For behold, and also his blood atoneth for the sins of those who have fallen by the transgression of Adam, who have died not knowing the will of God concerning them, or who have ignorantly sinned.—Mosiah 1:66.

This class of people have "sinned," and hence they have "sins;" and sin is the "transgression of the law" (1 John 3:4). To assume that they did not have the law is to assume that they had not transgressed the law; and to assume that they had not transgressed the law is to assume that they had not "sinned;" and that would contradict the text quoted, for it says they had sinned. It is true they have ignorantly sinned, but they have sinned; and the blood of Christ atones for their sins, too, even though they have died "not knowing the will of God concerning them." In fact, there are but few sinners who do know the will of God concerning them; there are but few, comparatively, and they are the ones who willfully rebel against God, after he has revealed his will to them. For proof of this I shall call your attention to some who have "ignorantly sinned." When our Savior was being crucified, he prayed for those who murdered him as follows:-

Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do.—Luke 23:34.

And this does not apply alone to the Roman soldiers, for Peter said:—

And now, brethren, I wot that through ignorance ye did it, as did also your rulers.—Acts 3:17.

And Paul says of the same thing:—
For they that dwell at Jerusalem, and their rulers, because they knew him not, nor yet the voices of the prophets which are read every sabbath day, they have fulfilled them in condemning him.—Acts 13:27.

The Savior said "they know not what they do;" Peter said they did it "through ignorance;" and Paul says the reason they did it was "because they knew him not," and also because they did not know "the voices of the prophets," although the prophets were read in their synagogues every sabbath. And because of this ignorance Jesus said, "Father, forgive them." And Paul's testimony, as to their not knowing "the voices of the prophets, which are read every sabbath day," proves what I have written: that some who have the law are as ignorant of God's will as the heathen. You may think that this people were so wicked they would have crucified the Savior, even if they had known; but Paul says not. Hear him:-

For had they known it, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.—1 Cor. 2:8.

Had they known "the wisdom of God," that is, "the will of God concerning them," they would not have committed this horrible sin. Hence they "ignorantly sinned," and "his blood atoneth for the sins of those . . . who have died not knowing the will of God concerning them."

And the Savior tells his disciples that they shall be persecuted about as he was, and for the same reason:-

But all these things will they do unto you for my name's sake, because they know not him that sent me.—John 15: 21.

And again:-

They shall put you out of the synagogues: yea, the time cometh, that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service. And these things will they do unto you, because they have not known the Father, nor me.—John 16:2, 3.

Now, if those who killed the followers of our Savior thought they were "doing God service," there can be no doubt that they "ignorantly sinned;" and, if they "ignorantly sinned" and then "died, not knowing the will of God concerning them," the Book of Mormon teaches that the blood of Christ atones for their sins.

I shall call your attention to one noted example of those who ignorantly persecuted the saints: the Apostle Paul. When Stephen was stoned to death, "the witnesses laid down their clothes at a young man's feet, whose name was Saul." (Acts 7:58.)

And Saul was consenting unto his death .-

As for Saul, he made havoc of the church. entering into every house, and hailing men and women, committed them to prison. Acts 8:3 (See also Acts 9:1, 13, 14.)

And his own testimony of his persecuting the saints is as follows:

And I persecuted this way unto the death, binding and delivering into prisons both men and women. -Acts 22: 4.

I verily thought within myself, that I ought to do many things contrary to the name of Jesus of Nazareth. Which things I also did in Jerusalem: and many of the saints did I shut up in prison, having received au thority from the chief priests; and when they were put to death, I gave my voice against them. And I punished them oft in every synagogue, and compelled them to blaspheme; and being exceedingly mad against them, I persecuted them even unto strange cities.—Acts 26: 9-11.

That man had the law of God, and was "taught according to the perfect manner of the law of the fathers, and was zealous toward God" (Acts 22: 3); he was doing what he says, "I verily thought I ought to do," and hence had "lived in all good conscience before God until this day" (Acts 23:1). And in referring to his being put in the ministry, he says of himself: -

Who was before a blasphemer, and a persecutor, and injurious; but I obtained mercy, because I did it ignorantly in unbelief.—1 Tim. 1:13.

It is true that Paul repented while in this life, but many of his associates in persecuting the Saints did not repent in this life; and many of those who helped to murder the Savior continued to be as they were then, bitter enemies to the gospel; and yet the Savior said, "Father. forgive them." Will his prayer ever be answered?

I would not have you think that these sinners stand upon the same basis as those who have no law. Far from it. These sinners were "under condemnation," and they have to take their "punishment," too. The Savior said:

He that believeth on him is not condemned; but he that believeth not is condemed already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God. And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil.-John 3:18, 19.

They were "condemned already," because they were walking in the dark when they might have been walking in the light. But they "would not," and hence they must suffer:-

And when he was come near, he beheld the city, and wept over it, saying, If thou hadst known, even then, at least in this thy day, the things which belong unto thy peace! but now they are hid from thine eyes. -Luke

They did not know "the things which belong unto thy peace," for they were "hid from thine eyes;" and the Savior goes right on and tells them that the day shall come when their enemies shall come and destroy them and their city, laying them "level with the ground." And he says the cause of this would be, "because thou knewest not the time of thy visitation" (v. 44).

No, I would not have you believe that people of this class were free from condemnation; neither would I have you believe that they will not be punished; the Book of Mormon does not teach that, neither does the Bible.

will of God concerning them;" and the Book of Mormon does teach that the blood of Christ atones for the sins of that class of people; and the Savior's prayer, "Father, forgive them," is certainly in harmony with the teaching of the Book of Mormon. I do not ask you to believe that they shall "have part in the first resurrection," for the Book of Mormon does not so teach. I do not ask you to believe that they shall escape punishment in the world to come, for the Book of Mormon does not teach that. All I ask you to believe is that the blood of Christ atones for their sins, and that sometime, somewhere, and in some way, they will, through the power of that atonement, "be saved" and brought "unto the knowledge of the truth" (1 Tim 2:4).

THOSE WHO WILLFULLY SIN.

Leaving, for the present, those "who have ignorantly sinned," I shall call your attention to a different class of sinners: those who willfully and knowingly sin against God. Of this class King Benjamin says:

But O my people, beware lest there shall arise contentions among you, and ye list to obey the evil spirit, which was spoken of by my father Mosiah. For behold, there is a my father Mosiah. For behold, there is a wo pronounced upon him who listeth to obey that spirit: for if he listeth to obey him, and remaineth and dieth in his sins, the same drinketh damnation to his own soul; for he receiveth for his wages an everlasting punishment, having transgressed the law of God, contrary to his own knowledge.—Mosiah 1:45, 46.

The word list means to "desire; will; like." And, if a man desires to obey the evil one, and wills to do so, "contrary to his own knowledge," no power could prevent his doing so without taking from him his agency; and if he persists in that course, "remaineth and dieth in his sins," the blood of Christ does not and will not When he dies, atone for his sins. that is the end of his probation.

A little further on the same speaker savs:-

And now, I say unto you, my brethren, that after ye have known and have been taught all these things, if ye should transgress, and go contrary to that which has been spoken, that ye do withdraw yourselves from the Spirit of the Lord, that it may have no place in you to guide you in wisdom's paths, that ye may be blessed, prospered, and preserved. I say unto you, that the man that doeth this, the same cometh out in open rebellion against God; therefore he listeth to obey the evil spirit, and becometh an enemy to all righteousness; therefore, the Lord has no place in him, for he dwelleth not in unholy temples.—Mosiah 1: 49, 50.

Those who "have known" the truth, and have then completely withdrawn themselves from the Spirit of God, so that it has no place whatever in them: they are the ones who list to obey the evil spirit; and, when they will to so do, they come out in rebellion against God. They become enemies to all But they "ignorantly sinned," and righteousness. They know the will many of them "died, not knowing the of God concerning themselves, and yet they desire and will to live in sin. And the speaker says of such:—

Therefore, if that man repenteth not, and remaineth and dieth an enemy to God, the demands of divine justice doth awaken his immortal soul to a lively sense of his own guilt, which doth cause him to shrink from the presence of the Lord, and doth fill his breast with guilt, and pain, and anguish, which is like an unquenchable fire, whose flames ascendeth up forever and ever. And now I say unto you, that mercy hath no claim on that man; therefore, his final doom is to endure a never ending torment.—Mosiah 1: 51, 52.

Verse 51, like verse 46, limits his probation to this earth life; for, after death, "mercy hath no claim on that man." And it is the same speaker who goes on to say:—

For behold, and also his blood atoneth for the sins of those who have fallen by the transgression of Adam, who have died not knowing the will of God concerning them, or who have ignorantly sinned" (v. 66).

But he immediately adds:-

But wo, wo unto him who knoweth that he rebelleth against God; for salvation cometh to none such, except it be through repentance and faith on the Lord Jesus Christ" (v. 67).

King Benjamin draws the line very clearly between those "who have ignorantly sinned" and those who have come out in "open rebellion against God;" the blood of Christ atoneth for the sins" of the first, but "mercy hath no claim" on the latter. And his teaching and Paul's are the same. Paul says that God "will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth" (1 Tim. 2: 4). And he also says that "if we sin willfully after that we have received the knowledge of the truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins" (Heb. 10: 26).

There is no disagreement here.

Turning again to the Book of Mormon, I shall call your attention to the testimony of Abinadi. After telling his hearers that little children and those who died before Christ came, "not having salvation declared unto them," are to "have part in the first resurrection," he says:—

But behold, and fear, and tremble before God; for ye ought to tremble: for the Lord redeemeth none such that rebel against him, and die in their sins; yea, even all those that have perished in their sins ever since the world began, that have willfully rebelled against God, that have known the commandments of God, and would not keep them; these are they that have no part in the first resurrection. Therefore had ye not ought to tremble? For salvation cometh to none such; for the Lord hath redeemed none such; yea, neither can the Lord redeem such: for he cannot deny justice when it has its claim.—Mosiah 8:45-47.

The prophet is here speaking of those who "rebel against him, and die in their sins;" of those who have "known the commandments of God" and "willfully rebelled;" these are to have "no part in the first resurrection;" "salvation cometh to none such;" "the Lord hath redeemed none such," and 7:21.

"neither can the Lord redeem such." He cannot "redeem such" because they have been redeemed once, and having forfeited all claim to the benefits of that redemption, "there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins," and hence "mercy hath no claim on that man."

In verse 51 he speaks of the wicked being cast out at the final judgment, and says, "the Lord redeemeth them not;" that they are carnal, sensual, and devilish, "knowing good from evil, subjecting themselves to the devil." The same class of people of whom he is speaking in verses 45 and 47. In verses 53 and 54 he says that those who are in "rebellion against God" shall remain in their "fallen state" and be "as though there was no redemption made," and that the Devil shall have all power over them. Read these two verses in connection with verses 45 and 47, and there will be no trouble in understanding them.

Verse 60, however, may require something more than a passing notice; and yet it is quite clear, if examined closely and in connection with what has already been quoted. Abinadi is speaking of the resurrection, and of people being brought to stand before the bar of God to be judged according to their works; and he says:—

If they be good, to the resurrection of endless life and happiness, and if they be evil, to the resurrection of endless damnation, being delivered up to the devil, who hath subjected them which is damnation; having gone according to their own carnal wills and desires; having never called upon the Lord while the arms of mercy were extended towards them; for the arms of mercy were extended towards them, and they would not; they being warned of their iniquities, and yet they would not depart from them; and they were commanded to repent, and yet they would not repent.—Mosiah 8:60.

Please note that those who come forth "to the resurrection of endless damnation" have not been deceived nor blinded, so far as their knowledge of the truth is concerned, but have "gone according to their own carnal wills and desires." And you will remember that the word list means to "desire, will, like;" and that the man who "listeth to obey the evil spirit," the same "cometh out in open rebellion against God," and that his final doom is "to endure a never ending torment." And as those of whom the prophet is here speaking had desired and willed to go contrary to the commandments of God, they must be of those who "rebel against him, and die in their sins." Yes, I know that Abinadi says of them, "having never called upon the Lord while the arms of mercy were extended towards them." But let us see to whom and of whom the prophet was speaking. The Lord said to him:-

Go forth and say unto this people.—Mosiah 7: 21.

Abinadi, go and prophesy unto this my people.—Mosiah 7:31.

Please notice that the Lord here calls them "my people."

Now Abinadi said unto him: I say unto you, I will not recall the words which I have spoken unto you concerning this people.—Mosiah 9:11.

The Lord told him to go and prophesy "unto this my people;" and Abinadi, when he, had delivered the message, said he would not recall the words which he had spoken "concerning this people." And "this people" had been humble and righteous at one time. (See Mosiah 6:17, 34, 43.) But they had been deceived by King Noah and his priests, and had become idolatrous. (See Mosiah 7: 10.) Their eyes were blinded, (Mosiah 7:29,) and they hardened their hearts against the word of the Lord. But they were not deceived nor blinded, so far as their knowledge of the truth is concerned, for Abinadi said unto them:-

Know ye not that I speak the truth? Yea, ye know that I speak the truth; and ye ought to tremble before God.—Mosiah 7:62, 63.

They had been blinded and deceived, and led into abominations by their leaders, just as many of God's people were in the latter-day apostasy; but they still retained a knowledge of the truth sufficient to know it when it was spoken unto them. One of the accusations brought against them was that they had been guilty of "perverting the ways of the Lord" (v. 56); and, if they knew they were "perverting the ways of the Lord," and Abinadi said they did know it-then they were willfully rebelling against God. And Abinadi says to them, as already quoted: "But behold, and fear and tremble before God; for ye ought to tremble." But why had they ought to tremble? Listen to Abinadi's answer: "For the Lord redeemeth none such that rebel against him and die in their sins." (Mosiah 8: 45.) You will notice that their probation is extended, even after they rebel against him, possibly to the end of their lives. And that agrees with King Benjamin, when he says if that man "remaineth and dieth in his sins," that "mercy hath no claim" on him. (See Mosiah 1:46, 51.)

Now those people, to whom Abinadi was speaking, had rebelled against God; and if they should "die in their sins" (v. 45), they must come forth "to the resurrection of endless damnation;" but at that time, the arms of mercy were being "extended toward them," and the Lord was calling on them, from time to time, to repent. But if they refuse to do so,—refuse to depart from their sins, and die in this condition, "having never called upon the Lord while the arms of mercy were extended towards them," -then "mercy hath no claim" them. And, as Abinadi said, he had spoken these words "concerning this people," we are not at liberty to apply them to any other people, only those who are in the same condition.

Another very clear illustration of what willful rebellion is, we find in the Book of Nephi. He says:-

Now they did not sin ignorantly, for they knew the will of God concerning them, for it had been taught unto them; therefore they did willfully rebel against God.-Nephi, Son of Nephi, 3:14.

Please read Mosiah 1:66 again, and compare carefully with the above.

This people "did not sin ignorantly," and he explains why they did not: "for they knew the will of God concerning them." And they had been a righteous people, too, for he says "they did yield themselves unto the power of Satan" (v. 28), had "turned from their righteousness, like the dog to his vomit" (v. 30), and that he had been an "eye witness to their quick return from righteousness unto their wickedness and abominations" (v. 37).

And in the Book of Nephi, the son of Nephi, we have this:-

And they did not dwindle in unbelief, but they did willfully rebel against the gospel of Christ.—Nephi, the Disciple, 1:31.

A clear distinction is made between those who "sin ignorantly" or "dwindle in unbelief" and those who "willfully rebel against God;" and that distinction is kept before the reader all through the book. Nephi said to the

But behold, ye have rejected the truth, and rebelled against your holy God.—Helaman 3:51.

But they knew the truth, when they rejected it; for he had just been telling them of the coming of Christ, that "he is God," and that he had manifested himself unto their fathers; and he said:-

And now seeing ye know these things and cannot deny them, except ye shall lie.—Hela-

He also tells them that the Lamanites "have not sinned against that great knowledge which ye have received" (v. 18). Not only this, but he says they have "forgotten your God in the very day that he has delivered you" (v. 14), and that they had "turned out of the way of righteousness" (2:135).

These texts give us a fairly good idea of what the writers of the Book of Mormon mean when they use such expressions as "perverting the ways of the Lord," "rejected the truth," "rejected the word of God," "rebelled against God," or "willfully rebelled against God." They do not refer to the man who has "ignorantly sinned," and then "died not knowing the will of God concerning" himself; but they refer to the man who has done these things knowingly and willfully, "contrary to his own knowledge." if that man persists in his rebellion, "remaineth and dieth an enemy to God," he will be just "as though there was no redemption made," "for the Lord hath redeemed none such; yea, neither can the Lord redeem such."

Probation, with those who rebel against God, ends with this life; and it may, through extreme wickedness, end before death. The Prophet Samuel after telling the people of the great calamities which would come upon them, and how they would weep and mourn, says:-

But behold, your days of probation are past: ye have procrastinated the day of your salvation, until it is everlastingly too late, and your destruction is made sure.-Helaman 5:29.

This was in the eighty-sixth year of the reign of the judges. Twenty years before this, the people were righteous; but in the sixty-sixth year of the reign of the judges, they began to turn away from the Lord, and it was only a short time till "the more part of them had turned out of the way of righteousness" (Helaman 2: 135), and "the Spirit of the Lord began to withdraw from the Nephites" (v. 139). And Nephi said to them, in the sixty-ninth year, that "ye have rejected the truth, and rebelled against your Holy God" Helaman 3: 51); and in the seventy-sixth year, the people repented, humbled themselves before the Lord, and were greatly (See Helaman 4:13-26.) blessed. But in the seventy-eighth year they began to indulge in contentions and strifes, and so continued until, in the eighty-first year, they were stirred up "again in remembrance of the Lord their God" (Helaman 4:39), by the afflictions which the Lord permitted to come upon them. The next year, however, "they began again to forget the Lord their God" (v. 41), and were soon very wicked again. And, four years later, the Lord said that "except they repent I will take away my word from them, and I will withdraw my Spirit from them, and will suffer them no longer" (Helaman 5:7); and then would be the time when Samuel says "your days of probation are past" (v. 29). (Continued.)

AN EVENING PARLANCE BETWEEN A MORTAL AND IMMORTAL SOULIST.

THE SOUL.

Mortal Soulist. — Well, neighbor Smith, having learned that you are much interested in religion, I have come over to have a talk with you upon the same.

Immortal Soulist.—I am very glad indeed, neighbor Jones, that you have come. I have been feeling somewhat lonely this evening, and wishing that evening with me; and I must confess that the subject of religion is very dear to me. I try, as Paul has counseled, to "be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh a reason of the hope that is in you."

M. S.—Yes; I, too, very much appreciate Paul's advice, and shall be pleased to follow that style of argument directed of the Lord, through the prophet Isaiah, wherein he says: "Produce your cause, saith the Lord; bring forth your strong reasons, saith the king of Jacob."

I. S.-State your position, Bro. Jones, and I will tell you whether there is any issue between us or not.

M. S.—I am a firm believer in what may be properly called "mortal soulism." This provides that there is nothing immortal in the nature of man, as he exists in the present state; that is, all consciousness ceases with the death of the body. I suppose that you believe in the dogma that there is a conscious entity in man, which survives the death of the body, do you not?

I. S.—Yes sir; barring the odious sense in which you seem to use the word dogma, or as Paul puts it, "the inward man."

M. S.—I fully understand your position, without you bringing in that inindefinable and incomprehensible expression, "the inward man." You no doubt remember that Peter said, "Bro. Paul hath written some things hard to be understood." And this is evidently one of them. If it meets your pleasure, I shall be pleased to examine this question with you in a philosophical way.

I. S.—All right, Bro. Jones, proceed.

M. S.—We may very properly compare man to a piece of well-adjusted machinery, say a steam engine for illustration. His consciousness—inillustration. telligence—is the result of quickened organism. The engine is as lifeless as the material from which it was made, till the steam is applied, then motion—life—is the result. So when the "breath of life," is applied to man, "breathed into his nostrils," he is thereby quickened, and consciousness is the natural result.

I. S.—To the utmost extent of our cognizance it is known to be an incontrovertible fact, that intelligence is self existent, and preëxistent to organism; and that organism is dependent upon or resultant from intelligence. How could organism come into existence except through or by intelligence? Or in more simple language, how can matter come into an organized form without an organizer? Does not a design pre-suppose a designer? And furthermore, if intelligence were the result of quickened organism, then it must someone would drop in and spend the be proportionate to the degree quickening. So if a dead body (one from which life had just become extinct, but yet possessing perfect organism) should be quickened by artificial means, as they frequently are, it would manifest intelligence proportionate to the degree of quickening. But as it does not do this, it is conclusive proof that consciousness does not come of quickened organism. Now let us examine that beautiful figure—the steam engine—that you chose to illustrate this by. While the engine is the organism through which power (life) and motion are manifested, there is an intelligent entity that presides over the engine and applies the steam that quickens the organism; and a manifestation of such power (intelligence) is the result. So it is with man.

M. S.—It is a fact beyond disputation that concussion of the brain produces non consciousness. Now to illustrate this proposition and "clinch a nail" in the argument, let me say, that should a person receive a light blow upon the head, partial insensibility would be the result thereof; and should a second blow be dealt just a little harder, the state of insensibility would be just a little more complete; and should a third blow be dealt still harder, the state of insensibility would be almost entirely com-Then when the fourth and final blow should be dealt, true philosophy says that consciousness would be extinct. While the philosophy (?) of immortal soulism would have it that consciousness would gradually decrease with the severity and repetition of the blows, till the final stroke which produces death, would in some inexplainable way have an entirely opposite effect to the other blows, and restore him very suddenly to a full and complete state of consciousness Now when you succeed in again. "cracking this nut," just let me know, will you?

I. S.—Your course of reasoning upon this topic would be quite logical indeed were it not for the fact that it is based wholly upon a false premise. This being the case, your deduction is worthless. And before you ask me to accept the conclusion, you should establish the premise. Were consciousness resultant of quickened organism, then your conclusion would be all right; but as it is, it is all wrong. But when we understand that there is an intelligent "spirit in man," then we can comprehend how concussion of the brain affects the The manifestation of intelligence. avenues of communication with the outer world are obstructed, and possibly closed; hence intelligence, manifestation, is impaired and possibly extinct, proportionate to the degree of concussion. To illustrate this in a ling their old companion parts for a practical way, we will say that when grand reunion? And another objecthe optic nerve is affected by concussion of the brain, sight is impaired, and possibly destroyed. The question arises: Is the intelligence of man lessened or destroyed by this obstruction of the optic nerve, or is it simply a lessened manifestation of consciousness. Is not that inward consciousness just as active when our eyes are closed as when they are open? Let us carry this still farther, and suppose that the function of the auditory nerve is also destroyed by this concussion, so that there is no consciousness manifested in hearing. Is that evidence that intelligence is extinct? And so you may continue in this way till you have closed every avenue of the spirit's communication with the outer world, and inward consciousness will still exist, until the spirit takes its flight, and "returns to God who gave it." Now, were consciousness — intelligence — resultant from quickened organism, man would have no agency at all. His acts would be in perfect harmony with his organism. and morally he would not be responsible. His actions would be good or bad, owing to his peculiar mental make-up. The organs of the brain would be regularly exercised, according to the degree of the stimulus; the strong growing stronger, and the weak weaker. Hence the judgment of God would be a farce. But when we allow the spirit to enthrone itself in man, and there act as a presiding monitor, it has power to bring the body under subjection to "the law of the spirit of life.

M. S.-But allow me here to interject: I am opposed to you bringing anything into this argument which savors of phrenology, because I do not believe that it is founded in truth. But I shall have to go, as I have already stayed too long.

I. S.—It is not late, Bro. Jones, and we do not meet often; so content yourself a few minutes longer. I should like to hear your views upon the "resurrection of the dead." Do you understand that there will be a literal resurrection of the body?

M. S.-Well, yes; if I understand your question aright.

I. S.-I have heard but two views of the resurrection of the body. One is something like this (I may make it a little strong, but you will catch it all right): that in the day of the resurrection the different parts of the mortal body, as it once existed, will be collected from the various parts of the earth to which they were scattered, and reunited "bone to his bone." Would it not present a strange spectacle, to see the old, mutilated limbs from the battlefields flying through the sky, thick and fast, seektionable feature to this theory is, there are many persons who have been born into this life who never possessed a decent body. Shall we expect them resurrected in this way-with undeveloped and deformed limbs—a natural cripple?

M. S.—No. I have higher conceptions of an infinite and all-wise God than to believe that he will do any such thing. I think that in the writings of Paul, this principle is made plain. He says: "that which thou sowest is not quickened except it die;" and, "thou sowest not that body that shall be." We may plant a grain, which for some reason is very imperfectly developed—deformed, yet in its reproduction it will be very perfect. There is some law that governs in the reproduction whereby defects are corrected.

I. S.—While the organic structure of the body is fixed and eternal-unchangeable, physiology teaches that the system is continually undergoing a change-old particles of matter passing away and new ones taking their place at such a rate that in about seven years the whole body will have undergone a complete change—not one particle of the former matter remaining. Now to illustrate and demonstrate this principle, let us take the finger nail and make a mark upon it at the root or upper end, and we shall find that there will be a growth of about one third of an inch in four months; and at this rate (if the nail were not trimmed) there would be a growth of one inch each year. So that a person who lived to be seventy years old, would have a pair of nails, seventy inches long-nearly six feet. I wonder what use the resurrected man would put those nails to, which he will possess if the theory be true, that the resurrected body will be composed of the same particles of matter that the mortal body is composed of?

M. S.—Such a theory of the resurrection is preposterous, and an insult to the Deity. In our personal observations we note that when an animal dies the body decomposes and returns to earth again ("dust thou art and unto dust shalt thou return"), producing a rank growth of vegetation, which is eaten by other animals. Hence it is not possible that the resurrected body can be composed of the same particles of matter of which the former body was composed. If it were possible to preserve all the particles of matter that entered into the mortal body during its existence of seventy years, and put them all into the resurrected body, wouldn't it be a Now while I have "the monster? floor," let me say that I believe the resurrected body will be the same in kind-same in organic structure, possessing the same chemical elements, but not necessarily containing a single particle of the former matter of which it was composed.

I. S.— Just so, Bro. Jones. Now according to your own admission that there will be nothing whatever in the resurrected body that was in the mortal body by which it can be identified as "the same man" (who did the dirty work back yonder), pray tell us how judgment will be meeted out.

M. S.—But, Ah-m! I must go. So long to you.

I. S.—Good evening, Bro. Jones, call again. J. A. UPTON.

LINVILLE, Oregon.

SPEAK NOT EVIL.

Thou shalt not speak evil of thy neighbor, nor do him any harm.—Doctrine and Covenants 42:7.

And who is my neighbor?-Luke 10:29.

Nothing has worked greater havoc among the Saints of God than the tongue of slander. Nothing has done so much toward blasting the hopes of God's tried people as to find out that they who claim to be brother or sister, and friend are secretly whispering in the ears of those who will listen, something Mrs. Grundy has said which is damaging to the victim of her glib tongue. What cruel, ungodly work it is to be secretly spreading among the Saints that which will destroy confidence in one of God's servants. How gleefully the Devil and his coworkers must dance when he by his subtilty has succeeded in injecting the poison of asps under the tongue of one who claims to be a child of God, and started the flow of that deadly poison among brethren. When, oh! when will the ears of Saints be closed to such devilish work? Should not we arise as one man and rebuke the one who tries to engage our minds to give heed to such cowardly work? The assassin who plunges his dagger in the back of his victim without giving him a shadow of chance to defend himself, is no worse than the one who is engaged in the work of secretly damaging the reputation of his neighbor. And yet, as we pass through localities where Saints (?) dwell, we find them engaged in this work, and the work being hindered to an alarming extent, and a terrible lack of spirituality through this leaven working in the branches of the church. Among these we find some of the most ardent advocates of the gathering of the Saints and the establishing of Zion. Better, far better, never to go to Zion than to carry this influence with us, for it could not be Zion and be engaged in such work as slander.

The editorial in Herald of December 5, 1900, on gathering, etc., should set us all not only thinking, but active in making preparation to become the pure in heart, that we may gather and establish Zion, "the perfection of beauty," from where God has shined and will shine. With the continual admonitions from God through his servant, the prophet and seer, and others high in authority in the church, we are left without excuse for not making preparation to become part of that Zion which is to spread herself and become very glorious, very great, and very terrible; so that the nations of the earth shall honor her, and shall say, "Surely Zion is the city of our God," etc., etc. (D. C. 94:5.) Zion is the pure in heart. If so, is there to be room there for those who have the tongue of the slanderer? David asks the Lord for information upon this matter as found in Psalm 15:

Lord, who shall abide in thy tabernacle? Who shall dwell in thy holy hill?

Answer.

He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart. He that backbiteth not with his tongue, nor doeth evil to his neighbor, nor taketh up a reproach against his neighbor, etc.

Again:-

Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? or who shall stand in his holy place?

Answer,

He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully. He shall receive the blessing from the Lord, and right-eousness from the God of his salvation.—Psalm 24: 3-5.

If we are to live by every word that proceedeth from the mouth of God, and our life is to become perfected by a practical application of his words (law) to our life, how can we treat lightly the obligations this law imposes upon us who claim to be loval to the God who framed and issued this law, and by which we are to become the pure in heart? How can the perfection of beauty shine through us while engaged in the work of Satan? We read in Doctrine and Covenants 98:3, that the Lord reprimanded the Saints because of their jarrings, contentions, and strifes, etc., and by reason of this their inheritances were polluted, and the Lord was slow to hear them in the day of trouble.

In the day of their peace they esteemed lightly my counsel; but in the day of their trouble, of necessity they feel after me.

To be in easy access to God in the day of test, means to be near him when the sun of peace is shining athwart our pathway, and to enjoy peace in our soul we must be engaged in a work of peace—its promotion among ourselves. We must be engaged in casting out the evil, or beam from our own eve, and when that work is completed begin to help cast out the mote from our brother's eye, and this cannot be done through magnifying that mote secretly to others who may be busily engaged in removing the beam from themselves, and thus make their work harder to accomplish.

the mote, go to the one whose vision is marred, and help him remove it as the law provides. This work done in the spirit of the Master, as brother to brother, will cause the angels to look down with smiles, and the Master with approval; and the page in the book above which records it will be one to help counterbalance some others of less merit there recorded.

The church is progressing, growing, developing along lines of purity and intellectuality. The young men and maidens to a pleasing extent are enlisting their powers and talents in the work of God. O let not jealousy, envy, evil speaking, or hatred get intermixed with this beautiful work. Let not the servant of God and of his people find his work undermined and ruined by false brethren and whisperers, who are fearful that some one shall lose what they themselves are rolling under their tongue as a sweet morsel. Our brother is our neighbor; our obligations extend as far as the race of mankind is found. Our duty to our neighbor is to do him good, to help him, and wherever and whenever opportunity affords to act the good Samaritan to him, not to add to his wounds, or make his lot harder to bear. And when we read the lesson contained in Christ's story of the good Samaritan, let there also come to us the accompanying admonition, "Go thou and do likewise."

EARNEST.

ENVIRONMENT.

Notwithstanding the views of Bro. A. J. Keck, expressed in late HERALD, on this subject. I still hold the opinion that environment has most to do with our condition in life. All Nature, or all Creation, is more or less influenced by its surroundings. It is a well proven fact, that the third and fourth generations of drunkards suffer with a softness of the brain and idiocy, loss of reason and intellect, and in their place come abnormal desires and general depravity. The same is also true of the heirs of epicureans, or people who live in indolence, ease and luxury; also the money miser, schemers, sexual abusers, and many other evils which have far reaching effects on generations unborn, who have no agency whatever to offset the law of cause and effect.

Because a child does not act in the vice of its parents is not proof that sin is allowed to pass unnoticed and unpunished. If even tobacco is not good for man, its harm will surely be felt on the strongest constitution. There must be some derangement in the systems of our children if we tamper with sin or transgress law.

pure in heart, that we may gather from themselves, and thus make their All men indirectly obey God every and establish Zion, "the perfection of work harder to accomplish. But time they fulfill a law of nature. It beauty," from where God has shined when we are sure we have discovered does not necessarily follow that because my ancestors smoke that I have that desire. The lining in my stomach is not burnt away because some of my progenitors drank alcohol, but who can tell what I or any of us may have been if our parents had left these The sins of nature things alone. must be paid to the last atom, and it takes a long time of right doing to pay back such loss, and after all we can say, it will be but by exercising a free will or agency to obey God.

Environment caused me to be born in a so-called Christian nation; I might just as easily have been a Mongolian, an Indian, or an African savage. It is our environments that make us as a nation more enlightened than others, just as much as chance took a block of rough granite from the quarry and polished it for a monument. We are not to blame for imperfections given us as a heritage of the sins of a lost race. But there is one great fact I do recognize, and that is, if we do our best to improve, Nature will come to our help, as well as a double portion of power from the Comforter be given us to resist evil. We are all striving along with a vast load of imperfections, and the one who has not as much "free agency," "will power," strength, etc., as some others, but still overcomes, is entitled to a better reward, even in nature. The environments of some Saints are a haven, while to others it is in the thickest of the fight, in the very kingdom of Satan is their lot cast: they fall again and again, and the enemy of all righteousness almost overwhelms them with all kinds of tantalizing and torturing methods, to enslave and entrap them.

In their human—or hereditary weakness they would fall, but to all prayerful Saints, who love the Lord, will strength from above be given as there is no excuse for willful sins, and it will not do to burden our poor parents with them, who also walked through a vale of tears. We all stand or fall on our own merits, as far as we exercise a will to obey or disobey is concerned. The Lord is able to divide the marrow from the bone, or can easily discern what is our fault or the fault of others, and how much effort we put forth to overcome that fault according to our strength.

It is my firm belief that if Christ had not paid for the redemption of our race, from the beginning, heredity and environment would have been very important factors, indeed, of what we should have been. It is hereditary influences and environments from Jesus Christ, the Savior of the world, that gave Adam a desire to worship him as also Enoch, Noah, faithful Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and many more. By the righteousness of one, even Christ, who sent hereditary influences to counteract the debasing powers of Satan till all the families of the earth are blest and Satan overthrown, are we drawn unto God.

I am very glad, and rejoice for the environments that Jesus gives the world at his own free will, which will surely redeem it, and all the say we have in it is to love God and keep his commandments, that we may inherit eternal life; for the hereditary influence of Adam gave us a heritage of death. I cannot see very much free agency in man. The laws of God are imperative and exact. True, we have a will to obey or reject for a season, whose effects are far-reaching; but we have no will, agency, or say at all when the command comes and the reward or penalty is affixed, Come ye beloved of my Father; or, Depart from me. With all honor and praise to Christ, and with a hope that all of us may overcome, I close, wishing offense A. W. GORBUTT. to none.

Letter Department.

INDEPENDENCE, Iowa, April 12.

Editors Herald:-I came to this place on Monday last, and began meetings in a private house, at Sr. Hines', and while the turnout has not been large, yet those who come seem interested. I begin the subject of the Book of Mormon tonight, and believe there are those here, who if they hear the subject through, will be willing to accept of its truth. Bro. George Rogers lives here, but he has not done much preaching.

If all those who hold representation in the body were striving to magnify their callings, how the old gospel chariot would roll on! Some of our local ministers are doing quite well, while others are not. I hope I shall never be guilty in the future, if I have been in the past, of passing lightly by the admonition of the Apostle Paul, "Lay hands suddenly on no man." My reason for thus speaking is found in Doctrine and Covenants 116: 2: "Be ye very careful, for many elders have been ordained unto me, and are come under my condemnation, by reason of neglecting to lift up their voices in my cause; and for such there is tribulation and anguish: haply they themselves may be saved (if doing no evil), though their glory, which is given for their works be withheld, or in other words their works are burned, not being profitable unto me." That is too plain to be misunderstood and it reveals the fact that they who heedlessly pass by the admonition, and fail to take warning, will barely escape the bitter pangs of hell. Ezekiel 33:8 says: "When I say unto the wicked, O, wicked man, thou shalt surely die, if thou dost not speak to warn the wicked from his way, that wicked man shall die in his iniquity, but his blood will I require at thine hand." O, how can the brethren be slothful when they read these plain truths? They certainly are ordained to be watchmen on the walls of Zion. To warn the wicked should be their cry:

Repent ye, repent ye, for lo, the bridegroom cometh: and from every elder, priest, teacher, and deacon should the warning voice be heard. There are enough men in this district who hold the priesthood, local ministers, to preach at least five hundred discourses per year; and I make no low estimate when I say that they do not preach one hundred fifty.

Now I do not want to appear as a faultfinder, but I know a great deal more work could be done, and as a consequence, a better reward given in the end. I remember a dream I had the other night. It seemed as though I had been engaged to assist in building a highway. I noticed that people of different nationalities were employed in that work. But what especially caused me to wonder was how very quickly the highway was thrown up. I said within myself, only so short a time since I began to work, and now the work is done. And I could see those who had begun labor long before I did, and I knew that they would receive more pay, because they had worked longer, of course. O brethren, when I awoke and considered the dream, I said under the influence of the Spirit, "The end is near; the highway will soon have been thrown up, and the Master, or great supervisor, rewards only those who worked." I am especially thankful for one thing, that those who have labored in this field have walked honorably and have not dishonored their callings and the church by acting unwisely and doing dishonorable things, such as have defamed the fair name of the church in some localities.

There are many calls for preaching, and O so few to answer. I hope General Conference will give us fully as many men as we had last year, and indeed we shall be well pleased to have the same men returned again, with as many more. I feel that the conference now in session will be one of great moment to the church. May the peace-loving Spirit of Christ be in Zion, and give strength to all her borders, is my prayer.

J. R. SUTTON.

CEDAR VALLEY, Ont., April 6.

Dear Herald:-Since my last I stayed some five weeks in Riverview, Ontario. There was a fair turnout at the meetings, four through the week, two on Sunday. It was the roughest weather of the year, having at times to walk through three feet of snow, with strong winds, to get to meeting, but in the five weeks of my laboring there I preached twenty-nine discourses, beside the visiting. It was very hard to do justice to duty under those circumstances. Before leaving I gathered up some tithing that the pure gospel might be sent to others. I thought this a sign that good was done.

After wishing the Saints good-bye, I was driven to Masonville. Arriving at Elder R. Whitehead's we were made welcome, and after partaking of the bounties of this life, we got ready for the evening service at the Saints' church. Not many out, but a good meeting. We appointed preaching meetings for Wednesday, Friday, and Sunday. Few were in attendance at the week meetings, but the Sunday meetings were large; some from Shelburne, some from Maple Valley. As it was fast day, we kept it, and prayed for the good of the church and that we might receive from the Lord words of comfort and cheer Having received word from Elder R. Tarzwell, I met him at Hillsburg, April 1. Found the Saints in a very healthy condition, both in spirit and body. They had advertised through the paper that I would preach every night in the Saints' chapel at Cedar Valley. A Baptist preacher had spoken against our work in his own church, also a Disciple preacher. The latter gave the same discourse at two places. The effort by the Baptist seemed to have little effect, but the other had more. It worked things up so that there is great talk about those so-called "Mormons." We expect our worthy president of the Canada mission, Bro. R. C. Evans, and by the aid of Israel's God we look with great hope for the work to be built up in this part of the Lord's vineyard. I have recently learned that two precious souls, of a very nice family, were baptized by Priest King Cooper. This has caused a great talk, but they are rejoicing in the knowledge of the work. I preached Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings to a fairly large crowd. They paid great attention, and I expect good to come from the same.

On Thursday at noon a telegram came informing me that Bro. W. Taylor, of Horning's Mills, was dead, and to come at once. After making arrangements with Elder R. Tarzwell regarding the night meeting, I started, arriving somewhat late at night. We found nearly all the family there, also relatives of Sr. Taylor, who is now the widow, with two sons, one daughter, and an adopted daughter. There were a large number of relatives, as our late brother was the eldest of twelve children, of old Bro. and Sr. Taylor, of Garafraxa, Ontario. Bro. Taylor was so well respected in his neighborhood that the minister and trustees of the Methodist church offered their chapel for the service. which was accepted. I delivered the funeral sermon, assisted by Elder R. Whitehead, to a congregation numbering over five hundred. In discoursing to them I enjoyed the spirit of my calling. To God be all the praise. After services, all that was mortal of our brother was interred in Horning's Mills cemetery, and in the presence of weeping relatives and friends the last prayer was said and the grave was covered by many willing hands, which showed great respect for the one gone before.

Catching the 5:45 p. m. train back for evening service at Cedar Valley, and after a walk of two and one half miles through the water and mud, I got there safe. As it was a little behind the time, I found Elder R. Tarzwell speaking to quite a few with good liberty. But there were some who had come to hear the writer, one a Methodist preacher, so the elder gave way for me. So I took his text and went right along with it with the best of liberty, and good was the result. am pleased to say there is a good interest here and we live in hopes of seeing an in-gathering sometime in the future. Your brother in Christ,

R. B. HOWLETT.

LISMORE, N. S. W., March 15. Editors Herald:-I am still here battling away against the walls of prejudice that exist. Have been hampered greatly by rain lately. The summer was exceedingly dry. but the autumn has brought the rain with a vengeance. This district is a fine one, perhaps the richest in the state, from an agricultural standpoint. It has a population of about thirty thousand, and we feel that once the barriers of prejudice are broken through, a good work can be done among them. We find that dogged perseverance is necessary in such places as these. It is of little use to put forth intermittent effort in any new place, for continual effort is the only thing that will avail much under such conditions.

I have noticed that where continuous effort has been made in a systematic way in this country, that success has invariably crowned the effort, while just the reverse has been the result where the efforts put forth have not been of that nature. I have heard it said that when a man is clearing land, he accomplishes more if he confines his effort to one tree until it is felled, rather than to go giving a tree here and there a chop. The latter mode of procedure would accomplish nothing, and I have often thought that when an elder is hurrying from place to place he is doing little more than following that method of procedure.

Since last writing I have received several orders for the booklets, which the Wallsend branch has had printed in aid of their "Chapel building fund," "The Book of Mormon on Trial." I desire to thank those who have interested themselves in obtaining these orders for us. To Bro. J. W. Wight, and Sr. Alice C. Schwartz, of Omaha, Nebraska, we are especially thankful. The good old Saints at the Saints' Home have responded in a way which should inspire a little more enthusiasm on the part of others who are in a better position to respond to our appeal. The books are still on sale, and we believe that it would do every subscriber to the HERALD good, if they would take one of these pamphlets. We are not begging, we simply ask you to buy a book which is worth the money you will pay for it, and which will be of use in spreading the truth abroad in the earth. By so doing you will help us, for "every mickle makes a muckle."

Send your name, address, and 16 cents to Elder G. R. Wells, Deer Lodge, Montana, and we will mail you a copy.

Another word with regard to our "Australian Ensign." I have received just one hundred thirty names from America to date, of those who are willing to subscribe towards our paper, and if we could get about one hundred twenty more. I think we can get enough in Australia to make a start with our paper. Can we not get that many more names? Must we give up our hopes of printing a paper just because we cannot get two hundred fifty American subscribers? Will the American members of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ permit that? I do not think so! I still have faith that there are at least one hundred twenty of the American Saints who can and will help us! What do you think about it, reaader? We know we have your sympathies, but will you not show us that your sympathy is worth seventy-five cents? Do not pass by this appeal as a thing of naught, but if you have the good of the work in all the world, at heart, send along your mite to help us in this corner of the vineyard. We need a local paper here very much, and we intend to agitate until we get one. Write now, and address, Elder W. J. Haworth, "Martin Dale," Wallsend, New South Wales, Australia. Fraternally yours,

WALTER J. HAWORTH.

AGUASCALIENTES, Mexico, April 5. To the Herald Publishing House, Lamoni, Towa:

Dear Brethren:-I see in the postscript of a letter by D. S. Crawley in SAINTS' HERALD for March 20 a question as to how many would take a dozen or more Book of Mormon if published at forty cents. Thinking it good to show ourselves alive to the good cause of our divine Master, for such indicates and perhaps even insures success, I wish to add my name to Bro. Crawley's, and although I cannot for the present promise to take a dozen or more, I will under present conditions gladly take six books, and if possible more, and if wished send the money in advance as a little mite to facilitate the publication of the Book of Mormon; so I may with all true Saints have done what I could for the spreading of the gospel, that by reading the record of the Nephites many may come to the knowledge of the truth and believe that the Bible is the word of God, and Christ has-risen indeed and is the Savior of all who seek him and love righteousness.

Mexico, too, I believe, is getting ready with the rest of the world to hear the word. the gospel in its fullness; so then we must work while it is day and called today.

Praying for the advancement of truth and the soon ushering in of Christ's reign upon the earth, I remain humbly,

Your brother in the one faith. AUGUST H. MERKENS. 6a Calle de OjoCaliente No. 30.

ONAWA, Iowa.

Dear Herald:-I have resided here for the last ten years, and am still keeping the faith. I can no more doubt this work is of God than I can doubt my own existence. I am sixtyeight years of age and have been a member nearly forty-one years. I have heard prophecy, tongues, and interpretation of tongues; have seen the sick healed by the laying on of hands under conditions which could not be doubted by anyone who saw it. But this is all for the good of the Saint, The world would not acknowledge and appreciate these things if they could.

I am afraid some of the Saints do not know how to explain to the world, so as to make them understand the difference between us and them. In all other churches or religious orders, there is a man hired who does nearly all their preaching. He is paid by the year for his services, some of whom are paid so much that they can live in great luxury, and all have a comfortable living, all of which comes from their salary. E They have got the people to believe that this is the only successful way by which the gospel can be preached—that even a preacher of the gospel should be paid, and that is correct if he is expected to do nothing else, and so all their preachers are paid in this way. But the gospel can be and is being preached without so much expense to the people, both in and out of the church; in a word, that salvation is really free. Instead of hiring a man to do all the preaching in a branch, the president of the branch calls on some one of the elders to do the preaching, and no elder who is called on thinks of receiving pay for such service. When Monday morning comes he dons his working clothes and goes into shop, field, or other working place, and earns support for those looking to him for support. The branch preaching is mostly done in this way.

But few of us, if any, pay our tithing as we should. If we did, then the church work would move right along. More "good elders" could be put in the missionary field, and it would save a multitude more of souls. The more tithing sent in the more souls saved, because more missionaries can be sent out.

NATHAN LINDSEY.

Mothers' Home Column.

EDITED BY FRANCES.

"Rouse to some work of high and holy love,
And thou the angels' happiness shall know,
Shalt bless the earth: while in the world above,
The good begun by thee shall onward flow
In many a branching stream, and wider grow;
The seed that in these few and fleeting hours
Thy hands uneparing and unwearied sow,
Shall deck thy grave with aramanthine flowers,
And yield thee fruits divine in heaven's imperial bowers."

THE CHARACTER OF OBEDIENCE.

In thinking the matter over I have come to the conclusion that obedience may be considered under two heads. These I will call voluntary and involuntary.

Involuntary obedience pertains, to a great extent, to children and most grown people; but there are a few fortunate individuals in the world who possess the superior characteristic which we will style voluntary obedience.

We are all quite familiar, I believe, with the kind of obedience called involuntary, for do we not see it displayed day after day by those around us, and undoubtedly we might find it in our own natures if we were to make an examination?

Some may say that forced obedience doesn't amount to much, and while that may be so, yet, that kind of obedience is better than no obedience at all, for surely a child will be more apt to turn out right in the end if it is compelled to render obedience than it would if allowed to disobey the command given; and yet there might be instances when it would be unwise to force obedience upon the child, but if wisdom is used in making requests of children such cases rarely occur.

Voluntary or willing obedience is, of the two, the more desirable, and if children could be taught to obey willingly how much better it would be.

Some people have the idea that children should be taught to obey simply for the sake of doing right and of pleasing papa and mamma. If we could teach children to render that kind of obedience, I believe we should, but I am not sure that we can. I have seen people who have tried to secure such obedience from their children but I cannot think of one instance in which they were successful.

Possibly if a child were taught from the first that it must obey, it might become so accustomed to it, that it would finally obey willingly.

I believe that children should be taught from the first that they cannot disobey without bringing discomfort to themselves.

No request should be made that is not expected to be obeyed, and when once made full obedience always demanded. Willful disobedience to such request on the part of the child should not be quietly overlooked in a single instance.

ALICE E. GOULD.

CHARACTER OF OBEDIENCE.

Obedience should be prompt. There must be no delay, no questioning. If parents fully realized the value of this their task would be much easier and their success greater.

The habit of free and cheerful obedience trains the will in right doing and thus develops a strong moral character which is independent in itself.

A well trained conscience is a safe guide to true obedience. True obedience can never be forced; it is the free action of the inward spirit.

Obedience secured through fear of punishment does not have the good effect that obedience prompted by a sense of duty does.

Sternness on the part of the one governing often leads to cowardice, lying, and revenge. It makes the child dislike the thing it is to do and the one who makes him do it. This kind of obedience is not lasting.

Obedience may be bought as well as forced and is even more harmful. When a mother begins to hire her child to comply with her wishes she invites disobedience, for the child soon learns to think of obedience as how much it will bring him. The mother who indulges in hiring her child to obey will almost invariably lose control of it. She destroys the very trait in his character she wishes to cultivate, that of choosing to obey the right because it is right, which is one of the highest motives in life.

In obeying one should strive not only to have the approval of his own conscience but the approval of God and man as well.

Children who are taught to obey the dictations of their consciences will obey whether there is a special command given or not. They will obey as willingly in the absence of their overseers as in their presence.

A very essential condition to willing obedience is a respect for the one governing. He being a true example of obedience the child will love to obey.

It is through our love to God and a desire for his approbation that we render willing obedience to him.

Obedience is sometimes secured through ridicule, rivalry, and shame. These methods appeal to the lower selfish nature and should not be resorted to.

A detestable practice is that of frightening children into obedience. This is a sin for it teaches children to lie and is injurious to the nervous system. I once heard a mother say to her child, "Lie down and go to sleep or a big black bear will come and bite you." It did lie down and finally sobbed itself to sleep. Its sleep was a nervous sleep. I imagined it saw black bears all around it.

We have an example of true obedience in Jesus to the Father. He is our guide; let us follow him.

MARY SCHAFER.

Dow CITY, Iowa, Feb. 14, 1901.

THE NECESSITY OF OBEDIENCE.

It has been said that order was God's first law. If order is a law, of necessity there must be obedience or order ceases to be, and disobedience, sin, and death follow, for sin is the transgression of the law and the wages of sin is death.

When man was first placed upon the earth he was given a law to live by and because he transgressed that law sin and death followed.

It is written, "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve," and by so doing we are led to say, "Our Father which art in heaven."

Our Father in heaven has said, "Honor thy father and mother:" and there is a promise following: "That thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."

The Apostle Paul said, "Children, obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right."

And the Spirit of the Lord said unto Alma, "Command thy children to do good, lest they lead away the hearts of many people to destruction." Therefore he commanded his children to serve God.

The Lord has said to the church in our day if there are parents in Zion who teach not their children to understand the doctrine of repentance, faith, baptism, etc., by the time they are eight years old, the sin will be upon the heads of the parents.

It will not do for parents to trust this work to the Sunday school teacher or anyone else, for if there is anything lacking the parents must suffer.

The child who renders strict obedience to its parents can easily be led to yield obedience to the law of God.

Children should love and obey their parents through respect and not through fear of punishment.

The Lord requires his children to love and serve him with all their hearts and souls. He asks for a loving service which is to be an example for parents to teach their children loving obedience.

As the Savior said to his disciples, "Come and follow me" and "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven," just so the parents should take the lead in all good things. This teaching will be doubly strong because of the example.

In China children are taught strict obedience. If a child commits a crime the father or older brother is sometimes punished for it. They say, if he had been properly taught he would not have broken the law. If this is true in China it is also true in our country.

I believe in the old saying, "Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it." We see the truth of this all around us. Sometimes children wander away for a time, but as they grow older they will see the error of their ways and return to their early teaching. Therefore let us instruct our children while young by example and precept to obey God's laws. EDNA BUTTERWORTH.

Dow Ciry, Iowa.

Sunday School Department.

ELDER T. A. HOUGAS, EDITOR.

Henderson, Mills Co., Iowa.

(Send communications for this department to the Editor. Address minutes and notices of conventions, etc., to "Editors Herald, Lamoni, Iowa.")

THE GENERAL CONVENTION.

Some months ago many of the Sunday school workers began to look forward to the coming convention with considerable anticipation. Whatever the thought might have been in the minds of the different ones, it was very apparent that they were looking forward to the convention with more than usual interest.

The Religio convention was one of profit to the workers, and the spirit of earnestness and unity therein remained with the workers, and was present throughout the Sunday school convention which immediately followed. Some of the discussions were very earnest and lengthy, but marked by a spirit of consideration and kindness. We are always glad to see the workers earnest in what they are doing, and especially so when that earnestness is characterized by a willingness to do as they would be done by. Such was our work at the late general convention.

We present the following extract from the general superintendent's report:-

"We are pleased to report what we believe to be the best condition that we have ever seen the association in. Whether it be in the sparsely settled territory of the great west with the attendant buoyancy of a new country; in the middle west where the ever present struggle for wealth occupies the 'uppermost seat at the feast;' or in the throbbing heart of an eastern city with all its allurements and evils, we find the same pleasant spirit of unity, progress, and contentment; the same satisfaction with our lesson helps, evinced by expressions of appreciation, and a total lack of unfavorable criticism; the same thankfulness to God that, as we may see, great good is being wrought at the hands of the Sunday school workers; and, last, though not least, that this work is acceptato spend his strength, to perform his reasonable service.

"The association is growing in numbers every year: numbers of district associations. numbers of schools, numbers of scholars. It is growing in the number of substantial, competent, lifetime workers. We have many who run, and run well, for a little season, but their time is short. They did a good work but are gone. We hear of them no more. We are glad they did so well for even a little while. But it is the earnest, whole-hearted worker that we find in the harness always that becomes a pillar to the work. It is they upon whom we must depend to carry the work to a finish. These are they upon whom God places the positions of responsibility. We are, indeed, glad that their numbers are increasing.

"We lay no great stress upon the value of large numbers except in one way. It evidences to us that the many of God's Saints have, after carefully weighing the matter, watching the workings of the association, thinking, praying, -concluded that the work was conducive to good to the church and acceptable to God. And it is not probable that so many could be led to believe in what was not good. We are not, now, 'throwing houquets at ourselves,' for the success of any association like ours does not depend upon the general officers altogether or in any great degree. Nor does it depend upon your district officers. But it does depend upon your local workers - patrons, teachers, preachers, superintendents, secretaries, librarians, choristers, janitors, and everybody else. These are the heat without which the best locomotive on the road is but a heap of iron and steel.

"There is no gainsaying the fact that considerable honest criticism may be laid at the door of the executive of the association. We have made mistakes, perhaps many of them. But we have tried to not make the same mistake twice. But, unfortunately, there are so many mistakes in the category of human actions that one might go on a lifetime making mistakes and not repeat any one of them. What we have done, we can conscientiously say, we thought to be for the best. We trust our mistakes have not been many or serious. We gratefully acknowledge God's guiding hand in the affairs of his work at many times.

"We have said that we believe the condition of the General Sunday School Association is better than it ever was before. And it matters not to a person placed at the head of an institution whether the success of the work is due wholly, in part, or even not at all to his efforts, there come moments when he can stop and feel an exhilaration in a successful accomplishment; when he can feel a calm sense of satisfaction at what has been done. 'But there come a far greater number of moments when the attention is directed and absorbed by the responsibilities that go along with success in any field of human endeavor.' Edward Bok has said, 'The easiest part of success is making it; the hardest part is maintaining it. It is after a success has been made that the real work begins.' And right here is where the General Sunday Asble to God and that every one can find a place | sociation finds itself today as it emerges from the first decade of its existence into the

"Yes, the association has made a success and there is no doubt about it. But it will require more effort to maintain this success than it ever did to gain it. It will necessitate greater vigilance, more work, and closer application on the part of the workers than they have heretofore given it."

The general secretary, Bro. W. N. Robinson reported among other items that "out of fifty-two districts, thirteen have not reported. This is a disappointment, and is misleading, not representing the actual conditions. The net gain in the association during the year past shows 836; but this, owing to the absence of report of thirteen districts, does not show the actual advance made. There is a net gain of twenty-four schools as far as reported. The total membership of last year was 14,810. We now have, at least, over 16,-000 members." The general secretary admonished district officers to be "more diligent and prompt in reporting." Much extra work is made by district officers not reporting or not reporting promptly. Officers should keep this well in mind.

Our general secretary, Bro. W. N. Robinson, being otherwise overburdened with work, declined reëlection. Bro. Robinson had served seven years in this office, and did his work as few others could have done. It will be remembered that he took his place when the work was practically in its incipiency, and has filled not only the place of a recording secretary, but that of a field secretary also. We have found in him a ready help and a wise counselor, and very much regret to see him retire. But we have known for some years that he was overburdened and that the time when he would retire was near at hand, but had hoped that in some way he might see his way clear to work with us yet another year. But we were disappointed in this. We were happy, however, when his successor, Bro. David J. Krahl, of Lamoni, Iowa, was named. He is a man whose ability and interest in the work are unquestioned, and we bid him welcome and Godspeed in the new responsibility he has accepted.

Our general treasurer, Bro. A. B. Hanson, reported "the receipts for the year exceed the expenses." Bro. Hanson, being a missionary in the field, declined reëlection. Bro. John Smith, of Lamoni, Iowa, is his successor. Bro. George H. Gates, of Providence, Rhode Island, was chosen to succeed Bro. F. M. Pitt as second assistant superintendent, and Bro. S. A. Burgess, of St. Louis, to succeed Sr. Mamie A. Allen as librarian.

The leading question of the convention was whether or not we should follow the "international lesson texts." The discussion lasted for nearly two whole sessions, and was very earnestly contended on both sides. We were gratified to see the kindly feeling that existed throughout. It was unusual in a debate which waxed so "warm" Discussion was finally cut off by the "previous question," and the vote upon the pending question ordered to be taken by "yea and nay."
The result of the vote was 308 for the adoption of the "international texts" and 973 against, thus overwhelmingly defeating the proposition, and apparenmy question for the time being.

(To be continued.) and apparently settling the

The Saints' Herald.

(Established 1860.)

Published Every Wednesday, at Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Subscription price, $1.50 per year.
Address communications for publication to
"Editors Herald."

Marriage, birth, and death notices: Marriages, 51.00 per 100 words or fraction thereof. Births, 50 cents per 75 words or fraction thereof. Deaths, 100 words free, above that number 50 cents per 100 words or fraction thereof. To insure prompt insertion, make remittance with notice.

For advertising rates apply to business mana-

All errors in the filling of orders or rendering of All errors in the filling of orders or rendering of accounts should be reported immediately, as receipts for all money received are sent within two days after reaching the office.

Send all business letters and make all remittances payable to Herald Publishing House, Lock Box E, Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Entered at post office, Lamoni, Iowa, as secondelass mail matter.

Subscriptions received for Zion's Ensign, also orders for all kinds of Ensign Publications.

CONVENTION NOTICES.

The Philadelphia district Sunday schools will meet in convention at Baldwin, Maryland, May 4 and 5. Let all try to attend and thus make the convention a success.

H. H. BACON, Supt. E. B. HULL, Sec.

Conference Minutes.

MONTANA.

Conference was held at Saints' church, Deer Lodge, March 30, 31. G. R. Wells in the chair, F. Christoffersen secretary. Deer Lodge, March 30, 31. G. R. Wells in the chair, F. Christoffersen secretary. Branch reports: Deer Lodge 53, Anaconda 27, Gallatin 91, Victor 36, Bridger not reported. Ministry reporting: Elders G. R. Wells, G. Reese, J. H. Wells, A. Christoffersen, J. F. Jemison; Priests J. Eliason, A. Hansen, J. Emmons. G. Reese, Bishop's agent, reported: Received since last report, $153.50; expended, $173.15; on hand, $19.47. Delegate to General Conference, G. R. Wells. Adjourned to call of the district presidency. Adjourned to call of the district presidency.

Miscellaneous Department.

PASTORAL.

I make the following appointments: William Sparling, will labor seven months, North Dakota, in charge; L. Houghton, North Dakota; G. W. Thorburn, North Da-kota; J. W. Waldsmith, Southern Nebraska district; M. H. Forscutt, Southern Nebraska Nebraska City objective point; W. M. Self, Southern Nebraska, Brownville objective point; R. O. Self to labor under the direc-tion of the district president; L. Gamet, Cen-tral Nebraska district; W. M. Rumel, Central Nebraska district, and so far as practicable will push his labor to Bonesteel, South Dakota; C. Butterworth, Northern Nebraska district, Omaha objective point; Oscar Case, district, Omaha objective point; Oscar Case, Northern Nebraska, former field; S. D. Payne, will labor ten months, Western Nebraska, former field. C. W. Prettyman, Western Nebraska, Eustis objective point, and so far as possible will cooperate with Bro. Payne in pushing labor into unorganized territory.

James Caffall.

MARRIED.

RUSSELL-GUNTER.-Bro. Frank Russell. of Grinnell, Iowa, and Sr. Grace Gunter, of Swedeburg, Nebraska, were united in mar-riage at the home of Bro. and Sr. Clark, Peoria, Illinois, April 3, by Elder C. J. Clark. A large number of Saints and friends witnessed the ceremony and tendered their congratulations and best wishes to the happy young couple.

DIED.

-At his home, 823 Henry street, HART.-West Oakland, California, July 24, 1900, Bro.
William Hart, aged 76 years, 6 months, twenty-two days. He was a native of England. Wife and four children mourn. He died a quiet and peaceful death, shaking hands with those who had seemingly come to meet him. Many beautiful floral pieces were placed on the casket by Saints and friends. Funeral service at Saints' church by C. A. Parkin and J. B. Price.

With us his name shall live,
Through loug succeeding years,
Embalmed with all our hearts can give,
Our praises and our tears.

GRICE.—Maria Grice was born February 14, 1827, at Heap, Lancashire, England: baptized April 15, 1863, at Kewanee. Illinois, by J. W. Gillen; died April 6, 1901. Funeral at the Saints' church, April 10, 1901, in charge of Elder J. S. Patterson. Husband, two sisters, a brother, with a large number of relatives and friends, mourn her departure. She was a faithful Saint.

TAYLOR —At Garafraxa, Ontario, Bro. W. Taylor, aged 50 years, 2 months, 11 days. Deceased had been a member of the church thirteen years, and died in the faith. Wife, two sons, one daughter, and one adopted daughter, mourn the loss of a kind husband and father. Funeral sermon by Elder R. B. Howlett.

INDIANS BUILD A RAILROAD.

Out in Wyoming the Burlington railroad is building a line down into the Big Horn Basin country, and the contractors succeeded in interesting a lot of Crow and Sioux Indians from the reservation near by, and engaged a number of them on the grade. At first they were lined up each with scraper and a team of horses and at the word, with a yell, they started to race, that being the sport dearest to the Indian heart. But after the "boss" got them in line again, and explained that they were there to "move dirt" and not to race horses things went more smoothly, and most of the healts have developed in the case. most of the bucks have developed into good workmen.

And so it happens, that within a few miles of the battlefield where Custer and his brave men of the Seventh Cavalry made their last stand in 1876, these warriors, and sons of warriors, many of whom no doubt took part in the massacre, are peacefully taking up the white man's burden and "make 'em heap sweat."

The following lines, by George Macdonald, are very suggestive of the condition of many of our Father's children:-

"Lord I have laid my heart upon the altar, But cannot get the wood to burn; It hardly flames, ere it begins to falter, And to the dark returns.

Old sap, and night fallen dew has damped the fuel;

In vain my breath would flame provoke; Yet see! at every poor attempt's renewal To thee ascends but smoke.

"Lord! 'tis all I have! failure and foiled endeavor. Coldness and doubt and palsied lack:

Such as I have, I give thee, perfect Giver, Send thou thy lightning back."

The mistake of the Christian soldier is a seeking peace without instead of within. Spirituality is not a matter of spasms.

An interesting book of the period,

LIFE AND REIGN

QUEEN VICTORIA.

Including the lives of

King Edward VII. and Oueen Alexandra,

By MURAT HALSTEAD, famous historian and Journalist, and A. J. MUNSON, editor and author. Profusely illustrated. 485 pages. For sale at

OFFICE, HERALD

POSTPAID, ONE DOLLAR.

THE 1	TWO RECORDS. The Book of Mormon and the New Testament. Inspired Translation; large type, in one		X
98.	volume. Leather back and covers Seal grain russia Imitation morocco, gilt edges, Morocco, gilt edges	2	00
9 9.	Seal grain russia	2	50
100.	Imitation morocco, gilt edges,	3	50
101.	Morocco, gilt edges	4	υυ
	HOLY SCRIPTURES. Inspired translation, by Joseph Smith.		*
78.	Cloth	1	00
79.	Sheep, library binding	1	25
80.	Imitation morocco, gilt edges	1	75
81.	Morocco, gilt edges Flexible binding, gilt edges	2	25
04.	riexible binding, gift edges	ð	79
NEW	TESTAMENTS. Inspired Translation. Large type edition.
94	Cloth		65
85.	Cloth, leather backs and corners	1	00
86.	Seal grain russia	1	25
87.	Seal grain russia, gilt edges	1	50
SMITI	H-PELOUBET'S DICTION-ARY OF THE BIBLE.
	ARY OF THE BIBLE. Teachers' edition. Over 800 pages, with colored maps and pages, with colored maps and 105	440 illustrations.	1	eΛ
TOU.	Оющ		vv

RECORD BOOKS, for minutes of business meetings, 300 pages. 194. Leather and canvas.......... 1 25

BRADEN - KELLEY Report of the discussion be-tween Elder Clark Braden of the Christian Church and Elder E. L. Kelley of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

SPIRITUAL GIFTS AND THE SEER OF PALMYRA. Elder M. H. Bond.

134. Paper 135. Char

WM. ANDERSON, Pres. MRS. DAVID DANCER. Vice Pres.

W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier. OSCAR ANDERSON, Ass't Cashier.

STATE SAVINGS BANK OF LAMONI.

Incorporated under the laws of the State of Iowa, July 1, 1898. Total assets January 1, 1900, $133,032.34; April 1, 1900, $162,781.07.

We pay interest on time deposits, and especially solicit the correspondence and deposits of all Herald readers. All etters of inquiry will be promptly and carefully answered. Direct all letters to ... W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier, State Savings Bank of Lamoni, Iowa

STOCK HOLDERS:—Mrs. David Dancer, Geo. H. Hilliard, A. K. Anderson, Lucy L. Resseguie, Oscar Anderson, Wm. Anderson, Frank Criley, Alice P. Dancer, Ella D. Whitehead, G. W. Blair, W. A. Hopkins.

WANTO STOP

Using tobacco. Quit-to-bac makes it easy to do so. Three boxes postpaid, only $1.50 with positive guarantee to cure or the $1.50 cheerfully refunded! It cures others, why not you.

Address, (Bro.) B. F. ORDWAY, Peoria, Ill. (U. S. Postage stamps taken)

Or apply to The Underwood Agency, LAMONI, JOWA

SAINTS' HYMNAL Words only.  115. Paper	2	25 70 35
GOSPEL QUARTERLIES.  Published by the General Sunday School Association.  Designed for use in Sabbath school work. Issued quarterly. 73. Senior Grade, per quarter Per year, in advance		08 25
74. Intermediate Grade, per quarter		05 15
75. Primary Grade, per quarter Per year		05 15
INTERMEDIATE QUESTION BOOK.
76. Limp, 25c. each, per dozen	2	50
'MARY QUESTION BOOK.	1	50
p, 15c. each, per dozen	$\operatorname{tr}$	ons

88. Cloth	1	25
TRUE SUCCESSION IN CHURCH PRESIDENCY. By Elder H. C. Smith, Church Historian.	mc172001
152. Paper		35 50

NOT IN THE CATALOGUE.

TRACTS.

Trial of the Witnesses to the 33. Resurrection of Jesus.

Each 5 cents; per doz. 50 cents.

The Basis of Brighamite Polygamy.

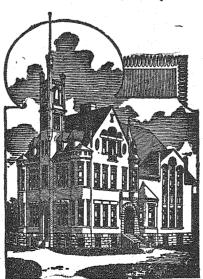

Per doz. 10 cents; per 100, 60 cents.

GRACELAND ....

COLLEGE.

LAMONI, IOWA.

Telephone 7%

For catalogue or further information, address, PROF. R. A. HARKNESS, President, or I. W. ALLENDER, Secretary, LAMONI, DECATUR Co., IOWA.

COMMERCIAL BANK

IOWA.

LAMONI, Solicits your Deposits and pays

5 % INTEREST.

D. F. NICHOLSON, Cashier.

BJEC	TIONS TO THE BOOK OF MORMON AND DOCTRINE AND COVENANTS, AN-SWERED AND REFUTED.
	By Elder J. R. Lambert.
	Paper
	Cloth

$ ext{THE}$	INSTRUCTOR. A compendium of the faith and doctrines of the church by Elder
	G. T. Griffiths.
	Cloth
127.	Leather 1	00
128.	Flexible 1	50

BRING YOUR LAUNDRY TO

South Side Barber Shop.

For every five dollars worth of Laundry you receive a

HANDSOME SHAVING MUG. BLACK & SHOOK, Props.

DR. E. S. SWEET. DENTIST. Decoe Building,

WOODBINE,

IOWA

25 40

FOR SALE.

A brick business house centrally located n Lamoni that earns fifteen per cent on ovestment.

If interested, inclose stamp to Lock Box ?, Lamoni, Iowa.

Burlington Route passenger service between stations on Grant City branch and Chicago, both directions, is better than ever in the history of the road. Leaving Lamoni at 8:05

p. m., arriving Chicago 7:20 a. m. following morning. Leaving Chicago at 5:50 p. m., arriving Lamoni 6:25 a. m. following morning.

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSIONS

Dates of sales, February 19, March 5 and 19, April 2 and 16, 1901, one lowest first class fare for the round trip, plus $2 00. Good for return 21 days from date of sale.

23, and 30, 1901.

One-way second class settlers rates. ver, Colorado Springs, and Pueblo. Ogden and Salt Lake. Bozeman, Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Grantsdale, Missoula, Grant Falls, Kalispell, Spokane, Portland, Tacoma. toria and Vancouver.

KEOKUK & WESTERN R. R. CO.

North-Leave Leon 2:40 p. m., arrive at Des Moines 6:05 p. m. South—Leave Des Moines 8:25 a. m., arrive at Leon 11: 45 a. m. Trains daily except Sunday; connect with C. B. & Q. at Leon.

SAINTS' HERALD

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE REORGANIZED CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER DAY SAINTS.

"If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."—John 8:31, 32.

"Hearken to the word of the Lord: for there shall not any man among you have save it be one wife; and concubines he shall have none."-B. of M., page 116.

VOL. 48.

LAMONI, IOWA, MAY 1, 1901.

NO. 18.

The Saints' Herald.

JOSEPH SMITH -ASSISTANT EDITOR. FRED'K MADISON SMITH JOSEPH LUFF D. W. WIGHT CORRESPONDING EDITORS.

LAMONI, IOWA, MAY 1, 1901.

THE CONFERENCE.

The session of conference just closed at Independence, Missouri, was in some respects the most notable the Reorganization has ever held. Those who attended and took part in the deliberations never undertook their work in a better spirit to conserve the good of all, and serve in their place and sphere of action acceptably to the Master.

The work done cannot but result in good to the cause. The best of feeling, one towards another, prevailed throughout.

There has never been a conference from which the Saints went away so universally united in the bonds of peace as from the one just passed.

The rumors of small pox and quaran. tine, so rife before the assembling of the Saints, had little or no effect in keeping people away. The representation was the largest and best ever assembled, and delegate and ex officio member, each in his place, vied with each other in taking interest in what was going on. Some two or three of the visiting Saints were caught by the epidemic. Bro. F. C. Keck had to leave before the session closed, and we left Brn. Kemp and W. LaRue confined to the house. These are all we learned of being affected by it. Many were exposed; but we trust that the temperate and cleanly habits of the Saints and the care of the all-wise Father will turn aside evil from the household of faith.

The councils of the Presidency and Twelve accomplished the work of organizing a stake at Independence, in accordance with the direction given. The joint council between the quorums named above, held on the morning of April 24, was remarkably harmonious, and the results observable when the assembly met in the afternoon for the purposes of organizing as directed.

Whatever fears of contention and disruption may have been entertained before the session began, were dissiand peace and confidence seemed to be reëstablished. There was little or no contention, certainly none in a spirit of acrimony or strife. Troublesome things were arranged for in such way that we think the outcome must necessarily be good.

The attendance was large, too large for the accommodation to hold the Sunday services. The preaching was good. There were three or four bap-

In the Herald for Ostober 24, 1900. will be found a letter from Bro. Peter Anderson, dated October 10, in which he gives an account of a few things that happened at a conference of the "Utah Church" held in Salt Lake City a few days previous. In the letter he gives something to which we desire to call attention now. Here it is:-

Pres. Snow, now in his eighty-seventh year, spoke on Sunday afternoon. Concerning the gathering, he said: "The day is approaching when a large part of the people whom I am addressing will go back to Jackson county to erect the temple and establish the city of Zion. I shall go back, President Cannon shall go back, and President Smith will go back. I don't know about all the apostles, but a large majority of you will go back to build up a holy city to the Lord."

Mr. Snow urged the people to get ready for this event, and mentioned a most powerful manifestation he had received to the truth of what he had said. He also said: "The time is coming very shortly."

In view of the above prophecy, the recent death of George Q. Cannon has rather a bad effect on Mr. Snow's record as a prophet, and we are wondering how the people of Utah can explain the failure.

We are of the opinion that that is not the only failure that will occur in the above prophecy, for we do not believe that any of the men mentioned by President Snow will have a part in the building of the city of Zion in Jackson county,—at least not in their present spiritual condition.

Our men who have come in contact with the elders from the Utah Church have heard considerable of late in regard to the polygamy status in Utah, and there has been considerable said in the press about it, especially since the attempt made in the Utah legislature to protect the practice. Some time ago there appeared in the daily papers some statements from the pen ing the practice of polygamy in Utah, which caused considerable comment. Those of our readers who may have seen the statements of Mrs. Gates, will be interested in the following from the Chicago Daily News of March

POLYGAMY NOT DEAD IN UTAH.

Exceptions to the statements made by Susie Young Gates in an Associated Press dispatch recently in New York to the effect that polygamy was no longer practiced in Utah and that the custom was fast dying out are taken by Attorney A. D. Gash of Chicago, who was formerly prosecuting attorney of Utah county and lived for eight years at Provo, Utah.

'Mrs. Susie Young Gates is a daughter of Brigham Young, and naturally is a Mormon, and her husband is in the furniture business at Provo, Utah," said Attorney Gash, "but he misuneted or willfully made she was either misquoted or willfully made false statements when she said that there were only two of the 1,400 families living in polygamy in Provo. I can say and have the proof to back it up that of the 1,400 families living there not more than 150 are gentiles. I can name scores of families living in notorious and open polygamy in Provo. Furthermore, the postmaster appointed by President McKinley was removed during the Roberts-Thatcher contest because of his being a polygamist. It was because of the Mormons breaking pledges to the American people that I left Provo. Polygamy is practiced more than ever and I believe the Mormons will eventually get a law legalizing polygamy, regardless of Gov. Wells' veto to the bill recently passed by the legislature."

Attorney Gash gave the names of many business and professional men and men holding public offices who are living in polygamy. He spoke of one professional man in particular at the head of two families and in each of which there appeared two additions within

Mr. Gash is the author of a book dealing with the subject of polygamy and takes occasion to point out the many practices of the Mormons at Provo and Salt Lake City.

This is a day of magnetic healers, and there are magnetic healers over all the country who are doing a money making business, and many of them are making money in a way that to us is hardly the right thing; and hence it is no surprise to us that some of them come to grief because of taking undue advantage of things to turn money their way. It seems that the majority of these so-called nature-endowed healers care more for the money their powers bring them than the fact that they are able to relieve distressed humanity.

For some time one of these magnetic healers has been doing a large business in Nevada, Missouri, and has been doing a large part of it through pated and gone, long before it closed; of Mrs. Susie Young Gates concern- the mails. His mail business has brought him to grief, as the following will show:-

HEALER WELTMER CONFESSES TO FRAUD. Kansas City, April 24.—In the federal court here Stephen A. Weltmer and Joseph H. Kelley, secretary and treasurer, respectively, of the Weltmer Institue of Magnetic Healing at Nevada, Mo., pleaded guilty to indictments charging them with using the mails to defraud. They threw themselves upon the mercy of the court. Sentence has been reserved.

The institute advertised to heal "all diseases known to man or woman," giving "absent treatment," and did such a tremendous mail order business that the Nevada post office was raised from a fourth to a first-class office. The Postoffice Department at Washington ordered their mail stopped on a fraud order and the case was tried before the Attorney-General. The post office officials finally made the order permanent and later the grand jury here indicted Weltmer and Kelley on several counts, the main one being fraudulent advertising. United States Senafraudulent advertising. United States Senator Burton of Kansas, acting for the defendants, admitted the advertisements contained untruths and begged for the mercy of the court.—St. Joseph Daily News.

"WHATEVER is worth doing is worth doing well," has long since passed into an axiom, and should be a standing maxim of every young man. The habit of doing well whatever one undertakes to do, once formed, will be fixed, and become a sort of second nature. It will then be easy to put one's best effort into whatever is attempted, and success be almost assured by that fact.

To engage in any work in which success is to depend on one's own exertion it is not worth while for a man to either employ, or consent to, ways and methods that are dishonest. While in a monetary sense it may possibly pay for a time, in the long run it will not pay; for the loss of moral tone, self respect, and peace of mind can never be justly weighed in the balances of dollars and cents. Honest effort may a for a time bring disappointment, but sooner or later it is sure to win commendation, both of one's own mind and of all good men.

In no other work is honest work more needed, or more likely to gain merited success than in the spiritual realm where the chief interest of so many of us is now centered. So much is at stake, so subtile the enemy of good, so strong the forces against which we contend, so many the difficulties to be overcome, that nothing can be gained, except by honest, steady, persistent effort. Let us not be discouraged, then, but push on, leaving cavilings, doubtings, and hesitation to those who are too careless to labor, too indifferent to succeed.

EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS.

Sr. Annie Harris writes from Bavaria, Kansas, under date of April 16:-I would like to know if preaching is being done in Salina by our missionaries, and whether there are any of our missionaries in this part of the country. I shall be glad to have them call on us, and will try to find place for preaching. If no other place can be found, our house is open, and I shall welcome any of the elders. I would like to know if there are any Saints near here. Our farm is nine miles west and one north from Salina. We formerly belonged to the Eliston branch, Iowa, and came here three weeks ago. This part of the country is quite thickly settled, and there is a good chance for work being done.

Under date of March 21, while on board the United States Steamer Castine, J. L. Rasmussen writes from Manila, P. I.:-

I love to read the HERALD, and am looking for more of the publications which I have ordered; but it takes from thirty-eight days to nearly two months sometimes to reach men-of-war. I am fully convinced that this latter-day work is of God, and am rejoicing in the hope of what God has promised me as soon as I "obey the gospel." Kindly remem-ber us "Blue Jacks" in Uncle Sam's navy before the Lord of lords.

EDITORIAL ITEMS.

The Saints will do well to listen to the sober counsel of the leading minds of the church in the matter of the administration of the rules of the church law in stake organizations, rather than to pay heed to the voices of the too visionary, or too enthusiastic among them. Zion's exactors are to be righteous, and not a set of harpies to rob their fellows. Besides this, no law of the land is to be violated while church law is administered.

Bro. J. G. Morgan, of Upton Works Post Office, Port Huron, Michigan, writes that he is keeping a boarding house, known as the Upton House, and he will be glad to have the Saints and elders passing that way call on

In giving the name of the Bishop's agent for the Idaho district in the HERALD recently, we neglected to give his address. The full address is Henry A. Evans, Malad City, Idaho.

In the Perth, Australia, Morning Herald for March 8, Bro. C. A. Butterworth appeared in print in a protest against the charge made in a former issue of the paper that Joseph Smith taught the doctrine of polygamy.

We have received the 1901 "Towa State Fair Catalogue," giving rules and premium list. The fair will be held at Des Moines, from August 23 to 31, and promises to be up to the usual high standard acquired by the State Board of Agriculture, under whose auspices the fair will be given.

The Macon, Missouri, Times, in its issue for April 19, has an illustrated supplement devoted to a description of the business concerns of that city. By a copy sent us we note the description of the business of Bro.

Palfrey, who has since 1880 been engaged in the foundry and machine business in Macon. The Times speaks of Bro. Palfrey as an energetic and thorough business man.

On Monday Metuora visited the HERALD Office, and had the pleasure of seeing a number of pictures of his old friends and acquaintances in the islands, pictures which had been given the office and church library by Bro. T. W. Smith, years ago. We were all glad to meet the brother, as his name has long been a familiar one. by reason of his long service as a church worker. We trust that he has been pleased with his visit to this country, and that he will feel well repaid for his long journey to meet with his brethren in the land of America. His visit has done good to us in that it has given the Saints of this land a chance to see what their brethren of the islands are like. His visit has brought the two peoples nearer together. We trust the time may come when more of the brethren of the islands can come to this country to visit us, and bring some of the sisters with them, so we may all become better acquainted.

The Oratorio Society, of Kansas City, is preparing to hold a great festival on May 15 and 16, in the great convention hall of that city. Bro. Wallace N. Robinson is managing the affairs of the festival, and it promises to be a great success. The Kansas City Star for April 14 contains the names of many of the singers who will appear in the chorus work, and among them we notice a number of the Saints. The Star also gives an interview with Bro. Robinson in which he gives his views of the prospects of the festival, etc. Bro. Robinson is a rustler, as the Oratorio Society has probably found ere this.

Sunday morning last, Metuora, of the Society Islands, addressed the Saints of the Lamoni branch, Bro. Burton acting as interpreter. address was short and concise, the speaker using quite a number of scripture texts to show the strength of his position. He showed that the Saints should be the light of the world, by reason of having the gospel, which is the light of the world.

Bro. J. F. Burton has presented this office with two charts of the Society Islands, - one a large chart of the Island of Tahiti and its neighbor, Moorea; the other a chart of the entire group. On the latter, Bro. Burton has marked opposite each island the number of Saints that were on the island when he went there in 1897. and in the margin he has summed up the total, showing that in February there were 1,578 members of the church in the islands. Bro. Burton has our thanks for his thoughtfulness.

Original Articles.

AUTOBIOGRAPHIC SKETCH AND IN-CIDENTS IN THE EARLY HIS-TORY OF THE REOR-GANIZATION.—NO. 17.

BY EDMUND C. BRIGGS, OF THE QUORUM OF THE TWELVE.

"Monday, August 8.—We went to Union Grove, twenty five miles north of Council Bluffs. Bro. Archibald Patten, brother of the apostle, David Patten, referred to in the Book of Covenants, brought us in his covered carriage. We held meeting at Bro. David Jones'. There are nine families of the old Saints in this vicinity. Bro. Thomas Sellers, Magahan, Samuel Wood, Benjamin Leland, and their families.

"Thursday, 11th. - We have held two meetings a day since we came to the Grove, and the Saints are very much awakened in faith, and today have appointed two weeks from next Sabbath to organize a branch of the church, and have promised to keep up meetings every week hereafter. Elder Blair baptized Mrs. Aurilla Pekinpauch, Mrs. Harriet Magahan and two daughters, Surbrina and Harriet, and at the close of the afternoon service baptized Miss Helen Maria Wood. About seventy-five of the old Saints attended the baptismal service, and as we stood by the water Elder Blair addressed the Saints again upon the importance of the ordinance and covenant of baptism which had been consecrated by the example of Jesus the Christ when he said to the forerunner, John the Baptist, "Suffer it to be so now: for thus it becometh us to fulfill all righteousness.' Confirmation meeting in the evening.

"Bigler's Grove, Harrison county, Iowa, Friday, August 12, 1859.—This day we came from Union Grove, sixteen miles. Found Bro. James M. Adams, who received us as brethren and spared no pains to make us feel at home, and gave us his views and hope. He has no faith in the law of lineage, and took great exception to having the church called the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, and will not accept of any other name but the name of Christ.

"Friday, 13th.—Visited all day with Brn. Adams, Phineas Cadwell, and some others, and expounded our hope, and made appointment for meeting Sunday.

"Sabbath, 14th.—Bro. Adams opened meeting by prayer, and then introduced Elder Blair and myself to the audience as 'servants of God, bringing good news,' and requested the Saints 'to bear them up with their faith and prayers while they should attempt to speak of the goodness of God' to man. We then occupied about an hour and a half, speaking of our hope and the law of lineage, and what the Holy Spirit had said to us concerning Joseph as a deliverer in Bro. Adams then spoke a short time and said in part: 'I believe you have the Spirit of God, yet I do not believe your organization is of God, hence will fall to the ground. for I think the church will not be organized again until the gospel is taken to the covenant people of Israel, for the Gentiles have rejected the gospel.' After some counsel with the brethren, we appointed a two-days' meeting and conference to convene on Saturday, the 27th.

"Monday, 15th.—This day we have come to Galland's Grove in Shelby county, fifteen miles east of Bigler's Grove, and vited with Bro. William Vanausdall, who accepted our testimony with gladness.

"Tuesday we visited Bro. Uriah Roundy, and Brn. Blair and Patten returned to Council Bluffs, expecting to do some labor at Union Grove and the city and vicinity, and to meet me again on the 27th for the two-days' meeting. I have an appointment for next Sunday in this place.

"Wednesday, I visited Bro. Alexander McCord. He is one of the soldiers who went in the Nauvoo Legion to the Mexican War. I had a pleasant visit with him.

"Tuesday, visited Brn. John Mc-Intosh, Jackson, and John Hunt, and returned Saturday to Bro. Roundy's.

"Sabbath, August 21, 1859.-I held meeting at eleven o'clock a. m. in the schoolhouse. Large audience, composed mostly of old members of the church who were well acquainted with the Prophet in Nauvoo. When I gave liberty for remarks, Bro. Mc-Intosh was soon on his feet, weeping like a child, and between his sobs he said, 'Brethren, this is the truth, and the same work I once preached, but I can't say anything now, only I am noted for wickedness; but the rest of you talk.' Brn. Vanausdall and Roundy both spoke indorsing our position. I had great liberty and power of the Spirit in presenting the faith of the church, and the Saints manifested great interest in my mission, and I have no doubt a good work will be done in Galland's Grove in the near future. On my way from meeting to Bro. John Hunt's, Bro. McIntosh went a part of the distance with us, and as we parted he clasped my hand in his two large ones, and with tears streaming from his eyes like rain, after hesitating some moments he said: 'Bro. Briggs, do not get down on your knees without remembering me.' " them up with their I will have more to say of this grand and good old man and soldier of the goodness of the cross before I get through this we then occupied article. The integrity of his heart was without reproach, bless his memory. Bro. McCord has grand-children now attending Graceland College. He had a large experience; embraced the doctrine in Canada; was acquainted with the choice seer in Far West, Missouri, and passed through the persecution of the church in Missouri and Illinois; was well acquainted with the leading elders. I will say more of these good men at another time.

"Bigler's Grove, Monday, August 22, 1859.—This day I came back to Elder James M. Adams'. He tells me today he thinks two high priests can baptize each other as Elders Joseph Smith and Oliver Cowdery did in the beginning, and that will qualify them to commence the organization of the priesthood, and he is willing to be one of the high priests, and he quotes, for example and precedent, Alma and He also advocates that Helaman. Jesus Christ is God the Eternal Father; in other words, there is but one personage in the Godhead. He is a devout man and has a nice family, and is prepossessing in appearance. In the week I visited Brn. Phineas Cadwell, Carrico, Charles C. Perrin, Jehiel Savage, and Libbeus T. Coons. The latter tells me of a remarkable incident that occurred in Nauvoo, Illinois. He says: 'I was present at the Mansion House or hotel, ostensibly kept by Sr. Emma, Joseph's wife, when he was about to start for Carthage, the county seat of Hancock county, Illinois, where he was arrested for treason at the time of his martyrdom. There were quite a number of men, all on horseback, and Joseph got off his horse and went into the hotel. He seemed to be in deep thought, and looked around as though he had forgotten something he wanted. He returned and got onto his horse again, but he still looked perplexed and in deep thought, as though in The second time he distrouble. mounted and went into the house, and again seemed confused, and looked around the room as though distressed in mind. He returned and remounted his horse, pulled up the reins to start, but a third time dismounted and went into the hotel, and immediately stepped to Emma, who was sitting in a chair, and laid his hands on her and blessed her, and said, "Thou shalt bear a child, and though he should be incarcerated in solid rock, yet he shall come out and make his mark in the world. Call his name David." Emma said, "Suppose it be a girl?" He answered, 'Call him David!"''

This very singular statement of Bro. Coons, who was a total stranger to me, impressed my mind several days. I was well aware that Joseph had named his child David before he was born, or I had heard it so reported, and I was quite wrought up in expectation of that event. And when the promised child was born and called David, I felt quite a relief and thought it really an attestation of Joseph's divine inspiration. But Bro. Coons' statement now led me to believe or wonder if there were not some disaster in reserve for the promised child, and ever since the misfortune that has come to that loved and honored young man, I have ever had a lingering hope for his release from the power that has bound him these many years. Another incident that strengthens my hope is the following:

He was appointed on his first mission to Michigan with Elder Henry A. Stebbins under my charge. The next day after his appointment Sr. Emma, his mother, said to me, "Be careful with David, and watch over him." I was living at Galien, Michigan, at that time, and these two young elders met me there, and we soon commenced the mission work together. At Ga lien, Lawrence, Hopkins, Grand Rapids, and other places, we held many meetings.

The two young men were of different dispositions, both very sensitive in their feelings. Henry was very studious and doctrinal in his discourses, backing up his argument by quotations from the Scriptures. His efforts were good and of a lasting benefit to those who were learning as at the foot of the cross of Christ. David was eloquent, poetical, sentimental, a popular preacher. He never seemed to be studying the Scriptures much, and quoted them seldom, yet had them readily to suit his convenience, while as a word painter he captivated his audiences. In and out of the church, all seemed to bring him the flowers and beautiful bouquets. He was handsome, and all admired him and never ceased to compliment his efforts.

We returned to Elder Henry C. Smith's, of Lawrence, and one day I was meditating over the marked distinction between these two young men, ministers, both truly called of God to preach the gospel; one laboring arduously to do his duty, and doing it well, yet never seeming to be satisfied with his efforts, and seldom getting a flower, and never a bouquet. and rarely a compliment for his methodical, doctrinal discourses, while the eloquent orator never seemed to cease to be praised, complimented, and fairly petted. Who blamed the people for carrying the young Demosthenes or Cicero in their hearts? I did not. They could not help it. He stood like a shaft of light let down from heaven while he painted the skies with golden letters as he told us of the love of God, and his compassion for poor, fallen humanity. We all loved and admired him. He was a had failed to keep their watch fires teresting.

prodigy, and all seemed to come to him without effort on his part. It was natural. I was pondering over the contrast between the two, and the thought came to me, Is it fair? Has Providence discriminated and showered such blessings upon the one, and he without labor or painstaking wears the crown of victory, and all the others by dint of hard labor may gain it, but more fail through exhaustion, fatigue, and distress, and yield to the inevitable and are lost? While these thoughts pressed themselves upon me, a feeling of awe and a calm, serene sensation pervaded my mind, and the Holy Spirit said to me, "David shall be no exception to the rule. His trials shall be as severe as any who have conquered or shall conquer and gain the victory and wear the crown, saith the Lord. Even so. Amen. A fear and dread came over me, and I felt that some unlooked-for distress was awaiting this beautiful young man of God. It all seemed a mystery to me then, and is still a wonder, but I confess that all this strangeness in relation to him has lent to me a hope and expectation favorable for Bro. David. God only knows what is in reserve for this once bright mind, who could gild as with golden lining every principle of the gospel to fascinate the seeker after truth. But I must turn to my journal narrative.

"Friday, August 26, 1859.—Elder Blair met me at Bro. Adams'. He has been very busy preaching the word at Council Bluffs and vicinity since he left me at Galland's Grove, and is in good spirits, and has returned here to attend the first conference held in Iowa by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, which convened at Bro. David Fry's residence, August 27, 1859. Conference called to order by Elder W. W. Blair, who, after making some appropriate remarks by way of introduction, stated that the object of calling the conference was to inform the Saints of what the churches were doing in Wisconsin and Illinois, and what the Lord was doing to gather the Saints, or to unite them in sentiment and to appoint delegates to attend the October conference to be held in Illinois. A hymn was sung and prayer offered by Elder E. C. Briggs. A second hymn was sung, and Elder Blair spoke forty-five minutes on the general principles of the gospel and suggested that it would be better not to organize until Sabbath morning. As the weather was rainy. but few were in attendance, and the assembly by resolution turned the meeting into a communion or fellow-Much interest and ship meeting. feeling were manifest by all present. The old elders made confessions and said they had been in the dark, and burning, and expressed the hope that good would be done by assembling at this time, and spoke of what they once enjoyed in the church, and hoped to enjoy again, though they had been almost in despair of ever seeing the latter-day work revived and be as it once was, a glorious church enjoying the Holy Ghost. The Spirit's power was manifest. The Saints had a profitable time, and all seemed to look for good to be done soon to brighten their pathway and hope.

"Sunday Morning, August 28.— Conference convened in Bigler's Grove. Called to order by Elder Blair. Elder William Vanausdall was called to the chair, and after some remarks and singing, Elder Jehiel Savage led in prayer. The president then stated: 'We wish to hear from Elders Blair and Briggs, who are from Wisconsin and Illinois.' Elders Blair and Briggs then preached on the hope and promises of God to the scattered Saints, and that the Spirit had truly raised up a standard of righteousness for the Saints. They dwelt on the law of lineage and the sure promise to us that Joseph, the son of the Martyr, would surely be called to the presidency of the church. At two p. m., meeting opened as usual; prayer by Elder E. C. Briggs. Elder Savage preached upon the first principles of the gospel. Elders James M. Adams, John A. McIntosh, Uriah Roundy, and Alexander McCord all spoke, and some others, and Elders Savage and Adams were appointed by resolution to attend semiannual conference to be held in October on the Fox River at Elder Israel L. Rogers' (near what is now Sandwich), and the conference adjourned sine die. The Saints were all very much revived in their faith. and seemed to think deliverance near at hand, and nearly all expressed their determination to serve God better in the future."

I presume the above are the only minutes of this conference now in existence, and it is a sad thought indeed that all of those who attended this conference have passed over on the other shore except the writer and Elder Thomas Chatburn, now of Independence, Missouri. I remember him as distinctly today as though it were but yesterday, as he stood, a young man, and gazed at me with seeming astonishment, but I do not remember of speaking to him at that time. may remember other incidents of that conference that I have not noticed. *

"Monday, August 29, 1859.—We returned to Union Grove and Elder Blair preached an interesting discourse on the subject of eternal judgment, and when he gave liberty for remarks, several spoke of their hope and determination to serve God more faithfully. The meeting was very in"Tuesday, August 30, 1859.—Held meeting at ten a. m., and Elder Blair baptized Brn. Wallace Wood, Wilson Sellers, and John Kirkpatrick, and after confirmation organized the Union Grove branch by choosing David Jones presiding elder, Wilson Sellers priest, John Kirkpatrick teacher, and Wallace Wood was ordained an elder. Also held meeting at two p. m., and another preaching service at Bro. Benjamin Leland's, four miles northeast of the grove.

"Wednesday, ten a. m.—Preaching again, and I baptized Mrs. Sarah Gallop, and after confirmation services in the afternoon, we returned to Union Grove."

(Continued.)

IS THERE A CONTRADICTION?—NO. 2.

BY ISAAC M. SMITH.

THE SECOND DEATH.

The Prophet Samuel, in the same chapter from which we have just been reading, speaks of the coming of the Christ, of his death and resurrection, and of the redemption of man. And, referring to the death of the Savior, he says:—

Yea, behold this death bringeth to pass the resurrection, and redeemeth all mankind from the first death; that spiritual death for all mankind, by the fall of Adam, being cut off from the presence of the Lord, or considered as dead, both as to the things temporal and to things spiritual.—Helaman 5: 43.

The first death was a spiritual death; it was death to "temporal things," and it was also death to "spiritual things." It was banishment "from the presence of God," it came "by the fall of Adam," and it was "for all mankind." And the death of Christ "bringeth to pass the resurrection, and"—"and" what? "and the redemption of all mankind from the first death," that is, from death both spiritual and temporal. And the next verse further explains:—

But behold, the resurrection of Christ redeemeth mankind, yea, even all mankind, and bringeth them back into the presence of the Lord.

Paul says that God "will have all men to be saved and to come unto the knowledge of the truth," and Samuel says they shall all be redeemed and brought "back into the presence of the Lord." Jesus said to his disciples, "I am with you alway" (Matt. 28: 20); "and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him" (John 14: 23); and John says "we are in him that is true, even his Son Jesus Christ." They were not in his personal presence, but as the church was "builded together for a habitation of God through the Spirit" (Eph. 2: 22), (and the Spirit is one with the Father and the Son, 1 John 5: 7), men are certainly brought into the presence and communion of God's Spirit when they obey the gospel, receive the Holy Spirit, and are brought unto the knowledge of the truth. But the end is not yet; the promise is to those who continue faithful "unto the end;" and hence the Prophet Samuel goes on to tell the people that the resurrection of Christ "bringeth to pass the conditions of repentance" and that "whosoever repenteth not, is hewn down and cast into the fire, and there cometh upon them again a spiritual death, yea, a second death, for they are cut off again as to things pertaining to righteousness." But how can a man be cut off again as to things pertaining to righteousness when he has never been made alive to right-How can a man die ''a eousness? second death," be cut off a second time from the presence of the Lord, when he has never known the Lord? It might be claimed that they were "alive in Christ," when they were "little children," and that when they grew up, heard the gospel, and did not obey it, they died. And Paul's experience would seem to sustain that view. He says:

For I was alive without the law once; but when the commandment came, sin revived, and I died.—Rom. 7:9.

But Paul never died the "second death;" for if he had, he would have been "as though there was no redemption made." After a man dies the "second death," mercy has no claim on him. And the Prophet Samuel shows very clearly who it is that will die this death. After telling them that those who will not repent shall be cut off again, he continues:—

Therefore repent ye, repent ye, lest by knowing these things and not doing them, ye shall suffer yourselves to come under condemnation, and ye are brought down unto this second death.—Helaman 5:44.

They must first know these things, for it is only by knowing them and then refusing to do them that they are brought down to this second death. In verse 50 the same prophet says:—

For behold ye are free: ye are permitted to act for yourselves; for behold, God hath given unto you a knowledge, and he hath made you free.

It was through this knowledge they were made free; and it was through this knowledge they were permitted to act for themselves; and they did not obtain this knowledge while they were carnally minded. Paul says:—

But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned.—1 Cor. 2:14.

And Ammon, speaking of the goodness of God, his mercy and long suffering, and of salvation through his great mercy, says:—

I say unto you, there is none that knoweth these things, save it be the penitent; yea, he that repenteth and exerciseth faith, and bringeth forth good works, and prayeth continually without ceasing: unto such it is given to know the mysteries of God.—Alma 14:66.

Hence those to whom Samuel was speaking had once been righteous, had once been spiritually minded, and had received a knowledge of God's will concerning them; and through this knowledge they had been "made free," and had also been prepared or qualified to act for themselves. And the teaching of Alma is in exact accord with this. He says, that by the fall of Adam, "all mankind became a lost and fallen people" (Alma 9:18), and that "death comes upon all mankind;" but "there was a space granted unto man, in which he might repent; therefore this life became a probationary state; a time to prepare to meet God" (v. 20). He says there was a "plan of redemption, which was laid from the foundation of the world," and that it should "bring to pass the resurrection of the dead" (v. 21); and that if Adam had been permitted to eat of the tree of life before he died, "the plan of redemption would have been frustrated" (v. 22); but it was "appointed unto man that they must die, and after death, they must come to judgment" (v. 23).

And after God had appointed that these things should come unto man, behold, then he saw that it was expedient that man should know concerning the things whereof he had appointed unto them; therefore he sent angels to converse with them, who caused men to behold his glory.—Alma 9: 24.

We might think it sufficient for men to hear of these things; but God, whose wisdom is infinite, saw that it was "expedient that man should know." Hence the angels were sent to teach these things unto men; and that men might know of their surety, they were caused to behold the glory of God.

And they began from that time forth to call on his name; therefore God conversed with men, and made known unto them the plan of redemption, which had been prepared from the foundation of the world; and this he made known unto them according to their fath and repentance, and their holy works.—Alma 9:25.

God first made known unto man "concerning the things whereof he had appointed unto them," by sending the angels to teach them and cause them to "behold his glory;" and then when men began to worship God by obeying his commands, he continued to unfold the plan of redemption to them according to their faith and obedience. And that agrees with the following:—

And he that will not harden his heart, to him is given the greater portion of the word, until it is given unto him to know the mysteries of God, until they know them in full.—Alma 9:9.

Coming back to verse 25, the prophet continues:—

Wherefore he gave commandments unto men, they having first transgressed the first commandments as to things which were temporal, and becoming as gods, knowing good from evil, placing themselves in a state to act, or being placed in a state to act according to their wills and pleasures, whether to do evil or to do good.—Alma 9: 25.

Man knew God, and hence knew good, before he transgressed; and after his transgression he knew evil. And now knowing both the good and the evil, even "as gods;" and God having sent his angels, and caused men to "know concerning the things whereof he had appointed unto them;" men were "placed in a state to act according to their wills and pleasures." And this agrees with Samuel:—

For behold ye are free; ye are permitted to act for yourselves; for behold, God hath given unto you a knowledge, and he hath made you free; he hath given unto you that ye might know good from evil, and he hath given unto you that ye might choose life or death.—Helaman 5:50.

Keeping this in mind, please read the remainder of Alma 9: 25:—

Therefore God gave unto them commandments, after having made known unto them the plan of redemption that they should not do evil, the penalty thereof being a second death, which was an everlasting death as to things pertaining unto righteousness; for on such the plan of redemption could have no power, for the works of justice could not be destroyed, according to the supreme goodness of God.

After the Lord had made known unto men "the will of God concerning them" (Mosiah 1:66), through angelic ministration, and by causing men to "behold his glory," they were "placed in a state to act according to their wills and pleasures;" and he then "gave unto them commandments." the breaking of which would bring upon them "a second death;" and on those who died the second death, "the plan of redemption could have no power," for they became dead "as to things pertaining to righteousness." Now read verses 13 and 14, in the light of the above, and it will be easily under-

And now behold I say unto you, then cometh a death, even a second death, which is a spiritual death; then is a time that whosoever dieth in his sins, as to a temporal death, shall also die a spiritual death: yea, he shall die as to the things pertaining unto righteousness. . . Then I say unto you, they shall be as though there had been no redemption made; for they cannot be redeemed according to God's justice; and they cannot die, seeing there is no more corruption.—Alma 9: 13. 14.

Alma is speaking to people who knew the truth, and of the time of the judgment; and in verses 11 and 12, he uses such expressions as these: "our hearts," "if we," "in us," our state," "our words," "our works," "our thoughts," "we must come forth and stand before him in his glory," "and acknowledge to our everlasting shame." Also read verse 28; and this from verse 29:—

And now my brethren, seeing we know these things, and they are true, let us repent, and harden not our hearts.—Alma 9: 29.

They knew these things; God had given them a knowledge, and they were in a condition to act for themselves. And they, having known God's will concerning them, could die "unto righteousness" the second time; but when they do, "they cannot be redeemed according to God's justice." But we are not at liberty to apply that language to any other people, only those who are in a similar condition.

But, says one, it says, "Whosoever dieth in his sins, as to a temporal death, shall also die a spiritual death."

Yes; but it does not say that "then is a time that whosoever has died in his sins." Alma uses the present tense: "Then is a time that whosoever dieth in his sins, as to a temporal death, shall also die a spiritual death." The language is peculiar, and may be interpreted in more ways than one; but I look at it in this light: The first death, the death "for all mankind, by the fall of Adam," was "being cut off from the presence of the Lord, or considered as dead, both as to the things temporal and to things spiritual." (Helaman 5: 43).

And now we see by this, that our first parents were cut off, both temporally and spiritually, from the presence of the Lord.—Alma 19: 78.

And

The fall had brought upon all mankind a spiritual death as well as a temporal; that is, they were cut off from the presence of the Lord.—Alma 19:79.

The first death, then, was both temporal and spiritual; that is, they were "cut off, both temporally and spiritually, from the presence of the Lord." And the second death is the same. The angel said to Nephi that the time would come when the Lord would "work a great and marvelous work among the children of men" and that it shall be Either to the convincing of them unto peace and life eternal, or unto the deliverance of them to the hardness of their hearts and the blindness of their minds, unto their being brought down into captivity and also unto destruction, both temporally and spiritually, according to the captivity of the devil, of which I have spoken.—1 Nephi 3: 128.

With this explanation of the first and second death, it seems to me that a proper rendering of Alma's words would be: "Then is a time that whosoever" is cut off from the presence of the Lord in his sins, temporally, shall also be cut off from the presence of the Lord spiritually; that is, be cut off from all communion with God and become "dead to all righteousness." But whether that is the thought which Alma had in his mind or not, his words cannot apply to those who have died in their sins, "not knowing the will of God concerning them, or who have ignorantly sinned;" for King Benjamin has told us that "his blood atoneth for the sins" of that class of men. It can only mean (as already explained in Mosiah 1:46, 51; 8:45) that those who have "willfully rebelled," or come "out in open rebellion against God," and "remaineth and dieth in his sins;" that "whosoever dieth in his sins," and "who knoweth that he rebelleth against God," shall then die "a second death," both temporally and spiritually, because "the Lord hath redeemed none such; yea, neither can the Lord redeem such."

The writers of the Book of Mormon seem to recognize only two classesthe righteous and the wicked—in the resurrection and the final judgment; and this has been quite a stumbling block for some. But let us look at it for a moment through their glasses: They understood, correctly too, that little children and all those who have not the law, the heathen to whom salvation has never been declared, are free from condemnation, are alive in Christ, have part in the first resurrection, or have eternal life (2 Nephi 6:24; Mosiah 8:42, 43; and Moroni 8:25, 26); and also that the blood of Christ atones for the sins of those "who have sinned ignorantly" and then "died not knowing the will of God concerning them" (Mosiah 1:66); and having some examples of those "who have ignorantly sinned," those referred to in the Bible. I confess that I can see only the two classes in the resurrection and final judgment.

I remember when Bro. W. S. Pender advocated the theory, a few years ago, that there would be but the two classes in the resurrection, those who belong to Christ and those who belong to the Devil, he was thought to be on the highway to apostasy; but if that theory has ever been proved to be erroneous, I have either failed to see the proof or was not able to comprehend it. And, today, I am not able to fully satisfy my mind of any third class in the resurrection. I find different degrees or spheres of glory, some of the sun, some of the moon, and some of the stars; but they are all Christ's, and they inherit the "many mansions" in our Father's house. I find some who shall even "suffer the vengeance of eternal fire" until the fullness of times, and "who shall not be redeemed from the devil. until the last resurrection, until the Lord, even Christ the Lamb, shall have finished his work;" but "they shall be heirs of salvation," "and they shall be the servants of the Most High," even though they are not permitted to come "where God and Christ dwell." (See D. C. 76:7.)

All these, whether they inherit the glory of the sun, the glory of the moon, or the glory of the stars, are Christ's, and there is only the one other class spoken of, and that is the sons of perdition. With this agree the words of Alma:—

Therefore, all things shall be restored to their proper order; everything to its natural frame; mortality raised to immortality; corruption to incorruption; raised to endless happiness, to inherit the kingdom of God, or to endless misery, to inherit the kingdom of the devil; the one on the one hand, the other on the other; the one raised to happiness, according to his desires of happiness; or good, according to his desires of good; and the other to evil, according to his desires of evil. -Alma 19:63

If they be good, to the resurrection of end-less life and happiness, and if they be evil, to the resurrection of endless damnation; being delivered up to the devil, who hath subjected them, which is damnation; having gone according to their own carnal wills and desires.

-Mosiah 8: 60.

We have before noticed this last quotation; but Alma 19:63 contains another thought that requires notice here. He says:-

And if their works were good in this life, and the desires of their hearts were good, that they shall also, at the last day, be re-stored unto that which is good; and if their works are evil, they shall be restored unto him for evil.—Alma 19: 63.

And he then goes on to say that they shall be raised to endless happiness, or endless misery, as already quoted. But of whom is he speaking? Is the heathen to be raised to endless happiness or misery, according to his works in this life? No.

For the atonement satisfieth the demands of his justice upon all those who have not his law given to them. -2 Nephi 6: 24.

Well; does he mean to tell us that those who have died in their sins. without ever coming unto the knowledge of the truth, are to be raised to endless happiness or misery, according to their works in this life? No; for "his blood atoneth for the sins of those who have fallen by the transgression of Adam, who have died not knowing the will of God concerning them" (Mosiah 1:66). Of what class of people, then, is Alma speaking? Please read again the testimony of Samuel the Lamanite:-

For behold ye are free; ye are permitted to act for yourselves; for behold, God hath given unto you a knowledge, and he hath made you free; he hath given unto you that ye might know good from evil, and he hath given unto you that ye might choose life or death, and ye can do good and be restored unto that which is good, or have that which is good restored unto you; or ye can do evil, and have that which is evil restored unto you.-Helaman 5:50.

But what kind of "a knowledge" had God given unto them? We shall let Samuel answer. Speaking to them of the resurrection of Christ, the redemption, the conditions of repentance, and the second death, he savs:-

Therefore repent ye, repent ye, lest by knowing these things and not doing them, ye suffer yourselves to come under condemnation, and ye are brought down unto this second death.—Helaman 5: 44.

God had given them a knowledge of all these things, and they were in a condition to act for themselves; they would be raised to endless happiness or endless misery, according to their works "in this life." And that is the very class of people of whom Alma was speaking. He was writing a letter to his son. This son had been called of God to preach the gospel (v. 20); but he had neglected his work, committed a horrible sin, lost the Spirit, and was in the dark, trying to justify himself in his sins. Alma, in writing to him for his special benefit, would naturally, in referring to the punishment of men in the day of judgment, use just such men as his son for examples; he would speak of the happiness or misery of that class of men to whom his son belonged; and, with Samuel's explanation of who it is that can do good and be "restored unto that which is good," and who it is that "can do evil, and have that which is evil restored unto you," there is no trouble in understanding Alma 19: 63. And as a further evidence that the above is correct, you will note that Alma says, in same verse, that they are raised to good, "according to their desires of good," and to evil, "according their desires of evil;" and also that he says "they are their own judges, whether to do good or do evil" (v. 65). But can a man be his own judge in this matter when he don't know good from evil? Was Saul of Tarsus his own judge "whether to do good or evil," when he was persecuting the saints? Were those who killed the disciples of Christ, thinking they were "doing God service," their own judges? You may say that men are their own judges, so far as they know right from wrong. Yes; I believe that. Even the heathen, who sin "without law," shall "perish without law" (Rom. 2:12). But they don't die the second death, neither do they come forth "to the resurrection of endless damnation."

Another text, similar to Alma 19: 63, reads as follows:-

For after this day of life, which is given us to prepare for eternity, behold, if we do not improve our time while in this life, then cometh the night of darkness, wherein there can be no labor performed.—Alma 16: 203.

But you will please note that the speaker, Amulek, uses the personal pronouns, "us," "we," and "our," in designating the people of whom he is speaking. And in verse 78 we are informed that they were "a people who had separated themselves from the Nephites, and called themselves Zoramites." And he says "they had the word of God preached unto them" (v. 85), but "they had fallen into great errors" and "did pervert the ways of the Lord in very many instances" (v. 86). Alma and his brethren, in commencing their work among this people, asked the Lord to give "success in bringing them again unto thee in Christ" (v. 109), and to "give unto us, O Lord, power and wisdom, that we may bring these, our brethren, not be brought about only on condiagain unto thee" (v. 110). How could they bring them "again" unto Christ, if they had never been brought unto him before? But they had evidently been brought unto Christ, once before, and had received the Spirit; and hence Amulek says to them:-

For behold, if ye have procrastinated the day of your repentance, even until death, behold, ye have become subjected to the spirit of the devil, and he doth seal you his; therefore the Spirit of the Lord hath withdrawn from you, and hath no place in you, and the devil hath all power over you; and this is the final state of the wicked.—Alma 16:206.

They had been brought unto Christ and had received his Spirit; but they had afterwards "perverted the ways of the Lord" and "would not observe to keep the commandments of God," according to the law of Moses. "neither would they observe the performances of the church, to continue in prayer and supplication to God daily;" and now, if they continue in that rebellion. "even until death." they would become "subjected to the spirit of the devil," the Spirit of Christ would be "withdrawn" from them, and "then cometh the night of darkness wherein there can be no labor performed;" that is the end of their probation (see again Mosiah 1:46, 51; 8:45), and they must die the second death.

DAY OF PROBATION.

Alma says:-

Therefore, according to justice, the plan of redemption could not be brought about, only, on condition of repentance of men in this probationary state. -Alma 19:81.

But of whom is the prophet speaking? And of what is he speaking? In verse 66 he says that "the way is prepared, that whosoever will, may walk therein and be saved." But can the infant walk therein?" Can the man who never heard of "the way" walk therein? And, if little children and the heathen cannot walk in this way, then their salvation does not depend on their repentance in this life. Mormon says that they "cannot re-(Moroni 8: 26). And King Benjamin says that "his blood atoneth for the sins of those who have fallen by the transgression of Adam, who have died not knowing the will of God concerning them." So their redemption does not depend on their repentance in this life, neither does the text quoted so teach. Alma was not speaking of the conditions upon which men can be saved now, since the plan of redemption has been "brought about;" but he was speaking of the conditions upon which this plan of redemption could "be brought about." He does not say that men cannot be saved, only on condition of their repentance in this probationary state. Alma does not say this, and I don't understand that he means it. He says "the plan of redemption could tion of repentance of men in this probationary state." But of what "probationary state," what "plan of redemption," and what "men," is the prophet speaking? The same prophet, speaking of the same thing,—Adam's condition after he was cast out from the presence of God.—savs:—

Nevertheless there was a space granted unto man, in which he might repent; therefore this life became a probationary state; a time to prepare to meet God.—Alma 9: 20.

And Lehi savs:-

And after Adam and Eve had partaken of the forbidden fruit, they were driven out of the garden of Eden, to till the earth. And they have brought forth children: yea, even the family of all the earth. And the days of the children of men were prolonged, according to the will of God, that they might repent while in the flesh; wherefore, their state became a state of probation, and their time was lengthened, according to the commandments which the Lord God gave unto the children of men.—2 Nephi 1: 70-72.

Please note that the days of the children of men were prolonged, in order "that they might repent while in the flesh." God prolonged their days till they were eight to nine hundred years old.

Now turn again to Alma 19. Alma says, "after the Lord God sent forth our first parents from the garden of Eden to till the ground" (v. 74), "that the man hath become as God, knowing good and evil;" he was then cut off from the tree of life, and a flaming sword was so placed as to prevent his eating of the fruit; "and thus we see, that there was a time granted unto man, to repent, yea, a probationary time, a time to repent and serve God" (v. 75). "It was appointed unto man to die" (v. 77), and "man became lost forever;" "our first parents were cut off, both temporally and spiritually, from the presence of the Lord" (v. 78); and, "as they had been carnal, sensual, and devilish, by nature, this probationary state became a state for them to prepare; it became a preparatory state" (v. 79). Now, "the fall had brought upon all mankind a spiritual death as well as a temporal." and "it was expedient that mankind should be reclaimed from this spiritual death" (v. 79). A great plan of redemption had been prepared from the foundation of the world; but as the man had become "as God." in his knowledge of good and evil, and had also become "carnal, sensual, and devilish, by nature," "the plan of redemption could not be brought about, only on condition of repentance of men in this probationary state." And right here, in connection with this, please refer again to the teaching of Lehi. After saying that the days of the children of men were prolonged "that they might repent while in the flesh," he adds:-

For he gave commandment that all men must repent.—2 Nephi 1: 73.

men"? Please read the remainder of the verse:-

For he showed unto all men that they were lost, because of the transgression of their parents.

The "all men," whom he commanded to repent, are the "all men" to whom he revealed their lost condition; and they are the same ones whose lives were prolonged "that they might repent while in the flesh; wherefore, their state became a state of probation." "He showed unto all men that they were lost," when he prolonged their days and granted unto them a probationary state; and Alma tells us just how he showed these things unto men.

And after God had appointed that these things should come unto man, behold, then he saw that it was expedient that man should know concerning the things whereof he had appointed unto them; wherefore he sent angels to converse with them, who caused men to behold his glory.-Alma 9: 24.

Not one man, only; for the angels conversed with "them," and caused "men" to behold his glory. He uses the plural number here, just as he does in Alma 19:81. And then he goes right on, in the next verse, and says they had become "as gods, knowing good from evil," and that they were then "placed in a state to act according to their wills and pleasures:" and he also says that "God gave unto them commandments, after having made known unto them the plan of redemption, that they should not do evil, the penalty thereof being a second death," and that "the plan of redemption could have no power" on such, "for the works of justice could not be destroyed." (See Alma 9:25.)

Both Alma and Lehi use the words "men," "they," and "them"—plural number-in referring to those who were given a probationary state, by having their days prolonged, and also in referring to those to whom the Lord revealed his will before they could become free to act for themselves.

Now don't forget that Alma says God then "saw that it was expedient that man should know concerning the things whereof he had appointed unto them." Man knew good from evil before this; they were "as gods," in that respect. But they did not know "the will of God concerning them;" and God saw it was expedient that they should know that also. Hence the Lord sent his angels to talk with men and to cause them to behold his glory; and God himself came and conversed with men, and made known unto them the plan of redemption." Again it is "men" and "them" - plural number.

But why all this? If men knew good from evil, was not that enough? No, it was not enough. God had But whom does he mean by "all given commandments unto man; man and would tend to confuse, rather had broken the commandments, and had, in so doing, brought upon himself death, both spiritual and temporal. God had a plan of redemption for man, but this plan of redemption must be brought about unto him in this life; for, if it were not for this plan, "as soon as they were dead their souls were miserable." And hence, "according to justice, the plan of redemption could not be brought about, only on condition of repentance of men in this probationary state." But what men? Those men who were cut off from the presence of God, and who were carnal, sensual, and devilish, those men who were "as God, knowing good from evil;" those men whose days were prolonged "that they might repent while in the flesh;" those men with whom the angels conversed and who were permitted to behold the glory of God; those men with whom God himself conversed and "made known unto them the plan of redemption." These men were dead, both spiritually and temporally. If they should eat of the tree of life, in their fallen condition, the plan of redemption would be frustrated, could not be brought about. If they should be cut off from the earth, in their fallen condition, the plan of redemption would be frustrated, could not be brought about. The plan of redemption had been prepared from the foundation of the world; but it could not be "brought about," that is, could not be brought to pass, or be made to accomplish what its author designed, only on condition of repentance, on the part of those men, while in this life. Hence the Lord prolonged their days, and gave them a probationary state, a time to repent. Alma was not speaking of the conditions upon which sinners can be saved, through this plan of redemption. That was not the subject under consideration. He was telling his son of the condition of our first parents, in their fallen state, and of the conditions upon which this great plan of redemption could be brought into effect for their salvation. Alma's son was in a similar condition to that of our first parents, and his salvation, theirs, would depend upon his repentance in this life, for he had known the will of God concerning him. But to apply Alma's language to common sinners, who have never known the truth, would certainly be contrary to all proper rules of interpretation. His language can apply, properly, only to those of whom he was speaking, and to the time and conditions of which he was speaking. And to apply that which was said of a man who had "become as God, knowing good and evil," to all classes of men, the ignorant as well as the willful, would do injustice to the speaker or writer, than enlighten, the mind of the hearer or reader. Apply Alma's language to our first parents, and to the conditions upon which the plan of redemption could be brought into effect, just what he was speaking of, and there is no clash.

(Continued.)

DEEP BREATHING VS. MOUNTAIN

I am always interested in whatever will multiply the sweets of life; and after noting what is written in favor of Rocky Ford, and other towering heights, I am led to propound a few questions, and submit a few conceded facts.

WHO WILL TELL US?

What peculiar constituent conducive to health is there in mountain air that is not to be found on a level with the sea?

Is oxygen the life principle of the air we breathe?

Is there more oxygen in mountain air than in the air of less elevated regions?

Why are we compelled to breathe deeper and faster as we ascend lofty altitudes? Is it because there is more life in mountain air than in the air of the valley?

If there is more life in mountain air than in the air of the valley, why do we require more of it to sustain life?

Can we consume more oxygen from thin air than from air richly ladened?

Is it not a fact that the physical benefits attributed to mountain air consist in the development of lung capacity?

Can we not develop our lungs by an intelligent system of deep breathing equally as well as by being forced to by breathing thin air?

Why are the same physical results obtained by intelligent breathing in the sunken swamps of Arkansas that are by a forced system of breathing on the arid heights of cold?

If you are living where the atmosphere is full of oxygen and life; where fuel is cheap, water free; where the bounteous heavens do the irrigating; where you can breathe full and deep and free, is there anything valuable to be gained by selling out and hunting loftier regions where you will be compelled to breathe deep and fast to gather up the particles of life you must have? If so, then I advise you to do so. But to those dear ones who are not financially able to do so (that is to go where you will be forced to use every bit of lung capacity you have), I submit a few facts hoping to benefit you indirectly by interesting you in the act of deep breathing.

"The blood is the life of the body." Oxygen is the life of the blood. You oxygenate the blood by inflating the lower lungs.

We can live many days without food or water, but not many minutes without air. We can live more days without eating or drinking than we can minutes without breathing.

We take more physical life, more oxygen, into our bodies in the act of breathing than from all other sources combined.

Therefore relax and breathe free, breathe full, breathe deep.

D. R. BALDWIN.
RAVENDEN SPRINGS, Ark., April 14, 1901.

"PREFERRING ONE ANOTHER."

In honor preferring one another.—Romans 12: 10.

Two extremes are shown in the exercise of official duty as touching upon the principle couched in the above language. One is, and by far the most frequently exercised, the preferring of another to do such duties we should do that are unpleasant, and choosing to do all the pleasant duties; and the other is to consider it an honor to prefer another to do all it is possible to secure release from. Both of these are equally injurious, both inconsistent with lawful responsibility, as imposed by a call from God. Every call from God is evidence of the need of another to bear the responsibility that the law governing the office to which that one is called imposes. To seek release from any of those responsibilities by securing another to do what we can do and needs to be done is equally dishonorable, with seeking to do that which the law of that office does not demand. Every office is governed by such divine rules as imposes upon each that which is necessary to the bringing about of results as contemplated by the establishment of that office, and to neglect any of those duties either imposes a heavier burden upon another, or else the good that should be accomplished by such divine organization is not seen.

When one is called to act in any of the God-appointed offices, the study of the law governing that office should be the first duty, and that study should be made with the confidence that the one who ordained the office, and gave the call, will give understanding, and thus assist in the qualification to be attained by the one thus called, that he may act the honorable part connected with the office. the law is understood there should be a consecration of every faculty of mind and body to the duties required by that law, and a corresponding effort made to seek opportunities to occupy, and thus show our love to God with "all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind," by the service rendered. To do this is to stand approved, and to honor him who has called us, but to prefer another to do those duties required of mine."

us when it is possible to do them, is not to prefer another in "honor."

"In honor preferring another" means to study well the conditions upon which preference is made, the the law governing, and the spirit in which preference is made. Not to do this and be governed by improper motives, as well as by law and propriety, is not to prefer in honor. To prefer another to do a duty which to be done by us would bring some unpleasant results to us, simply to escape those results, and let another bear them, is not to make the preference in honor; to choose another to do a duty that we know could not be as well done by that other,—and we should so live that we might know this,—is but to shirk a duty to the injury of the work, and this neither brings honor to us, to the party preferred, nor the work; to choose another for the sole purpose that if we did not they would be offended, or become envious, is not to honor the work to be done under the divine guidance of God's Holy Spirit. When the work of God is honored by our act of preferring, and the Holy Spirit has guided in making the preference of another to do our work, then in honor have we preferred another.

To seek to perform the duty belonging to another is dishonorable whenever the other does and can perform that duty, but to always be ready and willing to render assistance to another already overburdened, or in a condition not to be able to do the duty imposed, is honorable, and when chosen to do that duty for the other should do it with the same energy that you would perform your own duty, even if some thought you had assumed it, is commendable. However, we should be so well informed in regard to our duty as not to accept of any choice made to do, when not in harmony with law, or in the performance of which an injury to the work of God would result.

Being colaborers with God, and there being no conflict in the law God has given to govern us in our colabor, we should so labor that no conflict ensues, and to do this necessitates an understanding of the duties imposed by law, as well as the privileges and rights belonging to our office. To this end Jesus prayed in these memorable words:—

That they all may be one.—John 17:21. And Paul taught in this forcible language:—

Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment.—I Cor. 1:10, and Jesus desired us to clearly understand in the conclusive expression, "If ye are not one, ye are not mine."

With the present experiences of the church as well as the past, it is evidenced that the necessity of not only study of the law relating to our individual duties, but counseling together as contemplated in the revelations of God (see D. C. 85:19, 36, 37; 93:1; 122:13) is apparent; so that each may act in all diligence and devotion, and yet show himself approved, for,-

He that learns not his duty and shows himself not approved, shall not be counted worthy to stand.—D. C. 104:44.

And none should be slothful.

Do we not understand our duties, and wherein the law will permit us to prefer another we are subject to slothfulness, or what is considered equally as dishonorable, egotism, because of not preferring another when in honor we may be privileged so to do.

Preferring rather to be considered worthy to stand, and to see my brethren accounted worthy to stand each in his own office and calling, and of preferring another do it in honor, than to be considered slothful, or not counted worthy to stand, I have ever labored energetically, and devotedly, not only to bear my own burdens, but also when in my judgment another needed my help, and the law would privilege me to help him, and the work demanded it, I have sought to fulfill the injunction, "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ;" but when I have learned that my help was not acceptable, I have felt free before the Lord in not proffering help, and trust God will not consider me slothful in thus doing. ler me slothid in ... For truth's sake, I am, J. F. Mintun.

HISTORY AND THE HISTORIAN.

The Latter Day Saint historian, it seems to us, has a double duty to perform, - to record passing events and to correct the false statements made concerning facts and those individuals who have been active and prominent in the latter-day work. Such mistakes have been made and set forth in the newspapers and popular records of our day.

The history of almost every institution in the land if not correct can readily be made so; but it is a question of time when one comes to consider justice and truth being meted out by the popular historian to Latter Day Saintism. But we have reached the twentieth century, and that means something more encouraging, notwithstanding a sister tells us that "all churches, all speakers, all writers are against Mormonism."

With this statement before us it is no easy task to predict full reparation made for great wrongs done, unless, forsooth, it shall come about through the patience, perseverance, and uprightness of the Saints. Not only must "Holiness to the Lord" be engraven on the door posts, but also the golden rule be the shining watchword in all our intercourse with the world.

Our elders, too, as the sister says, give incalculable aid to the work, for they have "all this false history to combat and the prejudice it has engendered to clear away as they go out in the world to preach;" and she very truly adds, "a work no other preacher has to do."

There is extant one history that is unique and authentic. It has a saving power, and that is why it should be within the reach of the whole race of mankind. That contains the records of the children of God as found in the Bible, the Book of Mormon, and Doctrine and Covenants. If this be true, how necessary it is to read and meditate upon their pages!

As has been lately written, the best possible way to overcome the evil that traitors and the world charge the martyr with is "to live according to the message given to him." As a people we may have the happy consciousness of not having upon our record the blot of vengeance and vindictiveness when we have been persecuted and plundered and robbed of our rights as American citizens, and when our most sacred possessions were taken from us and "immolated upon the altar of passion and lust for blood." Blessed are the pages of that nation's history which can return good for evil, which can pray for its enemies, which can bless those who curse and despitefully use and persecute.

In view of recent events in China is asked the question, "How can we help but see the lack of a true Christian spirit where by the world it was most expected?" We are indebted to the historical investigators of these latter times for the knowlege that some claim, of the discovery of America, not by Columbus but by some Spaniards who crossed over the sea from China and landed in Mexico. Much light is being added in recent investigations, and there is, we as a people believe, much new historical matter yet to be furnished to supersede "the old, effete, incorrect records" and theories of the modern historian. Evidently we shall have to go to the archives of some very ancient nations, like the Lamanites and the Nephites, to learn what we ought to know.

We read that many of our historians, like Prescott and Motley, Graham and Bancroft, who have written recently, came into possession of many documents which have served to illumine the historical pages, not only of our great Republic, but also those of every country on the globe.

It is said that Carlyle wrote of Puritanism: "Few nobler heroisms how it was kept in safety and how were ever transacted upon this earth, I they came forth speaking out of the and it lies as good as lost to us." So, we thought, in regard to the pure and inspired writings of Lehi's descendants. So long as they are, in the popular mind, nought but fabulous inventions rather than a continuation of the Testament scriptures, not only is the entire work of God lost to the world, but also, judging from the fate of other histories, there must be further discoveries made to reaffirm the record already given. Some of this work is already being done by the archæologists.

As the gospel has been carried to nearly every country on the globe, the time must come for its influence to be more widely spread.

To educate and inform a nation we must begin with its youth. The Religios and institutes, the Sunday schools with their associations, the reading home circles with their bureaus and exchanges, and our own Graceland are doing a noble work for all who avail themselves of their The literary exchange privileges. connected with one of our Sunday school associations has sent out over ten thousand church papers to different parts of the States and to England and Wales.

As to history, the truth is what we want, and anything not vindicating true Latter Day Saint doctrine will not do to attach to the books of the church, quibble as their enemies may about them.

The weaknessess of men are not always due to their theology. As the acts of the Puritans could not be ascribed to their love of republican institutions and self-government, so neither could the follies and crimes which have been laid at the doors of Latter Day Saints have been chargeable to the teachings promulgated by them from their pulpits nor from their books. Historians will have to renew their researches and look elsewhere for the cause of any lapses from good We are thankful for revimorals. sions already made in some of the popular records concerning our people. The work is indeed "a marvelous work and a wonder," and the marvel and the wonder reveal to us God's power in restoring the gospel and the manner in which the history of the ancients was preserved and brought forth.

A writer remarks that one can imagine the position of one who sits down to compare a work upon his own or any other country when the necessary material was everywhere kept a secret: and does it not appear to be a marvelously providential act on the part of our kind Creator that the means have been placed in the hands of his people of obtaining the ancient history of this chosen landground fulfilling the poetic prophecy, Truth shall spring out of the earth and righteousness shall look down from heaven.

Campbell states that all Europe has "opened its records to the people, with the exception of England, whose state-paper officials at times permitted the examination of documents only after charging exorbitant fees.'

When we consider that the histories of other peoples have had to be revised and rewritten, we can afford to exercise a little charity toward the savants who have treated the writings of the Saints with ridicule and We would add a few contempt. thoughts of the writer mentioned in reference to some of the falsehoods attached to the history of our own America.

The pilgrims who settled Plymouth had lived twelve years in Holland. The Puritans who settled Massachusetts had all their lives been exposed to a Netherland influence, and some of their leaders had also lived in Hol-Thomas Hooker coming from Holland gave life to Connecticut, which has been called the typical American commonwealth.
Roger Williams, who founded Rhode Island, was a Dutch scholar. Penn, who founded Pennsylvania, was half a Dutchman, and
New York and New Jersey were settled by the Dutch West India Company.

He says:-

Here is a country which was settled by men of divers nationalities, although all American history has been written upon the theory that we are an English people with English institutions.

So, then, if the critics are so plainspoken as this, for he says, "Sir Henry Maine in his last works speaks of the nauseous grandiloquence of the American panegyrical historian!" what may we not expect them to say about Latter Day Saint historians and their works?

We read that Sir Robert Walpole, lying upon his deathbed, requested a friend to read to him. He was asked to select a book. "Anything but history," he entreated, "for that must be false." History, it is said, is like the work of the photographer; it depends for its accuracy upon the material, the workmen, the focus, and the atmosphere. Our history has for its materials the events which go to make up the experiences of a peculiar people and the lives of men who, like the early apostles, waded through depths of difficulties, and endured more hardships than those of the colonists in order to propagate the doctrine of Christ. Our liberal American institutions have opened the way, and the church been unmolested and her records preserved.

The scholars are delving among the historical documents, and France, Spain, Holland, and other countries are said to be aiding them. The history of France they have caused to be rewritten, showing the peculiar traits of the Huguenots "whose love of independence became identified with tion to this country." Their documents had been held secret; but we as a people have none that are inaccessible to rich or poor or to the people of any clime: not like those which they tell us are in the archives of the Vatican which, if attainable, "would solve many historical problems."

The increased unrest and seeking after light and knowledge are bringing about a greater desire to gain correct information. The prophesies of old are being fulfilled, and the signs of the times are full of meaning.

Thus the divineness and authenticity of "the books" is testified to. and we can patiently wait for the salvation of the world which rests upon their acceptance as the revealed word ABBIE A. HORTON.
INDEPENDENCE, March 18, 1901. of God.

Selected Articles.

JEWS IN UNITED STATES.

In all the world there are said to be about six million orthodox Jews, nominal adherents of the Talmud; and an equal number of Jews included in other branches of the nations in different parts of the world, many of whom are lost sight of by heredity, immigration, absorption by their environment etc. Recolonization and migration are bringing Jews into England and into the United States in large numbers. Probably there are one and one half million Jews in the United States, or nearly double the number existing in our country seven years ago.

Hebrew immigration is increasing. Much of it is from Continental Europe, especially from Russia. In 1899, there were 37,415 Hebrew immigrants, and in 1900, there were 60,764. an increase of 23,349, or 62 per cent. Very few of these immigrants settle in the far South or the far West. They settle in the great cities of the East and the Middle West. Of those who came in 1900, Connecticut received 828, Maine 72, Rhode Island 220, Vermont 5, New Hampshire 31, Massachusetts 3,821, New England 4,977, Illinois 1,863, Maryland 1,085, New Jersey 1,437, Pennsylvania 5,304, New York 43,653. New York received two thirds of the total Hebrew immigration of 1900 and New York City probably absorbed a large majority of them. The total skilled laborers were 21,047, of whom 21 were brewers, 269 were tobacco manufacturers, 6,031 were tailors. The common laborers were Total miscellaneous 9,484. 5.185. No occupation, including women and children, 29,980.

According to the census of 1890, the latest whose results are available, the number of Jewish congregations in that of Americans after their emigra- the United States was 533, 316 being is distinctly a children's heaven.

Orthodox and 217 Reformed. Connected with these congregations there were 200 ministers, 125 being Ortho-The total dox, and 75 Reformed. number of communicants or members of these congregations was 130,496, comprising 57,597 Orthodox and 72,-899 Reformed.

In Jewish congregations the head of the family only is counted. The members of the family are represented by one person. The number given as communicants, therefore. does not indicate the actual number. or what we should call members of the synagogue. It might more appropriately be called number of families. Members of families may, upon attaining their majority, rent a pew and be counted as members of the synagogue or temple, but they seldom do so until they have a house of their

The Jews in America have no religious head. Each congregation is responsible to its members only, and the statistics of the congregations are not periodically or frequently gathered, as is the custom in most religious denominations.

In 1890 there were reported in Massachusetts the following members of Orthodox Jewish congregations, 1,201; by counties, as follows: Berkshire, 26; Suffolk, 1,000; Worcester, 175. Members of Reformed Jewish congregations, 1,300; all of Suffolk county. There has been a considerable increase since, more especially in Suffolk county.

The Christian interests of Israelites are regarded as too important to be overlooked, slighted or prejudiced by race prejudice, or by any defections among Hebrew-Christians, however numerous or conspicuous. — Sel.

"DAMNATION OF INFANTS." A sad letter comes to this office from a lady who was once a Baptist, but is now a Presbyterian. joining the Presbyterian Church, she says she has discovered that that church believes in the damnation of infants, and as her three children have died, she is distressed beyond measure by the aforesaid doctrine. My reply is, that there is not a good man in the Presbyterian Church or any other church who believes in the damnation of infants. If any good man ever announced such a theory by voice or pen, he was, to say the least, a religious crank, however many talents he may have possessed. We hereby offer a liberal reward for the name of any man of sound mind and good character who will state that he believes in the damnation of infants. In the census which the Bible gives of the inhabitants of heaven, the children are in so large a majority that it

What else can you make of the saying of Christ, "Of such is the kingdom of heaven?" In that world the adults are in the minority. More children in the house of many mansions, and in the temple, and in the street, and in the towers, than souls of men and women. Let not our correspondent, or any reader of these lines, fear about the destiny of their little ones. I wish that all those of us who have come to manhood or womanhood were as certain of heaven as are the babies. No mother ever took a sick child out of a cradle so gently and lovingly as Christ lifts the dying infant out of the pain of croup or scarlet fever into the raptures before the throne. Indeed the better world is so full of children that if you do not like children you had better stay out of heaven.

The Presbyterian Church will at the next meeting of its general assembly send flying that passage in their creed which allows any uncertainty about the future happiness of any infant. My theory is that the offensive lines in that creed were either an interpolation by some one who wanted to make religion obnoxious, or that through inadvertence, or a hearty desire on the part of the members to get to their homes, that weak plank of the religious platform was allowed to stay. A swarm of flies and mosquitoes in Philadelphia on the 4th of July, 1776, hastened the adjournment of the convention that was making the Declaration of Independence, and those who were signing the document had to put down their pen to scratch the inflamed cuticle, and some disturbance not reported may have hastened the adjournment of the Holy Fathers who were preparing a creed for the Presbyterians of all centuries. Or it may be that some "prentice hand" put in its work while the old theologians were asleep in their chairs after their exhausting labors in explaining the eternal decrees. — Christian Herald. January 9, 1901.

Letter Department.

EXCELSIOR, Pa., April 12.

Editors Herald:-After thirteen nights of earnest contest, our discussion with one of the brightest lights of the Holiness persuasion came to an end with a complete victory for the truth. We turned all in our favor except the few who claimed to be holy, perfect, and could not be changed. Nevertheless, we succeeded in weakening some of them in the belief that they were the only people, and that all others must finally succumb before them. One of their staunch members was heard to say that the debate would ruin their church. Like Job of old, so sure of the right were they that they wanted the debate inscribed with "an iron pen, and lead in the rock forever." So they sent to Wisconsin for a man competent to take it down in shorthand and have it published to the world. I feel perfectly well satisfied with the results, for God was abundantly with us from beginning to end. Never in all my experience in the ministry have I realized such peace of mind, calmness of soul, liberty of thought, and freedom of expression as was enjoyed while defending the truth in this discussion, consequently, am not ashamed (if reported correctly) for it to be placed in the hands of every man, woman, and child in the land. Will meet in a few weeks to examine the manuscript. Notice of its publication will be given later.

My opponent was a very zealous advocate of his peculiar philosophy, and very fluent in expressing it. He was above the ordinary in fairness, and with his congregation and three ministers, entered the arena with manifest confidence of success, which could be plainly read in their countenances. But a change took place in their facial expression as the contest drew to a close. On Sunday evening before the close, after dealing such a death blow to their little image they had, for many years, serene worshiped undisturbed, and held up as the only accepted homage, it was a little pitiful to see them lingering around in little groups discussing and examining the chart which played such havoc with them, or like one expressed it, "Like mourners gathered around their departed friend paying their last tribute." We might have sympathized with them had they not made such loud boasts that they were the only church accepted of God and all the others, including the Latter Day Saints, were offsprings from the beast spoken of in Revelation.

The chairman acted very fairly. Had us stop with him part of the time, and made no hesitancy in expressing himself as being "on our side."

At the beginning of the discussion my opponent's people would sanction about every word he would say, but on the second night he stopped them, which was a very good thing, or the discussion would have ended in confusion, for about twenty-five of the leading people got together and agreed that if there were to be hallooing on one side there would be on both, so they came out the second night to loudly sanction all I would say.

For three or four nights his preachers would hand him notes while speaking, or when he would lose himself they would help him, but the chairman put a stop to this by saying, "Mr. Ebeling has no help while speaking, and I will not allow it on the other side. These two men for it." This fell heavily upon them.

On concluding my closing speech, the congregation cheered and clapped their hands. This started them again to yell, "Amen," "Praise the Lord," etc. Again the chairman arose and told them as long as he was chairman he would not allow it, and further said, "If I had not stopped it in the beginning, the meetings would have been ended in uproar, for there are ten in this congregation for Mr. Ebeling to Mr. Riggle's one."

The people wanted to take a vote, but Mr. Riggle would not agree when the chairman asked him. The only reason I was anxious to let it go to a vote was that he could not refer to the people as evidence of victory when asked about the debate, as he does when asked about the one he had with the Advent last summer at Rootville.

Brethren, I do not write this in a boastful spirit but only to add my testimony that God is with us here as he has been with many of you in other places. I can also confirm what Bro. I. N. White wrote a short time ago; namely, that all those engaged in discussion with him against the restored gospel were, in God's own due time, confounded and their shame made manifest. This is true with my opponent, and he keenly felt it several times in the discussion.

I took the position that the "rock" upon which Christ built the church was revelation, and when Mr. Riggle endeavored to refute it he could not say the word revelation, but would pass it by, by saying, "I cannot think of the word I want, but you know what I mean." The people would laugh while his face would crimson with shame. I am now perfectly satisfied that the "rock" is divine revelation.

In his last speech he lost himself entirely, and turned to one of his brethren and asked him where he was, or what he was talking about. This, I believe, is in answer to the fervent prayers Brother Baldwin and I would send up to the Father from our secret chamber every evening before going to the church. The prayers of Bro. Baldwin were far more beneficial to me than all the loud prayers of my opponent's congregation, the assistance of the three preachers, and the stenographic report of all my speeches to which he had daily access.

We went there as two strangers in a strange land, where we had never been heard of before, with the Bible in our grips and the blessed promises of Christ in our hearts, feeling bold and confident that if faithful and humble God would do the rest, and this we gloriously realized ere we left, by the score of friends which flocked around us urging us to visit them, and come again when the roads were in a better condition and preach for them. Groves and schoolhouses have been offered us, which we will occupy in the near future.

The following from the Semi-Weekly Enterprise, sent to me by an unknown friend, will speak for itself:—

"The religious discussion, which is now a thing of the past, closed last Wednesday evening. It was in session two hours each evening for thirteen evenings in succession. Rev. F. J. Ebeling and Rev. H. M. Riggle, were both sincere, earnest speakers, and each presented the truth as they understood it in a candid, honest manner. Rev. Ebeling and Rev. Baldwin left this place for their respective homes at Palmer and Sharon, Pennsylvania, last Thursday, both having made many warm friends at this place during their stay here, and it is hoped that they may return sometime in the near future and hold a series of meetings at or near this place."

Although the roads were in a terrible condition, yet the meetinghouse was full, and some standing, until the end. O, how easy it is when God is with us, and what a miserable failure we make of it when left to ourselves. I feel more like absolutely trusting God in the prosecution of his work than ever before.

In the far-off, favored spot of Zion, I fancy the busy scenes of the conference, and the many dear brethren who have endeared themselves to me by the pleasant associations of the past, the blessed privileges of quorum meetings, the grand schooling, all of which my heart yearns to enjoy, but cheerfully make the sacrifice.

I came here one week today unexpectedly, announced at the Sunday school for preaching in the evening, and had quite a nice crowd. Have been preaching each night since. The Saints have captured everything for miles around here. We can get places to preach in and congregations to preach to, when others cannot. A more liberal and benevolent class of people will be hard to find than in western Pennsylvania. All vie with each other in making things pleasant for a Latter Day Saint elder. When I read of my brethren in the different parts of the world suffering for the want of a friend, how I wish I could send them some from these parts to administer to the aching wants, and drop a sympathizing word, of which I know the golden value, by the absence of them in other fields.

Yours in the eternal conflict,

F. J. EBELING.

FULTON, Iowa, April 18.

Editors Herald:-Some thoughts have come to me about fasting. The Saints were to fast before conference so that the Lord might see the humility of his Saints. Was that fasting, or is any or all fasting acceptable before God? Are we so living that we by fasting and prayer can receive the blessings we seek or ask for? Our Master at one time told his disciples of a certain evil spirit, This kind goeth not out but by fasting and prayer. Daniel, by fasting and prayer and supplication, sought of the Lord concerning the captivity of his people. The Lord saw the contriteness of his heart and granted his request. He had lived as was pleasing unto his heavenly Father.

The children of Israel did not please God. (Isaiah first chapter.) The Lord there tells his children what to do in order for him to love, hear, and honor them. He says: Relieve the oppressed, judge the fatherless, plead for the widow. Are we so living as a people? When calls come to us pleading for help, do we help those who are in need? In Isaiah 58 we read: "Wherefore have we fasted?" The Lord did not hear them, even if they had afflicted their souls, because they did not loose the bands of wickedness, did not undo the heavy burdens, nor let the oppressed go free.

Did not the Pharisees fast? Yes, twice a week. Did God hear them? Did they fast unto the Lord God? No. Christ told us how to fast: Not to be as the scribes and Pharisees, but wash the face, anoint the head, and be pure of, or in, heart; do unto others as we wish others to do unto us; live by every word that proceedeth from the mouth of God; not thinking and doing those things that are not pleasing to God, and then fast to get in divine favor with God again. We can deceive men here, but will we be able to deceive God? No!

We should deal our bread to the hungry; the poor we should bring into our house. The naked we should clothe. Then shall we call and the Lord will answer. We shall cry, and the Lord will say, Here am I. Then the Lord will guide us continually; satisfy us so we will be like a watered garden, like springs of water that fail not.

If we do as the Lord directs, then his promises are yea and amen to us, but if we fail to serve him, take advantage of old or young, saint or sinner, we may fast and the Lord will not hearken to our prayers, but instead our fasting will be stench in the nostrils of our God.

While I do not fast as often as some others, perhaps, yet I do not think it wisdom to fast one day and the next day gorge these temples of ours, for we are not our own, but we are Christ's, and Paul says we must not defile the temples of God.

May God grant that we so walk before our Father that when we come before him with fasting and prayer, we may enjoy the Spirit of our God and that he will then grant our requests. There should be wisdom connected with fasting so that God may be honored.

Your brother,

JOHN HEIDE.

Joy, Ill., April 15.

Dear Saints:—It is through the goodness of Almighty God that I am permitted to write my experience in the last few months.

On December 4, my wife, little babe, and I went to Millersburg on business, where, at the home of my wife's parents. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lunn, I was taken severely sick with what we thought heart trouble. That night we sent to Joy for Brn. J. W. Terry and E. T. Bryant, and they came and administered to me and I seemed to get better right away, although I was bedfast. I seemed to improve for a few days, and was then worse again. My wife, not being a member of the church, sent for the doctor of that place. He attended me for several days, but the more medicine he gave me the worse I I got, until finally they quit giving me medicine at all. Then came the struggle between life and death. I lay there almost as if dead for two days, when the Lord opened the way for me to be healed. He poured out his Spirit upon me and I felt as though I could get right out of bed and show the people there that God has power to heal whom he may so will. There were some present who did not belong to the church, so they wanted to see if the burns and blisters were gone from my side where hot applications had been placed to relieve the pain; and when they looked, sure enough my flesh was as smooth and natural as could be. Surely God who had power to take away that severe pain also had power to take away those small scars from the outside of my body.

That was on Friday, and that night the Lord opened the way to heaven and showed me the different rewards, or the many mansions in his house, and I also saw many wonderful things that God, the giver of all that is good, has in store for all those who love and serve him. He also brought before my eyes that awful place called hell, and showed me what misery and torment were in store for those who love evil rather than good. And a voice said unto me, "Enter ve in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction. and many there be which go in thereat: because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it."

I often think, Do we as Saints live as near to God as we know we ought? Do we think of the awful place of torment that we are sure to go to if we know the will of God and do it not? Dear Saints, this reward of eternal life promised to the faithful, is worth all of our efforts in this short life on this earth of sickness and death.

Just one week from that time I was able toride home, a distance of seven miles. On the next Friday night I was taken ill again for some cause, I know not what. Two doctors attended me, but to no avail. I was out of my right mind and very sick. On Wednesday night they thought I was dying, but I rallied again. My people expected me to die at any moment. The next night I was so much worse they had the doctor come, but he could do no good, my pulse was almost gone, when I motioned for my Bible, as I was too weak to speak. When they understood me they gave it to me, and by the direction of the Holy Spirit, I turned to James 5: 14, 15. So they sent for Bro. J. W. Terry, who came and administered to me, and I went to sleep in a very short time, and when I awoke in the morning I felt much refreshed, and from that time on I have been improving, and am now able to get out of doors and around again. I am determined by the help of God to live nearer to him in the future than I have in the past, and to do all in my power to help spread this grand and glorious gospel of latter days. Hoping and praying for the welfare of Zion, and asking for an interest in the prayers of all God's people everywhere, I am,

Your brother in Christ, ORAL E. SADE.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 23.

Editors Herald:—As this city is near the field of labor to which I have been appointed, and as Bro. John McKinzie lives here, I concluded to stop and see him and visit the state capitol. Bro. McKinzie is now eighty-two years of age. He was baptized in 1851, and has been living in this city nearly fifty years; and the best part of it is that he, though isolated, is strong in the faith and is well respected by the people.

This morning I found and talked with two Brighamites. One of them expressed herself as being well pleased with my visit and said she expected to unite with the Reorganization if she found the truth with us. It was an eye-opener to her when I told her of the breaking up of the church into factions after the death of Joseph, and that Joseph blessed his son prior to his death to be his successor.

I received a patriarchal blessing before leaving Independence, and by it I feel comforted and strengthened. May God bless the patriarch. I hope others will be appointed soon, for surely I believe all Saints who can should receive this blessing. I enter on the year's work with hopefulness, trusting in him who is mighty to save.

C. J. SPURLOCK.

ENGE, Norway, March 31.

Pres. Joseph Smith, Dear Brother:—I just said to papa I would like to write to the HERALD, and he said, "Go ahead," so I thought I would write a few words from this far-off country.

I am so glad that papa is preaching to these people here in Norway. People here have been so long in the Lutheran Church that it takes a long time for them to accept this gospel, but I think when the summer comes there will be more people to understand it well so they can accept it. I am helping papa now to play and sing when he holds his meetings. Before, I could not pray in assembly, but now I can. I open my lips and the words come to me from the Lord.

I send my best regards to all my young brothers and sisters in Lamoni and all the other Saints. I hope to meet some of them in Graceland College, where I should like to study some day.

I had a wonderful dream last night. I dreamed that many people and my father and I were walking up a sandy street, and we were going to a building which looked something like a temple or a church. I have a picture of the temple drawn as I saw it in the dream. It was very beautiful. The whole temple looked like gold. It shone so in the windows that I could not look in them. But before we came to the temple we had a lunch, and we had meat for lunch, and there was one who left a large piece of meat on his plate, and I went and took it, and ate it, and kept on eating it, but I never could get through. Afterward I got lost and went another way, and I met some other boys and they wanted to borrow my hats and caps because I had so many of them, and I let them have some of them. I had a soldier cap myself, and I went on farther and farther, and I came to a place where I had to jump over creeks to get over, and it began to get darker and darker the farther away I went, and that is the end of the dream.

Hoping to hear from you sometime and that I may understand the meaning of this dream, I will close my letter.

Your brother in Christ,

AXEL T. ENGE.

Tahiti, PAPEETE, 2 no Eperera, 1901. Bro. Joseph Smith, Peretiteni no te Etaretia faaapi hia a Ietu Mesia te feia mo'a o te mau mahana hopea nei e te Amui raa o te feia mo'a atoa i Amerita na.

Iaorana outou atoa na i roto i te ioa no to tatou Fatu ra o Ietu Metia amene. No to matou hioraa i te mau faatere raa porao ore a to tatou taeae ra o Ioseph F. Burton e to tatau tuahine ra o Ema i te tau i mairi ae nei, o tei faatupu i te roo maitai no te Etaretia i teienei mau fenua rii, i tupu ai to matou manao, e mono faahou atu i te ani raa to matou i faatae atu ia outou i te Eperera i mairi ae nei, o tei ani atu ia outou ia faahoi hia mai raua i roto i teienei mau fenua rii.

Iaorana.

To outou pue taeae here i te Fatu, D. M. POHEMITI, peretiteni no te tufaa i Tahiti.

W. R. WIRIAMU, peretiteni o te pupu peretiputero.

PAPEETE, Tahiti, April 2, 1901.

Bro. Joseph Smith, President of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, and also to the whole body of the Saints situated in America:—

May you all be well in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen. Seeing that we have no fault to find with the manner in which our brother, Joseph F. Burton, conducted the affairs of our church when here, and also that of our sister, Emma, in the time past, which has given to the church a good name among these islands, we are therefore encouraged to repeat our request which we forwarded to you in April of last year, which request was that you would favor us by sending them to us again in these small islands.

Farewell.

Your brethren in the Lord,

D. M. POHEMITI, President of the Division in Tahiti.

W. R. WILLIAMS, President of the Presbytery.

This is a literal translation, and I also add my name to the request.

ISAAC S. HENRY.

Selected Poetry.

"THEY SAY."

Have you heard of the terrible family "They,"
And the dreadful, venomous things they say?
Why, half the gossip under the sun,
If you trace it back, you will find begun
In that wretched house of "They."

A numerous family, so I am told, And its genealogical tree is old; For ever since Adam and Eve began To build up the curious race of man Has existed the house of "They."

Gossip mongers and spreaders of lies, Horrid people whom all despise! And yet the best of us now and then Repeat queer tales about women and men And quote the house of "They."

They live like lords and never labor,
A "They's" one task is to watch his neighbor.
And tell his business and private affairs;
To the world at large they are sowers of tares—
These folks in the house of "They."

It is wholly useless to follow a "They" With a whip or a gun, for he slips away And into his house, where you cannot go, It is locked and bolted and guarded so-This horrible house of "They."

Though you cannot get in, yet they get out,
And spread their villainous tales about;
Of all the rascals under the sun
Who have come to punishment, never one Belonged to the house of "They."

-Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Mothers' Home Column.

EDITED BY FRANCES.

"What the leaves are to the forest, With air and light for food, Ere their sweet and tender juices Have been hardened into wood—That to the world are children; Through them it feels the glow Of a brighter and sunnier climate Than reaches the trunks below."

THE SCOPE OF OBEDIENCE

is as high as heaven, as deep as hell, and as broad as eternity. It includes each twinkling star, every pale moon and flaming sun of the untold thousands of shining worlds that roll in the immensity of space; each tiny blade of grass, with every varied form of vegetation up to the giant oak; every form of life, from the coral insect up to the myriads of glorified beings that surrounded the throne "of him who worketh all things after the counsel of his own will."

Jehovah said: "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ve him." Jesus, the great teacher, said: "I do always those things which please him." That at which Jesus aimed was that the will of God might be done on earth, as it is in heaven. Every vibration of the ponderous heart of nature forces its life fluid through the entire creation of God, thus perpetuating life in its varied forms and inspiring obedience to the laws of him that sitteth upon the "great white throne." From the first germs of human life to the fully developed and perfected and sanctified man and woman, each and every palpitation of the human heart should not only force its life fluid into every part of the body, but by its power should the principle of obedience be instilled into every fiber of the brain, every muscle of the flesh, every organ of the body, and every faculty of the soul. All our powers should be combined in rendering obedience to him who is the giver of every good and perfect gift.

This not only includes the assent of the mind that the laws are good, but the carrying into effect every provision of God's eternal laws. The laws governing procreation and the development of body and the perfecting of the soul; eating, drinking, sleeping, working, resting, living, and dying are included. Conjugal affection, parental love, obedience to father and mother, love for brothers, sisters, friends, neighbors, and enemies; the cultivation of spirituality, morality, sociability; the development of every organ of the body and faculty of the mind and power of the soul, is within the scope of obedience. Fully understood and properly complied with, it brings an increase of love, peace, and joy. It strengthens the body and enlivens the soul; it removes doubts and fears and makes the home a blessed place; sorrow and trouble flee away, and God and heaven come very near. It makes life worth living, and removes the bitterness and sting of sin; and even death, to the obedient, is sweet. The dying soul beholds the glory of the eternal world and reaches out its arms to greet the coming Lord, and joyously rests in the bosom of the Eternal One. Such is the scope of obedience.

C. E. BUTTERWORTH.

Dow Ciry, Iowa, March 12, 1901.

OBEDIENCE BY EXAMPLE OR PRECEPT.

Obedience, whether it refers to parent or child, is a law always in force. It may be enforced by our heavenly or earthly parent; but when by the former, obedience is always attended with a blessing, for the Scriptures say, "If ye are willing and obedient, ye shall eat the good of the land."

Scriptural obedience is clothed in these words: "To walk after the Lord;" "to amend your ways;" "to heed his voice;" "to fear him." This, it says, "is better than sacrifice."

We will now consider this principle as practiced in the family circle. As discontent or a contentious spirit is one of the first fruits of disobedience, those parents who cultivate it are setting an example which must bring the whole family under the rebuke, "They that are contentious," "unto them, indignation and wrath."

It is said that his servants ye are to whom ye obey. If parents are unfaithful and do not obey the commands of God, the children obeying such or following such examples become servants to sin. This cannot be required, therefore, but as Paul says, they ought to follow God; and in so far as the parents' precepts are good, the children should obey them. This idea is expressed in Ephesians 6:1, "Children, obey your parents in the Lord, for this is right."

We have brought to your minds the great blessing in store for the obedient, and now the darker side must be shown, for as the parent is seeking the child's welfare, he must enforce obedience by wise precept or something harder to bear in order to be justified, for the punishment for disobedience is severe and sure. If the parent can realize his own condition before God, how pitiful should he feel to his disobedient child, though he punish him severely.

This thought suggests the great responsibility resting upon the parent, the necessity for his own purity of life, and his own correct example. Our only guide is the command of God, and he says through his servant to the parent, not to the little child, "If we obey not the voice of Christ, neither of his chosen ministers, we ought not to be fellowshiped by the Saints, but remain in shame." Therefore Saints who are not living faithful lives cannot be said to be proper examples; and should they teach pure precepts, the children seeing their parents' disobedience cannot be made to have confidence in what they shall teach them.

Very unfortunate is the life of that child who, being reared in the church, learning from week to week there and in the Sabbath school, lessons of charity, gentleness, and peaceableness, shall hear at home evil-speaking from those "living in malice and envy, hateful and hating one another." Can we think it right to demand in such a place, obedience by example? We think not, but rather let the children old enough to know the evil of such things protest in meekness against them as did Paul in his letter to Titus.

When the mother begins to talk about obedience of children, mountains seem to rise before her. The weight lies heavy on her heart. There have been no doubt great sacrifices made in her life for them. She has, in her maternal affection, stood as priestess, supplicating heaven in her inmost soul for the welfare of her offspring. But her weaknesses lie like obstacles in her pathway, and to cultivate the virtues, to heed the voice that is above and to follow in the footsteps of the Savior for her children's sake as well as for her own, is too great a task. Ah, mothers! can we not do this for our youth and for His sake who has with prayers and cryings and tears learned obedience through suffering for us?

To the fathers and mothers who have accepted the truth, as Peter says, "unto unfeigned love of the brethren," we say, How happy your lot! Strengthening and being strengthened, loving and being loved, helped in adversity, cheered in prosperity, what shall debar you from receiving a good reward for your upright life, setting an example worthy of emulation and teaching the principles of salvation to your offspring, for the family altars you have raised, and the blessed words of truth read in their hearing.

There is nothing more easily discerned in a child than the indications of the habit of obedience or disobedience. By precept or example or by both the habit has fastened itself upon the child's character. If he has learned obedience at home, he will be sure to be obedient to his teachers and to show respect for his superiors, whoever they may be. The obedient one is known in whatever circle it may move. Like the apostle commending the Romans, we may say to such a one, "Your obedience is come abroad unto all men." and this worthy and noble quality in the children always reflects upon the parents and carries with it everywhere an influence ABBIE A. HORTON. for good.

THE BEST MEANS OF OBTAINING OBEDIENCE.

I have thought and prayed for years upon this subject, that I might bring my children up to obey their parents and love and obey their God. Parents should recognize the fact that their natural relationship gives them the exclusive right of directing the affairs of their own household; that the self-assumed responsibility of parentage makes such government a stern duty, and unless qualified for such government, they are unqualified for parentage. With such wisdom as nature, experience, observation, and study have given them, they should mark out a policy of government, and see to it that nothing interferes with the executing of that policy. Of course, this will be difficult and often disagreeable, but the path of duty, however rough, is the only safe one to travel.

Give the children some work to do and see to it that it is done. Let them have a little time for music and singing, and also a time for play. Mothers should join in helping the children to make home just as happy and cheerful as it possibly can be. We should be very careful of the example we set before our children. Don't fly into a passion at every trifle. Some people might learn a lesson by watching the little spider. It builds its web as oft as it is torn down with matchless patience and perseverance.

We should be careful not to be too strict with the children. I have known families so strict that when the children got away from home they were anything but good. And again, we should not be too indulgent. I believe one is just as bad as the other. But teach the children to love you, to place their trust and confidence in you. In this way we gain their confidence, and they are ready to go at our bidding.

Carry the radiance of your soul in your face and let the children and the world have the benefit of it. We cannot sit down and say there is nothing for us to do, for

"There's a work for me and a work for you, Something for each of us now to do."

JENNIE BAKER.

Dow CITY, Iowa.

HOME COLUMN MISSIONARY FUND.

SOUTH SEA ISLANDS.

Avatoru Rairoa$ 6 2	0
Manahu 17 20	0
Tikahou 6 70	0
Tarona, Tahiti
Niau 5 3	0
Arutua 5 4	0
Panau Kaukura 22 9	0
Apatai 3 9	0
Takapoto	0
Tiona 2 1	0
 	-

Total......$91 00

THE above is the contribution of the sisters of the Island mission towards the spreading of the gospel. Surely they have done nobly.

—ED.

Sunday School Department.

ELDER T. A. HOUGAS, EDITOR.

Henderson, Mills Co., Iowa.

(Send communications for this department to the Editor.
Address minutes and notices of conventions, etc., to "Editors Herald, Lamoni, Iowa.")

THE GENERAL CONVENTION.

(Continued.)

A resolution from the report of the Improvements Committee obtained to the effect that a "lesson committee" be appointed who should decide upon the lesson course for the Quarterly and also to act as the revising committee. But when it came to appointing the committee, it was found almost impossible to get persons who were willing to accept the responsibility of acting in both capaci-

Whereupon the impracticability of the plan was shown. It was then moved to reconsider the resolution providing for such committee. The motion to "reconsider" prevailed and when the original matter was again put upon its passage, it was denied. Thus the whole matter of providing lessons was left to the editor, and the work of revision was delegated to a "revising committee" exactly as it has been for some years past. It will be remembered that the manuscript of all three grades of the Quarterly is prepared by the Quarterly editor and turned over to the revising committee whose duty it is to "correct as to doctrinal and historical points only." They make any corrections that may be found necessary before it passes into the hands of the printer. Thus we feel that our work is done in a way that would preclude the probability of error, if not the possibility thereof. We are happy to announce that the revising committee is again composed of brethren who are known to the most of us: brethren in whom we have much confidence and whose interest in and understanding of the gospel work is unquestioned. Brn. J. W. Wight and Heman C. Smith of the "Twelve," and Bro. R. S. Salyards, Church Secretary, constitute the committee.

We might add that the duty of assisting in selecting the Quarterly editor usually delegated to the revising committee was not added to their work this time. The matter of "selecting the editor and fixing the compensation thereof" was left to the officers of the General Association. Sr. Anna Salyards whose work we have all seen so long and regarded so well was continued as "editor in chief," with privilege to nominate her assistants should she need any. We pray God to bless her and strengthen her for the work she has at hand.

It was moved to appropriate "$150.00 for the expenses of the executive officers of the association for the coming year." This is the amount usually set aside for that purpose. But it was moved to add $50.00 thereto. This amendment obtained, as also the motion as amended. Thus making the appropriation $200.00 for the coming year. There is not much significance attached to this except as an indirect indorsement of the work done by executive officers, and an approval of pushing the work further if found expedient. It is not always what is done that discourages or encourages as the case may be, but the manner in which it is done. The matter above referred to was only one of the routine items of regular business, but the cheerful, willing manner in which the action was taken, was cheering to those who had done the work and who were expected to carry it for another year.

Another matter, "last but not least," was the outgrowth of the meeting of the primary workers. A committee consisting of the "primary workers present" was appointed to prepare the matter they wished to present. Their report was acted upon and adopted by sections. Altogether it provided for the getting out of a "help" for infant class teachers with lessons drawn from the life of Christ. It is supposed that it will contain hints on the work in a class of very young children. Provide for the teacher what she needs to know about what and how to interest and instruct those so small. The matter has not yet been arranged by the editors, so we can only speak of what has been suggested. The editorial work was left in the hands of experienced and successful primary teachers. They are also experienced in the editorial line. Sr. Lucy L. Resseguie assisted by Srs. Dora Young and Audentia Anderson will prepare the manuscript. How soon this matter will be out, we are as yet unable to ascertain, but notice will be given in due time.

The officers of the General Association held three sessions of business and consultation prior to separation. This was in preparation for a vigorous year's work. Will you assist us? We trust you will.

A SUCCESSFUL SUNDAY SCHOOL.

To make a success in any line of work, you must be in love with that work; and this is especially true of Sunday school work. I believe if the superintendent, other officers and teachers make their work a labor of love—love for God and their fellow men—they will most assuredly have a successful Sunday school.

Where there is love there is harmony and union; and "in union there is strength." This is what we need most.

A UNITED EFFORT.

a complete harmony, like a sweet strain of music sang in perfect unison, the voices blending until you cannot distinguish one from another. Where this condition exists, you will undoubtedly find a flourishing Sunday school, the scholars partaking of the spirit of their elders.

The Religio has been called (and very aptly, too) "the Lord's training school." Do you not think that the Sunday school is a kindergarten and training school combined? Here we see the little buds of promise—the men and women of the future—lisping their first lessons from the Good Book, their little minds opening to a knowledge of God's word, just as the tender young plants open their leaves to the sunshine of heaven. "As the twig is bent so the tree will grow." Here, then, is our greatest,

LABOR OF LOVE;

to train these little ones so that they will make noble men and women. Then in the years to come, as the old soldiers drop out of the ranks, these children we are now training, will be ready to take their places, strong in the faith implanted in them from childhood.

If you would have

AN INFLUENCE OVER CHILDREN,

gain their love and confidence. This should be the first thought with every teacher: take a live interest in them and their little joys and sorrows; teach them to think; give them correct ideas of God and his ways of dealing with us. If you implant one good thought in their minds each Sunday, you will accomplish a great good.

Now I come to something which we consider very essential in the Sunday school,

THE SINGING:

How those little ones do love to sing! Therefore give them a chance to sing. A good plan is to remain half an hour after Sunday school and practice with them, then sing the songs they know best. What if they do get old? When that happens teach them new ones.

And last, but not least, I mention ATTENDANCE.

Where the Sunday school work is a labor of love, the attendance will be prompt and regular.

The responsibility is great, but a helper is always near. As a brother once said to me, (and I have never forgotten it,) "Prayer is the key that unlocks the treasure-house of heaven."

MRS. BELLE MCMILLEN.

For the Kirtland district convention.

INSTITUTE NOTICE.

Massachusetts institute will hold its first session at Fall River, Massachusetts, May 11, 1901, at 2:30 p. m. As this is our first work in this line, we shall expect a large attendance of officers and teachers from all the branches. Most of our faculty are normal graduates and will present work from successful teaching and scientific training in modern methods which will help our young teachers to better understand their duties as teachers. Come out and see what we can do for you, and expect to give in exchange your own experience. No business is to be transacted, but five full sessions given to class drills, methods, etc. Send your branch reports by May 5 to secretary, Miss Ora V. Holmes, Diamond Hill, Rhode Island.

M. C. FISHER, Supt.

Conference Minutes.

EASTERN WALES.

Called to order at Lydney, April 6, by the president, T. S. Griffiths; M. Bishop, secretary. The following branches reported: Cardiff, Lydney, Nantyglo. Elders reporting: H. Ellis, T. S. Griffiths, T. Gould, T. Cardin, Lydney, Nantygio. Enders reporting: H. Ellis, T. S. Griffiths, T. Gould, T. Jones, J. Jones; Priests, J. Evans, E. J. Holford; Teacher, C. Kelsey. A motion was presented by Lydney branch: Resolved, That we define strong drink as follows; viz., beers, ciders, and all fermented wines and spirituous liquors. Conference passed a resolution that we favor a reunion. A motion was presented by Cardiff branch that district fund be revived, and that all heads of families and those able to do so be invited to contribute 1d. per week. Treasurer's and Bishop's agent's reports were read, audited, and found Resolved, That no money be paid correct. out of district fund except by vote of conference. The spiritual authorities of the church were sustained, also the present officials of the A vote of sympathy was passed, as Whereas, It has pleased almighty district. follows: God in his infinite wisdom to remove from our midst our colaborer and beloved brother, Elder A. N. Bishop, we, the officers and members of the Eastern district of Wales, in conference assembled, herewith express our heartfelt sympathy and sorrow with our sister and her family in their sad bereavement, and we pray that He who doeth all things well may be a husband to the widow and a father to the fatherless; and be it also re-solved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to our sister and her family, also sent for publication in the HERALD, and also to be spread upon the minutes of this conference.

While we feel the church here has sustained a severe loss, we believe that our loss is his gain, and we pray that our Father in heaven ve the comforting influence of his to comfort and cheer them in their trial and sorrow. Signed on behalf district, Thomas S. Griffiths, presi-Spi he a district, Thomas S. Griffiths, presi-a Thomas Gould, vice president. Sunday eveleven a. m., speaking by Elders E. Lewis, J. Jones, T. Jones, T. Gould, T. S. Griffiths, and Priest W. P. Cox. Saints' fellowship meeting at 2: 30 p. m., during which testimo-nies and prayers were offered and all were cheered by the good influence of God's Holy Spirit Preaching service at six p. m. by Elders T. Gould and T. Jones, who spoke with good liberty. Thus ended a conference the transactions of which, we hope, will do good in time to come.

PAPEETE, Tahiti, April 6. Pres. Joseph Smith, and the Conference, Greeting; Dear Brother:—If your conference in America continues as long as some have in the past, you will get this report before you adjourn. I therefore send you minutes of our first session.

Everything is moving along very smoothly, except about half of the conference people have the grippe. Yesterday they were some better, and by Sunday I think they will be mostly over it. The Sunday school convention and convention of the Religio closed in good spirit. This convention was the first in the mission for the Religio.

From a little book called Tahiti I quote: "These islands are still considered the uttermost parts of the earth." To this I add, We are indeed in the midst of the sea and the farthest land from a continent, and yet you doubtless will receive this to read before the General Conference before it closes. If so, it will illustrate more forcibly than many other things, the hastening times and the spirit of man to run to and fro, also fulfilling more completely Isaiah 5:26.

Report of the Religio, called in this country, Society of Zion, as we found it quite impossible to find a word to correspond with "Religio":—

The society convened at eight a. m., April 3, in the church at Papeete, and made choice of the following general officers for the coming year: Neri, of Arutua, president; Bori of Kaukura, assistant, or vice president, and J. W. Peterson, second vice; secretary, Alfred Sanford, Papeete; assistant, Hiti, of Tikahau.

It was voted to grant to all who desired, the privilege to become members of the society without regard to age.

It was decided to allow non-members to become members of the society, with the understanding that if they did not reform, they were in time to be cut out.

It was decided that in case of expulsion the president of the local or branch society should appoint a tribunal of three, much like the pattern used by the church, and that in case of dissatisfaction, appeals might be taken to the mission convention, as we have no district conventions here.

Adjourned to meet at two p. m.

It was ordered, after the usual exercises, to translate and send the minutes of this to the general secretary in Temai, of Niau, was chosen treasurer. The treasurer was then by motion ordered to pay for the translation.

It was ordered that each local pay over to the treasurer one half of the money now in the hands of the local treasurers, and that the money be paid out only by order of the convention.

It was further ordered that each local send a report to the next convention, making known the changes and advancement or other work of the locals.

It was ordered that our next convention convene three days before the next mission conference in the same place of said conference.

It was ordered that the locals elect their officers at their second meeting in July and January, and that the presidents of branches be authorized to organize new societies the second week in July.

It was ordered to adopt the work of a lookout committee and a committee to teach and instruct the members their duty with respect

Neri, Toane, and Alfrede were chosen to draft a blank for local reports.

It was further ordered that no member of the society who is not a church member or any other person be allowed to smoke or chew tobacco, to drink liquor, or commit any sin whatsoever in the gatherings of the societies.

Adjourned according to previous motion.

The Sunday school convention commenced at nine a. m., April 4, and made choice of the former general officers. Reports were read from seven Sunday schools, after which adjournment was had until two p. m. The regular routine of business was transacted, after which a long and rather mixed discussion was had on the rules as published in the leaflets of instruction sent out by the association which had been translated into Tahitian. The convention failed to see the necessity of a man to build fires in the churches to warm them, and many other things as contrary to nature, as we had rather have some one to fan us than to warm us, so the rules were laid on the table until next convention. In the meantime they were ordered to be printed in the Orometua and a better opportunity thereby given to select such as are applicable to this country, and rejecting the Adjournment was then had to convene two days previous to the convening of the next mission conference.

On the 5th of April a program of songs and religious dialogues was indulged in from eight to eleven a. m., from two to five p. m., and from seven to ten p. m. At the morning exercise the mayor and his private secretary attended and were well pleased. The following is a list of the number of questions and answers committed to memory by the various schools, for which the highest receives a banner to hold until another school does better. Rairoa committed to memory 1,760 answers, Manihi 1,549, Niau 1,102, Maketea 1,000, Arutua 520, Tarona 100. There are nearly 600 members present and about 200 children and relatives not members. Last night there were fully 2,200 persons in the house and in the yard besides many in the road whom the police would not allow to come in the yard.

Conference convened at eight a. m. J. W. Peterson, in the chair, called the meeting to order. After singing and prayer, the following officers were chosen to preside over the conference: J. W. Peterson president, Lui first counselor, Pohemeti second counselor, Teuira secretary, Turatahi first assistant secretary, Alfred second assistant Twelve policemen were chosen secretary. to keep order in the yard and eight deacons to prepare the house for meetings and keep order. Minutes of last conference were read. Mrs. J. W. Peterson was chosen foreign secretary. The steamer goes in a few minutes, so I am compelled to close. The rest of the minutes will be sent later. Still reading the minutes,

In haste and gospel bonds, MRS. J. W. PETERSON.

The April number of the Journal of Microscopy, published by Bausch and Lomb, Rochester, New York, contains an interesting article from the pen of Prof. C. C. Nutting on "The Laboratory Equipment of the Bahama Expedition' from the University of Iowa." This is of especial interest to Iowans, though the Journal, as usual, has other interesting and instructive articles.

Miscellaneous Department.

MEMORIAL.

Whereas, It has pleased God in his good providence to remove from our midst our worthy brother and colaborer, David Dancer;

Whereas, In him we recognized a good and efficient member of the Standing High Council, as also an efficient, faithful worker in every department of the church wherein he was called to act, be it

Resolved, That we as president and members of the Standing High Council of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Lat-ter Day Saints take this means of expressing, so far as our meager language can, our deep regret at the loss from our number of this regret at the loss from our number of this our departed brother; but while we mourn our loss, we rejoice in the blessed assurance afforded in the gospel that our heavenly Father doeth all things well, and that our brother has, in infinite wisdom, been taken to the paradise of God, preparatory to his receiving a glorious reward, which is laid up for all those who love the appearance of the Lord Jesus Christ; and we hereby extend our deepest sympathy with his bereaved but faithful widow, praying that God may bless, comfort, and sustain her through life, and in the end give unto her an abundant entrance into the rest that remains for the people of Editors Herald:—At a meeting of the Standing High Council, held at Independence, Missouri, April 20, 1901, I was authorized to submit the above for publication.

In gospel bonds, ROBT. M. ELVIN, Secretary.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED AND BUSINESS TRANSACTED BY QUORUM OF TWELVE.

The following preambles and resolution were adopted by the Quorum of Twelve at its sessions during the Annual Conference of 1901 at Independence, Missouri, and ordered published.

"Whereas, It is important to know how and to what extent a minister of the church is affected by having charges preferred against him; and

'Whereas, It becomes necessary to determine whether a minister of the church is required to cease official work upon his being notified that charges have been preferred against him, embodying offenses of a character sufficiently grave, if proven, to justify his silence from official duty, therefore be it "Resolved, That where charges of the above character are preferred, and entertained, the minister so affected should be held as silenced from the time said charges are entertained by the authority having jurisdiction, and should so remain subject to action of proper church tribunal. In cases of doubt as to whether the charges are or are not suffi-ciently grave to justify silencing the officer reference should be had to the missionary in charge. If, however, said charges are preferred against the missionary in charge, or if he be an interested party, or if for any other reason he be disqualified, reference should be had to the First Presidency of the church, and the advice given by the missionary in charge, or the First Presidency, as the case may be, should govern in the case."

On April 23, the following communication was received by the quorum and considered:—
"To the Quorum of the Twelve, Greeting:

Brethren of the quorum, I do greatly desire to be restored to the fellowship and privileges of the quarum. I hereby withdraw the injurious and recriminating statements I have made against the motives of those who have taken part in this affair, without reserve or self-justification.
"I accede to the verdict of the quorum, and submit thereto, as I also do to the conference action on the report of the council. And further, I hereby present to the quorum my apology to the quorum, to the church, and to all persons who have been injured in any wise by me during the continuance of this affair; and I hereby declare that should the privileges of the quorum be accorded to me, I will engage in the duties of my calling with a more careful supervision of speech and conduct; and will so far as wisdom may be given to me serve the Master in such way that no wrong, nor harm shall come to the church, wrong, nor harm snam come to the the cause, or my colaborers therein.

"Respectfully,
"E C. BRIGGS.

"Independence, Missouri, April 23, 1901.

The following resolution was adopted based upon the above paper:—

"Resolved, That we accept the restitution made by Bro. Briggs, as contained in the document submitted by him today, and that all disability imposed upon him by our action of last year be removed, and he be restored to quorum privileges."

The quorum sustained its present officers, and adjourned to meet at Lamoni, Iowa, March 20, 1902. Published by order of Attest, HEMAN C. SMITH, Secretary.

PASTORAL.

Editors Herald:-Please add to my list of appointments, C. H. Porter, Nebraska, for-JAMES CAFFALL. mer field.

To the Saints and Officers of the Branches and Districts, and Associate Laborers, Greeting:-One of the most eventful conferences in the history of the church has closed, and it has been thought wise to place me again in charge of the Michigan and Indiana mission, and as there appears to be a new era dawning upon the church, I hope all will take new courage and labor for the good of all, the glory of God, and salvation of all who love the truth.

In looking over the mission I do not think it necessary to make any change with those in charge as submissionaries of the different parts of the mission. Therefore let J. J. Cornish continue in charge of the Northern and Eastern districts in Michigan; W. E. Peak in charge of that part of the Southern district in Michigan; G. A. Smith in charge of the state of Indiana, he and Bro. Peak to assist each other as they may wish, as part of the district is in nothern Indiana.

I wish that so far as it can be done the laborers will go two and two and open up in new places and seek for halls, schoolhouses, other places to hold meetings, doing missionary work, not so much in the branches, and I feel assured if all will do so as much as they can, their labors will be blessed. I hope to be in the mission as much as I can, labor-ing for the good of all. Will attend as many of the district conferences as I can.

I hope the Saints and friends will remember their tithes and offerings and thereby help to spread the work, and lay up for themselves a reward as much as those who are preaching the gospel.

I hope the missionaries will not hunt for troubles among the Saints. If there should be any, let the local officers attend to them. Let us preach, exhort, encourage, and advo-cate "peace and good will to all." May the blessing of the Lord attend all in their labor of love, is the prayer and desire of your fellow laborer, JOHN H. LAKE, Missionary in Charge.

To All it May Concern:—We want to make a greater effort to advance the good cause than ever before in this section. We want to hear from every Saint in the bounds of Texas Central district, as to what you think about holding a reunion this summer somewhere in the district. We also want to know the demands for preaching in your several sections, especially where you scattered members live. Do all you can to live your religion and make new openings for preaching, and let us hear from you at once.

Your colaborer,

Cook's Point, Texas, April 25.

To the Missionary Force in Northern Illinois and Wisconsin, Greeting:-It has been thought proper for me to be associated with you again during the coming conference year, notwithstanding that much of my time may be required in the work of the Historian as in the year that is now past. I hope, how-ever, to devote more of my time this year than in the past to missionary work, and by the close of the year to have the historical work brought up to date so that whoever is Historian another year may not be required to devote himself so exclusively to the office.

To the end that the missionary work may be carried on systematically, and matters pertaining to our department may have prompt attention, I hereby appoint the following brethren in charge of the several "Fields of Labor" as provided for in rules hitherto adopted:-

Elder C. H. Burr, of the Seventy, in charge of Wisconsin. Elder D. M. Rudd, of the Seventy, in charge of the Northeast Illinois district, except the city of Chicago.

Elder F. A. Russell, of the Seventy, in charge of the Kewanee district.

Elder F. M. Sheehy, of the High Priests, in charge in the city of Chicago.

For the present, Elders W. A. McDowell, A. V. Closson, A. L. Whiteaker, T. W. Chatburn, M. F. Gowell, and W. P. Robinson will report to Bro. Burr.

Elders A. J. Keck, Henry Southwick, and J. T. Hackett will report to Bro. Rudd.

Elders J. Arthur Davies, E A. Stedman, and O. H. Bailey will report to Bro. Russell. Bro. G. H. Graves will report to Bro.

Sheehy.

Bro. E. M. Wildermuth, who is appointed Northern Illinois and Wisconsin, will divide his labors between the two fields as he may arrange with those in charge, reporting where the labor is done.

Bro. Peter Muceus will labor in Wisconsin until he starts to his appointed field of labor, reporting his labor to Bro. Burr.

Will those in charge please publish their permanent addresses as soon as possible that others may know where to find them?

I hope that those not in charge will remember that reports are due to their respective missionaries in charge on the first day of July, first day of October, first day of January, and first day of March.

Please be prompt that those in charge may report to me on the tenth day of the foregoing months.

Trusting that peace and divine guidance may attend us and bless our labors during the year, I am, your colaborer for the cause of HEMAN C. SMITH.

Box 329, Lamoni, Decatur county, Iowa.

Being in charge of Northeast Kansas district, by order of I. N. White, missionary in I wish to give notice to those laboring under my direction, Elder J. W. Roberts and Priests G. W. Beebe and F. J. Pierce, to enter your appointed field as early as possible and enter in upon your duty to preach the gospel. Don't meddle with branch affairs. Let the local authorities settle their trouble, or appeal to those in charge. Push out and tell the people of the world the old, old gos-pel story. Act wisely in your ministerial pel story. Act wisely in your ministerial labor. Report to me your labor done, sermons preached, baptisms, and all items of interest on the first day of the months of July, October, January, and March. My address is Independence, Missouri.

J. C. Foss.

CONFERENCE NOTICES.

Fremont district will convene at Henderson, Iowa, Saturday, June 1, at ten a. m. Convention of the Sunday school association will convene at the same place on The sday eve, May 30. Come all that can to be a of these meetings and help in the work ( F to Lord. D. Houg. 5

Galland's Grove will convene at the Saints' chapel, Dow City, Iowa, Saturday, June 1, at 8: 45 a.m., holding over Sunday. A full report and a good representation are desired, as important business will be considered.

C. E. BUTTERWORTH, C. J. HUNT, Presidents.

Eastern Maine will convene at South Addison, June 1 and 2. Hope the Saints will make an effort to get there and be blessed. J. N. AMES, Pres.

Southern district of Nebraska will meet at Nebraska City, May 26, 27, 1901. We hope to have a full report of all the branches, also all the ministry in the district. Come all, and let us have a season of refreshing from the presence of the Lord.

J. W. WALDSMITH, Pres.

PRAYER UNION.

SPECIAL REQUESTS FOR PRAYER.

Dear Sisters of the Prayer Union:-After fasting and prayer, I send in a request that the Prayer Union and Saints will fast and pray on the second Thursday in May, the ninth, that if it be God's will, Bro. A. J. Myers may be restored to health. He has had to give up preaching, and we have no one to take his place. Also if it be God's will, to restore my husband to health and bring him with our children into the church. which I have so long prayed for.

Your sister.

MRS. M. A. CHRISTY. FAIRBURY, Nebraska.

WANTED.

A practical book binder; a brother preferred. Apply to JOHN SMITH, Manager.

DIED.

WALLING.—At Glenwood, Iowa, April 13, 1901, Mildred Pauline, infant daughter of Bro. Benjamin and Mrs. B. Walling, aged 5 days. Funeral service by A. J. Davidson at residence of bereaved ones.

KRIEBEL.-Infant daughter of Bro. and Sr. Charles Kriebel, Wellston, Ohio. Born June 24, 1900, and died March 6, 1901. Funeral sermon by Elder J. L. Goodrich, at Mt. Carmel church.

SHINNICK.-Frone Shinnick, wife of J. A. Shinnick, at Detroit, Michigan, aged 33 years. She was baptized June, 1877, by Elder Robert Davis, at Cedar Springs, Ontario. Always a firm believer and a faithful worker in the cause. She leaves an infant daughter, Lucy Clare, husband, father, mother, brothers, and sisters to mourn their loss, also with expectation of embracing Ella, her firstborn, who preceded her. Elder George Shippy, assisted by Elder Liddy, conducted funeral services at her residence, April 13, after which she was laid to rest in Woodmere cemetery to await the resurrection morn.

Never give up to children if they are in the wrong; do not rob them of a memory that their mother and father were always true to their principles.—May Ladies' Home Journal.

The Saints' Herald.

(Established 1860)

Published Every Wednesday, at Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Subscription price, $1.50 per year.

Address communications for publication to "Editors Herald."

"Editors Herald."
Marriage, birth, and death notices: Marriages.
$1.00 per 100 words or fraction thereof. Births,
50 cents per 75 words or fraction thereof. Deaths.
100 words free, above that number 50 cents per 100 words or fraction thereof. To insure prompt insertion, make remittance with notice.
For advertising rates apply to business mana-

All errors in the filling of orders or rendering of All errors in the filling of orders or rendering of accounts should be reported immediately, as receipts for all money received are sent within two days after reaching the office.

Send all business letters and make all remittances payable to Herald Publishing House, Lock Box E, Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Entered at post office, Lamoni, Iowa, as second-class mail matter.

Subscriptions received for Zion's Ensign, also orders for all kinds of Ensign Publications.

The library is now within the reach of all classes. Competition between the publishers and the multiplicity of authors has forever banished the day when a small volume was a luxury, and the book stalls have placed treasures of literature where the poor may reach them. The poor in purse may become the rich in spirit. Books are so cheap that they often materialize in the hands of those who love them; and sometimes the possessor hardly knows how or whence they came. So the library has not only become a feature of the home, but a necessity. The collection of books is bound to be made. It comes without effort. There is always room for one more book, and the first thing you know there is a caseful, and by and by the case runs over and another case materializes from somewhere. Maybe the family carpenter nails it together, and some one else gives it a coat of paint; there is a roomful, and lo! you have a library.
You make room for the books you love.—
Haryot Holt Cahoon in the May Woman's Home Companion.

CHINESE TRAITS.

While China is as autocratic as is Russia, she is, at the same time, the most democratic country in the world. This may seem a paradox, but, at the worst, the Chinese Government is a patriarchal despositism. In the village the head man rules as a father would rule a family. Lawsuits are abhorred. There are no lawyers, no jury trials. Equity governs the judgments of the courts. I knew of a case in Shanghai in which there was a finding for the plaintiff; but because his conduct had not been perfectly just the conduct had not been perfectly just, the amount assessed in his favor was ordered to be paid to a charitable institution.

If a magistrate fails of his duty, he is set upon by a mob and dragged from his chair, and the insignia of his office are removed, especially his official boots. The gods are treated in like manner. They are put out in the sunshine in times of drought that they may see for themselves the inconvenience of the hot weather, and during rains which last too long they are lashed with whips as a pun-

High and low are imbued with superstition. No two houses in Peking are set on the same line. One is always farther back or farther forward than its neighbor. The reason for forward than its neighbor. The reason for this allocation is that it is believed that the evil spirits cannot turn a corner, and that when they get started they must continue in a straight line, and so go out into space, and be lost. Little clay dogs are placed on all the ridges of the houses, with wide-open mouths, to eatch the evil spirits as they approach them. The chief function of the great Almanac, which is published by the Government every year, and controls Chinese action in every particular, is to name the lucky days for doing every act in life-particularly for marriages. A dog is supposed to be eating up the moon at the time of its eclipse; and the population of the Empire turns cut, beating gongs and tin pans to drive him away. Several years ago, at Tientsin, a wretched little water snake was caught in the Peiho River, and the populace took it to a temple and worshipped it as the water god. Li Hung Chang attended and worshipped with the others. When asked if he really be-lieved that the snake was a water god, he said that whether he did or not, the people did, and it was best to humor them.

After all, in considering the subject of superstition, we must remember that it prevails to some extent in all nations. In our own country, people generally prefer to see the new moon over their right shoulder, and to have at the time some silver in their pockets. If the salt is upset some of it is thrown over the left shoulder to do away with the bad omen. It is bad luck to pass a funeral, and ill-fate also threatens if a black cat crosses your path. The theatre proprietor implicitly believes that if a cross-eyed man enters the house early in the evening there will be no audience that night. We have a large religious society based on faith cure; and in the West, ladies of this faith recently wrecked drug stores because they believed that drugs were deleterious.—Hon. Charles Denby in the May Forum.

MUSIC AS A MEDICINE.

It is a curious fact that the value of music as a therapeutic agent is being seriously studied. The New York Institute of Pathology is making researches into the effects of music on the nervous organism, and the State Lunacy Commission is experimenting in order to discover the influenc of music in certain forms of insanity.

"A series of tests have been made with the ergograph which is an instrument to be applied to the muscles of the hands and arms, to induce and measure fatigue. Until taken up by neurologists the ergograph has been used in the psychological study of school children. It consists of two clamps designed to hold the wrist and forearm firm, and a tubular contrivance to hold all but one finger The free finger is then hooked into a small strap having a weight at the other end. In the experiment the subject is instructed to crook the finger as long as he can. The vitality is shown by the length of time the subject can continue the exercise, and the capacity for being taught is supposed to be indicated by the pupil. And here comes in the influence of music, for it has been found by experimenting that music played during the tests has produced variations in the results which can be accounted for in no other way. For example, lively airs played on the harp seemed to invigorate the patient and enable him to keep up the exercise for a much longer time, but dreary melodies decreased the vitality and rendered the patient's arm almost powerless. The deductions reached by the physicians interested in the experiment were that musical rhythm increased the physical well-being of the patients and might be rendered a powerful means of curing them."— Catholic World Magazine for April.

The World's Work, now beginning its second volume, has won its way rapidly. The ond volume, has won its way rapidly. The May number covers important topics in Russia, Austria, England, Mexico, Cuba, besides many American matters. Of important na-tional interest is "The solution of the Cuban Problem," by the man who has been most prominently connected with the matter, Senator Platt, of Connecticut. This is not only a national but a historical paper of great value. John Kimberly Mumford, in a strikingly illustrated article, describes the Russian political advance on Asia. Theodore Waters writes of the great possibilities in transmission of electricity for power, and an article about the personality and work of Mr. Francis H. Clergue shows one great example of these possibilities. Other interesting features are Sidney Brooks' third European article, this time considering Austria-Hungary; a story of the work of President Diaz, of Mexico, with prophecies as to his probable successor; the recounting of experiments made in profit-sharing, showing successes and failures with reasons; a description of the process of breeding new wheats with some fine pictures; a defense of our consular service: and an account of some of the best new preventives of loss of life at sea Then there are vivid character sketches of James J. Hill and Secretary Gage, and editorial tributes to ex President Harrison and to General Function. A group of three articles, "The Public Library and the Public School," "The Author and the Publisher at Peace," and "The Author as the Printer Sees Him," will have great interest for book lovers,

As usual there are the sound, strong editorials of the March of Events, the terse book reviews, and Among the World's Work-One great value of this magazine is that it compresses most important and interesting material into short space and with clear-cut English. It is hard to find one unnecessary word from cover to cover.

"Lapses in grammar do not offend when they are made by the illiterate who have not been taught propriety of speech. But they are exceedingly disgraceful in the educated person," writes Margaret E. Sangster, in the May Ladies' Home Journal. "Beyond mere correctness of expression there is such a thing as a beautiful choice of words, and there are hall-marks of culture which the rich vocabulary shows, while the meagre one convicts of ignorance and poverty of resource. Colloquialisms and provincialisms are caught by those who live constantly among the unlearned, but the influence of this contact may be modified by a daily study of words, as in a lexicon or thesaurus, and by the habitual reading of good books. Insensibly we acquire the speech of our associates, and a favorite author, if he belong to the aristocracy of the literary guild, is one of the best associates we

An interesting book of the period,

LIFE AND REIGN OF QUEEN YICTORIA.

Including the lives of

King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra,

By MURAT HALSTEAD, famous historian and Journalist, and A. J. MUNSON, editor and author. Profusely illustrated. 485 pages. For sale at

HERALD OFFICE.

POSTPAID. ONE DOLLAR.

WM. ANDERSON, Pres. MRS. DAVID DANCER. Vice Pres.

W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier. OSCAR ANDERSON, Ass't Cashier.

STATE SAVINGS BANK OF LAMONI.

Incorporated under the laws of the State of Iowa, July 1, 1898. Total assets January 1, 1900, $133,032.34; April 1, 1900, $162,781.07.

We pay interest on time deposits, and especially solicit the correspondence and deposits of all Herald readers. All etters of inquiry will be promptly and carefully answered. Direct all letters to W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier, State Savings Bank of Lamoni, Iowa.

STOCKHOLDERS:—Mrs. David Dancer, Geo. H. Hilliard, A. K. Anderson, Lucy L. Resseguie, Oscar Anderson, Wm. Anderson, Frank Criley, Alice P. Dancer, Ella D. Whitehead, G. W. Blair, W. A. Hopkins.

WANTO

Using tobacco. Quit-to-bac makes it easy to do so. Three boxes postpaid, only $150 with positive guarantee to cure or the $1.50 cheerfully refunded! It cures others, why not you.

Address, (Bro.) B. F. ORDWAY, Peoria, Ill. Using tobacco. Quit-to-bac makes it easy to do so. (U S. Postage stamps taken )

Or apply to

The Underwood Agency. LAMONI, JOWA.

SAINTS' HYMNAL. Words enly.  115. Paper	2	25 70 35
GOSPEL QUARTERLIES.  Published by the General Sunday School Association.  Designed for use in Sabbath school work. Issued quar-	v
terly. 73. Senior Grade, per quarter Per year, in advance 74. Intermediate Grade, per quar-		08 2 5
ter		05 15 05
Per year  INTERMEDIATE QUESTION  BOOK.  76. Limp, 25c. each, per dozen	9	15
PRIMARY QUESTION BOOK. 77. Limp, 15c. each, per dozen The office will procure for its pa	-1	50
any book that is obtainabl

	PRESIDENCY. By Elder H. C. Smith, Church His- torian. 152. Paper 153. Cloth.	31
	NOT IN THE OUTLINGHE	el married y
	NOT IN THE CATALOGUE.
İ	TRACTS.
İ	33. Trial of the Witnesses to the Resurrection of Jesus.
i	Each 5 cents; per doz. 50 cents.
	47. The Basis of Brighamite Polygamy.
	Per doz. 10 cents; per 100, 60 cents.
ı	por 200, 00 comm
ı	GENERAL CONFERENCE RES-
ı	OLUTIONS, 1852 to 1900.
ı
l	197. Paper	3
	198. Cloth, limp	5

TRUE SUCCESSION IN CHURCH

GRACELAND .... GOLLEGE.

LAMONI, IOWA.

Telephone 76.

For catalogue or further information, address, PROF. R. A. HARKNESS, President, or I. W. ALLENDER, Secretary, LAMONI, DECATUR CO., IOWA.

OBJECT	CIONS	ТО	THE	BOO	K O	F
N	IORM	ON A	ND	DOCT:	RIN	E
A	ND	COZ	FENA	NTS,	AN	1-
S	WER	$\mathbf{ED}$ $A$	IND	$\mathtt{REF} \dot{\mathtt{U}}$	TEI	).
E	By Elde	er J.	R. La	mbert
4 40 T	、 "

142. Paper ..... 143. Cloth .....

40

THE COMMERCIAL BANK

IOWA. LAMONI. -

Solicits your Deposits and pays

5 % INTEREST. D. F. NICHOLSON, Cashier.

BRING YOUR LAUNDRY TO

South Side Barber Shop.

For every five dollars worth of Laundry vou receive a

HANDSOME SHAVING MUG. BLACK & SHOOK, Props.

DR. E. S. SWEET. DENTIST. Decoe Building.

WOODBINE, IOWA.

BARBER PARLOR

L. DICKEY, Proprietor.

A new, clean shop.

Always courteous treatment and best of work.

FOR SALE.

A brick business house centrally located a Lamoni that earns fifteen per cent on avestment.

If interested, inclose stamp to Lock Box 7, amoni, Iowa.

Burlington Route passenger service between stations on Grant City branch and Chi-cago, both directions, is better than ever in the history of the road. Leaving Lamoni at 8:05

p. m., arriving Chicago 7:20 a. m. following morning. Leaving Chicago at 5:50 p. m., arriving Lamoni 6:25 a. m. following morning. HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSIONS.

Dates of sales, February 19, March 5 and 19, April 2 and 16, 1901, one lowest first class fare for the round trip, plus $2 00. Good for return 21 days from date of sale.

Cheap one-way colonist excursion rates to San Francisco, Los Angeles, and San Diego, California. Dates of sale February 12, 19, and 26, March 5, 12, 19, and 26, April 2, 9, 16, 23, and 30, 1901.

One-way second class settlers rates. ver, Colorado Springs, and Pueblo. Ogden and Salt Lake. Bozeman, Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Grantsdale, Missoula, Grant Falls, Kalispell, Spokane, Portland, Tacoma. Victoria and Vancouver.

KEOKUK & WESTERN R. R. CO.

North-Leave Leon 2:40 p. m., arrive at Des Moines 6:05 p.m.

South—Leave Des Moines 8:25 a.m., arrive at Leon 11:45 a.m. Trains daily except Sunday; connect with C.

B. & Q. at Leon.

SAINTS' HERALD.

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE REORGANIZED CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER DAY SAINTS.

"If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." -John 8:31, 32.

"Hearken to the word of the Lord; for there shall not any man among you have save it be one wife; and concubines he shall have none."—B. of M., page 116.

VOL. 48.

LAMONI, IOWA, MAY 8, 1901.

NO. 19.

The Saints' Herald.

JOSEPH SMITH EDITOR FRED'K MADISON SMITH ASSISTANT EDITOR. JOSEPH LUFF D. W. WIGHT CORRESPONDING EDITORS.

LAMONI, IOWA, MAY 8, 1901.

STAKES.

The organization of the Independence, Missouri, and Lamoni, Iowa, Stakes will put the Saints of the several branches in the limits of the Independence and Decatur districts, respectively, in charge of a presiding high priest and his two counselors, with an organized high council as a standing or perpetual court for a legal church judiciary to which causes of difference between church members may be taken for adjustment.

In each of these stakes there is also an organized bishopric to whose care the financial affairs of the district comprised within the limits of the stake will be confided.

The care of the local branches at Independence and Lamoni, as to looking after the regular services, providing for the pulpit and the usual routine business, will be under the supervision of the president of the stake and his counselors, one or all of them together. The other officers of the branch remain unchanged, a change being effected in the presidency only. Each of the councilors is a general officer of the church, and entitled to perform any and all duties appertaining to the calling of such general officer, besides the special duties of a member of the council. Each should exercise a watchfulness over the membership, in the bonds of peace, avoiding intermeddling with the difficulties which may occur between members, unless solicited to do so by the parties, and then only in such way as will not prevent him to sit as a councilor in the final adjustment should such difficulty be brought to the council. He should not be a meddler or a busybody in other men's affairs.

When sitting in council he should be attentive and alert to the business before the council, deporting himself in an orderly and seemly way, speaking to the point at issue if speaking at all; and should not talk of what transpires in council to those not of the council. The manner of organizing when called to sit in council will be found in section 99 Doctrine and Covenants.

The president of the stake and his counselors, one or all of them will preside in council when a cause is being tried, or in the consideration of business connected with the affairs of the council itself, mode of procedure.

As neither of the stakes now organized has been designated as the central stake in Zion, the principal place of business for the church is still at Lamoni, and will be until wisdom, or properly accredited direction shall authorize a change, if such should ever occur. So there will be no need to worry as to the location of the general officers of the church, and where they may be found.

The standing High Council of the church will continue to be the court of final appeal in church affairs. No member of the High Council has been chosen into the council at either of the stakes, it being held that officers of the High Council should not be members of a stake council.

We trust that there will be a diligent effort upon the part of all to perfect themselves in the duties now newly devolving upon all.

Bro. George H. Hulmes is the president of the Independence Stake, and John Smith of the Lamoni Stake.

Roderick May is the Bishop of Independence Stake, and William Anderson of Lamoni. These officers will cheerfully give due attention to all inquiries concerning their respective localities and its affairs of which proper inquiry may be made.

If making your inquiries of others, do not hold these brethren named above responsible for what others say or do for you; for it will be unfair and unjust.

THE man who under the law is capable and does furnish labor for others at just wages is a necessity to any community in or out of Zion.

The throwing together of a thousand small incompetencies might make one or two men rich, but there would be no greater dividend to the several thousand individual stockholders than each possessed before casting the single parts together. If there was no individual increase of the parts when separate, from personal care and labor, there would be none when the whole small parts were massed together. Will the Saints never learn this important truth?

It is by individual effort that communities grow. The coral reefs are built by the aggregated labor of many individual insects. The mound builders built the mounds now testifying of their existence by patient individual effort. It will be by the following of a similar principle of procedure that Zion will increase as a community.

Hamlets, towns, cities, must all grow up, increase and spread abroad in the observance of righteous spiritual laws, and in harmony with the laws of the land. Whoever reckons without these lines is going to fail in coming to the solution of the problem of how to build up Zion. The revelations of God to the church distinctly declare that all things must be done in accordance with the law of the land.

HERESY-HUNTING.

Dr. H. W. Thomas, of Chicago, airs the heresy-hunting idea in the Chicago Tribune for Monday, April 29, after the following pithy style:-

In telling of the views which led to his trial Dr. Thomas said:—

"I could not preach to others what was not true to myself. I saw a new system of truth arising, a better, larger faith and hope not burdened with the difficulties and doubts of the old, that I felt were standing in the way of souls. A thousand times I asked God to give me the truth, and as it came I gave it to others. I believed the Methodist Church was large enough to permit this.

"The sermons of those years were published in the daily papers. Rumors of heresy-that "Thomas was not sound"—arose. A committee was appointed, charges preferred. I was tried, condemned, and expelled from the ministry and the membership of the Methoministry and the membership of the Methodist Church.

"On the first charge—disbelief in the inspiration of the Bible—I was acquitted.

"The second charge related to the atonement. The Methodist idea is the 'wrath theory,' that God was angry and could be placated only by the death of his son. The Presbyterian Church holds to the 'justice theory,' that the death of Christ was to satisfy the claims of a violated law. Both rest upon the old doctrine of the fall of man and original sin; that the world was lost and must original sin; that the world was lost and must be redeemed. The one assails the character, the goodness of God, the other undermines the foundation of justice. The strange fact is that the system had no place in early Christianity, is merely a Latin accretion of the fourth or fifth century, and rests on the tradition of the fall of man and the theory of original sin-something that has not even standing-room in the thought of the present.

"My own views were and are that God is as good as Christ; that Christ is the revelation of the love of God; that all love is vicarious; that such a God in love could not be less than such a Christ in suffering to save; that the death of Christ was not to reconcile God or to satisfy any claims of justice, but to reconcile man to God, to save the world in the real way of winning souls from the love of money to the love of right, to make men like Christ in the beauty of his life. On this charge I was condemned, but lacked only two votes of acquittal.
On the third or endless punishment clause nearly all of the committee were against me. The girl or boy of sixteen must suffer as long as the oldest and worst criminal. grow worse forever, but not better. They are legally damned, and there can be no re-prieve. The benefits of the atonement are limited to this life, the moral insolvency act expires with the death of the body.

"In the more than twenty years since then reat changes have taken place. The Methodist Church would hardly try a preacher now on those grounds. If it cares to continue its heresy-hunting, it need not go out of Chicago. It might begin with Dr. Crane, and others would follow in turn.

"Thank God, all these changes do not mean the loss but the gain of faith—a great religion of reason, of reverence, of trust, of hope. A faith and religion of social justice, of love to man and God. Henceforth the little dividing lines will be more and more lost in the great truths of the real in which all souls will be one. Not the things that separate, but the things that unite."

We are quite interested in the good Doctor's views, from the fact that at the time he was trying to defend himself from the charge of heresy, we were facing incredulity and clerical disbelief thinly veiled by a veneering of lip service and cant at Plano, Illinois; whence we watched the trial taking place at Rockford, Illinois, with much sympathy for Dr. Thomas, and some curiosity, having predicted that the Methodist Church, broad and liberal as it seemed to many to be, would turn the reverend gentleman down; unless he reformed his the-We were willing to risk a ology. prediction on the strength of our acquaintance with the methods of the M. E. Church. Our prediction was verified, and the doctor paid the penalty of thinking too freely in the Methodist pulpit. At the time one of the M. E. members of the church in Chicago said of it: "It is a pity that there is not room enough in our church for so Christlike a man as Doctor Thomas."

QUESTIONS.

There are a great many questions that may be asked about the stake organizations, all of which time and experience may aid in answering. In the meantime the patient discharge of known duties will bring satisfaction and additional wisdom for direction and strength for performance of the new duties whatever they be.

An army in the field of operations does not waste much time worrying about the bridges over the streams it | will devote half of his time to the in-may have to cross; but is prepared by careful supervision of the route to bridge the stream when reached, in the meantime pursuing the usual routine of army regulations obtaining in the field of occupation in the search for and in the presence of the enemy. So in this case of the stake organizations, the forces in the field and at work should keep moving forward in the confident trust that wisdom for every work will be given in the hour when needed.

EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS.

Bro. W. J. Haworth writes from Lismore, New South Wales, April 1, and sends a clipping from Good News, a Campbellite or Christian paper pub. lished there. The article is one which Bro. Haworth had written in reply to one written against the church by Rev. Pond. Bro. Haworth writes:-

In October of last year I began to preach in this city, and of course met with the usual Several went from house to opposition. house warning people against us, and circulating the usual slanders. To counteract To counteract this I did all that I could, both publicly and privately; and, having the favor of the local press, I published a challenge to those who had circulated the reports, to meet me in a fair and open debate, and prove their stories before the public if they could. But that is not the way they work in this country. The minister here would have nothing to do with a debate, "For," said he, "do you think I am going to help you get an audience for you to talk to?" Their next step was to print an article from the pen of another man who had also declined to meet us. I was at our district conference at this time, so Sr. McLaughlin replied. This called out another article to which the inclosed clipping is a reply. I suppose they will oppose us more strongly in the future, for I have baptized eight the last week. There are several others who will obey soon. Those who have been baptized are all splendid people, who say that they do not see how people can listen to the gospel and not see that it is the truth. Quite a large percentage of those who attend meetings are interested. Am ever working and praying for the success of our noble cause.

Bro. M. H. Bond, writing from St. Louis, May 2, says:-

Leave for the east Wednesday. Expect to be in Kirtland, Ohio, Sunday, May 5, and Fall River, Massachusetts, May 11.

EDITORIAL ITEMS.

Wild and extravagant views regarding the operation of the law of tithing. freewill offering, surplus, and consecration, are not only misleading, but are dangerous and hurtful to spiritual as well as material prosperity. The law was never intended to impoverish any man, or to prevent the proper use of human ability and means for the bettering of individuals and the community. The law is but the systematic rule by which a true equality is secured between all parts of the whole body.

Historian Heman C. Smith has chosen Elder Daniel F. Lambert as assistant historian. Bro. Lambert terests of the work in the historical department.

We publish a small lot of proverbs to which attention is called. Some have pith in them, and those that may not have any will serve as reminders that watchfulness over one's self is the only safeguard of safety from censure.

The board of college trustees met Friday afternoon, at Bishop Anderson's office, all the members being present. They organized by reëlecting the old officers, viz., Wm. Anderson, president, I. W. Allender, secretary, and Daniel Anderson, treasurer. The treasurer's bonds were fixed at $2,000. The usual number of standing committees were elected. R. M. Elvin was appointed collector and solicitor, and the board is ready for a good year's work.

Bro. Frank Russell, appointed to labor in the Kewanee district, is detained by sickness at Swedenborg. The Saints of that dis-Nebraska. trict will by this notice the reason why "Bro. Frank" is not among them. Brn. H. O. Smith, W. LaRue, and F. C. Keck are also deterred from labor in their fields for similar reasons, as we learn. Pray, not only that the Lord of the harvest may send laborers into the field, but that he may safely keep those already in the field.

Bro. J. B. Wildermuth writes that he is in his field of labor, Wyoming. reaching Cheyenne on May 3. He desires the Saints of Wyoming to send their names and addresses to him, and if possible he will call on them. His present field address is 221 West Tenth street, Cheyenne, Wyoming.

The Trans-Missouri Official Railway Guide, for May, published at Omaha. has come to our desk.

We give space this issue to quite an extended account of the organization of the Lamoni Stake. We do so to place on record the method of procedure, which may be of use in the future. As the organization of the Independence Stake was effected in a similar way, an extended account thereof is not necessary, as it is mentioned editorially in another place.

Prof. George Herron, in an address in Brooklyn, May 5, told how the world would get along without God. He said: "The world today is exhausted. It is without a religion. The gods of the Bible are dead and the old altar fires are out. The world today is seeking a new religion." He claims truth is, and heaven will be, a state of mind.

By clippings from the Sunday Chronicle, we see that Bro. J. W. Rushton has appeared in defense of the work, in reply to an article previously published on "Utah and Salt Lake City."

Original Articles.

IS THERE A CONTRADICTION?-NO. 3.

BY ISAAC M. SMITH.

"THEY THAT NEVER KNEW ME."

In the eleventh chapter of Mosiah we learn that the young generation who grew up after the death of King Benjamin, would not obey the gospel (v. 81); but they remained in their carnal state (v. 85), and finally caused dissensions in the church (v. 86), causing the church members to commit many sins (v. 87). The church authorities did not know what to do with the transgressors in the church, and so Alma carried the matter before the Lord, and asked for light. The voice of the Lord came unto him and, among other things, said:

And because thou hast inquired of me concerning the transgressor, thou art blessed .-Mosiah 11:101.

Alma was asking "concerning the transgressor," and not those outside the church; hence the answer he gets from the Lord would be supposed to refer to the transgressor, especially as the Lord promised to bless him for asking concerning them. And in this answer to Alma's prayer, the Lord said (v. 105), "It is I that granteth unto him that believeth unto the end, a place at my right hand;" and this leaves the impression that some, the transgressors of whom Alma was inquiring, would believe (or had believed) but not unto the end. In the next verse the Lord says:

For behold, in my name are they called; and if they know me, they shall come forth, and shall have a place eternally at my right hand.—Mosiah 11: 106.

Those who believe "unto the end" are the ones who will know him at the last day, when the Lord calls But those who failed to bethem. lieve "unto the end" will not know him; and of them the Lord says:-

And it shall come to pass that when the second trump shall sound, then shall they that never knew me come forth, and shall stand before me; and then shall they know that I am the Lord their God, that I am their Redeemer; but they would not be redeemed. And then will I confess unto them, that I never knew them; and they shall depart into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels.—Mosiah 11:107, 108.

And the first part of the next verse would seem to convey the idea that he was speaking of those outside the church, were it not for the verses following. He says:-

Therefore I say unto you, that he that will not hear my voice, the same shall ye not receive into my church, for him will I not receive at the last day.—Verse 109.

It might be thought that he would not speak of receiving people into the church if they had already belonged to it; but we should notice very carefully the writer's manner of expressing himself before deciding on his meaning. And in the same verse (v. 109) the Lord tells Alma to judge the transgressor according to his sins; and if he repents, to forgive him. But on the other hand, he says that "whosoever will not repent of his sins, the same shall not be numbered among my people."-V. 111. Does not "shall not be numbered among my people" express the same thought, substantially, as shall "not receive into my church"? And as the one does apply to the transgressor in the church, why not the other also? The writer further says that Alma wrote down the words of the Lord, "that he might have them, and that he might judge the people of that church according to the commandments of God" (v. 112); and that he "judged those that had been taken in iniquity" (v. 113), and that whosoever repented of his sins "he did number among the people of the church;" but those who would not repent of their sins "were not numbered among the people of the church, and their names were blotted out "-V. 114. But why should the Lord use such expressions as, "the same shall ye not receive into my church," and "the same shall not be numbered among my people," in speaking of transgressors who had already belonged to the church?

A careful examination of verses 85 and 86 will help us to an understanding of this. Those who had grown up and would not be baptized, "were a separate people as to their faith, and remained so;" they were not so numerous at first as the people of God; but "because of dissensions among the brethren, they became more numerous."—V. 86. Those who dissented from the church went over to the other party; Alma went and asked the Lord what they should do with those dissenters; and the Lord tells him, if they will repent, to receive them, and number them among the people of the church; but if they "will not repent," "will not hear my voice," "the same shall ve not receive into my church," and "the same shall not be numbered among my people."

Coming now to the statement, "they that never knew me," I shall ask you to notice: first, that this is to be at the sounding of the second trump, or at the last day; and second, there are only the two classes represented here: those who "know me," and "they that never knew me." And to take the position that "they that never knew me" refers to little children and those who have never had salvation declared unto them, and to those "who have died not knowing the will of God concerning them," is to take a position which is in direct opposition to the plain and positive teaching of the book, in other places. And as the book teaches that those who rebel knowledge of the truth, a knowledge against God and die in their sins, after they have received a knowledge of the truth, are to be turned into that place of torment prepared for the Devil and his angels, I am fully convinced that the text now under consideration will, when properly understood, be found in beautiful harmony with that doctrine. And as a help to a proper understanding of this text, I shall ask you to read another one, expressing a similar thought, found in Alma's teaching to the people of Ammonihah. It reads as follows:-

If we have hardened our hearts against the word, insomuch that it has not been found in us, then will our state be awful.—Alma 9:11.

This people had received great light at one time, as you will learn in Alma 7:21, 22, 23; and they knew that these things were true (see Alma 9:29); and yet the writer here conveys the idea that it would be possible for that people, who had been visited by the Spirit of the Lord, had "conversed with angels," and had been spoken to by the voice of the Lord" (7:21), to harden their hearts against the word until "it has not been found in us." And speaking to the same people, he says again:-

And he that will not harden his heart, to him is given the greater portion of the word, until it is given unto him to know the mysteries of God, until they know them in full; and they that will harden their hearts, to them is given the lesser portion of the word, until they know nothing concerning his mysteries; and then they are taken captive by the devil, and led by his will down to destruction.-Alma 9: 9.

Now when this people shall so harden their hearts against the word of God that "it has not been found in us;" continue to harden their hearts "until they know nothing" concerning the mysteries or the will of God; when they do this, then is the time they are taken captive by the Devil and led down to destruction. And on the other hand, those who do not harden their hearts will continue to grow in the knowledge of the truth, until they know the mysteries of God in full, and then they will know God. And with that agrees the following:-

Nevertheless, the day shall come when you shall comprehend even God.—D. C. 85:12.

Even his saints, his apostles, and prophets, are not now able to comprehend God, only in part; and a very little part at that. Paul says "we see through a glass darkly," "know in part;" but, if faithful, we shall finally "know as we are known;" know the mysteries of God in full; "comprehend even God." And then we shall know him, in deed and in truth.

But the man who has simply obeyed the gospel and received the knowledge of the truth, and then turns back to his sins, has certainly not comprehended God. He has received a of the will of God concerning him; has been made alive in Christ, received a knowledge of the plan of redemption, and is now in a condition to act for himself. But, if he still loves the ways of unrighteousness, chooses to follow the Devil instead of Christ, and "remaineth and dieth in his sins," there is no redemption for him; and it will be said unto him at the last day, "you never knew me;" you never comprehended me; and this would be true, too. John says:—

He that loveth not, knoweth not God; for God is love.—1 John 4:8.

He may know the will of God concerning him; he may know that the gospel is true; and, if he does, he is in a condition to know God, if he continues in the faith to the end; but if he stops his labors in the divine life, and rebels against the truth as it has been revealed unto him, he will never know the mysteries of God in full, hence he will never know God, in the proper sense, neither has he known him. Alma gives a very beautiful illustration of this in Alma 16:140 to 160. He tells the people that if they will plant the seed in their hearts, and it enlightens their minds and enlarges their souls, they may know it is a good seed; but even after they have "tasted this light," he says their knowledge is not perfect, only in the fact that the seed is good. They then know the truth, that the gospel is the power of God unto salvation; and by continuing to nourish this heavenly seed, it will finally bear heavenly fruit; enable them to know God. But if they neglect it, he says they "cannot have the fruit thereof; will never be able to comprehend God; that is, to properly know him. But they knew his law, the plan of redemption, and then knowing good and evil, if they rebel against God and choose that which is evil, it will be said to them at the last day, "you never knew me." And with this illustration of Alma agree the words of John:

And we know that the Son of God is come, and hath given us an understanding, that we may know him that is true.—1 John 5: 20.

John says there are some things we know: "we know that the Son of God is come," and we know that he "hath given us an understanding;" but this knowledge seems to be a means to a certain end, and the end desired is, "that we may know him that is true." They had planted the gospel seed in their hearts, and had obtained a knowledge that the seed planted is good; and I should not like to say it had not borne gospel fruit in their lives, for it certainly had. But the grand object of all this is, "that we may know him that is true." And now if they should stop short of eternal salvation and rebel against God, it would be said of them as of those in the text now under consideration: they "never knew me." The Son of God had come and had given them an understanding that they "may know him;" but it is only by being faithful unto the end that they can know him fully.

Hence I see nothing wrong with Alma 11: 107. Many of those who had been the children of God had dissented from the church, and had gone over to those who were "a separate people, as to their faith;" and the question now was: Do they belong to the church or not? Shall we receive those dissenters, who have gone over to the unbelievers, into the church? or shall we blot their names out of our records? And the answer is to receive them, if they repent; but if they don't repent and live faithful unto the end, they will be cast off at the last day, because they "never knew me;" and therefore, if they will not repent and hear my words, don't receive them into the church nor number them among my people.

THE UNPARDONABLE SIN.

There is one sin that is absolutely unpardonable, either in this world or the world to come, and that is the sin against the Holy Ghost; and Alma defines it as follows:—

For behold, if ye deny the Holy Ghost when it once has had place in you, and ye know that ye deny it; behold, this is a sin which is unpardonable.—Alma 19:8.

Those who commit this sin cannot obtain forgiveness, because it is impossible "to renew them again unto repentance:" they crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh when they do this, and put him to an open shame. They count the blood of the covenant wherewith they were sanctified an unholy thing, do despite unto the Spirit of grace, and will not repent of it; and as there "remaineth no more sacrifice for sins," there is no pardon for them.

Sherem said:-

I fear lest i have committed the unpardonable sin, for I have lied unto God: for I denied the Christ, and said that I believed the Scriptures; and they truly testify of him.—Jacob 5: 30.

Jacob had said unto him, just before he made this confession:—

What am I, that I should tempt God to show unto thee a sign in the thing which thou knowest to be true? Yet thou wilt deny it, because thou art of the devil —Verses 20, 21.

He had denied the Christ, knowing that he was telling a lie, and had, in so doing, lied unto God. And he knew of the unpardonable sin, knew what it was, and hence he said:—

And because I have thus lied unto God, I greatly fear lest my case shall be awful: but I confess unto God.—V. 31.

grand object of all this is, "that we may know him that is true." And now if they should stop short of eternal salvation and rebel against God, it would be said of them as of those in the text of men:" if they don't in this world, they will in the world to come; but it will be to their "everlasting shame." (See Alma 9: 12.)

And Alma also says they shall be brought before the tribunal of God,—

Having a remembrance of all your guilt: yea, a perfect remembrance of all your wickedness; yea, a remembrance that ye have set at defiance the commandments of God.—Alma 3:30.

And this was true of the Nephites, some two hundred and thirty years after the coming of Christ. The writer says of those "who rejected the gospel":—

And they did not dwindle in unbelief, but they did willfully rebel against the gospel of Christ.—Nephi, son of Nephi, v. 31.

And Mormon says of the same people, a few years later:—

And I did endeavor to preach unto this people, but my mouth was shut, and I was forbidden that I should preach unto them; for behold they had willfully rebelled against their God.—Mormon 1:15.

And again:

And I saw that the day of grace was past with them, both temporally and spiritually, for I saw thousands of them hewn down in open rebellion against their God.—V. 39.

For behold, the Spirit of the Lord hath already ceased to strive with their fathers.—Mormon 2:39.

And in his letter to his son Moroni, the same writer says:—

And they are denying the Holy Ghost.—Moroni 8:33.

Nephi says, or the Lord said to him:-

After ye have repented of your sins, and witnessed unto the Father that ye are willing to keep my commandments, by the baptism of water, and have received the baptism of fire and of the Holy Ghost, and can speak with a new tongue, yea, even with the tongue of angels, and after this, should deny me, it would have been better for you, that ye had not known me.—2 Nephi 13:16

And with that agree these words:-

And thus we can plainly discern, that after a people have been once enlightened by the Spirit of God, and have had great knowledge of things pertaining to righteousness, and then have fallen away into sin and transgression, they become more hardened, and thus their state becomes worse than though they had never known these things.—Alma 14:30.

And also this:-

For behold, after ye have been nourished by the good word of God all the day long, will ye bring forth evil fruit, that ye must be hewn down and east into the fire? Know ye not that if ye will do these things, that the power of the redemption and the resurrection which is in Christ, will bring you to stand with shame and awful guilt before the bar of God? And according to the power of justice, for justice cannot be denied, ye must go away into that lake of fire and brimstone, whose flames are unquenchable, and whose smoke ascendeth up for ever and ever, which lake of fire and brimstone, is endless torment.—Jacob 4: 9, 12, 13.

Those who have repented, and have received a knowledge of the things of righteousness; those who have been enlightened by the Spirit of God, and have been nourished by the good word of God: these are the ones whose state is worse than if they had never known these things; and these are the ones who are to go away into that lake of fire and brimstone, which is endless torment. This is the clear and positive teaching of the the Book of Mormon from beginning to end. But if we take a text referring to this class of people being cast into the lake of fire and brimstone. and apply it to those who have never known these things, we place them in just the same condition with those who have rebelled against God, after having known the truth; and as the book so clearly teaches that there will be a great difference between these two classes, and that it is those who have once known the truth and then rebelled against it that are to be cast into the lake of fire and brimstone, it would not be right to take any text, that is the least bit obscure, and put an interpretation upon it that would make it conflict with those that are so plain and pointed. We should consider, as carefully as possible, the writer's manner of expressing himself, the class of people to whom he is speaking, the light thrown upon the text by other writers, or by the same writer in other places, before putting a cast iron interpretation upon the language of any writer or speaker. A man, speaking to those who know the truth, will express himself quite differently from what he will in speaking to those who are not in possession of that knowledge, even when speaking on the same subject; and yet there will be no contradiction. though there might seem to be to a man who does not understand the situation. In speaking to those who know and understand the truth, he would leave unexplained, or only partially explained, many things that would require a very minute explanation, if speaking to the other class. All speakers do this, and the Nephite prophets should not be made an exception to the rule.

ENDLESS TORMENT.

The Book of Mormon clearly teaches that the lake of fire and brimstone is endless torment, as witnessed by the following texts:

For he delivereth his saints from that awful monster the devil, and death, and hell, and that lake of fire and brimstone, which is endless torment.-2 Nephi 6: 19.

For the atonement satisfieth the demands of his justice upon all those who have not his law given to them, that they are delivered from that awful monster, death and hell, and the devil, and the lake of fire and brimstone, which is endless torment.—V. 24.

And death, and hell, and the devil, and all that have been siezed therewith, must stand before the throne of God and be judged according to their works, from thence they must go into the place prepared for them, even a lake of fire and brimstone, which is endless torment.—2 Nephi 12: 20.

And according to the power of justice, for justice cannot be denied, ye must go away into that lake of fire and brimstone, whose flames are unquenchable, and whose smoke ascendeth up forever and ever, which lake of fire and brimstone, is endless torment. - Jacob 4:13.

And Jacob also says that the lake of fire and brimstone "is the second death" (Jacob 2:50).

Now, we have it clearly stated that this lake of fire and brimstone, to which the wicked are to be subjected in the world to come, is that "endless torment," so often spoken of, and is the same as the second death; hence there is a possibility of our learning the nature of that fire, for the Book of Mormon tells us just what that torment is.

Nephi says of the wicked:-

Wherefore, we shall have a perfect knowledge of our guilt, and our uncleanness, and our nakedness.—2 Nephi 6:14.

Also:

Wo unto the uncircumcised of heart: for a knowledge of their injuities shall smite them at the last day.—V. 35.

And he also exhorts them to prepare for the day of judgment,-

That ye may not shrink with awful fear: that ye may not remember your awful guilt in perfectness.-V. 54.

And the words of King Benjamin are clearer still. Speaking of "this people," he says:-

And if they be evil, they are consigned to an awful view of their own guilt and abominations, which doth cause them to shrink from the presence of the Lord, into a state of misery and endless torment, from whence they can no more return: therefore, they have drunk damnation to their own souls .-Mosiah 1:76.

And their torment is as a lake of fire and brimstone, whose flames are unquenchable, and whose smoke ascendeth up forever and

They are simply consigned to an awful view, or a perfect knowledge, of their sins and iniquities; and this creates within them such a state of misery and torment that it is "as a lake of fire and brimstone," and hence it is often referred to as such. And the same speaker also says of those who come out in open rebellion against God, and die in their sins, that "the demands of divine justice doth awaken his immortal soul to a lively sense of his own guilt, which doth cause him to shrink from the presence of the Lord, and doth fill his breast with guilt, and pain, and anguish, which is like an unquenchable fire, whose flames ascendeth up forever and ever."—Mosiah 1:51.

Alma says that

The Lord in mercy hath seen fit to snatch me out of an everlasting burning.-Mosiah 11: 145.

But what was the nature of this burning? Listen to Alma:-

My soul was wrecked with eternal torment; but I am snatched, and my soul is pained no more.—V. 147.

It was that eternal torment, guilty conscience: the same that shall smite the wicked at the last day. Speaking of this same thing, in after years, he said:-

I was struck with such great fear and amazement, lest perhaps I should be destroyed, that I fell to the earth, and I did hear no more; but I was racked with eternal torment, for my soul was harrowed up to the greatest degree, and racked with all my sins. Alma 17: 9

And now, for three days and three nights was I racked, even with the pains of a damned soul -V. 12.

And while in that condition, suffering "eternal torment," an "everlasting burning," or "the pains of a damned soul," he prayed:—

O Jesus, thou Son of God, have mercy on me, who art in the gall of bitterness, and art encircled about by the everlasting chains of death.-V. 14.

This is so plain as to what "eternal torment," "an everlasting burning," "the everlasting chains of hell," or "the pains of a damned soul" really is, that it needs no comment: "I was racked with all my sins."

And the experience of Zeezrom was the same. The writer says of him:-

And his soul began to be harrowed up, under consciousness of his own guilt; yea, he began to be encircled about by the pains of hell.—Alma 10: 24. (See also verse 60.)

And Mormon, speaking of the hope he had for the Nephites, when he saw them mourning and lamenting, says:-

But behold this my joy was vain, for their sorrowing was not unto repentance, because of the goodness of God, but it was rather the sorrowing of the damned, because the Lord would not always suffer them to take happiness in sin.—Mormon 1:36.

And they did not come unto Jesus with broken hearts and contrite spirits, but they did curse God, and wish to die.-V. 37.

These people had willfully rebelled against God (verses 15 and 39), and it was impossible to "renew them again unto repentance." Please note the difference between those who have passed beyond the pales of redemption and those who have not. Alma, when he was brought to an awful sense of his own wickedness and sins. after suffering eternal torment for three days and nights, was forgiven, because of his sincere repentance. And Zeezrom, although he was in rebellion against God, and contrary to his own knowledge too, had not committed the unpardonable sin. nor had his day of probation—this life — passed; and when he was brought to an awful view of his guilt before God, he also was forgiven, after suffering "the pains of hell" in humble repentance and bitter regrets. But not so with the people in the days of Mormon. They too suffered eternal torment, and sorrowed with "the sorrowing of the damned;" but in the midst of their misery they would "curse God, and wish to die." What can God do for them? All their sorrow and lamentation is simply "because the Lord would not always suffer them to take happiness in sin;" and for this they did curse him, and defy his power. And in the world to come it will be the same as it is here, in one respect at least: those who have rejected the gospel here, as Alma had, will no doubt suffer the pains of hell, and be racked with eternal torment, possibly till the last resurrection; but they will be brought to repentance and delivered through the power of the atonement; while those who have willfully rebelled against God, and died in their sins. will, under that same eternal torment. curse God, defy his power, and of their own choice be cast out from the presence of God. And Nephi says they became angels to the Devil:-

And they who are filthy shall be filthy still; wherefore, they who are filthy are the devil and his angels; and they shall go away into everlasting fire prepared for them; and their torment is as a lake of fire and brimstone, whose flames ascendeth up forever and ever, and has no end .- 2 Nephi 6: 16.

The last death, we have learned, is to be like the first; and Nephi, speaking of what condition man would have been in, had there been no resurrection, says:-

And our spirits must have become like unto him, and we become devils, angels to a devil, to be shut out from the presence of our God, and to remain with the father of lies, in misery, like unto himself.-2 Nephi 6: 10,

That would have been the condition of man had there been no resurrection: "angels to a devil," and, being like him, Nephi says they would have become devils.

And Alma, as already quoted, says:

For behold, if ye have procrastinated the day of your repentance, even until death, behold, ye have become subjected to the spirit of the devil, and he doth seal you his; therefore the Spirit of the Lord hath withdrawn from you, and hath no place in you, and the devil hath all power over you; and this is the final state of the wicked.—Alma 16: 206.

They will be "subjected to the spirit of the devil," as in the first death (2 Nephi 6:9), and hence will be "his angels." And the Devil and his angels are the ones who are to go away into that everlasting fire prepared for them; and they are the only ones who are to suffer that eternal torment, after the last resurrection and the final judgment. And it seems to me that their being banished "from the presence of God" is an act of mercy, on the part of our heavenly Father. Mormon says:-

Do ye suppose that ye could be happy to dwell with that holy being, when your souls are racked with a consciousness of guilt that ye have ever abused his laws?—Mormon 4:52.

And then he answers as follows:-

Behold I say unto you, that ye would be more miserable to dwell with a holy and just God, under a consciousness of your filthiness before him, than ye would to dwell with the damned souls in hell. For behold, when ye shall be brought to see your nakedness before God, and also the glory of God, and the holiness of Jesus Christ, it will kindle a flame of unquenchable fire upon you.—Verses 53 and 54.

be "more miserable" in heaven, with God and his angels, than they would be in hell, with the Devil and his angels, it is certainly an act of mercy to cut them off from the presence of God: it is an act of mercy towards them, and an act of justice towards the righteous. Indeed, King Benjamin says that when the wicked man is awakened "to a lively sense of his own guilt." it will "cause him to shrink from the presence of the Lord" (Mosiah 1:51). They hate God, and hate everything that is pure and holy; hence it would be additional torture to them, and torture to all who would be brought in contact with them, to keep them in heaven. Alma says:-

But he that knoweth good and evil, to him is given according to his desires; whether he desireth good or evil, life or death, joy or remorse of conscience.—Alma 15: 41.

And that he shall be raised to evil.—

According to his desires of evil; for as he has desired to do evil all the day long, even so shall he have his reward of evil, when the night cometh.-Alma 19:63.

He knows good, and he knows evil; and, knowing both, he is allowed to take his choice. He "listeth to obey that evil spirit," and, in doing so, rebels against God and becomes an angel of the Devil. Could God make that man happy? No, for Alma says:

Behold I say unto you, wickedness never was happiness. And now, my son, all men that are in a state of nature, or I would say, in a carnal state, are in the gall of bitterness, and in the bonds of iniquity; they are without God in the world, and they have gone contrary to the nature of God; therefore they are in a state contrary to the nature of happiness.—Alma 19: 69, 70.

And Samuel the Lamanite said:-

Yea, for ye have sought all the days of your lives for that which ye could not obtain; and ye have sought for happiness in doing iniquity, which thing is contrary to the nature of that righteousness which is in our great and Eternal Head.—Helaman 5: 29

Vhile men are granted their choice. as to good or evil, they are plainly told that wickedness is not happiness: and that they can never find true happiness in doing iniquity, for the one is contrary to the other. And right along this line comes in the torment of the wicked; for, as already seen, the "sorrowing of the damned" was "because the Lord would not always suffer them to take happiness in sin" (Mormon 1: 36). And, because of this, "they did curse God, and wish to die" (v. 37).

Some men seem to think it cruel, on the part of God, to consign any man to endless torment. But what can God do for them? He gives them "according to their desires," and they choose that which is "contrary to the nature of happiness." Their sorrowing is because the Lord will not allow them to take happiness in sin; and, as they will not give up sin, they must continue in misery. To take Now as this class of people would | them into heaven would only make them "more miserable" than to leave them in outer darkness, where the society, though bad, will be at least congenial.

CONCLUSION.

Permit me to say, in conclusion, that I have tried, in the investigation of this subject, to use the same common sense rule of interpretation that we ask the skeptic to use in dealing with the Bible. I have tried to notice the writer's peculiar manner of expressing himself, the class of people to whom and of whom he was speaking, and also the subject directly under consideration. And as we learned to begin with, that "nothing save it was exceeding harshness," and "continually reminding them of death, and the duration of eternity," would "keep them from going down speedily to destruction," I have taken for granted that the prophets expressed themselves in as strong language as they possibly could, to keep within the bounds of truth. And yet I find nothing in their language, when properly interpreted, that is in conflict with the doctrine of the church on the final destiny of man. Most of those texts, if not all, that speak of the wicked being sent away into the lake of fire, at the last day, were spoken to people who had known the truth, and then departed from the way of righteousness. And the servants of God in speaking to that class of people, trying to bring them back into the straight and narrow way, would, as already explained, use stronger language than they would in speaking to those who had never known the truth; and especially would this be the case in referring to future punishment and the final state of the wicked. The 'lake of fire and brimstone," 'endless torment," 'eternal torment," the "pains of hell," "everlasting burning," the "pains of a damned soul," the "everlasting chains of death," and the "sorrowing of the damned," its nature and its cause, are so clearly explained and illustrated as to throw much light upon the future punishment and misery of even the finally impenitent. And I failed to find anything taught in the book, even in the case of those sons of perdition, that represents God in the light of a cruel or revengeful being. Every writer and speaker should be allowed . the privilege of defining the terms he uses; and the writers and speakers, represented in the Book of Mormon, have so clearly defined the above terms, that there can be no doubt as to their understanding of them, and as to the sense in which they used them.

I hope that good may result from the investigation of this subject, and that error may be exposed, the truth made manifest, and God's name be glorified.

STAKE OF ZION AT LAMONI.

On the afternoon of Tuesday, April 30, quite a large audience gathered in the Brick Chapel at Lamoni to witness the organization of the third stake in the history of the Reorgani. zation. When the chapel bell pealed the hour of two o'clock, it found Bro. R. M. Elvin, president of Decatur district, and Bro. J. A. Gunsolley, president of the Lamoni branch, in the stand. Bro. Elvin arose, and in fitting words expressed gratefulness for the opportunity for which so many had so long hoped and prayed; and that the time had come when the burden and care of the district was to be lifted from his shoulders and placed upon those who should be chosen as officers of the stake. He concluded by moving that President Joseph Smith be chosen to preside over the meeting. Bro. J. A. Gunsolley seconded the motion, which was unanimously carried.

President Smith took the chair, and Bro. R. S. Salyards was chosen secretary of the meeting. Chorister of Lamoni branch, Bro. B. M. Anderson, was asked to lead the singing, Sr. Audentia Anderson organist.

The audience then sang, "In thy name, O Lord, assembling," and President Smith invoked the divine blessing.

The chairman then stated the purpose of the meeting. He said certain conclusions had been reached by the Presidency and Twelve in joint council. These were that the governmental affairs of the district and the central branch were to be vested in a president of the stake, his two counselors, and a high council; and that these, together with a bishopric of the stake, and secretary, were to be chosen. These conclusions had been reached at Independence. The joint council would nominate a presiding high priest, he to choose his counselors, all to be subject to acceptance or rejection by the body. The council would also nominate seven for the high council, they, when chosen, to nominate the remaining five. Other names were had in reserve and would be presented if any of the seven firstnamed should decline. He said that while the name of the district had been Decatur, it had been suggested that the name of the stake should be Lamoni, and that the first question to be disposed of was, Shall we organize?

By motion, all Saints from the various branches of the district, and all visiting Saints not resident in the district, were permitted full privileges of the deliberations.

It was then moved to comply with directions in the revelation, and that we now proceed to organize Lamoni Stake, which was carried without a dissenting vote.

The resignations of Brn. Elvin and Gunsolley as president of district and branch respectively were heard and by motion accepted, and vote of thanks tendered each for faithful discharge of duty.

The chairman then presented the name of John Smith as president of the stake. Approval of the nomination was moved. In a brief but fitting speech the brother signified willingness to accept, subject to the will of the body, and he was received by unanimous vote.

Bro. John Smith then presented as his counselors, Brn. J. A. Gunsolley and D. W. Wight. Both expressed themselves as willing to serve if the body so desired, and their choice was unanimously approved.

The chairman then nominated as the first seven members of the standing high council, Brn. F. A. Smith, J. R. Evans, F. B. Blair, R. J. Lambert, H. A. Stebbins, F. E. Cochran, and J. S. Snively. These, being called upon separately, expressed willingness to accept, with the exception of Bro. Cochran, who stated that he had earnestly sought light regarding the matter, but had received none, and, not feeling satisfied to accept without, declined. Bro. M. M. Turpen was then named by the chairman to complete the seven, who consented to act if chosen. These seven brethren were then, upon separate motions, chosen to be members of the standing high council of Lamoni Stake.

The chairman stated he had been authorized to present Bro. William Anderson and his counselors as the bishopric of the stake, which nomination was unanimously accepted.

Brn. Joseph Luff and R. C. Evans, of the Twelve, and I. N. Roberts and R. M. Elvin, of the High Priests, were selected to ordain the brethren chosen, who came forward and were seated on the platform. Bro. John Smith was then ordained president of Lamoni Stake by Brn. Evans and Roberts; Bro. J. A. Gunsolley, first counselor, by Brn. Luff and Elvin; and Bro. D. W. Wight, second counselor, by Brn. Roberts and Evans. Bro. Fred A. Smith was ordained a member of the standing high council of Lamoni Stake by Brn. Elvin and Luff; Bro. R. J. Lambert a high priest and high councilor by Brn. Evans and Roberts; Bro. J. R. Evans a high councilor by Brn. Luff and Elvin; Bro. F. B. Blair, high councilor, by Brn. Roberts and Evans; Bro. M. M. Turpen, member of high council, by Brn. Elvin and Luff; Bro. J. S. Snively by Brn. Evans and Roberts; and Bro. H. A. Stebbins by Brn. Luff and Elvin, the first-named, in each instance, being speaker in ordaining.

The president of the stake, his counselors, and the seven high councilors, then retired to choose the remaining five to compose the standing high council.

While waiting for them to return, President Joseph Smith spoke of the stake, its organization, and the duties of its officers, etc. He followed with timely admonitions, good, wholesome instruction, and words of encouragement and cheer. He believed the late conference to have been the most instructive one ever witnessed in the history of the Reorganization, and the Saints had parted in good feeling. There had been unanimity in the joint council of the Presidency and Twelve in their appointed work of organizing the stake at Independence, and the same had prevailed in their council held that morning. He was pleased with the spirit in which the audience had received the nominations, and believed we had gone a long step forward; and that we were now better prepared to resist opposition from without and troubles within.

"God speed the right," was sung, and an intermission was spent in social intercourse.

In a short time the brethren who had retired returned, and, the audience having resumed order, Brn. I. N. Roberts, C. H. Lake, R. S. Salyards, Duncan Campbell, and D. J. Krahl were nominated to complete the standing high council of the stake. The brethren, without exception, signified willingness should the body so choose, and upon separate motions their choice was approved. Bro. I. N. Roberts was then ordained a member of the high council by Brn. G. T. Griffiths and R. C. Evans, and the following were ordained high priests and members of the high council: Bro. D. J. Krahl by Brn. Elvin and Luff; Bro. Duncan Čampbell by Brn. Evans and Griffiths; Bro. C. H. Lake by Brn. Luff and Elvin; and Bro. R. S. Salyards by Brn. Griffiths and Evans, first-named being speaker in each instance.

A motion then obtained that the former district treasurer, Bro. B. M. Anderson, be authorized to turn over the funds in his hands to the bishop of the stake, and that he be chosen secretary of the stake; the chairman stating in this connection that the high council would choose its own secretary.

President Joseph Smith then said the work had been accomplished, and he took pleasure in turning over the government of branch and district into the hands of the newly elected presidency of the stake.

"O, thou God, who hearest prayer," was sung, and the assembly was dismissed by the chairman.

PORTE CRAYON,

"BE YE SEPARATE."

Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you.—

How may we as a people utilize and fulfill this scripture? In the early days of the church, this was the main issue at hand, and as a church they strove to establish themselves according to this word. Shall we wait until violence and pestilence have swept the earth as a besom of destruction? Shall we remain to partake of its sins? Or shall we gather ourselves together (round about) and do as the Doctrine and Covenants says, be one in temporal things that we may be one in spiritual things? Without unity, what spiritual progress can the church possibly make? We may pat our selves on the back, and put on a selfsatisfied air, and think all is well in Zion. Ah! but Zion was robbed of her spoil during the dark days, when the dark, gaunt wolves tore the lambs and scattered them to the winds as straw; or strewed their carcasses on the plains; or led those who would follow wolves as leaders to the very depths of the valleys of hell. And how may we gather back the scattered ones? How may we rebuild the waste places of Zion?

I once saw Bro. Joseph in a dream, part of which I remember distinctly, raising his hand and bowing his head as in the attitude of prayer. He said: "Thus saith the Lord, O my people, gather ye round about. Thus saith the Lord God."

I have noticed that in union is strength—oneness; life in the body of Christ, and brotherly love the true progress of Saints, and the golden rule the protection of God's people. But so much has been said of the golden rule, so much has been said of equality, as they go hand in hand. So as we go on we will let them blend harmoniously together in the following story:

A DAY DREAM OF THE TWENTIETH CENTURY.

In fancy I was in a strange village. I had gotten off the train, and was starting up a shady path towards the There stretched out before me a beautiful, rolling country, while at my feet flowed a stream, clear as crystal. The bright sunlight was playing on its rippling waters; dancing on its bosom were numerous row-Therein were maidens and young men, enjoying what seemed to me a gala day of the young people of the village. I noticed they were plucking lilies; and I thought, "Solomon, in all his glory, was not arrayed as one of these." Their faces seemed as pure as the lilies they gathered from the stream. I could not but notice the contrast I had seen in the faces I had passed an hour ago, as I rushed down Broadway to make my train, on my annual trip as a knight of the grip. My fancy led me on through a shaded street, with broad walks and gravel roads. A laborer toiled with the hoe, humming a familiar tune as he toiled. As I approached, he started. "Good morning, my brother," said he.

"Good morning, sir; you seem happy."

"Happy is not the word; joy complete is the sentiment of my soul. Mine is the labor of love. I am joyous as the birds in the trees. An old miner by trade; but in these bright and happy days, no such work is done. I work six hours a day; work a few hours at home in my little paradise. My wife and I are as snug in our cottage as we could wish to be. You should look over my plot of ground. When I came here they insisted I should have an acre. I didn't know what I should do with it. But the young men, during vacation, came out and helped me, so everything is laid out fine. Talk of a land flowing with milk and honey. The bishop turned over a cow to me, and you can imagine cream and strawberries, honey in the comb, vegetables galore, butter rich as gold, everything in its season. The brethren said I should have a nice cottage. I had a choice of this lot, with its beautiful shade and fruit trees all set out. I only had two hundred dollars, but they said I should have a nice, neat home; all I had to do was to work and pay for it."

"But suppose you should get sick or disabled.

"Why I would call for the elders as Saint James says. Besides, my pay would go on just the same, and in case of death my wife would receive one half my pay as long as she lived, and the debt I owe would be canceled. Everyone here is under a mutual bond, and any calamity is equally borne. Our lives and property are all insured by mutual, brotherly love; but our religion here keeps us from being sick. You may know that sickness and sin are closely allied. I used to be sick and have a swelled head. after filling up on ale, and going out on a spree. I thought I was having a good time. But ten years here has nearly made a clean man of me. The old tobacco and ale are about all soaked out. I hope to be fully clean by the time my Lord shall come."

"Well, good day, sir."

"Good day; God bless you."

I walked on up the street. ticed the cottages and large buildings were mostly on acre lots. Everybody raised his own garden stuff and fruits. Between the lots, sometimes, was a cow grazing, or a patch of corn or potatoes. I met a young lady, and asked for the best hotel.

"We only have one where you can be accommodated; you will notice the sign opposite this street, as you walk on.'

I thanked her and passed on. I came to a small park, where played a beautiful fountain; where numbers sat in the shade of trees. I took a seat beside an old gentleman, who had a kindly face. After exchanging greetings in the usual way, I said:-

"I am a stranger here, sir, and want to ask about your town, as I have become somewhat interested. Your place seems laid out as though you had plenty of land."

"O yes," the old gentleman replied; "this land was all bought very cheaply. It was only woods and prairie ten years ago, and now there are several thousand souls living here."

"But where are your business blocks, stores, etc.?"

"O we only have one store here, and that wouldn't be known by a There is nothing to be stranger. seen but samples of ordinary articles. dry goods, groceries, and such commodities; there is no competition here, everybody works. The old idea of buying goods and putting them in a show window is all done away. When I was in business years ago, I bought goods at six dollars per dozen; sold them at a dollar each; and on special sales at ninety-nine cents. But I have been converted through the gospel, and given that up years ago."

"But, sir, where does your prosperity come from?"

"Why, sir, did you never think that labor is wealth, and nothing else? No one here pays more for a thing than it costs to produce it. This is principally a farming community. If you noticed, we have large grain elevators and stock yards at the depot. We make large shipments, sometimes a whole train load. We have with our schools, workshops, making a great variety of things.

"You don't mean to say your children do the work."

"O no; they do not go into the industrial part till they are about sixteen. They are advised and instructed before this, however; but not as laborers. When they are sixteen they take up a trade or a profession, and have text-books to follow out their line of pursuit. In our main factories we are turning out many things that go over all the country. Such as we cannot make we buy, and the whole business is done by the people. You notice that large brick building down the street; that is our factory plant. The school is just across the small park, if you'll notice."

"So, this is the hotel where strangers stop?"

"Yes, sir; but very few strangers stop here, although they are welcome, and are charged moderate rates. Sometimes strangers come that don't behave just right, and we give them notice to leave.'

"I must say you are very practical."

"Well, we try to be, my friend, because when we were out among the world we had some sad experiences, and we wish to profit by them."

"Could I not buy some property here for speculation?"

"Do you belong to any church,

"O no; but I believe in the golden rule, and such like.'

"So do we. We do as we wish to be done by. No one can buy property, here, however, unless they accept our faith. You might stay over Sunday and attend our services. But very few converts are made here; they generally come from our own people. No one comes here to live only on recommendation from our respective branches in various parts of the world."

"Where is your place of residence, may I ask?"

"I live at the hotel, sir; that is my home. I have very pleasant rooms, every modern convenience, and the freedom of the whole house. As you will notice, it is quite an extensive Adjoining the hotel is the affair. public library and reading rooms; above are the play rooms for all kinds of amusements. The young people, mostly, utilize that. The next beyond is the post office; and above, our business offices. Beyond, across the street, is the mercantile department; beyond that, the store rooms.'

But where are your churches?" "We only have one. You notice the roof, over and beyond the hotel; that is it. A small park like this lies between. You would enjoy our services and especially our singing; everybody sings here, because they are happy."

"Yes, I noticed an old gentleman in the street, as I came from the depot; and the young people in the boats, they all seemed happy. And what is your work in the community, may I ask?"

"O, I don't work much! I have plenty to live on, and have done much for this place. I have consecrated all I have to the service of the Lord."

"But how could you do that and have it too?"

"Why our law calls for a tenth of our increase, and surplus. My surplus, more than I need, I use for starting some of our people to get homes. No one has less than an acre; some have three, some five, and ten; and our farmers have from eighty to one hundred and sixty, but no more. Anyone owning a surplus of property turns it over to the Bishop's agent; of course, under such a contract or consecration as they feel disposed. No one here is given anything; all are supposed to work. My work is to help others, because I am able. visit around with the elders, and look after general interests. Mine is a labor of love. We have our presiding elder and assistants; they visit each family once a month, who give a strict account of their labors, and receive the standard wage. Our experts and foremen, officers, etc., receive more pay, every one according to his ability. This is only one of the many such places we have in various parts of the surrounding states. We manufacture here what is available to this community, and have a system of exchange with other branches of our own people. We have a central place, where we are building a great city. The surplus from this branch will help to build our great temple, which will be above the grandeur of Solo-We are now advocating the mon's. commencement of it, because so much surplus is coming in, and we recognize the needs of it. During the terrible labor troubles and riots of 1903-4, our people rushed in so fast, it taxed us to the utmost to take care of them; and now since the Hebrews have established Palestine, making Jerusalem their capital, we are getting very anxious about our temple.

"Do you expect to stay long in town, my friend?"

"Only till the evening train."

"All right; I will furnish you our booklet of about forty pages. It is used by all our missionaries, all over the world. It gives a thorough explanation of our faith. We have found that it is better to represent ourselves, rather than have others misrepresent us, as has been done in years agone. We formerly had tracts on various subjects pertaining to our faith, but we discovered that sometimes people come into our faith with but one idea; and then again, some subjects are too hard along certain lines, for beginners, and they would throw the matter entirely aside. This tract I give you was written some years ago. It is printed by our publishing house in such large quantities that it costs a mere trifle. There is a general church fund, so it is furnished to all our mis-Years ago they worked sionaries. mostly among our own people, but now they work among the outside world, and distribute these tracts. They generally do as much good as preaching, and cost much less. They are required to distribute them from house to house, and give a report of number distributed, etc., besides preaching where opportunity offers. We have found it a vast improvement over the old way."

such as I have seen of your community.

can do some business. I shall read your booklet."

"I hope you will. You will find it teaches according to the Bible, and will furnish you reasons why the gospel of Christ is the best thing in life. We believe that in time it will bring us life eternal, and clothe us with immortality, save us in this life by saving us from sin, and better prepare us for the great change when Christ shall come. We believe our social plan is after the order of the City of Enoch; at least there are no poor among us, and all institutions are common property, and everyone can sit under his own vine and fig tree. Peace and prosperity are common to all; and above all, we are making great spiritual progress."

· I shook hands with my informant, and wished him Godspeed.

AURORA, Ill., January 2.

H. J. ATKINS.

DESTRUCTION OF THE WICKED. WHEN SHALL IT BE?

Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign of thy coming, and of the end of the world?—Matt. 24:3.

We believe it is understood by all Latter Day Saints that by the "end of the world," is meant the destruction of the wicked. Of late we have heard some of the brethren of the ministry teach that there will be no destruction of the wicked at the coming of Christ, but that the wicked shall be permitted to live on the earth during the millennium; that the earthly governments will continue during the reign of Christ on the earth, until they are gradually absorbed by the kingdom of We have thought much upon this subject, and in searching the Scriptures in reference to the matter have found so much that is positively condemnatory of such a theory that we have concluded to offer some of our deductions for the consideration of HERALD readers.

In the question asked by the disciples, you will notice that there are three events contemplated: 1. The 2. The destruction of the temple. sign of Christ's coming. 3. The end of the world. The last two events we have always understood to be closely connected. So Jesus proceeds to answer the questions of the disciples, but we will pass by the answer dealing with the destruction of the temple, and examine some of his declarations concerning the end, and his coming.

And then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heaven; and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn, and they shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory.-Matt. 24: 30.

You will note that "all the tribes of "Well, my friend, I certainly like the earth" will be aware of his coming such as I have seen of your community. When he comes, "and will mourn." I will call at your office, and see if I Why should they mourn at his coming, if they are going to be permitted to continue on the earth and maintain human governments as they now exist? It seems evident that the reason of their mourning will be because judgment will be taken upon them, and they will realize that it is the day of their doom.

Further on in this same chapter, Jesus says:-

But as the days of Noe were, so shall also the coming of the son of man be. For as in the days that were before the flood they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noe en-tered into the ark, and knew not until the flood came, and took them all away; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be.-Matt. 24: 36-39

In order to settle this matter, we have only to ask, Were all the wicked destroyed at the time of the flood? If so, then there is no escaping the conclusion that all the wicked shall be destroyed at the coming of Christ also. So the words of Christ plainly teach.

It seems that Luke had the same understanding of the teaching of Christ, for he has recorded the following:-

For as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth.— Luke 21:35.

While Jesus was upon the cross he spoke, to those who wept for him, of the conditions that were to take place at the time of the end, saying:

Then shall they begin to say to the mountains, Fall on us; and to the hills, Cover us. -Luke 23: 30.

Now, by turning to John's revelation, we shall find just when this was to take place.

And the heaven departed as a scroll when it is rolled together; and every mountain and island were moved out of their places. And the kings of the earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and the chief captains, and the mighty men, and every bond man, and every free man, hid themselves in the dens and in the rocks of the mountains; and said to the mountains and rocks, Fall on us, and hide us from the face of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb: for the great day of his wrath is come; and who shall be able to stand?—Rev. 6: 14-17.

The foregoing plainly refers to the coming of the Lamb, and shows the condition that shall exist among those Who is who are not looking for him. the Lamb? Do we not all understand that it is Jesus Christ? It would not do to say that this refers to the destruction of the armies, that is to take place at the end of the "little season" after the millennium, for we find that kings shall be among those who shall hide themselves; we have yet to find those among our people who hold that there will still be kings on the earth after the millennium. This scripture points to the fact of the destruction of the wicked at the coming of Christ. So instead of the kings of the earth being permitted to continue their unholy reign during the millennium, they will all flee and try to hide them- be taken on the wicked.

selves, realizing that the day of doom is at hand. Isaiah agrees with the foregoing. Hear him:

For behold, the Lord will come with fire, and with his chariots like a whirlwind, to render his anger with fury, and his rebuke with flames of fire.—Isaiah 66: 15.

Joel, in speaking of this same event, calls it the "great and terrible day of the Lord." (See Joel 2:31.) Malachi tells us that the Lord shall come as a purifier:

The Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his temple, even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in: behold, he shall come, saith the Lord of hosts. But who may abide the day of his coming? and who shall stand when he appeareth? For he is like a refiner's fire, and like fullers' soap.-Mal. 3: 1, 2

Again he says:--

For, behold, the day cometh, that shall burn as an oven; and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble; and the day that cometh shall burn them up, saith the Lord of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch -Mal. 4:1.

In speaking of the righteous that remain, he says:

And ye shall tread down the wicked; for they shall be ashes under the soles of your feet in the day that I shall do this, saith the Lord of hosts.—Mal. 4:3.

Malachi's prophecy teaches us that the wicked shall be destroyed, while the righteous will be permitted to continue, and will tread down the ashes of the wicked. This does not look as though there would be much of a show for the wicked in the and terrible day of the Lord." If we place this destruction at the end of the millennium, or the 'little season.' then we will have to put the coming of Elijah at a much later period than we as a people have mostly understood it as taking place.

Next, we refer to what Paul has to say upon this subject:-

For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night. For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon and they shall not escape.-1 Thess. 5: 2, 3.

Here, again, it is made plain that this destruction of the wicked is to take place at the coming of the Lord. Again he says:-

And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeauce on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ: who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power.—2 Thess. 1: 7-9.

Now, if we accept Paul's teaching. we are justified in the conclusion that the wicked shall be destroyed at the coming of Christ. It cannot be consistently claimed that the foregoing refers to the destruction of the armies of "Gog and Magog," for the reason that it is so plainly declared that Jesus is coming in flaming fire, and that at his coming "vengeance" shall

I fail to see how the idea of earthly kings and governments existing on the earth during the reign of Christ can be supported from the Scriptures and the revelations to the church. We call attention to the words of Zechariah, in a prophecy concerning the coming of the Lord. After describing the coming of the Lord to Jerusalem, and the overthrow of the nations that fight against Jerusalem, he says:-

And the Lord shall be king over all the earth: in that day there shall be one Lord, and his name one.—Zech. 14:9

Surely according to this prophecy, there will not be much show for other Where will be the kings or lords. room for all of the present existing governments of the earth? This refers to conditions that are to obtain during the millennium. In the tenth and eleventh verses, he speaks of the change of the earth and the peaceful conditions that are to prevail.

If further evidence is desired along this line, we will refer to some of the revelations given in these last days.

And I have made the earth rich, and, behold, it is my footstool: wherefore again I will stand upon it; and I hold forth and deign to give unto you greater riches, even a land of promise; a land flowing with milk and honey, upon which there shall be no curse when the Lord cometh. . . But verily I say unto you, that, in time, ye shall have no king nor ruler, for I will be your king and watch over you.—D. C. 38: 4, 5.

Now it is plainly indicated by the foregoing, that when the Lord "again stands upon the earth," will be the time when we shall have "no king." Comments are needless. Again:

And then they shall look for me, and behold I will come; and they shall see me in the clouds of heaven, clothed with power and great glory, with all the holy angels, and he that watches not for me shall be cut off. . . . . Then shall the arm of the Lord fall upon all nations, and then shall the Lord set his foot upon this mount, and it shall cleave in twain. and the earth shall tremble and reel to and fro; and the heavens also shall shake, and the Lord shall utter his voice and all the ends of the earth shall hear it, and the nations of the earth shall mourn, and they that have laughed shall see their folly, and calamity shall cover the mocker, and the scorner shall be consumed, and they that have watched for iniquity, shall be hewn down and cast into the fire.—D. C. 45: 6, 8.

If the foregoing has any significance whatever, it clearly teaches that when the Lord comes his "arm shall fall upon the nations" and the wicked shall be destroyed. Again:-

For the last time call upon the inhabitants of the earth, for in my own due time will I come upon the earth in judgment; and my people shall be redeemed and shall reign with me on the earth; for the great Millennial, which I have spoken by the mouth of my servants, shall come. -D. C. 44: 7.

He says he will come on the "earth in judgment." I fail to see where the judgment would be if the nations of the earth are to be permitted to continue their existence and maintain their unholy governments. In section 49:5, his coming is referred to as "the great day of the Lord," showing that some special manifestation of power should be made manifest, at that time. Please note the following passages:-

I will reveal myself from heaven with power and great glory, with all the hosts thereof, and dwell in righteousness with men on earth a thousand years, and the wicked shall not stand —D C. 28:2

It would be well to read the entire

Behold, now it is called today (until the coming of the Son of man), and verily it is a day of sacrifice, and a day for the tithing of my people; for he that is tithed shall not be burned (at his coming); for after today cometh the burning.—D. C. 64:5. See sections 105: 10 and 108: 12.

Much more might be written upon this matter, but we have presented enough, we think, to establish the claim that the wicked shall be destroyed at the coming of Christ, and that all earthly kingdoms, kings, rulers, presidents, and potentates. shall have an end at that time.

H. E. MOLER. WILMINGTON, Ill., Feb. 14, 1901.

PROVERBS BY ANOTHER THAN SOLOMON.

Churchianity is not Christianity any more than sanctimoniousness is real. genuine piety of the Bible type; and yet many confound one with the other. Churchianity consists in following the church, instead of those exalted principles of life enunciated by the lowly Nazarene.

He who is deceived in spirit should not occupy a position through which he may deceive others. He should never preside in religious meetings.

A streak of piety closely followed by a streak of rascality are quite often found in those making the loudest religious profession.

Don't for one moment think you are "coming up higher" by constantly harping upon the evil in tobacco using, while at the same time you are winking at the paramount sins of today. Verily, there is more of sin in a single lie, than there is in using a thousand tons of tobacco.

Don't commit the folly of straining at a gnat and swallowing a camel, lest you become the laughing stock of all Israel.

It is the sheerest of folly for those deceived from time to time in spirit manifestations to assert that they possess the gift of discernment of spirits, for the facts refute their claim. To know false prophecy by only its nonfulfillment, is to fall far below the standard held up to the world.

Armed with only "A little brief authority," churchmen sometimes commit acts of injustice and oppression, and ever afterward lack the manhood and honesty to make reparation for wrongs done.

Let all know that the voice of the people is not always the voice of God; and hence church decisions are sometimes wrong; and sometimes, very unworthy men are appointed to, and sustained in, very important positions. A little coterie may so influence and shape events that a man, without ability or fitness, may be placed in important position; and when that is done, may be continued in power by the same coterie, either through design or otherwise, for years to come.

The Ensign has done noble work, and has sent its light into many homes, causing many to rejoice. Yet in its local, home news department, it should broaden its scope and get nearer the people. As a church organ it should not be the mere organ of one, nor yet of a select, little few (about whom nice little items are published every week), however wondrously strong the friendship of its editor towards them. Its news should be general, and concerning all classes. The policy of the old man who prayed,

> God bless me and my wife, My son John and his wife, Us four, no more. Amen, is a poor policy upon which to conduct a newspaper, and especially a church organ.

Whatever you do not know, don't be ashamed to confess that you do not know it.

Don't be too theoretical. Be practical, and live in the light of today, and remember that you are now in the twentieth century. Be up to date, but don't boast. T. E L.

Note by the Editor.—The same observation which may apply to the Ensign will apply with equal force and justness to the HERALD, which is THE church organ. Churchianity should be Christianity in the Church of Christ.

The man who uses an ounce or a ton of tobacco, or drinks a cup of coffee, may by it be telling a lie to God and his conscience.—EDITOR.]

IDENTITY OF MAN IN THE RESUR-RECTION.—NO. 2.

To the Readers of the HERALD. Greeting:-My apology for writing the second article upon this subject is that it appears that my position as set forth in my former article was not readily and fully comprehended by some. Therefore I shall now in a brief and simple way essay to make it plain, and my argument conclusive. Now that I shall not be under the necessity of making a long article of this, will you kindly oblige us by rereading in connection with this my former article upon this subject, which can be found in HERALD of January 16, present year.

Our position is, that the body of man will always be composed of the same chemical elements, oxygen, lover the words, "spiritual body," as hydrogen, carbon, etc.; the number of which is by chemists conceded to be something less than one dozen and a half, while of necessity there need not be a single particle of the matter that was in the former body enter into the resurrected body in order to style it "the same body." It is a form of speech in quite general use in both sacred and secular literature and parlance, to say: "the same," "this," "this same," etc., when only "same in kind" is meant. To illustrate this: Should I be with you in your library looking over your books, upon taking up one, say the Compendium, I would say, "I have this book in my library;" and should I wish to emphasize my statement, I would say, "Yes, this same book;" when I only meant same in kind. So in my article when I say or quote, "this same body," I mean or understand "same in kind," same in organic structure, a body of flesh and bones, blood vessels, etc., which it must have to be the same in any sense whatever.

In our epitome of faith and doctrine, we state that "we believe in a literal resurrection of the body." This implies that it must be the same kind of a body that we possess in this state of existence; a body of the same organic structure; a body of flesh and bones; a body with heart, lungs, arteries, and veins. And were it lacking any of these, it would not be the same

The question follows: What will be the purpose of those organs and blood vessels? Shall we conclude that where there has been no change whatever in the organ there will be a change in the function? The office work of the heart in this state of existence is to force the blood through the system. As there will have been no change in this organ, its function in the resurrected state will of necessity be the same as in this life. say that this muscular organ will have no function to perform is equivalent to saying that it will not exist. The same may be said of the lungs, arteries, veins, etc. I have heard the claim made, that "the Spirit of God will take the place of the blood as a substitute." The substitute must be composed of the same chemical elements as the blood is, no more nor no less, even to being in the liquid form, else it will not be adapted to the demands of the system and it must be subject to the action of the organs and blood vessels, as the blood is. How would it sound to say that the heart will force the -- through the body, and that the lungs will purify it, thereby fitting it for another trip through the system. And that those valves in the veins, are to keep it from falling back on itself.

It does seem that some are dazed they occur in 1 Corinthians 15:14. It is fitting that we here give a brief exegesis of the same, allowing Paul to be his own interpreter. The office work of the Spirit is to quicken and purify—make spiritual. (See 1 Peter 1:22; Eph. 2:1; 1 Cor. 2:15.) So those who are "quickened" by the Spirit in this life are "spiritual," and shall be "quickened" by it in the resurrection (if faithful) which will constitute them "spiritual bodies." (Rom. 8:11.) Following is Alma's explanation of it:-

I say unto you that this mortal body is raised to an immortal body; that is from death; even from the first death, unto life, that they can die no more; their spirits uniting with their bodies, never to be divided; thus [in this way] the whole becoming spiritual and immortal.-Alma 8:11.

It no more follows that there will be an organic or structural change in the body that is thus "quickened" than it does that there will be an organic or structural change in the spirit of man that is "quickened."

Let us view this subject from another standpoint. Whatever were the physical conditions and environments of man in Eden will be his in the resurrected state. This Edenic man, with a pulsating heart that sent a crimson flow of the elixir vitæ bounding and whirling through the arteries and veins, was in the full enjoyment of conditional immortality. But, alas! a change came; he disobeyed God's law, which brought death; he was cast out of the garden; could no longer have access to the "tree of life" (see Gen. 3: 22), and must perish, because "the earth is defiled under the inhabitants thereof." But, blessed hope! Beyond that dark abyss he sees an effulgent ray burst forth; a promise is made, whereby man will be redeemed and restored to his lost estate. This will be consummated in the resurrected state, when he will again have access to the "tree of life," as he had in his Edenic home. There the body will be nourished, replenished, and perpetuated, as it now is, by eating, drinking, and breathing. And should he neglect either of these. his existence would cease just as suddenly as it would under similar circumstances in this life. Our hope for the eternal existence of the body is based upon the fact that there will be an adequate supply for each demand.

In the midst of the street of it, and on either side of the river, was there the tree of life, which bare twelve manner of fruits, and yielded her fruit every month; and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations.—Rev. 22: 2.

And by the river upon the bank thereof, on this side and on that side, shall grow all trees for meat, whose leaf shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof be consumed; it shall bring forth new fruit according to his months, because their waters they issued out of the sanctuary; and the fruit thereof shall be for meat, and the leaf thereof for medicine.—Ezek. 47: 12.

Now, kind reader, if what I have written shall give us a better understanding of this subject, I shall feel well paid for my effort. Submitted in the interest of the latter-day work,

Yours very truly, J. A. UPTON.

LINVILLE, Oregon.

Selected Articles.

OF PEOPLE CENTURIES AGO.

What are, in all probability, veritable portraits of the race which inhabited the northern portion of this continent many years before the Indian occupation, have been received at the Smithsonian institution, says the Washington Times. They are in the shape of clay vessels having wrought upon their surfaces representations of human features.

So perfectly lifelike, or rather deathlike, are the best of these strange works as to lead some to the belief that they are, in reality, death masks of the aboriginal people. The potteries, eight in number, were discovered by the agents of the bureau of ethnology in mounds in the vicinity of Pecan Point, Arkansas. other earthenware vessels which have been discovered in a similar manner they were associated with human remains in graves, or mounds, and the attempts at portraiture they evince were evidently intended for the persons with whom they were buried. In not all cases have the bones of the dead been found with them; but this is held to indicate that the bones have crumbled to powder. The question as to whether or not these vases were made exclusively for sepulchral purposes must, say the Smithsonian experts, remain unanswered, as there can be found no source of information upon the subject. Such a purpose is, however, suggested by the semblance of death given to the faces, which do not present a single feature characteristic of Indian physiognomy. Instead, is seen the round forehead and projecting mouth of the African.

The nose, however, is small, and the nostrils are narrow. A description of the best specimen may be taken as typical.

The face would seem to be that of a youngish person, perhaps a female. The features are well modeled, and are so decidedly individual in character that the artist must have had in his mind a pretty definite conception of the face to be produced as well as of the expression appropriate to it before beginning its work. It will be impossible, however, to prove that the portrait of a particular personage was intended. The closed eyes, the rather sunken nose, and the parted lips were evidently intended to give

The ears are the effect of death. large, correctly placed, and wellmodeled; they are perforated all along the margin, thus revealing a practice of the people to whom the work of art is to be attributed. The septum of the nose appears to have been pierced, and the horizontal depression across the upper lip may indicate the former presence of a suspended ornament.

One of the most unique and striking features of this extraordinary portrait (for such it is pretty certainly pronounced to be), is the pattern of incised lines that covers the greater part of the face. These lines are deeply engraved and somewhat "scratchy" in appearance, and were apparently executed in the hardened

In size the head is five inches in height, and five inches wide from ear to ear. The aperture of the vase is in the crown, and is surmounted by a low, upright rim, slightly recurved. The cavity is roughly finished, and follows pretty closely the contour of the exterior surface, excepting in projecting features, such as the ears, lips, and nose. The walls are generally from one eighth to one fourth of an inch in thickness, the base being about three eighths. The bottom is flat, and takes the level of the chin and jaws.

The material does not differ from that of other vessels of the same description, but not embellished with There is a large percentportraits. age of shell in the composition, some particles of which are quite large. The paste is yellowish gray in color and rather coarse in texture. The vase was modeled in the plain clay and permitted to harden before the devices traced on the surface were engraved. After this a thick film of fine yellowish gray clay was applied to the face, partially filling up the engraved lines. The remainder of the surface, including the lips, received a thick coat of dark red paint. The entire surface was then highly polished.

The left side of the face is plain, with the exception of a figure somewhat resembling a grappling hook in outline, which partially surrounds the eye. The right side is covered with a comb-like pattern, placed vertically, with the teeth upward. The middle of the forehead has a series of vertical lines and a few short horizontal ones just above the root of the nose. There are also three curved lines near the corner of the mouth. The significance of these markings can only be surmised in the most general way. Their function is probably the same as that of the tattooed and painted figures upon the faces of living races. Upon the forehead, at the top, there is a small perforated knob or loop.

Similar appendages may be seen upon a Mexican terra-cotta head now in the museum of Mexico.

The headdress is worthy of note. It appears to have been modeled after a cloth or skin cap. It extends over the forehead, falls back over the back of the head, and terminates in points behind. Two layers of the material are represented, the one broad, the other narrow and pointed, both being raised a little above the surface upon which they rest. This vase head is somewhat smaller than the average human head.

These prehistoric portraits offer fascinating fields for conjecture regarding the racial characteristics presented. Nothing more than conjecture is, indeed, possible. Adjacent to them are the figures of some Egyptian mummies, not especially well preserved, indeed, but still presenting in their blackened and partially decayed features some of their distinctive characteristics. A comparison of these ancient human remains from the far-off lands of the Pharaohs with the masks of portraits from Arkansas of the prehistoric people of this country discloses a striking and wonderful resemblance. — Omaha World-Herald, April 20, 1901.

Letter Department.

RICHMOND, Va., April 29.

Dear Saints:—I feel that I ought to write a few lines in reply to the many kind letters and cards I have received, and to thank all who have so kindly sent me money and papers. I believe, though, I have written to all who sent me money, but I have not time to reply to all the letters, only in this general way. Having no help at present, am kept too busy; so will you all excuse me, and if any one was hoping for a personal letter, please accept the will for the deed. I should like to correspond with every one, but am unable, because of lack of time as well as means.

Well, the Sunday school is not what I call a success, nor yet is it a failure. There are about thirteen that attend regularly. Already the people who worship (worship what?) in the hall below are raging and imagining vain things. Not having the key one Sunday made it necessary for me to go in, and ask the superintendent to open the side door, into the passage leading to the hall above. Instead of doing so, he began on my faith.

"I told you what I thought of you then [last winter when I invited them to our services]. I want no fellowship with you!"

"I am sorry you feel that way," I replied. "It is because you mistake us for the Mormons of Utah."

"Ah well! you are all the same. You believe John Smith was a prophet."

"No, sir, I don't believe any such thing."

"What! did not you tell me you believed John Smith was a prophet?"

"No, sir, I did not say a word about John Smith," I replied, smiling at his pomposity and ignorance.

"What was his name then?"

"Joseph Smith."

"Well, you believe he was a prophet?"

"Yes, sir, I do."

"Well, I want no fellowship with you and such as you!" with a motion as if he would sweep me off the earth had he the power.

But as I wrote an account for the Ensign of our "scrap" at the time of it, I will not give further details here, only to add they have tried to keep their scholars from my school, any way they could, not hesitating at all about telling downright stories, if they have said all I hear they have.

Last Sunday I had occasion to go through their hall again to get into ours. I can open the outside door from the inside without the key, but cannot from the outside. But they had arranged the benches so that one empty bench (just a plain bench with no back) stood across the door. I moved it aside very gently and opened the door quietly, but could not open wide enough to get through without some squeezing. A lady arose to move her chair a little, and another, sitting by her said: "Do not get up, she is just doing this to disturb the school," so the lady sat down again, and I "squeezed through," opened the door, and let the little girls in out of the rain. Soon their school was dismissed, and I heard he was very angry. So I said, "I will go and apologize. I think I ought."

One little girl said: "Please make him give me my lesson leaf, he took it from me and will not let me have it." So I put on a brave front, though I hope not a brazen one, and facing the "lion in his den" I began my apology. "Good evening, I just want to say that I am sorry I caused any disturbance in your school. It was raining, and I could not get in, as I could not find any key and several little girls were outside waiting in the rain. I thought I could just go through quietly. I did not mean to disturb you."

"I think it was a very impolite thing to do."
"Probably it was, but I meant no offense.
If it had not been raining, I should have waited outside until your school closed, and you would have been perfectly welcome to have gone through my room had it been necessary."

"I cannot believe a word you say, madam; you are not truthful. You did it to disturb and break up my school. I cannot accept your apology. You have proved yourself to be a liar. You said you were not a 'Mormon,' and right here on your lesson book the Book of Mormon is advertised."

"I never told you I did not believe the Book of Mormon, told you I was not one of the Utah 'Mormons,'—that we were not that kind of people at all."

"Oh, you are just the same, and you told what was not true to deceive. Your accepting the Book of Mormon is enough to condemn you. Besides, you are untruthful."

"I do not see how I was untruthful. I tried to make it plain that we were a different people. I told you the world calls us 'Mormons;' but we were not the same as the 'Mormons' of Utah, and God is my judge whether I told an untruth or not. However, I came in here, not to get into any controversy, but, as you thought I did wrong, to apologize as a Christian, and as a lady."

"I don't think any apology was needed."

"No, I don't think myself any was needed, as no offense was meant; still, as a lady, I offer it, but am not received with the courtesy due from a gentleman to a lady."

"I told you I did not want anything to do with you. I want you to stay out of here. You come creeping around, coaxing our scholars away, poisoning their minds against us."

"God is my witness," I said, "that I never did anything of the kind. However, if you will please let this little girl have her lesson book I will go on up to our room."

He looked at the little girl. "Is this yours?"

"Yes, sir."

"Take the thing out of here," thrusting the book at her. "Don't you ever bring it in here again."

So I said, "Come on children, all who are going;" and I left him.

But I must tell how he quoted: "Add thou not to his word lest he reprove thee, and thou be found a liar." He accused us, of course, of adding to his words.

"To be sure," I replied, "it says so; but it says nowhere that God has no right to add to his own word."

"But that is the word of God, 'add thou not to his word."

"Certainly it says, 'add thou not,' and I think that you ought not to add; but God still has the right to add to his own word, and he nowhere says he will not add more, but he does say he will give 'line upon line, and precept upon precept, here a little and there a little,' and we have no right to say the time has come for him to stop giving his word."

"Oh! it is finished; the word is finished."

"You have no proof of it. There is nothing to prove it in the word, and by believing that you limit God, as he will not give his word to those who do not believe; and his word says 'Thou shalt not limit the Holy One of Israel,' and that is just what you are doing."

After we went up to the room a little girl came in late that usually attends that school, and said to me: "Oh! Mrs. Corson, the girls at the gate say Mr. Ennis says that any scholar that attends your school cannot come to his any more."

"Did he say that?" said my largest scholar, a girl of perhaps fourteen.

"The girls said he said it, and I guess he did for they tried to coax me not to come up here."

At that the two largest girls took the lesson leaves of the Sunday school below, and thrust them in the stove, and said, "We will have nothing to do with his old Sunday school."

I tried to stop them, though it did me good to see young America show itself. The spirit of liberty, if no other spirit, was in their act. I said to them: "Don't, girls; read your papers, and whatever is good and true in them.

hold fast to it. Cherish the good no matter where it is found." They said I had never said a word about his school, and he was no gentleman, and they would not go there any more.

I could tell of much more that would be of interest; but as I am preparing some articles for Ensign that will embody all I have to say, I will not take up space.

The children think the papers and cards are so nice, and I hope others will have cards to send. It is a bait, to be sure; but we have to do something to attract attention or we never get a hearing.

Many thanks to all who have contributed in any way. Cards are more needed than anything else at present.

Your coworker in the gospel,
ALICE R. CORSON.
3829 Fourth street, Fulton.

BOYNE CITY, Mich., March 31. Editors Herald:-After I read Bro. J. R. Lambert's dreams in the HERALD last week, I thought much on them, and today in prayer meeting I was impressed to write what appears to me to be interpretations of them. The first is this: The ship behind him was the Church of Christ, and the water in which he was working was the world; he was the servant of God clearing the way for the church. The other ship he saw was the church of Rome, or the mother of harlots, with her children, or the creeds of today, all combined to crush down the Church of Christ; but they could not overcome it. The sacks of corn on the ship were the creeds of men, and the corn represented the people in the churches of the world, and in like manner will come to naught.

The other dream is this: The serpent that he saw was Satan, that old serpent, the Devil, and who was trying to overcome Bro. Lambert and hinder him in his work as the servant of God. God, through his servants, was able to overcome the serpent, and it will not hurt you if you ever strive to come up higher, until finally Satan shall be bound for a thousand years.

May God help us all to come up higher, is my prayer, in Jesus' name.

Yours in the one faith,

MRS A. McCLAIN.

BRUNER, Mo., May 3.

Editors Herald:—I wish I could report the work here in a flourishing condition; but such is not the case. There seem to be dark clouds hanging over the work here, where was once the flourishing Bruner branch. We hope and pray that the light of God's Holy Spirit may penetrate the darkness and lighten the minds of his people, and that some may profit by their lessons.

We are cut off from preaching; we have not heard a sermon in a long time; but it causes us to appreciate the HERALD more than we did when we had plenty of preaching, although I was ever eager to read it. I think I have gained much benefit from its columns.

We have been looking for Bro. Sparling, of Springfield. Although the work seems almost dead, there are a few yet who are alive in the work. I hope the time will come when we can dispose of our land and be able to locate where there is a good body of Saints. I often think of the good social meetings we have enjoyed with the Saints at Bruner, and think of the brethren and sisters we had learned to love in gospel bonds, and wonder where Sisters Nice, Bishop, Hogue, Lofton, and Wedlock are, and many others that we used to meet with, and all mingle our voices in praise to the Father of all.

Your sister in bonds,

MOLLIE MARSH.

GLADSTONE, Ill., May 4.

Editors Herald:-I regret to say there are none here who know or understand the gospel as restored by the messenger of the covenant and that the Redeemer shall come to Zion and unto them that turn from transgression. My brethren, this is the day so long foretold by the prophets of old, and I feel assured that all who will turn from transgression will be blessed and saved from sin and death. What a glorious thought it is to be free, and the hungry soul to feast on the riches of God's goodness. I have had some experience in hunger for the bread that perishes, in the army. I have been very hungry; but that is as nothing compared to the hunger of the soul; and it is too bad that good men and women will starve their souls to death and commit spiritual suicide in this dispensation of the gospel of the great Redeemer. It is to be hoped as the smoke of iniquity ascends and clears away that prejudice will give way to truth and there will be an ingathering of the sheep into the true fold.

I have been distributing tracts and books to those I thought would read them. Nearly all who read seem to be pleased with the teachings of the church.

I would be glad if some of the elders could come here with their tent and hold a series of meetings. My house is open for them.

Yours in the one hope,

JACOB L. RUST.

Selected Poetry.

WARNING.

'Tis not the gleams of whiteness at the temples that proclaim

Your youthful years are fleeting and that life is not the same,

For each year is what you make it as the seasons come and go,

And life is ever youthful, if you care to have

Your birthday anniversary may measure like a cheat,

But the holidays give warning with a faithfulness complete,

And you may as well confess it. Yours is not a happy lot

When you find you aren't caring if it's Christmas time or not.

When the laughter of the children seems a harsh, discordant strain,

- And the fragrance of the market wafts its greetings all in vain,
- O, it's then that comes the warning that you can't misunderstand;
- It's then that Time has touched you with a cold and ruthless hand.
- For youth will live so long as youthful memories are dear,
- And age will knock in vain until you bid them disappear.
- You may be lean and slippered, but you need't mind a jot
- Till you find you aren't caring if it's Christmas time or not.

-Washington Star.

Mothers' Home Column.

EDITED BY FRANCES.

ANNUAL MEETING, DAUGHTERS OF ZION.

Daughters of Zion met on April 11, 1901, at Independence, Missouri, in basement of the church, at 10: 30 a.m. The meeting was called to order by the president, Sr. M. E. Hulmes, opened by singing, and prayer was offered by Sr. B. C. Smith.

In the absence of recording secretary, Sr. C. B. Stebbins, of Lamoni, Sr. Audentia Anderson was chosen to act as secretary for the meetings.

Sr. M. E. Hulmes, chairman of the advisory board, made opening remarks, briefly explaining the objects of the organization, saying that there was evidently a work to be done which belongs to the sisters, and that it was desired to interest all mothers in the movement. The chairman called for short speeches from the following, who responded: Srs. A. Anderson, Harrington, B. C. Smith, H. H. Robinson, John Smith, Louise Palfrey, A. A. Horton, Mina P. Kearney, F. C. Hay, F. C. Warnky, Hoffman, and Self. Closing remarks from chairman. Adjourned to meet at 10:30 the following morning. "Praise God from whom all blessings flow" was sung. Dismissal prayer by Sr. Kahler.

The Daughters of Zion met for business in the basement of church at Independence, April 12, 1901, at 10:30 a.m. Meeting opened by singing and prayer. Minutes of session of 1900 were read.

Reports were read from the following officers of the organization. Sr. M. E. Hulmes, chairman of advisory committee, Sr. C. B. Stebbins, recording secretary, Sr. H. H. Robinson, corresponding secretary, Sr. Anna Murphy, treasurer. Financial reports from chairman of advisory committee, and corresponding secretary, and from Sr. Curtis, editor of Daughters of Zion department in Ensign, were also read.

By motion, these financial reports, with the treasurer's, were referred to an auditing committee appointed by the chair. Srs. Frances Williamson, L. L. Resseguie, and A. A. Horton were so appointed and retired.

Reports from the following locals were read: Independence, Missouri; Lamoni, Iowa; Armstrong, Kansas.

Time being limited, other reports from Australia and elsewhere not addressed to general meeting were not read.

An oral report of committee on delegates to Mothers' National Congress was given by Sr. Hulmes. A report was read from Sr. Frances Davis, the delegate to the Mothers' Congress at Des Moines. Moved and seconded that these reports be accepted. Carried.

Moved that the advisory committee be empowered to call upon the general society for needed funds. Moved as a substitute that the former rule be amended to read "advisory board" instead of "general society." Substitute carried. The rule now reads as follows: All contributions shall be voluntary, and when necessary the advisory committee shall make a call for funds.

Moved and seconded that the present advisory committee, also the present recording secretary, and the treasurer, be reelected for the coming year. Carried.

Report of auditing committee presented, and by motion accepted. All reports were found correct.

Resolved, that the matter of sending a delegate to the next National Congress of Mothers be left to the discretion of the advisory committee. Moved and seconded that the matter of providing blanks for reports from locals to the general society be left with the advisory committee. Carried.

A suggestion was read from C. J. Spurlock, regarding proper preparation of food, and by motion it was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the advisory committee for their consideration and action in the matter.

Minutes of both sessions of this year were read and approved.

The meeting was adjourned and benediction pronounced.

AUDENTIA ANDERSON.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., April, 1901.

To the General Assembly of the Daughters of Zion:—With a feeling of thankfulness to God, and abiding gratitude for the leadings of his Spirit and his watchcare which have been over us as a society during the past year, I greet you at this time, and gladly embrace the opportunity of expressing my thankfulness to each one of you, my fellow laborers, who have so nobly and cheerfully aided the advisory board for the advancement of this work the past year.

At the business meeting held at Lamoni, Iowa, April 19, 1900, Sisters B. C. Smith and M. E. Hulmes were appointed a committee to consider the advisability of sending a delegate to the general meeting of the National Congress of Mothers, to be held at Des Moines, Iowa, the May following, and if committee should decide to send a delegate, that they have the power to select one. It was decided to send a delegate, and Sr. Frances Davis was chosen to represent our society. We have her report at hand, and it will be read at this meeting.

At the first meeting of the advisory board for 1900, Sr. Walker was requested to continue to act in the selection and preparation of literature for the use of locals. She has cheerfully and faithfully responded to our request. The committee on preparation of one or more books to be published by advisory board for use of the society, was continued. This committee consisted of Srs. M. Walker, Lucy Resseguie, and Frances Davis. I am glad to report that they have prepared the manuscript for the first book which has been submitted to the advisory board and accepted. The contents of the same give us reason to be thankful that we have in the ranks of our church and society those who are capable of preparing such literature for our needs, and we hope that every mother in Zion will place this, our first book, which is for young ladies, in the hands of her daughters. We expect this volume soon to be on sale, and at a small price. We hope the incoming board will continue the present committee on books until the whole series is completed. While the work of this commit tee is a freewill offering, we trust the general society, and friends of this work, will respond with financial aid, that the publishing of literature may not be hindered when the work is prepared. May each one feel this responsibility, is our prayer. Truly this committee is serving in a work of love for God's people.

While our editor in Home Column in HER-ALD, and editors in Daughters of Zion department in Autumn Leaves, are so commendably carrying on their work, we have been made glad in the fact that through the courtesy of the management of the Ensign, we have, during the past year, received space for a department there, and also we have obtained a faithful editor for the same. While the advisory board has held a number of meetings, we have been greatly hindered during most of the year by sickness among the board. Notwithstanding this we have been able to accomplish that which has, and will with God's help, result for good to this work.

We represented our work at the Washington park reunion last year with good results. Sr. Walker was with us and aided us much. Also a number of the ministry were present, and gave voice to words of encouragement regarding the need of this organization, and the work to be accomplished through the society. This gave much appreciated assistance to those who were and are laboring for the advancement of this work. Sr. Walker and I, feeling it a duty required at our hands, went to the Dow City reunion to represent the society work there, she being especially led that we should do so. Upon our arrival at the reunion we were pleased to hear that the committee regarding arrangements for representing Sunday school and Religio work had decided that these organizations and Daughters of Zion work conjointly in representing their aims. Thus our way was not only opened up, but we felt glad to have all recognized in this way as needed helps in the great latter-day preparation. We feel amply repaid for the effort there, and thank God that he stood by us; also for the great interest manifested, and that we also were supported by the ministry and the congregation assembled; and for the words of encouragement we received, giving cheer to last as we journey on our way in this cause. We are pleased to report that the Dow City local was organized at this time and among their numbers are many capable of carrying on the work.

While in the east I visited the Wheeling, West Virginia, branch, in interest of starting again the society work there. I found three sisters whose hearts are in the work. They report having met in local meeting.

I have to some extent by correspondence tried to further the work of organizing locals, but this work has been mostly the work of our corresponding secretary, Sr. H. H. Robinson. While we have not received word of as many new locals being organized as we would wish, I feel we can be thankful for the progress the work has made this last year.

In some places where there are no locals it is because of the difficulties in the way of meeting, obstacles hard to be overcome, and the diffidence of the sisters in taking the lead. There are many sisters so interested in the society that they wish their names on the general record as members of the general society. I wish to make a suggestion that it may be advantageous for the general society to supply blanks as a guide for locals to report to advisory board; also urge the thought of the necessity of more prompt reporting.

In conclusion I wish to say that ample encouragement has come to us as a society, to strengthen us to continue our labors in the future: and I feel sure we only have to make the people better acquainted with the character and scope of our work to enlist their active cooperation. While I feel much of our work must be done by publications, we need the ability to send out one or more active, energetic organizers, who by visiting the different branches and properly presenting our work, could organize locals, and in various ways labor for the advancement of the society's interest. Let us earnestly pray the Lord of the harvest that such may enter into our ranks.

May God bless and guide us all in the transacting of the business of this meeting, and may his continuing guidance be ours, is the prayer of.

Your sister in serving, MRS. M. E. HULMES, Pres.

PRAYER UNION.

SPECIAL REQUESTS FOR PRAYER.

Sr. Sarah Headrick, Tulare, California, earnestly requests the faith and prayers of the Union and the Saints, that if it be God's will, she may be healed from her afflictions.

William Allen White will contribute to an early number of The Saturday Evening Post, of Philadelphia, a striking anecdotal article on "Fighting Fred" Funston, the man who captured Aguinaldo. This is the second of a series of remarkable character studies by this brilliant journalist now appearing in The Saturday Evening Post.

Mr. White will also contribute to early numbers of the magazine an unusually interesting short serial story dealing with Kansas life

Sunday School Department.

ELDER T. A. HOUGAS, EDITOR.

Henderson, Mills Co., Iowa

(Send communications for this department to the Editor Address minutes and notices of conventions, etc., to "Editors Herald, Lamoni, Iowa.")

WHAT IS A MOTHER'S DUTY TOWARD THE SUNDAY SCHOOL?

I shall make two divisions of this subject, the mother a non-member of the church, and a Latter Day Saint mother. If the mother who is an "outsider," as we commonly denominate a non-member, consents to send her child to a Sunday school, Latter Day Saint or otherwise, it is her duty to see that the child's clothing is properly arranged and he is cleanly prepared, and sent from home in time that he may not be late for the hour of Sunday school. . "Whatever is worth doing, is worth doing well." If we wish our children to be successful in life we must teach them that order and punctuality are habits necessary to cultivate.

This mother will do well, if she desires her child to gain Scriptural knowledge, to encourage him to study the lesson appointed. However, I am always pleased to see such children at Sunday school, whether the above conditions have been fulfilled or not, for it gives the teacher an opportunity of sowing seed, which perchance the thorns may not "spring up and choke."

Of the Latter Day Saint mother

MUCH IS REQUIRED.

She must teach by example as well as precept, for upon her a greater light has dawned. It is not only her privilege but duty to see that her child attends Sunday school, an organized one, or gather the home circle and teach them herself. All things being equal she can say, "Come, children, let's go to Sunday school." By a little systematic planning this can be accomplished in most cases. I have seen homes (?) where on Sunday morning disorder and confusion seemed to reign. The mother must do everything and dress the children as well. (I am speaking of those families which have several children.) By a careful preparation of each child's clothing during the week, and teaching each child to put his own apparel in its proper place, accustoming him to adjust the same, much time is saved. The little ones can early learn to render each other assist-"helping mother." ance, thereby mother is free to arrange her household duties, and if no unnecessary work is done, she is free to attend Sunday school herself. Accustom your children to early rising on the Lord's day, the same as upon week days.

I have found it a good plan to devote a part of Sabbath afternoon in studying

NEXT SUNDAY'S LESSON.

Then we can talk about the subject during the week, and thus more effectually impress the lesson upon the young minds. This mother should take an interest in searching for suitable Bible questions and answers to questions given by others. In this way she keeps her knowledge of Bible lore refreshed, and the children's fund of information increased. Whenever her children have any special part assigned them for school work or entertainments, encourage them to learn their part promptly. She should try to in every way which shall be for the good of the Lord's work. In this way she helps to inculcate in the young minds the duty of assisting in the work of the Lord, and raises up helpers for the glorious cause we love. "The children of today are the men of tomorrow." Finally, mothers all should remember the saying of the wise man, "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old he will not depart from it."

CO-OPERATE WITH THE SCHOOL

HATTIE R. GRIFFITHS. For the Kirtland district convention.

CONVENTION NOTICES.

Pottawattamie district will convene at Boomer, Iowa, May 24, at 10:30 a m. Let all schools send reports by the 20th. As we expect some prominent Sunday school workers to be present, let everyone try to attend and make the convention a success.

JENNIE SCOTT, Sec.

The Galland's Grove district convention will convene at Dow City, Iowa, May 31. A good program will be rendered. of local Sunday schools please see that reports and credentials are sent early to the district secretary, Dow City, Iowa.

J. L. BUTTERWORTH, Supt.

MARY SCHAFER, Sec.

Convention of the Fremont district association will meet at Henderson, May 30, at 7:30 p.m. Programs will be sent to the several schools. CHARLES FRY, Supt.

Miscellaneous Department.

PASTORAL.

To All Whom it May Concern, Greeting; Dear Brothers and Sisters:—I address the following communication to all who are interested in the European mission, especially the English, Welsh, Danish, French, Swed-ish, Norwegians, Scotch, and Irish, in the United States and Canadas.

All of you are aware of the fact that the Saints in Europe, with the exception of a few in England, are quite poor in this world's goods. We have two ministers appointed to labor in the Scandinavian mission; namely, N. C. Enge and Peter Muceus, also two assigned to Scotland, J. W. Rushton and James Williamson. We expect to have one or two in Wales, and it will require considerable means to prosecute the work successfully in these countries, as we have but very few Saints in these places. Hence it is that we desire all those who have the means wherewith to aid to kindly remember the effort that the church is now putting forth to bring your countrymen to a knowledge of the gospel. Every little will help, so please forward what you can to my address at Temple, Lake county, Ohio, during the next two months, after that to 17 Dawson street, Manchester, England.

My object in making this request is because that the missionaries haven't always a convenient place to stay, and for the reason that there are only a few there and they are poor, and it is imposing upon them for the elders to stay with them any length of time. Therefore, if the Saints in America are interested in the people of their native country, they could help those who in their poverty try to care for the ministry.

Again, I would like for those in America who have relatives in Europe to send their addresses to me so that we can visit them.

The late revelation says that the missions that were opened by the church in the days of the martyr are now open to us. Hence, we intend if the way opens up to reëstablish the work in France, and would like the French people in the church to give us a helping hand to effect the same. We feel confident that the Lord will bless the effort for good to his cause and to mankind, so we hope that you will not be backward in responding to these urgent requests.

I shall publish the amounts received and expended in due time in the church periodi-

The Bishop and myself will sail for Europe in time to attend the British Isles mission conference the fore part of August, and we hope that a special effort will be put forth by the brethren of both orders of the priesthood to be present, so that we will be able to carry out some of the suggestions recommended by the Lord touching the affairs of the work in the British Isles mission.

Soliciting an interest in your prayers and the hearty support and cooperation of the European Saints, so that our mission will be a success and redound to the glory of God and result in the salvation of many people, I remain, your brother and coworker in Christ, GOMER T. GRIFFITHS.

To the Saints in the Rocky Mountain Mission, Greeting:-According to appointment by the late General Conference, the following missionaries will labor in the Rocky Mountain mission, comprising the states of Montana, Idaho, Utah, and western Wyoming: Brn. Gomer Reese and J. H. Wells will labor in Montana; S. D. Condit and Charles Albertson, Idaho, and Cache county, Utah; A. J. Layland, eastern Idaho and western Wyoming; D. L. Harris, northern Utah, Salt Lake City and Ogden, objective points; W. S. Pender, southern Utah, including Utah county. Bro. D. W. Wight will labor as a county. Bro. D. W. Wight will labor as a general missionary, rendering assistance wherever needed, so far as practicable for him to do so; also looking after the interests of the Sunday school work in the mission.

Dear Saints, it is not necessary for me to admonish you to sustain the work and the missionary force, for you have done well in the past, and I firmly believe that you are desirous to so continue.

I hope the local brethren will do all they can to care for the work in their respective localities, thus leaving the missionaries free to do more work in new fields. Let us endeavor to labor together in unity, love, and peace, "in honor preferring one another," praying for the success of the work.

Owing to other work needing my attention at present, it will be impracticable for me to reach the field at once, and matters pertaining to the work in the mission may until further notice, be sent to my home address, Box 539, Stanberry, Missouri.

PETER ANDERSON,
Missionary in Charge.

To the Missionary Force in Missouri, Kansas, and Southern Illinois, Greeting:—This is to certify to all whom it concerns, that I hereby appoint the following brethren in charge of the "fields of labor:"- charge of the "fields of labor:"—

Elder Swen Swenson, of the Seventy, in charge of the Far West district, except the city of St. Joseph and suburbs. Brn. J. W. Adams, W. E. Summerfield, B. J. Dice, and W. E. Haden will please report to him at Kerr, Dekalb county, Missouri; also Bro. J. M. Terry when working outside of St. Joseph and suburbs.

Nodaway district is in charge of Elder D. C. White, of the Seventy. Brn. J. S. Snively, F. L. Sawley, E. S. Fannon, and D. A. Hutchings will please report to him at Lamoni Iowa.

Elder James Moler, of the High Priests, is in charge of the Clinton district. Brn. T. R. White, W. H. Mannering, C. P. Welsh, A. C. Silvers, J. N. Stephenson, and D. D. Williams, will report to him at Holden, Missouri.

Spring River district is in charge of Elder F. C. Keck, of the Seventy. Brn. J. D. Erwin, T. S. Hayton, and S. D. Love, will report to him at 700 North Ash street, Nevada, Missouri.

Elder Henry Sparling, of the Seventy, is in charge of Southern Missouri district. Brn. O. B. Thomas, A. M. Baker, and James T. Davis will report to him at 1,862 Springfield avenue, Springfield, Missouri.

The city of St. Louis and suburbs is in charge of Elder F. A. Smith, of the High Priests. The St. Louis district, outside of the city of St. Louis, is in charge of Elder Arthur Allen, of the Seventy.

Elder F. M. Slover, of the Seventy, is in charge of the Southeastern Illinois district. Brethren will report to him at Orchardville, Illinois.

The Central Illinois district is in charge of Elder R. T. Walters, of the Seventy.

Northeast Kansas district, in charge of Elder J. C. Foss, of the Seventy.

Northwest Kansas district in charge of Elder M. T. Short, of the Seventy. Elder F. A. Smith, of the High Priests, is in charge of the missionary work of the city of St. Louis and suburbs. Eider J. M. Terry, of the High Priests, is in charge of the missionary work in St. Joseph and suburbs.

Those doing missionary work in the Northeast Missouri district, and the Independence Stake, will please report to me at Independence, Missouri. I. N. WHITE, ence, Missouri.

Missionary in General Charge.

To the Saints of the Dakotas and Minnesota:-Having conferred together and with the following brethren, we have concluded that for the best interests of all concerned it will be well for Brn. E. Hayer and George Thorburn to labor together, working in the states above named.

JAMES CAFFALL, J. W. WIGHT, Missionaries in Charge.

To the Missionary Force in the Southeastern Mission; Dear Brethren:-As it has been my lot to be associated with you this conference year, I take this method of addressing We are aware of the fact that the harvest is great and the laborers are few. hope that each one of you will take your respective fields at your earliest convenience and labor faithfully to spread the truth and build up the kingdom of God in all its beauty and grandeur. We have a large field and hope we will be able to reach many who never heard the gospel. In order that this may be done, go out into the world away from the local organizations, break new territory, and report your work to me by the first of July, October, January, and March. Let us labor together in love and our heavenly Father will bless our efforts to the good of others, while we may take comfort and re-joice with them. I will be with you as soon as possible. Anyone wishing to write me can address me at Lamoni, Iowa. Ever praying for Zion's weal, I am, Yours in hope of eternal I. N. ROBERTS, Missionary in Charge.

LAMONI, Iowa, May 4.

To the Ministry and Saints of Northern Illinois District:—Having been placed in charge of the above-named field of labor, I wish to state to you that I will be glad to hear from all who desire labor done in any named region or place, and all requests for labor will be considered and where practical will be answered. Ministry and laity ought to be, and I presume are, equally interested in the advancement of the work of God, and

I trust the membership will assist the ministry in the good work by a godly and blame-less life as well as by words of "truth and soberness" spoken in proper times and places. Wisdom is a gift of God we should all seek The ministry who are not under General Conference appointment are requested to do what they can in their respective branches or vicinities. To my colaborers in the district I only say, "Occupy in harmony with the law of God as wisdom may direct, and may his guiding Spirit be with you, I

My permanent address is Dow City, Iowa. Mail addressed here will reach me with but little delay. I may have a field address later. I expect to go to my field on the 9th or 10th. D. M. RUDD.

Dow CITY, Iowa, May 3.

To the Missionary Force in Wisconsin, Greeting:—As our worthy brother, Heman C. Smith, has thought proper to appoint me in charge of the Wisconsin field, and as per his request, that those so placed publish their permanent address as soon as possible, I herewith attach mine. I expect soon to be in the field, and engaged in active service, and hope to attend one or both of the district conferences, and to meet my brother missionaries there, and then and there arrange for a successful campaign.

Your brother in bonds, CHAS. H. BURR.

Box 254, Plano, Ill.

charge.

PACIFIC SLOPE AND COLORADO MISSIONS.

After consulting with my predecessor in charge of Pacific Slope mission, the following appointments have been determined upon:

Washington will be occupied by Brn. John Davis and D. E. Powell, the former in Eastern Oregon, by A. M. Chase and W. A.

Goodwin, the former in charge.

Western Oregon, by C. E. Crumley and A.

Upton, the former in charge.

Northern California, by F. B. Blair, T. Daley, A. B. Phillips, and E. P. Schmidt, the first named in charge. Bro. E. E. Keeler will labor in this part during tent season.

Central California, by R. Etzenhouser, J. B. Carmichael, and C. C. Joehnk, the first named in charge. Except during the tent season. this will be the laboring place of Bro. E E. Keeler.

Southern California, by Albert Carmichael, William Gibson, R. R. Dana, and Elbert A. Smith. Bro. T. W. Williams, who is district president, will also labor herein.

Colorado mission, by J. B. Roush, C. R. Duncan, R. J. Parker, J. W. Morgan, J. B. Wildermuth, J. F. Curtis, J. M. Stubbart, A. B. Hanson, E. Rannie, and James Kemp, the first named in charge. J. J. Luff's assignment will be provided for later, when his arrangements for entering the field have been perfected.

With Christ as our model and his Spirit as our guide and strength, let us labor, brethren, to leave the same impress upon our work as remains upon his. Let us toil in confidence, humility, and charity, as those whose accounting shall be unto God, who has conferred upon us this highest of all honors-to be his ambassadors. May his blessing sanctify us and our work.

Your coworker, JOSEPH LUFF.

To the Saints and Friends of Clinton District:-Having been placed in charge of the work in the above district, I wish to inform all that my permanent address is Box 435, Holden, Missouri. All persons wishing labor performed in their localities please address me as above. All mail will be forwarded to me at once. I desire the assistance and cooperation of all, and I hope we may be able to open up the work in many new places the present year, therefore let us each labor to that end. The missionaries will labor according to their best judgment until we meet in the June conference. I hope the local ministry will put forth every reasonable effort to advance the work in the district. Let us each, ministers and members, work together for the advancement of the work of the Master. In gospel bonds, JAMES MOLER.

IOWA AND MINNESOTA MISSION.

To the Saints and Missionaries of the above Mission:—Feeling unusually hopeful as to the possibility of good results following faithful efforts on the part of all, and that the evidences for true accomplishment are unusually portentous, and a desire for truth's progress and the best welfare of the mission, I have concluded as follows:—

Duncan Campbell in charge of the Lamoni Stake, James McKiernan will so occupy in the Nauvoo district, J. R. Sutton eastern Iowa district, C. Scott Des Moines district, J. F. Mintun Fremont district, D. R. Chambers Pottawattamie district, H. N. Hansen Little Sioux district, J. M. Baker Galland's Grove district, and T. C. Kelley Minnesota. The missionaries in these various "fields of labor" will please note the ones thus designated and to whom they are to make report on the "FIRST" day of July, October, January, and March. Make a note of these dates when you read this so that you will be fully prepared to act promptly, that all reports from the ones in "charge" may reach me not later than the 10th of these months. So far as possible I hope the missionaries will "push out" and make new openings, believing that by so doing greater blessings will come.

In the missionary appointments Galland's Grove was depleted to an extent to supply needed demands from other sources, and I hereby take the responsibility of transferring Bro. J. M. Baker from the Little Sioux to the Galland's Grove district. To prevent even the possibility of friction, I have, so far as possible, appointed seventies in charge.

With a prayer for Zion's weal, J. W. WIGHT.

FOURTH QUORUM OF ELDERS.

Bro. F. E. Cochran, Lamoni, Iowa, secretary of above-named quorum, desires addresses of the following-named members of said quorum: Bowley Arnold, David K. Buttrick, J. W. Hancock, John F. Henson, Henry Holdsworth, J. F. Jamison, L. F. Johnson, Andrew J. Seely, Henry Walker, Joseph Wheeler. Anyone knowing the addresses of part of said batthron will dresses of any of said brethren, will confer a favor by sending same to the secretary, addressing as above.

REUNION NOTICES.

The date for the annual reunion of western Iowa, which is to be held at Dow City, has been fixed to begin September 20 and con-tinue ten days. Further notices will be given A. H. RUDD, Sec. in due time. Dow CITY, Iowa.

NOTICES.

Owing to the fact that Bro. H. O. Smith has been quarantined for smallpox, he will be unable to go to his mission for some time. He desires the missionaries appointed to labor under him to go ahead and do the best they can until he shall be able to be at work again. The missionaries of the Southwestern mission will please take note.

CONFERENCE NOTICES.

The annual conference of Birmingham district, England, will convene in the meeting room of the Birmingham branch, Priestly Road, of Stratford Road, on Saturday, May 25, and continue Sunday and Monday, 26th and 27th. Business session will open on Saturday, 7:30 p. m. Brethren and others attending conference will please notify Elder T. Taylor, in care of Mr. Roberts, Bristol Road, Bournebrook, Birmingham, seven days before conference convenes. Branches will be required to give statistical and spiritual reports as heretofore. Elders and others out of branches are also requested to forward reports, also licenses for indorsement, to the secretary three days before conference. It is earnestly hoped that all the ministry will make a special effort to be present.

C. H. CATON, Pres. CHAS. WALTON, Sec.

Nauvoo conference will convene at Burlington, Iowa, the first Saturday and Sunday in June. We would like to have a full and correct statistical report from every branch Please mail all reports, in the district. statistical and ministerial, to the district clerk, Mark H. Seigfreid, Adrian, Illinois. MARK H. SEIGFREID, Sec.

London district will convene at Arthur, Ontario, June 15-17. The district Sunday school association will meet at Arthur, Ontario, the day preceding district conference. Secretaries of branches and Sunday schools, and others, will please accept this notice and get their reports made out and sent in by that time.

JOHN L. BURGER, Sec.
G. T. R. Shops, St. Thomas, Ont.

Northern Wisconsin will convene at Valley Junction, June 1, 2. All officers of the district please send reports. All come who can, with the Spirit of the Master, that we may labor in love and advance God's cause.
A. V. CLOSSON, Pres.
L. M. SHAVER, Clerk.

Northern Nebraska will meet at Valley, Nebraska, with the Platte Valley branch, May 31, at 7:30 p.m. It is hoped that the missionary force of the district will all be present, as well as the missionary in charge. The district president has been assigned to a new field, and it will be necessary to select one to take his place.

JAMES HIEFE, Sec.

Northeast Missouri will convene at Higbee, Saturday, June 8, at nine a. m., to continue over the ninth. The election of officers will over the ninth. The election of officers will take place. All Saints who consistently can are requested to attend. Will branch presidents please see that their membership is made acquainted with this notice. Branch and ministerial reports should be sent to clerk, George Tryon, Huntsville, Missouri. J. A. TANNER, Pres.

Northeastern Illinois district will convene at mission, June 1, 2. Branch clerks will please make reports up to and including May 15, 1901. All members of the priesthood will please make written report to the conference. Secretaries of branches are requested to have their branch records of membership at the conference if possible. Those coming by rail will notify Bro. Thomas Hougas, or Bro. J. Midgorden, Stavanger, Illinois. Railroad stations: Seneca and Sheridan.

J. T. HACKETT.

Eastern Michigan district will convene on June 1, 2, with Evergreen branch, No. 344 Grand River avenue, Detroit, Michigan. Branch officers and secretaries, please send full and correct statistical reports. Bro. John H. Lake, president of mission, is expected to be with us. All missionaries and members are cordially invited to attend.

A. BARR, Pres. APPLEGATE, Mich., May 2.

Conference of Southern Illinois district will convene with the Parish branch, Franklin county, June 1, 1901. All come.
J. T. DAVIS, Pres.

WANTED.

A practical book binder; a brother preferred. Apply to JOHN SMITH, Manager.

DIED.

McHarness.-Moses McHarness was born July 31, 1824, in Lincolnshire, England; married May 25, 1845, to Miss Rosannah Foreman; baptized in England in 1846, and ordained an elder; came to America in 1856, living in New York till 1861, then came to Van Buren county, Michigan, where they heard the elders of the Reorganized Church in 1868, and he and wife were baptized January 6, 1869, by Elder D. H. Smith; ordained an elder July 11, 1869, by E C. Briggs; died at Lamoni, Iowa, April 25, 1901, aged 76 years, 8 months, CHESHIRE. - John Cheshire was born September 10, 1828, at Kensworth, Hartfordshire, Was baptized into the Moselle England. branch, September 8, 1878, near Moselle, Missouri, by Priest A. S. Davison, and confirmed by Elder Abram W. Reese. dained a teacher November 22, 1880, by Elder Abram W. Reese. Died at his home near Moselle, Missouri, March 23, 1901. Funeral by Elder A. S. Davison.

FISHER.—Mrs. Nancy Fisher was born August 29, 1829, in Jefferson county, Missouri. Was baptized December 30, 1883, near Moselle, Missouri, by Elder B. V. Springer. Died at her home near Moselle, Missouri, April 26, 1901

RANNIE — Elizabeth Mailand was born January 20, 1824, at Green Acres Moor, near Oldham in No. 8 house, Soho building, and was married to Edward Rannie in February, 1846. Five children blessed the union, all of whom, as well as the husband, survive and mourn their loss. She led a Christian life from early childhood and was baptized into the Reorganized Church, December 28, 1877, by Elder James Caffall. Died March 23, 1901, and was buried at Bethel cemetery, Dodge county, Nebraska, March 26, 1901. Funeral sermon by Elder James Huff.

HOLMES -Sr. Ellen E. Holmes was born in Providence, Rhode Island, April 10, 1840; died at her home, 123 Sutton street, Provi-dence, Rhode Island, March 25, 1901. She obeyed the gospel over twenty-three years ago at Plainville, Massachusetts, together with her husband and two children. A faithful wife; an affectionate mother; a kind neighbor; an earnest follower of the Lord Jesus: wise in counsel; considerate of others. The bereaved children, Charles M. and Ora V., have the sympathy of all who know them. Funeral at her late home. Sermon by Elder U. W. Greene, assisted by Bishop R Bullard.

SHEPHERD -At Fiskville, Rhode Island, February 11, 1901, Sr. Addie M. Shepherd. She was born at Washington, Rhode Island, and died in her fifty-fourth year. She was baptized about two years ago by Elder George Robley. She leaves four sisters and three brothers. Her life was a testimony to the gospel's power and saving grace services conducted by Elder M. H. Bond.

WESCOTT.—At St Louis, Missouri, April 24, 1901, Benjamin F. Wescott, aged 69 years, 8 months, was born in Providence, Rhode Island. He leaves a wife, one brother, who is now residing in Providence, and two sons. Was not connected with any religious order, but was a good citizen and neighbor and a good man. Funeral services conducted by Elder M. H. Bond.

KEMMISH -Peter Charles Kemmish was born in Portsmouth, England, February 8, 1844, and died at his home in Woodbine, Iowa, April 28, 1901, aged 57 years, 2 months, He was the oldest son of Charles 20 davs and Elizabeth (Wilke) Kemmish, of England. The family came to America in 1853. He was baptized in the Atlantic Ocean when eight years of age, and united with the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints when about twenty years of age.

The week following his baptism he was ordained to the office of elder, and the next Sunday preached his first sermon. November 20, 1864, he was married to Miss Susan Lidgett, a native of England. She was born June 14, 1846. Seven children were born to Bro. and Sr. Kemmish as a result of this happy union, all of whom are living except one who died in infancy. Funeral services were conducted in the Saints' chapel, Woodbine, Wednesday, April 30, at ten a. m., by Elder C. E. Butterworth, assisted by Elder J. F. Mintun. The remains were laid to rest in the Valley View cemetery. Our sorrow is not without hope.

MONTAGUE - Margaret Frances Andrews was born in Murray county, Tennessee, May 12, 1833; departed this life April 27, 1901, aged 67 years, 11 months, 15 days. She united with the church at Nauvoo in 1841. Emigrated to Texas in 1845; was married to George Montague in 1852. United with the Reorganization in 1860. She was the mother of seven children, six of whom live to mourn their loss. She was a devoted wife and mother, an earnest, conscientious Christian loved andesteemed by all who knew her. Funeral services were held in the Baptist church. Sermon by J. M. Baggerly.

DAUGHERTY.—At the home of Bro. H. R. Harder, Lamoni, Iowa, May 1, 1901, of old age, Sr. Elizabeth Daugherty, aged 79 years, omonths, and 21 days. She was born in Belmont county, Ohio, in 1821. Maiden name was Hardesty, but married Hiram Daugherty, April 12, 1839 On March 25, 1875, near what is now Lamoni, they were baptized by Elder C. H. Jones. Bro. Daugherty died May 2, 1895. Both were faithful in every duty, and she was especially active in her service for those she loved and for any she could do good to. Funeral services were held at the house, Bro. H. A. Stebbins preaching the sermon, by her request.

The Arena for May is an especially fine number. It has, as frontispiece, the portrait of a man now conspicuous in the public eye-Prof. George D. Herron, late of Grinnell College, Iowa. The issue contains an interview with him on "The New Social Apostolate," and the Rev. Wm. T. Brown contributes a most interesting character sketch of Dr. Herron that will repay perusal. "Will the Philippines Pay?" asks the Hon. Frank Doster, Chief Justice of Kansas; and our military operations in the Far East are the theme of a symposium unique in periodical literature. It is introduced by Editor Flower, who proposes the formation of "An Army of Wealth-Creators vs. an Army of Destruction." The proposition is discussed by Prof. Frank Parsons, the Rev. Hiram Vrooman, Prof. Trank Parsons, the Rev. Hiram Vrooman, Prof. Thos. E. Will, A. M., C. F. Taylor, M. D., the Rev. Robert E. Bisbee, and the Hon. Samuel M. Jones. Editor Patterson has a signed essay on the "Parting of the Ways," in which some excellent advice is offered to the modern orthodox Church. Other fea-tures are: "The Tax Reform Movement," by M. M. Miller; "The Criminal Negro" (fifth article), by Frances A. Kellor; "Russia's Hoarded Gold," by Malcolm J. Talbot, and the usual editorial and book-review departments. Editor McLean announces a symposium on Christian Science for the June number. The Alliance Publishing Company, New York. $2.50 a year; 25 cents a copy. at news-stands.

A story will serve to throw new light upon Edison's character. At one time there was great fear in the scientific world that the deposits of platinum were about to become extinct. Edison thereupon organized a correspondence bureau, and sent letters to every American Consul upon the globe, to British Consuls in ports where the United States had no representative, and to scientific men in every land. The letter gave a clear state-

The Saints' Herald.

(Established 1860)

Published Every Wednesday, at Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Subscription price, $1.50 per year.

Address communications for publication to

"Editors Herald."

"Editors Herald."
Marriages, birth, and death notices: Marriages.
$1.00 per 100 words or fraction thereof. Births.
50 cents per 75 words or fraction thereof. Deaths.
100 words free, above that number 50 cents per 100 words or fraction thereof. To insure prompt insertion, make remittance with notice.

For advertising rates apply to business mana-

All errors in the filling of orders or rendering of All errors in the filling of orders or rendering of accounts should be reported immediately, as receipts for all money received are sent within two days after reaching the office.

Send all business letters and make all remitances payable to Herald Publishing House, Lock Box E, Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Entered at post office, Lamoni, Iowa, as second-class mail matter.

class mail matter.
Subscriptions received for Zion's Ensign, also orders for all kinds of Ensign Publications.

ment respecting the metal, how and where it was found and might be found, how it could be identified and treated, and much other information. In each letter was enclosed samples of platinum as found in the various rock beds. This may seem to be a small undertaking, but when it is remembered that the letters were sent off by the thousands, that the postage was ten cents to each letter, and that the pieces of platinum enclosed were almost as valuable as metallic gold, the cost of the achievement is readily seen. While he did not succeed in greatly increasing the output of platinum, he set at rest all fear of its extinction, and thus earned the gratitude of every scientific investigator.—From Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May.

THE DEMOCRACY OF EDWARD EVERETT HALE.

Confident that he has had God for an ally, and believing with equal certitude that all men are his brethren, it has been natural for Dr. Hale to put himself at the service of the weak and the unfortunate, and those needing comradeship in life's struggle, and to be a thoroughgoing democrat in church, state, and school. Solely in the capacity of adviser, he has done service for humanity sufficient to win immortality had he done nothing else. Studying this portion of his life's record, one recalls what Erasmus said of Sir Thomas More: "He has been patron saint to all poor devils." Kindliness, hatred of injustice, sympathy for the unfortunate, were Dr. Hale's striking characteristics as a boy, and he has never altered.

Democracy to him has not been a fruit of the Christian faith: it is the Christian faith, on the manward side of it. Fundamentally a man of heart, Dr. Hale will live longest in the memories of his contemporaries and immediate survivors as a good, gentle, kindly man, withal virile and aggressive. Strength of will, sometimes bordering on obstinacy, he has not lacked. Openness, acuteness, and flexibility of mind, and brilliancy and fertility of imagination, he has displayed lavishly. But Will, Reason, and Imagination have been the obedient servants of his emotions, and those emotions beneficent in purpose. He painted his own portrait unerringly when he wrote:-

Not mine to mount to courts where seraphs sing, Or glad archangels soar on outstretched wing; Not mine in unison with celestial choirs To sound heaven's trump, or strike the gentler

Not mine to stand enrolled at crystal gates, Where Michael thunders or where Uriel waits. But lesser worlds a Father's kindness know; Be mine some simple service here below,—
To weep with those who weep, their joys to share,
Their pain to solace, or their burdens bear;

Some widow in her agony to meet; Some exile in his new-found home to greet; To serve some child of thine, and so serve thee,— Lo, here am I! To such a work send me.

Like Froude, he has defined "Right as the sacrifice of self to good," and "Wrong as the sacrifice of good to self." As an American and as a Christian, his rule of life has been, "Non ministrari, sed ministrare." — George Perry Morris, in American Monthly Review of Reviews for May.

HINDU HEAVENS AND EARTH.

According to Manu, an ancient Hindu writer, Brahma, the first male, was formed in a golden egg, bright as the sun, laid upon the waters. Having continued a year in the egg, Brahma divided it into two parts, and with the two shells he formed the heavens and the

In an ancient writing it is asserted that there are seven island continents, surrounded by seven seas. The central continent, on which we are supposed to dwell, is called Jambudwipa, and in the middle of this is the golden Mount Meru, 756,000 miles high and extending 152,000 miles below the surface, in shape somewhat like the seed-cup of the lotus. Jambudwipa is said to be surrounded by a salt sea. The next island continent is said to be surrounded by a sea of sugar-cane juice; the third by one of wine; the fourth by a sea of ghee, or clarified butter; the fifth by a sea of curds; the sixth by one of milk; the seventh by a sea of fresh water. Beyond is a country of gold, which prevents the waters of the last and outermost sea from flowing off in all directions. Outside this golden country is a circular chain of mountains, and beyond is the land of darkness, encompassed by the shell of the mundane

The depth of the earth, beneath its surface, is said to be something over 600,000 miles. This region is divided into seven parts, resting upon a thousand headed snake, which bears the whole world as a diadem. When bears the whole world as a diadem. When this snake yawns, the earth trembles; that is, earthquakes happen. According to some accounts, this snake stands on the back of a tortoise, which, in turn, is supported by eight elephants. What supports the elephants is not stated.—Martelle Elliot, May Chautauquan.

The good comrade has something to contribute to the common fund, some fun, some fancy, some bit of song, and thus the days go on in brightness from morning till night, and nobody minds though the road be rough .-May Ladies' Home Journal.

The ability to efface one's self at intervals is essential to harmonious living anywhere, either at home or when a sojourner under another's roof. There are times and seasons when, for instance, married people desire dren prefer to be together without the presence of the most agreeable and welcome outsider.—May Ladies' Home Journal.

ADDRESSES.

John B. Roush, 2942 California St., Denver, Colorado.

SAIN	rs'	HYM	NAL.	Words	and
	mus	sic.
108.	Par	er cov	ers. e	ach			30
				***
110.
-111				T
114.	r ie	xioie,	icaenci			.1.	บบ

HISTORY OF THE CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LAT-TER DAY SAINTS. President Joseph Smith and Apostle Heman C. Smith. In three volumes.

VOLUME 1.

119. Cloth          120. Leather back and corners          121. Leather          122. Gilt edges	$\frac{2}{2}$	00 50
Volume 2.
186. Cloth	$\frac{2}{2}$	00 50
Volume 3.
190. Cloth	$\frac{2}{2}$	50

THE	HOLY SCRIPTURES. Inspired translation, by Joseph Smith.
78.	Cloth	1	00
	Sheep, library binding		25
	Imitation morocco, gilt edges		75
	Morocco, gilt edges
82.	Flexible binding, gilt edges	3	75
NEW	TESTAMENTS. Inspired Translation. Large type edition.
	Translation. Large type edi-		65
84.	Translation. Large type edition.		65

$MITH-PELOUBET'S DICTION-ARY OF THE BIBLE. Teachers' edition. Over 800 pages, with colored maps and 440 illustrations. 185. Cloth...... 1 60

RECORD BOOKS, for minutes of business meetings, 300 pages. 194. Leather and canvas...... 1 25

An interesting book of the period,

LIFE AND REIGN OF

Queen Yictoria.

Including the lives of

King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra,

By MURAT HALSTEAD, famous historian and Journalist, and A. J. MUNSON, editor and author. Profusely illustrated. 485 pages. For sale at

HERALD OFFICE.

POSTPAID, ONE DOLLAR.

WM. ANDERSON, Pres. MRS. DAVID DANCER. Vice Pres.

W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier. OSCAR ANDERSON, Ass't Cashier.

STATE SAVINGS BANK OF LAMONI.

Incorporated under the laws of the State of Iowa, July 1, 1898. Total assets January 1, 1900, $133,032,34; April 1, 1900, $162,781.07.

We pay interest on time deposits, and especially solicit the correspondence and deposits of all Herald readers. All etters of inquiry will be promptly and carefully answered. Direct all letters to

W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier, State Savings Bank of Lamoni, Iowa.

STOCKHOLDERS:—Mrs. David Dancer, Geo. H. Hilliard, A. K. Anderson, Lucy L. Resseguie, Oscar Anderson, Wm. Anderson, Frank Criley, Alice P. Dancer, Elia D. Whitehead, G. W. Blair, W. A. Hopkins.

UWANTO STOP

Using tobacco. Quit-to-bac makes it easy to do so. Three boxes postpaid, only $150 with positive guarantee to cure or the $1.50 cheerfully refunded! It cures others, why not you.

Address, (Bro.) B. F. ORDWAY, Peoria, Ill.

(U. S. Postage stamps taken.)

UNDERWOOD TYPE WRITER, IS WORTH MORE than the WHOLE of any other.
A partial examination pleases,
A thorough examination convinces
IT IS THE BEST.
CHICAGO OFFICE 139 MONROE ST.

Or apply to
The Underwood Agency,
LAMONI, JOWA.

A STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR	TO SECOND	NO DESCRIPTION AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON ADDRESS OF THE PERSON ADDRESS OF THE PERSON ADDRESS OF THE PERSON ADDRESS OF THE PERSON ADDRESS OF THE PERSON ADDRESS OF THE PERSON ADDRE
SAINTS' HYMNAL. Words only.  115. Paper	2	25 70 35
GOSPEL QUARTERLIES.  Published by the General Sunday School Association.  Designed for use in Sabbath school work. Issued quarterly. 73. Senior Grade, per quarter Per year, in advance 74. Intermediate Grade, per quarter Per year 75. Primary Grade, per quarter Per year		08 25 05 15 05 15
INTERMEDIATE QUESTION BOOK. 76. Limp, 25c. each, per dozen PRIMARY QUESTION BOOK. 77. Limp, 15c. each, per dozen The office will procure for its per	1	50

any book that is obtainabl.

152. 153.	Pape Cloth	r				0 0 0 8 6 0 0 8	0 0 0 0 6 g	35 50
	NOT		THE	CA"	TAL	OGL	IE.
TRAC	TS.
33.	Trial	of t	he W	itnes	sses	to t	he
	Resu	rrec	tion o	of Je	sus.
Each !	5 cent	s; p	er do:	z. 50	cen	ts.
47.	The :	$\hat{\mathrm{Basi}}$	s of F	3righ	ami	te I	·0°
	lygai			_
Per de	oz. 10	cent	s; pe	r 100	), 60	cen	ts.
GENE
4.0 F			)NS,					0.5
197.	Pane	r						35

TRUE SUCCESSION IN CHURCH

PRESIDENCY. By Elder H. C. Smith, Church His-

GRACELAND ....

198. Cloth, limp .....

-COLLEGE,

LAMONI, IOWA.

Telephone 74.

For catalogue or further information, address,
PROF. R. A. HARKNESS, President,
or I. W. ALLENDER, Secretary,
Liamoni, Decatur Co., Iowa.

	TIONS MORM	ON A	NDI	OOCTF	CINE
	AND	COV	ENAI	NTS,	AN-
	SWER	$ED_A$	ΝĎΡ	KEE,O.	red.
	By Elde
142.	Paper .		• • • • •		• • • • •
1 43 .	Cloth .

COMMERCIAL BANK

LAMONI, OF IOWA,

Solicits your Deposits and pays

5 % INTEREST.

D. F. NICHOLSON, Cashier.

THE	INSTRUCTOR. A compendium of the faith and doctrines of the church by Elder
	G. T. Griffiths.
126.	Cloth	75
	Leather
128.	Flexible 1	50

DR. E. S. SWEET, DENTIST.

Decoe Building, WOODBINE, - - -

PARLOR BARBER SHOP.

L. DICKEY, Proprietor.

A new, clean shop.

IOWA

Always courteous treatment and best of work.

FOR SALE.

A brick business house centrally located in Lamoni that earns fifteen per cent on tovestment.

If interested, inclose stamp to Lock Box 7, Lamoni, Iowa

Burlington Route passenger service between stations on Grant City branch and Chicago, both directions, is better than ever in the history of the road Leaving Lemoni at 8:08

p. m., arriving Chicago 7:20 a. m. following morning. Leaving Chicago at 5:50 p. m., arriving Lamoni 6:25 a. m. following morning.

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSIONS.

Dates of sales, February 19, March 5 and 19, April 2 and 16, 1901, one lowest first class fare for the round trip, plus $2 00. Good for return 21 days from date of sale.

Cheap one-way colonist excursion rates to San Francisco, Los Angeles, and San Diego, California. Dates of sale February 12, 19, and 26, March 5, 12, 19, and 26, April 2, 9, 16, 23, and 30, 1901.

One-way second class settlers rates. Denver, Colorado Springs, and Pueblo. Ogden and Salt Lake. Bozeman, Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Grantsdale, Missoula, Grant Falls, Kalispell, Spokane, Portland, Tacoma. Victoria and Vancouver.

KEOKUK & WESTERN R. R. CO.

North—Leave Leon 2:40 p. m., arrive at Des Moines 6:05 p. m.

South—Leave Des Moines 8:25 a. m., arrive at Leon 11:45 a. m.
Trains daily except Surday; connect with C.

B. & Q. at Leon.

THE SAINTS' HERALD.

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE REORGANIZED CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER DAY SAINTS.

"If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."—John 8:31, 32.

"Hearken to the word of the Lord: for there shall not any man among you have save it be one wife; and concubines he shall have none."—B. of M., page 116.

VOL. 48.

LAMONI, IOWA, MAY 15, 1901.

NO. 20.

The Saints' Herald.

JOSEPH SMITH EDITOR. FRED'K MADISON SMITH ASSISTANT EDITOR. JOSEPH LUFF D. W. WIGHT CORRESPONDING EDITORS.

LAMONI, IOWA, MAY 15, 1901.

A STRANGE ERROR CORRECTED.

In Elder B. H. Roberts' book, "Succession in the presidency of the church," second edition, there occurs the following as a footnote on page 78:-

Since the first edition of this was published my attention has been called to the following remarks made by "Young Joseph" himself, on this very subject. At a special Josephite conference held at Glander's Grove, Shelby county, Iowa, a report of which is to be found in the SAINTS' HERALD, vol. 4, No. 10, p. 158, he says: "Whenever individuals claiming authority under the church as organized by the first Joseph became members of any faction, they immediately became divested of all authority." What then of Messrs. Marks authority." What then of Messrs. Marks, Briggs, and Gurley? and what of the authority by which "Young Joseph" was ordained?

There are several things not correct in the foregoing statement of Elder B. H. Roberts:

1. There is no "Glander's Grove" in Shelby county, Iowa.

2. In Saints' Herald, Vol. 4, No. 10, p. 158, there are the minutes of a special conference held at Galland's Grove, Shelby county, Iowa, over which Elder John A. McIntosh presided.

This conference was "for the district which is under the presidency of Elder John A. McIntosh." held October 25 and 26, 1863, as the minutes show.

3. "Young Joseph" was not there, hence made no statement of any sort at that conference.

We give the following extract from those minutes:

Bro. Thos. Dobson then proceeded to address the assembled multitude and was followed by the president, after which the business was resumed. The president then (in substance) made the following remarks. All official acts of any elder, while acting under the authority of the old church, are recognized by us as valid; but the acts of those elders who received their authority from any of the factious organizations, such as Brigham's, Brewster's, Strang's, etc., etc., are not recognized by us as valid; for whenever any of those factions were organized, each member received his authority from that faction; hence whenever individuals, claiming authority under the church as or-ganized by the First Joseph, became members of any faction, they immediately became divested of all authority except that received from the faction to which they had joined themselves. Thus when Brigham Young usurped the Presidency of the church at or near Council Bluffs, the disorganization of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints was thereby effected, and Brigham's church was brought into existence. The same is true of all the factious organizations. Therefore from the time they set up for themselves their acts in a church capacity are These minutes are signed:-

JOHN A. MCINTOSH, Pres.
NATHAN LINDSEY, Clerks. O. E. HOLCOMB,

In May, 1899, the attention of Bro. Heman C. Smith was called to the fact that Elders C. C. Steffensen, and F. H. Nolder, of Utah, had at St. Joseph, Missouri, represented that the statement quoted by Elder B. H. Roberts, as found on page 78 of his book, was made by President Joseph Smith, of the Reorganized Church, -"Young Joseph," as Elder Roberts chooses to call him. Bro. Heman C. Smith at once wrote a correction of this error, which was published in the HERALD for May 31, 1899. correction Elder Roberts could have seen if he had been noticing the HERALD closely.

Elder Roberts professes to wish to be fair and honest in his argument. Will he now take notice that "Young Joseph," was not at that conference at Galland's Grove, Iowa, October 25 and 26, 1863, consequently did not make the statement as stated by him. and that the president who did make the statement found in the minutes was Elder John A. McIntosh, who was the president of the conference.

NIAGARA FALLS SAINTS.

This is the way the Niagara Falls, York, Gazette, for Monday, April 29, sizes up our folks at Niagara Falls, Ontario. The official of the Natural Food Company is Bro. Robert Winning, late of St. Joseph, Missouri:

LOCAL MORMONS.

The Latter Day Saints are unusually lively across the river where their church is in a prosperous condition. Several Niagara Falls people attend the services always enjoyed by a crowd.

A prominent accession to the Mormons across the river is an official of the Natural Food Company who has lately come to Niagara Falls. He is a very earnest disciple of Joseph Smith and those who have heard him expound say his arguments are convincing.

It is not necessary to add that the Latter Day Saints that live around Niagara Falls are not believers in polygamy, but regard it as a heresy that crept into the church in

MELCHISEDEC PRIESTHOOD.

VANESSA, Norfolk Co., Ont, Mar. 28. Mr. Joseph Smith; My Dear Brother:—Will you kindly answer the following through the HERALD? "Ard they truly were many priests, because they were not suffered to continue by reason of death; but this man [Christ], bereason of death; but this man [Christ], because he continueth ever, hath an unchangeable priesthood."—Heb. 7:23, 24. The inspired writer, supposed to be St. Paul, is showing the superiority of the Melchisedec priesthood over that of Aaron. Verse 12 says: "For the priesthood being changed, there is made of necessity a change of the law." This seems to me to imply that, as during the time the Mosaic law was in force. during the time the Mosaic law was in force, there was a succession of priests of the Aaronic order, when its time was fulfilled, or completed, it would be followed by the gospel law, and that order of priesthood called the Melchisedec.

Now Webster, in his lexicon, claims that order, in this connection, means succession. It is claimed by sectarian ministers that the latter priesthood is yet held by Christ, and by no one else, from the words, "Thou art a priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec."—Heb. 7:17. "For if he were on earth, he should not be a priest," etc.—Heb. 8:4.

Their most impregnable position on this point they claim is in Hebrews 7:24, where it says that he, Jesus, "Hath an unchangeable priesthood." In a marginal reference Bible, the word unchangeable is given as, "Or, which passeth not from one to another." Therefore this Melchisedec priesthood is held only by Christ. That it is sheer blasphemy for Christ. anyone else to claim holding such and to attempt to arrogate that honor and authority only possessed by our great High Priest.

Will you please explain the grounds for our claim that the Melchisedec priesthood is with us, or was to be held by men, divinely called, today, from the Bible? I say from the Bible, for obvious reasons, inasmuch as the people refuse to accept any evidence from the Book of Mormon or Doctrine and Covenants. What priesthood did the high priest of Israel hold?

Has there ever been given an authoritative exposition of Isaiah 18:1? While not wishing to appear, or speak presumptively, I must respectfully dissent from that, in part, as given by very many of the elders. I refer to that which Isaiah speaks of as "the land shadowing with wings," etc. That part to which I refer is the attempt to prove that America, North and South, must be that land, because on the map, they have the appearance of wings, North America being one wing, and South America the other, both being united by the Isthmus of Darien.

Now, if anyone will look at the passage in Isaiah 18:1, they will see that it does not say that the land was the wings, but that the land was "shadowing with wings." To make the symbol complete, the Isthmus should be the shape of a body, but it will require a wonderful stretch of imagination to cause the eye to see such a birdlike form. Then, if the map is turned to, it will be seen that the small end of one wing is attached to the body, so called, North America; and the large end of the other, South America. I don't think that bird will fly far. I will not make answer to the claim that a further proof is found in the eagle's wings being on the coins and flags of the land, because such is not found so with us in Canada, and so as a symbol it seems to me that must also fall to the ground.

Then what does the "land shadowing with wings" mean?

I believe this is the grandest land under the blue vault of heaven. That it has been, and is, under the special watchcare and protection of God. Its geographical position, from the Arctic to almost the Antarctic regions, north and south temperate, and torrid zones, give such a variety of climate, and, of course, enabling it to be so varied in its productions, and its immense mineral wealth, etc., as to be a choice land above all lands.

This, then, is the land spoken of, and was given to Joseph and his posterity. It was, and is, beyond the bounds of the everlasting hills, from where Joseph was then residing when he received his father's blessing. It was held in reserve for them, and they also would be under God's providential watch-

Now, anyone, who was so guarded and cared for might be said to be under the shadow of his wings.

In Matthew 23:37, we read of the apostrophe of Jesus to the city of the great king. "Oh Jerusalem, Jerusalem . . . how often would I have gathered thy children together, . . how often e ven as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not."

Had they minded, they might have been safe, from those horrors afterwards experienced, under the fostering care and protection of their God. "Under the shadow of his wings."

The following are a few selections from the Bible, showing that they, his children, are spoken of as being shielded, as under the shadow of His wings.
Ruth 2:12: "The Lord recompense thy work, . . . under whose wings thou art come to trust."

Ps. 17:8: "Hide me under the shadow of thy wings."

Ps. 36:7: "Therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings."

Ps. 57:1: "Be ye merciful unto me, O God,

... yea, in the shadow of thy wings will I make my refuge."
Ps. 61:4: "I will trust in the covert of thy wings."

Ps. 63:7: "In the shadow of thy wings will I rejoice."

Will I rejoice."
Ps. 91:1, 4: "Under the shadow of the Almighty... He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shalt thou trust."

Now, we do not for one moment suppose that God has feathers and wings, but these passages show that his own loved children are under his watchful care and protection, and the manner in which the feathered tribe care for, provide, and watch over their young is given as illustrative of the same.

According to the Bible, and the Book of Mormon, this, Joseph's land, was richly endowed with advantages peculiar to itself, and was, under the providence of God, designed as the rich heritage of the posterity of the loved son of Israel, "Him that was separate from his brethren." It was a goodly land, this great and glorious heritage, and was under the shadow of the wings of the God of Israel; but, like their brethren, the others in Canaan, they forgot God. They grieved him by their abominations, and his anger was kindled against them. He bore long with their lewdness and sent his prophets to warn them that unless they forsook their whoredoms he would pour out his displeasure and wrath upon them.

Sometimes they hearkened and repented, but in a short time would forget the forgiveness and mercy he is so willing to bestow upon, and manifest towards, those who are truly penitent, and again they would go back to their wickedness and folly.

Then his fierce anger was kindled, and he wined them, as a nation, from the face of the earth, and so we read, as given by Isalah in chapter 18: 1: "Woe to the land shadowing with wings, which is beyond the rivers of Ethiopia."

As though God were speaking, as he was, by his prophet, woe to the land, the heritage of my covenant people, that is under the shadow of the wings of my love. How often have I shielded and cared for them, as well as making provision for their cheer and com-And lo! there fort, but they would not. comes to us, speaking from the dust, out of the ground, that whispers out of the dust with a voice that hath a familiar spirit, written also in letters of gold, telling all who read of that people who were so blessed under the fostering care of the covert of their God's wings, but who committed such lewdness as to cause their extermination, and the archæological remains tell us the story of their glory which now but exists in ruins.

This is how I see it (Isa. 18: 1), but I have no right, nor desire to speak ex cathedra.

If you consider this worthy of space in the HERALD, I write, or ask for kind and considerate criticism, or exchange of thought along this line.

At present, I am in Vanessa, Ontario, stopping with Elder R. C. Longhurst, the president of the London district, of the Canada mission, enjoying the hospitalities of him and his respected wife. I came on here from Waterford, where I left good interest, and some inquiry as to when I will return. I expect to be there in about one week from this present writing, April 2.

Meetings every night, except Saturday, and three and sometimes four on Sunday, as for the last six weeks, is somewhat inclined to be wearing. However, it is wearing out in a good cause.

The turnout is good, and the interest is encouraging.

With prayers for Zion's final redemption and triumph, I remain,

Your brother in hope of the same, A. E. MORTIMER.

LONDON, Ontario.

In complying with the request at the beginning of Bro. Mortimer's letter, we offer the following:

1. Paul, from whose writing to the Hebrews the quotation is made, in the chapter quoted from urges this:

If therefore perfection were by the Levitical priesthood, (for under it the people received the law,) what further need was there that another priest should rise after the order of Melchisedec, and not be called after the order of Aaron?-Heb. 7:11.

2. The same writer wrote:

Thou art a priest forever after the order of Melchisedec.-Heb. 5:6.

And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation to all that obey him; called of God an high priest after the order of Melchisedec.-Heb 5:9, 10.

3. Paul, the same apostle, in his argument to the Hebrews, same chapter, gave this:

For the law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope did; by the which we draw nigh unto God.—Heb. 7:19.

4. It is evident that Jesus was made a priest of the order of Melchisedec. This Melchisedec was a man, prince of Salem, a high priest, within the lines of a recognized line of priestly officers, quite different from that of Levi. Jesus was of Juda, of which tribe "Moses spake nothing concerning priesthood," as stated by Paul. But, being called of his Father he was made a priest forever. He was not!

made the priest, but a priest, of an order already existent of which Melchisedec was an excellent example.

5. It is true that priests were made (ordained) under the law, but the time came when the law (Mosiac law) was made inoperative, and the gospel economy, the law of righteousness. became the means of life and salvation, hence the return of the Melchisedec line of priesthood to administer in the "true tabernacle which God pitched and not man." (Heb. 8:2.)

Paul, contrasting the action of priestly authority under the law (Mosaic), truly states that if he, Jesus, "this man" of verse 3, in chapter 8, were on earth, he would not be a priest; for the Jews would not have him, both because of his tribe and his claims.

6. It is evident that in Jesus was revived the higher priesthood. And it is certainly competent to believe that those men whom he called to the apostleship were ordained by him to the same order of priesthood which he himself held and officiated in, priesthood meaning the office or character of a priest.

7. Jesus Christ is always spoken of as of an order of priests. For instance, "Wherefore, holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest of our profession Jesus Christ; who was faithful to him that appointed him, as also Moses was faithful in all his house." -Heb. 3:1, 2. (Italics the Editor's.)

8. Jesus Christ is written of by Paul as being an eternal, unchangeable being before he wrote of him as a high priest.

And, Thou, Lord, in the beginning hast laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the works of thy hands: they shall perish, but thou remainest: and they all shall wax old as doth a garment; and as a vesture shalt thou fold them up, and they shall be changed: but thou art the same, and thy years shall not fail.—Heb. 1:10, 11, 12.

9. It is a legitimate inference that the Melchisedec or higher order of priesthood was held by others than Jesus Christ at the same time as himself and after his removal from the ministry on earth by his death; nor is there just reason to believe that Paul, when writing of him as a priest, intended to be understood as limiting the order of the priesthood to Melchisedec and Jesus. For while Paul writes of him as "abiding a priest forever," he does not write of him in specific terms as the High Priest who abideth the only one forever.

10. If it is proper to take the statement of Paul in a literal way, then it is as a priest that Jesus is said to abide forever, and not as a high priest. But it is as a high priest, of an order of high priests, that Jesus was called.

Called of God an high priest after the order of Melchisedec.

11. This Melchisedec lived, was a man born as other men, and dying as other men of his time did. It cannot be that Paul's language, "Without father, without mother, without descent, having neither beginning of days nor end of life, but made like unto the Son of God; abiding a priest continually," applied to him as a man.

The marginal reading in the Oxford edition renders this language of Paul to mean "without pedigree," both in the third and sixth verses of the seventh chapter of Hebrews.

"But he whose descent [or, pedigree, marginal reading] is not counted from them."

12. It is fair to infer that Melchise-dec was like Jesus of a tribe of which Moses wrote nothing pertaining to priesthood, but was called of God, notwithstanding his pedigree was not known to the genealogical records of the Jewish nation. The language must mean that the order, the calling, the line of priesthood was "without father, without mother, having neither beginning of days nor end of life;" as God and Christ were and are coequal and coexistent, eternal and everlasting.

13. The Lord made a covenant with Phinehas, the grandson of Aaron, even "the covenant of an everlasting priesthood." This was the lower order, and the Lord did not intend to say that Phinehas was to live forever because of the conferment of this everlasting priesthood; but only that Phinehas was to be one in the order of the long line.

14. Peter must have understood this subject in a similar way, for in his First Epistle General he wrote thus:—

Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ. But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people.—1 Peter 2:5, 9.

Peter was an apostle, and we believe received ordination with the others of the twelve at the hands of Jesus Christ, by which they were authorized to minister in the holy office of the Melchisedec priesthood. We are justified in so believing from the statements of the Savior and the history given of the apostles.

And he ordained twelve, that they should be with him, and that he might send them forth to preach, and to have power to heal sicknesses, and to cast out devils.—Mark 3: 14, 15.

Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit.—John 15:16.

As thou hast sent me into the world, even so have I also sent them into the world.—John 17:18.

And the glory which thou gavest me I have given them; that they may be one, even as we are one.—John 17:22

15. Whatever glory, honor, or power of priestly sanctity and value may have been conferred upon Jesus for the purposes of his ministry he conferred and John Henry Shippy, the result of upon those whom he called and ordained.

This priesthood was an unchangeable one, being the highest known among men. It was the order of the Son of God, the one ordained priesthood through which salvation was offered to man, both with a mediator under the law, by which remission came through the shedding of blood by the intercession of the priest in his priestly office at the altar of sacrifice; and with a baptismal regeneration through the ministration of obedience and the intermediate work of the ministry of reconciliation by a "royal priesthood," and authoritative sending of an "high priest" of an unchangeable priesthood who called, chose, and ordained others unto the like ministerial authority and priesthood to administer in his stead; as Paul has so ably writ-

We pray you, in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled unto God.

We may not in set terms know just when the Master was ordained, that is, when Jesus the Son of man was ordained, but the fact remains that he ordained his disciples and put upon them the apostolic office in the priesthood which he held. No other hypothesis is tenable in the light of the statement,

All power is given unto me, both in heaven and in earth, Go ye therefore and teach all nations.—Matt. 28: 19

Whatever work is done now for the redemption of man under the gospel dispensation must be done by men acting under the same authority, holding the same right to act, hence the same priesthood, as did the apostles whom he sent and promised to those who should succeed them in the limits of the commission given them, "even unto the end of the world."

As to the question, what priesthood did the high priest of Israel hold, we can at present only reply that we have always supposed that he held the Melchisedec, or higher priesthood, as contrasted with the Aaronic, or Levitical. It is a field for thought.

FAIR REPRESENTATION.

One of the brethren at Detroit, Michigan, sent us a late copy of the News-Tribune of that city, containing one of the fairest, clearest "write ups" of the local church and incidentally of the church as a religious body, we ever saw in print. The writer wrote over the signature of "Laic."

One of the brethren asked him if he was not "The Church Tramp," meaning some writer who was making the church question a topic, including a showing of all the churches. Without stating whether he was or was not the character spoken of, he made inquires of Brn. "Nap" Liddy, and John Henry Shippy, the result of which he puts into the following terse sentences:—

On Monday night Elder Liddy called on me by appointment and brought Elder Shippy with him. I can only give a few of the results of our interview. They answered every question I put to them frankly and fully and afforded me all the help I asked for. I have long had the notion that these people have been unfairly dealt with and I determined to probe the matter to the bottom. It is the opinion of a large number of people that this "Reorganized" church is only a ruse. "Mormons could not come into Michigan and elsewhere and preach polygamy," they say, 'so these people come here and, repudiating the doctrine of plural and celestial marriages, Adam-God, blood atonement, and similar things, which are scorned by all decent people, affect to preach the old evangelical doctrines, and to have no fellowship whatever with the polygamous Mormons of Utah. But, wait awhile, and you will see that when they have gathered a sufficient number of converts they will all move to Utah—or else this 'agency' will be kept open and shipments will be made from here to Salt Lake from time to time." I say is what many people have been thinking and saying, but I, for one, am satisfied it is not so. These people here are doubtless Mormons just as much as are the Salt Lake people—in fact, according to their own show-ing, they are better Mormons than the others. They believe in the account of the plates and accept the Book of Mormon and the Book of Doctrine and Covenants as being of equal authority with the Bible.

The history of the Reorganized Mormons in a nutshell, is this: After the Mormons had been driven out of Missouri and other places by most abominable and heartless per secutions they settled in Illinois and built Nauvoo, where a gang of two hundred roughs shot dead the prophet Joseph Smith and his brother Hiram. This had the effect of breaking up the organization and scattering the Saints, who, at that time, numbered several hundred thousand. Brigham Young and others with him rallied 10,000 of them and others with him ramou 10,000 and and moved to Salt Lake territory, which was then out of the bounds of civilization. This was in 1848, four years after the death of the Smiths. In 1852 in a public meeting Young proposed polygamy, claiming that Joseph had left a revelation that such was the Lord's will. Polygamy and celestial marriage, therefore, have ever since been a distin-guishing feature of Utah Mormonism. But all other Mormons, all not connected with the Utah church, utterly repudiate it, and in 1857 a convention of such Mormons was held, at which the original church was reorganized under the leadership of Joseph II., eldest son of the original revelator and prophet, his two brothers also taking part in the new movement. The rights of the Reorganized Church as being the legitimate successors of the original organization, were recognized by the United States court of Ohio in 1883, which awarded to them the temple property in Kirtland, consecrated in 1836. Its headquarters are at Lamoni, Iowa, its membership numbering now over 20,000.* It sends missionaries to and circulates tracts in Utah, where it has maintained a mission since 1863. As an evidence that real Mormonism is onposed to polygamy and the doctrine of celestial marriages, they refer to the Book of Mormon itself, which, at page 116 reads: "For there shall not a man among you have save it be one wife; and concubines he shall have none." (Book of Jacob, par. 6.) All their literature breathes a general repudiation of polygamy.

I regard the relations of this Reorganized Mormon Church toward the Utah Mormon Church as being very similar to those which exist between the high anglicans of the Episcopal Church and the church of Rome.

*[Over 45,000. Ep. HEBALD.]

The Reorganized Mormons reject polygamy and one or two other things which separate them but accept all the essential doctrines of Mormonism, just as the anglicans reject popery and a few other things, which separate them, but accept all essential Catholic doctrines.

WE have received a copy of a book entitled "The Lady of Nations," by Richard H. McCartney, published by Fleming H. Revell Company, of Chicago. It is written in verse, and is religious in tone. Among other things in the preface the author says:

It is sad to think that some of the best and noblest Christians in their endeavor to prove the destruction of Babylon as recorded in the Old Testament, in their pious anxiety to justify the words of God to men—in their attempt to steady the tottering Ark of Jehovah—have in a manner given new life to some of the oldest heresies of the early Church. With their "looseness" of interpretation they have given the infidel just cause to laugh at such fulfillment and thereby to despise "this Book of old Jewish myths;" aye, and in their pious ignorance of the actual condition of Babylon, and the Chaldean plains, they have put on record a so-called fulfillment utterly false in the face of present facts.

The author's object is evidently to clear up some of these things.

PLANO, ILLINOIS, PROSPERING.

By the Plano department of the Kendall County Record, which duly reaches us, we notice that the little town which was the birthplace of the Plano and Deering self binders, is experiencing a revival of business. Mr. Francis H. Earl is the president of a company which is manufacturing ladders, swings, barrows, and other articles greatly in demand. One hundred men or more are employed in these shops.

Good for Plano! May her shadows continue to grow.

EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS.

Bro. F. T. Baker, under date of May 9, writes from Lebeck, Missouri:

Bro. F. C. Keck and the rest of his family that took the much dreaded disease of smallpox are all doing well, and he will soon be in his field again.

Bro. George A. Smith writes from Fremont, Indiana, May 9:

Very busy just now. This section of country is seemingly an open door for preaching the gospel. We need more help to fill the demands.

EDITORIAL ITEMS.

The National League of Improvement Associations is actively prosecuting its good work by circulating its nicely illustrated literature. The Home Florist is their paper, and we have received a few copies containing special articles, among which we note an article on The Work of Civic Improvement, which is an illustrated article showing some of the successes of the League. The League certainly is doing a good work.

"Abide With Me," is the title of a new sacred song for contralto or baritone by J. Fischer & Co., New York. It has English and German words. It's a good one.

Original Articles.

"ZION AND HER LAW."—NO. I.
BY JOSEPH FLORY.

The clause which we have chosen for the heading of this article is found in Doctrine and Covenants, section 102: 10, in which God says:

Let those commandments which I have given concerning Zion and her law, be executed and fulfilled, after her redemption.

This revelation was given June 22, 1834, after the Saints were driven out of Jackson county, Missouri, which had been designated as the land of Zion; on which land the city of Zion was to be built, and this land and this city were to be the place of the Saints' inheritances, as they had previously been instructed; but now they were to wait until Zion was redeemed before those commandments concerning Zion and her law were to be executed and fulfilled. In the same revelation God also declared that Zion cannot be built up unless it is by the principles of the law of the celestial kingdom, otherwise I cannot receive her unto myself.—102: 2.

In section 85: 5, Doctrine and Covenants, God says:

He who is not able to abide the law of a celestial kingdom, cannot abide a celestial glory.

In view of the above declarations, how important that God's children should have a correct understanding of the law referred to, for unless understood and obeyed, we will fail to reach the desired end, or receive the blessings promised. While the observance of faith, repentance, baptism, etc., is absolutely necessary before we can become citizens in the kingdom or church of God upon the earth, it is not all, by far, that is required of his people, in order that they may be permitted to obtain an inheritance in Zion, as God has designed they should, if faithful, in this, the "dispensation of the fullness of times," in which we are now living.

It is with a view of presenting some thoughts to the Saints that may be profitably considered by them that we pen this article. Since the writer has been identified with the Reorganization (which is now nearly a quarter of a century), the pages of the church publications have from time to time contained communications both of an official and unofficial character, treating upon the variously named subjects of tithing, consecration, order of Enoch, equality, all things common, gathering, etc., all of which themes are more or less directly connected with or included in the phrase, "Zion and her law."

The writers on the above-named subjects have presented various and conflicting theories and opinions in reference to them; and the official declarations in regard to some of them at least have from time to time presented different, and we think, conflicting statements, how they should be understood and observed.

The question of tithing was for a long time so much agitated that it was termed "the vexed question;" one brother making the declaration that there had been as many different views presented on that subject as there were quills on the back of a por-Of late it seems from the many articles that are appearing in print, treating more or less upon those subjects, and including cooperation, life insurance, salaried ministers, etc., that the minds of the Saints are at present largely interested on those questions, hence we thought it an opportune time to present something for their consideration. What we present we believe to be in harmony with the spirit and letter of the law given of God for our instruction on the subject under consideration, and shall endeavor to show this from God's word, historical facts, etc. And we shall not be careful as to whether it conflicts with anything else that has in the past been presented to the church or not, whether from an official or unofficial source. We stand upon the same platform with a brother who lately expressed himself thus:

Our safety, as a church, lies in the rejection of the mere opinion of any man from the president down to the deacon, unless said opinion is justified by the law.—Zion's Ensign, October 19, 1899, page 5.

Paul taught the saints of his day to be followers of him, even as he was also a follower of Christ. (1 Cor. 11:1.) The leading elders of the Reorganization have taught us to think for ourselves upon all questions pertaining to the latter-day work; and the writer's observation in Utah, and his experience in the Reorganization, have made him a thorough convert to that doctrine. We believe that the law under consideration was given for the governing of the Saints, or church, in temporal matters, in order to bring about that condition of affairs so often spoken of in Doctrine and Covenants:

Hearken unto me, saith the Lord your God, and I will speak unto my servant Edward Partridge, and give unto him directions; for it must needs be that he receive directions how to organize this people, for it must needs be that they are organized according to my laws, if otherwise, they will be cut off; wherefore let my servant Edward Partridge, and those whom he has chosen, in whom I am well pleased, appoint unto this people their portion, every man equal according to their families, according to their circumstances, and their wants and needs.—Sec. 51:1.

Nevertheless, in your temporal things you shall be equal, and this not grudgingly, otherwise the abundance of the manifestations of the Spirit shall be withheld.—Sec. 70: 3.

That you may be equal in the bands of heavenly things; yea, and earthly things also, for the obtaining of heavenly things; for if ye are not equal in earthly things, ye cannot be equal in obtaining heavenly things; for if you will that I give unto you a place in the celestial world, you must prepare yourselves by doing the things which I have commanded you and required of you.—Sec. 77:1.

This principle is also illustrated by the parable of the twelve sons:

And again I say unto you, Let every man esteem his brother as himself: for what man among you having twelve sons, and is no respecter to them, and they serve him obediently, and he saith unto the one, Be thou clothed in robes and sit thou here; and to the other, Be thou clothed in rags and sit thou there, and looketh upon his sons and saith, I am just. Behold, this I have given you a parable, and it is even as I am: I say unto you, Be one; and if ye are not one, ye are not mine.—D. C 38:5,6.

We take the position that there has been but one law given to the church, and that within its scope are included all the terms which have been variously interpreted and applied to the church, such as consecration, tithing, equality, all things common, order of Enoch, celestial law, etc. We shall use the term, "the law of consecration," as expressing or meaning and including within its scope all that was intended to be conveyed in all the above named terms.

That the law of consecration includes within its scope all that has ever been intended to be conveyed under the terms of tithes or tithing, we shall offer as evidence, and for a foundation to build our claims upon, the saying of Joseph Smith, in a letter written to W. W. Phelps, November 27, 1832:

It is contrary to the will and commandment of God that those who receive not their inheritance by consecration, agreeably to his law, which he has given that he may tithe his people to prepare them against the day of vengeance and burning, should have their names enrolled with the people of God.—Church History, vol. 1, p. 259.

He here links the two terms, consecration and tithing in a way that precludes separation into two laws, as some have claimed. True, he does not use the term "law of consecration," but the Lord, in section 102:8, speaking in reference to purchasing lands in Jackson county, Missouri, says:

For it is my will that these lands should be purchased, and after they are purchased that my saints should possess them according to the laws of consecration which I have given

Here we have the word of the Lord to confirm the idea that they will receive their inheritances, or possess the land, according to the law of consecration, which, as we understand the language used by Joseph Smith, is the law given by which the Lord will tithe his people.

In this communication we do not intend to show, at least not to any great extent, what is required of the Saints under present existing circumstances by virtue of the law of consecration, but shall attempt to trace the history of the giving of the different revelations instructing the church in that matter, and why some of them were given, and to harmonize them all with the claim we make that there is but one law governing the system. and the conditions intended to be brought about in relation to the temporal affairs or property interests of the church, and show some of the conditions that will exist when that state of affairs is fully accomplished; and then if we get a proper conception of the matter, it will greatly aid us in seeing what is required of us from now on, until the designs and purposes are accomplished for which the law of consecration was given.

I, the Lord, stretched out the heavens, and builded the earth as a very handy work; and all things therein are mine; and it is my purpose to provide for my saints, for all things are mine; but it must needs be done in mine own way; and, behold, this is the way, that I, the Lord, have decreed to provide for my saints: that the poor shall be exalted, in that the rich are made low; for the earth is full, and there is enough and to spare; yea, I prepared all things, and have given unto the children of men to be agents unto themselves. Therefore, if any man shall take of the abundance which I have made, and impart not his portion, according to the law of my gospel, unto the poor, and the needy, he shall, with the wicked, lift up his eyes in hell, being in torment.—D. C. 101: 2.

Here the Lord declares that he has created all things, that they are his, and he intends to provide for his Saints in his own way; and that those who do not comply with the law of his gospel in this respect shall share the fate of the wicked. Accepting this as a truth, we need not expect any invention of man to be accepted of him, or that any perversion of his law in its application for the end he has in view, will meet with his approval. Therefore, we again say that we must be sure we have a proper conception of his mind and will, as revealed in his law, or we shall fail to realize the promises made to those who will observe the same. this thought uppermost in our minds we should carefully, prayerfully, and without prejudice, seek for an understanding of his law.

The first command given in Doctrine and Covenants requiring the giving of property was given to Martin Harris, in March, 1830, for the purpose of printing the Book of Mormon. (Sec. 18:3,5.) While this command applied only to the individual to whom given, yet we find in it an outline, in part at least, of the law which was afterwards given, i. e., the giving of the surplus. In December, 1830, the Lord commanded his people to go to the Ohio (sec. 37:2), and in January, 1831, he refers to the former command and says that there (in Ohio) he will give them his law; and gave commandment that certain men should be appointed by the voice of the church to look after the poor and the needy, etc., and also stated that the work of those to be appointed should be "to govern the affairs of the property of this church." (Sec. 38:7, 8.)

In section 41:1, 2, 3, given February 4, 1831, the Lord promised that through the prayer of 'faith ye shall receive my law, that ye may know how to govern my church, and have all things right before me," with instructions that "ye shall see that my law is kept," etc.; and Edward Partridge was by command called to be ordained a bishop to the church, "and to spend all his time in the labors of the church; to see to all things as it shall be appointed unto him in my laws, in the day that I shall give them."

On February 9, 1831, at Kirtland, Ohio, in the presence of twelve elders, the promised law was given. (See Church History, vol. 1, p. 171.) As we are only in search of those requirements of the law of consecration which relate to the property interests of the church, we quote paragraphs 8, 9, 10, 11, 14, 19, of section 42, in which is contained all that has reference to that subject:

If thou lovest me, thou shalt serve me and keep all my commandments. And, behold, thou wilt remember the poor, and consecrate of thy properties for their support, that which thou hast to impart unto them, with a covenant and a deed which cannot be broken; and inasmuch as ye impart of your substance unto the poor, ye will do it unto me, and they shall be laid before the bishop of my church and his counselors, two of the elders, or high priests, such as he shall or has appointed and set apart for that purpose.

And it shall come to pass that after they are laid before the bishop of my church, and after that he has received these testimonies concerning the consecration of the properties of my church, that they cannot be taken from the church, agreeably to my commandments; every man shall be made accountable unto me, a steward over his own property, or that which he has received by consecration, inasmuch as is sufficient for himself and family.

And again, if there shall be properties in the hands of the church, or any individuals of it, more than is necessary for their support, after this first consecration, which is a residue, to be consecrated unto the bishop, it shall be kept to administer unto those who have not, from time to time, that every man who has need may be amply supplied, and receive according to his wants. Therefore, the residue shall be kept in my storehouse, to administer to the poor and the needy, as shall be appointed by the high council of the church, and the bishop and his council, and for the purpose of purchasing lands for the public benefit of the church, and building houses of worship, and building up of the New Jerusalem which is hereafter to be revealed, that my covenant people may be gathered in one, in that day when I shall come to my temple. And this I do for the salvation of my people.

And it shall come to pass that he that sinneth and repenteth not, shall be cast out of the church, and shall not receive again that which he has consecrated unto the poor and the needy of my church, or, in other words, unto me; for inasmuch as ye do it unto the least of these, ye do it unto me; for it shall come to pass that which I spake by the mouths of my prophets shall be fulfilled; for I will consecrate of the riches of those who embrace my gospel, among the Gentiles, unto the poor of my people who are of the house

Thou shalt stand in the place of thy stewardship; thou shalt not take thy brother's garment; thou shalt pay for that which thou shalt receive of thy brother; and if thou obtainest more than that which would be for thy support, thou shalt give it unto my storehouse, that all things may be done according to that which I have said.

The priests and teachers shall have their stewardships, even as the members, and the elders, or high priests who are appointed to assist the bishop as counselors, in all things are to have their families supported out of the property which is consecrated to the bishop, for the good of the poor, and for other purposes, as before-mentioned, or they are to receive a just remuneration for all their services; either a stewardship, or otherwise, as may be thought best, or decided by the counselors and bishop. And the bishop also, shall receive his support, or a just remuneration for all his services, in the church.

From the above quotations we note that the Saints are to consecrate of their properties for the benefit of the poor with a covenant and deed which cannot be broken, and that the properties shall be laid before the bishop and his counselors, and that they cannot be taken from the church again agreeably to his commandments; also, that every man shall be made accountable to God, a steward over his own property, or that which he has received by consecration, inasmuch as is sufficient for himself and family. In paragraph 10 we learn that there is to be an after consecration of properties, which may be in the hands of the church, or any individuals of it, more than is necessary for their support, which is called "a residue," to be consecrated unto the bishop, to be kept in the storehouse for the use of those who have need, and also for purchasing lands for the public benefit of the church, building houses of worship, and building up the New Jerusalem which was afterwards to be revealed, that the gathering of the Saints may be accomplished for the salvation of the Lord's people. In this paragraph we also learn that the high council of the church is associated with the bishopric in the disposition of the properties received by consecration.

Paragraph 11 gives information in reference to those who may sin and be cast out of the church, providing that they shall not receive again that which they have consecrated for the benefit of the poor and needy.

Paragraph 14 teaches that each one shall stand in the place of his stewardship, outlining how they shall deal with each other—pay for what they get from each other-and if they obtain an increase above their needs. that it shall be subject to, or be disposed of according to, that which had already been said, which we think had reference to the first half of paragraph 10.

Paragraph 19 of the Lamoni edition Doctrine and Covenants reads thus:

The priests and teachers shall have their stewardships, even as the members, and the elders, or high priests who are appointed to assist the bishop as counselors, in all things are to have their families supported out of the property which is consecrated to the bishop.—42: 19.

This, we think, is incorrectly punctuated, inasmuch as it does not make good sense. There should be a semicolon instead of a comma after the word members, making it read:

The priests and teachers shall have their stewardships, even as the members; and the elders, or high priests who are appointed to assist the bishop as counselors, in all things are to have their families supported out of the property which is consecrated to the bishop.

Thus punctuated, we learn from paragraph 19 that the priests and teachers of the church are to have a steward ship the same as the members; that is, they are to be made stewards over their own property which they have received by consecration, as is stated in the latter part of paragraph 9, while the elders or high priests who are associated with the bishop in his work are to have their families supported out of the properties in the hands of the bishop, or they are to receive a just remuneration for all their services; either a stewardship or otherwise, as they may decide among themselves. And the bishop, also, is to receive his support, or a just remuneration for his services in the church, out of said funds, thus placing the teachers and priests in the same class as the members, in the matter of making a support for themselves out of their own property, over which they are made stewards; while the bishop and those associated with him in governing the properties of the church are to be recompensed for their labors out of the funds in their hands, thus making their support in a different manner.

We shall also show before we get through with this article, that there are some parts of the law of consecration that have no application whatever to the general membership of the church, but will apply only to the officials.

We now have the foundation or general outline of the law of consecration, which teaches that members are required to consecrate of their properties by covenant and deed, for the various purposes named, and that they are also to receive a stewardship which is called their own property under the same law; and that teachers and priests shall be placed in the same class with the members-the general membership—while the bishop and those associated with him are to receive their support out of the means in the bishop's hands.

*I have in my possession a publication which has paragraph 19 punctuated as I have done above, and feel certain that it is correct.

We will find many of the details as to how this law is to be carried out as we proceed in our investigation. In section 44 instructions are given as to how the elders should proceed in their work, in order that the church might be placed in a position to be organized according to the laws of man. we understand to have reference, in part at least, to requiring the church to become an incorporated body, in order to do business as a body or church in a legal manner, so that it can act on the offensive or defensive before the law as occasion might require, that its enemies might not have power over it, and that it might be preserved in all things, and enabled to keep God's laws: also that every band might be broken wherewith the enemy might seek to destroy God's people. The members were also instructed to Visit the poor and the needy, and administer to their relief, that they may be kept until all things may be done according to my law, which ye have received.-D. C. 44: 3.

From this we learn, although the law had been given, it could not be practically applied until other work was first accomplished.

In section 51:1, 4, 5 we read:

Hearken unto me, saith the Lord your God, and I will speak unto my servant Edward Partridge, and give unto him directions; for it must needs be that he receive directions how to organize this people, for it must needs be that they are organized according to my laws, if otherwise, they will be cut off; wherefore let my servant Edward Partridge, and those whom he has chosen, in whom I am well pleased, appoint unto this people their portion, every man equal according to their families, according to their circumstances, and their wants and needs; and let my servant Edward Partridge, when he shall appoint a man his portion, give unto him a writing that shall secure unto him his portion, that he shall hold it, even this right and this inheritance in the church, until he transgresses and is not accounted worthy by the voice of the church, according to laws and covenants of the church, to belong to the church; and if he shall transgress, and is not accounted worthy to belong to the church, he shall not have power to claim that portion which he has consecrated unto the bishop for the poor and the needy of my church; therefore he shall not retain the gift, but shall only have claim on that portion that is deeded unto him. And thus all things shall be made sure according to the laws of the land.

And again, let the bishop appoint a storehouse unto this church, and let all things, both in money and in meat, which is more than is needful for the want of this people, be kept in the hands of the bishop. And let him also reserve unto himself, for his own wants, and for the wants of his family, as he shall be employed in doing this business. And thus I grant unto this people a privi-lege of organizing themselves according to my laws; and I consecrate unto them this land for a little season, until I, the Lord, shall provide for them otherwise, and command them to go hence; and the hour and the day is not given unto them; wherefore let them act upon this land as for years, and this shall turn unto them for their good.

Behold, this shall be an example unto my servant Edward Partridge, in other places, in all churches.

In paragraph 1, it states that an organization of the people was absolutely necessary, and that it must be according to God's laws; and in thus organizing there was to be an equitable division of the properties of the church among them, also that the bishop should give to each a writing or deed which shall secure to each man the portion he can hold even if he transgresses, and is not accounted worthy to belong to the church; but that he shall not have power to claim or recover that which he has consecrated for the general purposes of the church, and all things were to be done in a manner so as to stand the legal tests of the law. No doubt this was required so that those who might be enemies to the work, whether in or out of the church, could not have power to injure them by using the law against them; but that the church could legally defend itself in all those things that might be brought to bear against them, as had already been declared in section 44.

Paragraph 4, section 51, gives the bishop further instruction in reference to the disposition of the properties in his hands, and how himself and family were to be supported. We also learn as the Lord says, that he has granted them the privilege of organizing themselves according to his laws, and that he has consecrated unto them that land (at Kirtland, Ohio,) for a little season, until he should command them to go hence; but they were to act as though they were to remain there for years, and this for their good. Paragraph 5 teaches that what was done there was to be an example unto the bishop "in other places, in all churches.

We wish now to make some comments to sustain the position that in Zion and her stakes only can the law of consecration be carried out in both its letter and spirit, and against the claim or opinion that may be advocated that it can be made or is applicable to the Saints everywhere, in their scattered condition. The strongest argument in favor of the opinion we are combatting is this, that the law was given before Zion's location was revealed, or before any stake was appointed, and yet the bishop was required to carry out the law at Kirtland, Ohio.

We believe, so far as our memory serves us, that those who have advocated its application upon the abovementioned grounds-in the present condition of the church, with Zion yet unredeemed and no stake as yet appointed-have either overlooked or ignored the fact, that in the same revelation (section 51) giving instructions to organize according to the law was also a special permit or privilege given to occupy that land which had been by the Lord consecrated unto them for that purpose for a little season, until he should otherwise provide for them and command them to go hence. The fact that Kirtland was so appointed effectually neutralizes such an argument, for Kirtland was practically, and to all intents and purposes, thus made the same as a permanent stake, and we still claim that in Zion and her stakes only is this law practically applicable.

Zion having in course of time been pointed out, and instructions given to buy lands in the regions round about, and the bishop instructed in reference to dividing the Saints their inheritances, and other lines of work pointed out in sections 57 and 58, we find in paragraph 7 of section 58 that "Martin Harris should be an example untó the church, in laying his moneys before the bishop of the church;" and, also, that what is required of Martin Harris is a law to every man that cometh to "this land to receive an inheritance." In section 72: 3 is the statement that "according to the law every man that cometh up to Zion must lay all things before the bishop in Zion."

We now have the details pretty well pointed out as to what is required of those who go up to Zion. In section 64: 5 we are informed of the necessity of being tithed, and that this is a tithing dispensation, and they that are not tithed will have to suffer with the wicked, which is perfectly in accord with Joseph Smith's letter to W. W. Phelps already quoted.

(To be continued.)

CONCERNING POLYGAMY.

In order to further prove that polygamy, instead of being part of the faith of the Latter Day Saints, is directly opposed thereto, and condemned by that faith; also to disprove the claim that the Prophet Joseph taught and practiced such doctrine; and, further, to show that such claim was made up several years after his death, let me give you a little of the history of those people who, for the last thirty years or more, have been so persistent in their efforts to fasten this doctrine upon Joseph Smith.

In the year 1850, the Brighamite faction sent several missionaries to Scandinavia, under the presidency of Erastus Snow, who had been made one of their apostles. They estab-lished headquarters at Copenhagen, and the following year commenced a periodical called Skandinaviens Stjerne (The Scandinavian Star). By this time it appears that the rumors so diligently circulated by the enemies of the Saints in this country, and as diligently denied by them, had also reached that land, and the editor and publisher, Erastus Snow, now essays to disprove those stories and to defend the good name of the Latter Day Saints. On page 16 of No. 1, vol. 1, appears the following among the "Publisher's Notes:"

In our next number we also aim to notice some of the abominable lies published about him (Joseph) and the Saints, by some of the pious priests and editors in this country.

However, his notice in the "next number" deals mainly with the Spalding story; but in volume 2, pages 124-126, appears an article headed "Chastity," and signed "John Jaques," in which he quotes the Lord's rebuke of the Nephites for practicing polygamy, also speaking of the Lamanites thus:

For they have not forgotten the commandment of the Lord, which was given unto our fathers, that they should have, save it were one wife: and concubines they should have none; and there should not be whoredoms committed among them, etc.

The Doctrine and Covenants is also quoted in this article, the object of which was to prove that the Saints were a chaste people, that polygamy was unchaste, whoredoms, and that the books believed in by the Saints did not uphold such, but taught to the contrary. Willard Snow was at this time publisher of the Star.

But the accusations concerning polygamy were also met and disproved in several pamphlets, copies of which are now in my possession. In one of these, entitled, "A Voice of Truth," setting forth the articles of faith, and signed by E. Snow, I find the following on marriage:

We believe that it is lawful and right that a man should have one wife, and a woman one husband, and that, in case of death, they are at liberty to marry again.-Page 16.

In another pamphlet, entitled, "A few Words about the Mormons, or a Warning against False Prophets," a second edition of which appeared in 1852, signed by F. J. Hahn, appears the following:

To here refute every lie manufactured against the Saints, would be folly and a trick of the devil to cause us to waste precious time, for we could hardly refute one before ten more would be manufactured about us. Those who desire a refutation, we refer to the first numbers of a periodical, Scandinaviens Stjerne, wherein several of the most common lies about the Prophet Joseph and the Book of Mormon are historically refuted. We also make a few remarks concerning one of the most common lies, namely that Smith lived in polygamy. In Dannevirke and Theologisk Tidsskrift appeared last year a lengthy account about the Mormons, where, among other things, the statement was made that Smith had said that, whereas the blessing of Jacob had been conferred upon him, he, like David and Solomon, had the right to live in polygamy, unrestricted. That this is a shameful lie all may know by reading the following quotations from the Doctrine and Covenants, which book was published a long time before Smith's death, and severely de-nounces immorality. We read, "Thou shalt love thy wife with all thy heart, and shall cleave unto her and none else; and he that looketh upon a woman to lust after her, shall deny the faith, and shall not have the spirit; and if he repents not, he shall be cast out."

Again, "And again, I say unto you, that whose forbiddeth to marry, is not ordained of God, for marriage is ordained of God unto man; wherefore it is lawful that he should have one wife, and they twain shall be one flesh; and all this that the earth might answer the end of its creation; and that it might be filled with the measure of man, according to his creation before the world was made." And again, "Inasmuch as this made." And again, "Inasmuch as this Church of Christ has been reproached with the crime of fornication, and polygamy: we declare that we believe that one man should have one wife; and one woman but one husband."

The above-named Danish papers further relate that Joseph Smith composed the Book of Mormon by remodeling the Spalding Romance, Manuscript Found, and adding to it texts from the Bible. Let us admit for a moment that Smith was the author of the Book of Mormon, and we will perceive that the papers named rather contradict their own account, for we read on page 120 (Danish B. of M.): "But the word of God burthens me because of your grosser crimes. For behold thus saith the Lord, This people begin to wax in iniquity; they understand not the scripture: for they seek to excuse themselves in committing whoredoms, because of the things which were written concerning David, and Solomon his son. Behold, David and Solomon truly had many wives and concu-bines, which thing was abominable before me, saith the Lord, wherefore, thus saith the Lord, I have led this people forth out of the land of Jerusalem, by the power of mine arm, that I might raise up unto me a righteous branch from the fruit of the loins of Joseph. Wherefore, I, the Lord God will not suffer that this people shall do like unto them of Wherefore, my brethren, hear me, and hearken to the word of the Lord: For there shall not any man among you have save it be one wife: and concubines he shall have none: For I, the Lord God, delighted in the chastity of women. And whoredoms are an abomination before me: thus saith the Lord Wherefore, this people shall keep of hosts. my commandments, saith the Lori of hosts, or cursed be the land for their sakes."

Many honorable men, who for many years have lived among the Saints in America, denounce these accusations as barefaced lying; and those who have visited the gatherings of the Saints must know that no society denounces immorality in stronger terms than thev do. .

We have now presented a brief account of the Latter Day Saints, and a few points of doctrine; search the Scriptures for yourselves, and ascertain the truth of the matter. -pp 14. 15

It will be noticed that those quotations from the Book of Mormon and Doctrine and Covenants were made use of to prove that Joseph Smith and the Latter Day Saints did not teach or practice polygamy, and that that doctrine was abominable in the sight of God.

One of the above-named pamphlets was published by Erastus Snow, who presided over the mission until the spring of 1852; the other by one of those men who had been instructed in the faith by him. A second edition of the latter was published as early as 1852 and advertised as being on sale revelation of God, we have no right at the office of the Latter Day Saints, Copenhagen. I mention this to show that it was published with the knowledge and under the supervision of Erastus Snow.

Willard Snow, brother of Erastus, succeeded to the presidency of the Scandinavian mission, and was editor and publisher of the Star when the above-mentioned article on chastity was published.

Erastus returned to Utah in the spring of 1852, but Willard remained, and in the latter part of the same year met a deplorable death. When it could no longer be kept a secret that polygamy had actually become part of the Utah system, he confided this fact to a few of the faithful members at Copenhagen, at which time, or shortly after, he became mentally deranged; continuing to grow worse, his brethren decided to take him to England, but he died on the road and was thrown into the North Sea.

PETER ANDERSON.

HUMANITY IN HEAVEN.

We often sing, "Shall we know each other there?" and again, "Yes, we shall know each other there;" but some Saints who sing this, on being closely questioned, have shown that they really do not believe it. I would therefore like to present the following for the consideration of all who doubt.

The most extravagant ideas are entertained on this matter, and the conceptions of many as to the nature of the transformation which death, the grave, and resurrection combined, will effect, are such as, if well founded, would really constitute us an entirely new order of beings. We must endeavor at all times to remember that the great object of the gospel (power of God) is not to destroy, or essentially alter our natures, but to redeem, renew, and perfect them. The change to be effected, then, is one of perfect development rather than of essential alteration. I believe we shall still be human beings, for it was human nature Christ assumed, and such he has redeemed, such he will completely sanctify, and such he will fully glorify. If, therefore, the great design of the Savior's mission is to be accomplished, we must continue to wear our humanity throughout eternity. And, further, we are while here only in our infancy, and the full manhood of our being will not be attained until we enter the eternal world.

Some will say we can form no idea of the change undergone by the Saint after death, or of his condition in This is quite a mistake, heaven. though I admit that apart from revelation we could know nothing on this subject; and, except so far as they are warranted by the Scriptures or to hold or preach any opinions whatever regarding our future condition. However, it is our duty, and, thank God, our privilege, to learn and believe all that God has revealed concerning it, for whilst secret things belong unto the Lord our God, yet those things which are revealed belong unto us and our children.

If we carefully study the Scriptures we will find that God has made known to us not a little on this very point, and exhibited it, too, in the way we most easily understand it. We will find that those who were once here, and who now inhabit eternity, are human beings still, and capable both of recognition and companionship, though to some it has proved a curse instead of There is no room for a blessing. doubtful speculation, either as to the reality of future recognition, or the nature of our future change. God has made it a matter of positive revelation, and shown us what we are bound to believe with regard to these things; therefore, unless we are prepared to reject the entire body of Scripture evidence we can have no hesitation in holding with patriarchs, prophets, apostles, and the most enlightened saints of every generation of the church, the doctrines of mutual recognition and restored companionship in heaven.

That the nature of our final change is not to be such as will make recognition impossible may be rendered still more evident by considering the amount of change manifest in our Lord after his resurrection. Christ is the model of his saints, not merely as to character, but also as to form. When he shall appear we shall be like him. 1 John 3:2. Like him not only in moral character, but in bodily formation, for we are told he "shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body." Philippians 3: 21.

The glorified body of the saint is to be modeled after the glorified body of the Savior, or like unto his resurrected body; for the resurrected body of Jesus is the one he took to heaven, and wears in glory. This is to be the model of his saints, for we are told that if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection. Therefore we have Romans 6:5. only to consider the nature of Jesus Christ's raised and glorified body, in order to learn the character of the glorified bodies of his saints. Let us give this matter a little attention.

I first copy a little from the Voice of Warning, page 99, to support the statement that Messiah's body, after his resurrection, was not so changed as to be incapable of recognition.

We recollect, first, that he was clothed upon with flesh, and blood, and bones, like other men, and every way subject to hunger, thirst, pain, weariness, sickness, and death, like any other person, with this difference, that he was capable of enduring more than any other human body. Second, this same body was hung upon the cross, torn with nails, which were driven through his hands and feet; his side was pierced with a spear and there came out blood and water. Third, this same body being entirely lifeless, like any other corpse, was taken, without a bone being broken, and carefully wrapped in linen and laid in the tomb, where it continued for three days. Then, early in the morning, the women came to the sepulcher, and his disciples also, and found the linen clothes lying useless, and the napkin which was about his head carefully folded and laid by itself, but the body which had lain there was gone. From all these circumstances we discover that the same flesh and bones which were laid in the tomb were actually reanimated, and did arise and lay aside the linen which was no longer needed; and Jesus Christ came forth triumphant from the mansions of the dead, possessing the same body which had been born of a woman, and which had been crucified. But no blood flowed in his viens, for blood was the natural life in which were the principles of mortality, and a man restored to flesh and blood would be mortal, and consequently again subject to death, which was not the case with our Savior, although he had flesh and bones after he arose; for when he appeared to his disciples, and they were afraid, supposing it was only a spirit, he, in order to show them their mis-take, said: "Handle me and see, for a spirit hath not flesh and bones as you see me have." -Luke 24: 39.

The Apostle Peter spoke of him also as "That same Jesus whom ye crucified hath God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses."

Now, brethren, if Jesus had been altogether changed after his resurrection the apostles could not have identified him, and therefore could not have borne witness to him. It was necessary, however, that Christ should be recognized, and so unmistakably identified that his previous claims and predictions might be established. For Christ's resurrection was at once the testing point, and the crowning evidence, both of his Sonship and his Messiahship; and unless his resurrection had been trium-phantly proved, his mission would have been a failure. Therefore Paul says:-

If Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain. . . . Ye are yet in your sins. Then they also which are fallen asleep in Christ are perished.—1 Cor. 15: 14, 17, 18.

The rejection of recognition, then, is no trivial matter, for it would render the proof of Christ's resurrection impossible, and lead to its consequent denial, if we fail to establish the fact of his recognition by his disciples during the interval that elapsed between his death and ascension to heaven. We therefore find Christ himself was most desirous of giving to all his apostles the fullest possible evidence of his being still the same Jesus after his resurrection that he was before his death; he enabled them to recognize him in many different ways. By his voice, by his hands, by the scar in his side, by showing them his flesh and bones, and by his eating before them, convinced them that he was still the same; and that we may be convinced also, let us consider the following scripture. In John 20: 20 we find that Jesus, having on the evening of his resurrection come and saluted his disciples, showed unto them his hands and his side. Here we observe that Jesus not only spoke to his disciples, saying, Peace be unto you, so that they might rejoice by hearing again his well-known voice, but he showed unto them his hands and his side, that by looking at the nail prints in the one, and the mark of the spear thrust in the other, they might be assured that he continued to wear the same humanity as before, and therefore the scripture says, "Then were the disciples glad when they saw the Lord." So also the Apostle Thomas having turned skeptic and said, verse 25,

Except I shall see in his hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and thrust my hand into his side, I will not helieve.

Now notice the condescension of the Savior as he proceeded to give him the very evidence he required. Eight days afterwards he appeared and said to Thomas, verse 27, Reach hither thy finger, and behold my hands; and reach hither thy hand, and thrust it into my side; and be not faithless, but believing.

So, if the body of the Savior, after his resurrection, had not been distinguished by the same external appearance as before, the evidence Thomas required could not have been furnished, and his infidelity might have continued.

Again we read,

And it came to pass that the multitude went forth, and thrust their hands into his side, and did feel the prints of the nails in his hands and in his feet; and this they did do, going forth one by one, until they had all gone forth, and did see with their eyes, and did feel with their hands, and did know of a surety, and did bear record, that it was he, of whom it was written by the prophets, should come. And when they had all gone forth, and had witnessed for themselves, they did cry out with one accord, saying, Hosanna! Blessed be the name of the Most High God! And they did fall down at the feet of Jesus, and did worship him.—Book of Mormon, page 444, paragraph 7.

This striking incident, it will be observed, was after the disciples at Jerusalem had watched him ascend to heaven; therefore the evidence should be stronger than any other that he still wore the same humanity, and that our Lord's resurrected and glorified body is a material and solid body of flesh and bones.

apostles the fullest possible evidence of his being still the same Jesus after his resurrection that he was before his death; he enabled them to recognize him in many different ways. By his voice, by his hands, by the scar in his side, by showing them his flesh series of the same Jesus after pate any doubt that might still have remained in the minds of those at Jerusalem, he asked for meat, and the disciples having given him a piece of a broiled fish, and of an honeycomb, he took these and did eat before them all, and the evidence thus furnished proved quite satisfactory to the apostles, who went everywhere declaring that the Lord was indeed risen and had appeared unto them.

But some may here object on the ground that the disciples who were journeying towards Emmaus did not know Jesus when he joined them by the way. See Luke 24:13-32. This is quite true, but the cause of this non-recognition was not in him, but in them, for, verse 16, "Their eyes were holden that they should not know him." It required, then, supernatural power to prevent these men knowing the Savior, but as soon as this was removed they at once knew him

Again, it may be said by some, that as our resurrection bodies will be spiritual, they must be altogether different from our present ones, and, therefore, incapable of being recognized by the same means. I reply, let the future bodies of the Saints be what they may, they must and will be like the Savior's; for, as we have seen, they will be fashioned like unto his glorious body, Philippians 3:21, and that though our resurrected bodies may be spiritual bodies they will not be at all more spiritual than our Lord's; for we have already been informed that if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection. (Romans 6: 5.)

Some, again, have supposed that the resurrection body of Jesus must have been completely changed from what it was, because we are informed in John 20:19 that he appeared to his disciples when the doors were shut. when they were assembled together for fear of the Jews, and that on this occasion he passed through either the stone walls, or barred and bolted doors, and must certainly have had a most attenuated and etherealized body. Now, notice, we have no evidence whatever that these doors, though shut, were either barred or bolted. but even supposing they were, was it not as befitting that they should voluntarily or supernaturally open for the risen Messiah, as it was that the city gate should open for the Apostle Peter and the angel, which from Acts 12:10 we glean was actually the case? For of this iron gate of the city it is said, it opened to them of its own accord and they went out and passed on through one street. The object of the apostle in recording this was not so much to tell us how he appeared. but to tell us when he appeared to his disciples. John says it was at evening, when the world was shut out. that Jesus came to hold fellowship with, or commune with, and comfort his disciples. But to suppose that when he did so, he passed through stone walls, or barred and bolted doors, is a vain and unwarranted conceit. If so, why, I ask, the wonders of the resurrection hour? Why, O why, the shaking of the earthquake, and why the descent of the angel to roll away the stone? Surely if the stone must be rolled away to let the Savior out, it was just as necessary that the doors should be opened to let him in. If he passed through the wall, or barred doors, he could as easily have passed through the stone, without its being rolled away, or the seal of the sepulcher being broken; but I hold the opinion he did neither. The stone was rolled away and the doors were opened, amongst other purposes, to show that it was no phantom that appeared, but that Jesus when risen was still bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh, and that the same body which bled on the cross was going to be taken to heaven and there seated on the right hand of God, as the first fruits of them that slept.

Thus, if we are raised in his likeness, our bodies, though most gloriously improved, will still be capable of being identified with their former selves. Let us then keep before our mind's eve at all times the one grand feature of this salvation, the feature that all spiritual intelligences will be amazed at, and adore throughout, eternity. Behold, my brethren, the Redeemer in our nature, made under the law, a perfect fulfiller of that law, so perfect that even the strictest scrutiny was obliged to confess, "I find no fault in him." View him magnifying the law and making it honorable by keeping it; view him thus fulfilling all righteousness, not for his own sake, but for the sake of others; view him as the Lamb of God, suffering in behalf of his guilty creatures; view him as the scapegoat, bearing away in his own person the iniquity of the transgressions and the sins of his believing people; view him dying a death as painful as it was accursed; view the incarnate Son of God, mocked by his enemies, deserted by his friends, bruised by devils, and even forsaken by his Father. View, I say, the Savior's coming forth triumphant from the mansions of the dead, and in this sight you view a depth unfathomable, a height immeasurable.

With this vision always before our minds we shall keep his laws and his commandments and be raised with the blessed dead. May it be our happy lot, is my prayer through Christ.

E. HOLFORD.

LYDNEY BRANCH, England.

The Critic for the month of May is up to its usual standard of excellence. The Critic occupies a unique place in the field of literature, and is a journal which should be found on the table of every student of English literature.

Letter Department.

7 Eric Street, Bow, LONDON, England.

Dear Brethren and Sisters:—As you do not often hear from us, we thought we would let you know that the work of the Sunday school here is still plodding along, although we have not a great number of scholars, about thirty being our average attendance of late.

On the 20th of March last we had a very successful tea meeting and entertainment to celebrate our anniversary. The hall was decorated very nicely for the occasion, the Saints helping in a very appreciable manner, and the following names being worthy of mention for their help financially and assisting to decorate: Elder J. Worth, our superintendent, Elder James Gerrard, and Srs. Tubb, Worth, and L. Gerrard, the latter for making the cakes, of which fourteen pounds were consumed. We had tea at 5:45 p. m., with about thirty children and fifteen adults, followed by the concert; the program of which consisted of recitations, vocal and piano forte solos and duets, and two dialogues, one by three of the girl scholars and the other by three of the younger brethren of this church. The latter, entitled the "Doctor's Boy," was very successful. Several friends from a distance came and helped us at the concert, and were of great assistance. Elder F. R. Tubb was accompanist, and assistant superintendent W. Gerrard conductor. The chair was taken during the evening by Elder Gerrard and Priest W. Goullee. A fair attendance of brethren, sisters, and friends were present.

On Sunday, April 7, the prizes for regular attendance during the past school year, which ended 15th March, were presented. Elder A. Bradshaw kindly undertook the presentation. The afternoon was pleasantly passed by short speeches by Elder T. Bradshaw and Elder J. Gerrard and solos by our sister A. Worman and Brn. W. Gerrard and A. Bradshaw.

Bro. Worth joins with all officers in wishing success to all fellow laborers in this noble work. Your brother in gospel bonds,

HERBERT W. FLETCHER, Sec.

LAMONI, Iowa, May 6.

Editors Saints' Herald:—A few lines to all interested readers of the HERALD from me may not be amiss at this time.

The silence of the several months past observed by me should not be taken to indicate lack of interest in the latter-day work on my part.

During the winter just past I was able, physically, to do but little, except of Sundays. But I tried to improve each opportunity presented, laboring in the Decatur district after my return from Michigan, in December last, until the convening of the late General Conference.

A nervous collapse caused me to move to a dryer atmosphere than prevails in Michigan during the winter months. I like the field, however. Was treated royally by the Saints and friends while there, and so far as I know my labors were agreeable to those with whom I labored.

Saints of the Detroit branch had encountered great trials at times previous to my going there last July, but these were met, and had been largely overcome, the spiritual skies were clearer, and atmosphere becoming purified, and matters seemed to be well in hand by Apostle John H. Lake, missionary in charge, Elder N. F. Liddy, president of the branch, Teacher Peter Hager and other officers in charge. President E. L. Kelley had been there and had done much looking toward the pleasant condition of affairs at Detroit.

I have read accounts in the Detroit papers of additions to the branch since I left there. The branch has lost a good worker lately by the death of Sr. Sophronia Shinnick.

I left Detroit and the field under a (to myself) deep protest, and will be glad to meet with Saints of that field should good fortune favor. A comforting thought comes to me at times, and affords encouragment, and that is, whenever appointed to a field of labor, I made a willing and anxious effort to fill it, and am now content to await results.

I would have done more than I have, had I been able, and no doubt this is the ambition of all the good missionaries. And may I suggest to the many young missionaries now entering the field, as one whose labors have been almost alone, fortunately or otherwise: Be true to God, to the right, and to yourself, study his word, seek his counsels, and pray much, and God will make you able to stand. "By faith the elders obtained a good report." A large report of labor done is only the half, "a good report" of the missionary's personal conduct and life-example is a seal to his ministry. Live as you pray and preach. Back up your preaching by your living!

I am greatly encouraged with the late General Conference, its work, and its results so far as seen. A solemn determination seemed to characterize all engaged in its work. Where differences of opinion appeared their discussion was of a high order. The supreme desire of all seemed to be, What is the right?

No wrangling, no debate for contention's sake. Acrimony seemed to find no place among the elders. Right criticism and discussion is not contention in the ordinary meaning of that word.

"Aye," says one, "you differed and discussed."

Yes. This is unavoidable; all do not occupy equal altitude up the mountain side of knowledge. All, therefore, do not see the landscape below alike. But by honest, humble investigation we may get to see alike so far as we are able, severally, to see. Right agitation is essential in both state and church, as well as in nature. Agitation arouses to investigation, investigation sifts the subjects presented, discovers the alloy from the true metal, the error from the truth. Right agitation and discussion is the glory and liberty of the soul, in things temporal and spiritual. Truth brings liberty; error, bondage. (John 8:30.) Who would have the spiritual atmosphere become dark and stagnant? God uses the winds and lightnings and thunders to purify the elements, and move soum from the stagnant waters.

Who does not enjoy life better after the purification of the elements by the roaring, reverberating thunders and the fire of heaven has gone through the disease-laden clouds of atmosphere, after the clouds have rolled by and the sun shines through a clear blue sky? We know each other better when the mists have cleared away. I never knew brethren to be better satisfied, generally, or more fully united, than at the conclusion of the late conference. A greater number of missionaries were appointed than at any time in the history of the Reorganization, I think. A goodly degree of the Holy Spirit was present in quorum meetings and the general sessions, and the business was done with a unanimity not often witnessed in a general conference.

One of the results of the revelation given so far as developed is that the church is entering upon an era of organic development, in the stake organizations effected so far. May we not take renewed courage, and with renewed diligence go forward in full faith that the day may become brighter, and greater prosperity come to Zion, that her cords be lengthened and her stakes strengthened? And may the light divine illumine her borders and pathway! With hope,

C. SCOTT.

ARAPAHOE, O. T., May 2.

Editors Herald:—All Saints that know me, know I am a babe in Christ as well as in the church, and more so in the ministry.

In reading God's word I find that to be a child of God we must obey his commandments, and to obey his commandments we must be Latter Day Saints, for we would not be allowed that privilege anywhere else.

Let us suppose a man comes in our midst from some island or country where God or his written word were never heard of? Suppose he be educated in all kinds of books except those referring to God or his word? Could he take the Bible and find Campbellism? No. Could he find Methodism? No. Could he find any church? Yes, he could find the church as it was left perfected by Christ and the officers that God placed there, and that would not lead that man to any church that did not observe all things commanded of God.

I know that whatsoever God doeth, it shall be forever. Nothing can be put to it nor anything taken from it: and God doeth it that men should fear before him. (Eccles. 3:14.) If what God doeth shall be forever, who took the officers out of the church that Paul says God placed there? Man took the officers from the church; for what God doeth it shall be forever, and the man reading the Bible, minus any outside help, would find it as the Latter Day Saints believe it.

Oh, yes, Latter Day Saints believe God told the truth when he said, "Behold, I am God; I change not." Latter Day Saints believe James was speaking by the Spirit when he said, Every good and perfect gift cometh down from the Father of lights, in whom there is no variableness, neither shadow of turning. Yes, the man that reads the Bible and leaves the traditions of the fathers out finds it as it is taught by the Latter Day Saints.

Dear Saints, I believe the time is near at hand when people will see that their fathers have been mistaken and have inherited lies for Bible truths, and will come to a knowledge of the truth as it is revealed in God's word. The time is here when some are thinking our Savior meant it when he said, In vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrine the commandments of men. (Matt. 15:9.)

I am glad the Lord has a work for me to do, and I pray he will make me a fit worker for the vineyard among those that he has placed there for continual service. I am happiest when preaching the gospel to the people. Last Sunday I preached to a crowded house with good liberty and splendid at ention and I was the only Latter Day Saint in the house, and I do not think there was a word said that everyone in the house did not hear.

I walked with a man on our way home, and he said: "I rather like your way of preaching."

I said, "Why?"

"Well, before you preached in this neighborhood, our preacher [he was a Campbellite] said he just wanted to hear you once and he would make you sick of Mormonism; and I wanted to see him do it, for if it was and is wrong, I want you to know it; and if it is right I want to know it. Do you remember the time he walked up to the pulpit and told you you were trying to mislead the people?"

I remembered it.

"Well, the way you sent him to hunt argument caused me to help him to hunt it, and I find it ain't there. Now, I am not a Mormon, for he tells me they believe in polygamy and your Mormon book teaches it."

"Hearken to the word of the Lord: For there shall not any man among you have save it be one wife: and concubines he shall have none."—B. of M., p. 116.

I asked him if that sounded like a follower of the Book of Mormon believed it, and if it sounded like the book taught it. "No," said he, "and I am glad it says it and you must tell them that the next time you preach there."

The preacher said I was trying to make the hearers think that which is perfect is to come yet, and I was trying to mislead them; and after I asked him what he meant he said the Bible was that which was perfect, and revelations ceased when it was made perfect. I asked him if the officers were still in the church till the Bible was made perfect. He said yes. I said, "In your church?"

"Yes."

I turned to the man I spoke of and asked him if he remembered in what year the "revised version" was perfected. He was dumbfounded, and the preacher picked up his Testament and said, "I refer to the King James Translation. I think that was perfect."

I haven't seen him since; but I heard he had sent for a "Mormon Bible," and is going to challenge me for a debate after he reads up a little.

Well, I cannot help it, can I? It is the Bible, and I am not to blame if it does not teach what they say it does.

May the good work go on, is the prayer of your Latter Day Saint brother, W. T. Rook.

HUMBERSTONE, Ont., May 5.

Editors Herald:-During the General Conference the writer was engaged in a series of meetings at Niagara Falls, Ontario. The Daily Ensign was received regularly, and from it we gleaned news of the proceedings. Although absent in body we were present in spirit, and rejoiced in the blessings realized. The revelation was read with interest and satisfaction, and inspired thankfulness for "a God in heaven that revealeth secrets." Another thing of importance was the missionary or ministerial appointments. We are always anxious to know where we and others are going; and since it is kept secret until a certain time comes, also as a revelation and really is, it is one of the surprises of which this latter-day work is full; and since a surprise, especially a spiritual one, is so pleasant, it enables us to begin anew each year. No matter how far below our expectations the past one may have been there is always comfort in knowing that when one year ends another begins "Hope springs eternal in the human breast;" consequently the future is always filled with possibilities which make us anxious to try it.

Not long after conference Bro. and Sr. G. H. Gates, of Providence, Rhode Island, stopped awhile in Niagara Falls, and spent two or three days sight-seeing and visiting. Since the printed report is not often more than one man's view, we were interested in hearing the conference represented from their standpoint. They enjoyed it immensely and were in excellent spirits. He and I went over and saw the Natural Food conservatory, now being erected on the American side. We had a pleasant chat with Bro. Robert Winning, who is connected with the company and institution. Bro. Winning is intensely interested, and finds natural food a fruitful source for illustrations in church and Sunday school.

I left "the Falls" the 30th ult., and came here via Buffalo, New York. Bro. S. W. Tomlinson and I held a series of meetings at this place in March, and I have returned to resume the work. The attendance so far is small, which is partially due to the meetings not being well advertised. I understand the teacher failed to read to the school on Friday the notice that was given him.

Bro. Tomlinson remained at the place first mentioned, from where he will visit adjacent points as the way opens up. He intends to come on here later if interest justifies another effort and the missionary in charge does not advise otherwise.

My stay at Niagara Falls was enjoyable. We have some good Saints there, and among them some excellent young people. A Religio was started with twenty members, and has since increased to twenty-four. May it prosper and do much good.

The next points will be Low Banks, Dunnville, Selkirk, and Hamilton in the order named.

Praying that all may prove faithful to the responsibilities assigned them I am,

Yours in Christ,

ALMA C. BARMORE.

ON BOARD TRAIN, May 5.

Editors Herald:-It is Sunday, and I shall occupy in writing. The day after the organization of the Independence Stake, I started on my return trip to California. Thursday, April 25, according to previous appointment, I occupied at Bartlett, the little Iowa village where a few years ago to the certain knowledge of most of the people of this little burg Elder J. B. McClure, a Braden shadow (may his shadow grow less), had an experience which called him away without notice one morning while I remained master of the situation. "Bro. McClure" remembers the experience well. He has not been "back to stay" since. The brethren had extensively circulated the appointment for the schoolhouse, but what was their surprise when on the morning of my arrival the trustees of the Christian Church waited upon Bro. Orton and stated they would be pleased to have me occupy in their new building. This was graciously accepted and I am sure they never had a larger crowd; or (pardon the personal compliment) a better sermon in that house. I stand ready to modify this assertion the moment some of the brethren are favored as I was.

By the way, I hope the brethren in charge of Fremont district will see their way clear to organize a branch at Bartlett. Bro. Orton is an elder, and I know he is heart and soul in the work, and if given a chance the work in Bartlett will not suffer through his ministration. There are several other brethren who would occupy creditably as official aids. Let them have a branch at Bartlett. Bro. Wight.

The next morning, the 26th, at four o'clock. I took train for Loveland, the place where the Methodists put me out of their church when I was laboring in Pottawattamie because I was causing division among their members. I then plead guilty to the charge and am happy to state that after an absence of three years the foment is still at work. I had a respectable hearing. Brn. Hoyt and Curry are holding their own here against great odds.

The next evening I preached at Crescent; and although the farmers were busy and it was Saturday night, the church was packed -some standing outdoors. I had excellent liberty here and a responsive audience. Through the earnest solicitation of Bro. McIntosh, the branch president, I returned for Monday evening when a similar crowd greeted me. God bless the noble people of Crescent, in and out of the church! Bro. Chambers can do no better thing than second the effort of Bro. McIntosh to have two preaching services on Sunday, even though he be compelled to fill said appointments himself. Bro. Chambers is well liked in Crescent.

Sunday morning I was in the Bluffs; a good house. It was a pleasure to greet old time friends and to know from the sparkle of the eye and the hearty handshake that friendship is not wholly fickle and fraternity is ofttimes perpetual. I rejoice with the few earnest workers there in the assignment of Bro. F. M. Cooper to do missionary service there.

Here I spent four years of the hardest church work of my life, winning many souls to Christ, and no one can surely blame me if I have a keener interest in my children, even though I love the brotherhood none the less. An aggressive, expansive plan of operation will place Council Bluffs in the fore ranks.

How my heart welled with joy while in Omaha. Sunday evening. Evidences of growth were everywhere apparent, except in the building, which was too small to accommodate the Saints and friends in attendance. Many new faces, aglow with divine light, were noticeable in the audience, and like a flash the contents of a letter written me by Bro. Joseph was recalled. I here saw its partial fulfillment. The Omaha branch today shows what continuous missionary work will do.

During the time I was in Council Bluffs, up to the last year, when Bro. F. A. Smith's work began to tell in Omaha, our accessions exceeded and our attendance was much larger.

Conditions are reversed now. This in no sense reflects on the local priesthood who may have done the best they could. Men engrossed in manual or mental toil cannot possibly give that attention to the work which our large branches in the cities demand. God knew this full well, and has provided for evangelical revivalists in large branches and districts. God speed the day of their selection!

Thursday, I started for Denver, arriving there on Wednesday morning, and was soon domiciled with Mr. and Sr. Lewis. I addressed a small but attentive audience here. The next morning I was in Colorado Springs, and by crook and curve succeeded in locating Bro. Curtis, and finally Bro. Duncan. The sights here were too tempting to be ignored. Bro. Duncan responded graciously to my invitation and hitched up his horse, and after an appetizing dinner we were on our way to Pike's Peak, Manitou, and the Garden of the Gods. The springs at Manitou were a wonder to me. Welling up from no one knows where is an inexhaustible supply of the best soda water ever placed upon the market. It makes the article vended in our large cities taste stale and lifeless.

We surveyed the cog railway up Pike's Peak, but our limited means admonished us that the only way we could get to the Peak was to take the pike, and time intercepted.

We hastened over to the Garden of the Gods. Here is the greatest monument, debarring Royal Gorge, to the inexplicable forces of nature that I have ever witnessed. The queer formations taking on human and animal shape are not imaginary freaks of the been led to believe. The novice can easily pick out the kissing camels, the towering Sentinel, the Palisades, the Balanced Rock, and the lone horseman. Some queer internal spasm served as a powerful emetic in this inexplicable natural upheaval.

A few of the select gathered in the home of Mr. (should be Bro.) Buzzard, and we spent a pleasant evening, I, us usual, having my say.

Friday morning we were up with the lark. The morning was cold and our feelings were chilled as we observed the snowstorm playing "Hide, go seek" with Pike's Peak. However, after a hasty breakfast, Bro. Duncan, Sr. Baker, and I started for the Seven Falls, having but three hours in which to make the trip. We were more than repaid, and aside from the beauty of the dashing waters we were easily able to locate the Duchess' face; the Hindoo baby, and the empty chair.

At 10:29 took train with Provo as objective point, little realizing that I was going to pass through an experience which would preclude the fulfilling of Utah appointments.

It was evident when we entered Royal Gorge (the most sublime and solemn representative of nature's God I have ever witnessed) that we were going to have bad weather and a fearful snowstorm. gravest fears were more than realized. Before we reached the summit we were in the furies of the storm.

After passing Tennessee Pass, the slow, halting movements of the train indicated that something was wrong. The trainmen feared a slide. Soon we stopped with a sudden jerk. We had run into a big slide and nothing only the slowness of the train saved us from interment in the Grande. It was now dark, and the storm was all about us. The almost perpendicular walls of the canyon of the Grande did not tend to inspire confidence. The rushing, foaming river almost filled the canyon, and we well knew what might be our fate. It was apparent we were there to remain for some time. About midnight stray stones commenced to roll down upon the rear coaches. Some of the passengers became fearful and came forward into the day coach. It was providential they did, for about half-past one we heard a noise that sounded like distant thunder. The next instant it seemed that some unmanageable train was bent on our destruction by a rear end collision. Then with a mighty rush and a deafening roar the avalanche of rocks and mud was upon us. With blanched faces each looked to the other not knowing what to expect next. The train crew had gone in search of help, and here we were, a motley, frightened crowd, left to the mercies of fate. We soon learned that the slide had caught the rear sleeper, derailing and partly demolishing it. Providentially the passengers on the upper side had taken the hint and were spared. It is a miracle that no lives were lost. How the long hours taxed our nervous systems! With a slide in front, a slide behind; the river immediately beneath, and towering, crumbling peaks above, you can only imagine our feelings! What a relief it was when morning dawned! Not until a relief train had come and we were on board were our guide's overwrought mentality, as we have I fears allayed. We were eight miles from Glenwood Springs and hither we were conveyed until our train would be extricated. Here we remained until long after the time when I was to have been in Provo. I had failed to keep my appointment, but for once I felt no compunction of conscience, even though there was a tinge of regret. I shall go on direct to Los Angeles, hoping that sometime I will be able to visit the Utah points now passed.

Owing to the urgent necessity for me to be in my mission field at an early date, it was impossible for me to answer all the calls for services. Will the Saints in Iowa and Nebraska pardon my "go by?" You are ever enshrined in memory, and I hope in the not very distant future to be permitted to again labor among you. I do not think my work is all done there.

Feeling more hopeful than ever before in Zion's final triumph.

Ever yours,

T. W. WILLIAMS.

LAMONI, Iowa, May 8.

Editors Herald:-The late conference, held at Independence, Missouri, was one of the most instructive and profitable ones ever held by the church in my judgment. It was a forcible reminder of the lesson presented by the great Teacher to the end "that men ought always to pray, and not to faint." When the clouds are dark and threatening, and, so far as near results are concerned, in a general way, we are almost led to believe that we have labored and sacrificed in vain, let us arouse our souls to the exercise of true faith in God. Is it not true that others, who were as good or better than we, have labored, suffered, and died without seeing the general conditions of good obtain in the church which general faithfulness never fails to bring? I am satisfied that the leading condition which secured victory and blessing to us in the late conference was a general desire that the right should prevail, coupled with a determination to stand by the right without any regard to personal and immediate consequences. No other motive, no different kind of effort could be the result of true faith in God.

Ignorance and wrong are the monsters with whom we have to contend, both within and without; and when the two are combined, they constitute a dangerous foe. But we must not fear. God and truth are greater than all that can be arrayed against them. It is fitting, too, that we should all say and feel that we are fallible, and, therefore, may be wrong. He who has adopted certain positions, and seems to be determined that the body shall accept them, while he himself gives evidence, in his attempted defense, that he has never properly tested the character of his claims, is unfortunate and unwise. The real character of a proposition or claim is not changed in the least by the personnel of those who defend or oppose it: it must stand upon its own merit, or fall for the lack of merit.

It soon became evident after reaching Independence and mingling with the people in the first sessions of the conference, and elsewhere, that "Madam Rumor" had been busy, and some one or more had made himself, or themselves, as the case may be, responsible for that which caused a portion of the good Saints at Independence to "imagine a vain thing," if it did not even cause some of them to "rage." (Psalms 2: 1.) It is indeed embarrassing to be confronted with stalwart opponents "who do not know, but they do not know that they do not know." However, we rejoice in the belief that we understand each other better than we did before the conference.

Two things should be avoided with the same care that we would shun an adder: First, using the confidence which has been reposed in us by our friends, or our position and influence in the church, to weaken the efforts of those whom we suppose to be wrong. It is that old, but false and baneful doctrine, that "the end justifies the means."

Second, indulging in cunning misrepresentation and actual falsehood for the seeming purpose of weakening or destroying those who are advocating that which they think to be right and opposing that which they think to be wrong, but whom we believe to be in error.

I do not attempt to point out the guilty ones, nor have I any disposition to pursue them when found; but it is evident that work of this kind has been indulged in by somebody, more or less, since the conference of 1900. What have been the results? What they always are. Good Saints have been deceived (for the time at least) to their own loss. Good Saints at Independence, in the east, and elsewhere, have unwittingly allowed their minds to be warped and poisoned. It is not safe, and therefore is not right, to accept any representation of individuals which clearly reverses the records they have made, without first hearing from the individuals themselves, or without the positive proof from some other source that they have reversed their records. Under other conditions, such a message should not be indorsed, though it come from "any man," or even from "an angel from heaven."

I concede with pleasure that there is a noble band of kind, good Saints at Independence. May they increase in favor with God and all good men. But I am not willing to concede, all things considered, that the Saints at Lamoni are one whit behind them. They may be behind in some things, I am willing to admit; but they are just as certainly ahead in some other things. And yet it is true that we at Lamoni are not any too good, the Lord knows. The trouble arises from partial views of the picture, and a manifest lack of understanding true gospel standards. I would not mention this were it not that I happened to hear some remarks dropped when at Independence, which indicated the estimate which some place upon the community of Saints at Lamoni.

While watchfulness and diligence are still in demand, and will be to the end of the conflict, yet, in view of the present situation, I think we should be willing and anxious to extend honor and glory to God, and good will to all men. To this end let us pray and labor. Your brother in the truth,

J. R. LAMBERT.

INDEPENDENCE, May 8.

Editors Herald:-There has been considerable evidence given of the hand of God being in the organization of the Independence Stake. This has been cheering and a source of comfort to many hearts. The president and his counselors have been greatly blessed with light in regard to what is their duty. I believe there was no mistake made in the choice. But we are reminded, even though we are on the "highway" of success, that it takes a careful and faithful life to be worthy to "wear the crown." Many are hopeful of being able to make the sacrifice that this step forward calls for. It may be asked, "Who can abide in the Independence Stake?" We answer in David's words: "He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart. He that backbiteth not with his tongue, nor doeth evil to his neighbor, nor taketh up a reproach against his neighbor." All that can abide this, can remain to enjoy this stake in Zion. Those that are prepared to keep their lives in harmony with these savings are in a measure prepared to move into the stake. It will be no robbery to examine ourselves very carefully before we make a move this way. I have not offered my own property for sale yet, preparatory to move to where the Lord will not be so exacting. Yet, it might be just possible; God is no respecter of person. It will not do to treat some good and wholesome advice lightly; if we do we might have to be "driven away," as did some of the former day saints.

I hope, pray, and plead that we will not run too fast, but be sure we are right, and then not hesitate to move forward. The Spirit bas bidden us to "Come up higher;" and now we believe we have taken one step in that direction. We have to retain that step to be able to take the next, which will come and not tarry. Some things I have seen make me anxious, and to "fear and tremble." God will not be mocked by us, even though we are Latter Day Saints. I see so many earnest hearts here in this stake, that it gives me great hope that success will crown some, at least, whether I make the success I so much desire to or not. I am made happy to know the church is moving forward towards the redemption of Zion. I look for a successful year to the ministry. Everything now tends that way. May we see it! Still in the faith,

I. N. WHITE.

SPICKARDS, Mo., May 9.

Editors Herald:—The last of February I moved my family from Illinois to Stewarts-ville, Missouri, (in the regions round about.) We like our new home very much, and also the Saints. I am very glad to have my dear ones located where they can have such good church and school privileges as they now have. We are four blocks from church and five from school.

Since coming to Missouri I have labored in Far West district, and like it very well. Have had good liberty when preaching, and good-sized and very attentive congregations. Preached in St. Joseph twelve times. Left a splendid interest at Aspey mission to attend General Conference, and am now detailed to Grundy and Davis counties in company with W. E. Haden. We are trying to open the work in new places. Very few Saints in these parts,—only one branch. We hope to be able to get the work started, and earnestly request the Saints that live in said counties to assist us in getting into new places where they have not yet heard the angel's message. We came here yesterday, but roads are nearly impassable at present. Will preach here over Sunday, and longer if interest will justify. We are sojourning with Bro. Beebe, three miles west of town. Will try to get a hall in town later.

Ever praying for the welfare of the Master's work, I remain,

Your brother in the one faith,

J. W. Adams.

CENTRAL, Iowa, May 4.

Dear Saints:—Hearing a great deal of comment about our being able to support a college of our own, may I just say a few words on the subject.

All parents love their children, and love to know that they are well treated, especially when they are away from home, and amongst strangers. I am sure our college is a great necessity, and you will gather from my communication my reasons. When I was a young lady, I was sent away to school, amongst those who were prejudiced against our church. One of the colleges I attended was a church institution. When we enrolled for the term, these questions, in large type, were printed at the top of the card.

"Do you belong to any church? If so, what one? Who was your pastor during the last year? If you do not belong to any church, to what one are you partial?"

I answered all these questions truthfully and honestly, and was immediately branded. Finally, after several days had elapsed, a lady came to me and said,

"Miss S., we find that you have not given in your name to any of our religious societies. The president of our school expects all pupils to enroll in one of them. Now, I am president of the ladies' 'prayer guild,' and we wish you to join us. The fee is very small, only fifteen cents per month."

Well, I thought, if I pray here, I must pay for it. Finally, I said, "Must I be one of you in belief, and all that pertains to your church?"

"Oh, no!" she said, "just pay your fee to the secretary and come every Saturday noon to the Zeta hall."

Well, I went, because I thought I had to. The president had ordered it.

Things went along quite smoothly for about two weeks, when finally the president of the "prayer guild" issued a new decree. It was that each member must pray five or six minutes each day for the advance of the church which the college represented. When she came to administer the oath to me I said, "Miss Locke, I cannot comply with your request. I cannot take the oath."

"Why?" she said indignantly.

"Because I do not believe your church to be the right one."

She said, "Very well," and thanked me for my honesty.

But what was my surprise when I found I had been reported to the "faculty?" They just literally made war against me. I was just cruelly treated. In the art hall the head instructor had heard I was a regular Mormon, and she quickly reported the intelligence to the minor teachers. Every day I listened to abusive conversations all for my benefit. I met the same thing in the music hall.

Finally an influential young lady, and a minister's daughter, said: "Why, what is wrong with Miss S.? Does she not paint as well as the other girls?"

"O yes, and two of her pictures show prize tags; but she is a regular 'Mormon.'"

This young lady said: "I do not see Miss S.'s name on the program; is she failing in her music?"

"Oh, no!" was the reply; "she stands as high as any in the different classes, save three, but some of the girls objected to her on account of her religion, or whatever she calls it."

Now, I could recite several scores of those harsh things, Saints, if I were inclined. The Latin teacher was especially cruel and sarcastic. She would give me no show whatever. I used to be compelled to stand before her, and all my classmates, to have my recitations criticised. How the sharp, cutting words stung my heart! Yet as I stood there I would think, Well, the Lord knows my heart. In a few years from this time this teacher became totally blind; and, do you know, several of those who helped to afflict me met affliction, too; but it does not soothe us at all to know that others are afflicted. but it does show us that God is no respecter of persons.

But, back to the point I wish to bring out. Parents, do you want your children to suffer the agony I suffered? You cannot realize such torture unless you have been there. We certainly can see the danger of such an influence; and, believing as we do that our children are lost if they depart from the true way, see what we have at stake. Won't you as parents and friends to the cause help your loved ones to escape these afflictions by helping Graceland, even if it be only a little each month? I have resolved to contribute a little each month to this noble institution. My children will be sent to our own college. We have less students than some other institutions, but our teachers have more time to give to each one, therefore they get the worth of their money, while in schools where there are between five and six hundred students, as the one I speak of, your children get only a slight skimming over. The weightier things are neglected, as there is no time.

At Lamoni they may attend their own services, they may meet those of our own kind who are really interested in them. The man who will preach to them each Sunday morning is really interested in their souls' salvation, and will also tell them how to obtain it. Let us help our own. Let us do with fewer dresses and other accessories and help the children of our ministers to obtain educations, while their fathers are enduring the hardships that follow the true servants of God. Let us help them to bear their trials. Encourage them in their glorious calling by helping their dear ones.

Your sister,

C.S.

HAMILTON, Scotland, April 25.

To the Editor:-I take pleasure in once again addressing your columns that your readers may know how we are progressing in this land. Since my last communication to the HERALD I have visited the Sheffield district, where for a week I labored in Clay Cross, being present also at the district conference, which passed away pleasantly and profitably. I also spent a week in the city of Sheffield, and participated in the opening services of a new hall the Saints have hired. Generally speaking, the work in this district seems to have brighter prospects for the future than it has had for some time, and with united effort these prospects can be realized. I enjoyed my visit very much-all made me very welcome. May the earnest prayers of the Saints there for progress and development be answered. I am sure an active missionary is needed there, and the opportunities for work are many.

The work in Clay Cross is assuming a conspicuous position. A very neat little chapel has been erected by the Saints of that place, a splendid memorial of their love and zeal for the cause of truth. The writer is invited to take part in the dedication services which will take place Sunday, April 28, so leave home tomorrow for that place.

I have been blessed in my efforts in Scotland, and am very hopeful for the future. We are making friends to the work, and hope this coming summer to be able to spend some time in the great city of Glasgow. This will be a busy season for the metroplis of the north, as gigantic preparations have been made and much money expended for the International Exhibition to be opened next month. Our Bro. Wilson of this place intends opening his house for meetings, so that by this, in conjunction with open air work, we hope to make our work a permanency in the second city of the kingdom. The "Mormons" are strongly entrenched there, so it is necessary that the public should know that the work and mission of Joseph Smith are by no means synonymous with the notorious evils of Brigham Young and Utah.

In Hamilton we are still successful in geting a patient, attentive hearing; and having been asked several times if we had a hall to meet in, we tried to get one and succeeded in getting the Lesser Hall in the Y. M. C. A.; but—gracious! when some Christians who are holding services in the other hall heard of this there was a storm, and committee meetings held, resulting in our being ejected from the place, and even refused a hearing after the convener had invited the writer to attend one of their meetings to explain who and what we were.

On Thursday, March 20, I had the pleasure of baptizing J. Skene and C. Scott, both natives of Aberdeen, but residing at the time in Hamilton, who had been attracted by the sound of the "old, old story" at the New Cross, and upon closer investigation were led to obey, and can now bear witness of the divinity of the work. We feel grateful that God has thus confirmed our testimony to them. Bro. Scott left Hamilton for Aberdeen, where he now resides, and last week I spent the day in the Granite City. Met several friends and relatives of these two brethren, and believe was instrumental in removing a little prejudice. and some have promised to investigate and also invited me to go again. So if the wav opens out, and God wills, we shall try to spend a week or two there in open air preaching.

Our beloved Bro. Black, of Edinburg, is having some trials besides suffering with sickness. Some of his relatives are very much opposed to the work, and have forbidden him to speak of it again! May God strengthen him.

Bro. Cairns here, too, has been unwell for quite a spell; but now the fine weather has come he is feeling a little better, and is anxious to do what he can to spread the truth. He had an encouraging time last week up the valley of the Clyde, around Carluke.

On Thursday evening, March 7, we received the sad news of our respected Bro. Bishop's death, and the next day were speeding on our way to Cardiff. His death was a sad, sad blow to his family, and all the Saints there. Our hearts were full as we laid him to rest in the cold embrace of the tomb. which closed its doors over his short, useful life, and will remain closed until the trump of the archangel shall sound its "reveille" on the resurrection morn, and its sound reverberates through the halls of death, calling the faithful to life and immortality. May the gladsome hope of this glorious reunion shed its radiance of joy upon the pathway of the grief-stricken ones now gloomy with the cloud of distress. We were sorry to learn recently that Sr. Bishop has been prostrate for some time with grief and congestion of the lungs, but trust she may soon be restored.

While in Wales I visited several of the branches and was cordially welcomed by the Saints there, and their kindness will live long in my memory as one of the pleasures of missionary life.

The work in Wales needs help, -a strong, sympathetic man with organizing capacity. Plenty of work to be done, both pastoral and evangelical, and there are some good men to help, but they want a leader. This is one reason why the departure of our late brother is so incomprehensible as he was loved and respected by all who knew him, and his influence among the Saints and friends was powerful for good, and he has left on record a splendid testimony of his worth as a husa spientid testimony of his worth as a husband, parent, minister, and friend.

I am feeling well in the work, and rejoicing in the continuance of divine favors, and pray that our Father may graciously bless the work of the conference of 1901, the first of the twentieth century, and richly endow his ministers with righteousness and speedily hasten the day when the whole earth shall be filled with his glory, when all shadows and tears shall be banished before the dawn of that eternal joy in which our hope is fixed. Your brother in gospel bonds, J. W. RUSHTON, EUCLID, Ark., May 8.

Editors Herald:-I was well pleased with and paid for attending the General Conference. While the clouds seemed dark at times, yet I could see the Lord's hand was over his work. I would to God his people could have his Spirit to direct at all times, and to discern its promptings. We need a greater understanding of this latter-day work. A few more conferences like the late one, will, to my judgment bring about wonderful developments.

While I was at General Conference my wife almost lost use of herself. I gave her name to the Saints to be remembered by them, and she received some strength; but she is greatly in need of strength. Saints. please remember us.

I was called to Nathan, Arkansas, last week to take care of our interests there, as a Methodist brother expected to give his people a peep at Mormonism, as they please to call it. He did not put in his appearance, so I had the privilege of representing our side and no one to openly oppose. I believe there must be some good to be done at that place other than has been. I have baptized six thereone who was convinced of the first principles by B. H. Roberts, the Brighamite. Perse cution to a great extent is giving away. This has been a hard field, and is not altogether smooth yet. The elders need not fear violence, but may go ahead.

Dear Saints and friends of the restored gospel, please let us elders in Arkansas hear from you, so we can visit the isolated ones as well as the branches. Support us with your prayers, and otherwise as best you can. Do not let the elder take up his grip and walk through the summer heat when you can help him. Let us all work together.

In bonds.

J. W. JACKSON.

MAGNOLIA, Iowa, May 10.

Editors Herald:-Since General Conference I have been very busy preparing the way for the work appointed me, and ministering locally. I expect to enter upon a series of services next Tuesday, the 14th, previously agreed upon, and hope to be free to wait upon my ministering during the summer months.

I have enjoyed a degree of peace and a spirit of satisfaction since conference that bespeaks a brighter future for God's ministry. and I believe, a better understanding of what we should and may expect of each other in the spiritual conflict.

From some expressions that have come to me, a great anxiety is felt in regard to the future of the Sunday school work in our district, and since Brother Baker's transfer as great an anxiety will be felt concerning the Religio work. But God is deeply interested in these departments of work, and I quote from another: "God has raised up helpers for work when work was provided," and all that is needed is to "Get thy spindle and thy distaff ready, and God will furnish thee flax."

Many lonely spots are appearing of late among our spiritual helpers, but their rest shall be and is glorious, which consoles, and bears us onward to daily tasks in faithfulness, as we note they have done, one way in which their works follow them, and they be dead yet they speak.

In Christ.

J. F. MINTUN.

Mothers' Home Column.

EDITED BY FRANCES.

SHELTON, Nebraska.

Dear Sisters of the Home Column:-My heart rejoices to see so many encouraging letters, and to hear of your hopes and desires for the great work we have all enlisted in, and to see so many ready to work for the cause we love. The Saints here have passed through some dark and trying seasons, but our heavenly Father has never forsaken us, and his kind and loving hand has led us safely through. While the evil one has led some from the straight and narrow path, it made our heart feel sad. Still we can praise God a goodly number cannot be shaken, but cling to the rod of iron.

Dear Saints, let us not forget the afflicted ones, who have asked our special prayers in their behalf, and when sending our names. may they be sent with faith in God that if it is his will, he will grant their heart's desire. I can say faith and prayer is all that saved me when I had not eaten even a crumb of bread for twenty-four weeks, being only able to use a liquid diet. Today I can only thank God for what he has done for me, and others of the family. Let us not forget that request through the HERALD of one that is not a member, that through our faith and prayers he may be spared and healed, till he find the light he is seeking for.

I am glad to know there is a branch of the church and a Sunday school started at Sioux City. You have a noble work before you, Sr. Minnie, and the rest of the Saints there. My thoughts go back to the day when Bro. Charles Derry preached, three years ago. You and Bro. Townsend will remember the day well. Out of a town of forty thousand people, there were only seven of us there. Two of that number have crossed the river to the other side.

My heart rejoices when I read the letters from Farnam. Nebraska, for I know they are from the heart. Sr. J., this gospel is to make us perfect by following the example of our blessed Lord and Savior. I was sorry to read in the HERALD of Sr. Dora Matthews' affliction. Sr. Dora, put your trust in God; he can help when all else fails. I have proved him, when like yourself-when all the doctors failed.

Bro. Caffall was with us a short time ago; we only wish he could come often, and regret he could not stay longer, for he is a faithful worker in the Master's cause. We are patiently waiting for Bro. Porter. He expected to have been here before this.

We have had four good Saints leave our branch and go to Oklahoma. Our loss is their gain. We also had a family of Saints move to Shelton a short time ago (Bro. Tibbets). We gladly welcome them to our branch. I say to the elders that visit Shelton, we have a nice large new schoolhouse now to hold meetings in, and will be glad to have the elders come at any time.

5 Brandon Street.

Let us try to drop a word of kindness and cheer to those in trouble and distress, those who seem to have sorrow and trouble. May they look to their heavenly Father for comfort and strength, and though earthly friends prove untrue, there is one that will never leave nor forsake them. One that has gone to prepare a home for the tempted, the tried, and the true. There will be no more sorrow nor trouble there, but happiness, peace, and joy. Let us each and every one try to be faithful and true to the work. There is something for each to do. Let us try not to injure one another or to bring a reproach upon the cause. If we do our work faithfully and truly, it will surely lighten the burden of the elders. They have their work to do and we know their lives are not all smooth sailing. Did we ever stop to think we made it a little harder for them? Let us examine ourselves when an elder comes to labor in our branch; let us do our part and only leave his part for him to do. How often he is tired out with the journey and has to make many a sacrifice all along his life. We might say, What can we do? We can all try to keep our part of the work in good order, then when the elders come let them have all the time to rest and recruit instead of first getting the Saints to do their part or having to settle up all kinds of difficulties in the branch. They have enough to do without any extra work. Let us all do our part and when the elders come give them a warm welcome and make their stay as pleasant as we can.

Dear sisters, this just reminds me of a little instance that once occurred. An elder was at a place preaching, and after he left he sent word that a brother would be there to preach at a certain time, and in a corner he said, "Don't forget to wash his shirt!" Sisters, do you know what that means? I do. Let us not forget it takes ten cents to wash a shirt, and sometimes the elders don't have ten cents to spare. These are little things. we can look after; it won't help much, but there are lots of little things if we are just a little thoughtful. Let us not wait till we are reminded of them. It must be embarrassing to them. Let us be ready to do what little we can. Although little, let us remember the widow's mite. With love for the work, Your sister in Christ,

MRS. G. H. LIGHT.

AN OPEN LETTER.

BY SISTER EMMA BURTON.

Dear Sister Jessie:—For your sake and that of others of the Saints who are located in the far corners of the earth, and therefore have not the privileges of those dwelling in the "regions round about," I will endeavor to comply with your request to write up our trip to conference, starting from our quiet home at "Mount Olivet."

It was a lovely morning in the last week of February. Bro. Eugene Holt proposed to take us as far as Tres Pinos with his conveyance. From there we would go by rail to Gilroy, stay over night with Bro. and Sr.

Putney while we waited for the next noon train to take us to San Jose. You may be sure that those two brethren, Joseph and Eugene, did not make the trip in silence. The Tres Pinos was reached all too soon for the amount of talking that seemed necessary to be done, so upon a few minutes' deliberation Bro. Holt concluded to drive the whole distance to Gilroy, just a little short of fifty miles. All those who have visited Bro. and Sr. Putney in their spacious, comfortable home, and partaken of their bounties, will know just what a pleasant, cheerful visit we had.

Next day found us in San Jose, located at the home of Bro. and Sr. Burgess, where we remained till after the conference of the Central district, which was held in San Jose. If Sr. Burgess' home was not so spacious as she would have liked for entertaining conference people, there was no deficiency in her heart, neither unwillingness in her hands to perform, and all were made welcome, Brn. Hilliard and Blakeslee being among the guests. I enjoyed the conference, and the meeting with many Saints of that community, whom I had not seen for four years. Your son Harry, his wife and her mother, were among the number. I know you would like to see those two sweet, pretty little children who call you "grandma." Speaking of Harry makes me think of your "rock." I will endeavor to carry out your instructions concerning it.

We would liked to have made a longer visit among the Saints of San Jose: but were expecting the arrival of our native brother, Metuaore, from the Society Islands in a few days after the close of conference, so hastened on to Oakland to visit a day or two with Srs. Blair, Cockerton, Morrison, and others, before going to San Francisco to await the arrival of the steamer and Metuaore. We intended to have gone to Sacramento to attend the conference there, but the steamer was four days late, during which time we waited and watched at San Francisco while the conference progressed at Sacramento, and we lost our opportunity, and a good conference besides.

On the fifth morning after the steamer was due, our anxiety was nearing its highest point, being intensified by a telegram from Independence saving my mother was sick and desired me to come as soon as possible. Our good Sister Anthony rushed into my room almost breathless, and through indications rather than words made known that they were here. I ran down stairs and there in the hall stood Joseph and Metuaore. Do you think I was not glad to see again that dark, good-natured face? Indeed I was! and grasped his hand with a genuine friendly shake. But he was not in all ways the Metuaore of the islands, who used to step so noiselessly. I had never before seen him with shoes on his feet, and these he had now were rather heavy and made his step more slow and uncertain. But he had little time to think of that, so engaged was his attention with the new and strange sights of that great city. He was afraid the children he saw on the streets would get lost, said there were so many ways to go, and so many people going every way he did not see how it was possible for children to know which way to go. There were mysterious cable cars going at such a rate without anything to push or pull them. Then the broad ferryboat with its crowd of passengers, and being landed upstairs instead of on the ground, the lively march down the stairs, the pell-mell rush for the different trains of cars, some of whose great bells were ringing while the iron horse puffed and belched with impatience to be off. What did it all mean, was it a holiday? And where were all the people going? But what a relief it was personally to sink down on those soft seats with comfortably high backs and just rest after a day of tramping about San Francisco on those hard pavements!

The journey was fraught with ever-changing scenery and new interest to our foreign brother. The broad, green fields, the neatly trimmed orchards with clean earth beneath them, the towns, villages, and hamlets that would rush into view with neat surroundings and pretty flower gardens; and again the broad stretches of newly-plowed ground and well-to-do farmers' houses, with comfortable barns, and herds of stock, and such lots of poultry, was to him life on a gigantic scale, he having never before been on a piece of land large enough to be out of sight of the ocean. We arrived in Los Angeles in time to take Sunday morning breakfast with daughter Dora and family. Went to Sunday school and meeting. Metuaore preached. and Mr. Burton translated. I scarcely need to say that we enjoyed meeting with the Saints very much, and with Dora and family; but it was all too short. At two o'clock p. m. we were off again, but only as far as San Bernardino. Our train was late and we were kept in the waiting room at Colton one whole precious hour that we might have spent with Daughter Addie, because the motor had gone just as we pulled into the station. This last ride was more enchanting to Metuaore than the day before. The many acres of beautifully kept orange orchards, both near and far, with the trees and also the ground beneath the trees fairly yellow with the ripe fruit, astonished him, although he had seen orange trees before. But what riveted his gaze all the way was the long ranges of mountains, and in some places capped with snow. He was anxious to see just what the snow was like.

(Continued.)

PRAYER UNION.

SPECIAL REQUESTS FOR PRAYER.

Mrs. E. A. McDowdall, of Elvaston, Illinois, writes: "I ask an interest in the prayers of the sisters of the Prayer Union that I may be healed and made able to perform my household duties if it is God's will; also that he may give me patience to overcome the trials I am surrounded with."

Sr. Belle Wisdom, writing from Newell, Iowa, says: "I humbly request prayers in my behalf, that my health may be restored."

Conference Minutes.

FLORIDA.

Conference met with Calhoun branch, May 4, 1901; W. J. Booker presiding, S. D. Allen secretary. Branch reports: Calhoun 69, 4, 1901; W. J. Booker presiding, S. D. Allens secretary. Branch reports: Calhoun 69, gain 4; Open Head 20, I died. Elders reporting: W. J. Booker and S. D. Allen; priests, J. P. Calhoun and C. Dixon. Bishop's agent reported: On hand last report, $32.51; received since, $32; paid out, $60; on hand, $4.51. Audited by committee. W. J. Booker $4.51. Audited by communes. www. was reelected district president and S. D. Allen vice president and secretary. The following resolution was debated at length and carried: In consideration of the fact that both the elder's court and the accused in the case of Bro. Van S. Jernigan were in error, resolved, That Bro. Van S. Jernigan be restored to full fellowship in the church upon his confession and pleadings for for-giveness. Preaching by S. D. Allen, W. J. Booker, and Van S. Jernigan. Adjourned to meet at Coldwater, September 28, 1901.

Miscellaneous Department.

CHURCH FINANCES.

Among the necessary things to success in our work is a proper financial standing. We must keep the tithe and offering fund fully up to the line of progress in other departments or we cannot hope for an ultimate triumph in anything. This means that every member must proceed at once to cast in his "mite," or "of his abundance as the Lord has blessed him," and thus have a mited offert in the church to a state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the state of the st united effort in the church temporal interests.

The extension of gospel preaching, the gathering in of larger numbers of people, the "building up and establishing" of the church of Christ, all make new demands upon the body requiring renewed efforts and energies on the part of the membership in order to meet the emergencies incident to the new condition of things.

It will hardly be necessary to stop to argue the matter as to whether a largely increased ministerial force means a greater demand upon the tithe and offering fund, that an increased membership calls for extended lines of organization and special preparation of the youth and middle-aged of the church for earrying on the work; and that the growth carrying on the work; and that the growth and planting of the work calls for additional "helps and governments" for its protection. The larger the growth of the body, the greater the necessity for activity on the part of every member to avoid disease, decay, and death. It can hardly be expected, then, that the time will ever arrive in the work of God that place and favor will be found for the indolent or slothful. Name and place in the church of Christ means activity, duty, watchfulness, and earnestness, that we become not dead branches.

The Lord has promised us plenty and to spare, together with peace and comfort in him, if we are thus alive to our respective duties in his cause. His promises will never fail if we will allow the contract the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of t fail if we will rely upon them and move forward. Then let us "work while the day lasts."

Have we made diligent settlement in our tithe and offering account? If not, let us begin and look out the Bishop or Bishop's agent in our respective districts and adjust them at once.

Second. The duty we owe to the educational branch of our work should be discharged in a diligent way. Last year we asked for one thousand names at $25 each to cancel the college indebtedness and put our educational work in proper shape. While we have the number of names possibly, or more, yet we have not the number for the $25 each, but lack at least one half the amount. Special subscription lists are being sent out to complete this work. Your earliest attention is called to this. I am anxious that the full lists should be completed by the first of July next, so that I may have no trouble or anxiety over this part of the work after my departure over this part of the work after my departure to the British Isles. It is hoped, then, that every member will send in his or her subscription either directly to this office or to the Bishop or agent in the district, stating the amount they will give during the present year for the canceling of the college debt.

Let us have your name and the amount first. Then you can send in the proper when first. Then you can send in the money when you are ready to do so later. The sooner the money is sent, the sooner the debt will be paid and all interest stopped, hence the payment part should also be attended to as soon as practicable.

It is with full confidence in the work of the truth and in all Saints that this hasty appeal is sent out in the hope of an early response from each and all.

Ever confident in the triumph of the Lord's E. L. KELLEY,

Presiding Bishop.

LAMONI, Iowa, May 13, 1901.

CHURCH HISTORIAN'S NOTICE.

In pursuance of authority given me by the last General Conference, I have appointed Bro. D. F. Lambert as assistant historian, subject to the ratification of the next General Conference.

I have also made the following appointments of local historians subject to the ratification of their several local conferences, and in conformity with authority granted by the late General Conference. It is arranged that these appointments take effect at once, that the important work which they are expected to do be not hindered by the delay which would occur in waiting for the assembling of quarterly conferences, many of which do not assemble until next fall.

F. E. Cochran, Lamoni, Iowa; for Lamoni

Charles P. Faul, Clarksdale, Missouri; for Far West district.
Charles Fry, Tabor, Iowa; for Fremont dis-

M. R. Shoemaker, Beardstown, Illinois; for Central Illinois district.

E. T. Atwell, Cumorah, Missouri; for Southern Missouri district.

Nellie Rudd, Dow City, Iowa; for Galland's Grove district.

Louise Palfrey, Macon, Missouri; for Northeastern Missouri district. A. J. Keck, Plano, Illinois; for Northeastern Illinois district. H. S. Salisbury, Burnside, Illinois; for Nauvoo district.

E. S. Fannon, Bedison, Missouri; for Nodaway district. H. A. McCoy, Perry, Iowa; for Des Moines

district.

A. M. Chase, Lamoni, Iowa; for Oregon and Washington. J. B. Roush, Denver, Colorado; New Mexico and Eastern Wyoming. S. D. Allen, Milton, Florida; for Florida

Robert Warnock, Atchison, Kansas; for Northeastern Kansas district. M. H. Forscutt, Nebraska City, Nebraska; for Nebraska. D. W. Wight, Lamoni, Iowa; for Utah,

Idaho, and Western Wyoming.
J. F. Burton, San Benito, California; Society Islands mission.

Officers of the various local conferences within the territory named in these appointments, will please take notice and see that these appointments are properly presented for ratification at the next session of these conferences, and that the result is promptly reported to this office. In case an appoint-ment covers the territory of more than one conference the ratification of all the conferences within the territory named is necessary. In case any of the above appointments are not ratified as above provided for, said appointment will cease to be in force and another nomination will be made.

Other appointments are under considera-tion and will be announced in due time.

Respectfully submitted, HEMAN C. SMITH, Historian.

RAILWAY CLERGY PERMITS.

In answer to queries from some not acquainted with action connected with issue of clergy credentials, notice is hereby given that promptly at the close of each General Conference all General Conference appointees to missionary labor are indorsed to the Western, Southwestern, Trans-Continental, and Central Passenger Associations—all of the associations that issue clergy permits; also that said associations are furnished with lists of names, addresses, and territory of all missionaries in charge. Ministers making application will therefore find their applications duly covered by indorsement of the Church Secretary.

All besides General Conference appointees who make application should apply to their missionaries in charge for indorsement, in harmony with established rule.

R. S. SALYARDS. Church Secretary.

LAMONI, Iowa, May 10, 1901.

STAKE CONFERENCE.

The first conference of the Lamoni Stake will be held at Cleveland, Iowa, June I and 2, convening ten a. m., Saturday, the 1st. Branch reports should be forwarded to the secretary of the stake, Bro. B. M. Anderson, Lamoni, Iowa, so as to reach him not later than May 30. Ministerial reports should be written and forwarded to the secretary. Let presidents of branches also report, either in writing or, better still, in person, the spiritual condition of their branches. Saints, let us turn out and make this first conference of the stake a splendid success. Study to be spiritually minded, and all bringing the Spirit, insure a grand, spiritual time. The peace of God be with all his Saints.

In bonds, JOHN SMITH, President. J. A. GUNSOLLEY, Counselors. D. W. WIGHT,

PASTORAL.

To the Saints and Friends in St. Louis District, Greeting:—Having been appointed by I. N. White in charge of St. Louis district (except St. Louis and suburbs), with Alfred White, C. J. Spurlock, and Harry Thomas to assist, we hope that all will labor diligently, and with the cooperation of the Saints, we hope to accomplish a good work this conference year. Any Saint or friend, who can secure places to preach, or send us the name and address of Saints (or friends interested in the gospel) in this district, comprising the following counties: Lincoln, Montgomery, Warren, St. Louis, Franklin, Gasconade, Osage, Maries, Crawford, Washingon, St. Francois, St. Genevieve, Perry, St. Charles, and Jefferson in Missouri, Macoupin, Greene, Calhoun, Jersey, Madison, Bond, Clinton, St. Clair, Monroe, Washington, Randolph, Perry, Jackson, Union, and Alexander, in Illinois, please write me about it at once, and we will respond as soon as possible.

My mission address is 2730 Rutger street,

St. Louis, Missouri.

Praying that success may result from our labors, and that the peace of God may abide with us all. I remain.

Your colaborer in hope of a glorious vic-ARTHUR ALLEN.

To All Whom it May Concern:-This is to certify that I have appointed Bro. John D. White, one of the counselors of the president of the standing high council of the Independence Stake, missionary in charge of the missionary work in the Independence Stake. All the General Conference appointees of this stake will please report to him. All the lo-cal force who desire to do missionary work will also please apply to Bro. White, who will give them work and direct their labors.

I. N. WHITE,
Missionary in General Charge.
Independence, May 8, 1901.

To the Saints of Galland's Grove District:-As the task has fallen on me to take charge of the missionary work in this district, I make this request, that all will do all in their power for the advancement of the gospel of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Do not wait to be commanded in all things, but enter in and labor where wisdom may direct and justice demand, as far as possible. Let us, so far as we can, make new openings, leaving the branches and all local work to the district and branch officers.

This is a very large district, comprising, I think, twenty-one counties, with only five missionaries as conference appointees. see there is plenty of room for all the labor that it will be possible for us all to do. If anything of especial nature should arise and you should want to consult the submissionary, do so. Otherwise, labor as the Spirit I read that God in Bible times, may direct. and some this side of that time, directed his servants into the localities where he wanted them to labor. I believe he will do so yet if Just let me hear from you we trust him. once in awhile as to where you are and what you are doing, so if urgent demands are made we can be in a better condition to meet them.

If any of the Saints or friends want missionary work done in their locality, let me hear from you, and so far as possible we will grant your request. I also take this opportunity of expressing my thankfulness to the Saints and friends of the Little Sioux district for their many acts of kindness shown me during the past year. I can assure you that I do not leave you without a feeling of sadness, but in the firm hope that we all may live so that we may be able to meet where parting and sorrow will never come. May God so bless you all, is my prayer.

My permanent address will be Dow City, In the one covenant, Tows. J. M. BAKER.

Dow CITY, Iowa, May 9.

To all Interested in the Missionary Work in the Fremont District, Iowa, Especially my Colaborers:-Having been charged with the responsibility of the missionary work in your district by appointment of general missionary in charge, I have no other desire than to occupy effectually, and assist you so far as "of the ability that God giveth" to minister successfully in occupying where effectual openings have been made, and to enter in and occupy as many new places as is practical.

By reason of previous arrangements and responsibilities I will not enter upon active duties in the mission until at the district conference, where I hope to meet my colaborers, and make arrangements for immediate work. Previous to this, let each occupy as he may find opportunity. Any special information desired may be sought for by addressing me at my permanent address, Box A, Magnolia, Iowa.

Please inform me of any immediate labor desired.

May the grace of God and the peace of the Spirit be with us in all our labor, and such enduement be given to those who minister in word that we may minister with cheerfulness and with an eye single to God's glory We should forget not every department of the work intrusted to our care, the Sunday school, the Religio, the literary department of the church, etc., etc.

etc., euc. Your brother, J. F. MINTUN.

To the Ministry and Saints of Little Sioux District:-Having been placed in charge of the mission work in your district, I take this method to inform you that my permanent address is R. F. D. No. 2, Council Bluffs, Iowa. Circumstances forbid me entering the field at once, but I shall be pleased to hear from any of the Saints, especially from my colaborers, that I may learn as soon as possible of the needs and condition of the work. I trust we may put forth a united effort, and that by the blessings of God, work may be done that shall result to his glory and the further upbuilding of his cause.

H. N. HANSEN.

May 10, 1901.

REUNION NOTICES.

Reunion of Northern Minnesota district ill begin Thursday, June 20, 1901, at litherall, Minnesota. Everybody is invited will begin Thursday, June 20, 1901, at Clitherall, Minnesota. Everybody is invited to attend and make this meeting a success. Bro. G. H. Hilliard of the Bishopric will be there, and we hope to have J. W. Wight of the Twelve and missionary in charge present. This meeting is to continue over two Sundays. All those wishing board will please notify Bro. W. W. Gould, Battle Lake, Minnesota. This is important. Please see to it at once. The quarterly conference will be held at the same time, beginning on Saturday at ten a. m. Branches, please have your reports on hand. In bonds, I. N. ROBERTS.

LAMONI, Iowa, May 8, 1991.

The date for the annual reunion of western Iowa, which is to be held at Dow City, has been fixed to begin September 20 and continue ten days. Further notices will be given A. H. RUDD, Sec. in due time. Dow CITY, Iowa.

ADDRESS TO SAINTS OF LAMONI STAKE.

Editors Herald:-The following address to Saints of the Lamoni Stake was prepared and adopted by the joint action of the high council and bishopric of said stake. It was also ordered by the joint council that copies of the same be sent to SAINTS' HERALD and Zion's Ensign with request that they give it space in their publications.

RICHARD J. LAMBERT. Secretary Stake High Council.

To the Saints of the Lamoni Stake, Greeting:-The Lamoni Stake having been organized in conformity with the late revelation, and a presidency, high council, and bishopric having been chosen, we deem it due the Saints to acquaint them with our understanding of present needs and duties.

Believing that questions of grave import to the church will naturally result from such an organization, we feel that there should not be undue haste in forming definite lines

The work before us is evidently a preparatory one and in its inception, and we believe the Saints should make an earnest effort to reach a higher plane of individual righteousness. As the Saints continue to rise in spirituality the law can and will be more effectually placed in operation. In our opinion, the first and most important need is a special effort to bring about this condition; and we feel prompted under existing conditions to labor to that end, to the fullest extent of our ability.

With respect to the question of consecration, we shall hold ourselves subject to developments and the leadings of the Spirit, feeling assured that the Lord will direct aright.

We disapprove of any attempt upon the part of anyone to take advantage of a possible ingathering within the limits of the stake, by speculation on the prices of real estate.

We believe that in cases of difficulty arising in branches, the advice and counsel of the stake presidency should be sought before resort to elders' courts is had.

Any person wishing advice or counsel should feel free to consult the stake officers, either personally or by correspondence. Questions appertaining to temporal affairs should be referred to the stake bishopric; those relative to spiritual matters and points

As soon as practicable, the stake presidency will give such personal assistance to the several branches as may be possible under prevailing circumstances. We caution the Saints against undue zeal, hasty conclusions, We caution the unjust and unnecessary criticism, and advise patience, forbearance, prayerfulness, and a more diligent study of the latter-day revelations, that a better knowledge of the Lord's will may prevail.

We feel encouraged and confident in the assurance that God's work is moving forward; and if diligent and faithful, sufficient light will be given us to meet every emergency. To this end let us unitedly and prayerfully work. In bonds of peace,

JOHN SMITH. President Stake. RICHARD J. LAMBERT. Secretary Stake High Council. WM. ANDERSON, Bishop of Stake.

CORRECTION.

In death notice of HERALD for May 8, page 378, concerning my mother it should read, Marland instead of Mailand. I am thus particular in regard to name, place, house, and building because of the hope that I might learn of some of my kindred, who have been lost trace of for nearly fifty years. Possibly some of the Saints of Manchester might know or learn of something concerning them, which information would be thankfully received. EDV 3333 Boyd St, OMAHA, Nebraska. EDWARD RANNIE.

WANTED.

A practical book binder; a brother preferred. Apply to JOHN SMITH, Manager.

CONVENTION NOTICES.

Northern Nebraska will meet at Valley, with the Platte Valley branch, on June 1, at 2:30 p.m. It is urgently requested that each school will send in a report, and be represented by one or more delegates.

ALICE C. SCHWARTZ, Supt.
ALICE R. WATKINS, Sec.

Southern Nebraska district will convene May 24 at ten a. m., at Nebraska City. Send full reports. All are invited. Bring the Spirit. W. M. SELF.

Northeastern Missouri will convene at Higbee, Friday, June 7, at 9:30 a.m. Superintendents, please see that your schools are represented and that reports are in hands of secretary one week before convention, also your individual report. Let all come prepared to enjoy a profitable time.

MARY RUDKIN, Supt. NYDIA THOMAS, Sec.

Nauvoo will convene at Burlington, Iowa, Nauvoo will convene at Burlington, lowa, the last day of May, at 10:30 a.m. Please send all reports to Miss Marjorie Wright, 1001 Maple street, Burlington, Iowa, and have all blanks filled out if possible.

GEORGE P. LAMBERT, Supt.

MARJORIE WRIGHT, Sec.

CONFERENCE NOTICES.

Clinton district will convene at Veve chapel, near Walker, Missouri, Saturday, June 1. Prayer service at nine o'clock, business session beginning at ten a. m. Election of officers. T. R. White, Pres. VINA H. GOFF, Clerk.

The Saints' Herald.

(Established 1860)

Published Every Wednesday, at Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Subscription price, $1.50 per year.
Address communications for publication to "Editors Herald."

"Editors Herald."
Marriage, birth, and death notices: Marriages.
$1.00 per 100 words or fraction thereof. Births,
50 cents per 75 words or fraction thereof. Deaths.
100 words free, above that number 50 cents per 100 words or fraction thereof. To insure prompt insertion, make remittance with notice.

For advantising rates apply to business mana-

For advertising rates apply to business mana-

All errors in the filling of orders or rendering of accounts should be reported immediately, as receipts for all money received are sent within two cepts for all money received are sent within two days after reaching the office.

Send all business letters and make all remittances payable to Herald Publishing House, Lock Box E, Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Entered at post office, Lamoni, Iowa, as second-class mail matter.

Subscriptions received for Zion's Ensign, also orders for all kinds of Ensign Publications.

Nodaway, Missouri, district will convene with the Bedison branch on Saturday, June 1, at ten a. m. Don't fail to send complete reports from all branches. Sunday school convention meets on May 30 at 7: 30 p. m.

E. S. FANNON, Pres.

T. A. IVIE, Supt.

Pottawattamie will meet with Boomer branch, at ten a. m., Saturday, May 25. All reports, petitions, etc., to come before the conference for consideration should be sent to the undersigned at 102 Broadway, Council Bluffs, before May 20.

J. CHAS. JENSEN, Sec.

Des Moines district will convene at Boonesboro, Iowa, Saturday, June 1, at ten a. m. Send all reports to H. A. McCoy, Boonesboro, Iowa, in care of F. A. Brown. Business of importance will come before the conference, so let each branch be represented.
H. A. McCoy, Sec.

Central Illinois will convene at Beardstown, June 1, 2. All isolated Saints are requested to be present or represent their part of the district by letter, where it is inconven-ient to attend in person. The district being new, we are desirous of locating all the Saints with a view to reviving the interest in old places, as well as opening up new fields. A cordial invitation is extended.

M. R. SHOEMAKER.

Southern Michigan and Northern Indiana will convene in the Saints' chapel at Clear Lake, Indiana, June 15, at ten a. m. Let all reports be in early. All come with the Spirit of the Master. Missionary in charge, Bro. J. H. Lake, will be with us if the Lord wills, also the missionaries of the district.

GEORGE A. SMITH, Pres. FRANCIS GRANGER, Sec.

NOTICES.

To All Whom it May Concern:—This is to certify that on May 5, 1901, Elia Standefer was for cause excommunicated from the Re-organized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints by the Philadelphia branch of the Texas Central district.

W. R. STANDEFER, Pres. B. F. SPICER, Jr., Clerk.

MARRIED.

GOULDSMITH-NELSON - At the home of the parents of the bride, 712 Second avenue, Nebraska City, Nebraska, on May 1, 1900, the active and faithful priest, and the talented organist of the Nebraska City branch. Thus, by the strictly worded and closely binding ceremony of the Saints'

Church, and in the presence twenty-five invited guests, did Elder Mark H. Forscutt legalize by the uniting of their hands the complete union of Bro. Claude L. Gouldsmith and Sr. Emma E. Nelson, whose loving hearts had previously made them one by love's sweet bands which nature had woven around them. The groom is one of the proprietors of the Nebraska City laundry, and the bride, a sister of our honored mayor, is a sweet musician; and better still, both are earnest workers for God in the Sunday school, the Religio, and the church departments of his cause. They start in life under promising conditions, and deserve the good will of the many who bid them a hearty "God-speed."

GATROST.—Clara L. Gatrost was born July 3, 1888, near Council Bluffs, Iowa; baptized into the Reorganized Church, September 18, 1898, at Woodbine, Iowa, by Eider W. A. Smith. She fell asleep in Christ February 9, 1901, at her home near Persia, Iowa. A loving father, mother, three brothers, and three sisters mourn. She was a gentle-spir-ited child and was loved by all who knew She is at rest in the paradise of God to await the first resurrection. Funeral sermon by Elder W. A. Smith, assisted by Elder W. D. Bullard.

SWEET - Mary Chenett was born Decem-SWEET — Mary Chenett was born December 30, 1822, in Switzerland; came to America about 1860; baptized into the Reorganized Church in September, 1863, by Elder E C. Briggs; married to George Sweet, September 25, 1862; fell asleep in Christ May 6, 1901. One son mourns her departure. She was a faithful Saint; had no enemies, but many warm friends. Funeral sermon by Elder W. A. Smith, assisted by Elder W. D. Bullard.

LEACH.—Miss Mary Pratt was born at Clyde, Ohio, October 9, 1820, and died at the home of her daughter, Sr. O T. Greer, Marquette, Nebraska, May 1, 1901. She was married to Bro. Zenas B. Leach, December, 1838. She became a member of the old church during the forties; baptized into the Recognization in 1866 and has been a con-Reorganization in 1866, and has been a consistent Christian ever since. Funeral services were conducted at the M. E. church at Elk City by Elder C. E. Butterworth, May 5; interment in the cemetery near by. Eight children mourn the loss of a good mother.

OGLEVIE—At Fontanelle, Iowa, Iris Marine, infant daughter of Bro. David and Sr.

Della Chaffee Oglevie, was born February 18, 1901, died March 8. The little flower budded on earth only to bloom in heaven. The funeral was held in the Advent church, on funeral was held in the Advent church, on Sunday, March 10, conducted by Elder Senterlow Butler.

POST.—At Davis City, Iowa, May 5, 1901, Sr. Deborah Post, aged 74 years, 1 month, 5 days. Born in Wayne county, New York. Removed to Illinois in 1838. At sixteen years, baptized by Elder Simeon Carter. In 1846 went to Voree, having accepted J. J. Strang's leadership. Thence to Beaver Island. In 1850 married Warren Post, one of the Twelve in that organization. In 1889 she united with the Reorganized Church. She leaves nine sons and daughters, eight She leaves nine sons and daughters, eight being in the church. Sermon by Bro. H. A. Stebbins, assisted by Bro. James McDiffit. She was a worthy woman.

She was a worthy woman.

JONES.—At Lamoni, Iowa, May 7, 1901,
Sr. Susan E M. Jones, daughter of Bro. and Sr. W. N. Abbott, aged 40 years, 1 month, 17 days. March 12, 1880, she married Mr.
Franklin Jones, and a son and a daughter were born, James now twenty, May sixteen.
She was baptized October 9, 1882, by Bro. M.
T. Short. She was a kind daughter, wife, mother and neighbor doing duty cheerfully mother, and neighbor, doing duty cheerfully and willingly, although she had much sorrow during her life. Her last illness was one of suffering. Sermon by Bro. H. A. Stebbins, assisted by Bro. H. R. Harder.

ECHTERNACHT.-At Shelton, Nebraska,

May 3, 1901, at the home of Bro. Frank and Sr. Hattie Echternacht, after a lingering illness, their brother, Mr. Frederick Echternacht. Deceased had recently returned from the Philippines, where he had gone at the call of his country. He served as a soldier nearly two years. Death came to his relief at the exact age of 25 years. Funeral service at the M. E. church, May 5, by Elder C. H. Porter, assisted by Rev. Blair. May 3, 1901, at the home of Bro. Frank and

FAITH.

The clouds hang heavy around my way; I cannot see,
But through the darkness I believe
God leadeth me. 'Tis sweet to keep my hand in his While all is dim, To close my weary, aching eyes
And follow him. Through many a thorny path he leads My tired feet; Through many a vale of tears I go; But it is sweet To know that he is close to me, My God, my Guide! He leadeth me, and so I walk Quite satisfied. To my blind eyes he may reveal No light at all. But while I lean on his strong arm I cannot fall -Record of Christian Work.

ADDRESSES.

John B. Roush, 2942 California St., Denver, Colorado.

George A. Smith, Fremont, Indiana, submissionary in charge of Indiana.

HISTORY OF THE CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LAT-TER DAY SAINTS. By President Joseph Smith and Apostle Heman C. Smith. In three volumes.

VOLUME 1.

119. Cloth          120. Leather back and corners          121. Leather          122. Gilt edges	. 2	00 50
Volume 2.
186. Cloth	. 2	00 50
190. Cloth	1	KΛ
191. Leather back and corners		00
192. Leather		50
193. Gilt edges	. 3	00

HE	HOLY SCRIPTURES	ln-
	spired translation, by J	oseph
	Smith.	-
78.	Cloth	$1 00

79. Sheep, library binding	1	25
80. Imitation morocco, gilt edges	1	75
81. Morocco, gilt edges
82. Flexible binding, gilt edges	3	75

TESTAMENTS. Inspired Translation. Large type edition.

84. 85.	Cloth, leather backs and cor-	65
	ners 1	. 00
86.	Seal grain russia 1	. 20
87.	Seal grain russia, gilt edges 1	. 50

WM. ANDERSON, Pres. MRS. DAVID DANCER. Vice Pres. W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier. OSCAR ANDERSON, Ass't Cashier.

STATE SAVINGS BANK OF LAMONI.

Incorporated under the laws of the State of Iowa, July 1, 1898. Total assets January 1, 1900, $133,032.34; April 1, 1900, $162,781.07.

We pay interest on time deposits, and especially solicit the correspondence and deposits of all Herald readers. All etters of inquiry will be promptly and carefully answered. Direct all letters to .W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier, State Savings Bank of Lamoni, Iowa.

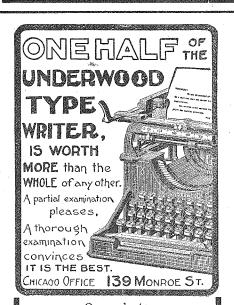

STOCKHOLDERS:-Mrs. David Dancer, Geo. H. Hilliard, A. K. Anderson, Lucy L. Resseguie. Anderson, Wm. Anderson, Frank Criley, Alice P. Dancer, Ella D. Whitehead, G. W. Blair, W. A. Hopkins.

UWANTO STOP

Using tobacco. Quit-to-bac makes it easy to do so. Three boxes postpaid, only $1.50 with positive guarantee to cure or the $1.50 cheerfully refunded! It cures others, why not you.

Address, (Bro.) B. F. ORDWAY, Peoria, Ill.

(U. S. Postage stamps taken.)

Or apply to
The Underwood Agency,
LAMONI, JOWA.

SAINTS' HYMNAL. Words only.

115.	Paper	15
	Per dozen 1	60
116.	Cloth, limp	25
	Per dozen 2	70
117.	Cloth	35
	Per dozen	75
118.	Flexible, gilt edges	50
	, , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , ,
OSERVANDOMICIONA		NORTH STREET, STREET, STREET, STREET, STREET, STREET, STREET, STREET, STREET, STREET, STREET, STREET, STREET,
a Och	EL QUARTERLIES.
GOSE
	Published by the General
	Sunday School Association.
	Designed for use in Sabbath school work. Issued quarterly

73. Senior Grade, per quarter	08
Per year, in advance	25
74. Intermediate Grade, per quarter	05
Per year	15
75. Primary Grade, per quarter	05
Per year	15
TWEDWELL ALEVALUATION

INTERMEDIATE QUESTION BOOK.

76. Limp, 25c. each, per dozen... 2 50 PRIMARY QUESTION BOOK.

77. Limp, 15c. each, per dozen... 1 50
The office will procure for its patrons any book that is obtainable.

	PRE H. ( toria	SID D. $ n.	ENCY Smith,	I IN CHU I. By Church	Elder His-	34
	NOT			CATALO	GUE.

TRACTS.
33. Trial of the Witnesses to the Resurrection of Jesus.

Each 5 cents; per doz. 50 cents.
47. The Basis of Brighamite Polygamy.

Per doz. 10 cents; per 100, 60 cents.

GENERAL CONFERENCE RES-OLUTIONS, 1852 to 1900.

 197. Paper
 3

 198. Cloth, limp
 5

GRACELÀND.... COLLEGE,

LAMONI. IOWA.

Telephone 71.

For catalogue or further information, address,

PROF. R. A. HARKNESS, President, or I. W. ALLENDER, Secretary,
LAMONI, DECATUR CO.. IOWA

OBJEC	CTIONS	ТО	THE	BOO	KOF
	MORM	ON A	$^{\prime}$ ND	DOCT:	RINE
	AND	COV	TENA	INTS,	AN-
	SWER	${ m ED}$ A	dND	REFU	TED.
	By Eld
142.	Paper .

143. Cloth ....

COMMERCIAL BANK

LAMONI, - IOWA,
Solicits your Deposits and pays

5 % INTEREST.
D. F. NICHOLSON, Cashier.

THE INSTRUCTOR. A compendium of the faith and doctrines of the church by Elder

DR. E. S. SWEET, DENTIST.

Decoe Building,

WOODBINE, - - IOWA.

PARLOR BARBER SHOP.

L. DICKEY, Proprietor.

A new, clean shop.

Always courteous treatment and best of work.

Burlington Route passenger service between stations on Grant City branch and Chicago, both directions, is better than ever in the history of the road. Leaving Lamoni at 8:05

p. m., arriving Chicago 7:20 a. m. following morning. Leaving Chicago at 5:50 p. m., arriving Lamoni 6:25 a. m. following morning.

WHY NOT A TRIP TO COLORADO NEXT SUMMER?

The price for a round-trip ticket on certain days will be less than half fare. Call and see me about it?

We are doing everything possible this year, by making unusually low ticket rates and running unusually fast and comfortable trains, to make it convenient and not too expensive for people of moderate means to spend their vacation in the Colorado mountains. There is no country in the world like Colorado for invalids and others in search of rest and pleasure. The pure, dry climate has the most astonishing permanent effect on the health and spirits of visitors, and especially is this so in the case of those from that part of the country near to the level of the sea. Ask for our handbook of Colorado. All about the resorts, hotels and boarding houses, with prices; also a fine topographical map.

L F. SILTZ,
Agent C. B. & Q. R. R.

KEOKUK & WESTERN R. R. CO.

North—Leave Leon 2:40 p. m., arrive at Des Moines 6:05 p. m. South—Leave Des Moines 8:25 a. m., arrive at Leon 11: 45 a. m.

Trains daily except Sunday; connect with C.

B. & Q. at Leon.

SAINTS'

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE REORGANIZED CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER DAY SAINTS.

"If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."—John 8:31, 32.

"Hearken to the word of the Lords for there shall not any man among you have save it be one wifes and concubines he shall have none." -B. of M., page 116.

VOL. 48.

LAMONI, IOWA, MAY 22, 1901.

The Saints' Herald.

JOSEPH SMITH EDITOR FRED'K MADISON SMITH ASSISTANT EDITOR. JOSEPH LUFF D. W. WIGHT CORRESPONDING EDITORS.

LAMONI, IOWA, MAY 22, 1901.

OUR NEIGHBORS-THE CHRISTIANS.

The Christians, or Disciples, who in many places are just now quite aroused against "Mormonism" and the "Mormons," are as a result using any means at their command to defend their own views, organization, and policies, and to meet and overthrow those of the church.

The animus of their work may be gathered from the following from the columns of the Christian Standard for April 9, 1898:

My next tract on Mormonism is ready for the printers. It is entitled: "Smithianity; or Mormonism Refuted by Mormons, or Seer vs. Seer." B. B. Tyler will write the introvs. Seer." B. B. Tyler will write the introduction to it. A critical lawyer friend, to whom I submit my copy to test my logic and argument, said: "The first tract on Joseph Smith, Jr., as a prophet, is, compared with this, as a pop-gun compared with a twelveinch Columbian for effectiveness."

What I need, want, and must have, is money to push this tract work. Bro. Tyler and Bro. Darsie each sent me two dollars, H. D. Clark, of Mt. Sterling sent me one dollar yesterday to "aid in putting the anti-Mormon tracts where they would do much good." Bear in mind a mountain preacher with a family to support on a salary of less than $250 per year. Even if he can scrape along with "greens and branch water" and the garden truck the brethren send in, he can't exchange that with the printer for labor, or with Uncle Sam for postage stamps. Help me and help me right now, for the sake of the cause I plead, and the work I am trying to do.

I think you will not only find a "situation worth studying" in the center of this great mountain mission field, but a work worth aid-R B. NEAL.

Another is from the same paper for February 12, 1898:

THE MORMONS AND THE BIBLE.

I was pleased with R. B. Neal's exposition of one of the false prophecies of "Joseph Smith, Jr.," as he always styled himself. I have observed that the successful way to meet a religious fraud is to "nip it in the bud." After a man has accepted a false doctrine his love of consistency prompts him to stand by it.

Just at this time a little light on some of the Mormon deceptions is very appropriate. I met a preacher the other day who said: "O, the Mormons are all right on First Principles. They teach faith, repentance, and baptism, just as we do." I replied, you are mistaken. They do not agree with us on anything. For instance, from a Mormon's standpoint, you, my brother, have not faith as a grain of mustard seed. Your faith in God and in Christ is valueless, unless you be-lieve in Joe Smith and accept the Book of Mormon, with all its absurdities, as the newest and last "covenant" from God. Indeed it is expressly taught in the Book of Doctrines and Covenants, which is accepted as inspired and authoritative by all Mormons, that from and after September 23, 1832, all who do not believe the word of Joseph Smith, Jr., and the six elders who were with him at that date, "shall be damned." In said revelation the Book of Mormon is declared to be "the new covenant." So it is settled and sealed new covenant." So it is settled and sealed by the highest Mormon authority that since September 23, 1832, all are damned who do not accept Joseph's words and the Book of Mormon as the new covenant!

In connection with this, I would like to In connection with this, I would like to point out another fraud. It is customary for Mormon elders to quote the Old and New Testaments. And the people often say, "Why, these fellows believe the Bible just the same as we do." And these elders say, "Certainly, we accept the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments as divine when properly translated." This is an innocent phrase, but behind it there is a big chapter of fraud and deception.

When the Book of Mormon appeared, it was criticised by Alexander Campbell and others, and among other things its fraudulent character was pointed out because it affirmed the practice of New Testament ordinances in Old Testament times. To remedy this fatal blunder Joe received another revelation to the effect that the originals in the Greek and Hebrew tongues had been corrupted, and that portions of them had been lost. And that he, Joseph Smith, Jr., was empowered to reproduce such portions of the Bible that did not exist in any language!

Carrying out this Munchausen assumption, he rewrote the Bible with extensive interpolations on subjects not even mentioned in Scripture, in order to harmonize the Bible the Book of Mormon. In the fifth chapter of Genesis there is a tirade against Masonry by which the chapter is lengthened out from thirty-two to forty-five verses! Then in the sixth chapter of Genesis there is a long account of Adam's conversion and baptism, in which the Holy Ghost is the administrator, taking Adam out into the river and baptizing him! This addition to the sixth chapter of Genesis expands it from twenty-two to seventy-one verses. The additions to the seventy-one verses. The additions to the seventh chapter of Genesis expand it from twenty-four to eighty-four verses. These hypocrites call this "translation!"

Of course they falsify, knowingly and willfully. They know that no such Scriptures Joe Smith did not pretend that they were in existence when he wrote them. But he said they had existed. And forthwith wrote in with a conscienceless hand whatever was necessary to support his claims and pretensions. And this vile forgery, this fraudulent. lying document is what Mormon elders refer to when they say they accept the Bible "if properly translated."

W. B. F. TREAT. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.

The revelation of September 23. 1832, which Elder Treat refers to, is found in our Book of Doctrine and Covenants, pages 223 to 231 inclusive.

We have carefully read it while writing this article, and will give the only portions from which even a man like Elder W. B. F. Treat could possibly make so peculiar a statement. Paragraph 12 reads:

Verily, verily, I say unto you, they who believe not on your words, and are not baptized in water, in my name, for the remission of their sins, that they may receive the Holy Ghost, shall be damned, and shall not come into my Father's kingdom, where my Father and I am. And this revelation unto you, and commandment, is in force from this very hour upon all the world, and the gospel is unto all who have not received it.

Taken as Elder Treat mistreats the quotation it may mean to biased and prejudiced minds just what he tries to make it; but taken in its connection with other parts of the revelation it does not mean what he states it does.

That portion which calls the Book of Mormon the new covenant occurs in paragraph 8, and was directed to the church, those who were held at that time to be the children of Zion.

And this condemnation resteth upon the children of Zion, even all; and they shall remain under this condemnation until they repent and remember the new covenant, even the Book of Mormon and the former commandments which I have given them, not only to say, but to do according to that which I have written.

The Book of Mormon was not alone the new covenant, but the former commandments must be taken with it to make the new covenant. It may be that Elder Treat did not notice this; but the line is clear,

Even the Book of Mormon and the former commandments which I have given them. There is no division showing or carrying the inference that the Book of Mormon was the new covenant written of. But, the same thing has happened to Elder W. B. F. Treat that has to others when writing against the work. Prejudice has intervened and so far distorts the mental vision that the man does not see clearly. And this will continue to the end of time. None of the would-be annihilators of the work will ever see clearly of what they speak or write in regard to the work of the Seer.

In order to get the scope of these words, "the former commandments," in connection with the Book of Mormon, we present from the Doctrine and Covenants some excerpts, giving the date of their reception and their bearing on the case at the time.

Thou shalt take the things which thou hast received, which have been given unto thee in my scriptures for a law, to be my law, to govern my church; and he that doth according to these things, shall be saved, and he that doeth them not shall be damned if he continues.—D. C. sec. 42, par. 16, February, 1831.

This was a year and six months before the revelation from which Elder Treat tries to quote so mischievously. It was after they had reached Ohio, and the revelation contains instructions and commandments necessary to the government of the church.

At that time the only scriptures they had, aside from the revelations themselves, was the Bible, the Jewish Scriptures.

Did Elder Treat read this?

Again:

And again, the elders, priests, and teachers of this church shall teach the principles of my gospel which are in the Bible and the Book of Mormon, in the which is the fullness of the gospel; and they shall observe the covenants and church articles to do them, and these shall be their teachings, as they shall be directed by the Spirit; and the Spirit shall be given unto you by the prayer of faith, and if ye receive not the Spirit ye shall not teach. And all this ye shall observe to do as I have commanded concerning your teaching, until the fullness of my scriptures is given.

It would puzzle the Rev. W. B. F. Treat to give a more complete and comprehensive direction concerning the teaching of the Bible, or the principles of salvation taught in it, than this revelation contains. And, when it is reflected that it was not until 1868 that the Scriptures, the fullness of which is referred to in the quotation above, were published, it will be apparent how carelessly the Rev. Treat has struck at the revelation of September 23, 1832.

Further than this, Joseph Smith, Jr., of whom Rev. Treat says, "as he always styled himself," was the son of Joseph Smith, Sen., and had a son who was called Joseph Smith, 3d, so that the affix "Jr." or "Jun." was correct, and an essential one to designate the man and identify him. And this same Scriptures referred to in such contemptuous terms by Rev. Treat, did not make its appearance during the lifetime of the man, but in 1868, twenty-four years after its reputed translater and corrector was dead. So that any blows struck at the work cannot possibly affect what the church held and taught from 1831, 1832, 1833 and later, until 1868; for certainly the commandment to teach the Bible, given February, 1831, as quoted by us above, must hold until that Scriptures was published. And, further, one class of "Mormons" of whom Rev. Treat says that the Doctrine and Covenants is accepted as inspired and authoritative by all Mormons from and after 1832, must be exempt from the list of those compelled to accept the Holy Scriptures, or Inspired Version as called by some; for the reason that they had nothing to do with putting the work in print, are not responsible for it as they have not accepted it as a standard—this class is the Utah Mormon Church.

Neither W. B. F. Treat, nor any other preacher in the Christian Church has ever heard or known of an elder of the Mormon church to use the "Holy Scriptures," or the Inspired Version, as some call it, in his public service, or refer to it as a standard of evidence, for they do not carry that book; but do carry and use the King James Version.

But the reverend gentleman writes boldly that the book referred to by the "Mormon" elders is the version which Joseph Smith translated and corrected, which he calls a "vile forgery." How does Rev. Treat know this?

A number of men from Erasmus down to the New Testament as revised by "the Spirit" and the whole Old and New Testaments revised by the learned reverend gentlemen in England, of which company was the Rev. Dr. Schaff, have translated, revised, and corrected the Bible, until there is a whole lot of versions, one noted for one peculiarity and others for another peculiarity.

The differences between the Douay version and King James; the different rendition given for baptism, or immersion by Doddridge and McKnight and Alexander Campbell, all detract from the overestimate of sacredness put on the Bible by some, of whom Rev. Treat may be one.

It is sure that in some very striking instances the Inspired Version is superior to the King James, whatever the source whence Joseph Smith received direction to aid him in his work may have been.

The following is from the King James Version of Isaiah 42:17-23:

They shall be turned back, they shall be greatly ashamed, that trust in graven images, that say to the molten images, ye are our gods. Hear, ye deaf; and look, ye blind, that ye may see. Who is blind, but my servant? or deaf, as my messenger that I send? Who is blind as he that is perfect, and blind as the Lord's servant? Seeing many things, but thou observest not; opening the ears, but he heareth not. The Lord is well pleased for his righteousness' sake; he will magnify the law and make it honorable. But this is a people robbed and spoiled; they are all of them snared in holes, and they are laid in prison houses; for they are a prey, and none delivereth; for a spoil, and none saith, Restore.—Isa. 42:17-23.

The reading of the version as given by Joseph Smith is as follows:

They shall be turned back, they shall be greatly ashamed, that trust in graven images, that say to the molten images, ye are our gods. Hear, ye deaf, and look, ye blind, that ye may see. For I will send my servant unto you who are blind; yea, a messenger to open the eyes of the blind, and unstop the ears of the deaf; and they shall be made perfect notwithstanding their blindness, if they will hearken unto the messenger, the Lord's servant. Those art a people, seeing many things but thou observest not; opening the ears to hear, but thou hearest not. The Lord is not well pleased with such a people, but for his righteousness' sake he will magnify the law and make it honorable. Thou art a people robbed and spoiled; thine enemies have snared thee in holes, and they have hid thee in prison houses: they have taken thee for a prey, and none delivereth; for a spoil, and none saith, Restore.—Holy Scriptures, Isa. 42: 17-23.

Anybody but those willfully blinded by prejudice can easily see which of these two readings is the better, and this is but one of many instances occurring in the books.

Rev. W. B. F. Treat grossly perverts the words and meaning of the revelation he is writing of, in that he states:

Indeed it is expressly taught in the Book of Doctrine and Covenants, which is accepted as inspired and authoritative by all Mormons, that from and after September 23, 1832, all who do not believe the word of Joseph Smith, Jr., and the six elders who were with him at that date, "shall be damned."

The language of the revelation is this:

Verily, verily I say unto you, they who believe not on your words, and are not baptized in water, in my name, for the remission of their sins, teat they may receive the Holy Ghost, shall be damned, and shall not come into my Father's kingdom, where my Father and I are. And this revelation unto you and commandment is in force from this very hour upon all the world, and the gospel is unto all who have not received it.

The burden of the revelation to Joseph Smith and the six elders was the beauty and excellency of the gospel of Jesus Christ; and the command was to preach it in a similar way to that of the apostles in Christ's day. In paragraphs 10 and 11, immediately preceding the one from which Rev. Treat gives his garbled version, the command is given,

Go ye into all the world, etc. . . . Therefore, as I said unto mine apostles, I say unto you, that every soul that believeth on your words, and is baptized by water for the remission of sins, shall receive the Holy Ghost; and these signs shall follow them that believe.

Then follows, almost the identical words found in Mark 16, at the close of Christ's words to his disciples. And it was this gospel that should form the words which those men were to believe; the words of Jesus Christ, in which are life and salvation. They were not the words of Joseph Smith and the six others, as men speak, which were stated or meant. See how straightly this revelation agrees with Matthew 28 and Mark 16,

Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.—Matt. 28:19.

Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned.—Mark 16:15, 16.

If the words of the revelation were the words of Joseph Smith only, they were true and conformed to the language of Jesus in Matthew and Mark; and in them Joseph Smith honored the Savior; and if they were the words of Jesus, then he but repeated his command and the promise made by him as recorded by the Apostles Matthew and Mark.

Does Rev. Treat wish to be understood as refusing credit to the words of Jesus? There is no command in the revelation to believe and pay heed to words other than those of Jesus. There is no statement in the Book of Doctrine and Covenants which makes a belief in Joseph Smith's words and the Book of Mormon a prerequisite unto salvation. We have been a constant reader of the book for over forty years, and should know whereof we write, while Rev. Treat has paid so little heed to the book as to not know what it is, for he writes of it as the Book of Doctrines (plural) and Covenants.

So far as Rev. Treat's comment on the term, when properly translated, used in regard to the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, King James' Version, may be concerned, we think it a trifle absurd for the reverend gentleman to be too critical, for the reason that there is not a sufficient degree of unity among scholars as to the translations already existing, witness, the revised edition, as compared with the standard King James.

The clause in the Epitome of Faith is, "We believe the Bible to be the word of God, as far as it is translated correctly; we also believe the Book of Mormon to be the word of God."

There is nothing in this statement that is either boastful, arrogant, or blasphemous. It is the common version that is referred to; and will Rev. Treat say that in every part of it this King James Version of the Scriptures is a correct translation, and of what specific original it is a reproduction? Hardly. It seems to us that the reverend gentleman is not only not up to the line of the higher criticism, but is behind the line in orthodox pulpits as well.

We agree with the statement that "Mormons," as Rev. Treat calls them. do not believe the Bible as Rev. Treat and his class believe it; that is to say, do not believe it in the same rendering and construction as do these gentle-Why should they? Rev. Treat chooses to believe many passages of Holy Writ one way; his M. E. brother chooses to believe those passages differently; and so with the Episcopalian, the Presbyterian, the Congregationalist, the Universalist, the Winebrennarian, John Alexander Dowie, the Salvation Army, and the American Volunteer. What of it? Is there anything especially specific about the views of Rev. Treat and his associate Bible believers touching the Scriptures that other men must perforce accept them, or be damned?

What better would that be than what he says of Joseph Smith?

Surely, in modern times much learning makes men not mad, but foolish.

EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS.

Bro. George Buschlen writes from Arthur, Ontario, May 10:

We gladly report the baptism of another head of a family, and two bright young minds, last Saturday. And the end is not yet. Sr. Hathway whom we had the pleasure of baptizing one year ago, and who was a devoted Baptist, and organist for them for nine years, is proving to be a power for good in our midst, as organist, chorister, Sunday school teacher, and a good defender of the faith, and has succeeded in making a new opening for me for preaching eleven miles from here, with promising results. Her relatives respect her, and want more light. May God lead them! The work is moving on.

Francis Blunt, writes from Johnstown, Wisconsin, May 15, in remitting for HEBALD:

I have been laid up all winter with rheumatism. Hardly able to get around now with crutch and cane. I cannot do without the HERALD. God bless the HERALD!

EDITORIAL ITEMS.

Benjamin A. M. Schapiro has started a publication in New York. entitled, "The People, the Land, and the Book," which appears quarterly. and is devoted to the cause of the "old and historic people of Israel," Palestine, the Bible, and Jewish traditions. As a premium to subscribers, the publishers are offering scrolls, one of which we have received, and which we consider as a worthy premium. Mr. Schapiro has made an appeal for additional subscribers, to put the magazine on a substantial basis, and thinks the object of the magazine such as to justify his making the appeal. The journal certainly occupies a unique field, and we wish it success. It is published at 436 Carlton Ave., Brooklyn, New York.

The action against Elder B. H. Roberts, for unlawful cohabitation upon which conviction was had in the district court in Utah was on appeal to the supreme court, on May 13 last dismissed by consent of the Attorney General on the plea of a defective indictment. This lets B. H. Roberts go free.

The Chicago Tribune for Sunday, May 19, devotes some space to a discussion of affairs in Utah, especially as regards polygamy. It states that with the younger generations have arisen "liberal elements," which tend to abolish polygamy, and that with the passing of the leaders who have been in touch with earlier leaders the abolition of the practice of polygamy will become complete. The Tribune thinks, however, that a political "machine" of great power is likely to be formed.

Letter Department.

CALHOUN, Fla., May 13.

Editors Herald:—Since the late General Conference I have felt impressed that the church had taken advanced ground and received a grand impulse forward; and the news in HERALD and Ensign relative to the organization of the two stakes provided for in the last revelation, also Bro. Briggs' reinstatement in the quorum of Twelve, bear up the impression.

Our conference met on the 4th and 5th instant, and has passed into history. Three gave their hands for baptism at close and three since, and Bro. W. J. Booker buried two of them in baptism on the 6th and the writer had the pleasure of burying the other four in the waters of baptism yesterday. We are trying to occupy profitably till we hear from Bro. Roberts, which we expect to do soon.

The work is very backward here now, and it seems to be an off time for religion.

I would be pleased to see the index on title page of HERALD restored, as it was a means of ready reference which I miss very much, and to an elder out in the field it is very helpful when getting several HERALDS, or wishing to refer to an article in back number. Hoping the wave may reach us again,

Yours,

S. D. ALLEN.

STANBERRY, Mo., May 12.

Editors Herald:-We are still in the conflict, and interested in Zion's cause. We rejoice in this latter-day work, because the evidences are fast accumulating which prove its divinity. We have had evidences many times within ourselves proving intelligently that it is of divine origin—that it originated with God. This work keeps enlarging and going forth as foretold by Daniel. It seems that God is bringing this "marvelous work" before the nations of the earth to a greater extent than ever before, and the people are beginning to find out that we are not "Utah Mormons," and that we are not "all the same." I rejoice to know that I am in the true gospel, restored to earth again by an angel from heaven, and that it is not devoid of power to the believer. How many times have we sat under the melting influence of the Spirit, making our hearts leap for joy, because of the fact that "God is the same yesterday, today, and forever," and to say with Peter, "I perceive that God is no respecter of persons."

We rejoice to read the many encouraging reports from conference, and the outlook this year gives promise of a great work. We rejoice to know that God has, in answer to prayer and fasting, given us light on many points, which should inspire in us a desire to be more faithful and humble, and "maintain good works." We were glad to see the vacancy in the Twelve supplied by so worthy a man. We have known Bro. Peter Anderson for the last four years, and to know him is to love him; and we pray that God's Spirit may be with him and enable him to present the gospel in power.

There have been seventy-five houses here quarantined with the smallpox, but so far we have escaped the dreaded disease. Let us pray, dear Saints, that we may escape these judgments, pestilences, and plagues that are being poured out upon the people. God has promised to be with us if we will be humble and faithful.

May God bless the Saints everywhere with his Spirit, and help us all to be faithful to the end, is my prayer.

In the gospel bonds, JAMES SCHOFIELD.

ATCHISON, Kansas, May 13.

Editors Herald:-I came here eight days ago, and have preached nine times. On Sunday I baptized three. Others are near the kingdom. I find Bro. Robert Warnock to be a good kind father to the branch, and it is prospering under his watchful care. Bro.

Pierce is here with me, but we separate for awhile. I go to Netawaka for Sunday next. Sunday, the 26th, I will be at Fanning, and reach Scranton June 1.

I visited Forest Park last week. It is a fine one. The owners offer the park free to us to hold our reunion in this summer, and will furnish straw free, and park lit up by electricity, and will give us two thousand posters. It is the finest park to hold a reunion in that I ever saw. Electric cars run from Atchison City to the park, -one mile

I enter my field of labor this spring feeling very much encouraged, after having such a profitable General Conference. It did me good to hear the message from our heavenly Father. I rejoice that I live in the age of the world that God has prophets, and apostles to guide his people to the truth of his word!

May this year be a grand success to the church, is my prayer.

Yours in the field,

J. C. Foss.

Lorus, Cal., May 6.

Editors Herald:-I have spoken to our people about tithing. Some of them say, "It is of man. Don't pay it." I told them I believed it was of God. I asked God to let me know it. He showed me, in vision, over one hundred people, men and women-no children. They appeared to be picking flowers. I wondered who they could be. Then a man dressed in citizen's clothes stood near my right side and said: "You see those people?"

"Yes."

"They pay their tithing."

"That is what I wanted to know."

Said he, "Do you see those in pure white garments?"

"Yes."

"They do all they can in paying their tithing. You see those in light gray garments?"

"They could do better than they do. Do you see those in dark gray garments?"

"Yes."

"They could do much better than they do." Then he vanished, and the people walked east and disappeared. At another time a heavenly messenger showed me the world as it looks at the present time. The people looked like a tribe of Indians who live in Nevada. He said they had brought it on themselves by their wickedness, and God was about to withhold his blessings from the earth, for God had been blessing them and they had never thanked him for it. He showed me that I should have plenty. I have seen and talked with heavenly messengers three different times and been told much, but I write no more at present. O, how I love to read Bro. Briggs' autobiography. I hope the end is a long way off. With love to all the Saints Yours in the faith, of God.

MITCHELL ARTHUR.

CRESCENT, Iowa, May 13.

Editors Herald:-I began operations in the Pottawattamie district yesterday, at Crescent. Am in hopes to hear from all in this district who are isolated from branches, who desire preaching, and we will try to reach them in time. I am an entire stranger in the district, and want to get acquainted with all the membership. Our conference convenes at the Boomer branch, May 24-5, when we expect to meet with the submissionary in charge, Bro. D. R. Chambers, also the district president.

The Saints in the Galland's Grove district. where we have previously labored, are fondly cherished in our memory. Am in hopes to so conduct myself while engaged in this district that I may merit the respect and confidence of the Saints and friends.

Ever praying for the weal of the church, I Your brother, remain.

R. WIGHT.

MILLERSBURG, Ill., May 13.

Editors Herald:-I wish to take this opportunity to inform those who know of my recent illness, while at Independence, Missouri, that I have so far recovered as to be able to return home, having been released from quarantine restrictions on the 9th. That I am very grateful to those who kindly remembered me in prayer, and also those who wrote many kind words of consolation and comfort to me. Whether this disease is "smallpox" or not (there is some diversity of opinion about it), those who take it will not soon forget it. My greatest suffering was of about five days' duration. The "scars" are drying up slowly. The physician assured me they would all finally disappear. I deeply regret being thus hindered from going at once to my field of labor (Eastern mission), but will go as soon as possible.

In bonds,

WILL E. LARUE.

MINION, Ala., May 7.

Editors Herald:-I have been encouraged by reading the HERALD. I love to read the interesting letters, and they have been a help to me. I hope that all the Saints are reading the HERALD.

I have been going to Sunday school for the past three years, and I hope to continue.

There is a great deal to be learned in Sunday school. Saints, it will not do to run to every convention you hear of, nor to every all-day singing, nor to every party. If you cannot be in good company, stay at home and read the Bible, and go to Sunday school every Sunday.

I went to conference on the 27th of April, and on Sunday morning, at 9:30, we had an excellent prayer meeting; heard many speak of the power of God in healing the sick. We heard a good sermon at eleven a.m. I started for home at two p. m., about thirty-five miles'

I intend to continue to read the HERALD. I hope they will send more ministers in the Southeastern mission, for I believe there is need of more preaching in this country.

I hope these few words will not be in vain, but will help some one.

Your brother in the one faith.

S. Wiggins.

JOPLIN, Mo., May 15.

Editors Herald:-I am located in my field and busily at work. I hope to do some good in this field. Saints who desire my labors may write me 2230 Anabaxter street, Joplin, Missouri. I want to labor in places that need preaching. I hope to meet with many of you at our coming district conference, June 7. Quite likely Bro. F. C. Keck will be associated with me some of the time. Prospects look favorable in the field. Let each do his part and let us labor together for the Master. Great blessings are in store for the faithful and true. Let us be careful and prayerful.

In bonds.

J. D. ERWIN.

Mothers' Home Column.

EDITED BY FRANCES.

AN OPEN LETTER.

BY SISTER EMMA BURTON. (Concluded.)

The long tedious hour at Colton passed away. The puff of the motor was heard, and we were soon on board; only fifteen minutes later we were at the station at San Bernardino. Were met and conducted to Addie's where a sumptuous supper was waiting our arrival. Immediately after supper we hastened to the Saints' chapel where the Saints were gathering for meeting, an appointment having gone on ahead of us. Metuaore spoke briefly, after which Joseph occupied the remainder of the hour. At the close of the meeting there was a general hand-shaking and most kindly greetings. The Saints knew that we purposed to continue our journey on the following day, and early in the forencon friends commenced to call, and continued doing so till noon, each bringing something nice for our lunch basket, from which we were to eat during the next three days. Such tokens of good will and loving kindness were most gratefully received and appreciated by us, and relished on our journey. What a novelty to our traveling companion was the idea of eating and sleeping and still keeping on going.

On Thursday evening we arrived at my Sister Ida's in Independence, and found mother much better, though very feeble. We were about one week in advance of the conference people, and during that week we had a great variety of weather; warm and spring-like at first, then there came a real soft, thick snow-storm. The air was completely filled with the great fleecy snowflakes that continued to fall quietly for nearly a whole day. Metuaore sat at the window and looked steadily at it. One of the greatest miracles he ever saw. One by one he saw the shrubs, tufts of grass, and whatever else was in the yard disappear beneath the soft, fleecy mantle of pure white snow, and an equal depth on the roof of the house near by. We wanted him to go out in it, but he said, "No! It has covered up everything in the yard, and by and by it will cover that house over, and if I go out it will cover me over too." He said he would not dare tell his brethren about the snow, when he went home; if he did they would never want to come to Zion to be covered up in snow. He said it would be a good thing if the Lord would do away with the snow for it was not good. Those few sentences were given at intervals, and a merry laugh came in between each sentence. He looked and spoke so seriously it was amusing. In the afternoon Bro. May came in to conduct him and Joseph to a neighbor's house. To don his rubber shoes, and heavy overcoat was no easy task, but with help it was accomplished; and when outside Joseph playfully introduced him to the schoolboy's game of snow-balling, but Metuaore did not throw any balls back. He kept his hands in his coat pockets, close at his side, and his head bowed reverently for-

Of course he was delighted with the spacious stone church, with the Sunday school, the music, and the courtesy shown him by the Saints. All through convention week the weather was snowy, freezy, and rainy by spells, but that did not hinder the goodly number of Saints and many delegates from attending. The usual routine of business was pleasantly gone through, and all seemed to feel well. On Saturday before Easter, the forty-eighth Annual Conference commenced. A goodly spirit prevailed at the opening, but the weather was cold and lowering, and the earth looked gloomy. Easter morn dawned clear and bright. The warm rays of the sun dispelled the gloom, gladdening the hearts of all. What a change indeed. And how typical thought I, of that Easter morn long ago when the "Son of righteousness" burst the bars of death and came forth dispelling the gloom that had hovered over the earth. and weighed heavily on the hearts of his disappointed disciples while he lay in the tomb! O how dark and cold life must have appeared to them when their hope, "the hope of Israel," was numbered with the dead! But how joyous when he again appeared as their risen Lord.

Such was the line of thought suggested by the glory of the present Easter morning, and

I mentally exclaimed, "The Lord has risen indeed!" A glad hallelujah seemed to be in the hearts of all. And as I looked from the gallery where I sat that morning, down on the surging mass of humanity as they were being seated, I thought of the sea of glass spoken of by John the Revelator; but this sea was not crystallized yet. Upwards of fifteen hundred was the number of the congregation, and more at the testimony meeting in the afternoon. It was a peculiar meeting in one sense, in that there was not the coming and going of the Spirit that sometimes, I may say nearly always, characterizes a testimony meeting. I have a way of materializing invisible things, as you probably know, and to me it was as if a door of heaven had been thrown wide open as soon as the meeting opened. Light and inspiration flowed in one smooth, even, steady course, causing my own heart to throb and burn within me, until the time for closing. I did not know that the time had arrived, but I felt the change so distinctly, as if this invisible door was sundenly closed. "What is the matter?" thought I. "The Spirit is in a measure withdrawn." Just at this moment the elder who was in charge of the meeting announced the closing hymn. Wherein was this peculiar, do you ask? In the perfect harmony of spirit and action. While the Spirit flowed, two or three would be on their feet at once, and one must wait for the other; but when the flow of the Spirit ceased there was no attempt to continue farther, as there is at almost every other prayer and testimony meeting. It was a grand day from beginning to end, one long to be remembered by me.

I did not attend many of the business sessions, not being able to hear. I staid with mother during most of those sessions and asked my husband at home concerning the matters I wished to know of. There were serious and perplexing questions to be discussed. There were lengthy and earnest speeches on both sides of those questions, but no harshness was manifested. There was a really and visibly good spirit underlying all, and all was amicably settled.

Thus one week of the conference passed away, and another Sabbath morning dawned clear and bright. A fast was appointed for the fore part of the day. Early in the morning the priesthood assembled in the basement of the church for a season of prayer. Matuaore joined them in their prayer service, and it is said that a descent of the Holy Spirit was experienced during his prayer, though the words were unknown to the brethren. Bro. Bond wept like a child and could not cease, Bro. Luff was filled with the Spirit which gave utterance in a most remarkable prayer, transcending the ordinary gift of language in which man's thoughts are clothed. While these supplications were ascending to God, the army of Sunday school children was having its class exercises in the auditorium. I was delighted with the Sunday school. It is really carried on on a grand scale; grand in its simplicity.

Again on this second Sunday as on the one previous, Bro. Joseph—the head of the church on earth—was the preacher at the morning service, and his son Fred M. assisted by opening the meeting. What a crowd of people! Two hundred new arrivals came in during the forencon. An overflow meeting was held in the basement, and still all could not be seated. A preaching service was held in the afternoon instead of the usual prayer and testimony meeting. The day was pleasantly and profitably spent, and yet the hour for retiring found many a weary body, glad enough to lay itself down to rest and sleep, while some after retiring to their rooms continued for a season in prayer to God for his special directing influence in the business affairs of the conference, and if need be that he would voice his will to his people. But there was one who slept not, though fatigued and weary more than all others perhaps. His night was spent in communion with, and receiving instruction from the King of kings, and Lord of lords. Can we fully grasp the thought that one whom we call "Brother," and whose hand we grasp, has so recently been spoken to by the Great Ruler of the universe? And that he who is enthroned in glory and majesty on high will condescend to voice his will unto us as a people? I fear we do not fully comprehend the dignity and honor of such a favor from the heavenly King and too soon let the principles contained in those communications, which will apply to all and aid greatly in carrying out the injunction to come up higher, slip from our thoughts and take their places among the things of the

But to return to the conference routine. On the Monday following this night of the fourteenth of April, 1901, as soon as the business session was fairly opened and the minutes of the previous day read, President Joseph Smith arose and announced to the congregation that he had a communication to present to them. Those words caused many a heart-throb and all waited with profound attention for the purport of the message. It will come to you in full, in due time, Jessie, so I will not reproduce it here, save to say that among other important matters it contained was, that a stake be organized here at Independence. Conference continued during the entire week, making a two weeks' session, and perhaps the most important or notable conference of the Reor ganization, these being the notable features: There were present a representative member from India, the island of Ceylon, one from Tahiti, one from the Jewish nation; also a Lamanite, and some negroes from the sunny south. An important revelation was received, making provisions for a more complete organization, and setting the church in order abroad, and the organization of the first stake in the Reorganization, which work was duly attended to shortly after the close of conference.

Another little matter was that some were appointed to the South Sea Islands, and Joseph and I are among the number. You remember that all was not fulfilled that was promised in connection with my work among "the dark-skinned sisters of other nations," and so we must go back.

Independence, April 27.

PRAYER UNION.

SPECIAL REQUESTS FOR PRAYER.

Olive E. Cushman, of Varma, Iowa, earnestly desires the prayers of the Sisters' Prayer Union in her behalf, that if it be God's will she may be healed of the terrible affliction from which she is suffering.

Sr. Nannie E Sheely writes from Noble, Illinois, requesting the prayers of the Union for herself and family. Her eyes are sorely afflicted.

Sunday School Department.

ELDER T. A. HOUGAS, EDITOR.

Henderson, Mills Co., Iowa.

(Send communications for this department to the Editor Address minutes and notices of conventions, etc., to "Editors Herald, Lamoni, Iowa.")

IMPRESSIONS OF THE CONVENTION.

A convention is made up of almost all classes of honest people. We have the thoughtful person, who is considerate of the views of others, and at the same time uses his own judgment. He listens to the views of others and gives them their due weight; but he is not overturned by these views simply because they are new. He stands for what he thinks to be right, and yields when convinced he is wrong.

We have another form of thoughtful persons. They think and they weigh, but after all they are determined that their preconceived notions shall prevail. If they are convinced, there is nothing to indicate it. They will sometimes carry their point even at the sacrifice of what is best.

Another is the "blusterer." He, like an April squall, makes some noise, raises a little dust, or perhaps scares some one a little, but as soon as it is over, all is calm again, and soon forgotten.

Then there is the sentimentalist. In order to carry his point he raises a favorite cry which appeals to the sentimentalism of the audience, and the case is won. It does seem strange at times that Latter Day Saints, the people who cry so much against this sentimental work in revivals, etc., should be the users of it and the victims of it in our conventions and conferences. Let any question come up in which there is any comparison between us as a people and the world, or our work or ability, and that of the world, and some one will raise the cry that we are the peer or the superior to any other people, in that or any other line, and at once the masses fall in line with him and the case is a foregone matter. Persons who in their calm and unimpassioned moments of thought know that such is not the case, will be influenced to cast their vote against their best judgment. I fear that too often the vote at our conventions is the result of "sentiment" and not of our best judgment. How long shall we continue in this line? Would it not be better for us to recognize the fact that in some things "the children of this world are wiser in their generation than are the children of light," and meet facts as they are? Would we not find ourselves working along more practical lines? I think we would. We cannot bring the world or even any great portion of our own people to high standards of perfection and do it at once. We cannot drive anyone to do better and do but very little coaxing them. We must work upon their good, common sense, and gradually educate them to the point. This thought points to but one way to do our work,—an extremely plain and practical way.

Perhaps the most numerous class is the practical home worker, who has good thoughts gathered from his experience in actual work, but who is unable to express them. They are not used to public speaking. and when they attempt to speak their hearts get out of their normal positions, and seem almost to come out of their throats. Their thoughts leave them and they are obliged to give up in despair. Hence we are deprived of their counsel and listen to that of those perhaps much less qualified to speak upon the subject, simply because the one is the master of the floor and the other is not. One opinion based upon experience in ordinary conditions is worth a thousand opinions from one who has not had the experience upon which to base his opinions. Would that we could always have the opinion of the masses on all important questions.

To which class do we belong? Can you identify yourself? And does the necessity of improvement suggest itself to you?

TO MANAGE A RESTLESS CHILD.

The fact of his being restless is evidence that he is not interested. You get the attention of the child and hold it, and you will not be bothered with restlessness. Bring your teaching down to the vocabulary of the child and you can interest him. Simplify your illustrations, use blocks, maps, blackboard, or such other helps as the school affords, or that you can improvise.

A restless child indicates an active brain and nervous temperament, and with the right training he will make one of the brightest scholars. Interest the parents at home, so that they will impress upon the child some truths in reference to the lesson, which will make the child eager to tell it to the teacher.

There is far more prospect of success with a class which consists of restless scholars than where they are dull and dumpish. In the former there is a possibility for development if you can enlist their attention, but in the latter there is not much hope.

Urge upon the children to study the lessons at home alone, or with the aid of the parents. In some places it is found practicable to meet with the class during the week and study over the lesson.

The secret is: You interest the child and the restlessness will soon disappear.

A. B. HANSON

TO INTEREST PARENTS IN SUNDAY SCHOOL.

No one can be regarded as being too old or too big to attend Sunday school. If you have advanced beyond the primary, intermediate, or senior grades, the school should see that other classes are introduced—such as Book of Mormon, Doctrine and Covenants, and History classes; or even a class in church parliamentary procedure. These classes can be made interesting if properly conducted. And there is a lamentable amount of ignorance of these books among the young of the church, which can be overcome to a great degree by a systematic study in the Sunday school.

A visiting committee should be appointed that will work, to visit the parents and urge upon them the necessity of accompanying their children to the Sunday school; then make it interesting for them when they come. There is no one thing that does so much to hold attendance at Sunday schools as that of creating an interest and enthusiasm in the classes. A little discussion in a mild way occasionally will make things lively. People are prone to go where the interest and attraction are the greatest; and if the Sunday school room can be made more attractive than the Sunday paper, you are sure to get the parents to attend-especially the fathers.

Secure the best teachers obtainable, and urge upon them the necessity of prompt and regular attendance.

A. B. HANSON.

PHILADELPHIA.

Association convened at Baldwin, Maryland, May 4 and 5, at 4:30 p.m.; H. H. Bacon superintendent, E. B. Hull secretary. Reports of schools: Philadelphia, enrollment 51; Baldwin 40. District treasurer reported on hand at last report, $4 67; collected since, $4.07; expended, $5.50; balance on hand, $2.24. At eight p. m. an entertainment was given, which was enjoyed by all. Preaching by Elder G. W. Robley. Adjourned to meet at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, aboutsix months from date.

CONVENTION NOTICES.

Clinton association will convene at Veve chapel, May 31. We hope to see every school in the district represented. Each school is requested to take up a contribution for the association, there being no funds on hand. Secretaries, please send in credentials and full reports by the 28th to the district secretary, 700 N. Ash street, Nevada, Missouri. Let us meet together with the spirit of love and unity.

MINA KEARNEY, Supt. IVA KECK, Sec.

Northern Michigan will convene at Fork, June 7, at nine a. m. Teams will meet the Thursday p. m. train at Chippewa and Barryton. Come all who are interested in the Sunday school work. A full report of schools desired.

C. E. IRWIN, Supt. C. B. JOICE, Sec.

Chatham will convene with Zone Saints, June 7, at two p. m. All officers of district and schools, come and bring written reports. Secretaries, please bring or send correct reports. All invited.

MARY M. GREEN, Sec.

Des Moines Sunday school workers will meet with Boonesboro Saints, May 31. Let all reports be in the secretary's hands by May 24. BESSY LAUGHLIN, Sec. OLIVET, IOWA, May 13.

Far West will meet with Kingston school, June 28, ten a. m. Secretaries of schools, please send reports and credentials one week before convention.

GRACE CONSTANCE, Sec. Cameron, Mo., May 15.

Northeastern Illinois will convene at Mission, Friday, May 31, at 1:30 p.m. The Religio and Sunday school combined will give an entertainment in the evening. Let all make an effort to attend.

MAMIE C. WILLIAMSON, Sec.

Miscellaneous Department.

BISHOP'S AGENT'S NOTICE.

To the Saints of Northeastern Missouri district, Greeting:—Another year of the great latter-day work has commenced, and the demands urge each of us to continue in the good work of spreading the glad tidings to our fellow-men. In order to perform this work it is absolutely necessary to impart of our means to accomplish it. As the work spiritually depends largely upon temporal means to carry it to the nations, let not your zeal and love grow less during this year. Let us all put our shoulders to the gospel wheel and keep it rolling onward until all the nations hear its beautiful sound and all the honest in heart be gathered into the fold of Christ.

Greater work is expected this year than last, for our district territory is growing larger and our missionary force has been increased, hence it urges us Saints to sacrifice of our means in tithes and offerings to meet the demands of the district. Our new tent will be pitched throughout the district shortly, conducted by Brn. W. A. Smith and E. Corthell. Elders J. A. Tanner and F. J. Chatburn will labor in other directions. Bro. F. Palfrey, of Macon, should be appreciated for his kind and faithful service as chairman of the tent committee. Bro. Palfrey has solicited nearly enough to purchase an elegant tent. few dollars lacking, the Bevier Religio society is going to raise from an entertainment to be held at the church, May 24. The bill of fare will be ice cream and cake. The Bevier sisters' sewing society is still working faithfully and is a great help to the district financially. Let the sisters of other branches do likewise. Go on, sisters, you are doing a great work for the Master and shall reap the reward if you faint not.

I wish to arouse all the Saints of this district to the observance of the law of tithing, especially the indifferent ones. This is God? law and established for God's government, and the Saints, both rich and poor, bond and free, are subjects of his government or king-dom. Are we willing, Saints, to be governed by God's law? This law of tithing is in force till the coming of the Son of Man. It is the day of sacrifice until he comes, and he has promised that those who pay tithing shall not be burned. Please read Doctrine and Cove-This revelation was given to nants 64: 4. the Prophet Joseph the Martyr in Kirtland. 1831, and it is directly to us in this dipensa-tion, and needs no comment. Will we heed it, or shall we stand the consequence? Let me hear from you occasionally. I invoke God's blessings to be with you all.
J. T. WILLIAMS.

Box 444, Bevier, Missouri.

PASTORAL.

As our worthy brother, Elder I. N. White, has placed me in charge of the Nodaway district another year, it is my desire to make every effort that is reasonable, that Nodaway shall be one of the banner districts of Missouri.

I am glad to say to the Saints and friends of the district that I have associated with me, as coworkers in the mission field, Brn. F. L. Sawley, Joseph S. Snively, D. A. Hutchings, and E. S. Fannon. I do not want to spend much time in the "old fields" this year, but use most of the mission force for opening new places. This can only be done by one and all lending aid for securing schoolhouses and churches for preaching. This often can be churches for preaching. This often can be done by the local Saints, by looking out for such places where they have a friend that would care for an elder a week or more until they get a start. If every Saint in the district will make a diligent effort to have some preaching done in or near his neighbor-hood, either to secure a house or a nice grove for such, and will let me know, I will try and see that you have a preacher for the occasion. Don't be afraid and say, "No good can be done here." Let us try and see what the success will be. Write me of the prospects you see before you and what you want, and my coworkers and I will do our part in meeting the demands. Always address me at Lamoni, Iowa, and my mail will be forwarded to me.

Let us have a full turnout at the district conference to be held at Bedison branch, June 1 and 2. Your brother in bonds, D. C. WHITE.

To the Saints and Ministry of Lamoni Stake:—Having been placed in charge of the missionary work in the stake, I desire that all who know of opportunities and openings for getting the word before the people will so inform me, describing the conditions and circumstances of the places referred to. Also, that the ministry, local as well as General Conference appointees, will be diligent in seeking and supplying new places where the gospel of peace may be presented, working in harmony with each other, that the bless-ing of the Lord may attend our labors. Please be prompt in reporting to me at the address below, on the first day of July, October, January, and March.

The signs of success in our work have never been more encouraging than they appear now. Let us so live and labor that the Master may lead us and guide us to the accom-plishment of all that may be in his mind for us to undertake during the present conference year. DUNCAN CAMPBELL.

PLEASANTON, IOWA, May 15.

SOUTHWESTERN MISSION.

The attention of missionaries appointed to labor in the Southwestern mission is called to the following appointments of missionaries in charge of fields of labor, as made by Bro. H. O. Smith, missionary in charge of the mission, and who is confined to his home by sickness:

Texas, Bro. T. J. Sheppard; address, Oklaunion, Texas. Oklahoma and Indian Territory, Bro. Hubert Case; address, Okarche, Oklahoma. Arkansas and West Louisiana, Bro. W. S. Macrae; address, Blendsville, Missouri.

Those appointed to said fields will report to the brethren in charge, and on the first day of July, first day of October, first day of January, and first day of March, promptly, that those in charge may report to the missionary in charge on the tenth day of the months named.

JOSEPH SMITH, President. For H. O. Smith, Missionary in Charge. LAMONI, IOWA, May 15, 1901.

To All Whom in May Concern:-As I have been appointed submissionary in charge of Far West district, Missouri, I would like to hear from all the scattered Saints, as well as officers of branches. Priests and elders laboring in the mission, please give an explanation as to the condition of the work in your localities, so that I may supply all demands for labor as far as possible. It will greatly assist me in caring for the work. It is necessary for us all to work together for the success of the work. Let every one do what he can to make new openings by distributing printed matter, etc., as opportunity permits. Would like a report from all the permits. Would like a report from all the ministry under my charge by July 1, as arranged by the Twelve. We want this mission to be in the front ranks.

Brethren and sisters, we lack one thing yet, and that is a new, large tent for gospel work in this mission. Who among the Saints and friends throughout Far West district will be one of twenty to give five dollars Who will be one to give one dollar each? Who will be one to give one unianeach? Let every one act promptly for himself. This fund will be payable to Bro. Charles P. Faul, Bishop's agent of Far West district; address, Clarksdale, Missouri. My permanent address will be Kerr, Caldwell and the Missouries. county, Missouri.

Your brother in gospel bonds,

SWEN SWENSON.

To the Brethren and Saints of Kewanee District:—Owing to the fact that we were compelled to wait through a case of smallpox, we will be unable to be in the field till our June conference. Till that time let all labor wherever the doors are opened to the proclamation of the truth. Hope to meet all the missionary force as well as all of the local ministry that can possibly be present at our conference at Millersburg. Any of the Saints desiring labor in their localities will please send word accordingly to the conference or notify the undersigned, when we will give the matter attention as promptly as possible. Let us labor together, and may each feel a personal responsibility as to the work of the Master for the year now before us. Address me at 503 High street, Grinnell, Iowa, or at 228 Hancock street, Peoria, Illinois.

In bonds, FRANK A. RUSSELL. SWEDEBURG, Neb., May 13, 1901.

To the Saints of the Eastern Mission, Greeting:—Once more we are associated together in the work of another conference year, as you no doubt have learned from the minutes of the late General Conference. This places anew the responsibility of labor upon us, and also gives us another opportunity both to improve ourselves and persuade others to believe in and accept the gospel message, as being the true way of happiness and progress. There is much to think of and do, and no important thing should be neglected. With our past experience to aid we should do a better work the coming year than was done in previous ones. Our theory of faith and doctrine is as beautiful and important as ever, and has just as many enemies to oppose it; so the conflict is still on

This faith will avail us only as we magnify it in our lives. Hence we should be considerate and improve our opportunities for good, so that we may attain to the condition of "Zion, the pure in heart." This attained and all will go well with us, whatever the events of the world. By sacrifice and holy life the Saints are expected to attain to all that is implied in the phrase, "Zion, the pure in heart." This is to precede the Zion of acres and houses, or the latter would be but "sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal."

The membership will be expected to do what they can—only what they can—along with the ministry to sustain the cause. Keep the home atmosphere pure and clean from the home atmosphere pure and clean from the foul taint of envy, jealousy, scandal, gos-sip, grossness, foolish allurements of the world that lead to the squandering of time and falling in the way of the "vices of the world." "Ye cannot serve God and mammon" any more now than of old. Vice and the Holy Spirit do not go hand in hand. Selfexamination, correction, devotion, and firmness in the right are essential to growth and usefulness. At this the beginning of another conference year, if not altogether right, get right, and enlist for another year of thorough service in the Master's cause. The days are evil, the end is nearing, and our duties lie before us.

As an encouraging prospect before us we have a few more helpers sent to the mission than we had last year. Have lost some and gained some; but the gain is not equal to the demands of the work, so we are left again to arrange the best we can with what we have in order to accomplish the work in hand.

The following outline or division of labor will obtain for the present, being the wisest that suggests itself at present:

A. H. Parsons in charge of the Kirtland district. F. G. Pitt in charge of the Pittsburg district. George W. Robley in charge of the Philadelphia district. U. W. Greene in charge of the New York district. I. M. Smith in charge of the state of Maine. Holmes J. Davison in charge of Nova Scotia. V. M. Goodrich in charge of Ohio district. G. H. Godbey in charge of the West Virginia district. Places of labor are not yet assigned to Brn. E. A. Davis and Leonard Scott. Bro. H. E. Moler will not be able to enter the field permanently for a few weeks; neither Bro. Wm. LaRue. The appointment of Bro. C. Rich should read Western New York instead of Eastern New York.

The brethren laboring in the Massachusetts district and Western New York will please make their individual reports directly to the missionary in charge for the present. There are but few constant laborers in those "fields of labor" anyway. It will be necessary to supply aid to Nova Scotia by sending some one to labor with Bro. Davison. Two or three have manifested a willingness to aid in this. So it will be necessary to change some of the ministry into this and other fields in order to properly meet the demands of the work during the year. Any arrangements entered into by Brn. H. J. Davison and I. M. Smith to exchange labor will be considered with favor. Each laborer should be interested in extending the work and laboring to the best advantage, and feel that responsibility is upon them as well as the general missionary, or those directly in charge of "fields of labor."

It will be considered our duty to encourage every work looking to good results. May this prove to be our best year's service together. Do not imagine that there will be no conflict, if so you will be defeated to begin with. Satan and his emissaries are not ruled out yet. Be ready for every battle, and never get surprised; and may our year's efforts be crowned with gratifying results.

For the present, my permanent address will be Temple, Lake county, Ohio. In writing do not forget to put your post office address on your letters. It does not take long to write it and is not expensive.

For the right and in the faith,
WM H. KELLEY,
Missionary in Charge.

LAMONI, May 15.

To Coworkers in Nebraska and South and North Dakotas, Greeting: Whatever may have been our zeal in the past leading to gospel diligence, as integral parts of the church, renewed diligence, if possible, in the present conference year, in the work committed to our care, will be but consistent with our profession, as it will help us to more intelligently grasp the significance of Christ's declaration, "Occupy till I come," especially so with broader views of the portrayal consequent to follow designed negligence. And when the fact confronts us that man is largely, if not altogether, what he desires to be, the necessity for continuing in well-doing forces itself upon our attention as a grave matter, or so I think. Then, too, an effective stimulant to diligence in the divine life is the God-given evidence, confirming the mind of man as to the fact of the gospel being the power of God unto salvation, thus evidencing to man the reality of a never-ending eternity of bliss in which the recipients of that knowledge may, with God, bask evermore.

The dawn of the twentieth century has brightened the minds and raised the anticipations of the masses to the development of startling events. And who among us may so far resist the bewitching influences of these developments as to practically demonstrate their faith in the subject matter found in the following:

"Thus saith the Lord, Stand ye in the ways, and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls. But they said, We will not walk therein. Also I set watchmen over you, saying, Hearken to the sound of the trumpet. But they said, We will not hearken."—Jeremiah 6: 16, 17.

Moderation, I think, is the opposite to extremes, and if the claim that extremes are erroneous is valid, then, indeed, the extremes should be avoided; especially so if indulging in extremes would lead to the exhibition of a double-mindedness which in turn may lead to instability. Paul found it necessary to exhort his colaborers to let their moderation be known among men; and if a practical observance of this injunction would prove a preventive to being inveigled in the meshes of extremes, it were highly essential we should observe it; for it must, I think, be admitted, that an even tenor, evinced by adopting principle as our guide, would be more dignified and effective in establishing confidence and building or establishing a character, than substituting policy in lieu of principle for present expediency.

Nothing is more vividly depicted to the

Nothing is more vividiy depicted to the mind of the sober thinker, as he essays to distinguish between the false and the true, the good and the evil, than the fact of the strait gate and narrow road leading to life, and the wide gate and the broad road leading to destruction, save it be the fact that it is more difficult to reach, begin, and continue a travel in the narrow road than to reach and continue in the broad road; and yet, the ease by which one enters and continues in the broad road by no means eliminates the fact of destruction overtaking those choosing it.

However startling to the masses, Christ in the inception of his ministerial work among men, did declare that there were none good save God, and that all have sinned and come short of the glory of God. Nor was the fact hid from the vision of the studious and Godfearing, that Christ's kingdom was not of this world; and yet the revealment of these facts did not, does not, and will not prohibit any one of God's creatures from participating in the blessedness guaranteed to the obedient in Christ, as they will not preclude the promised condemnation following those who choose the broad road; for in that choice the guaranteed grace of God is despised, irrespective of the motive prompting the choice of the broad road. We may, and do see the actions of men, nor were it treasonable to form an opinion thereon, and when so authorized may pass upon them; but as to motives prompting such acts is another matter. And vet, as I suppose, these facts in no way obliterate God's decree in sealing and loosing in heaven that which is authoritatively sealed and loosed on earth. So I incline to the opinion, if the sixteenth verse as above quoted is significant, the seventeenth is equally so, suggesting due care in the advocacy of the word, it being a most important part of our ministerial work. What, then, of our progress on this line?

If all is well because of Zion's prosperity, what have we done to augment its prosperity? If Zion languishes, thus retrograding, what have we done to aid in this retrogression? What, then, is our present spiritual status? Can we discover our spiritual latitude and longitude, essaying as we are to steer our frail bark over the tempestuous sea of time? Should the reader here pause, or inquire as to the propriety of such interrogations, What of their importance, I think it may be said, Much every way.

The sound of Peter's words uttered subsequent to his response to the question propounded, Men and brethren, what shall we do? has come ringing down the corridors of time as sweet music in the ears of all lovers of righteousness; namely, Save yourselves from this untoward generation (Acts 2:37-41); which, if possible, is rendered more formidable by Ezekiel 14, from which we learn that though Noah, Daniel, and Job were overtaken by calamity, they should but save their own souls, they should save neither son nor daughter. Thus we learn of indi-vidual responsibility, necessitating a prac-tical observance of Paul's injunction; namely, Examine yourselves; for the thorough work of self-examination will prove an effective aid in self-abnegation, and self-abnegation leads to a practical demonstration of a God-imposed dignity, which godly dignity leadeth into the realm of consistency to an extent that between theory and practice there is always a visible and a beautiful consistency. O, for an even tenor, a God-imposed gospel equilibrium, a practical evidence of a decision of character, leading on and on in the path of righteousness, such a procedure made more visible by a practical abhorrence of all unrighteousness! "Let us think on these things."-Phil. 4:8.

The contents of the foregoing may not help us to measure the distance or weigh the density of the stars. No: but may prove a great help to prepare us when the proper time arrives for the acquiring a knowledge on these momentous questions.

As integral parts of the body, a due study of the following quotations will help us very much: Doctrine and Covenants 1: 4, 5; 2: 1, 4; 3: 1, 2, 4: 4: 5, 8, 9; 9: 16-18: 10: 6, 7, 10; 12: 3-5; 17: 6, 7, 9, 12, 16, 18; 38: 5; 41: 2; 42: 5-7, 12, 20-23; Matthew 18: 15-18: 16: 2. Don't pass by Matthew, chapters 5, 6, 7; Luke, chapters 17, 18, and John, chapters 14-17. And you that are zealous for spiritual manifestations, study carefully 1 Corinthians, chapters 12-14, especially verses 23-28 of chapter 14: not overlooking Doctrine and Covenants 46: 7-9; 50: 1-3, 7; 52: 4, 5. Nor will it tend to dampen the zeal or weaken the faith of those striving for faith in God demonstrated by observing James 5: 13-15; to consider or study 2 Timothy 4: 20; 1 Timothy 5: 23: 2 Corinthians 12: 7-9; Matthew 13: 58; 17: 16-21; Mark 6: 5. These will establish the fact that faith in God, evincing a godly life, is necessary to become the recipients of God's power; and besides this it will, I think, enable us to understand that God doeth all things after the counsel of his own will, which reflects the necessity of a proper and becoming resignation to God's will, and lawfully strive for this resignation. It may help in acquiring a better understanding of that found in Romans 8: 28: And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to his purpose. And here I may claim that knowledge is power, for surely with the knowledge that all things will work together for our good, it would greatly tend to impart power to resist invading forces that might array themselves against us from an opposite source. In view of these facts I must attach some importance to the subject matter of section 42: 12, from which I learn that it is possible for one to believe and yet not have faith to be healed.

In conclusion, I suggest that in our studies we do not fail to distinguish between men and principle, which is doubtless most essential to our spiritual growth; nor do legitimate efforts on this line warrant seeking occasion against Saint or sinner, as it affords no warrant against condoning wrong. When evidence of wrong exists, see and study the last 70 or 80 words of Doctrine and Covenants 64: 2. And let us not forget that nothing is legitimate but that done according to the gifts and callings of God unto us. And in our study of the law let us bear in mind that there is no conflict in the law. (D. C. 122: 5.)

And I would further suggest to general appointees that every lawful effort be made to open unorganized territory; for in this sense we ought to be expansionists, leaving the

(Continued on page 431.)

BISHOP'S ANNUAL REPORT OF RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES

OF THE REORGANIZED CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER DAY SAINTS.

From January 10, 1900, to January 10, 1901.

SUMMARY STATEMENT.	Paid Patriarch, office
RECEIPTS BY BISHOP.	" public libraries, books 37 42
On hand last report	"Quorum of Twelve
Received, tithes and offerings	" " recording deeds 5 25
" from Bishop's agts 13,588 32	"
bills payable	" rent
bills and accounts receivable 6,195 of	" Saints' Home, running expenses 1,230 71 " Seely estate
" corrections	" Seely estate
deposit accounts	tracts to missionaries and elders
expense and salary returned	Total$83,920 31
Galveston sufferers' fund	Balance on hand 5,110 56
Graceland College	$89.030 87
Tieraid I domaining Livuse 002 40	A COCCURRENT A CENTRO
"Hilliard, G. H., Counselor	ACCOUNT WITH AGENTS.
"India relief fund 18 70	RECEIPTS.
Interest	Balance due church last report
Kirtland temple fund, visitors 87 67	Received from Bishop
sale dooks 20 00	Due agents
indrary, check returned 5 00	Total
" live stock	1.0001
produce	EXPENDITURES.
real estate 6,382 27	Paid elders' families$42,084 18
redemption fund	" expenses 5,157 61
roub	" aid, poor
" return aid	"G. H. Hilliard, Counselor       671 06         "Bishop       13,588 32
Saints' Home	" miscellaneous, real estate, taxes, contracts,
supplies sold	insurance, agents' expenses, etc 5,937 42
surplus property	In hand of agents 14.107 86
" tract fund	Total$85,515 29
Total$89,030 87	REPORT OF GEORGE H. HILLIARD, COUNSELOR.
EXPENDITURES BY BISHOP.	RECEIPTS.
Paid, accounts	From tithes and offerings$ 411 96
" aid poor 1,186 36	" Bishop 175 00
"Auditing Committee, expense	" Bishop's agents
" bills and accounts payable	Total$ 1,258 02
" " receivable 15,668 55 " Bishop's agents for elders and families 5,543 36	EXPENDITURES.
Corrections	Due G. H. Hilliard last report$ 47 38
" elders for clothing and expenses	Paid elders' families
elders' families	" expenses
Listop somee, stationery, printing, ruer, esc. 210 46	" Bishop bookkeepers and stenogres, 1,025 85 internal revenue	Total$ 1,258 02
66 postage 84 45	10121
" Church Secretary, office 33 10	REPORT OF ELDERS
" " allowance, nine months 450 00	RECEIPTS.
1130011au, 011100	Balance on hand last report 758 43
" Librarian, office	Donations by Saints and friends
Recorder, office	Received from Bishop and agents 11,454 24
" allowance 380 00	Expenses furnished by elders
" Assistant Recorder, allowance 140 00	Balance due elders
First Presidency, office	Total$27,186 36
" President, allowance	EXPENDITURES.
Galveston sufferers' fund	Due elders last report$2,207 86
seneral church expense	Traveling expenses and clothing 23,788 58
66 Herald Publishing House 205 75	Balance due church
"High Council, J. S	Total$27,186 36
nibory and biography, o. b	A TELEFORM A COMMON MINISTER A STATE A DISTRICT A STATE A COMMON ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENT A
"Independence special committee, expense 54 00   Independence church fund 1,395 46	AVAILABLE ASSETS: TITHE AND OFFERING
India relief fund	FUND.
interest	January 10, 1901.
insurance 4 88	Cash, Bishop's account $5,510 56
Kirtland Temple fund	Cash in hands of agents
roberra	Cash in hands of G. H. Hilliard, Counselor 29 64 Accounts receivable
" live stock	Bills receivable, No. 1
missions, Chicago colored mission 125 00	16 No. 2 756 71
" Duluth and West Superior 18 00	Real estate contracts
66 Kirtland 60 00	Abstract and Transcript of Evidence
Minnesota	Unbound Abstracts of Evidence
66 Rock Island	Real estate last report less $1,950 sold
on contract, S. W	5. Joseph and Anna Vernon 1,000 00
man manus man na na na na na na na na na na na na n	र प्राप्त कर किल्ला क्रिका क्रिका क्रिका है। विकास क्रिका क्रिका क्रिका क्रिका क्रिका क्रिका क्रिका क्रिका क्र

Real estate, I. A. and Emma Bogue       200 00         " certificate No. 10,354       551 46         " N. E. L. & T. Co.       500 00         " Iots, Independence, Missouri       625 00         " land, Missouri       800 00         " improvements       55 15	LIABILITIES.  Amount due church
Total	Total$32.942 14
LIABILITIES.  Due Bishop's agents$ 79 76	INDEPENDENCE CHURCH FUND. RECEIPTS.
Accounts payable       2,850 98         Bills payable       17,174 99         Net assets last report       67,413 49         Gain during year       3,520 10         Total       $91,039 32	Balance on hand last report       $ 507 48         Collections       3,300 00         Due church       136 34         Total       $ 3,943 82
Assets over liabilities January 10, 1901	EXPENDITURES.
Estimated value of real estate, January 10, 1901 32,576 48 Difference in valuation 12,240 83	Paid Oakland, California, church
SAINTS' HOME AND RESERVE FUND. RECEIPTS.	Total
By sales, collections, and donations, per itemized list	TEMPLE SPECIAL CONSECRATION FUND. RECEIPTS.
From bills payable 7,724 00 From deposit account 4,900 00 Corrections 3 35  Total $16,965 14	Balance last report.       $ 1,066 07         Corrections.       3 50         Donations       5 00         Interest.       36 68         Total.       $ 1,111 25
Due church last report	TOTAL ASSETS OF CHURCH AND HOME.
'' real estate	January 10, 1901.
" deposit accounts       68 26         " corrections       2,031 74         Balance on hand       448 89	Church less $6,500.00 due from Home$84,539 32 Saints' Home
HOME FUND.	TOTAL LIABILITIES AGAINST CHURCH AND HOME.
ASSETS.	January 10, 1901.
159½ acres land       $12,259       51         Buildings and fixtures       16,500       00         Real estate, Omaha, Nebraska       1,000       00         Live stock, grain, etc.       1,442       00         Accounts receivable       1,291       74         Cash       448       89	On church account.       $20,105 73         Home account less $6,500 00 due church.       6,031 74         Assets over all indebtedness.       91,343 99         Total.       $117,481 46
Total$32.942 14	E. L. KELLEY.
A sister, Neb., t. 150 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 A sister, Neb., t. 157 B sills receivable 3,318 Chapter, Sall and College 4,173 Chapter 3,318 Chapter. Sall and College 4,173 Chapter 3,318 Chapter. Sall and College 4,173 Chapter 3,318 Chapter. Sall and College 4,173 Chapter 3,318 Chapter. Sall and College 4,173 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chapter 3,318 Chap	Ark, t 5   Davis, F. B. and Emily Ark, t 5   D. Aork, t. 10   Dancer, W. H., Ore and 10   Dancer, W. H., Ore and 10   Dancer, Alice P., Iowa, t 5   Obstance, W. H., Ore and 10   Dancer, Alice P., Iowa, t 5   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 5   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 5   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 5   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 5   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 5   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 5   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 5   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 5   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 5   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 5   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 5   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 5   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obstance, Alice P., Iowa, t 10   Obst agent 30 00 1	$[ewlin, J. \underline{A}., Iowa, t 50 00]$	Redemption fund, W. B.	laylor, Mary A., Iowa, t. 10 00

Hawkes, Mrs. E. A., Minn., t 200	Kelley, Winfred B., 1 00	Veedham, Frank and John, Iowa, t		Peakle, Sr. Cordie, Iowa, t. 5 00 Pempleton, Flo., Iowa, t. 3 00
Minn., t 2 00 Harder, Hiram A., Kan., t. 31 75	Celley James M. Io. t. 25 00 7	Newton, Sr. C. J., Mo., t.579 00	cinda S. Hillen, I. T 1 00	Ferry, Alfred, Ill., t 5 00
Hartwell Sr.L.A., Iowa, e. 50 H	Kelley, W. D., Mont , t. 250 00 1	New, W. E., I. T., t 25 00	Redemption fund, Josiah	Taylor, Matthew, Iowa, t. 5 00
Hastings, Winter and I	Celley, Ed L., Jr., Iowa,	Nelson, Martena, Mo. t. 5 25	A. Crawford, I. T 1 00	Texas sufferers, R. A.
Agnes, Wash , t 3 50	t 20 00 1	Nelson, Robert, Mo., o 59	Redemption fund, Sarah	Ballantyne, coll 8 80
Hawkins, Mary, Cal., t 30 00 H	Kennicutt, Mabel, Mo., t. 1 25   Kennicutt, Pearl, Mo., t. 50	Minnie, Iowa, t 10 00	L. Crawford, I. T 1 00	Thomason, H. M., Iowa, t. 13 00
Haywood, Sr. E. J., Io., t. 2 50 Hayer, Oliver, Iowa, t 10 00 H		Novinger, Frank, Iowa, t 9 00	Redemption fund, Geo.  M. Rhonimus, I. T 1 00	Thomas, Julia A., Mass., t. 2 00 Thomas, H. H. and wife,
Heaton, Jane, Idaho, t 1 00	sale real estate, Col., t. 50 00	Nunley, T. J., Tenn., t., 10 00	Redemption fund, Mary	Iowa, t
Headrick, Sarah, Cal., o. 50 I	Kent, Mrs. Mary, Ill, t 2 00 0	Ontario, London district,	C. Stringer, I. T 1 00	Thomas, Ephraim, Pa., t. 20 00
Herald Publishing	Kirtland Temple fund,	R. C. Evans, agent1,132 31	Redemption fund, Nancy	Thorp Nancy, Kan., t 1 00
	visitors	I II The strict,	L. Jones, I. T 1 00	Tidland, Emily A., Minn., t 2 00
Henderson, A. T., Min-	Kirtland Temple fund on books, 20 88	J. H. Tyrrell, agent250 00	Redemption fund, Jas. 7 Riley, I. T 1 00	Tilton, Bro. and Sr. H. L., Cal., t 18 50
Herrick, L. M. Va., o. 36 00	Kling, M. J., Ohio, t 5 00	Owen, O., Eng., t 50 161	Redemption fund, M. J.	Titus, Israel P., Ohio, t 1 00
Herrick, L. M., Va., o 36 00 1 Herrick, L. M., Va., t170 00	Krucker, Rebecca, Iowa,t. 5 00	Parsons, Retta L., Neb., t. 2 00	Riley, I. T 1 00	Townsend, S., III., t 10,00
Herrick, Katherine,	Larson, Mary H., Utah, t. 2 00	Parsons, Sr. Wm X.,	Riggle, James E. and	Townsend, E. A., Iowa, t. 10 00 Torrance, W. B., Mo., o. 15
Iowa, t • 5 00	Lachapelle, Sr. M., S.D., t. 7 50	Neb., t 1 00	Minnie, Ky., t 10 00]	Torrance, W. B., Mo., o 15
Hilliard, Geo. H., coun-	Larsen, A. P., Utah, t 25 00   Larsen, A. P., Utah, dep. 26 00	loan		A sister, Iowa, t
Hilliard, Geo. H., acct 15 00	Larsen, A. F., Otan, dep. 20 00	Paris, J. D., B. C., t 10 00	Riley, John, I. T., t 1 00	and Nev., t
Hill Geo., Neb., t 35 00	Lawton, Dr. J. S., Mo., t. 6 50	Parmer, David, Ark, t 1 92	Riggs, O. H., Ohio, t 50 00	Tripp, Almedia, Wash.,t 1 00
Hickman, Sr. N. E.,	Layland, A. J., Idaho, t. 6 00	Patton, Rose E., S Dak., t. 1 15	Ringland, Sr. Wm.,	Tract fund, John Boswell. 90
Mo., t 50	Lane, I. M., Iowa, t 1 00	Patton, Nancy M., S. Dak., t 2 15	Manitoba, t 5 00	Tract fund, a sister 18 00 Tract fund, Geo.H.Wells. 1 58
Hicks, T. A, Wash, acct. 50 00 Hicks, Bro. and Sr. W.	Langdon, Geo., Iowa, t 4 00 Law, Samuel and family,	Penrod, Mrs. A. D., Ore., t. 4 50	Rodger, J. B., Ill., t 69 00 Rogers, I. L., estate 27 00	Tract fund, Geo.H. Wells. 1 58 Tract fund, Willard
_T., Wash., t 15 00	N. J., t 30 00	Petre. E. E. Mo. t 10 00	Rogers, S. A., Neb., t 25 00	Hetrick 1 00
Hitchcock, Geo. W.,	Lane, Mary, Iowa, t 2 00	Pennsylvania, Philadel-	Roach, Mrs. Dicy, Ind.,t. 6 55	Tract fund, Mary H. Ray-
Mo., t	Leach. R. W., S. Dak., o 15 00	Pennsylvania, Philadel- phia district, J. Zim-	Roberts, Alice E., Wyo., t. 10 00	mond 1 00
Hipp, Chas., Neb., t 1 00	Leach, Sarah J., S. Dak.t. 8 50 Lewis, Mary, N. Y., t 2 00	ermann, agent100 00	Roberts, Mrs. H. A.,	Tract fund, Sr. S E.Cook. 1 00
Hodge, Elizabeth G.,	Lewis, Mary, N. Y., t 2 00	Pennsylvania, Pittsburg	Cal, t	Tract fund, C. A. Beebe 10 00 Turner, Mary E., Kan., t. 1 75
Neb., t	Nellie, Iowa, o 5 00	and West Virginia dis- triet, L. D. Ullom, agent 672 85	Roberts, Mary E., Io., t. 5 00 Rolstin, Nancy J., Mo., t. 5 00	Turman, Joseph, Iowa, t. 5 00
Wash, t 3 00	Limpus, Frank, Wyo., t. 10 00	Phelps, I. A., Cal., t 14 40	Robertson, W. H., In-	Tyler, Susan, Kan., t 7 00
Hooker, J. Monroe,	Limpus, Sr. M. E., Wyo t. 5 00	Pierce Frank J Kan † 1501	diana, t 3 00	Tyler, Susan, Kan, t 7 00 Upton, Alma, Ore, t 8 00
Wash., t 4 50	Lippincott, James F. and	Pierce, Frank J., Kan,	Roach, Geo. W. and I	Van Eaton J. H., Wash, t., 5 00
Hopkins, Mrs. Sarah B., N. J., t	Jane S., Neb., t	ret. Ioan	Dicy, Ind., t 5 00 Ronat W. E. Jowa t. 25 00	Van Eaton, E.A., Wash., t 5 00 Van Eaton, G.F., Wash., t. 5 00
Hoffman, Alexander and	London, England, church.	Poling, Josephine, III. o., 3 751	Ronat, M. E., Cal., dep.	Vickery, Bro. and Sr. A.
Sadie, Idaho, t 20 00 Hoyt, Mrs. M. J., Io., t 1 00	returned loan 20 00	Porter, C. H., Neb., t 72 92	acct	J., Ala., t 37 17
Hoyt, Mrs. M. J., Io., t 1 00	Live stock 25 00	Proctor, Sr. Marg. and	Ronat, M. E., Cal., per	Virginia, New Hope dis-
Houck, Sr. G. C., 10., t 5 00	Love, Sr. John, Kan., t 2 50]	daughter, per H. O.,	Griffiths 10 00	trict, Isaac Coffman,
Hougas, John, Iowa, t 2 10 Hufferd, J W., I. T., t 14 00	Loan, Anna C. Anderson. 20 00 Louisville, Kentucky,	Ore., o	Roseberry, E., Cal., t 1 00 Rood, Mary A., Iowa, t 5 00	agent
Hulse, Elizabeth, Michi-	branch, o 8 00	Prall, O. E., Iowa, t235 00	Rudd, James, Mo., t 8 00	Walling, W. H., S Dak., t. 8 82
gan, t 15 00	Loan returned, Grace-	Preston, S. J. and wife,	Russell, F. A., Iowa, t 35 00	Walls, Addie Belle, Io, t. 600
Hutchins, L. H., Col., t. 1 00	land College212 40	Neb., t 15 00	Salisbury, Flora, Ill , t 12 00	Walls, Albertus, Iowa, t. 30 00
Hutchins, A. A., Col., t. 80 Hutchins, G. A., Col., t. 80	Lobsien, Carl Wash., t200 001 Lovell. Nephi, Iowa, t 6 00	Premo, Minerva, Minn.,t. 5 001		Walters, R. T., Mo., o 13 24 Wannberg, S. A., Utah, t. 20 00
	Lundwall, Andreas,	Pyle, Catherine, Iowa,	nois, t	Ward, Joseph, Ark, t 10 41
Col., t	Mont., t 4 70	ret. loan 11 25	dence 9 00	Ware, Rosa, Iowa, t 50
Idylwild, Kan., church	Lufkin, Mrs. C. H., Ill., t. 2 00	Public libraries 30	Sale Transcript of Evi-	Watrous, Rosa, Mont., o. 5 00
ins., dep	Lufkin, Susan, Ill., t 2 00 Lytle, Herbert, Neb., t 3 75	Rathbun.Mrs.G.L., N.Y., 1 00 Raymond, Mary H.,	dence 1 00 Sampson, Alice M.,	Watrous, Rosa and Emma, Mont, t 500
trict, F. M. Slover,	McClain, Henry T, I.	Mont., o	Wyo., t	Watson, Mrs. Ann, Wash-agent 95 00	T., t	Real estate, C.A. Johnson. 100 00	Saints' Home, on acct. 1,764 55	ington, t 2 50
Independence church	McGalliard, Isaac, Kan., t 163 70	Real estate, W.M. Harp 1,520 00		Weed, Sarah L., Neb, t. 500
	McLaughlin, Wm. O., Iowa, t 1 00	Real estate, Rasmus Mar- tin1 800 00	Mo., t 8 00	Weed, Jennie, Neb., t 5 00 Webber, Daniel, returned
Independence church fund	McClenahan, Mrs. A. M	Real estate, sale improve-	wife, Ind., t 20 90	loan 4 00
Independence reunion	Iowa, t 15 00	ments		Weedmark, E., ret. loan. 21 70
committee, per E.	McCulley, Nellie I.,	Real estate, Plano, Ill 343 56	Schweers, Fred A., Io.,t. 5 00	Weber, Sarah, Ark, t125 00
Short 5 00 Independence temple	Ore t 6 37	Real estate, taxes ret 13 21	S., E. L., I. T., t 1 00	Weldon, Bro., per C. B. Brown, Iowa, ret. aid 5 00
consecration fund1,106 25	McMillen, Mrs. B. A., Wash., t 6 70	Real estate, John Scott100 00 Real estate, sale, Blue	braska t 1 00	Welts, R. E., Mich., t 10 00
Independence temple	McNutt, F. J. and wife,	Rapids, Neb 150 00	Seeger, Henry, III., t 2 001	Wellington, Martha, Io., t. 3 00
consecration fund, per	Kan., t 16 00	Real estate, J. S. Snively, 15 00	Severance, Jennie M.	Whitney, Mrs. R. J., Ill., o. 40
	McNutt, Lena, Kan., t 3 00	Real estate, Saints'	Wash., t	Wheeler, Jos., Id., t 6 50
India relief fund, R. C. Evans 16 75	McNutt, Greta, Kan., t 50 McNutt, Hugh, Kan., t 50	Real estate, contract,	Sherrill, Ethan A., Tex-	Wheatley, David, Iowa,t. 8 10
Imma relief fund, N.	McDougal, Matilda,	Jos. A. Small200 00	&s, t 10 00	White, Frank, Iowa, t 75
Paulson 1 95	Kan., t 4 00	Real estate, E. Gardiner,	Suicr, James, Minn., o. 1980	Wight, Estella, Kan, t 15 00
Iowa, Pottawattamie	McGuire, John A., Jr.,	ret 50	Shearer, Sr. C. Y.,	Wight, Sr. E. J., Iowa, t. 3 64
district, J. P. Carlile,	N. J., t	Real estate, contract, C. J. Peat100 00	Ohio, t	Wight, L. L., Texas, t 54 75 Wilson, Wm., Jowa, t 5 00
Iowa, Des Moines dis-	Massachusetts district, R.	Rent, account 30 00	Sheldon, Wm. T. and	Wilkinson James, Io., t. 11 00
trict, W. E. Nirk,	Bullard, bishop 650 00	Reneau, Mrs L.C., Neb., t. 5 00	wife, Wash. t 50 00	Williams, H E., Okla., t 5 00
agent568 01	Mason, Henry D., Mont., t. 21 00		Shoemaker, W. W., Tex., t. 1 00	Williams, Mansel, Col., t. 2 50
Iowa, Galland's Grove district, C. J. Hunt,	Matthews, Mrs. M. M., Md., t100 00	O., Iowa, t 50 00 Reynolds, Edward, Ill., t. 1 00	Short, M. T., Mo., t 25 00 Skank, Geo F., Iowa, t. 30 40	Winship, Henry, Pa. t 6 45
bishop1.381 89	Memorial fund 48 83	Revnolds, F. M., Mo., t., 20 00	Skank, Ethel I., Iowa, t 13 00	Wisdom, Sr. Belle, Ne-
Iowa, Eastern district.	Metcalf, James W., Ky., t. 8 80	Reynolds, F. M., Mo., t 20 00 Richards, Wm. J., Iowa,t. 5 00	Skank, G. Fred and wife,	braska, t 2 00
John Heide, agent700 00	Metcalf, Sidney, Ky., t 12 00 Merryman, H. E., Col, t. 3 70	Redemption fund, Mrs.	Iowa, t 2 00	Winship, Henry and Mary, Pa, t 3 00
Iowa, Fremont district, Wm. Leeka, bishop556 36	Merryman, H. E., Coi, t. 5 70	R. L. Goreham, Iowa. 100 Redemption fund, John	Smith, A. J., Minn., t 4 25 Smith, Mrs. S.B., Mich., o. 2 00	Woodhead, Mrs. C.,
Iowa and Illinois, Nau-	trict, J. J. Cornish.	Shaw, Ont 1 00	Smith, J. W., Neb., o 5 00	Utah, t 6 00
voo district, Geo. P.	agent100 oc	Redemption fund, Mary	Smith, Joseph, Iowa, ret.	Woodhead, Nettie,
Lambert, agent 2 00	Michigan and Northern	Shaw. Ont 1 00	on acct 3 10	Utah, t 1 00
Interest	Indiana district, S. Stroh, agent 80 00	Redemption fund, Nellie Murphy, Ont 1 00	Smith, John and Kate, Iowa, t 19 55	Wood, Melissa, Neb., t 10 Wood, Henry, Neb., t 15 50
Jacobson, Andrew, Mis-	Minnesota district, W. W.	Redemption fund, Julia	Smith, J. B., Utah, t 1 00	Wood, Henry, Neb., t 15 50 Wolfe, Sr. Lillian, Mo., t. 1 75
souri, o	McLeod, agent229 00	A. Thomas, Maine 1 00	Smith, Ona, Mo., t 1 00	Woolsey, Emma, for a
James, R. C., Iowa, t 6 00	Miller, Sr. Amos, Ill, t 5 00	Redemption fund, Martha	Smith, Heman Hale Io., t. 1 00	sister, Neb., t. and o1,313 00
Jamison, Rebecca, Io., t. 100 Jasperson, Sara (de-	Mink, John M., Iowa, t 30 00 Millikin, Geo. W.D., Ill., t. 1 75	A. Murray, Maine 1 00 Redemption fund, Sarah	Society Islands, printing press acct 9 82	Woolfenden, Florence, Utah, t 10 00 ceased), by H. H. Jas-	Miner, Henry D., Iowa, o. 50	Headrick, Cal 1 00	press acct	Woolsey, Emma, Neb., person, Mo., o1,000 00	Minor, Sr. C. A., Ore., t 20 00	Redemption fund. Jennie	Courses M H Kon + 0 50	don 2 128 00
Jenkins, Geo., Ind., o 53 18	Missouri, Northeast dis-			Wright, Margaret S., Iowa, t 12 00
Jenkins, Rees, Pa., t 1 00 Jennings, Mrs. Annie,	agent on T. Williams,	V. Aldridge, Cal 1 00	Spencer, Mrs. H. B., Okla t. 1 00 Strickland, Sr. N. F., Ore., t 5 00 Strickland, Sr. N. F. and daughter, Ore., t	Youngson, L. Idaho, t 72 00
Cal., t 6 25	agent	Redemption fund, Lloyd	daughter Ore. t 10 25	York, B. H. and wife.
Jepperson, Sr. Amanda,	trict, J. G. Smith,	Marteeny, Neb 1 00	Stricklin, W. S. and Min-	Missouri, t 2 00
Iowa, t	Missouri, St. Louis district, J. G. Smith, agent	Redemption fund, C. E.	nie, Mo., t 10 00	Young, Martha A., Io., t. 29 45
Johnson, Mary, West Virginia t 5 00	Missouri, Nodaway dis- trict, R. K. Ross, agent. 400 00	Tillinghast, Kan 1 00 Redemption fund, Mrs.	Stewartswille reunion per	Zenor, Sophia. Neb., o 10 00
Virginia, t 5 00 Johnson, Mattie, Iowa,	Morris, Thos., Minn., t 27 00	M. Lachapelle, S. Dak. 7 50	C. P. Faul, o	Total$89,030 87
acct 1 00	Morris, Thos., Minn., t 27 00 Morrow, Joseph, Iowa, t 50 Moody, Mrs.R.C., Minn., t. 500	Redemption fund, Elea-	Steele, J. W., Cal., t 35 00 Stark, T. R., Ark., t 5 00 Stoddard, Will A., Neb., t. 36 00	EXPENDITURES.
Johnson, Mrs. C. A.,	Moody, Mrs. R.C., Minn., t. 5 00	nor S. Cadwell, Kan 1 00	Stoddard, Will A., Neb., t. 36 00
Johnson, Wm., B. C., t. 5 00	Moraut, J. R., Neb., o 1 00 Morrill, Joseph, Iowa, t 1 00	Redemption fund, Wal- ter E. Goreham, Iowa. 100	Stoddard, Will and Ida.	Adams J. W. a. 34 69
Johnson, Bernt, Minn., t. 5 00	Movery, Sr. P., Iowa, t 1 00	Redemption fund, A.	Stevens, Sr.S.S. Wash t 20 00	Adams, J. W., e 34 69 Aid account, Saints'
Julian, J. S., acet 25 00	Murray, Sr.E.A., Wash., t. 5 00	Barnhard, Minn 1 00	Stone, A. C., S. Dak., t 13 50	Home2,470 50
Julian, J. S., acct 25 00 Kansas, Northwestern	Nebraska, Northern dis-	Redemption fund, Lucy	Stedman, E. A., Iowa, o 4 25	Allen, Arthur, e 13 14
district, Arthur Smith,	trict, Jas. Huff, agent940 00	Barnhard, Minn 1 00 Redemption fund, Ella	St. Louis branch, o 10 00	Anthony, R. J., e
Kansas, Spring River	triet, Levi Gamet.agent.175 00		Tarkelson, Niels, Mont., t., 5 00	Anderson, Peter, e 37 00
district, Arthur Smith, agent	Nevada district, D. R.	Redemption fund, Noah	Tarrant, J. D., Ore., t 8 50	Anderson, David A., e 70 00
	000cs, agen	Karahoo, I. T 1 00	Talcott, Belle S Dak., o. 50	Anderson, Peter, L 30 00
Kansas, Northeastern district, L Cairns	New York district, Thos. Lester agent100 00	Redemption fund, Mary J. Karahoo, I. T 1 00	Tanner, Amy, Mich., t 2 00 Taylor, Dora, Wash., t 16 00	loan aid
aspeton a- Antitia	of money macrimental ho	8	1 - m. 101 , 101 , 10 , 10 , 10 , 10 , 10 , 1	i varieti mirimoninisismussumsseim AA

Anderson, David A., f120 00	Expense, High Council 5 09	Kephart, W. ft., e 37 85	Real estate, recording	Thorburn, Geo. W., f 75 00
Aylor, W. M., e	Expense, Patriarch's office122 53	Kephart, W. H., f 30 00 Kirtland Temple re-	deeds	Thorburn, Geo. W. e 15 00 Thomas, O. B., e 30 00
Baggerly, James M., e 60 75	Farmer, John. a 85 39	pairs 172 22	Real estate, repairs 55 15	Turpen, M. M., e 10 29
Baggerly, Isaac P., e 85 76 Baker, A. M., f 22 00	rapher 4 00	Kirtland Temple gas well	Real estate, N.E. L. & T. Co500 00	Tracts, Wm. T. Roach, Missouri 1 15
Baker, A. M., e 36 00 Barmore, Elizabeth, f106 00	Florida district, S. D	Kirtland Ohio mission	Real (state, lot, Inde- pendence, Mo200 00	" J. M. Baggerly, Minn 2 68
Barmore, A. C., e 11 00	Forscutt, Mark H, e 88 03	per H. C S 36 00	Real estate, expense sale 16 00	" Chas. Albertson,
Barrett Mrs Geo (aid)	Forscutt, Mark H., acet 74 89 Foss, S. O., f	Krah!, D J., bookkeeper. 305 00 Lanyon, W. C., a 13 00	Real estate. Vernou place, California400 00	Idaho 4 13  M. R. Scott, Jr.,
loan, 6 00	Foss, S. O., e	Lake, John H., e 20 00	Real estate, John R. Sloane Mo800 00	Ind 2 62 "Henry Sparling,
Beckley, J. R., e 17 36	Fry, Charles, e 2 41	Landes, Rebecca, acct 44	Real estate, R. May, Mo. 425 00	Мо 68
Beatty, T. J., e	Fuller, Wm. H., e 96 00 Gallop, Mrs. Agnes, a 1 50	LaRue, W. E., e 15 16 Layland, A. J., e 15 00	Real estate contract, M. A. Wickes 2 00	" Oscar Case, Neb 3 13 " White, Roach and
Beach, Sr., a	Galveston sufferers 8 80 Gildersleeve, Mrs. C. E,	Leland, Jennie M., book-	Rent, Minnie A. Wickes104 00 Renfroe, B. F., e 40 00	Marshall, Mo
Belvine, H. W., e 5 90	acct. quilt 3 15	keeper and stenogra- pher 148 00	Khoads, W. H., e 25 00	" Henry C. Smith,
Beebe, G. W., Jr., e 26 00 Bennett, Alma, a 4 80	Godbey, G. H., f	Lewis, Mary A., acct 134 00	Rich, C. H., f	" Hubert Case Okla 2 90
Berve, Amos, e 7 60	Goodrich, V. M., e 29 75	Library, church 150 90 Librarian's office,	Roberts, I. N., e 95 35	" E. J. Lang, Ill 4 53
Bills receivable 14.285 36	Goodno, Rosa Lee, a 15 00 Goodwin, N. A., a 3 00	church, e	Roach, Wm. T , e 46 00 Robley, George W., e 25 00	Dakota 4 11
Blakeslee, E. A., e 40 00	Go dwin, E. A., e	Live stock 60 00	Robinson, W. P., e 9 45 Rock Island, Illinois,	" Eli Hayer, Minn. 3 47 " J. W. Adams, Ill. 1 34
Blair, Fred B., f	Goodenough, E. J., e 15 60	Loan returned, Sheba Bell 50 00 Loan, Graceland college. 520 25	branch Mrs. C.M John-	" David A. Ander-
Blakesley, Mary E., a 30 00	Gould, Leon A., f 90 00	Love, S. D., e	son, treasurer 50 00 Ronat, M. E. dep acct 4,925 03	son, Cal 5 61 " F. M. Cooper, III. 50
Blue Rapids, Kansas,	Gould. Leon A., e	Luff, Joseph, f 70 00	Roush, Harriet, loan 17 00	" W. H. Mannering,
Bond, M. H., e 30 00	Griffiths, G. T., e 55 00	McDowell, W. A., e 39 32 McDowell, J. F., e 20 00	Roush, J. B. e	" R. E. Lee 12
Bogue, I. A., acct 42 00 Bogue, I. A., real estate	Griffiths, G. T., e	McDowell, J. F., (correction)	Rushton, J. W., e	" Hiram Dickhout, Ont 2 39
loan	Graves, George H., f., 14 00	McKiernan, James, e 30 20	Sawley, F. L , f 85 00	M ller and Russell 10
Boswell, J. J., e	cago mission, hall rent 125 00	McClure. Lewis, per P. Cadwell, Kan, a 40 00	Sawley, F. L. e	"R.J. Parker, Utah. 6 21
Briggs, Mrs. Louisa, a 50 00	Graves, George H., e 15 00	McIntosh, Jeanette, Io., a. 10 00	Saints' Home	" Fred'k Gregory, Ont 3 10
Briggs, E. C., f 85 00	work 3 30	Maine, Eastern district, U. M. Kelley, agent 80 00	Scott, M. R., Jr., e 35 00	" J. R. Sutton. Iowa 2 77
Bryan, J. W., f	Granger, Frank. e 15 00 Grant, J. A., e 41 33	Macrae, W. S., f200 00	Scott, M. R., Sr., f	" J. Alfred Davis, Mo 2 35
Busn, Geo. W., loan 5 00	Gurwell, L. Grant, e 76 41	Macrae, W. S., e	Scott, Louisa A., a 10 00	" D.S Crawley, IT, 3 24
Butterworth, C. E., e 6 55	books, e 39 00	Maloney, R. M., f 65 00 Marshall, W. C., f 25 00	Scott, J. M., f	" per bill H. O 21 54
Campbell, Duncan, audit-	Graceland College1,252 31 Harrop, Charles, a 36 00	Marshall, W. C., e 34 85	Scott, Columbus, e 59 57 Scott, S. W. L., e 25 00	" W.S.Pender.Utah. 1 80
Campbell, Duncan, e 26 31	Harris, D. L., e	Mannering, W. H., e 25 02 Mason, Mrs. M. E., a 1 25	Scott, S. M , f 20 00	" Barnard reunion,
Case, Hubert, f 20 00	Hackett, J. T., f 30 00 Hayer, Eli, e 75 54	Merritt, Deborah C., acet. 3 44 Merchandise 25 00	Scott S. M., e	Mo 2 86 " E.H.Durand, Mich. 2 43
Case, Hubert, e 22 50	Haden, W. E., e 29 04 Hanson, A. B., e 21 64	Missouri, Southern dis-	Scott, James M., e 15 00	" Eben Miller, Ohio 5 67
Calhoun, John, a 4 00	Hanson, A. B., f 25 00	trict, Henry Sparling,	Seelye Mary Ann, estate 95 00 Self. W. M., e 12 75	" Geo. H. Wells, Io. 2 41
Cato, Mrs. M. E., a 70 00 Carpenter, C. I., assistant	Hansen, M. P., e 116 85 Hardesty, M. J., a 20 00	agent	Shippy, John, a	" R. W. Davis, Okla. 2 52 " Levi Gamet, Neb 2 88
recorder, e144 67	Hawley, Jerusha and		Sheppard, T. J., e 20 00	" J. W. Rushton, California, Southern dis-	Harder, Hiram A., dep.	Minnesota mission, per I.	Sheldon, T. J., e	" Joseph Ward, Ark. 1 75
trict, A. Carmichael,	account	N. Roberts, Hymnals 1 50 Michigan, Southern dis-	Shinn. D. L., e	" J.F. Mintun Iowa. 4 26 " J. W. Morgan Io. 1 50
Chathum T. W. e 60 00	Hansen H N 🔈 90 06	trict, Samuel Stroh agt. 80 00 Missouri, Clinton district,	Silvers, A. C. e 54 19	" H. P. Jackson 45
Chase, A. M., f	Henson, E. L., e 3 96 Hill, John, a 8 00	Geo. w. beene, Sr., agt., 550 00	Simmons, S. W., children's schooling 80 00	" F. G. Pitt. Pa 1 24
Chase, A. M., e 35 00	Hills, L. E., e 3 75 Hilliard, Geo. H., loan 400 00	Missouri, Northeastern	Simmons, S. W., f 20 00 Simmons, S. W., e 46 00	" T.J.Sheldon.Iowa. 1 67
Closson, Mrs. A. V., f 130, 00	) Hilliard Geo H f 115 00	Missouri, St. Louis dis-	Smart, W. H., e 59 00	" W. M. Aylor, Okla. 1 35
Clapp, J. C., e 84 48	Hilliard, Geo. H., e 60 00 Historian's office, e 102 00	Intoici, cames, c at ou		"S D.Condit, Idaho. 1 31 "C. J.Spurlock, Mo. 1 22
Condit, S. D., f 12 50	Hodson, W. S., e 20 00	Moler, H. E. e 22 43	Smith, Fred'k A., e 10 00	" D. L. Harris, Ore., 2 70
Cooper F M o 25 00	Hoit, H. L., e	Morgan, J. W., e., 20 00	Smith, Henry C., f and e.114 19	" J. W. Moxon, Ark. 1 53
Cooper, Mrs. I. N. W.,	Hougas, John, work 21 00 Hudgens, Mrs. J. W., f 30 00 Hudgens, Mrs. J. W., f. 30 00	Reese, agent 50 00	Smith, Henry C., f 21 61	J. M. Sco t, Ky 4 45
	Hunt, C. J., e		Smith S S e 40 20	" Isaac Hyder 45
Crabb, J. C., e 70 18	Indiana, Southern dis-	[Moore, A. B., e 14 20	Smith, Mrs. T. W., a 15 00 Smith, Heman C., f 65 00	" Lewis Berger, N.Y. 35
Curlis, H. P., e	trict, David Hurbaugh, agent257 00	Nebraska, Central dis- trict, Levi Gamet, agent. 90 00	Smith, W. A., e 14 66 Smith, Ethel, a 5 00	" H. C. Smith, Ohio. 4 23 " W. R. Smith, Okla. 4 50
turned loan 70 00	India relief fund 18 70	Newton, Wm., ret. rent on acct	Smith, Geo. A., e 15 00	" J. R. Sutton, lowa. 1 46
Curtis, J. F., e	committee 41 00	Newton, Wm., e 15 00	Smith, H O., e	1 C. E. Hand, 10wa 4 65
Cushman, S. F., dep 25 00	Idvlwild.Kansas.church.	Newton, Wm., (correction) 20 00 Nunley, E. W., f 70 00	Smith, H O., f 75 00 Smith, Walter W., e 19 75	" A. M. Baker, Kan 1 94 " M. T. Short Mo 2 84
Davison, H. J., e 35 00	ret. dep	Nutt, Thomas, a100 00	Smith, Joseph, allow-	" W.S. Macrae, I. T. 92
Daley, Thomas, e	fund	Oklahoma district, S. J. Hinkle, agent	ance	"A. B. Hanson, Col. 1 13 "I N.Roberts, Minn. 1 35
Davis, R. W., e 35 00	Geo. P.Lambert, agent. 107 94	Ohio, Kirtland district, Eben Miller, agent 50 00	Smith, Elbert A., e 55 00	R Wight, Iowa 1 35
Davis, J. Alfred, e 25 00	Illinois. Nauvoo district, Geo. P.Lambert, agent. 107 94 Howa, Decatur district, F. M. Weld, agent 700 00 Howa. Decatur district,	Oregon district, Alma	repher work 58 00	" C.A)bertson, Idaho 1 75 " S.D. Condit, Mont 1 44
Davis, J. Arthur, f 20 00 Davis, John, e 35 00	lowa. Decatur district, Wm. Anderson.	Morris, agent	Smith, W. R., f	" R.B. Howlett, Ont. 23 " A. Guinand, Kan 09
Davis, J. Arthur, e 40 00	bishop 2,280 34	Parsons, A. H., f125 00	Smith, David H., Ill., a. 8 12	" A.N Bishop, Wales 1 35
Davis, William, e 14 81	Insurance, acct
Dorsey, Richard J., a 2 75	ference stenographer 35 00	Page, E. L., a	Sory, M. L., e 10 00	W. D. Ellis, Mich. 90 Tract fund, correction 2 00 Wahlstrom. John, loan 29 00 Walter, G. J., acct 153 10 Walters R. T., e
Duncan, C. R., e 65 00	Jenkins, George, 1 194 18	Peak, W. E., e	Sorensen, S. K., e 14 90 Sorensen, S. K., f 60 00	Waller, G. J., acct153 10
Duluth mission, Minn 8 00 Durand, E. H. e 12 00	Johnson, L. F., e 10 00	Pender, W. S. e	Sparling, Henry, e 35 00	Walters, R. T., e
Ebeling, F. J., e 20 00	Johnson, Mattie, acct 16 00	Petre, E. E., (correction). 20 00	Stebbins, H. A., allow-	Walker, Mrs. M., e 10 00
Elvin, R. M., f	Kansas, Northeast dis- trict, John Cairns,	Phillips, A. B., e	Stead, J. D., f240 00	Waker, Joshua S., f 30 00 Warlock, Maggie, correc-
Elvin, R. M., auditing	Kansas, Northeast dis- trict, John Cairns, agent	Pierce, Frank J., loan 8 00	Stead, J. D., e 12 17	tion 3 00 Ward, Joseph, f
Elvin, R. M., e 32 44	Keck, F. C. e 21 50	Pitt, F. G., e	Stephenson, J. N., e 31 34	Ward, Joseph, 1
Enge. N. C., f	Keck, A. J., e 6 00	Poor 15 10	St. John. Beni., e 26 42	Wells, Gomer R., f 60 00
Etzenhouser, R., e 30 00	Kemp, Henry, e 5 00 Kelley, W. H., Iowa, f756 44	Porter, C. H., e	Stubbart, J. M., e 7 85	Wells, Gomer R., e 87 75
Expense, Bishop's office 216 48	Kelley, W. H., Iowa, e. 173 95 Kelley, E. L., e 482 53	Pruyn, Matthew, ret 20 00	Sutton, J. R., e 5 18	Weller, Sarah, on cont114 00
nue 60 39	Kelley, E. L., f	Pruit, W. H., e	Sutton, Mrs. J. R., f 20 00 Summerfield, Wm. E. e. 7 00	Weldon, Bro . Iowa, per B. Brown, a 5 00
Expense, postage 84 45 Expense, Independence	Kelley, Ed L . Jr., book-	Prettyman, C. W., e 4 15	Swenson, Swen, e 106 78	Weld. F. M., auditing committee 54 00	ll Kelley, W. H., Ind., a 65 00.	Pyle, Catherine, acct 15 00 Pyle, Catherine, loan 17 50	Terry J M . f	Wheeler, Mrs. C. A., f. aid275 00
Expense, general church540 37 Expense. Secretary's	Kelley, T. C., e 18 33	Quorum of Twelve, e 2 08	l'exas, Western district,	White, John D., e 11 23 White, T. R, e 9 28
office	Kelley, W. H., 15d., f 31 75	Real estate, No. 10.554551 46	Texas, Northern district.	Whiteaker, A. L., e 10 00 Whiteaker, A. L., f 90 00
	Kent, Alma, e 68 74 Keeler, Mrs. Minnie, a 10 00	lease 1 00	Thompson, Wm., f 85 00	White, A., £
	· San San San San San San San San San San	4	A Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of the Commence of

White 4 - 10.00	1 A T 3/7	Expenditures.	NORTHERN DISTRICT.	Stockton church, taxes 20 10
White, A., e	*western Texas district 5 00	W. L. Booker, f $ 80 00	C. A. Parkin, Agent.	Smith, Clara A., f 15 00
White, D. C., e	John W Sherrill, Texas, o. 1 00 C. A. Schuster, Texas, t 3 00	Postage 38	Receipts.	Vernon, Joseph
Wight L. L. f 167 Oc		Total $ 80 38	Balance due church	Sheehy. Frank M., e 74 50 Expense, stationery,
Wight, L. L., e	Total$1,258 02	Due church $ 53 13	January 1, 1900 $475 19 Anthony, Mary E 20 00	fares, etc 10 72
Wight, J. W., e 26 85 Wight, J. W., extra (sick-		$133 51	Anthony, Jacob A 52 55 Askew, James 70 00	Stockton church tax 6 94 Stockton church inness) 28 50	Due G. H. Hilliard,		Arthur, M 31 20	surance
Wight, D. W., f 30 00 Witcher, Ray, railroad	January 1, 1900$ 47 38 R. B. Hillard, f240 00	AUSTRALIA.	Bennett, John 2 25 Balchen, Gustave E 4 00
Tare, a 5 0(	E. L. Kelley, Bishop667 00 Elder W.W.Blanchard, e 10 00		l Batterfield. (†. () 50	Total $1,536 69 Due church475 54
Witcher, Lottie, a	G. H. Hilliard264 00	VICTORIA DISTRICT.	Bohall, Wm. M 10 00 Case, William 2 00	$2,012 23
Williams, T. W., e 55 00 Wildermuth J. B. e. 12 50	Total$1,228 38	David Craig, Agent.	Cannon, Nancy 1 00 Chase, E. S. and wife 36 00	92,013 20
Williams, M. B., loan	Due church 29 64	Receipts. Due church January 1.	Cooper, Etta 5 00	SOUTHERN DISTRICT.
trict. Wm. Hutchinson.	$1.258 02	1900$12 02	Cooper, Sr. C. A	A. Carmichael, Agent.
Wisconsin mission, per J.	ACCOUNTS WITH	Daxier, inomas 1., Sr., t. 4 86	Cobb. Esther 1 00	Receipts.
M. Baggerly 10 00		A . t 6 31	Driver, John 61 00 Driver, Mattie 1 50	Balance due church, January 1, 1900$371 07
Woodburn, Elizabeth, a 5 00 Woolsey, Emma, acct2,128 00	BISHOP'S AGENTS.	Butterworth, Sarah Ann. t. 23 08 Carmichael, Martha,t. 3 40	Driver, Lettle 7 40	To correct former report,
Total$83,920 31	ALABAMA. ALABAMA DISTRICT.	Craig James D., t 24 30	Darrow, M 6 25	Ames Ollie May t 6 00
Balance on hand 5,110 56		Craig, John, t 2 43 Craig, Mary Emma, t 14 58	Day, Charles 2 50	Aldridge, Emma, t
$89,030 87	T	Craig. Sarah, t	Douglass, W. A. and	Aldridge. Nellie, t 8 50 Aid society, sisters, San
	Balanca due church	Haney, Godfrey W., t 3-88	Drier, Ferdinand . 25 00	Barnardino 5 60
REPORT OF GEORGE	Amerson, John A 5 00	Lane, Sr. S., t	Frazier, J. E	Adams, Grace, t
H. HILLIARD, COUNSELOR.	Baldwin. John W 7 75	Mackie, Grace, t 68	Friend	Bedford, Lou, t 8 00
Receipts.	Etiker, Frank 50	Minnis, Andrew, t 9 72	Gibbs, Nora 10 50	Branch, Newport (record-
Noah N. Cooke. St.	Hawkins. J J 10 00 Harp, Manning K 21 70	ton, t 9 72	Gregory, Joseph O 5 00	ing deeds)
Louis, t and o $ 75 00	Harper, James R 3 00	1 r rosser, John C., L.,,,,,,,, 12 15	1 10110 21 45	Ponnott Unarotia # 29 95
Sr. J. R. Gauger, Ill., t., 15 0a Sr. Heppie Morris, Ill., o. 1 0a	Harper, Mittle A 1 00	Wiffen, Anna, O 1 21	Jorgensen Nettie 5 (6	Best, Flora, t
Lum Lowry, Ill. o 2	Long, S. M	Woolley, Athton, Sr., o 9 72	Julian, J. S 20 00	Bedford, Annie, t 2 00
John Adam Bensing,	McCall, Martha 4 00	Total$216 47	KIASORCI, OUSOPH 40 OII	Behnke, C. W., t 20 00
J. G. Smith. agent, St. Louis district400 00	McPherson, W. S	Expenditures.	Knight, Jane 8 50	Cady, Florence, o
J. G. Smith, agent,	Sellers, James L 5 00	Sn O A Buttonwouth $ 2101 17	Kettridge, D 1 25	Charmichael, Margaret
Newton King, Ill., o 50	Sellers, Osgood	Due church$ 25 30	Keefer, John	C., t
Arthur Barroughs, Illinois, t 2 00	Sel ers. Geo O100 00   Vickrey, J. G 5 50		Landes, Cora	Craw, Mary Ellen, t 4 75 Crumley, William t 71 55
Lewis Brown and wife.	Vickrey, Mrs Dora 3 50	CATEGODATA	McGee, Kate 35 00	Crumley, Chas. E., Sr., o. 2 65 Crumley, Edna May, t 25 00
Ill., t 50 00 Henry Ayers, Ill 2 35		CALIFORNIA.	Milgate, Annie S	Crumley, Edna May, t 25 00 Crumley, Ethel, t 27 00
Sr. B. B. Skinner, Mo 3 20	Vickrey, Minnie and	CENTRAL DISTRICT.	Matson, Ben 93 60	Damron, Andrew J., t113 50
Sr. R. L. Goreham. Io 10 00 E. L. Kellev, Bishop175 00	Weaver, Albert A 1 00	Albert Page, Agent.	Morrison, Wallace and wife 10 00	Damron, Mattie, t
Sr. E. Reyner, Mo., t 5 00 Elizabeth M. Winter,	Wiggins, M. S., o 1 60	Receipts.	McKinley, Ada 15 50	Dayner, Louis, t 15 00 Davidson, Nettie, t 5 00
Iowa, t 10 00 Sr. W. S. Farrer, Io., t 2 00	Total$225 75	Balance due church January 1, 1900$69 18	Oblations, San Francisco	Davidson, Elizabeth, t 3 00
Sr. W. S. Farrer, Io., t 2 00 Henry Koestner, Io., t 20 00	Expenditures.	Burgess, Henry, t 7 00	and Oakland 76 62 Oblations, Sacramento 22 20	Earle, Eva, Norah, and Gladys, t
Barney Miller, Iowa, o. 1 00	Booker, Mrs. W. J $ 70 00	Burgess, Chas. H., t 9 00 Bates, Edward and wife,t. 8 00	Page, S. J 30 00	Earle Clarence William, t. 30 00
Allen Huribut, Iowa 1 00 Wm. Wahl, Iowa, o 25		Birdcell, W. H., t 7 25	Preston, O. Joseph 6 00 Parker, Wesley 1 00	Fuller Nellie, t 25
Bro. Rankins, Iowa, o 25 C. G. Dykes, Iowa, o 1 00		Carmichael, Eva, t 4 00 Carmichael. Nathaniel	Price. Sarah140 00	Garner, Sylvester and
O. H. Bailey, Iowa, o 1.00		and wife, t	Pomeroy, J. M	Green, Asa M, t 32 50
J. W. Wilson, Iowa, o 50 Sr. R. M. Green, Iowa, o 100		COOK, America, tomorrows	Robinson, Samuel B. and wife 10 00	Glines, Dora, t
Susie Green, Iowa, o 50	MOBILE DISTRICT.	Carlton, Etta, t	R hwald, Sr. Emily 10 00 Short Julia 20 00	Glines, Aner M., t
Lizzie Haller, Iowa, o 50 Sr. M. M. Kelsall, Io., o. 50	W. L. Booker, agent.	Deuel, W. D. and wife, t 25 00 Etzenhouser, Conrad, t 15 00	Sister 5 00	: Hav 98 50
Johnson   Louis   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnson   Johnso	Receipts.	Flory, Joseph, t100 00	Smith, Sr. B. B	Harris, Minnie, t 5 25 Harris, Ella, t 5 25
Asster, lowa, o 1 00	Anthony, Mark $ 50 Bankester, Edwin 5 85	Fuller, William, t	Steel, Gertrude 13 40	Howard, Anna D., t 13 90
Milton Dewald, 10., 0 1 50 G. H. Hilliard, Mo., t 30 85	Bankester, Mary 2 50	Headrick, Sarah, t	Sweet, Richard 10 00	Horse
R. May, bishop, Inde- pendence, Mo 40 90	Booker, W. L 50	Lasher, Helen, t 24 10	Smith, Edgar	Johnson, Araminta M., t. 1 00
J G Smith, agt., St Louis, 152 00		Lawn, F. H. and M. E., t. 14 60 Lawn, Rhoda, t 12 20	Sides, Rosa L	Johnson, Vada, t 5 00 Johnson, Margaret J., t 1 00
Thos Hawkins, Mo., t 5 00 St. Lou s reunion commit-	Cunningham, Wm 75	Lawn, M. E , t 9 50	Taylor, Ben 5 00 Tupper Harriet 40 00	Jones, Alonzo, Edson
tee, o 4 0	Courtney, Aaron 50 Cooper, C. B 50	Montgomery, Delia, t 5 00 Moses, Bro. and Sr. N.	Twaddle, Elizabeth 1 00	Kaufman, Peter, t 92 50
Plainville branch, Mass., o 1 0 Abbie A. Newton, Me, t. 1 2	Ferrill, Addie 51 56	S., t	Walker, Phebe 20 00	Kaufman, Peter, t
J. J. Towle and wife, Maine, t and o 8 00	Goff. David 25	McKee, Thomas E., t 2 00	Wyatt, Charles 15 00	Kitring, Clara, t
C. H. Kidder, Maine, o 1 00	Howard, Andrew 1 25	McKee, Emma, t	l Weldon, F. M 5 00	A sister, t
Dixfield branch, Maine, o. 2 06 Eugene Holman Maine, o. 1 06	Howard, Serena 2 90	Olson, Ole, t	Williams, Hardin M 23 05	Matthews, Sarah Ann, t 1 00
G. J. Fletcher, Maine, o. 56 Beatrice C Smith, Me, o. 0	Larree, Louis	Putney, Vira, t	White, Susan 20 00	Mills, Sarah, t
Lucy A. Norton, Maine, o. 1 00	Long, Jane 25	Page, Albert and wife, t. 11 00 Ruppert, Joseph, t 1 00	Young, A. J 40 00	Milan, Ruth, t 2 00
F. L. Norton, Maine, t100 00 Lois Mansfield, Maine, o 1 00	wcDowell, Lucy 10	Swensen, John, t 40 00	Total$2,012 23	McQuig, Mary Jane, t 25 Miller, James Marion, t 17 00
Wm. Smith. Maine, o 1 00	I WODOWEIL, ORBITOMS WO	Smith, Anna, o 1 50 Twaddle, Mary A., t 3 80		McMullen, Alice, t 3 10
Indian River mite society, Maine, o 2 00	Miller, Lester 25	Vosheli, Samuel, t 10 00	Expenditures.	Nuppe, Albert, t 1 00 Pankey, Maggie, t 4 00
E. A. Mansfield, Maine, o. 100 Ralph Farrell, Maine, o. 100	Miller, Joel	Weldon, Samuel, o 23 33 Weldon, Celestia, t 5 70		Pankey, Pearl, t
Clara D. Gerrish, Me., t 2 00	Miller, Frank 2 60 Miller, Frank 25	Weldon, Maud, t 2 30 Willett, Hattle, t 21 00	Bouch, A., a 15 50	Penfold, Stephen, t 10 00
Myra G. Steele, Maine, o. 2 00 Asa O. Candage, Maine, o. 1 00	Miller, Mary 10	Walker, John E. and	Balchen, Gustave E., a 12 00	A sister, t
Charity Eaton, Maine. o 50 Henry R. Eston, Maine o. 1 00	Miler, Edward 85 Mizell, John 2 05	wife, t 15 00	Bloom. William H., a 36 00 Bardwell, Josie, a 13 00	Pitcher, Sarah, t 1 00
Boston branch, Mass, o 1 00	Nelson, Edward 1 00	Total$665 93	Allen, D. L., e 15 00	Prothero, Celia, t 5 00
Catharine Moore, o 56 Capt Geo. Potts, N. Y., o. 506	Parker, Mary 1 50	Expenditures.	Case, William, a 30 50	Poole, Susan Ann, t 20 00 Rowan, Elizabeth, t 10 00
Josiah Matthews, Ohio o. 2 00	Parker, James G 50	Burton, Emma, f $120 00	Crumley, Charles E , e 15 00	A sister, t
Sr S. B. Jones, Mo., o 50	Parker, Wm 50	Griffiths. G. T., e 10 00 Kelley, E. L., Bishop 100 00	Etzenhouser, R., e 10 00	Roberts, Mary, t 50
Sr. C Pointer, Mo., t 1 00 A. L. Newton, agent of	Sherman, G. W	Keeler E. f 180 00	Griffiths, Gomer T., e 26 00 Haws, Albert f 180 00	A sister, t
Bishop Short, Ark 15 00	Tillman, David W 2 50	Keeler, E., e	Hunt, Sarah, a 36 00	Salter, Charles and wife, t. 16 00
Saints at Grannis, Ark., o. 8 70 W.W.Shoemaker.Tex, o. 1 00	Tillman, John 50	Cruz 3 98	Monkcom, Charles J., a 60 40	Shotterbeck, Harry, t 26 00 Smith, John, Jr., t 1 00
G. W. Wilcox, Texas, o 1 00 Charles Amend, Texas, o. 2 50	Young, Arthur 30	Total$433 98	Nolson F M a 86 00	Stossacker Pauline t 1 00
A. J Moore, Texas, o 2 50	Young, Charlotte 25	Due church $226 95	Phillips, A. B, e	Sparks, George W., t
Sr. Tillie Gienger, Texas, o. 2 50	Total	$ #65 93	Stern, Sr., a 5 00	Swall, Stells, t 1 00
	- ESSEQUENCE AND CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTROL OF CONTR	6	tin enigra	·

			O T Olembrand 260 - 14 451	Ladd Dranch
Smith, Christene, t 17 00	Edwards, Hartley 2 00	Stafford mite fund 4 75	Coorgo Mankwick 5 00	Ladd Branch.
Thornton, Hugh, t 2 00	Schmid, M. L. 10 00	Margaret Sharrock, o 48 70	Lettic Wenner 1 50	Thomas F. Turner, t 50
				Leon Snow, t 50
Teeters, Susan, t 1 00	Walters Bro and Sr. H. 5 00   Roush John B. 30 00   Emery, Elizabeth 2 00	A sister662 32	Elizabeth Minters 500	Thomas Wise, t 6 00
Van Fieet, Nelson, t 13 00	Emery, Elizabeth 2 00	Joseph M. Greenwood 2 14	Manual III	Sadie Boswell, t 25
Van Fleet, Abigail M., t. 37 00	McConley, Myron 1 00	Alice Da'ley 10 47	Mary Higginson 3 00	Plano Branch.
Van Fleet, Effic. t 1 00	Farrar, Henry L	Henry Sharpe 4 87	Eliza Thor
Westfall, Catherine, t 10 00	Weller, Bro. and Sr. W.J. 10 00	James Weate 24	Elizabeth Davis 3 00	Charles A. Blakely, t 16 00
Wixom, Bertha Elvira, t. 9 50	Roush, Belle B 20 00	Olive Kirk 2 31	1. C. Willis 21 00	Agnes Keck, t 5 00
Wixom, George, t 4 50	Roush, Belle   B   20 000   Wagner, Bro   5 00   Bull rd   Bro   and Sr   Fenner D   20 00   Tabor, Ellen E   40   Everett   Bro   and Sr	James Schofield 24 35	W. N. Johnson 501	Fannie M. Newton, t 200
Weatherbee, Wm. O., t., 13 30	Bull rd. Bro. and Sr.	Thomas Taylor 29 22	D. I. Bath and wife 14 04	Mary E. Lowe, t 20 50
Wixom Repecca t 5 0	Fenner D 20 00	Ada A. Meredith 24 35	Keziah Williams 2 00	Bell Wright, t 2 00
Wyman Sarah t 1 0	Tubor Ellen E 40	William M. Roberts 14 85	Mary Crawford 1 00	Sr. Williams, t 1 00
Holt, Hiram L., t 20 0	Everett Bro and Sr.	Maud Hepburn 1 58	Charity Kindlesperger 30 00	Joseph Blakely, t 33 20
Harris, Sarah Betsy, t 5 00	Charles E 58 70	Annie Shaw 4 14	E. W. Grim and wife 25 UU	bro and or. N. L. Diakery, t. 10 00
Hairis, Daratt Detey, t 5 of	Charles Limming 10	Arthur Lawrence 2 80	James Highman and wife. 13 35	Eliza Wright, t 1 50
Total$2,008 4	Total$929 26	William Maddocks 7 79		Earl Newton, t 2 00
100a1	10041	Brother G K 1 83	J. H. Norris and wife 2 00	Maria Newton, t 1 00
774 11.	Expenditures.	Brother R. J. 48 70	A. Bridgeman and wife 10 00	A. R. Wilcox, t 5 00
Expenditures.	- ; -	Fannie Munslow 49	D. S. Holmes 5 00	Sandwich Branch.
Anderson, Sr. David A., t. 15 0	Kelley, E. L., Bishop $110 00	James Moir 7 79	Mina Harney 1 00
Bank, First National,	Roush, Belle B	0 antes mon	Elizabeth Tharp 2 00	G. F. Howard, t 1 00
San Bernardino (in-	Roush, John B 15 00	Total $2.002.46	Henry Norris and wife 2 00	L. D. Rogers, t100 00 solvent) 9 6	Duncan, C. R 26 00	1000 100 40	Unknown 50	Jennette Rathbun, t 10 00
Burton, Joseph F., e 20 0	Thomas, O. B 15 00	Expenditures.	Mary Highman 1 55	Sr. R. Patr.dge, t 13 00
Crane, Samuel L., a 60 00	Dancan Mrs May 157 75		Inly D Suman 5 50	Wilmington Branch.
Chatburn, T. W., e 5 0	Curtis, Mrs. J. F164 00	Sr. F. G. Pitt 60 02	Lulu B. Suman 5 50 Sarah C. Gritton 1 00
Chatburn, T. W., e 5 00 Crumley, Charles E, e. 7 50	Luff, Joseph 15 00	Bro. F. G. Pitt102 27	Bertha Gritton 50	William H. Walrath, t 83 94
Deed, certified copy 1 00	I Hanson, Mrs. A. B 70 00	Bishop Kelley194 80		Sr. B. L. Kahler, t 11 50
Dana, R. R., e 42 00	Curtis, J. F 5 00	Assistance, Welsh mission 63 31	Melvina B. Holmes 50 00	Elmer Kahler, t 8 00
Damen Mattie a 45 0		Sister Rushton120 05	William Norris 25 00	Sr. L. W. Kahler, t 5 00;
Damron, Mattie, a 45 00		Aid 13 39	Mabel Barnes 50	Scattered Saints.
Expenses, agent 5 70		Postal orders, postage,	E. Sartwell 15 00
Gibson, Sr. William, f. 180 00	December 100 51	and stationery 10 12	Bertha Douglass 2 00	H. E. Moler and wife,
Griffiths, Gomer T., e 20 00			O. L. Goodale and wife 20 00	Radeliff, Ohio, t 30 00
Gibson, William, e 7 00	$929 26	Total$563 96	Charles Holmes and wife. 10 00	Goodman Jacobs, Lee,
Holt, Hiram L., e 10 00		Due church1,444 50	Alice M. Hopkins 20 00	III., t 5 00;
McDonald, Mrs 40 00			Nina A. Hopkins 8 35	Henry Southwick and
McAudle, Bro., a 3 00	1	$2,008 46		wife, East Delavan,
Purfurst, Augustus B.,e. 1 2	DAKOTA DISTRICT.		D. C. Smith 20 00	Wisconsin260 00
Remington, Henry W.,a. 6 00	TTT 111 01 11 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	Herald and Hope Account.		John Doity, Winfield,
Smith, A. H., e	William Sparling, Agent.	Due church January 1,	Total$797 21	Kansas, t 35 00
Smith, Sr. E. A., f 15 00	Receipts.	1900 $15 03	· 	Augusta Vickery, Hack-
Taxes		1000 010 00	Expenditures.	ney, Kansas, t 6 00
Williams, Sr. Thos. W. 370 00	Due church January	Expenditures.	Frankie Adams, f$285 00	Sarah A. Scheidecker,
Holt, Sr. Hiram L., f420 0	1, 1900$207 10	Expenditures.	Jennie Cooper, f 160 CO	Shabbona, Ill., t 10 0@
Harris, Sr. David L., f 360 0	Botkin, William 5 00	E. L. Kelley, Bishop$15 03	F. A. Russell, e 11 45	Delia Scheidecker, Shab-
Hendrickson, C., a 55 0	Botkin, May 5 00		J. W. Adams, e 32 76	bona, Ill., t 10 00
House repairs 10 2	TOUTIOCK, MISTY I UU	BLODIDA	F. M. Cooper, e 3 00	F T. Haynes, Aurora,
Motel #1 #90 1	Cole, Ida	FLORIDA.	J S. Patterson, e 5 00	Illinois, t 10 00
Total$1,730 1 Due church278 2	Davis, Reese H 1 50	TITODIDA DIOMOTOM	D. C. Smith, railroad fare	J W. Wilsey, Aurora,
Due church218 2	Davis, Rosa B	FLORIDA DISTRICT.	and expense 11 02	Illinois, t 5 00
Total$2,008 4	Davis, Myrtle	S. D. Allen, Agent.	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	Hiel Brunson, Ashton,
	Davis, Margie 1 85	Receipts.	Total$508 23	D. W. Thomas and wife,
Property received for tith-	Day, George W 5 00	_	Due church288 98	Rantoul, Ill., t 77 00
ing, 1900.	Howery, Mattie	Due church January	@20F 01	Teatheout, III., C
Geo. W. Sparks2 horses	Leitch, William, Sr 30 00	1, 1900	$797 21	Total$1,849 26
Geo. W. Sparks1 cov	Leitch, Thomas 30 00	Bro. John P. Calhoun, t. 7 50
M. Moore3 sacks potatoe	Langton, James 4 00	Sr. Nora D. Smith, t 50	NORTHEASTERN DIS-	Expenditures.
Sold 1 horse 10 0	Langton, Pearl 4 00	Rebecca A. Dixon, t 1 50 Sr. Jennie Allen, t 25	TRICT.	-
DOIG I HOLDE 10 0
Sold 3 sacks notatoes 1 8	McPhail, Eliza 50	Sr. Jennie Allen, t 25		F M. Cooper, f$100 00:
Sold 3 sacks potatoes 1 8	McLaughlin, William 5 00	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t 2 75	John Midgorden, Agent.	J. H. Lake, f 75 00
Due from former agent. 19 7	McLaughlin, William 5 00 Woline, Mary 7 00	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t 2 75 C. I. Carpenter, o 2 56	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f 75 00 C. H. Burr, f 75 00
Due from former agent. 19 7	McLaughlin, William 5 00 Woline, Mary 7 00 Rasmusson, Michael 5 00	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t 2 75   C. I. Carpenter, o 2 50   Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t 1 00	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts. Due church January	J. H. Lake, f
	McLaughlin, William 5 00 Woline, Mary 7 00 Rasmusson, Michael 5 00 Stowell, Wintam 4 00	Br. Asa E. Bailey, t 2 75 C. I. Carpenter, o 2 56 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t 1 00 B o. W. Dixon, t 50	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total$ 31 5	McLaughlin, William	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t. 2 75 C. I. Carpenter, o. 2 50 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t. 1 00 B o. W. Dixon, t. 50 S. D. Allen, t. 35 00	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts. Due church January 1, 1900$203 84	J. H. Lake, f
Due from former agent. 19 7	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Wintam   4 00   Stowell, Wintam   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t 2 75 C. I. Carpeuter, o 2 50 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t 1 00 B o. W. Dixon, t 50 S. D. Allen, t 35 00 E. L. Kelley, Bishop. 25 00	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts. Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total$ 31 5	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Voiltam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t 2 75 C. I. Carpenter, o 2 56 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t 1 00 B. O. W. Dixxon, t	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total$ 31 5  COLORADO.  EASTERN DISTRICT.	McLanghlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, William   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t 2 75 C. I. Carpeuter, o 2 50 Sr. Mary J. Cathoun, t 1 00 B o. W. Dixon, t 50 S. D. Allen, t 35 00 E. L. K∉lley, Bishop 25 00 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 20 00 Bro. George McArthur, t. 1 00	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts. Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total$ 31 5  COLORADO.  EASTERN DISTRICT. Charles E. Everett, Agent.	McLanghlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Whitiam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Mart	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.   Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total$ 31 5  COLORADO.  EASTERN DISTRICT. Charles E. Everett, Agent.	McLanghlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Whitiam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Mart	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.   Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total$ 31 5  COLORADO.  EASTERN DISTRICT. Charles E. Everett, Agent.	McLanghlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Whitiam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Mart	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.   Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total$ 31 5  COLORADO.  EASTERN DISTRICT. Charles E. Everett, Agent.	McLanghlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Whitiam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Mart	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.   Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total$ 31 5  COLORADO.  EASTERN DISTRICT. Charles E. Everett, Agent.	McLanghlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Whitiam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Martha Mart	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.   Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Woline, Mary   7 00   Woline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Vinitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Sparling, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Martha   5 00   Sparling, Martha   5 00   Sparling, Martha   5 00	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.   Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Due from former agent. 19 7   Total	McLanghlin, William 5 00 Wollne, Marv 7 00 Rasmusson, Michael 5 00 Stowell, Wiltiam 4 00 Spaulding, John 10 00 Spaulding, Charles J 15 00 Spaulding, Frank G 50 00 Spaulding, Frank G 50 00 Spaulding, Lura 25 00 Spaulding, Lura 25 00 Spaulding, Lura 25 00 Spaulding, Emma 12 50 Sparling, Emma 12 50 Sparling, Emmy 5 00 Sparling, Emmy 5 00 Spaulding, Lura 5 00 Unknown, order from	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Due from former agent 19 7   Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Viviliam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Sparling, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Martha   5 00   Unknown, order from   1 0 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Due from former agent. 19 7   Total	McLanghlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Vinitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmy   5 00   Spaulding, Martha   5 00   Unknown, order from   Leeds   10 (0	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Due from former agent. 19 7   Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Vinitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, William   12 50   Sparling, William   12 50   Sparling, Emina   12 50   Sparling, Emina   12 50   Sparling, Emina   12 50   Sparling, Emina   12 50   Sparling, Emina   12 50   Sparling, Emina   12 50   Sparling, Martha   5 00   Unknown, order   from   Leeds   10 00   Total   507 40	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total   $ 31 5	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, William   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order from   Leeds   10 (0   Total   $507 40	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t 2 75 C. I. Carpenter, o 2 56 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t 1 00 B o. W. Dixon, t 35 00 E. L. Kelley, Bishop 25 00 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 20 00 Bro. George McArthur, t. 1 00 A. J. Vickrey, t 25 00  Total $126 51  Expenditures.  Mrs. S. D. Allen $105 06  Due church $21 51	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Due from former agent. 19 7   Total $ 31 5	McLanghlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Vinitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmy   5 00   Sparling, Martha   5 00   Unknown, order from   Leeds   10 (0   $507 40   Expenditures.	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Due from former agent. 19 7   Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Winitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Hartha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Milliam   12 50   Sparling, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Unknown, order   from   Leeds   10 0   Total   $507 40   Expenditures.   Swenson, Cecilia, f   8 60 00	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t 2 75 C. I. Carpenter, o 2 56 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t 1 00 B o. W. Dixon, t 35 00 E. L. Kelley, Bishop. 25 00 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 1 00 Bro. George McArthur, t. 1 00 A. J. Vickrey, t 25 00  Total. $126 51  Expenditures.  Mrs. S. D. Allen. $105 06  Due church. $21 51  $126 51	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Winitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Hartha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Milliam   12 50   Sparling, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Unknown, order   from   Leeds   10 0   Total   $507 40   Expenditures.   Swenson, Cecilia, f   8 60 00	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t 2 75 C. I. Carpenter, o 2 56 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t 1 00 B o. W. Dixon, t 35 00 E. L. Kelley, Bishop 25 00 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 20 00 Bro. George McArthur, t. 1 00 A. J. Vickrey, t 25 00  Total $126 51  Expenditures.  Mrs. S. D. Allen $105 06  Due church $21 51	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLanghlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, William   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Martha   5 00   Unknown, order from   Leeds   10 (0   Total   $507 40   Expenditures   Swenson, Cecilia, f   $60 00   Sparling, Emms, f   200 00   Sparling, Emms, f   200 00   Sparling, Emms, f   200 00   Sporensen, Mrs. S K., f   60 00	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t 2 75 C. I. Carpenter, o 2 56 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t 1 00 B o. W. Dixon, t 35 00 E. L. Kelley, Bishop. 25 00 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 1 00 Bro. George McArthur, t. 1 00 A. J. Vickrey, t 25 00  Total. $126 51  Expenditures.  Mrs. S. D. Allen. $105 06  Due church. $21 51  $126 51	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Due from former agent	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Winitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha   25 00   Spaulding, Milliam   12 50   Sparling, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Unknown, order from   10 00   Total   500   Total   500   Sparling, Emma   500   Sparling, Emma   500   Sparling, Emma   500   Sparling, Emma   500   Sparling, Emma   500   Sparling, Emma   500   Sparling, Emma   500   Sparling, Emma   500   Sparling, Emma   500   Sparling, Emma   500   500   Sparling, Emma   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   500   5	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total   $315	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Wintam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Unknown, order from   Leeds   10 (0   Expenditures   Swenson, Cecilia, f   $60 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sorensen, Mrs. S K   f 60 00   Sorensen, Mrs. S K   f 60 00   Stamps   50   50   Thorburn, Alice, f   60 00   Monumer   60   60   Monumer   60   60   Monumer   60   60   Monumer   60   60   Monumer   60   60   Monumer   60   60   Monumer   60   60   Monumer   60   60   Monumer   60   60   Monumer   60   60   Monumer   60   60   Monumer   60   60   Monumer   60   60   60   Monumer   60   60   60   60   60   60   60   6	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Due from former agent. 19 7	McLanghlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, William   4 00   Stowell, William   4 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Martha   5 00   Unknown, order from   Leeds   500   10 (0   10   10   10   10   10   10	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Due from former agent	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Wintam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 60   Unknown, order   10 00   Expenditures.   500   Unknown, Order   10 00   Sorensen, Mrs. S K., f 60 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sorensen, Mrs. S K., f 60 00   Stamps   50   Thorburn, Alice, f   60 00   Money orders   1 05   Total   $ 253   155   Thorburn, Alice, f   60 00   Money orders   1 05   Total   $ 253   155   Thorburn   10   10   10   10   10   10   10   1	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Due from former agent. 19 7	McLanghlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Vintam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Total   50   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10 0   10	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Winitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha   25 00   Spaulding, Milliam   12 50   Sparling, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order   10 0   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00   10 00	Bro. Asa B. Bailey, t 2 75 C. I. Carpenter, o 2 56 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t 1 00 B o. W. Dixon, t 50 S. D. Allen, t 35 00 E. L. Kelley, Bishop. 25 00 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 1 00 A. J. Vickrey, t 25 00  Total $126 51  Expenditures.  Mrs. S. D. Allen $105 06  Due church $21 51  $125 51  IDAHO.  IDAHO DISTRICT. H. R. Evans, Agent. Receipts.  Alice Rowlands $2 50 Benjamin Croshaw 25 50 Leroy Layland 20 00 Leroy Layland 20 00 Leroy Layland 20 00 Leroy Layland 20 00	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Vinitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Unknown, order from   Leeds   10 (0   Expenditures   Swenson, Cecilia, f   $60 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sorensen, Mrs. S K   f   60 00   Sorensen, Mrs. S K   f   60 00   Stamps   5 00   Thorburn, Alice, f   60 00   Money orders   1 05   Total   $381 55   Due church   125 85   Due church   125 85   $607 40   $507 40   $2507 40   $2507 40   $381 55   Due church   125 85   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600	Bro. Asa B. Bailey, t 2 75 C. I. Carpenter, o 2 56 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t 1 00 B o. W. Dixon, t 50 S. D. Allen, t 35 00 E. L. Kelley, Bishop. 25 00 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 1 00 A. J. Vickrey, t 25 00  Total $126 51  Expenditures.  Mrs. S. D. Allen $105 06  Due church $21 51  $125 51  IDAHO.  IDAHO DISTRICT. H. R. Evans, Agent. Receipts.  Alice Rowlands $2 50 Benjamin Croshaw 25 50 Leroy Layland 20 00 Leroy Layland 20 00 Leroy Layland 20 00 Leroy Layland 20 00	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Vinitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Unknown, order from   Leeds   10 (0   Expenditures   Swenson, Cecilia, f   $60 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sorensen, Mrs. S K   f   60 00   Sorensen, Mrs. S K   f   60 00   Stamps   5 00   Thorburn, Alice, f   60 00   Money orders   1 05   Total   $381 55   Due church   125 85   Due church   125 85   $607 40   $507 40   $2507 40   $2507 40   $381 55   Due church   125 85   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600   $600	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Due from former agent	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, William   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmy   5 00   Sparling, Emmy   5 00   Sparling, Emmy   5 00   Unknown, order   10 (0   Total   $507 40     Expenditures   Swenson, Cecilia, f   $ 60 00   Sparling, Emma f   200 00   Sorensen, Mrs S K   60 00   Sorensen, Mrs S K   60 00   Stamps   50   Thorburn, Alice, f   60 00   Money orders   1 05   Due church   125 85   Due church   125 85   $507 40   ENGLISH MISSION	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Vinitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Lura   25 00   Spaulding, Emily   5 00   Spauling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Total   $507 40	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Vinitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Milliam   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order   10 00   Total   5507   40      Expenditures, Swenson, Cecilia, f   8 60 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sorensen, Mrs. S K   60 00   Sorensen, Mrs. S K   60 00   Stamps   50     Thorburn, Alice, f   60 00   Money orders   10 5     Total   $381 55   Due church   125 85     ENGLISH MISSION   Thomas Taylor, Agent	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Wintiam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha   25 00   Spaulding, Martha   25 00   Spaulding, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Total   $507 40	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Spawding, John   10 00   Spawding, John   10 00   Spawlding, Charles J   15 00   Spawlding, Charles J   15 00   Spawlding, Frank G   50 00   Spawlding, Martha J   25 00   Spawlding, Milliam   12 50   Spawling, William   12 50   Spawling, Emma   12 50   Spawling, Emma   12 50   Spawling, Emma   12 50   Spawling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 (0   Expenditures   500   Unknown, order from   10 (0   Expenditures   500   Spawling, Emma   500   Spawling, Emma   500   Total   $507 40   Expenditures   500   Spawling, Emma   500   Spawling, Emma   500   Spawling, Emma   500   Spawling, Emma   500   Spawling, Emma   500   Spawling, Emma   500   Spawling, Emma   500   Spawling, Emma   500   Spawling, Emma   500   Total   $381 55   Due church   125 85   ENGLISH MISSION.   Thomas Taylor, Agent.   Receipts	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Wintam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmy   5 00   Sparling, Emmy   5 00   Unknown, order   10 (0   Total   $507 40   Expenditures   $507 40   Sparling, Emma   f   200 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Total   $507 40   Expenditures   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stawell, Winitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Sparling, William   12 50   Sparling, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 00   Total   $507 40	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Vinitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   10 00   Total   5507   40      Expenditures, Swenson, Cecilia, f   8 60 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sorensen, Mrs. S K., f   60 00   Money orders   105   Total   $381 55   Due church   125 85   Thorburn, Alice, f   60 00   Money orders   105   Due church   125 85   Sparling, Emma, f   507 40   ENGLISH MISSION.      Thomas Taylor, Agent.   Receipts   Due church January 1, 1900   $522 55   Mary Howard   3 59   Mary Howard   3 59	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Spawell, Wintam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spawelling, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Milliam   12 50   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 00   Total   5507   40   Expenditures,   507   40   Expenditures,   507   40   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sparling, Emily   5 00   Sozialing, Martha   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 00   Expenditures,   5507   40   Expenditures,   5507   40   Expenditures,   500   Total   $351   55   Thorburn, Alice, f   60 00   Money orders   105   Total   $351   55   Due church   125   85   Edith Thompson   3 59   Edith Thompson   3 59   Edith Thompson   1 75   15   15   15   15   15   15	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Vinitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order from   Leeds   10 (0   Expenditures   Swenson, Cecilia, f   $60 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sorensen, Mrs S K   f 60 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sorensen, Mrs S K   f 60 00   Stamps   5 00   Stamps   5 00   Total   $381 55   Due church   125 85   Due church   125 85   Due church January 1, 1000   $502 55   Mary Howard   3 59   Edith Thompson   1 71   John E Meredith   372 56   Sister M L   21 92   10   10   10   10   10   10   10   1	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Spawiling, John   10 00   Spawiling, John   10 00   Spawiling, Charles J   15 00   Spawiling, Charles J   15 00   Spawiling, Frank G   50 00   Spawiling, Frank G   50 00   Spawiling, Martha J   25 00   Spawiling, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 00   Total   $507 40	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Wolline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Wintam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Sparling, Martha J   25 00   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmy   5 00   Sparling, Emmy   5 00   Sparling, Emmy   5 00   Unknown, order   10 (0   Total   $507 40      Expenditures   Swenson, Cecilia, f   $60 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sorensen, Mrs. S K   60 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sorensen, Mrs. S K   60 00   Stamps   50   Thorburn, Alice, f   60 00   Money orders   1 05   Total   $381 55   Due church   125 85   Due church January 1, 1900   $522 55   Mary Howard   3 59   Edith Thompson   1 71   John E   Meredith   372 56   Sister M L   21 9   Sister E   G   1 28   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spor F F   1 58   Spo	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Vinitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Sparling, William   12 50   Sparling, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 00   Total   $507 40	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Spawiling, John   10 00   Spawiling, John   10 00   Spawiling, Charles J   15 00   Spawiling, Charles J   15 00   Spawiling, Charles J   15 00   Spawiling, Martha J   25 00   Spawiling, William   12 50   Sparling, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 00   Total   $507 40	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Spawding, Unitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spawlding, John   10 00   Spawlding, Charles J   15 00   Spawlding, Charles J   15 00   Spawlding, Frank G   50 00   Spawlding, Martha J   25 00   Spawlding, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmy   5 00   Sparling, Emmy   5 00   Sparling, Emmy   5 00   Unknown, order   10 00   Total   $507 40      Expenditures   Swenson, Cecilia, f   $60 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Martha   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emm	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Samusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Vinitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Sparling, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 00   Total   $507 40	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Samusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Vinitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Sparling, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 00   Total   $507 40	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Spawiling   5 00   Stowell, Viviliam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spawiling, John   10 00   Spawiling, Charles J   15 00   Spawiling, Charles J   15 00   Spawiling, Charles J   15 00   Spawiling, Martha J   25 00   Spawiling, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 (0   Total   $507 40	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Spawding, Unitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spawlding, John   10 00   Spawlding, Charles J   15 00   Spawlding, Charles J   15 00   Spawlding, Frank G   50 00   Spawlding, Martha J   25 00   Spawlding, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmy   5 00   Sparling, Emmy   5 00   Sparling, Emmy   5 00   Unknown, order   10 00   Total   $507 40      Expenditures   Swenson, Cecilia, f   $ 60 00   Sparling, Emma   6 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Total   $507 40   Expenditures   507 40   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 00   Sparling, Emma   5 0	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Stowell, Vinitam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 00   Total   $507 40      Expenditures   Expenditures   Swenson, Cecilia, f   $60 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   200   200   200   200   200   200   200   200   200   200   200   200   200   200   200   200   200   200   200   200   200   20	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Spawding, Joseph   5 00   Spawding, John   10 00   Spawding, Charles J   15 00   Spawding, Charles J   15 00   Spawding, Charles J   15 00   Spawding, Martha J   25 00   Spawding, Martha J   25 00   Spawding, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 00   Total   5507   40      Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expenditures.   500   Expend	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total   $31 5	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Spawding, Joseph   5 00   Spawding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Sparling, Martha J   25 00   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order from   Leeds   10 (0   Total   $507 40      Expenditures   Swenson, Cecilia, f   $60 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sorensen, Mrs   Sk   f   60 00   Sorensen, Mrs   Sk   f   60 00   Sorensen, Mrs   Sk   f   60 00   Stamps   50      Thorburn, Alice, f   60 00   Money orders   105   Total   $381 55   Due church   125 85   Due church January   1, 1900   $522 55   Mary Howard   3 59   Edith Thompson   1 71   John E   Meredith   372 56   Sister M   12 18   Sister G   1 22   Sister G   1 22   Sister G   1 22   Sister G   1 25   Sister G   1 25   Sister G   1 24   Archibald Bradshaw   1 52   James W   Worth   12 18   Jane Barry   4 87   Owen Owen   1 6 19   John and Martha Scho-	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t. 275 C. I. Carpenter, o. 256 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t. 100 B. O. W. Dixon, t. 350 E. L. Kelley, Bishop 250 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 200 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 200 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 200 Bro. George McArthur, t. 100 A. J. Vickrey, t. 2500 Total $126 51  Ezpenditures.  Mrs. S. D. Allen $105 06  Due church $21 51  $126 51  IDAHO  IDAHO DISTRICT. H. R. Evans, Agent. Receipts.  Alice Rowlands $2 50 Benjamin Croshaw 250 Addie Condit 500 A. J. Layland 300 W. L. John 360  Total $36 00 Due church 3600  ILLINOIS.  KEWANEE DISTRICT. D. C. Smith, Agent. Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900 $95 51 Thomas Emanuel and wife 500 Martha Pennington 1 00 Martha Pennington 1 00 Martha Pennington 1 00 Kettie Heavener 1500 Kate Epperly 1 00 Kate Epperly 1 00 S. M. Adams and wife 50 00 Martha Epperly 1 00 La S. Holmes 1 00 Dale S. Holmes 1 00 Dale S. Holmes 1 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00 J. W. Adams 10 00	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Spawding, Joseph   5 00   Spawding, John   10 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Charles J   15 00   Spaulding, Frank G   50 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Spaulding, Martha J   25 00   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Sparling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order from   Leeds   10 (0   Expenditures   Swenson, Cecilia, f   $60 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sorensen, Mrs S K   60 00   Sorensen, Mrs S K   60 00   Stamps   50   Thorburn, Alice, f   60 00   Money orders   1 05   Total   $381 55   Due church   125 85   Due church January   1, 1900   $522 55   Mary Howard   1 71   John E. Meredith   372 56   Sister M L   21 92   Sister E G   1 22   Sister E G   1 22   Sister E G   1 22   Sister E G   1 22   Sister E G   1 24   Archibald Bradshaw   1 52   James W Worth   12 18   Henry Booker and wife   4 87   Samuel Mather   14 61   William Goullee   19 48   Henry Booker and wife   4 87   Samuel Mather   14 61   Archibald Bradshaw   1 52   James W Worth   12 18   Jane Barry   4 87   Owen Owen   5 61   John and Martha Schofeld   56 61   56 61   Milliam Charles   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61   56 61	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t. 275 C. I. Carpenter, o. 256 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t. 100 B. O. W. Dixon, t. 350 E. L. Kelley, Bishop 250 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 200 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 200 Bro. George McArthur, t. 100 A. J. Vickrey, t. 2500  Total $126 51  Ezpenditures.  Mrs. S. D. Allen $105 06  Due church $21 51  $126 51  IDAHO  IDAHO DISTRICT. H. R. Evans, Agent. Receipts.  Alice Rowlands $250 Benjamin Croshaw $250 Addie Condit 500 A. J. Layland 300 W. L. John 300  Total $3600  ILLINOIS.  KEWANEE DISTRICT. D. C. Smith, Agent. Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900 $95 51 Thomas Emanuel and wife . 500 Martha Pennington 1 00 Martha Pennington 1 00 Martha Pennington 1 00 Martha Pennington 1 00 Kate Epperly 1 00 Kate Epperly 1 00 Kate Epperly 1 00 Layland 1 000 J. W. Adams and wife . 50 00 Martha Epperly 1 00 Laylands 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 0000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000 J. W. Adams 1 000	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Spawiling   5 00   Stowell, Viviliam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spawiling, John   10 00   Spawiling, John   10 00   Spawiling, Charles J   15 00   Spawiling, Charles J   15 00   Spawiling, Martha J   25 00   Spawiling, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmin   12 50   Sparling, Emmin   12 50   Sparling, Emmin   12 50   Sparling, Emmin   10 00   Total   $507 40      Expenditures   500   Unknown, order from   10 00   Sparling, Martha   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Stamps   50   Thorburn, Alice, f   60 00   Money orders   1 05   Total   $331 55   Due church   125 85   Edith Thompson   1 71   1000   $522 55   Mary Howard   3 59   Edith Thompson   1 71   John E, Meredith   372 56   Sister M. L   21 92   Sister E G   1 22   Bro F, F   1 58   Fred Tapping   60 9   William Goullee   19 48   Henry Booker and wife   4 87   Samuel Mather   14 61   William Eccleston   3 41   Archibald Bradshaw   1 52   James W. Worth   12 18   James W. Worth   12 18   Jane Barry   4 87   Owen Owen   6 19   John and Martha Schole   10   10   10   10   10   10   10   1	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t. 275 C. I. Carpenter, o. 256 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t. 100 B. W. Dixon, t. 550 S. D. Allen, t. 35 00 E. L. Kelley, Bishop 25 00 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 20 00 Bro. George McArthur, t. 100 A. J. Vickrey, t. 25 00  Total $126 51  Expenditures.  Mrs. S. D. Allen $105 06  Due church $21 51  $126 51  $126 51              	John Midgorden, Agent.  Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Spawding, Joseph   5 00   Spawlding, John   10 00   Spawlding, Charles J   15 00   Spawlding, Charles J   15 00   Spawlding, Frank G   50 00   Spawlding, Martha J   25 00   Spawlding, Emma   12 50   Spawling, Emma   12 50   Spawling, Emma   12 50   Spawling, Emmy   5 00   Spawling, Emmy   5 00   Spawling, Emmy   5 00   Spawling, Emmy   5 00   Spawling, Emmy   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 00   Total   $507 40      Expenditures   Swenson, Cecilia, f   $60 00   Spawling, Emma   6 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, E	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t. 275 C. I. Carpenter, o. 256 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t. 100 B. O. W. Dixxon, t. 3500 E. L. Kelley, Bishop 2500 E. L. Kelley, Bishop 2500 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 200 Bro. George McArthur, t. 100 A. J. Vickrey, t. 2500  Total $12651  Ezpenditures.  Mrs. S. D. Allen $10506  Due church $2151  $12651  $12651  IDAHO  IDAHO DISTRICT. H. R. Evans, Agent. Receipts.  Alice Rowlands $250 Benjamin Croshaw 2500 A. J. Layland 300 W. L. John 300  Total $3600 Due church 3600  LLIINOIS.  KEWANEE DISTRICT. D. C. Smith, Agent. Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900 3600  ILLINOIS. KEWANEE DISTRICT. D. C. Smith, Agent. Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900 3600  Martha Pennington 100 Nettie Heavener 1500 Martha Pennington 100 Nettie Heavener 1500 Martha Epperly 100 S. M. Adams and wife 5000 Martha Epperly 100 Nether Browner 100 Nettie Heavener 1500 Martha Epperly 100 Nether 1000 Marcha Epperly 100 Nolle S. Holmes 100 Nolle S. Holmes 100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Spawding, Joseph   5 00   Spawlding, John   10 00   Spawlding, Charles J   15 00   Spawlding, Charles J   15 00   Spawlding, Frank G   50 00   Spawlding, Martha J   25 00   Spawlding, Emma   12 50   Spawling, Emma   12 50   Spawling, Emma   12 50   Spawling, Emmy   5 00   Spawling, Emmy   5 00   Spawling, Emmy   5 00   Spawling, Emmy   5 00   Spawling, Emmy   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 00   Total   $507 40      Expenditures   Swenson, Cecilia, f   $60 00   Spawling, Emma   6 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, Emma   5 00   Spawling, E	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t. 275 C. I. Carpenter, o. 256 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t. 100 B. O. W. Dixxon, t. 3500 E. L. Kelley, Bishop 2500 E. L. Kelley, Bishop 2500 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 200 Bro. George McArthur, t. 100 A. J. Vickrey, t. 2500  Total $12651  Ezpenditures.  Mrs. S. D. Allen $10506  Due church $2151  $12651  $12651  IDAHO  IDAHO DISTRICT. H. R. Evans, Agent. Receipts.  Alice Rowlands $250 Benjamin Croshaw 2500 A. J. Layland 300 W. L. John 300  Total $3600 Due church 3600  LLIINOIS.  KEWANEE DISTRICT. D. C. Smith, Agent. Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900 3600  ILLINOIS. KEWANEE DISTRICT. D. C. Smith, Agent. Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900 3600  Martha Pennington 100 Nettie Heavener 1500 Martha Pennington 100 Nettie Heavener 1500 Martha Epperly 100 S. M. Adams and wife 5000 Martha Epperly 100 Nether Browner 100 Nettie Heavener 1500 Martha Epperly 100 Nether 1000 Marcha Epperly 100 Nolle S. Holmes 100 Nolle S. Holmes 100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese 1100 Nolle A. Roese	John Midgorden, Agent. Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Marv   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Spawell, Vintam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spawell, Joseph   5 00   Spawell, Joseph   5 00   Spawelling, John   10 00   Spawelling, Charles J   15 00   Spawelling, Charles J   15 00   Spawelling, Charles J   15 00   Spawelling, Charles J   25 00   Spawelling, Martha J   25 00   Spawelling, Emma   12 50   Spawelling, Emma   12 50   Spawelling, Emma   12 50   Spawelling, Emmily   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 00   Total   5507   40      Expenditures, Swenson, Cecilis, f   8 60 00   Spawelling, Emma, f   200   00   Spawelling, Emma, f   200   00   Spawelling, Emma, f   200   00   Sorensen, Mrs. S K   60   00   Stamps   50      Total   $3507   40   ENGLISH MISSION.   Thomas Taylor, Agent   125   85     Thorburn, Alice, f   60   60   Money orders   1 05   125   85     Thorburn, Alice, f   60   60   60   60   60   60   60	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t. 275 C. I. Carpenter, o. 256 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t. 100 B. W. Dixon, t. 3500 E. L. Kelley, Bishop 2500 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 200 Bro. George McArthur, t. 100 A. J. Vickrey, t. 2500  Total $126 51  Expenditures.  Mrs. S. D. Allen $105 06  Due church $21 51  $126 51  IDAHO.  IDAHO DISTRICT. H. R. Evans, Agent. Receipts.  Alice Rowlands $2 50  Benjamin Croshaw 2500 A. J. Layland 300 W. L. John 300  Total 300  LLLINOIS.  KEWANEE DISTRICT. D. C. Smith, Agent. Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900. 3600  ILLINOIS.  KEWANEE DISTRICT. D. C. Smith, Agent. Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900. 3600  Martha Pennington 100  Nettie Heavener 1500  Martha Pennington 100  Nettie Heavener 1500  S. M. Adams and wife 5000  Martha Epperly 100  S. M. Adams 1000  M. M. Acams 1000  J. W. Adams 1000  J. W. Adams 1000  Nom. M. Keck 2000  Wm. Wilets and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wif	John Midgorden, Agent.   Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f
Total	McLaughlin, William   5 00   Moline, Mary   7 00   Rasmusson, Michael   5 00   Spawiling   5 00   Stowell, Viviliam   4 00   Stowell, Joseph   5 00   Spawiling, John   10 00   Spawiling, John   10 00   Spawiling, Charles J   15 00   Spawiling, Charles J   15 00   Spawiling, Martha J   25 00   Spawiling, William   12 50   Sparling, Emma   12 50   Sparling, Emmin   12 50   Sparling, Emmin   12 50   Sparling, Emmin   12 50   Sparling, Emmin   10 00   Total   $507 40      Expenditures   500   Unknown, order from   10 00   Sparling, Martha   5 00   Unknown, order from   10 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Sparling, Emma, f   200 00   Stamps   50   Thorburn, Alice, f   60 00   Money orders   1 05   Total   $331 55   Due church   125 85   Edith Thompson   1 71   1000   $522 55   Mary Howard   3 59   Edith Thompson   1 71   John E, Meredith   372 56   Sister M. L   21 92   Sister E G   1 22   Bro F, F   1 58   Fred Tapping   60 9   William Goullee   19 48   Henry Booker and wife   4 87   Samuel Mather   14 61   William Eccleston   3 41   Archibald Bradshaw   1 52   James W. Worth   12 18   James W. Worth   12 18   Jane Barry   4 87   Owen Owen   6 19   John and Martha Schole   10   10   10   10   10   10   10   1	Bro. Asa E. Bailey, t. 275 C. I. Carpenter, o. 256 Sr. Mary J. Calhoun, t. 100 B. W. Dixon, t. 3500 E. L. Kelley, Bishop 2500 Bro. John D. McArthur, t. 200 Bro. George McArthur, t. 100 A. J. Vickrey, t. 2500  Total $126 51  Expenditures.  Mrs. S. D. Allen $105 06  Due church $21 51  $126 51  IDAHO.  IDAHO DISTRICT. H. R. Evans, Agent. Receipts.  Alice Rowlands $2 50  Benjamin Croshaw 2500 A. J. Layland 300 W. L. John 300  Total 300  LLLINOIS.  KEWANEE DISTRICT. D. C. Smith, Agent. Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900. 3600  ILLINOIS.  KEWANEE DISTRICT. D. C. Smith, Agent. Receipts.  Due church January 1, 1900. 3600  Martha Pennington 100  Nettie Heavener 1500  Martha Pennington 100  Nettie Heavener 1500  S. M. Adams and wife 5000  Martha Epperly 100  S. M. Adams 1000  M. M. Acams 1000  J. W. Adams 1000  J. W. Adams 1000  Nom. M. Keck 2000  Wm. Wilets and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wife 400  Chas. Holt and wif	John Midgorden, Agent.   Receipts.	J. H. Lake, f

Upton, Josephine, t 50	Glenn, Charlotte, t 27	Smith, E. A. and wife 5 00	John, Thomas A., t. 1 001	DES MOINES DISTRICT.
Sutton, William and wife, t 5 00 Rimley, Joseph, t 10 00	Hyde, Allen, t	Smith, Jessie 50 00 Stone Jacob and wife 50	Jones, Ann. o	William C. Nirk, Agent.
	Slotterback, Eli, t 1 00	Stubbart Anna 5 00	Kelley E L. bishon 2 256 67	Receipts. Bear, Robert 25 00
Total	Slotterback, Nancy, t 25 Union Branch.	Truman, Joseph	Larraunce, Joseph. t 5 00	Batten, Maggie 1 00
Expenditures. F. M. Slover, f$240 00	Ford, Jacob, t 2 00	Waltenbaugh, Jacob 6 00	Lovell, John, t 15 00 Lovell, Nephi, t 10 00
J. D. Stead, e	New Marion Branch. Cameron, Jennie, t 50	Wilkinson, William 6 40	Lambert, Sr. J. R., t 1 80	Batten. Parley P 3 00 Boatwright, V. and wife. 6 00
Total$347 00	Heinrich, Hannah, t 7 75 Jolley. Bro. and Sr, t 4 60	Whorlow Albert and wife. 1 00   Kelley, E L., Bishop 700 00	Malcor, Clement, t 23 50	Briggle, Jennie 1 00 handler, Hattie 3 70
Due church 44 50	Williams, Jennie, t 50 Hederick, Zeruiah, t 3 00	Total$1,792 08	Matthews, W. T., t 2 00 Martin, James, t 15 00	Clark, Elmer 5 00
$391 50	New Trenton Branch.	Expenditures.	Mayer, Fergus, t 15 00 Moffet, Sr. A. W., t 50	Clark, Elber and wife 11 52
INDIANA.	Carmichael, Emma J., t. 75 Chappelow, Emma A., t. 5 00 Chappelow, Thomas F., t. 5 00	Baggerly, I P., L$120 00	Morgan, E. B., o 10 60 Morgan, J. L., o 3 00	Carpenter, J. G 15 00
SOUTHERN INDIANA DISTRICT.	Chappelow, Thomas F., t. 500 Chappelow, Joseph H., t. 125	Clapp, J. C., f145 64	McLaughlin, W. O., t 1 25	Doss, Alta 1 00 Doss, Adeline 25
W. C. Marshall, Agent.	West Fork Branch. Jobe, C. E., t	Gillen. Mrs J. W., a100 00 Hayer, Eli, f	Nelson, Carrie R , o 2 00	Doss, Louise
Receipts.  Due church January 1,	Jobe, Elizabeth, t	SHILL, A. II., I	Needham, E. H. and Julia, o	Doss, Lucy C 5 00 Doss, Mary 2 00
1900 $ 20 98 Barkesdale, Felix and	Rego Branch.	Snively, J. S., f 80 00	Needham, E. H. and Julia, t 3 35	Earhart, Wilber C
wife	May, John. t 1 00 E. L. Kelley, Bishop 257 00	Stedman, E. A., f	Nichols, John, t 20 00 Paul, Wilbur B. and	Finney, Sarah A 1 00 Freel, Ancil 2 00
Sr. Khoda167 00	Total$418 33	Turpen, M. M., f 140 00 Thomas, O. B., f100 00	wife, t	Gunsolley, V. W
Flynn, Peter A 1 00	Expenditures.	Weld F M., f	Mary, t 6 00	Griffin, Will:am 50 (0 Griffin, Iv e 5 00
Ford, Jacob 1 00	W H. Kelley, f $ 80 00 M. R. Scott. Jr, f 20 00	Rodger, Mrs. M., a 20 00 Allen, Annie E., report	Perry, William and Sarah, t	Holmes, Nellie M 4 00 Hayer, Ella B 12 86
Glenn, Mollie	W. C. Marshall, f 125 00 George Jenkins, f 78 00	trial of J. D. B 5 00 Bishop's agents, e 3 69	Pinkerton, Hiram, t 30 00 Robedau, Joseph, t 1 00	Hand, William I 26 00 Hand, C. E 65 00
Harbstreit, Elmira 50 Harbstreit, Emma 25	William H. Kelley, e 2 90 George A. Smith, e 6 00	Brantwait. E., a	Resseguie, Lucy L., t 20 00 Reese, David, 0 32 50	Hidy, William C 1 00 Harvey, Lena 5 25
Jolley, Philip and wife 3 00 Jolley, Floris 1 00		Jessamin. Adam, a	Rerse, David, t 6 50 Richards, Lucy J, t 2 75	Harvey, Alexander and wife 5 00
Jolley, Joy 1 00 Lahue, Rebecca 10	Registered letter 10 Thomas Bell, e 10 00	Page, E. L., a	Richards, Sibyl, t 1 40 Richards, Will am J., t 5 00	Hand, Henry C
Lahue, Minnie	M. R. Scott, Jr., e. 5 00 George Jenkins, e. 10 00	Scott, C., e 5.00 Smith, E A., e 3.00	Rush, Cyrus D., t 12 Sandage, Mode, t 6 50	Hughes, Mattie
Loudermilk, Sarah 1 00 Mitchell, Elizabeth 15	John H. Lake, e 6 00	Webber, Daniel, a 4 63 Weld, F. M., e 40 43	Smith, Mrs. Ruth L, t 5 00 Snively, Sr. Ellen, t 1 50	Johnson, Charles R 2 50 Jemison, Pearl 20
Martin, Edward 500 Persinger, Mattie 2 00	Total$354 19 Due church 64 14	Smith, F. A., e 5 00	Sparks, Mary A., 1 200 Thomas, Oscar I. and	Jemison, Marshal
Rawley, Mary E	Due charen 04 14	Wm. Anderson, bishop162 64	wife, t 1 00 Thomas, Harry H. and	Lentz, Litha
Slotterback, Nancy 1 75 Slotterback, Eli 1 00	IOWA.	Total$1,756 09 Due church$ 35 99	wife, t	Myers, Rachel
Swallows, John 50 Slotterback, Annie 10	DECATUR DISTRICT.	Management of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of the Association of	Turner, Benjamin and wife, t 10 00	Mead, W. C
Sappenfield, Ida 1 70 Stites, D. O 5 00	F. M. Weld, agent. Receipts.	DECATUR DISTRICT.	Tyrrell, Sr. E. M., t 1 50 Vanbeek, George, t 7 00	Mowrey, Winifred 1 00 Mowrey, Mary A 3 00
Stites, Abigail 1 00 Eyres, Robert 10		William Anderson, Bishop.	Watkins, John. o	Miller, Serilda
Total$218 14	Allen, Annie A., t 31 50 Allen, Mamie A., t 25 00	Receipts. From F. M. Weld, former	Whorlow, Albert, t 1 00 Williams, Daniel T., t 2 00	Nirk, Anna M
Expenditures.	Allen, James, t 10 00 Anderson, John E 10 00	agent$162 64 Anderson, William, t100 00	Williams, Daniel T., o 1 00 Williams, William E., t 06	Peters, Mary E 2 00 Py e, Jennie 1 00
Scott, S. W. L., e$ 12 25 Scott, M. R., Jr., e 30 00	Anderson, Joseph A.and	Anderson, Daniel and wife, t	Williams, William E., o 50 Williams, Emma, t 2 00	Prett Honry 20 00
Scott. M. R., Jr., f 10 00 Briges, E. C., e 2 25	Anderson, H. S. and	Anderson, Oscar, t 85 00	Wilson, W., t	Prott Holon R (1)
Jenkins, George, e 4 61 Agent's traveling ex-	Anderson, Anna C 3 50 Anderson, Daniel and	Anderson, B. M. and wife, t	Wilkinson, William, t 7 30 Wilkinson, James, o 2 00	Park, William 20 00
penses and clothing 37 00 Registered letter 10	wife 10 00	Anderson, John E., t 40 00 Allen, Mamie A., t 20 00	Wilkinson, James, t 61 70 Weld, Mrs. Mary, t 5 00	Rawson, William 27 50
W. H Kelley e 2 10	Wife	Allen, J. R., t 15 00	Young, A. B., t 35 00	Rawson, Mary
W. C. Marshall, f 80 00 D. Hurbaugh, agent 39 73	Bailey, Oliver J 3 00	Atkinson Levi and wife,t. 21 25 Archibald, James, t 6 50	Total$3.795 69	Russell, S. A 10 00 Sabin, Leva 8 00
$218 14	Bradfield, Charles and	Bailey, O. J., t	Expenditures.	Shimel, Jessie 35 00 Stamm, N
SOUTHERN INDIANA	Cave, Jessie 3 00	Banta, Mary C., t		Sister
DISTRICT.	Cochran, Asa and wife 15 00 Coiner, O. E. and wife 14 00	Bear, Lillie M., t 5 00	Baggerly, I. P., f280 00 Bell, T. J., f200 00	Thomason, Osmond117 50 Thomason, Henry M.
David Hurbaugh, Agent. Receipts.	Cooper, Sallie 1 00 Fletcher, Sr. J. M 1 00	Respond Leanh t 2 00	Clapp, J. C., f240 00	and wife
W. C. Marshall, former	France, W. A and wife. 20 00	Blakesley, C. H. and	Campbell, Duncan, f160 00 Gillen, Mrs. J. W., f160 00	Wells, Fred 5 00 Weems, N. H 10 00
agent$39 73 Mount Eden Branch.	Harp, F. M 1 25	Blair, George W., t 2 00	Hayer, Eli, f120 00	Wasson, Melissa 10 00 Walis, Belle 3 00
Endwright, C. O, t 1 00 Byrneville Branch.	Hartschen, Mrs. M 7 50	wife t 3 50	Rodger, Sr. M., f	Waltenbaugh, Jacob 3 00 Wildermuth, J. C 10 00
Branch collection, o 2 60	ITTIGATE MORES E OO	Com- tossis 4 C 00
Boston, Emily, t	Hitchcock, Frank	Clum, Mrs. R. G., t 10 00 Cobb. Mrs. Alice, t 60 00	Smith, A. H., f	Expenditures.
Kepley, Wood W. and wife, t	wife	Cochran, F. E. and wife,t. 3 35 Dancer, Alice P., t 70 00	Stedman, E. A., f200 00 Turpen, M. M., f280 00	Due agent January 1, 1900$ 5 69
Martin, Edward, t	Hopkins, Thomas, o 1 00 Jervis, John 18 20	Daniels, David E., t 20 00 Duckworth, Jennie B., o. 1 00	Weld, F. M., f	M s. F. J. Kephart, f228 00
Martin, Nettie O., t 50 Maymon Pearl, t 10 00	Jones, Daniel 50 00 Jones, Fannie 6 00	Duckworth, Jennie B.,t. 1 00 Davis, Sarah Ann, o 1 00	Wight, J. W., f240 00. Wight, J. W., personal 2 00	Mrs. J. W. Morgan, f 200 00
Sappenfield, Monroe, t 10 Stevens, Charles D., t 10 00	Lent Charles and wife o 1 00	Dunwoody, Sarah, t 5 00	Bennett Sr Alma, a 11 86	T J Sheldon a 14 00
Sappenfield, Charles, t 9 15 Sappenfield, James P.	Lewis Sr. Morgan, o 1 00	Evans J. A. t. 20 00	Uase, Sr. J. M., a 13 19	W. H. Kephart, e 15 00
and wife t	McDaniel J. G 5 00	Fletcher, Ida. t	Mason, E. S. a 5 13	D. M. Rudd, e 5 00
Plainville Branch. Chamberlain, Ira, t 25	McLeughlin W. O 1 00	Fowler, Lewis, Sr., t 10 00 France, W.A. and wife,t. 15 00		Exchange
Harbstreit, William, t 4 00 Harbstreit, Emma J., t 25	Matthews, William T 10 00 Messick, Hattie E 1 40	Harp, F. K., t 1 00	Shippy, John, a	Total$1,124 63
Persinger, Cornelius, t 6 00 Persinger, Cornelius, t 1 00		Harvey, D. E., t 100	Expense, office fixtures,	EASTERN DISTRICT.
Swallows, John, t	Orr, Iona	Hartshorn, H. A., t 8 10 Hayer, Carrie M., t 5 00	Graceland College (coal) 67 25 Interest on overdraft 3 60	John Heide, Agent.
Stites, Abigail, t 25	Reese, David T., o	Hougas, John, t 15 UU	Discount on sale of cow 10 00 Coal house	Receipts. Due church January
Ulmer, Melvina t 5 00	Rhoads, Josiah	wife, t 6 00   Hooper, John M., t 40		Bailey, O. H., o 50
Derby Branch. Baggerly, Henrietta S., t. 50	Rogers, O. D 10 00	Hiteman branch, o 1 00	Due Bishop An- derson	Brooks, Nina, t 30 00
Eyres, Robert, t	Robertson, Salome 1 00 Rush, Cyrus 05	Interest, bills receiva-	$3,795 69	wife, t
Glean, Lila, t 50	Simpson, Allen 1 00	Jervis, John, t 22 35		Crawford, Mary 7 00

	Expenditures.	Butterworth, Ethel W 50	10 mm 107 0	10.00
Davis, May 4 00 Dulin, Lovina 10 00	Henry Kenn, f 180 00	Butterworth, Charles E.	Lee, Betsy 50	Gallup, Forrest, a 10 00 Hubert Case, traveling
Drake, M. P	O. B. Thomas, f240 00	and Ida 6 55 Bell, Sophronia 2 00	Heistand, William 5 00 Silsby, Amy J 3 25	Shupe, Sr. E. M., aid 8 00
Dykes, C. G 10 00	Charles Fry e 10 00	Bybee, Adelia 3 00	Conyers. Sarah 1 00	Sr. Vilate, aid 14 78
Dewalt, Milton 20 00 Drumberger, Samuel 3 00	Lydia Walling, a 10 00	Crandall, Albert and Nellie 3 00	Cowhick, Nancy 2 00   Jones, Mollie 3 75	Sr. Forgeus, aid 2 50 Sr. R. Gipson, aid 9 50
Eckhart, Mary 200 00	church 8 25	Jackson, Alfred and	Missouri Valley Branch.	Sr. S. Corse, wood 3 00
Fereday, Ida	E L Kelley Bishon $556 36	Martha M 5 00 Marks, Lillie A 4 00	Pratt, C. F 15 00	Wight, J. W 9 50 Taxes on Garner 40
Green, O. E 55 00	Total$1.124 61	Mitchell, Julia 5 00	Currie, J. A. and wife 19 00	_ acres 4 94
Green, R. M	Due church566 10	Rudd, John R. and Serelda	Parker, A. L and wife 5 00	Revenue, stationery, postage, exchange 9 75
Haller, Lizzie, t 23 50	$1,690-71	Rudd, Abel H. and May. 25 00	Mondamin Branch.	postago, caonange 3 10
Heide, John 5 00 Heide, John 83 70		Rudd, Ross	Davis, William and wife 3 00 Pratt, John and wife 10 00	Total $2,210 81 Due church 24 75
Heide, Amos 5 90	TOWNTON	Schafer, Frank R. and	Stuart, Christie 1 00	Due Church24 15
Heide, Clarence, o 25 Heide, Eddie 25		Mary E 10 00 Wight, Romanan (re-	Stuart, William and wife 10 00 Garner, John P. and wife. 30 00	POTTAWATTAMIE DIS-
Harvey, Myrtle, t 12 00	Pagainta	turned) 2 00	Gunsolley, J. E and wife 10 00	TRICT.
Hines, Mary A 2 00 Jackson, George 264 00	1 *	Harlan Branch.	Magnolia Branch.	J. P. Carlile, Agent.
Jackson, Margaret 37 50	1900 $219 51	Brewster, David 5 00 Franklin, Thomas N.	Chambers, J. E. and D.R. 60 00 Merchant, Grace L 11 00	-
Joy, Sr	Doloit Diddon	and Pearl	Mintun, J. F. and wife 6 40	Trecorpts.
McRae, John 5 0	Doson, Thomas C. and	Haskins, Joel 5 00	Benson, George L 42 50   Van Eaton, Pearl 1 00	Balance due church, January 1, 1900$139 40
Monson, August 41 35 Myatt, Louisa 15 00	There are a second	Coalville Branch.	Fallon, W. T 55 00	Anderson, Anton G 30 00
Newlin, John A 30 00	Diem, Fred H 7 00	Dixon, Samuel and Ima. 6 00 Jordison, John 19 00	Harrington, Sadye 6 00 Hight, Edw 5 00	Boyd, John 11 00 Baker, John 4 50
Palsgrove, Joan K 3 00 Palsgrove, D. L 44 95	Gardner, Lucy A 1 00	Ray, Wm. and Lilly 5 00	Hight, Asa and wife171 80	Beebe, C. A200 00
Roush, Martha 7 50	norr, James 2 00	Teasdale, Andrew, James, and Elizabeth 10 00	Hight May 4 00 Sale of wood from Gar-	Baker, Harriet 4 50 Beebe, Emma D 55 00
Robinson, Ezra	Johnson, Merris E 4 00	Galland's Grove Branch.	ner 40 acres 6 50	Bardsley, Betsey 15 00
Schrunk, Lucy 40 00	Johnson, Jennie 2 00	Franklin, Jeddie M. and	Shupe, Sr. E. M
Stoll, Will	1 Tr 1/1 O 1	Martha	Merchant, James and wife 11 00	Currie, Martha 1 71
Shippy, C. S 20 00	Lewis, John J. and	wife 12 00	Maule, Donald and wife. 20 00 Benson, Charles and wife. 25 00	Currie, Rachel 2 00 Christensen, Charles and
Smith, Robert 5 00 Sutton, Anna 5 00	Marone Maro	Gunsolley, George H. and Ruth 32 65	Benson, John 5 00	wife 7 50
Satton, Pearl 2 0	Myers, Dee 25	Hawley, Gideon and	Chatburn, Richard. o 4 00	Caffall, James and wife 6 00
Seward, George 12 00 Strilev. Emery 50		Mary C 25 00 Holcomb, Oliver E. and	Johnson Elizabeth 4 00 Kilts, Lucinda 14 10	Carlile, Isaac, Jr., and wife
Striley, Emery 50 Teeple, Milton 15 00	1 to 1 to 1 to 1 to 1 to 1 to 1 to 1 to	l limio IP = 500	Persia Branch.	Carlile, Joshua and wife 60 00
Voelpel, E. W. and wife 30 00 Wright, C. P 50	McKim, Ethel 4 0J	Jones, Thomas F. and	Chapman, John 15 00	Carrile, J. P. and wife 100 00 Christensen, J. P 26 62
Wilson, James C 3 05	Olson, James M. and	Emma O	Smith, Wm. A. and wife. 100 00 Kilmer, John 2 00	Campbell, J. N 5 00
Wilson, William A 15 76	Sarah E	Jones, Ingvert L 50	Thomas. Thomas and wife 20 00	Darrington, Sr. B. J 1 00
Total	Rounds, Nellie M 1 00	Kingsbury, John and Rebecca 1 00	Atkinson, James and wife $50 00, o100 00	Elswick, M. F. and wife . 54 05
Expenditures.	Pilot Rock Branch, Cherokee County.	Peterson, Rasmus P. and Ingar 20 00	Hansen, Frederick 5 00	Fisher, J. C and wife 30 00. Frederickson, P. W. and
Bailey, O. H., f		Pett, William and Sarah. 50 00	Seddon, Joseph 9 50 Knight, Mary 1 00
Chapman, Grandma 15 00	Belle 6 20	Pett, John	Union Center Branch.	Halliday, Alice 12 00
Hills, L. E., f	Hayes, Nathan H. and Catherine 55 00	haw, Frederick N. and Mary A 4 00	Case, Frank 7 00	Hansen, Fred and wife 60 00
Kelley, E. L., Bishop700 00	Patterson, Alfred 5 01	Shaw, John 4 00 Shaw, Louisa 04	Erickson, G. E and wife. 50 00	Hanson, Hemming and wife 45 00
LaRue, Will, e 20 00 Sutton, J. R., f	Sheld n, Nelson V. and Ada S	Shaw, Louisa	Jensen, Mark and wife 30 00 Outhouse, Ernest and wife 25 00	Darding, Samuel 5 00
Sutton, J. R., e 26 00	Sheldon, James O. and	Yeamans, Richard W. and Mary E 10 00	Outhouse, E. C. and wife. 3 00 Outhouse, Inez 2 50	Hansen, Hans
Sheldon, T. J., f	Martha 50 00 Sheldon, Frank M. and	·	Hoffman, Arlie and wife. 21 00	Hansen, Julia 3 00
Smith Rosa 5 00		Total $2.448 81	Hoffman, A. C. and wife 27 05	Jensen. Martin 30 00
DHILL ROSE D W		10001
Total $1,259 4	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00		Ballantyne, Emma 28 00 Ballantyne, R. A. and wife, 25 00	Kuykendall, Rachel 15 00
Total $$1,259 49 Due church 333 36	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and	Expenditures. Butterworth, Mrs	Ballantyne, Emma	Kuykendall, Rachel
Total$$1,259 45 Due church333 36 $1,592 81	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch.  Haine, David and  Amelia F	Expenditures. Butterworth, Mrs Charles E., f$270 00	Ballantyne, Emma	Kuykendall, Rachel
Total$$1,259 44 Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00	Expenditures. Butterworth, Mrs	Ballantyne, Emma	100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100   100
Total$$1.259 44 Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E., f	Ballantyne, Emma	Golden
Total$$1.259 44 Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E., f	Ballantyne, Emma	Tabha   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Colo
Total$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E., f	Ballantyne, Emma	Tabha   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Colo
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00   Auburn Branch   Haine, David and Amelia F	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E., f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Rabba   10   10   10   10   10   10   10   1
Total$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00   Auburn Branch   Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00   Reynolds, Martha J 1 00   Reynolds, Martha J 30 00   Skinner, Moess B, and   Celestia 5 00   Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00   Benan Branch   Larveyer, Coerce C, and	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E, f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Rabba   15 00
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Abel B. and Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moses B. and Celestia 5 00 Wallace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Rabba
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair   2 00   Auburn Branch	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Rabba
Total$$1.259 4! Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J. 1 00 Reynolds, Abel B. and Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moses B. and Celestia 5 00 Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00  Benan Branch. Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Ranha     10   10   10   10   10   10   10
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Abel B. and Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moses B. and Celestia 5 00 Wallace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch. Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and Martha 45 00	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma       28         Ballantyne, R. A. and wife, 25       00         Ballantyne, R. A. and wife       30       00         Strand, T. O. and wife       5       00         Brickson, Wilma       15       00         Parker, M. C. and wife       41       00         Shearer, John and wife       40       00         Woodbine Branch       10       00         Mursh, Ellen       5       50         Butler, Ann       35       50         Kibler, S. B. and wife       240       00         Hupp, F. L       15       60         Binnald, Agnes       3       00         Mefford, Mary R       4       00         Mefford, Nancy B       2       50	Some   Ranha
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Abel B. and Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moses B. and Celestia 5 00 Wallace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch. Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and Martha 45 00 Salisbury, Orman and	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Ranha     0 00
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Stabla   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch.  Haine, David and Amelia F. 4 00  Keck, Mary A. 5 00  Reynolds, Martha J. 1 00  Reynolds, Abel B. and Martha J. 30 00  Skinner, Moses B. and Celestia 5 00  Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00  Benan Branch.  Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00  Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00  Salisbury, Benan and Martha 45 00  Salisbury, Orman and Ida 6 00  Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00  Union Branch, Mallard.	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Ranha
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair   2 00	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E., f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Stabla   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moess B. and Celestia 5 00 Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch. Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and Martha 45 00 Salisbury, Orman and Ida 6 00 Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00 Union Branch, Mallard. Cross, Jane 1 00 Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 15 00	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Rabba   Some   Some   Rabba   Some   Rabba   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Abel B. and Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moses B. and Celestia 5 00 Wallace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch. Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and Martha 45 00 Salisbury, Orman and Ida 6 00 Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00 Union Branch, Mallard. Cross, Jane 1 00 Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 15 00	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Stabla   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moess B. and Celestia 5 00 Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch. Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and Martha 45 00 Salisbury, Heraid and Pearl 10 00 Union Branch, Mallard. Cross, Jane 1 00 Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 15 00 Ford, Josephine 6 50 Hartshorn, Catharine 30 00 Hartshorn, Catharine 30 00 Hartshorn, Catharine 30 00 Hartshorn, Catharine 30 00 Hartshorn Maniv W 100 00	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Stabba   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some
Total$$1.259 4! Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00  Keck, Mary A 5 00  Reynolds, Martha J 1 00  Reynolds, Abel B. and Martha J 30 00  Skinner, Moses B. and Celestia 5 00  Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00  Benan Branch  Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00  Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 45 00  Salisbury, Benan and Martha 45 00  Salisbury, Orman and Ida 6 00  Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00  Caninchael, Charles L. and Sarah A 15 00  Ford, Josephine 6 50  Hartsborn, Catharine 30 00  Hartsborn, Manly W 10 00  King, Darins and Julia 10 00  King, Darins and Julia 10 00  King, Darins and Julia 10 00  King, Darins and Julia 10 00  King, Darins and Julia 10 00  King, Darins and Julia 10 00  King, Darins and Julia 10 00  King, Darins and Julia 10 00  King, Darins and Julia 10 00  King, Darins and Julia 10 00  King, Darins and Julia 10 00  King, Darins and Julia 10 00	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs Charles E., f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Stabla   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Marr A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Abel B. and Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moses B. and Celestia 5 00 Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch. Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and Martha 45 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 6 00 Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00 Union Branch, Mallard. Cross, Jane 1 00 Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 15 00 Ford, Josephine 6 50 Hartshorn, Catharine 30 00 Hartshorn, Maniy W 100 King, Darius and Julia 10 06 King, Darius and Julia 10 06 King, Albert D 10 00 Lincoln. Alfred F. and	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Rabba
Total$$1.259 4! Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch.  Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00  Keck, Mary A 5 00  Reynolds, Martha J 1 00  Reynolds, Abel B. and Martha J 30 00  Skinner, Moess B. and Celestia 5 00  Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00  Benan Branch.  Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00  Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 45 00  Salisbury, Grman and Martha 45 00  Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 60  Union Branch, Mallard.  Cross, Jane 1 00  Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 15 00  Ford, Josephine 6 50  Hartshorn, Catharine 30 00  Hartsborn, Manly W 10 00  King, Darius and Julia 10 96  King, Darius and Julia 10 96  King, Albert D 10 00  Lincoln, Alfred F. and  Minnie 10 00	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Rabba   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair   2 00	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Rabba
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair   2 00	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Stable   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moess B. and Celestia 5 00 Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch. Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and Martha 45 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 6 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 6 00 Salisbury, Heraid and Pearl 10 00 Union Branch, Mallard. Cross, Jane 1 00 Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 15 00 Ford, Josephine 6 50 Hartshorn, Maily W 100 00 King, Albert D 10 00 King, Albert D 10 00 Lincoln, Alfred F. and Minnie 10 00 Truog, John and Catharine 20 00 Wilcox, Marie J 5 15	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs. Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Stable   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some
Total$$1.259 41 Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moess B. and Celestia 5 00 Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch. Juergens, George G. and Marty 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 45 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 6 00 Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00 Union Branch, Mallard. Cross, Jane 1 00 Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 5 00 Ford, Josephine 6 50 Hartshorn, Maniy W 100 00 King, Albert D 10 00 Lincoln, Alfred F. and Minnle 10 00 Truog, John and Catharine 20 00 Wilcox, Marie J 5 15 Salem Branch, Shelby County.	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Stable   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some
Total$$1.259 4! Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00  Keck, Mary A 5 00  Reynolds, Martha J 1 00  Reynolds, Abel B. and Martha J 30 00  Skinner, Moses B. and Celestia 5 00  Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00  Benan Branch  Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00  Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 45 00  Salisbury, Benan and Martha 45 00  Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00  Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00  Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 15 00  Ford, Josephine 6 50  Hartshorn, Catharine 30 00  Hartshorn, Maniy W 100  King, Darius and Julia 10 00  King, Darius and Julia 10 00  King, Darius and Julia 10 00  King, Albert D 10 00  Mite society, Rolfe, Io 5 00  Truog, John and Catharine 20 00  Wilcox, Marie J 5 15  Salem Branch, Shelby County.  Albertur, Mrs. John A 12 00  Rell Thomas	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs Charles E, f	Ballantyne, Emma	South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   South   Sout
Total$81.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moess B. and Celestia 5 00 Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch. Juergens, George G. and Marty 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 45 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 45 00 Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00 Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 15 00 Ford, Josephine 6 50 Hartshorn, Manily W 100 Ford, Josephine 6 50 Hartshorn, Manily W 100 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, John and Catharine 20 00 Wilcox, Marie J 5 15 Salem Branch, Shelby County. Albertus, Mrs. John A 11 00 Bell, Thomas 6 50 Buillard, Jonatham 9 50 Buillard, W. D. and	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some
Total$81.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moess B. and Celestia 5 00 Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch. Juergens, George G. and Marty 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 45 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 45 00 Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00 Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 15 00 Ford, Josephine 6 50 Hartshorn, Manily W 100 Ford, Josephine 6 50 Hartshorn, Manily W 100 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, John and Catharine 20 00 Wilcox, Marie J 5 15 Salem Branch, Shelby County. Albertus, Mrs. John A 11 00 Bell, Thomas 6 50 Buillard, Jonatham 9 50 Buillard, W. D. and	Expenditures.   Butterworth, Mrs   Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some
Total$$1.259 4! Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00  Keck, Mary A 5 5 00  Reynolds, Martha J 1 00  Reynolds, Abel B. and Martha J 30 00  Skinner, Moses B. and Celestia 5 00  Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00  Benan Branch.  Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00  Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 45 00  Salisbury, Benan and Martha 45 00  Salisbury, Forman and Ida 6 00  Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00  Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 15 00  Ford, Josephine 6 50  Hartshorn, Catharine 30 00  Hartshorn, Manly W 10 00  King, Darius and Julia 10 00  King, Darius and Julia 10 00  King, Darius and Julia 10 00  King, Albert D 11 00  Mitte society, Rolfe, Io. 5 00  Truog, John and Catharine 20 00  Wilcox, Marie J 5 15  Salem Branch, Shelby County.  Albertus, Mrs. John A 11 00  Bell, Thomas 6 50  Bullard, Jonatham 9 50  Bullard, W.D. and Rachel A 34 00  Ballard, James H. and Edith 5 60	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some
Total$$1.259 4! Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moess B. and Celestia 5 00 Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch. Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and Martha 45 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 6 00 Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00 Carinichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 15 00 Ford, Josephine 6 50 Hartshorn, Catharine 30 00 King, Albert D 10 00 Ming, Darius and Julia 10 00 King, Albert D 10 00 Lincoln, Alfred F. and Minnie 10 00 Mice society, Rolfe, Io 5 00 Truog, John and Catharine 20 00 Wilcox, Marie J 5 15 Salem Branch, Shelby County, Albertus, Mrs. John A 11 00 Beil, Thomas 6 50 Bullard, W. D. and Rachel A 34 00 Beillard, James H. and Edith 50 Hall David and Emeline .299 45	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some
Total$$1.259 4! Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Abel B. and Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moses B. and Celestia 5 00 Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and Martha 45 00 Salisbury, Orman and Ida 6 00 Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00 Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 15 00 Ford, Josephine 6 50 Hartshorn, Catharine 30 00 Hartshorn, Manly W. 100 00 King, Alfred F. and Minnie 10 00 Lincoln, Alfred F. and Minnie 10 00 Mite society, Rolfe, Io 5 00 Truog, John and Catharine 20 00 Wilcox, Marie J 5 15 Salem Branch, Shelby County, Albertus, Mrs. John A. 11 00 Bell, Thomas 6 50 Bullard, Jonathan 9 50 Bullard, Jonathan 9 50 Bullard, Jonathan 34 00 Bullard, James H. and Edith 5 00 Hall, David and Emeline .299 45 Hall, Alva 18 80 Leytham Richard 5 00 Leytham Richard 5 00	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Stable   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00  Keck, Mary A 5 00  Reynolds, Martha J 1 00  Reynolds, Martha J 30 00  Skinner, Moess B. and Celestia 5 00  Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00  Benan Branch 274 00  Benan Branch 30 00  Salisbury, George G. and Mary 10 00  Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 45 00  Salisbury, George E. and Martha 45 00  Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00  Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00  Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00  Salisbury, George E. and Martha 45 00  Salisbury, Benan and Martha 6 00  Salisbury, George E. and G. 10 00  Salisbury, Benan and Herald 6 00  Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00  Union Branch, Mallard.  Cross, Jane 100  Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 15 00  Ford, Josephine 6 50  Hartshorn, Catharine 30 00  King, Darius and Julia 10 00  King, Darius and Julia 10 00  King, Albert D 10 00  Lincoln, Alfred F. and Minnie 10 00  Mite society, Rolfe, Io 5 00  Truog, John and Catharine 20 00  Wilcox, Marie J 5 15  Salem Branch, Shelby County, Albertus, Mrs. John A 11 00  Bullard, Jonathan 9 50  Bullard, Jonathan 9 50  Bullard, Jonathan 9 50  Bullard, Jonathan 9 50  Bullard, Jonathan 9 50  Bullard, Jonathan 9 50  Bullard, James H. and Edith 5 00  Hall, Alva 18 80  Leytham, Richard 5 00  Kyeet, Mary 1 100	Expenditures.   Butterworth, Mrs   $270 00   Butterworth, Charles E, e   5 00   Carlson, Carl J., e   5 00   Derry, Charles, e   5 00   Derry, Charles, e   6 00   Expenses on Arion property   50   Funt. Bishop C. J., (books, exchange, etc.) 20 93   Kelley, Bishop E, L   1 381 89   McCall, Grandma, a   5 00   Rudd, Sr. David M., f   220 00   Rudd, Sr. Boavid M., f   220 00   Wight, Sr. Komanan, f   115 00   Wight, Sr. Komanan, f   110 00   Wight, Sr. Komanan, e   10 25   Total   $2.165 57   Due church   283 24   $2.448 81   LITTLE SIOUX DISTRICT.   Alma M. Fyrando, Agent.   Due church January 1, 1900   $155 05   Logan Branch.   A. A. Baker   2 00   Adams, Arthur H. and   wife   21 28   Baker, Warren   1 00   Williams, Lillie A   2 50   Kennedy, Minnie   2 50   Kennedy, Minnie   2 50   Kennedy, Minnie   2 50   Kennedy, Mark   1 00   Little Sioux   Lane, J. W. and wife   39 25   Daywalt, Nancy, t   4 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   4 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   1 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   1 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   1 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   1 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   1 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   1 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   1 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   1 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   1 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   1 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   1 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   1 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   1 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   1 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   1 00   Daywalt, Nancy, t   1 05   Scott, Marie C   2 50   Scott, Harlan J   4 00   Scott, George M. and	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Standar   Some   Standar   Some   Standar   Some   Standar   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   So
Total$$1.259 4t Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moess B. and Celestia 5 00 Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch. Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and Martha 45 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 6 00 Salisbury, Fenal and Pearl 10 00 Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00 Union Branch, Mallard. Cross, Jane 1 00 Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 15 00 Ford, Josephine 6 50 Hartshorn, Maniy W 100 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 Hartshorn, Maniy W 100 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 Lincoln, Alfred F. and Minnie 10 00 Lincoln, John and Catharine 20 00 Wilcox, Marie J 5 15 Salem Branch, Shelby County. Albertus, Mrs. John A 11 00 Bell, Thomas 6 50 Bullard, Jonatham 9 50 Bullard, James H. and Edith 5 00 Hall, David and Emeline.299 Bullard, James H. and Edith 5 00 Hall, David and Emeline.299 Sweet, Mary 1 00 Sweet, Mary 1 00 Sweet, Mary 1 00 Sweet, Mary 1 00 Sweet, Mary 5 00	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Standar   Some   Standar   Some   Standar   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some
Total$$1.259 41 Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moess B. and Celestia 5 00 Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch. Juergens, George G. and Mary 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 45 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 45 00 Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00 Calisbury, George E. and OUnion Branch, Mallard. Cross, Jane 1 00 Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 15 00 Ford, Josephine 6 50 Hartshorn, Catharine 30 00 King, Albert D 10 00 Lincoln, Alfred F. and Minnie 10 00 Lincoln, Alfred F. and Minnie 20 00 Wilcox, Marie J 5 15 Salem Branch, Shelby County. Albertus, Mrs. John A. 11 00 Beil, Thomas 6 50 Bullard, Jonathan 9 50 Bullard, Jonathan 9 50 Bullard, James H. and Edith 5 00 Bullard, James H. and Edith 5 00 Dow City Branch Butterworth, Elsie 12 50	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Standar   Some   Standar   Some   Standar   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some
Total$$1.259 4! Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00  Keck, Mary A 5 00  Reynolds, Martha J 1 00  Reynolds, Abel B. and Martha J 30 00  Skinner, Moses B. and Celestia 5 00  Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00  Benan Branch 274 00  Benan Branch 30 00  Salisbury, George G. and Mary 10 00  Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 45 00  Salisbury, Grman and Hold 45 00  Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 60  Valisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 60  Union Branch, Mallard 10 00  Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00  Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00  Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00  Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00  Ming, Darius and Julia 10 00  King, Darius and Julia 10 00  Mite society, Rolfe, Io. 5 00  Truog, John and Catharine 20 00  Wilcox, Marie J 5 15  Salem Branch, Shelby County, Albertus, Mrs. John A 11 00  Bell, Thomas 6 50  Bullard, Jonathan 9 50  Bullard, Jonathan 9 50  Bullard, James H. and Edith 5 60  Hall, David and Emeline.299 45  Hall, Alva 38  Leytham, Richard 5 60  Sweet, George 5 00  Dow City Branch, Butterworth, James L.	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some
Total$$1.259 4! Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moess B. and Celestia 5 00 Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch. Juergens, George G. and Marty 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 45 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 45 00 Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00 Union Branch, Mallard. Cross, Jane 1 00 Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 5 00 Hartsborn, Maniy W 100 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 Hartsborn, Maniy W 100 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 Lincoln, Alfred F. and Minnie 10 00 Lincoln, Alfred F. and Minnie 20 00 Wilcox, Marie J 5 15 Salem Branch, Shelby County. Albertus, Mrs. John A 11 00 Bell, Thomas 6 50 Bullard, Jonatham 9 50 Bullard, James H. and Edith 5 00 Bullard, James H. and Edith 5 00 Bullard, James H. and Edith 5 00 Sweet, Mary 100 Sweet, George 5 00 Dow City Branch Butterworth, Elsie 12 50 Butterworth, Elsie 12 50 Butterworth, James L. and Edna 30 00 Butterworth, Bleie 12 50 Butterworth, James L. and Edna 30 00	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some
Total$$1.259 4! Due church	Sheldon, Zenas Blair 2 00  Auburn Branch. Haine, David and Amelia F 4 00 Keck, Mary A 5 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Martha J 1 00 Reynolds, Martha J 30 00 Skinner, Moess B. and Celestia 5 00 Waliace, Elizabeth 274 00 Benan Branch. Juergens, George G. and Marty 10 00 Salisbury, George E. and Sarah 30 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 45 00 Salisbury, Benan and Ida 45 00 Salisbury, Herald and Pearl 10 00 Union Branch, Mallard. Cross, Jane 1 00 Carmichael, Charles L. and Sarah A 5 00 Hartsborn, Maniy W 100 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 Hartsborn, Maniy W 100 00 King, Darius and Julia 10 00 Lincoln, Alfred F. and Minnie 10 00 Lincoln, Alfred F. and Minnie 20 00 Wilcox, Marie J 5 15 Salem Branch, Shelby County. Albertus, Mrs. John A 11 00 Bell, Thomas 6 50 Bullard, Jonatham 9 50 Bullard, James H. and Edith 5 00 Bullard, James H. and Edith 5 00 Bullard, James H. and Edith 5 00 Sweet, Mary 100 Sweet, George 5 00 Dow City Branch Butterworth, Elsie 12 50 Butterworth, Elsie 12 50 Butterworth, James L. and Edna 30 00 Butterworth, Bleie 12 50 Butterworth, James L. and Edna 30 00	Expenditures.  Butterworth, Mrs Charles E. f	Ballantyne, Emma	Some   Standar   Some   Standar   Some   Standar   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some   Some

IOWA AND ILLI-	Thatcher, William T 5 00	A. P. Free 7 00	Berber Cook 50	Stinson, Henrietta, t 1 75
NOIS.	Wise, Annas	Amanda Frick 5 00	Willie C Cook	Stinson, Eva T., t 2 00 Woodward, Leman, t 2 00
NAUVOO DISTRICT.	Wright, Manurvis C. S. 5 00 Williams, Phebe 10 00	Emma Holdsworth 5 00	Mary E. Cook	Wass, Nellie, o
George P. Lambert, Agent. Receipts.	Total	Jessie Hart 1 00	R. Dunlap 50	Willing workers 2 00
Due church January		Wilbert Hart 2 50 James L. and Sophia		Watts, Percy, t 5 00
1, 1900$ 53 52 Beer, Florence, t 1 10	Davis John Arthur f #260 00	Hart 65 00	E. W. Nunley 15 00	Total$277 89
Bishop, Isabelle, t 2 00 Bishop, Isabelle, o 50	Hudgins, J. W., f 60 00 E. L. Kelley, Bishop 20 00 Pender, W. S., e 12 00	Richard G. Jones 40 00	Samuel Roberts 14 50	Expenditures.
Bishop, Ella, t	Pender, W. S., e 12 00 Short, M. T., e 5 00	William Kirk and wife. 295 00	Mattie A. Roberts 1 00	S. O. Foss, f
Craig, Charles W., t 13 00 Davis, Sarah A., t 3 00	Total$467 00	Clara Mercer 4 00	Ada Roberts 1 50	Poor 2 50
Dowdall, Electa A., t 2 00 Furrows, Mary, t 1 00	Due church 54 44	Jennie C. Legget 3 00 Richard and Mary	Alma Roberts 25	Postage 82
Giles, Edward,t 2 25 Gipson, Annie J., t 1 50	$521 44 ———————————————————————————————————	Maggie Martin 25	Francis A. Rosson 18 87 William Rosson 5 00	* Total$277 32 Due church 57
Horton, Elizabeth, t 6 00 Horsey, Katherine, t 5 00	NORTHWESTERN DIS- TRICT.	Sr. Pifer 13 00	Eliza A. Snow	$277 89
Haines, Cassie A., o 1 (0) Jacobs, Alice, t 2 65	Arthur Smith, Agent.	Curtis Randall 11 24 Sallie E. Randall 8 10	Mary Jane Tulley 1 00	WESTERN DISTRICT.
Johnson, Frederick, t 80 00 Johnson, C. A., t 3 60	Receipts.	Charles Randall 10 00 Emma Ross 3 00	Nancy Griffin 2 00	T. C. Kelley, Agent.
Johnson, Hortenza, t 1 00 Kastner, Dorothy, t 5 00	Due church January 1, 1900 $ 95 35	Melissa Ross       4 00         Frances Ross       9 00         Mrs. Robert Ross       1 00         Elle Ross       2 50	Hettie Griffin	Receipts. Due church January
Keiley, E. L., Bishop 107 94	George Bolly 3 00	Mrs. Robert Ross 1 60 Elia Ross 2 50		1, 1900$ 31 53
Lambert, Annie J. t 1 20 Lambert, William T., t. 100 00	E. H. Ebert 5 00	George Ross 10 00	Total$434 53	Billings, Pearl F 1 00
Lambert, Hattie J., t 2 50 Lambert, George P., t 45 00 Luke, J. W., o 50	Bertha Fender 26 00	Ira Richards 10 00	Expenditures. Charles L. Snow, f$239 87	Blastow, Edwin 5 00 Carter, S. J 1 00
Morgan, John L., o 10 40	Mahel Hawkins 200	Henry Richelson 5 50	E. W. Nunley, f	Cunningham, S. G 1 00 Eaton, Henry R 7 00
Morgan, D. L., t	L. F. Johnson 5 00	wife 11 00	T. C. Kelley, e 24 00	Eaton, Otis
McDonald, F. M. o 3 50 McKiernan, James and	Melissa Knapp 1 50 Margaret Kelley 25 00	W. Resor 5 00 Charles K Buan 15 00	Total $324 23 Due church 110 30	Gray, Damaris 5 00 Haskell, Freeman 50
Hattie, t	ders 10 00	William Royer 5 00	$494.53	Haskell, William 1 00 Hall, Nancy 10
Ortleb, William, t 44 00 Pitt. Henry T., t 10 00	H. E. Lilly	L. H. McCall and wife. 20 00	·	Holland, P. J 50 Holland, Bertie 50
Prier, John, o	Many Potton 4 00	James A. Graves and	THE LEVEL STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE STATE OF	Hamor, George 50 Hamor, Susan 50
Schweers, Frederick, t 12 80	Eleanor Nelson 2 00	wife	EASTERN DISTRICT. Uriah M. Kelley, Agent.	Holman, E E 5 00 Linnscott, George 1 00
Stobaugh, J. W. and wife, o. 200 Smith, Emma N. o 3	L. and O. B. Ratcliffe. 25 00 Edwin Sandy			Robbins, J. H
Tr pp. Solomon t	Harvey Sandy	M. H. Spurgeon 5 75	Ames, J. N., t$ 10 00 Beal. Lois, t$	Seevy D S 12.00
Wooding, Matilda M., t 5 (0)		Helen Sherwin 2 00	Beal, Elihu E., t 50	Shepherd, Albert       1 00         Sullivan, Sar h M       20 00         Thomas, Julia       7 00
Wallace, Osa O., o	Nannie Stouffer 3 00	Armenia Sutherland 6 00 Orson P. Sutherland 60 00	Beal, Hannah, t 4 50	Tainter, Emily 10 00
Total$603 76	J H Scott		Beal, Alonzo M., t	To al$117 13
Expenditures.	Suas and maggie	A sister 2 50	Beal, Barney C., t	Expenditures.
Evans, John R., f$180 00 Evans, John R., e 13 00		Walter S. Taylor and	Bryant, Rmily, t 1 00:	Blanchard, W. W., f $99 62 Blanchard, W. W., e 4 00
Gunn. Sarah J. (board, Phebe J. Hall) 11 00	Simon and Mary Wheelan 6 50 Adeliza A. Wolfe 2 50	wife	Crowley, Charlotte, t 1 50 Cummings, Mary A., t 2 00	Kelley, T. C., e
Kelley, E. L., Bishop 2 00		Mary Tomlinson 23 00	Dauphinee, Lizzie, t 5 00	Money orders
Agent's expenses	Total$503 69	Sr. Tillman 50	Dauphinee, Lizzie, o 50
McClinthon Lafavotta e 10 00	Expenditures. E. L. Kelley, Bishop$250 00	John W. Thorp	Dobbin, Rebecca, t 50 Drisko, H. C., t 75	WESTERN DISTRICT. S. G. Cunningham, Agent.
Snively, Joseph S, e 8 50	E. L. Kelley, Bishop$250 00 O. B. Thomas, e	Elizabeth Williams 1 50 Elizabeth and Laura	Faulkingham, Eliza, t 50 Faulkingham, Mertie Lt 75	Receipts.
Real estate repairs 17 25	E. I. Kelley, Bishop	Williams 9 50 Emma Westervelt 75	Dyer, Emeline, t	Andrews, W. M $ 10 00 Billings, M. E 1 00
Total $602 76 Due church 1 0				Billings, Pearl F 5 00 Billings, Rhoda A 2 00
	J. F. McClure	wife		Billin's, John J 1 00 Bil ings, Philip R 10 00
KANSAS.	G Gurwell 8 25 John A. Davis 13 80	Total$1,230 74	Goff Laura L , t 4 00 Green, Mildred, t 3	Bray, George E
NORTHEASTERN DIS- TRICT.	W. H. Mannering 41 60 L. G. Gurwell 14 50	Expenditures.	Hinkley, C. H. and	Black, Rufus
John Cairns, Agent.	Ella M. Landers 3 70 O. Resch 8 60	E. L. Kelley, Bishop$260 00 Evan A. Davis, f200 00	wife, t	Cunningham, Emeline 25 Cunningham, H. A 250
Receipts. Balance due church	A. H. Parsons 10 00	Arthur M Baker, f171 00 W. S Macrae, f174 00	Hall, Mary A., t 5 00	Cunningham, Inez B 2 50 Cunningham, Bessie A 2 50
January 1, 1900$ 54 09 Berry, Jane	Total$492 45	S. D. Love, f	Ingersell, W. N., t 2 00	Closson, Margie 3 00 Closson, A. J 1 00
Ballard, Mary 1 00	Due church 11 24	Emily Scoville	Ingersoll, Carrie, t 50	Closson, Mary 50 Closson, Agnes 50
Buckiey, James       15 00         Boston, Harry       1 00         Boston, Mary J       1 00	$503 69 ———	Sr. Mary Thatcher 15 00 Sr. Bonine 5 00	Joy, Mary, t 2 25	Closson, Geneva
Burns, James	SPRING RIVER DISTRICT.	W. H. Smart, e 6 00 John Alfred Davis, e180 00	Joy, Martha, t	Colby, A. L
Chew, Maggie 2 00 Corry, Julia 3 00	J. M. Richards, Agent. Receipts.	Stephen Maloney, e	Joy. David. t 1 00	Candage, Flossie
Donaldson, Phebe 1 00 Dettemair. Maggie 1 00	Arthur Anderson and	G. W. Beebe, e	Kelley, Ada S., t 10 00	Carter, Frank
Ethridge Charles 5 00 Gurwell, William 114 90	Elizabeth Anderson 1 00	W. E. Haden, e	Kelley, Mercy S., t 5 00	Carman, Bertha A
Gurwell, Abram L 15 00		Daniel Jellnass	Kelley, A. B., o 1 00	Dunham, Liddie
Green, David 1.00	Richard Bird, Sr	Total $1,232 50	Leighton, Gertie, t 50	Eaton, Henry R
Hagar, Susanna 1 00	Jessie Bird 50	Due agent 1 76	Lakeman, Lucretia, t 1 05	Eaton, Jonathan E 15 00 Eaton, Hattie A 2 25
Jarvis, Blanche 3 00	Ellen Black		Murray, Sardina, t 1 00	Eaton, S. S
	Richard and Mary Bird 7 00	KENTUCKY AND	Norton, Susan M, t 4 00	Eaton, Charity
Johnson, John	Ben F. Bowman 1 90	TENNESSEE. KENTUCKY AND TEN-	Norton, J. B., t 4 00	Eaton, Ada E
Love, Christine 3 00 McGalliard, Isaac 17 00	William Clark 8 52	NESSEE DISTRICT.	Norton, Ferdinand L., t. 6 00	Eaton, Lillie M
Munns, Lillie	H. Thomas Curtis 15 00	D. W. Cook, Agent. Receipts.	Philbrick, P., t 2 00	Edminster, Mehitabel 15 00
	William Dan 3 00	Due church January 1,	Richardson, John, t 16 64	Gray, Damaris
Price, Grace M 5 00	Alfred E Davis 15 00 M. M. English 5 00	1900	Smith, Frank P. and	Harvey, Mary A
Sumner, Addie 1 00	M. S. Frick 43 30	Mary L. Adair 5 00	Smith, Beatrice, O	Harvey, Bertha E
Sprague, Ance E 4 00	Paul Frick	Elias P. Cook120 001	Silling, menty and wire, b. 10 00	Holman, E. E

							Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Contro
Hamor, George 2 00	Helping hand society,		Wood, Cyrus W 6 00	0014	Annie Stark, t	50	Martha Nichols, t 1 00
Haskell, Daniel 1 56	Dennisport	5 39	Wood, Sarah 12 00	00   z	August Fetting and		Ida Sherman, t 1 50
Haskell, Kate 1 50 Haskell, Freeman 3 00	Hemmerley, Helen	2 90	Wood, Welton	50	wife, t	5 00	Charles Sherman, t 1 00
Linscott, Rufus B 10 00	and Clara 2	25 84	Young, Charles W 11 00	ו מי	noy a. retting, t	10	Huron Center Branch.
Newman, Horace D 3 00	Holmes, Nellie E 1	2 00		- 1	Applegate Branch.		William G. Codding-
Newman, Harold C 1 00	Holmes, Ora V 2	21 00	Total $2,903 22	22 1	Frank O. Benedict, t 18	5 00	ton, t 5 00
Newman, Florence E 1 00 Powers, Winfield 5 00	Interest on deposits	1 10	T 111	= 1	Robert H. Huston, t	5 00	George Allan, t 5 00
Powers, Joel 6 00	Joy Deniel 1	4 50	Expenditures.		Jennie Huston, t	5 00	Murdock McDonald, t 9 00
Robbins, J. H 1 00	Joy. Lydia	3 00	Bond, M. H$ 50 00		William Surbrook, t 1 Susan M. King, t	1 00 50	Julia McDonald, t
Robbins, Frank 50	Johnson, Alice	30	Bond, Nellie240 00 Britton, Olive36 00		John Mills, t	9 00	John Breakie, t 2 50
Stanley, Ida F 7 00	Johnson, Earle	25	Bullard, Lilla565 00	0 1	Elizabeth M. Mills, t (	6 00	Minnie Breakie, t 3 00
Steele, Myra G 4 00 Snow, Almira M 56	Johnson, Herbert	4 25	Bullard, R205 26	26 4	Andrew T. Barr, t	4 00	Martha Givens, t 1 50
Sullivan, Sarah M 1 00		4 25 1 00	Davison, H. J 5 00		Grace B. Surbrook, t Mary Surbrook, t	25 50	John Hunter, t 5 00
Smith, Flora 1 00	Kelley, Barbara	2 50	Hansen, Mrs. M. P 18 50 Joy. Effie G 70 00		Phebe Benedict, t 1	1 00	Rachel M. Coddington, t. 29 35 Alvara Watts, t 2 25
Thomas, Julia 6 70	Kenty, Alex 1	00 0	Kelley, E. L., Bishop650 00	n E	Peter Surbrook, t 1	1 00	Mary L. Hunter, t 1 00
Tracey, Annie	Lake, Charles H 2	0 00	Kelley, W. H	ın [C	Clark Vincent, t 1	1 00	Lizzie Allan, t 5 00
Nelson, Nancy J 75	Leather, Anna	5 00	Mileage 42 90	0 1	Ella Benedict, t 2	2 15	Emma Givens, t 1 00
A sister165 00	l Lecknev. Adolph 2	2 25	Riddler, Ann 3 00 Bullard, R., expense for-	0   4	Andrew Benedict, t 10	ן טטיי	Calvin Ledsworth, t 5 00 Enoch Ledsworth, t 2 00
Total$420 15	Leckney, Anna	4 85	mer year 85 00	nΙ	Pidgeon River Branch.
11 UGP	Leckney, AnnaLeland, AliceLeland, B. W4	5 82	Rich, C. H 20 00	0 9	Julius Carr, t	75	St. Thomas Branch.
Expenditures.	Leland, B. W 4	1 50	Robley, Annie315 00	0   5		2 10	Thomas Rawson and
Expenditures. W. W. Blanchard, f213 00	Lewis, Lorenzo H 3	1 00	Robley, G. W 49 34		Christopher Warren, t 1 Nancy Walsh, t	1 00 50	wife, t
W. W. Blanchard, e 4 00	Hinnett Celie 90	വ വെ	Sheehy, F. M		frena Carr, t	50	Eleanor Barss, t 50
S. G. Cunningham, f 125 00 S. G. Cunningham, e 9 15	Lippett, Albert 1	5 00	Smith, John 46 94	4 1	Katy Hinton, t	45	Richard Rossor, t 1 25
Lucinda Hammond 20 00	Lippett, Eliza	5 00 2 00	Stationery 2 40	$0 \mathbb{N}$	Matilda Greer, t 1		Laura Rossor, t 2 75
Lucinda Hammond 20 00 H. J Davison, e 5 00	Linnell Dean S	1 00	Wattez, A. N 5 00			5 00 2 00	Emma Volz, t 8 00
Stationery and stamps 1 00	MacKay, Margaret P	9 44	Wetmore, Grace 5 00 Wetmore, J. W 9 00		George A. Crouch, t		William Volz, t 1 50 Lena Volz t 4 35
Total$377 15	McGuire, Thomas	1 90		_ E	Benjamin F. Bates, t 1		Martha Volz, t 2 00
Due church 43 00		70	Total expenditures$2,734 34		Delaria Bates, t	75	Frederick Volz, t 20 00
*	McKinnon James	5 00 50	Due church168 88			3 00 3 00	Alexander Trescott and
$420 15	McPhee, Clara 2			Ī	Albert Smith, t 3 Hannah E. Thomas, t 2		wife, t 5 47 Mariah Yager, t 1 00
Section 1	Monk, William	2 00	MICHIGAN.	A	Alice E. Thomas, t 2		Jerry Moran, t 15 00
MASSACHUSETTS.	Moore, Catharine 1	0 00		1			Charles Morgan and
MASSACHUSETTS DIS-	Moore, L zzie		EASTERN DISTRICT.	1,	Vassar Branch.	امني	wife, t 50
TRICT.		2 25	Andrew Barr, Agent.		Henry Hocknell, t 29 Barbara Hocknell, t		Lewis Binder, t 10 00
	Montgomery, Ira and	1 00	Receipts.	"	Black River Branch.	ادم د	Esther Moore, t
R. Bullard, Agent.		2 00	Due church January			ا م	Samuel Brown and
Receipts.	M rtimer, Sarah J	3 75	1, 1900$513 84		Bruno Diem, t		wife, t 2 20
Due church January 1, 1900$546 85	Mottashed, Fred J 20	0 00	Port Huron Branch.	Î	Hattie Kearns, t 1	1 75	Lizzie Volz, t 1 00 Elizabeth Ledsworth, t 1 50
Abercrombie, Ralph W.	Hannora 2	R KO	Hannah Biglow 60	$0 \mathbf{I}$	Herman Diem and wife t. 28		Charles Ledsworth, t 3 50
and Isabella 25 50	Vickerson, A	9 75	Gertrude S. Hardy 50 George R. McCoucha, t 12 50	0	Flint Branch.		John Brown, t 25
Ames, I. B. and wife 2 00	Nickerson, Dora 1	1 00	Carrie McCoucha 12 50	n I	Hattie Burns, t	50	Michael Yeger, t 1 00
Angell, Alma 1 00	Nickerson, Hattie G 19	9 35	Joseph J. Emlaw, t 1 00	õΙC	Carrh E. Ball, t 20	00 0	Albert Barss and wife, t 2 38 John Stocks, t 25
Arnold, Henry W 45 00 Barnes, Michael 5 00	Nickerson, Nehemiah R. 2	2 60	Arthur Purman, t 5 00		Jennie Gibson, t	25	John Stocks, t
Batchelder, Inez M 1 00	Jatley, Florence	50	Abel Klienstiver, t 50 Joanna Harris, t 50		Porter Hutchins, t 2 Amelia Hutchins, t 1
Battey, Nancy 3 00	Payne, G. F	5 00	Joanna Harris, t 50 Nancy Walker, t 25		Arley Haun, t 1		Sigel Branch.
Boan, Ellen M 22 00 Bond, Myron H 25 00	Perry, Carrie 10		East Fremont Branch.	Į E	Bertie Johnson, t 1		John G. Morgan, t 20 00 Jane Morgan, t 1 00
Bond, Nellie M 11 00	Petty, Amanda M 19 Pierce, Arthur B 30		George Smith, t 3 00		Frank Leverton, t 1		James Morgan, t 2 00
Booth, Nellie 1 00	Pierson, Laura	45	Mary A. Stevens, t 5 46		Stephen Levulette, t George Lynch, t 8		Matilda Gager, t 4 00
Boston branch offering 38 85	Potter, Mary	1 00	Mary H. Harvey, t 1 00	$0 \mathbf{I}$		2 25
Boston mite society 1 00 Bowen, Lucy Waterman. 15 00		5 00	George Clark and wife 10 00	$0 \mathbf{F}$	Frank Tree, t 1	1 00	St. Clair Branch.
Bowers, Alfred W. and		8 50 4 00	Robert Paton, t		Annie Leverton, t	50	Martha J. Skinner, t 8 60 Martha M. Skinner, t 3 00
Martha 34 60		1 00	Albert Cline, t 20 00		Edith Tree, t 1 James Powers, t 2		George H. Skinner, t 6 80
Bradbury, William 7 00	Roberts, Asa F	2 00	Emma Cline, t 12 00		Alma Hann, t	10	Henry Lively, t 1 00
Bradshaw, George 18 00	Rogers, Fred 3	8 00	Frederick C. Stevens, t 5 00	0 I C	Osro J. Haun, t	73	Martha Lively, t 1 30
Bradt, Eleanor	Rogers, Mary C	1 00	Iva B. Stevens 02	2 4	Mary Becker, t 28	8 50	Mary Brown, t 1 10
Brietsman, Ferdinand 3 00		5 00 3 00	Sarah Reeves, t	n i e	Sophia Collins, t 12 Beth Burns		Martha A Wortz, t 1 00 Ezra Wortz, t 25 00
Brown Lottie 20	Searle, Ransom J	2 00	John Grice, t 1 00		George Burns, t	10 75	Middleton Howison, t 2 50
Burlingame, Ruth A 26 00	Sears Ressie	5 00	Bayport Branch.		William Popplewell, t	75	Andrew Howison, t 2 50
Burnham, George	Sears, Calvin		Elizabeth Perry, t 17 00	ωĮΞ	Ethel Popplewell, t	75	Henry Anderson, t 3 00
Julia C 14 75	Coons Mans	3 DU	obert Perry, t 5 00		Myron Tree, t Onleson Sturrit, t	. 25	Lebanon Branch.
Chase, Abbie W	Sears, Nettie 1	0 00	William H Dowler + # 00	01-		10 1 00	Peter McDonald, t 2 00
Chase, Abbie W 14 50	Sears, Tressa	7 00	William Dowker, t 10 00 Hannah Dowker, t 10 00	ŅΙ	Ida Haun, t	50	Richard L. Provost, t 50
Chase, Mary R 10 00	Shaw, Daniel T 1	9 60	Rachel Dowker, t 90	~ 11	Laura Carpenter, t 1	1 00	Cora L. Provost, t 50 Richard Provost, t 50
Chase, Rosa 2 50	Sheehy Orilla	5 00	Eugene Wyman, t 5 50	0	Maple Valley Branch.		*
Chase, Rosa	Sheehy, Ruth M 2	6 70	Ellen Dutcher, t 7 10	0 4	Anna McKernan, t 7	7 85	Forester Branch.
Clark, Sarah 25	Shepherd, A. A	25	Peter Petty, t 6 00	013		4 00	Sarah J. Rushton, t 50
Coombs, Charles 4 00	Sinclair, W. A	1 00 5 00	Nevada Harder, t 16 00	n A	Amanda Young, t 9	3 00   2 00	Lois Conklin, t
Coombs, Etta 4	Simpson, Hibbert D	8 50	Harve Dutcher, t 2 00	018	Susan Koyl, t 2	2 25	Annie Hall, t 22 00
Cottrel. M. B 7 01	Smith. Delmont	5 00			Mathinas Schell, t	25	Charles Badgro and
Crocker, Arthur L 70 00 Dane, Albert100 00	Smith. George H. and	0.00			Julia Schell, t	25	wife, t 1 00
Dennisport, a sister 1 00		5.00	Pearl Dutcher, t 2 50	0 0	William Schell, t	1 70 50	Andrew Barr, t 3 00 Catharine A. Barr, t 3 00
Dennisport, a sister 1 00	Spinnett, John P 1	5 00	Mattie Burr, t 13 50	$0 \mid J$	John Kake, t	70	William Conklin, t 2 50
Dennisport, a sister 1 00	Sprague Elizabeth	1 75	Francis C. Smith, t 50			5 00	Bell River Branch.
Dennisport, a sister 50	Staples, Hattie E 2	00 00	Carrie McCreedy, t 1 40 Anna Harder, t 5 00	O C	Adeline Vanduzer, t 6 Samuel McGeachy, t 1	6 70 1 00	Mary Terry, t 8 00
Dennisport, a sister 50 Dennisport, a sister 50 Edwards, J. L. and wife. 50	Staples Idella F 2	30 00	Anna Petty, t 2 00		John Johnston, t	50	Ann Summers, t 5 00
Eldredge, Sylvia C 1 00	Staples, Eva S	2 00	Emma Kohl, t 2 00		Juniata Branch.	00	John J. Harrison, t 10 00
Eldredge, N. C 24 00	Stearns, Eleanor	3 00	Buel Branch.	10	Orilla Laur, t	75	William O. Harrison, t 100 Chester B. Harrison, t 200
Fairclough, Mabel 2 00 Fairclough, Mary J 5 33	Stevens, Elnora	2 00	Susanna Leavett, t 1 00	οĴ	James Laur, t	75	William Powell, t 3 00
Fall River ladies' aid so-	Suttill, John10 Toombs, Delphina	1 95	Elizabeth A. Sweet, t 3 00	0   E	Edward Reeves, t 1	1 00	William Powell, t 3 00 Margaret Powell, t 1 00
ciety 5 00	Toombs, Otis	1 25	Jared L. Sweet, t 10 00	00   E	Fanny Baxter, t 3	3 45	Cass River Branch.
Farrell, Ralph W 3 00	Thayer, Harvlin and wife	5 00	George C. Leavett, t 3 00 Agnes Leavett, t 3 00		John Hartnell, t 4 Elizabeth Hartnell, t 4	4 88 4 88	Joseph Simmons, t 50
Fenner, William 7 50 Field, Almira 5	Travers, E. L. and Leah.		Isaac Leavett, t 20 00	ŏ ī	Dora Baxter, t 1	1 30	Mattie Peer, t 25
Fillmore, Gertrude 30	Vickers, Kate 1 Warren, C. S 1	60	Mary McInnis, t 5 00	10   E	Elizabeth Boyer, t 1		Henry Peer, t 1 00
Fisher, E. H	Warren C & Inn	0.5			Sarah Kilbourn, t 1 F. H. Baxter t 2		John Simmons, t 2 00 John Henry, t 1 55
Pisper, M. C	II Matormon South A	4 00	Nancy Hicks, t 2 00	0 J	Juniata branch 4	4 80	Vincent Chase, t 25
Fox, E. A			German Branch	1	William Watson, t 25	5 00	Hattie Peer, t 1 50
348tes, 34e0rge H 25 56	ll Whinpla Charles 1	70 5 50	Dora Stark, t 2 50	,   E	Emma Watson, t 25	5 00	Melissa Parrot, t 75 David Larmer, t 1 00
Wollish, Clark D 01 3	whippie, Palmer G. and		Emma Bettcher, t 200	0   ř	Susan Kilbourn, t Elizabeth Kilbourn, t 1	1 25	Elizabeth Larmer, t 1 50
Glover, Eva 5 30	wife	4 00	Herman Stark, t 5 00	0 ^		- 1	Sarah Pangman, t 1 10
Glover, Grace 3 00	White P H	6 4=	Louisa Stark, t		St. Johns Branch.	امما	Margaret Parrott, t 1 00
GOU. GEOLOGIS 1 91	II W hitchouse Louine S	2 20	Cathorina Cadore t 9.00	힑블	John McGregor, t 10 Robert Brown, t 1	1 00	Unristopher Pangman, t. 50 James Pangman, t 95
Gondolf, Mabel 6 00	Whiting Thomas	5 00	Elianov Cotting t 1 00	υĮV	William J. Campbell, t 9	9 00	Charles Pangman, 10
Gondolf, Matthias and Ellen	Whiting, Beatrice	60	William Fetting, t 3 00	O E	Henry Sheffer, t 1	1 00	Ua Pangman, t 10
Granger, Ann 9 or	Wilbur L	1 00	Augusta Fetting, t 50 Otto Fetting, t 3 50	ΝÎĒ	Hugh G. Campbell, t 1	1 00	Orian Pangman, t 15
Grinnell, Ella 7 00	Wilcox Lottie B	8 00	Norman Paton t 2 00		Ida Farley Rhoda Provost	12	Christiana Gilbert, t 8 30 Florence Bonney, t 3 50
				0   N	Minnie Campbell, t 5	5. 25	Manoras H. Bonney, t 6 00
Hall, Clara Gates 2 00 Heap, John and Mary A. 2 50	Wixon, Thankful	1 00	Jennie M. Fetting, t 3 00	θlΕ	Henry H. Campbell and		Jane Simmons, t 2 00
	į ir viiu. 2.0me	a 00	winam Stark, t 1 00	υĮ.	wife, t 25	ว คดใ	Annie K. Brown, t 200
			**

*
	Bartley, William, t Bartley, Sarah A., t		Davis, Francis, o Davis, James, t	2 00	Joslyn, Alice M., o 1 0	Meyatt, Michell, t 5 00
Sophia Davis, t	Bartlett, Enoch, t		Deacon, Alice, t	25	Joslyn. Howard, t 2 0	0 Meyatt, Burton, t 50
Jennie Hunter, t 12 50	Bartlett, Luella J., t Bartlett, Luella J., o	42	Demeray, Nettie, t Derbyshire, Mary, t	30 26	Jubinville, Alice, t 5	Murphy, Joseph and
Emma Woodworth, t 1 00	Bartz, Peter, t	3 00	Dodge, Pidesco, t	5 00	Kain, Maggie, o 1 Kaplinger, Jacob t 2 5
George Badder, t 1 00 George P. Hager, t 6 00	Bartz, Mariah. o	66	Dodge, Louisa, o	25	Kaplinger, Margaret A., t. 10	Nash, Helen, o 25
Margaret Harvey, t 2 00	Bashaw, Elmira, t Beck, William, t		Donnelly, Jennie, t Dowker, David E., t	1 05 1 00	Kapnick, Nellie, t
Melissa Roberts, t 10 Cynthia Cline, t 100	Beckley, James R., o	1 65	Dowker, John A., t	25	Keith, George and wife, t. 3 0	Nephew, Martha I., t 2 50
Robert Monroe, t 2 00	Bedore, Paul P., t Bennett, William J. and	50	Dudley, Leonard, t Dudley, Alexander, t	2 40 3 00	Keith, Janet, t 4 5 Kelly, Samuel, t 1
Amanda Ward, t	wife, t		Dudley, Andrew, t	1 00	Kelly, Lovina, t 0	Newmarch, James, t 25
Robert S. McDonald, t 41 50	Bennett, William J., t Bennett, John W., t	50 25 00	Dunlop, William, t Eckhardt, George, t	5 00 5 00	Kemo, George, t
Grace Dempster, t 5 00 Amiel Mehlisch, t 18 00	Bennett, John W., o	3 00	Eckhardt, George, o	1 00	Kenyon, Robert and wife,t 10 0	Nichols, Augusta, t 1 00
Mabel Stickney, t 15 00	Bennett, Hannah, o Bennett, Bessie, t		Edwards, Christena, o Ellis, Wellington D. and	35	Keyes, John, t 5 5 Keyes, Anna, t 5 5
Mehitabel Hager, t 7 00 George Claus, t 2 25	Bernhart, Maud. o	- 50	wife, t		Kilpatrick, Samuel W., t 10	Norton, Willis A., t 1 00
Sarah Stickney, t 3 00	Berve, Amos and wife, t Bidwell, Julia, t		Emans, William H., t Emans, Eliza J, t	2 00 3 00	Kilpatrick, Ethel, o 0 Kilpatrick, Mildred, o 0
James Stickney, t 5 00 C. Ripberger, t 10 00	Blackman, Pitt, t	- 30	Fleming, John J. and		King, Mary, t 6 7	6 Ogden, Minnie, t 1 00
Ralph Liddy, t 1 00	Blackman, Pitt, o Blackman, Ellen, t	1 00 1 50	wife, t	7 00	King, Sophronia, t 2 Kinney, Hiram M., Jr., t 3 6
St. Gideon Branch.	Blackmore, Edward C.		wife, t	2 00	Kinney, Hiram M. J., o 2 0	Palmer, Grace B., t 23 56
Jemima Davis	and wife, t Blackmore, Edith, t	21 00 70	Frisbie, Nelson A. and wife, t	5 01	Kinney, Ruth, t 9 0   Kissack, William, o 2
Thomas H. O'Brien, t 2 00	Blackmore. Ina, t	50	Fuller, Elizabeth S., t	6 10	Kissack, Rose, o 1	Parks, Elmore, o 10
William Davis. t	Blackmore, Mary Ann. t Blackmore, Benjamin, t	1 50 50	Fuller, Elizabeth S., o Genson, Julia C., t	20 75	Klashak, Mary, t
Annie O'Brien, t 1 00	Blasdell Bessie t	1 50	Genson, Julia C., o	50	Laguire, James, t 5	Patterson, Armetha, t 75
Susan Bailey, t 5 25 John J. Bailey, t 1 00	Blasdell, Edna I., o   Blasdell, Frank, t	50 4 00	Gilbert, D. A., t	1 00	Laguire, Leonore A., t 5 Lake, Mary, t 5
James W. Davis, t 3 00	Blasdell, Lydia, t	2 50	Gilmore Esther, t	75	Lambkin, Curtis C., t 10 0	Peck, Willie E., t 75
Joseph O'Brien, t	Blue, Nancy P., t Bogue, Ezra B., o	2 00 50	Glashaw, Sarah, o	15 05	ambkin, Martha B., t 5 Lambkin, Martha B., c 3
Benjamin Bailey, t 2 00	Boomer, Milo, t	2:00	Goheen. Thomas, t	10 00	Lambkin, Bernie S, t 76	Pennels, Mary M., t 60
Five Lakes Branch.	Boomer, John, t Boomer, Coral, t	1 00 1 00	Goff, Abbie, t	2 00	Lambkin, Bernie S., o 40 Lambkin, Mary, t 27
Charlotte Skinner, t 1 50 William Jenkinson, t 8 25	Boshaw Richard t	1 00	wife, t	22 00	Landon, Henrietta, t 5	wife, t 2 00
William Jenkinson, t 8 25 Martha Jenkinson 3 25	Boshaw, Lucinda, t Bowers, Phebe, t Bracey, William, t	50 5 10	Goodwin, Christene M., t. Goodwin, Edwin A., t	10 25	Landon, Henrietta. o 1 0 Laurance, Albert B., t 2
George Jenkinson 3 00	Bracey, William, t	50	Grant, John A., t	05	Laurance, Sarah, t 2	Phipps, David, t 4 00
Elizabeth Jenkinson 30 Jane Depero 1 00	Bracey, Eliza, t Bracey, Eliza, o	1 00 25	Grant, John A. and wife, t	65	Lauthers, John and wife, t 50	Pierce, Samuel E., o 1 00 Pollack, Matilda, t 10 00
Thomas Tedford 40	Brackenbury, Ella, o	25	Grant, Adaline, t	25	Legraves, maith, t 1 5	Pollard, Adam, t 2 50
Hiram Avis	Brackenbury, Josie, o Brackenbury, Louise, t	25	Graves, Frances, t Graves, Frances, o	50 25	Lester, Eliza Ann, o 2 Levetts, William and	Pontius, Jacob, t
Emma Prestage 25	Brackenbury, Lottie, o	05	Graves, Katie. t	50	wife, t 50	Price, Joseph P., t 75
Wartha Wolfington 10 Varian Hastings 1 25	Brackenbury, Cora, o Brearley, Mathew and	10	Green, Willard E., t Green, Sarah E , t	8 15 7 25	Lewis, Mary, t
Lena Hastings, t 1 15	wife, t		Grimm, Josheau F., t	6 51	Lund, Gustavus, t 7	Priest, Katie, t 3 25
Alice Fox	Brintnell, Jane, t Brintnell, Edward, t	5 22 08	Grinnell, Loretta t Grossett, Robert and	1 00	Lusk, Charles and 9 40	Priest, Katie, o
Paul Hastings 15	Brintnell, Aaron, t	5 16	wife, t		Lvke, Mary, t 4 0	Pringle, Elizabeth, t 6 00
Leslie Hastings, t 50 Sheldon Hastings, t 55	Brooks, Rose, t Brooks, William, t	76 25 1 00	Gulembo, John. Sr., t Gulembo, Elizabeth, t	10 00 2 00
Bennie Fox 05	Brooks, Charles A., t	2 25	Hall, Peter t	50	Maxwell, Edward and	Randle, Nellie F., t 60
Asael Armstrong 05 Martha Armstrong 05		2 85 2 50	Hanson, John E., t Harper, Robert, t	2 00	wife, t 5 0 VcClain, William, t 2 3
Adie Hanry 25	Brown, George E., t	50	Harper, Noble, t	2 00	McClain, William, o 2 6	Rea, Mary, t 25
Sarah Brown 50 William S. Bonney, t 1 00	Brundage, Frank and wife, t	1 00	Harper, Noble and Bessie, t	10 00	McClain, William and wife, t 9 6	Rea. Florence, 0
Enos Gilbert, t 1 00	Buckley, Walter P., t	1 40	Harper, Libbie M., t	2 50	McClain, Clara, t 10 0	Redeliff, Margaret. t 25
Total$1.832 98	Burns, Hattie, t Burr, Abraham, t	40 1 00	Harper, Matthew and wife, t	6 00	McCuliough, Maria, t 1 7 McCuliough, Maria, o 2	5 Reeves, Mary M., t 1 00 6 Relyea, Julia, t 10
	Burt, George W., t	3 00	Hartford, Thomas, t	1 00	McCollum, Nettie A., t 70 0	Remington. Edgar, t 2 47
Expenditures. William Davis, f$300 29	Burt, Maggie, t Burtch, James, t	2 00 1 25	Hartnell, Thomas and wife, o	50	McCombs, William, t 3 00 McCombs, Etta, t 3 0
William Davis, e 2 00	Burtch, Emma, t	7 00	Hartnell, Sarah, t	2 30	McCombs, Etta, o 1 7	Richardson, Bertha, t 50
J. A Grant. f238 15 Andrew Barr. f240 00	Burtch, David G. and wife, t	2 00	Hartnell, Sarah, o Hartnell, Richard, t	1 00 25 00:	McDonald, Orlin H., t 1 0 McDonald, Annie D., t 1 0	Richardson, Jessie K., t. 1 13 Russell, Joseph, t 2 00
Thornaling ownerson 25.97	Burtch, David, t	1 00	Hartnell, Susan, t	50	McGuire, Sarah, t 5	Russell. Robert C., t 37 50
E. J. Goodenough, f145 00 E. H. Durand, f124 00	Burten, Saran, t Byce, Grant W. and	25	Hastings, Fred W., t Hastings, Catharine J., t.	7 00	McIntosh, Mary, t 1 0 McKinzie, George and	Russell, Pearl, 0 05   Russell, Maria, 0 10
John J. Bailey, f120 00	wife, t	.5 00	Hastings, Catharine J., o.	25	wife, t	Russell, Robert C. and
Francis C. Smith, f 165 00 John Brackenbury 10 10	Byce, Ann C., t Byce, Mary, t	3 00 20	Hastings, Frank D., t	57 35	McKnight, John and wife, t 20	wife. t
Mrs John Brackenbury 15 00	Calwell, James, t	2 50	Hawley, Edward, t	25	McKuight, John and	Saunders, Byron and
John H. Lake, e	Campbell, Mary J., t	2 50 10	Hawley, Edward, o	35 5 00	wife, 0 1 0	wife, t
Money orders, postage,	Campbell, Richard B., t.	4 25	Hawley, William, Sr., t Hawley, William, Sr.,		McNamara, Thomas, t 13 2	Schreur, Dirk, t 50 00
and paper 6 94	Campbell, Eliza A, t Campbell, Malcom, t	1 00 25		25	McNeil, John and wife,t. 5 0 McWain, Almira, t 3 0	Seaman, Albert, t
Total $1,462 75	Cann, Ammon, t	1 00	Hawley, William, Jr., t Hawley, William, Jr.,	1 89	McWain, Almira, o 10	Sedar, Bell, t 1 40
Due church370 23	Carns, Jane, t	1 00	and wife, t	45	McWain, Emma O, t 5 0 Mellor, Lettie, t 7	Seitz, Albert, t
$1,832 98	Carpenter, James A., t	3 50	Hawley, Annie, t	20 10	Mellor, Lettie, o 10	Shelley, Buel, t 2 00
NORTHERN DISTRICT.	Carpenter, Willie, t Carter, Catherine, t	1 00	Hays, Anna, o Herron, Amy, t	75		Shelley, Buel, o
J. J. Cornish, Agent.	Carter, Emma, t	1 00	Hextrom, Mr. Amel, o Hill, Joseph o	1 00	Methner, Fred F., o 2	Shotwell, Archibald and
Receipts.	Chapman, Daniel, t	1 00	Hill, Joseph, t	10 00	Millard, Eleanor, t 10 Millon, Berjamin and	wife, t 1 00   Sloan, Samuel, t 15 00
Due church January 1,	Chase, Mary A., t	- 26	Hill, Margaret J., o	1 00	wife, t 6.0	Ji@loon @naio + 15.00
1900$567 42 Aldred, Wesley and wife.t 9 00	wife, t	1 00	Hill, Margaret J., t Hinds, Elijah, t	10 00	Miller, Guy N., o 2	Shultz, Edward, t
Allen, James A. and wife, t 7 50	wife, t	1 00 1 00	Hoag, Mary, t	4 00	Miller, John and wife, t. 180	Smith, Philander, t 4 85
Ammerman, Altha C., t 50 Anness, Geo. W. and wife, t 500	Conway, Victoria, t	10 00	Hodgins, John, t Hodgins, Elizabeth, t	1 61	Miller, John and wife, o. 7 Miller, John, o 3	Smith Mary t 75
Archer, Joseph. t 1 00	Cook, Jesse and wife, t.	7 00 1 50	Hollibaugh, Harry and Lida t		Mitchel, Susan, t 1 6 Mitchel, Susan, o 4	Smith, Mary, t 75
Archer, Hannah, t	Cooper, Philip, t	5 50	Honeywell, Ellen M., t	1 00	Mite society (Farwell), o. 50
Atkinson, Cynthia, t 5 00	Cornich Pichard and	20	Horton, Lucinda, o Hower, Oscar and wife, t.	1 00	Mogg, Mary, t 22 2 Mogg, Katie, t 1	Smith, Elsie, o 25
Atkinson, Lucinda, t 50 Badder, Henry J., t 5 00	wife, t	5 00	Hower, Oscar and wife, o.	1 00		Smith, Susan, t
Badder, Henry J. and	Cornish, John J., t Cornish, John J., o	1 00	Hugill, Richard W. and		Mogg, John, t 20	Smith, David, t 06
wife, t	Cornish, Mary J., t	1 99	Hugill, Richard W., t	4 00	Moran Maria o 6	Smith, Kate, t
Baker, Clarice, t 50 00	Cornish Bertha, t	25 50	Hunt, Thomas, t	10 00	Moran, Robert, t 9 0 Moran, Robert, o 5	U Smith, Celia L., t 65
Baker, Phebe, t	Cornish, Rosetta, t	10	Inslee. Nellie t	2 00 50	Moran, Robert, t 9 0 Moran, Robert, o 5 Moran, Emma, t 2 0
Barber, Harriet, t 02	Cornish, Lucretta, t	W 00	Jack, George, t	5 00	Morey, Herbert and	Smith, George, o 50
Barber, Jane, t	Coursey, Lottie, t	75		2 50 5 00		0 Smith, Cyrus, t
Barclay, Mary L., o 10	Crane, Alvin H., o	25	Jenkinson, Elizabeth, t	5 00	Morey, Herbert, o 1 0	0 Stewart, John. t 3 00
Bark, Celia, t	wife, t		Johnson, S. Emeline, t Johnson, Eugene, t	1 00	Morris, George, t 1 0	0 Stewart, Robert, t
Barrett, George, o 10	Crane, William A., o	1 00	Joice, Charles B., t	1 50	Morris, George, o 1	0 Stocks, William, t 23
Barrett, Etta, o 10	Crawford, Catherine, t Crawford, Flora, t	4 00	Jones, Thomas M., t	2 50	Morris, Ethel, o 5	0 Stoughtenburg, Jacob 0 and wife, t 25
Barron, Charles S., t 1 25	Cronk, Mary, t Davis, Francis, t	. 05	Jones, Robert B., o	10	Morrison. Robert J., t 1 C Maxon, John W., t 58 C	0 Stover, Leonard, t 35
	Two areas a waterply finelinesses	50	11	2 00	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	A TO A A STONE WATER A A CONSCIOUS SA

Strange, Fred. t 7 00]	Kelley, E. L., Bishop100 00	Locke, Ann. o 1 75	Peak, Warren E., t 25 00	Roberts, I N., e 4 00
Strickler, Polly, t 3 00	Washburn, G. D	Locke, Maggie, t 1 00	Peak, Sr. Warren E 25 Rees, Frank 75	Total$106 77
Sullivan, Isabel M, t 50	Ellis, W. D., e	Murphy, Carrie 25	Rees, Josie, t 2 00	Due church 72 54
Sylvester, George W., t., 5 00	Smith, David, e 4 00	Perry, Frank. o 75	Royce, Bell 2 80	$179 31
Tanner, Jonathan, t 15 00 Teal, Rhoda A, t 1 40	Grant, J. A., e	Reynolds, William H 2 00 Stroh, Samuel, t 2 75		MISSOURI.
Temple, William, t 50	Irwin, C. E., e 20 00 Berve, Amos, e 5 00	Stroh, Alta, t 2 30	Royce, J. H. and wife, t.500 00 Royce, J. H. and wife, o. 75	•
Tesman, Charles A., t 1 00	Schreur, John, e 5 00	Stroh, Ethel 10	Robish, Mike, t 1 00	CLINTON DISTRICT.
Thomas, George W., t 21 00 Thomas, Eliza A., t 80	Hugill, R. W	Stroh, George F., t 5 00 Shumaker, Frank 25	Shearer, Mattie 50 Smith, Winnie B 2 00	George W. Beebe, Agent. Receipts.
Thomas, Frank, t 9 00	Cornish, J. J., as reported	Shumaker, Charles, t 10 00	Thurston, Cyrus, t 66 00 Thurston, Cyrus, o 1 75	Due church January 1,
Thomas, Emma, t	to the bishop 81 69 Incidentals 6 63	Sinclair, Lucetta, t 1 00	Tirrell, Laura J 1 00	1900$34 38 Andes, Jacob S 1 50
Thompson, Maggie, t 6 50 Thompson, Maggie, o 50	Total $2,188 92	Thomas, Jacob, t 15.00 Thomas, Jacob, o 1.00	Wheaton, Emma 2 00 Wheaton, Reuben 25	Ardes, Samuel C 6 70
Thompson. Charles R., t. 1 00	Due church440 45	Thomas, Annie, t 15 00 Thomas, Annie, 0 50		Belkham, Martha 3 00 Belkham, C. F 5 50
Thornton, Aseaneth, t 5 00 Thorp, George, t 4 10	SOUTHERN DISTRICT.	Whaley, Charlotte 1 50	Total$1.654 76	Beebe, George W
Thorp, Violet, t 15 Thorp, Martha, t	Samuel Stroh, Agent.	Whaley, Melissa	XO181	Bronson, Manson D 4 00
Towers, Isaac, t 2 00	Receipts.	Willard, Grace	Expenditures.	Cheezem, Emma
Tuttle, Adam and wife,t. 5 00	Due church January 1, 1900 $136 29	Willard, Bell 55 Dimondale and Lansing	Durand, E. H., e	Clark, James A 1 00 Dennis, M. A 5 00
Tyler, Jennie, t 50 Umphrey, Caroline, t 1 00	Clear Lake Branch.	Saints.	Granger, Francis, e 15 00 Kelley, E. L., Bishop 80 00	Evans, Alfred N 35 00
Umphrey, Susan, t 10	Baker, Julia	Fish, Maud M. t 23 39	Lake. John H., e 10 00	Evans, Melissa A 11 50 Fewins, Simon 2 00
Umphrey, Matthew, t 1 25	Burnison, Dell	Grant, Sarah J., o 1 00	Peak, Warren E., f240 00 Peak, Warren E., e 38 00	Gilmore, William and wife
Van Voltenburg, Mary,t. 1 00	Benjamin, Cora 50	Kelley, Delancy V., t 10 50	Poor 4 00 Rank, John R., f 60 00	Glick, Alvin 10 00
Vennard, James, t 10 00	Bailey, Amanda	Kelley, Lillie E., t 2 50 Lavery, Jerome and	Scott, S. W. L , f 287 00	Goff, Ammon A. and Vina H 9 00
Wagner, Philip, t 1 00	Baker, Martha 75	wife, t	Scott, S. W. L., e 77 68 Scott, Columbus, e 3 00	Gouldsmith, Joseph B 4 00 Gouldsmith, Sr. Joseph B. 15
Wait, Jennie E., t 3 00	Cairns, R. M 1 00	Wheeler, O. J. and wife,t. 15 00	Smith, George A., f208 00 Smith, George A., e 48 50	Gracey, Jennie 2 50
Wairath, Charles M., t 2 00	Clark, M. R	West, Mary, t 1 00 White, M. A 4 10	Stroh, Samuel, e 7 24	Hennings, Henry 2 00 Houts, Alma 10 00
Walton Mary + 9 00	Cassell Della	Marcellus Branch.	Stroh, Samuel, e 8 35	Hutchinson, Ryn 10 00
Walters, Andrew, t 25	Davis, Enoch 1 50	Finch, Grace, t	Total $1,161 43 Due church493 33	Kearney, Martha       1 00         Kearney, Mina       3 10         Keck, C. Wallace       25 00
Ward, Marilda A., t 50	Dellar, Clara	Goodenough, C. E., t 50	Dae Charca	Keck, Ida and Iva
Ward, Gerule, s 5 00	Emrick, Jonathan 75	Kiefer, John, t	MINNESOTA.	Kelley, E. L., Bishop350 00 Kinning, H. L
Ward, Manuel A., t 10 00	Foster, Edith 55	Hartford Branch.	MINNESOTA DISTRICT.	Kinning, Guy 35
wife, t	Goodrich, William 95 Goodrich, Mary 55	Hodgson, Nina, t	W. W. McLeod, Agent.	Klingman, Jennie 2 50 Leaton, Alice 1 00
Warden Helen t 3 80	Houseman, Rebecca, t 5 80 Houseman, Willard W., t. 12 50	Pearson, Maggie, t 1 00	Receipts.	Leaton, Alice
Washburn, George D.,t. 1 00	Houseman, Nettie, t 12 50	Turnour, Jules, t 57 50	Due church January 1, 1900 $ 46 93	Lloyd, E. Walter 3 00
Washburn, Alfred L., t 2 50	Houseman, Nettie, o 25 Hills, Reed	Turnour, Jennie, t 22 50 Turnour, Verva, t 50	William Barnhard, t 5 00 Alta S. Hawley, t 8 10	Lyle, C. C
Watters, Henry A. and	Hills, Jane	Trumbull, Caroline, t 10 00	Lucy S. Hawley 2 90	Lyon, L. A
WHE, t	Kissinger, Charles 2 77	Trumbull, Lucy C., t 1 50 Scattered Saints.	John Wilson 9 00	Mannering, Tina 5 00
Weaver, Delphine, t 70	Kissinger, Dorce 75 Kissinger, Catharine 35	Cummings, Ned L., t 1 40	Miles S. Hawley 10 00 Bertha Serell 1 00	Metz, L. J
Weaver, Della, t 10	Lords, H. A	Fraser, Millie, t	Sr. W. A. Spaulding 5 00	Miller, Guy
webster, isaac and	Lords, Harriet, o 70	Kirby, Francis, t 7 50	H. B. Campbell 50 00 Matilda Roth 2 00	Morgan, Erma 50
Welch, Freelove, t 2 00	Lords, Floy	Monroe, J. W. and wife, t. 4 00	A and E. Erickson 16 00 Mary Midgorden 8 60	Noyes, John wife, t	Lybarger, America 10 Landis, Annie, t 5 25	member, not known 15	O. H. Midgorden 40 00 Silas Midgorden 3 00	Paxton, Jesse 4 05 Paxton, Mary 10 31
Weich, Thankini, b 5 00	Landis, Annie, o 75	Smith, James M 2 00	P. W. Martin 10 00	Paxton, Rebecca 1 50
White, Edward S. and	McMurry, Vina 10 Monlux, Edilda 30	Grand Rapids Branch. Breeden, Arizona. t 9 80	H. and J. Way 10 00 A. W. Whiting and wife. 15 00	Pierson, Mark 1 60
Whitford, Phebe, t 10	Maxton, George 75 Maxton, Cassie 25	Te Tray, George E., t 10 05	C. R. Kimber 5 00 Matilda McLeod 5 00	Pierson, Meda 1 13 Poulson, Lars 1 00
Whitford, Thomas, t 35	Nodine, Settie 101	Pierds, P. P. and Wile, S. O Co.	A friend o 5 00	Quick, Cornelius 9 00 Quick, H. E 6 20
			H T Hawkes interest on	Quick, Lee A 10 00
Grove), t 1 25	Phillips, Annie, t		note	Quick. Sherman 5 00 Reynolds, Ed and Jennie. 5 00
Grove), o 5 00	Smith, Lewis, t 50 Smith, Lewis, o 25	Wismer, Catherine, t 7 00 Buchanan Branch.		Silvers, John and Martha 10 00
Wilke, August and	Smith, Priscilla, o 13 02	Bell. Maud 25	Total$313 44	Silvers, Lucy 5 00
Williams, Lester V., t 1 00	Smith, Peter, 0 2 00 Smith. Peter, 0 3 00	Most, John, t	Expenditures. E. L. Kelley, Bishop$229 00	Simmors, William 14 80 Smith, Maud 1 00
Wiltsie, Alfred H., t 1 00	Smith, Iona, t 16 00 Smith, Harrison 1 00	Most, Sarah 65	I. N. Roberts, e 6 00	Snodgrass, Sarah 4 00
Wilson, Neine, t va	G 11 G 4 4 00	thoughteen trends	S. Swenson, e	Staley, Eliza 5 75 Stephenson, Flora 1 50 wife, t	Storey, Otto H., t 15 00	Richardson, H. A., t 2 75	Mary Omans, f	Stephens, Sarah E 5 00 Strater, Rome 2 00
Wolf, Lizzie, t 2 00	Storey, Otto H., o 4 00	phoor, John, 6 9 29	James M. Baggerly, e 5 00	Swenson, George 15 00 Taggart, Mary A 1 50
Woodin, Minnie E., t 1 00 Woodman, Lydia, t 1 40	Storey, Jennie, o 25 Stroh, George F 75	Shook, Martha 2 65	A. H. Smith, e 15 00	Terry, J. H. and wife 5 00
Wrathell, Elizabeth E.,t. 25 Wrathell, Richard, t 25	Stroh, Mary 75	Shook, Mary Ann 501	Total$313 44	Vanghn, Melissa 2 00 Wade, Susan 5 06
William D., C	Stroh, Nellie 20 Stinebarger, William 1 25	Shook, Iva	MINNESOTA DISTRICT.	Walters, Lizzie 4 40 Welsh, Sister 20
Williams, Sidney, C 5 00	Teeters, D. B	Shook, Hattie	F. D. Omans, Agent.	Welsh, Sister       20         Wetherbee, Perlina, t       1 80         Wetherbee, Perlina, o       1 55
Wrinkle, Mary, o 36	Viers, Alta 50	Weston, G. F., t 50 Weston, R. M., t 40	Receipts.	Williams, Iris
Wrinkle, Jane, o 71	Whistler, Della	Knox Branch.	Anderson, Louis E$ 25 00 Johnson, Ben 7 00	Williams, Samuel C 1 00 Williams, Sarah 1 00
Winecoop, Catherine, t. 65	Zimmerman, Annie 25	Lohse, Bertha, 0 2 50 Lohse, Bertha, 0 1 00	McLeod, Addie 75	Wright, Belle May 50 Young, Ed 1 25
Yager, Horatio, O 25	Coldwater Branch. Birch, Charles, t 15 00	Prettyman, J. B 2 00	Erickson, Albert and wife 20 29 Roth, Tillie 5 00
Yager, David R., t 25 00	Birch, Charles, o 1 00	Galien Branch.	Barnhard, Abraham 5 00 Hawley, Alta S 8 10	Total
Youngs, Helen B., o 45	Corless, Ann E., t 7 00 Corless, Phebe, t 7 98	Alcott, Robert 2 25 Alcott, Catharine 2 25	Hawley, Lucy M 1 77	Expenditures.
Youngs, Cara J., t	Corless, Hiram. t 10 72 Corless, Ida, t 10 72	Blakeslee, E. A 1 50	Nunn, Joshua C 40 00 Gibbons, John 5 00	Beebe, George W., Jr., e.$ 150 Bowker, Nellie, a 550
m	Corless, Bradford, t 2 50	Blakeslee, Lydia, o 6 00	Gibbons, John 5 00 Anderson, James W 8 00 Erickson, O. A. and wife. 13 20 McLeod, William 10 00 McLeod, Matilda 3 00 McLeod, Matilda 10 00	Belkham, C. F., a 5 50 Bozerth, William T. a 000
73 714	Corless, Starr, t 4 50 Corless, Mary, t 4 50	Babcock, Margaret, t 14 40 Clark, Lydia, t 15 00 Clark, Lydia, 0 2 75	McLeod, William 10 00	Dukes, Sr. W. M., a 4 25
	Coriess, George 1 25 Coriess, Minnie 1 00	Clark, Lydia, o	INCISOR, BUILD 10 OV	Hanty, Frances, a., I UU
Carpenter. James A., f 60 00 Smith, David f 300 00	Enbody, Peter 10	Green, Ola 1 65	Weiler Christian and	Mannaring William H a 3 00
Cornish. John J., f330 00	Fay, Lorenzo, t 3 75	Green, Charles 3 25 Green, Dora 3 00	wife 10 00	Miller, Ella, a 1 00
Irwin, Charles E., f105 00	Granger. Francis and	Green, Sarah	Total$179 31	Quick, Lizzie, f.       30 00         Robinson, L. C., a.       2 06         Silvers, Lucy, f.       80 00
Lake, John H , f 160 00 Schreur, John, f 90 00	wife, t	Hurner Permelia 1 25	Expenditures.	Silvers, Lucy, f 80 00 Shade, Samuel, a 1 00
Ellis, Weilington D., f280 00	Kellogg, Lon 2 00	Jackson, Adailne 30	Omans, Mary, f$ 90 00	Shutt, Clarinda, a 28 00
Mrs Murphy (for Good- win child) 50 00	Locke, Dudley 3 75	McDonald, Annie 25 McDonald, Burt 25	Omans, F. D., e	Walters, Lizzie, f166 00
· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·		. 12		•

TT 11 C T	71 71 000	61 7 T
Weish, C. P., e 7 50 White, D. C., e 5 00	Pearson, Ida 5 00     Price, Daisy 18 46	Edwards, Jane, t 10 70 Edwards, Minerva, t 10 80	Revner G E money re-	Real Estate
White, Mary, f 61 00	Ripley, Elvira 10 20	Emmons, Sr. A. M., t 5 001	funded 5 00	L. O. Swope
Yates, Miles, a	Shaw, Marcus and wife 8 50	Elliott, H. J. t 5 40	Robinson, J. A., t 3 00	Thomas Kincaid
Postage and stationery 5 62		Etzenhouser, El. t 10 00	Robinson, W. N. t110 00	Mr Smart425 00
Muzzle for calf 60	Shaw, Sr Marcus A 9 75	Ellsworth, L., t 1 501	Robinson, Mrs. W. N., t. 5 001	O. H. Gentry
Cow feed 50 Buggy repairs 6 90		Emmett, Joseph, t 2 40	Robinson, Margaret, t 6 00	Examining title 16 00 buggy repairs 6 90	Smith, Sr H O 1 00	Fletcher, Lilly, t 1 80	Robinson, Miranda, t 5 00 Rigg, J. D., t	Repairing Church Property.
Total $764 87	Taddicken, H. B 5 00	Fletcher, G. W., t 14 05	Rudd, Harriet, t 1 60	Labor 6 75
Due church 38 68	Taylor, Don D 2 60	Fletcher, Mrs. G. W., t., 1 25	Rudd, Frank, t 5 00	Hardware 10 00
TAR FEROM DIOMDIOM	Taddiskon H B and wife 8 00	Foss, John C., t	Rudolph, Carl, t	Lumber 7 68
FAR WEST DISTRICT.	Taddicken, Sr. H. B 2 00	Faerschler, Albert, t 1 00	Skioner, W. O., t 5 00	Funeral Expenses.
Charles P. Faul, Agent.	Whitehead, G. J. and wife 2 25	Farron, James, o 4 00	Smith, B. C. and wife, t 22 50	R. J. Parker's daughter 44 00
Receipts.	Winning, Amy E 2 50	Gowell, Samuel B., t 19 20	Smith, Ralph G. and	J. H. Nicewanger 39 30
Due church January	Total$1,853.95	Garrett, W. H., t	wife, t325 00 Schimmel, J. J., t25 00	I. N. White, f571 32
1, 1900$128 58 Augustein, John, t110 00		Grabske, Thomas, t 6 00	Smith, H. C., t 1 35	R. Etzenhouser, f360 00
Binstead, E. E., t 2 95	Expenditures.	Grainger, John. t 13 50	Smith, Mary T., t 1 35	Joseph Luff, f410 88 T. C. Kelley, f440 00
Bean, Ruby, t 3 50		Griffia and company,	Skinner Arden t 2 10 Strong, Laura, t 7 00	r. W. Chatburn, f304 60
Bean, Sr J. E., t 5 60 Bean, Hattie, t 1 00	Shooll, Sr E., moving 2 00	rent	sperry, B. L., t 2 0	John C. Foss, f225 00
Blumm, M. L., t	Shooll Sr E burial per-	Hendrickson, Henry, t. 5 00	Stafford, Bettie, t 5 00	Robert J. Parker, f175 00 M. T. Short, f300 00
Baker, Sarah J., t 1 00	mit, E. T. Shooll 4 00	Hand, W. O, t 30 00	"Sister" Armstrong branch, t	R. May, f300 88
Bean. Bro L. L. and Hattie, t 4 00	Bronson, H. C. a	Hulmes, Alice, t 200 00 Harrington, Geo. E., t 10 00	"Sister," Armstrong	A H. Parsons, f200 00
Blumm, T. J., t 2 0	Engle, C. B. Hamburg,	Hulmes, Mrs. M. E., t204 (B)	branch, o 4 50	Alfred White, f160 00
Bean, W. E., t 20 00	Iowa, a 5 00	Hendrickson, James, t 10 00	"Sister." Independence	H. H. Robinson, f
Bean, Burton, t 3 00	Nanny, John W 10 00 Myers, Cyrus, a 15 00	Hardman, Nancy, t 1 2 Houte, Henry E., t 1 60	branch, t 5 0°   Snodgrass, J. A., t 4 00	John D. White, f160 00
Constance J S t 3 00	McGrew, Susannah, a 5 00	Hughs, Latta, t 1 00	Short, Mrs. Ellis, t 20 00	T. W Smith, f144 95
Constance, Grace E , t 6 25	Smith, H O, f360 00	Hunter, A. M., t 10 00	Short, M. T., t 25 00	Alice Bozarth, f 60 00 Roy Newkirk, a 26 65
Constance. B. H., t 7 00	Summerfield W. E., f 153 00	Hepworth, George, t 12 00 Hawkins, John, t 5 00	Scott, B. J., t	R. W. Wilcox, a 30 00
Constance, W. B., t 11 25 Constance, C. D., t 11 50		Hawkins, George and	Seaport, Sr. John, t 10 00	N. A. Nelson, a 5 00
Craven, Charles J., t 24 35	postage stamps 2 95	Ann, t. 23 05 Hawkins, Sarah, t. 2 00	Stratton, J. H., t 1 75	Joseph Westwood, a 69 35 S. J. Madden, a 2 25
Christensen, Peter, t 100 0t	Cawthorn. Olive, a 40 00	Hawkins, Saran, t 2 00 Hawkins, Daniel, t 5 00	Schrivener, Lucinda, t 6 00 "rister P," t 5 00	Poor children, a 5 00
Dobie, Francis T., t 15 00	Revel, Sr. Thomas, a 30 00 Krahl, John a 6 00	Harvey, Fred, t 21 00	Short, C. O., t 78 30	Richard Martin, a 108 25
Dice, i enjamin J. t 10 00	Davis, John, e	Hurvey, J. J., t 28 00	Sandy, Charles, t 70 00	L. Webster, a 10 00
Dobie, Bro and Sr.	Fire insurance, Gospel	Harrington, Edgar, t 13 30	Stratton Sr. L, t 04	C. Masterson, a
Francis T, t 7 00	Hill church five years 13 50 Davis, Sr. John, f	Harrington, Joseph. t. 19 00	Thomason P.O. t. 7 00	S. G. Mayo, a 49 10
Flanders, W R., t 1 20	Swenson, Sr. Swen, f 180 00	H ffman, Jay, t 18 00	Tucker, Edward and	Mrs. A. B. Harman, a 41 20
White I do Mark 4 to the	Whitehood Mellie a 15 75	Hancock, George, t 1 00	i family, t 50 00	George Edwards, a 12 50 Mrs. T. J. Franklin, a 18 95
Friend, Harry J., t 2 00	(McCoy, Sr W. H, a 20 00)	negenouig, o. C , b o co	1 1 1 C 2 C . AL . V 6 10 UU	Fannie Hook, a
Faul, Char es P., t 41 10	Fifor A T) a 19.00	Inman, George B. t 4 94	Tankard, Lydia, Jr. o. 1 00	Sr Hannah Sly, a 6 85
Head, M. J., t 1 50	Smith J. E. F., a 5 00	Independence church	Tankard, Lydia, Sr., o 2 00	G. E. Reyner, loan 5 00
novenga, or Loune, o 3 to	omith waiter w., e zt zo	collections, o	Tankard, Alma, o 1 00	B. D. Stewart, a
Hovenga, Loupe 6 66	Smith, Sr. M. A., f 80 00 Cushman, S. F., e 2 00	James, Frank, t. 10 00	Tankard, C, t	Mrs. Bert Lytle, a 33 50
Hawmann, William t 5 00	Uvclone insurance. Gos-	bames, O. H., C 5 to	Landedill, Allen, t 9 42	Mrs. J. B. Smith, a 52 90
Hovenga, Sr. Trenke. t 10 00	pel Hill church 2 90 Postage and exchange 1 00	Johnston, Lula A., t 1 00	Tucker, John, t 50 00	G. H. Hilliard, f
Hinderks, Mary H, t 5 00	Postage and exchange, 1 00	Kinney, Emily, t 13 36 Kinney, Margaret, t 13 75	Webster, Sr. L., t 23 80 Wise, Dahlia, t 5 75	I. Bailey, a 70
Jones Robert t 4 00	Swenson, Swen, e	Kenvedy, J. A. and	White, Ammon, t 30 50	Sr. H. Horn, a 5 00
Johnson, Oltman, t 10 00		wife, t 10 00	White, Ammon, o 17 50	Mrs. W. Bellmore, a 7 35 William H. McLaren, loan 50 00
Johnson, Benjamin O, t 10 00	Total $1.305 25 Due church 548 70	Koehler, J. Augusta, t. 200	wison, Henry and	J. C. Conner, a 8 50
Lewis, Hattie, t	Due church 548 70	Koehler, Fred, t 5 42 Koehler, Gus, t 1 65		Thomas Newton, a 57 65
tie, t 75 00	$1.858 95	Koehler, Ida, t 11 85	Warnky, Mary, t 2 00	Martha Taylor, a
Lewis, William, former		Koehler, George, t 10 00	wagoner, James S., t 20 00	Fannie Nace, a 5 00
agent		Koehler. Julia. t 5 00 Kelley, E. L., Bishop 1,725 00	Williamson, Francis	H. Ronden, a 15 00
Lewis, Jesse, t 37 00	TRICT.	Kerr, Sr L. A., t 1 70		Office Expense Account.
Leaverton, A. and wife, t. 15 00	Roderick May, Agent.	Kerns, George, t 5 00	Williamson, Francis, t 5 00	Letter file 16 25
Martin, Jeannette, t 9 60 Milligan, W. R., t 5 00	n -	Layton, J. W., t 49 00		Receipt books
Moore, Grisella, t 7 00	Balance due church	Luff, Hattie, t	Williams W. B. t. 90	Ledger and journal 8 40
Mauzev, George W., t 11 95	December 31, 1899$586 58	Lee. J. H., t	Williams, mile. m. D., t 20	Stamps, revenue and pos-
McWethy, Orah, t 3 00	Abraham, Nels, t 20 00 dams, Mary, t 9 80	Lawton, J. S., t 21 00	Wooden, Charles, t 6 00 Yarrington, T., t 50	tage 00
Orah, t170 00				Old Ensign Building Property.
Nesser, Hartman, t 3 00	Armstrong sewing so-	Loar, W. S., o 10 00	First Kansas City	Sewer expense 38 00
Ode, Mary C , t	Allon Arthur t 122 50	Loosemore, H. M., t 16 25	branch 18 12	Insurance
Powell, D. E , t 1 06	Allen, Arthur, t	Lewis, E. R., t 11 61	branch	Гахез 35 48
Powell, D. J 10 00	Atwell, W. A., t 2 10	Lytie, U., t 5 00	Armstrong branch 45 27	Elders' Traveling Expenses.
Powell, Ada, t	Ahrens, Lewis, t 24 50	Moneymaker, Sr. C. A., t. 4 75 Mills, Sr. H. R., t 8 53		I. N White 16 00
Powell Ella t 1 00	: Bartholomew. Mrs. (4.	Mathias, Arteas, t 1 00	Burtville branch 1 49 Holden branch 1 55	R. May
Roberts, William, t 10 00 Smith. W. E. and Alice	W. Jr., t 6 10	Hitis, W. H. and wife, t. 50 00	(Data) 6 40 000 00	A 14 2.3 MILIA. 04.00
Smith. W. E. and Alice	Balcock, Manda L , t 50	Mills, A. H., t	Total$9,978 38	Earl Corthell 9 00
J., t	Blakesley, A. J., t 12 90 Barley, Allen and wife, t. 20 50	Moore, Fred, t 4 75	Expenditures.	A H Parsons
Simmons, Gulietta, t 3 00	Bailey, George, t 3 00	Morgan, Kate, t 50	B. H. Eaton, a $ 80 00	J. W. Brackenbury 2 15
Summerfield Amy, t 1 00 Summerfield George, t 5 00	Bushnell, Wm. and wife, t 3 50 Boyce. Joseph, t 1 50			R. J. Parker 2 00
Snider J. H and wlfe, t. 5 0	Blatt, Mrs. W. H., t 7 00	May, Nephi, o 5 00	Mrs. J. Cox, a	Knobnoster church prop-
Schmidt, Henry G. t 40 00	Blatt, E. J., t 20 06	May, J. Charles, o 3 00	Mrs. Al Cox. a 4 25	erty 76 27
Tillery, William t	Beldon Francis, t	May, Alvin R., o 1 00	Mrs. A. Kingbush, a 2 50 Mrs. Eli Day, a 2 65	Taxes, per E. L. Kelley,
Worden, William, t 10 60	Bradley, Sarah, t 1 00	May, William H., o 1 00	William Smith, a 9 95	Ann Flower's note to E.
$1,248 51	Berg, Augusta, t 22 00	May, Sarah J., o 5 00	A. J. Hadley, a 27 00 Enoch Brown (loan on	L Kelley, Bishop 78 00
	Blankenship, Dora, t 60	Milotte, Alphonso, t 6 00 McMullen, Mary, t 23 50	Enech Brown (loan on real estate)200 00	First Kansas (ity agent
St. Joseph Branch.	' Brother." t	McIntoch Alex t 13.75	Dora R. Cleveland, a 6 00	Holden agent expenses 25
Archibald, Coventry$ 5 00	Crick, William, t100 001	McIntosh, Charlotte, t 50	J. B. Holmes, a 2 00	Holden agent expenses 25 E. L. Kelley, Bisho 1,024 02
Bacus, Charles and wife. 14 00	Crick, David, t 5 00	McIntosh, Hattie, t 3 00	A. J. Biakesley, a 2 00
Best, G. W. and wife 40 00	Clow, Edith, t 6 00 Clow, Carrie, t 13 00	McIntosh, Mary, t 12 10	J. B. Lames a 35 00	Total$8 882 65 Due church1.095 73
Blair, David H 10 00	Coleman, Sr. L., t 2 25	McIntosh, Lottie, t 2 50	Mrs. J. L. Kerr, a 5 70	·
Brooks Appie	Coleman, J. A., t 15 00 Clemensen, James F., t 36 00	McIntosh, Sadie, t 1 50	Mrs. Ryne, a	$9,978 38
Cook, Thomas A 20 00	Curtis, Josiah, t 29 25	McLaren, William,	B B. Ballenger, a 1 80	NOTA III A TO DAGGE COM
Cather, W. C 2 00	Cox, Andrew, t 1 50	money refunded 50 00	S. Warrell, a 2 40	NODAWAY DISTRICT.
Camp. Joseph	Clear, Mary, t	Newland, M. L., t	Mrs. John Munson, a 1 95	R. K. Ross, Agent.
Donation 10	Cleveland, Charlotte, t 1 00	Newton, Thomas, t 4 30	John H. Hadley, a 2 50	Receipts.
Dunn, John A 1 00	Clark, Clara, t 3 80	Newcomb, Cornelia, t, 1 10	John Newcomb, a 11 35	Due church January 1,
Ennis. Herbert D 30 00	Clow, Robert, t 44 70 Conklin, Neri, t 4 50	Olson, Sam, t 5 00	Oscar Harritt, a 1 50	1900
Gardner, Sr. J. C 1 50	Devore, L. R. and Ella, 0.100 00	Parson, Sr. E., t 1 00	Willis Tousley, a 4 70 George Hancock, a 1 00	Anderson, R. P 11 00
Gardner, J. A	Dawson, Bert, t 12 00	Page, Iva. t 8 50	Isabella Woolsev. a 10 30	Black, Elizabeth 6 90
Guinand, U. E 6 00	Dowe, E., t	Peacock, Cora, t	Neri Conklin, a 14 00	Breen, John J 10 00
Kinnaman, D.C and wife 317 03	Dennis, A. L. t 10 00	Pickering, W. R., t	L. O. Middleton. de-	Byergo, Arletta 5 00
McGrew, Susannah 1 00	Davis, Albert F., t	Preston. Mr and Mrs. S.J. 10 00	ceased, funeral ex-	Branch, Ross Grove 7 25
Mledorp, Cornelia 16 00	Lewards, G. W., S 1 10	Kesch, Henry, t 14 90	pense 20 00	Dyergo, N. N 6 00
		and .

Ø	1136 T-1 NET -8	White Toba D o 95 00	Expenditures.	Faunce, Ruby, t 3 20
Curtis. Joseph and Annie 5 0 Fannon, E S 100 0		White, John D., e 35 00 Muetze, Charles L 26 00	77 A TO A 59000 00	Fike, Nellie, t 2 00
Hawley, F. A. and C. A 10 0	Bishop's agent, expense	Cowlishaw, Esther 6 00	IF V Comet f 140 00	IFIRE, ETHESE, becomes 1 VV
Hawley, A. B. and Martha 20 0	for the year 8 39	Himmelgarn, Minerva D. 5 00 McClure, Minnie 8 00	Sr. Prettyman, f 80 00	There are Server A., to 5 00
Hawley, Sylvia 2 0 Hansen, Stena 2 0	Total$844 39	McOrare, Minnie	11 Ostage and exchange 0 00	C-4 D-44 4 10 00
Hansen, Jacob 10	Due church118 93	Total $1,000 00	E. L. Kelley, Bishop175 00 James Caffall, e 6 00	Graf, Adaline, t 24 00
Ivie, Tena J		Due church 72 87	Traveling expenses 4 00	Grub, Stella, t 1 39
Ivie, Thomas and wife 6 0	southern district.			Gouldsmith. Claude L., t. 20 00 Hillman, Sr. E. C., t 5 00
Jacobson, Andrew 30 0		MONTANA.	Total$668 38	Hillman, Laura, t 1 20
Jensen, Andrew 50 0	11		Due church 1 61	Hughs, Lena, t 4 30
Kiersner, Layman 10 0	) itecerpts.	MONTANA DISTRICT.	$669 99	Jarrad, David D., t 20 00
Knudson, K. C 5 ( Knowles, Sarah H 10 (	Anderson, Quincy, t$ 60 Allen, Ida, t 1 00	J. E. Reese, Agent.	 	Jarrad, D. B., t
Knowles, Beatrice A 10		Receipts.	NORTHERN DISTRICT.	J. F., t 5 00
Knowles, William J 3	Brugin, Grant, t 1 00		James Huff, Agent.	Morey, George M., t 7 00
Kalstrup, Christian 10 0	Bootman, Mary, t 1 50	1, 1900$ 2 50	Receipts.	Myers, Ella, t 7 50
Madison, Ole 85 U	Brooner, Henry, t 16 10 Brooner, Martha, t 1 50	Anna L. Premo, t 1 20		Myers, Andrew J., t
Mother Madison 7 5 Nelson, Robert300 0		Freeman H. Plumb, t 3 25 John E. Reese, t 50 00		Mock, Ethel J., t 2 00
Nelson, S. C 5 0	Doty, Nathaniel, t 1 00	Mary H. Raymond, t 10 00	Edward R. Ahlstrand, t 12 00	Mock, Bertha J., t 25
Nelson, C. C 10 0	Deberry, Thomas C., t 5 00	May Premo, t 1 40	Kate M. Anderson, t 50 00	Mock, Archie E., t 10
Nelson, Alma 20	Graff, Mary, t 2 00	Otis B. Plumb, t 26 66	Soren Ahlstrand, t 30 00	Mock, Joseph M., t 10
Nelson, W. T 7 0 Powell, Jane 5 0		Total $ 95 01	Arthur Ballard, t 20 00	Pethick, S. M , t
Powell, Jane 5 0 Powell, Ed 5 0	Grey, True, t 1 50	10tal	Marcus Bilyne, t 15 60	Porter, Charles H., for E.
Rowlett, Augusta B 4 0	Graham, John B., t 3 50	Expenditures.	Abbie A. Brown, t 28 501	W D + 190
Rowlett, Jerry 35 0	Gracey, Gracey, t 50	Sr. C. M. Reese, f $ 75 00	S. Branton, t 3 00	Pottorf, J. W., t 10 00
Ross, R. K	Lane, Stena, t	Gomer Reese, agent 20 01	Ralph Brown t 25 00	Robertson, Porter R, t 20 00 Robertson, Ed F., t 1 00
Ross, W. T 10 0 Lorensen, Rasmus, 10 0		m-4-1 0 0 0 0	Ora Odessa Carter, t 12 50	Robertson, Harry M., t 1 00
Scofield, J. D 5 2	Pettet, William, t 2 50	* Total$ 95 01	Martha J. Carter. t 3 00	Self. Walter M., t 33 00
Torrance, W. B 2 0	Rudd, James 1 00		Addie O. Dougherty, t 17 75	Schafer, Martin J. and
Torrance, Caroline 12 0 Winslow, J. E 1 5	Sharp, Mary E 3 00 Spurlock, Charles J 25	MONTANA DISTRICT.	Vera Davis, t 1 30 Thomas Evans, t 5 75	Lizzie, t
Woodhead, William 10		Gomer Reese, Agent.		Stoker, Gertrude, t 3 80
Wohlferd, Sarah E 20	Thomas, Louisa 2 50	Receipts.	Ann Edwards, t 9 00	Seaworth, L., t
Winters, M. L 10 0	Tilman, Sister 1 00	John E. Reese, agent. $ 20 01	Ellen Frankville, t 3 50	Sunday school associa-
West, Ada B 3 0	Tilman, David 50	Burrows, Edward, t 25 00	William C. Fetter, t 2 00 H. E. Gladwin, t 8 50	tion, by A. J. Myers 50
Total$1,143 6	Vanderver, Sister 2 00	Babcock, Ira and	Emma Gardner, t 27 50	Trask, James A., t 10 00
	Kelley, E. L., Bishop396 08	wife, t 2 00	Ann Galley, t 2 001	Voight, Mahala, t 2 25
Expenditures.		Barnard, Mary, t 100 C0 Dempster, Alice M., t 11 20	H. J. Hudson, t 40 00	Whitted, Sr., t 50
Peter Anderson, f$321 0	Total$480 03	Eukes, Michael J., t 20 00	C. M. Hollenbeck, t 19 85 James Huff, t 10 00	Woolsey, Emma, t 10 00
E L. Kelley, Bishop 400 0	-	Esgar, Emma, t 5 00	Theodore A. Hicks, o 1 00	L.D.S. sid society of Wil-
C. P. Weish, e 10 5	Expenditures.	Feli, Sr. M. J., t 5 00	Addie C. Hicks. o 1 00	ber, Blue River branch. 4 00
J. Arthur Davis, e 3 0 D. C. White, f240 0	Roach, W. T., e	Hortop, Elizabeth, t 35 Johnson, John, t 9 00	Elizabeth G. Hodge, t 10 00 Elizabeth G. Hodge, o 5 00	Savage, Wilber, t 5 00
·	Kitchenman, Bro., 2 1 00	Mason, Henry D., t 5 00	Jennie Jones, t 5 00	Real estate, Blue Springs,
Total$974 5	Gibson, Bro., a 3 00	Raymond, Mary H., t., 25 001	Elizabeth Keck, t 30 00	house and lot
Due church169 1	Sparling, Henry, f360 00	Sacrey, William, t 5 00	C. S. Kennedy and	church 53 75
$1,143 6	Sparling, Henry, e 30 00	Smart, James, t 70 00 Turner, Edward A., t 10 00	wife t 2 00	FT 1.3
		Whitney, N. C., t 5 00	C. S. Kennedy, t 10 00 Herbert S. Lytle, t 1 25	Total*847 06
NORTHEASTERN DIS-	Total$480 03	121 Haconau Dianen, O	Albert Z. Leach, t 10 00	Expenditures.
TRICT.		E. L. Kelley 50 00	Alma Lightfoot, t 2 00	Post office orders$ 1 16
J. T. Williams, Agent.	ST. LOUIS DISTRICT.	Total$375 13	Katherine M. Moran, t 20 00	Postage and stationery 3 73
Receipts.	John G. Smith, Agent.		Rachel V. McKittrick, t. 15 00 Lloyd Marteeny, 0 1 50	Exchange 20
Due church January	Receipts.	Expenditures.	Lloyd Marteeny, t 29 50	Mark H. Forscutt, f 50 00
1, 1900$ 29 2	Due church January 1,	G. R. Wells, f$215 00	Sr. M. A. Newton, o 1 00	Walter M. Self f
Barnett, J. W., t 15 0	1900		Marie Ogard, t 5 00	W. E. Peak, e 1 25
Bender, A. J., t 10	Alma Saints, by Isabella	Total$340 00	C. K. Preston, t 10 00 Minnie Preston, t 5 00	Charles H. Porter, f220 00
Burnett, Mary, t 9 6	Scott 5 00   Barraclough, Martha, t 7 00	Due church 35 13	Nicholas M. Rumel, t 1 00	Charles H. Porter, e 5 00
Bevier sisters' sewing	Betts, Joseph E., Sr., t 40 00		Charles H. Rawlins and	W. E. Peak, f society, o 35 0	Billinsky, John J., t 35 50	Total$375 13	wife, t 20 00	J. W. Waldsmith, 1 30 00 J. W. Waldsmith, e 32 02
Cochran, Cammie, t 3 0	Beaird, John 1 00		Anna Belle Richard-	James Caffall, e 2 00
Cochren M A t 4 5	Bourgeret, Maria, t 3 00 Burgess, Evaline, t 20 00	NEBRASKA.	son, t 1 00 Ellen Richardson, t. 10 00	Nancy Hoover, a 14 25
Davies, Margaret, t 15.0	Christonson James t 12 00	ONLYND AT DIGMOTOM	Alice C. Swartz, t 37 00	Ella Myers, a 5 00
Davies, Ellen, t 10 0	Cooke. Noah N., t	CENTRAL DISTRICT.	Alice C. Swartz, t 37 00 Rachel A. Satterfield, t 60 00 William T. Spauswick, t. 20 00 John Stoff, t. 200	E L. Kelley. Bishop.
Dockstader, F. A., t 1 0	Cooke, Noah N., o	Levi Gamet, Agent.	William T. Spauswick,t. 20 00	Blue Springs property 134 00
Fenner, George and	Cowlishaw, Eliza, t 3 00	Receipts.	John Stoft, t	Commission, E. H. Bur-wife, t 16 0	Crowson, Eliza, t 10 00	Due church January 1,	John Suttles and wife, t.610 00	ington 15 00 Exchange 1 00
Gibson, H. W., t 1 0	Curtis, Sr. H. B., t 1 00	1900 $ 29 77 Barton, Hester 2 00	John F. Weston, t 22 60	Repairs, Brownville
Grieves, Robert, t 13 5 Hicklin, W. T., t 3 6	Dukes, William, t		Henry Wood, t 6 00	church 53 75
Hill. Sarah, t	Fairhurst, Ann, t 5 00	Brumbaugh, Dilla 1 00	Charles Wood, t 5 00	Taxes 2 00
Jones, John J., t 16 (	Hellman, Charles K., t 19 00	Crosser, Julia 5 00	Susan Watkins, t 2 00	Total $842 11
Jones, Richard R., t 10 (	Hitchcock, John C., t 35 00	Downey, Sarah 5 15 Downey, May 5 00	Bro. Young 1 00	Due church 4 95
Kuipschild, Frederick, t.300 (Kelley, E. L., Bishop 170 (	Jaques, Rachel, t 5 00 Jaques, Joseph A., t 2 50			$847 06
Morgan, David L 11 8	Lones Thomas t 30 00	Fletcher, Maude 2 10	Total$1,589 70	4041 00
Moss, Harriet 5	Johnson, Catherine, t 10 00 Martin, Sophia, o 2 50	Flowers, Jane 1 62		WINDLE W W
Mussell, Frederick T 2 8	Martin, Sophia, 6 2 50	Gatenby, Ida 1 00 Gatenby, Bro. and Sr 8 00	Expenditures.	NEVADA.
Petre, Elmer E. and wife, t 63 7	Mercer, Bridget, o 2 00 Mantle, John, t 20 00	Holland, John and Ellen. 5 00	H. W. Belville, e$ 3 00 H. W. Belville, f105 00	NEVADA DISTRICT.
Petre, J. F. and wife, t 71	McDonald, Mary, t 2 10	Hutchins, C. N 2 00	Oscar Case, e 34 00	D. R. Jones, Agent.
Palfrey, Frederick, t 29 2	)  McFarlane, John, t 10 09	Jackson, Jos and Mary 6 00 Johnson, Minerva 8 00	Oscar Case, f	Receipts.
Petre, Melvin and wife, t 10 (	Molyneaux, Elizabeth, o. 1 50 Molyneaux, Fred. 0 60	17 - 11 17 T D:-1- 0 00 00	H. E. Humbuger, a 7 32	Due church January 1,
Palfray Louise t 2 (	O Owens, Mary M., t 600	Logerman, Abbie 1 00	E. L. Kelley, Bishop940 00 D. M. Rudd, e 6 00	1900 $ 31 80
Palfrey, Louise, t	Peat, Mary, t 9 35	Lewis, Lorinda, Bone-	Nicholas Rumel 72 00	Sprague, Jennie 1,450 00
Richards, Carrie, t 14	Radford, Isaac P., o 50	steel, S. Dak	F. A. Smith, e 10 00	Ridlar, William 10 00
Smith, Samuel, o 3 (		Logerman, Bro. and Sr 2 00	Traveling expenses,	Hawkins, Mary
Triplett, Florence, t 12 t Tryon, Harriet, t 1 (		Moore, W. S and Sa-	postage, and exchange. 6 04	-
Thomas, Nydia, t 20	O Scott, Isabella, o 2 00	mantha 25 00	Total$1,327 36	Total$1,541 80
Vincent, William H., t 1	0 Smith, John G., o 12 00	Moore, Mariel and Sa- mantha 3 50	Due church262 34	Expenditures.
Waltenbaugh, Jacob, t 3 (	Spurlock, C. J., O 1 30	Moore, W. S. and S. E 1 00		Daley, Thomas, e$ 60 00
Williams. John T., t 10	0 Swift, Joseph A., t 2 00 0 Thomas, William O110 00	Moore, W. S. and S. E 1 00 Moore, W. S. 5 00		Kelley, E. L., Bishop$1,450 00
Williams, Andrew J. and	Trowbridge, Richard B 35 70	Moore, Mariel E 50	J. W. Waldsmith, Agent.	Kelley, E. L., Bishop 20 00
wife, t 5	0 Waldron, Kate, t 5 00	Naab, John 5 00	Receipts.	•
837 - 1 T		10-000000000000000000000000000000000000	Armbuster, William, t 10 00	Total$1,530 00
Weeks, Lizzie, t	0 Wiedman, William, t 5 00	Payne, E. A 3 15		Due church11 80
Young, Alexander G., t 2	0 Wiedman, William, t 5 00 0 Wild. James, t 75 00 - Whiting, Mary, t 2 50	Payne, E. A	Brolliar Daniel t
	0 Wiedman, William, t 5 00 0 Wild, James, t 75 00 Whiting, Mary, t 2 50		Armbuster, William, t 10 00 Belville, H. W., t 1 00 Brolliar, Daniel, t 4 50 Brolliar, Samuel, t 4 400
Young, Alexander G., t 2 to Total	0 Wiedman, William, t 5 00 0 Wild. James, t 75 00 - Whiting, Mary, t 2 50	Potorff, John 4 00	Brolliar, Samuel, t	NEW YORK.
Young, Alexander G., t 2 G  Total	0 Wiedman, William, t 5 00 Wild. James, t 75 00 Whiting, Mary, t 2 50 Total	Potorff, John	Brolliar, Samuel, t	NEW YORK.
Young, Alexander G., t 2 ( Total$963 :  Expenditures.  Kelley, E. L., Bishop$200 (	0 Wiedman, William, t 5 00 Wild. James, t 75 00 Whiting, Mary, t 2 50 Total $1,072 87	Potorff, John       4 00         Rush, Celestine       25 60         Rutlege, Thomas       5 00         Rumel, William       16 00	Brolliar, Samuel, t	NEW YORK. NEW YORK DISTRICT.
Young, Alexander G., t 2 (  Total$963 :  Expenditures.  Kelley, E. L., Bishop$200 ( Chatburn, F. J., f200 ( Chatburn, F. J., e	0 Wiedman, William, t 5 00 0 Wild, James, t 75 00 Whiting, Mary, t 2 50 Total $1,072 87  Expenditures. 0 Hilliard, G. H., counselor $400 00	Potorff, John       4 00         Rush, Celestine       25 60         Rutlege, Thomas       5 00         Rumel, William       16 00	Brolliar, Samuel, t     4 00       Brown, Rachel S., t     30 00       Bray, Carrie, t     20 00       Burgess, Almund, t     5 00       Cox, Alice, t     1 50       Coats, Eva M., t     7 50	NEW YORK.  NEW YORK DISTRICT.  Thomas Lester, Agent.
Young, Alexander G., t 2 6  Total	0 Wiedman, William, t 5 00 Wild James, t 75 00 Whiting, Mary, t 2 50 Total $1,072 87 Expenditures.  0 Hilliard, G. H., counston Hilliard, G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. H., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William G. W., counston William	Potorff, John	Brolliar Samuel, t	NEW YORK.  NEW YORK DISTRICT.  Thomas Lester, Agent.  Receipts.
Total$963 :  Expenditures.  Kelley, E. L., Bishop$200 (Chatburn, F. J., f	0 Wiedman, William, t 5 00 Wild, James, t 75 00 Whiting, Mary, t 2 50 Total $1,072 87 Expenditures.  0 Hilliard, G. H., counselor $400 00 Hilliard, G. H., counselor $400 00 Hilliard, G. H., counselor $400 00 Hilliard, G. H., counselor $400 00 Hilliard, G. H., counselor	Potorff, John	Brolliar Samuel, t	NEW YORK.  NEW YORK DISTRICT.  Thomas Lester, Agent.  Receipts.  Buttery, Sarah$ 1 68
Young, Alexander G., t 2 (  Total$963 :  Expenditures.  Kelley, E. L., Bishop$200 ( Chatburn, F. J., f200 ( Chatburn, F. J., e	0 Wiedman, William, t. 5 00 0 Wild James, t. 75 00 0 Whiting, Mary, t. 2 50 0 Total . $1,072 87 0 Expenditures. 0 Hilliard, G. H., counselor	Potorff, John	Brolliar Samuel, t	NEW YORK.  NEW YORK DISTRICT.  Thomas Lester, Agent.  Receipts.  Buttery, Sarah$ 1 68 Buttery, Bertha
Total	0 Wiedman, William, t 5 00 Wild, James, t 75 00 Whiting, Mary, t 2 50 Total $1,072 87 Expenditures.  0 Hilliard, G. H., counselor $400 00 Hilliard, G. H., counselor $400 00 Hilliard, G. H., counselor $400 00 Hilliard, G. H., counselor $400 00 Hilliard, G. H., counselor	Potorff. John	Brolliar Samuel, t	NEW YORK.  NEW YORK DISTRICT. Thomas Lester, Agent. Receipts.  Buttery, Sarah$ 168 Buttery, Bertha 100

C11 WEY 2712 3	OTTO	Cramer, Richard	1 05	Wilcon Many 60	Dent, Caroline, t 50
Clark, William and family 8 00	оню.	Crawford, Lizzie	50		Dent. Elizabeth. t 8 00
Cocks, James and	OHIO DISTRICT.	Culp, H. C	5 00	Young, J. A 25	Dent. John C., o 1 00 family 9 00	S. J. Jeffers, Agent.	Curry, Edna	2 75	Young, Maggie 25	Dent, Edith, o 1 00
Cable, Judson 1 50	Receipts.	Curry, Eben and Nannie	1 00	Akron Saints, collec-	Denean, Martha, t 45
Franke, Alice M 1 00	Due church January	Dalberg, Charles and Ida Dalberg, Vera	10 10	Newcastle Saints 4 11	Elwood, Mary, Sr., and Mary, Jr., t 17 36
Guilfoy, Samuel and wife 5 00	1, 1900$117	66 Darst, Anna	75	Youngstown branch 19 00	Elwood James H. and
Hobson, William 8 00	Anderton, Mary, t 1	00 Darst, Bessie			Hannah, t 5 00
Lester, Thomas 5 00	Brown, James, o	Darst, Thomas and Etta	1 25	Total $1,101 05	Ellis, Alexander and
Lester, Agnes 75		Dawson, Ada	32		Mary, t 2 65
Lester, Frank N 3 35	Branch offering, La- grange, t	Dawson, Elizabeth	1 65	Expenditures.	Fitzthomas, Edward, Sen., o
McGuire, John A 10 00 Potts, Elizabeth100 00	Blackford, Sarah, t 26		1 13	Griffiths, Gomer T., f $380 00 Smith, Henry C., f 150 00	Sen., o
Squire, Elizabeth 6 00	Bierly, Langly L., t 5	00 wife	6 60	Ebeling, F. J., f 144 00	Jr., o
Squire, Ellen 1 00	Bowen, Minnie, t 2	00 124 74 414 42, 22 11120	1 00	Ebeling, F. J., f 144 00 Baldwin, Richard, f 120 00	Jr., 0 05 Fitzthomas, Lila, 0 35
Squire, Joseph, Sr 10 00;	Barber, Emma C., t 1 ( Barber, James, t 1 (		901	Smith, F. C., f 80 00	Fitzinomas, Katie, O 50
Squire, Celia	Canter, Thomas, t 2 5		1 00	Parsons, A. H., e 55 00	Fowler, Johannah, t 10 00 Firm, William and
Squire, Ephraim 25 Squire, Violet E 50	Cummings, Florence, t 1	Gillespie, John and Mary 10	63 88	Ebeling, F. J., e 25 00 Kelley, W. H., e 15 00	Jennie o 65
Stone, Albert E 5 09		Gillespie. Martha		Davison, H. J., e 10 00	Fletcher, Daniel, 0       50         Glasier, Samuel, 0       05         Glasier, William, t       16       00
Stone, Estella 9 20	Davis, J. J., t	an a draom, anglico	75	Smith, F. C., e 5 00	Glasier, Samuel, o 05
Stone, Albert E. and wife 28 00	Duffy, Catharine, t 1 (Davidson, Mary J., t 10 (			Poor 5 00 Agent's traveling and	Glasier, William, t 16 00
Tyson, Elizabeth 2 00 Truman, Thomas H 8 00	Davidson, Naomi, t 5	wife	7 75	Agent's traveling and	Glasier, Ernest, 0 1 00 Green, John A., 0 25
Truman, Thomas H 8 00 Truman, William 5 00	Everman, Cilnira, o	50 Griffiths, Eric	50	stationery expenses 21 15	Green, Kezia, t 4 00
Tuttle, William E 30 00	Farrell, Docia, t 1 (	Ol Criffithe Hattie R	50	Total $1,010 15	Green, Mary M., t 5 25
Whitnell, Elizabeth 5 50	"Friend," o	On Griffiths, Lulu	25	Due church 90 90	Green, George F. and
White, William E 5 00	Gibson Maggie, t 1	Groff, Fred C	4 60	0777 477075	Esther A., t
Total$284 03	Ginson Rame t	IUI Groff Form Viens	45 45	OKLAHOMA.	Green, Frank and wife,t. 13 25 Green, Philetus and
10101			85	OKLAHOMA DISTRICT.	Fannie 2 25
Expenditures.	Henry, William W., t 25 (	Craccar W C and wife	8 70	S. J. Hinkle, Agent.	Guy, Watson, t 10 00
• ,	Hannah. Donald J., t 5 (	Hartz, Joseph	25	Receipts.	Gragg, Wesland and
William H. Kelley $ 45 00	Humphrey, Harvey, t 1 (Humphrey, S. F., t 1 (	00 Holman, J. G	15 00	Due church January 1	Mary, t
M. H. Bond	Jones, R. B., t.,,,,,,,,,, 2 (	JUliangh H and w.fo	9 2)	1900$ 2 80	Gaw John P and Lille t 14 00
U. W. Greene 55 00	Jeffers, Delmont H., t., 4 (	Ul Homor Jannia	25	Aylor, W. M	Hockley, A. E., t 10 00
E. L. Kelley, Bishop100 00	Jeffers, Elizabeth S. t 10 (	Ul Hostetler William	1 00	Berry, T. N. and Hattie 50 001	Hanson, Leah, o
Frank M. Sheeny 5 00	Kriebel, S. B. and wife, t 20 C Keck. Cora, t	III II a lance Francisco d'Escare	1 50	Budworth, W. W 25 00 Baskett, E. L 1 00	Hampshire, Charles and
Total$220 00	Long, Esther, t 5 (	00 Hulmes Walter	2 75 1 25	Bivens, W. H 1 00	Hildreth Maggie t 7 00
Due church 64 03	Long. Elmer E., T., L., 21 C	WILLAffords John and wife	2 00	Cooper, Joseph	Hildreth, John, t 15 00
	Moler, James, o 1	Ollanking Hannah	1 00	Crofford. A. M 15 00	Irving, Thomas and
$284 03	Mathews, Thomas, O 8	Jolley, Pearl Marie	23	DeLong, Luia 1 00	Elizabeth, t 50 00
	Mathews, Rachel, o 1 (Mathews, Mae, o 2 5	50 Kimball William C.	50 00	DeLong, Patience	Jenkins, Lettie, o 1 00 Jones, Minnie, o 30
NOVA SCOTIA.	Ministerial, o 22	47 Lake Martha	3 00	Hiles. George M. and	Jones Richard o 50
MOVA SCOLIA.	Moler, music teaching, o., 15 t	Ol Laughlin, Leah	3 25	wife	Jacklin, Harriet, t 1 00
NOVA SCOTIA DISTRICT.	Nevils, John W., t 7 5	50 Lewis, Mary	1 25	Hinkle, S. J. and Anna 55 00	Kimball, Sr. James, t 200
	Nevils, Margaret, t 7 5	50 Lutz, Emma	75	Hughes, H. C. and Jennie 60 00	Kimball, Martha, t 3 00
J. W. Dimock, Agent.	Phelps, William, o 2 Rowe, William H., o 5	Manchester, A. R	5 001	Knowles, Sr. A. B	Kimball, Charlotte, o 1 00 Kramer, Eliza J., o 06
Receipts.	Rhoads, John W., t 5 (	00 Matthewson Agnes	7 00	McGeorge, Alice 2 20	Kelley Berthe o 05
Wood, Alfred 11 75	Spaun, Annie E, t 7 2	20 Mickles, Vaney	2 00	Maloney, Sr. R. M	Lewthwaite, Ellen, o 75
Newcomb, Tamza 1 30 O'Brien, Annie 1 00	Smith, John C. t 4 (	Miller, Ebenezer, Sr	9 50	Macrae, W. S. and Edda 1 00	Lacount, Sarah, o 05
	Smith Hiram K., t 5 4 Sisler James H. 0 19 4	10 Miller, Eben and Maggie 14	98 13	Pate, L. W 42 00 Rowland, H. K 30 00	Leverton, Mary, t 10 00
Dimock, Eunice A 2 00	Sisler, James H , o 19 4 Small. Frederick, t 5 (	Miller, Robert and Rhoda	22 00	Ralston, Henry V 1 50	Leverton, Frederick and
Lawrence, Solomon 3 00	Vernon, Isaac and wife, t. 8 t	Minkler, Ida	2 50	Ralston, Alice 25	Elizabeth 18 76
Davison, H. J 2 44 Graham, Lois 6 00	Williams, George and wife, t	Minkler, Kittie	1 00	Ralston, Augusta 1 25	Leatherdale, Henry, t 6 25
Johnson, Eva 60		75 Morgan Abraham 10	05 50	Smith, Kate 2 00 Smith, Lawrence 5 00	Leatherdale, Jane, t 2 05
Quigley, May 7 00	A illiams. Janet. t	751 McConnauchev. James	00 00	Smith, Thomas J 6 00	Long. Ernest and Sarah, t. 25 00
Ripley, James 4 00	Williams Daniel, t 4 5	and wife		Smith, S. S 2 67	McArthur, John, o
Johnson, Leander 1 25 O'Brien, Mattie 1 00	Williams David, t 3 (	McCoy, Bro. and Sr	1 75	Stull, Susan 85 00	McDonald, Frank, o 10
Davison, Kate M 5 30	Wren Thomas t	McKenzie, V. S	14 40	Tate, Sr. M. E 25 00	McDonald, Effie, o 20
	Woods, Allie C., t 3 5	50 McMillan, Bell	1 25	Total$784 67	McDonald, Lena, t 75
Total$ 47 14	Wilson, William, t 5	00 McMillan, Bert	20	Total$784 67  Expenditures.  Aylor, W. M., f$ 96 00 Case, Hubert, e10 00 Crowler, D. S. f. 72 00	McKnight, Annie, o 80 McLaine, Edward, o 30
77	Yingling, A. L., t230	WeMillan, Francis	05	Expenditures.	McLeod, Mary, o 5 35
Expenditures.	Total$692 S	McMillan, Harry	20	Aylor, W. M., f $ 96 00	McLeod, George, o 75
Davison, Kate M., f $ 46 30	-	McMillan, J. W. and wife	18 75	Crawley, D S., f	McLeod. William, o 1 25
Expense	Expenditures.	mcaman, Lorenzo
Total $ 46 90	Moler, James, f$192	00 McMillan, Maggie	1 00	Maioney, n. m., 1200 00	Mefflin, Mennis and
Due church 24	Moler, James, 1	00 McMillan, Nettie	401	Macrae. W. S., T 20 00	Annio # 15 50
	Goodrich V M f 190 (	00 Noteman, Sarah	1 00	Drafts, postage, etc 3 00	Mefflin, Irene, o
NOVA SCOTIA DISTRICT.	Beatty, T. J. f	00 Powell, George	2 25	Total,$551 00	Mefflin, Charles B., o 20 Mefflin, John, o 20
1(0 ) 11 000 1111 11011111	Kelley, W. H., e 10 (	00 Powell, L. W. and		Due church233 67	Moore, Frederick, t 34
Robert Newcomb, Agent.			1 00 25		Moore, Harriet, o 45
Receipts.	Moler, H. E., e	on Riblet S. P	4 00	$784 67	Nichols, Alice, o 3 00
Dimock, Eunice, t$ 2 00	Postage and orders 2	28   Michaer, George	10	ONTH A DIO	Nell, William, t
Davison, Holmes J., t 2 44			4 00	ONTARIO.	Outrem Philip H, t 15 50
Davison, Kate, t 5 30 Davison, Glenn, t 15 00	Total $683 9	28 Robson, Clara 68 Robson, George Robson, Hector Robson, J. A Robson, John and Lulu Robson, Mary	35	CHATHAM DISTRICT.	Osborne, Jennie, o 10
Filmore, Etta, t 3 00	Due church 9 (	= Robson, Hector	7 50	J. H Tyrrell, Agent.	Porter, Ann, t 10 60
Graham, Lois, t	KIRTLAND DISTRICT.	Robson, J. A.	50	Receipts.	Premo, Barbara, o
Gates, Minnie D., t 11 45	Eben Miller, Agent.	Robson, John and Lulu.	5 50	Due church January	Ross, William L and
Johnson, Eva, t	Receipts.	Robson, Mary Robson, Robert Russell, Jennie & Russell, Millie	90	1, 1900	Eulalia. t 15 00
Lawrence Solomon, t 4 00		Russell Jennie	50 1 50		Roberts William and
Lade, Michael, t 15 00	Balance due church January 1, 1900$114 4	Russell, Millie	2 00	Arnold, Minnie, o 2 00 Bennett, Richard. o 25	Ellen, t
Newcomb, Tamza A., t 16 50	January 1, 1900$114 4 Abbott, Jane	50 Ryhal, John	3 00		Rock, Charles, o 05
Newcomb, Robert, t 20 00 O'Bri n, Annie, t 2 00	Allen, Bee Dee 7	00 Ryhal, Thomas M. and	0 10	Blackmore, George and	Ruble, Fannie, o 1 00
O'Brien, Mattie, t 1 00	Anen, Joei and Wile It is	30 ( 5 1 1 3 5 5 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	6 10 5 00	Martha, t 2 75	Ruble, Sarah, o 25
Quigley, May, t 7 00	Allen, David		36 00	Benjamin, Ellen, o 2 00 Bacon, Samuel H. and	Ramsden, Charles, o 10 Robbin, Elizabeth, o 2 25
Quigley, Isabel, t 1 00		50 Smith, Henry C	50	Maggie, t	Sharrow, Anthony and
Robinson, Cameron T., t 14 28	Ashman, Lulu 8	35 Smith, Carrie		Burr, Martha, t 5 00	Rebecca, t 39 00
Robinson, Emerson, t 9 29 Robinson, Alfred, t 2 00	Ashman, Ruth 5		1 00 1 00		Snoblin, Sarab, t 8 00
Ripley, James, t 4 00		50 Spriggle, Frank	25	Badder, John Wesley   and Maggie, t 41 12	Snoblin, David, o
Sanford, Ada t 24 00		50 Steinbaugh, Edward			Shippy, George F., o 55
Wood, Alfred, t 11 75	Barstow, George	50 Steffe, Frank and		Badder, Jane, t 50	Shippy, George F., O
Wood, Annie, t 2 30	Becker, J. A	50 Rosanna	5 50	Bear, Rosie, o 25	Shippy, Louis B., o 25
Total $193 16	Biggs, Naomi	25 Stewart, Jessie	1 00		Shippy, Sarah, t 1 50
		50 Streikmaker, Rosabella. 00 Suinderman, Celia	25 10		Salor, Martin, o
Expenditures.	Brockway, Bert 9 5	50 Tary, O. J	25		Shaw, Agnes, t
Davison, Kate, f $180 96	Butler, Mary 1 6	65 Thompson, Margaret	1 00	Carless, Annie, o 50	Shaw, John and Matilda,t 1 15
Foss, Samuel O., e 5 00	Carpenter, Sr. C. E 3 1	10 Titus, Israel	10 10	Carless, Eliza J., o 9 00 Carless, Edward, o 1 50	Shaw, Phelan, t 25 00
Blanchard, William W.,e. 5 00	Carlisle, James 11 (Cooper, C and M 4 5	50/ Hodyke F. J 9	20.00.	Carter Julia, t . 701	Smith, Maria, o
Expenses, agent 95	Cramer, Charles and	Wallwork, Ann	3 00	Coburn, Orlow, t 5 40	Catharine, t 10 00
Total$191 91	Minnie 4 (	00 Warner, Charles	17 00	Coburn, Richard and	Schrader, Benjamin, t 1 30
Due church 1 25	Cramer, Clifford 1	10 Warner, Clarence 25 Warner, Rose	2 00	Coburn, Orlow, t 5 40 Coburn, Richard and Maggie, t 4 50 Campbell, Mary, o 1 45	St. John, Samuel G., o 2 05 St. John, Emily, o 05
$193 16		00 Warnock, Eliza	16 50	Cottingham, Moore. o 69	St. John, Emily, c 05 St. John, Louisa, t 1 00
$193 16	Cramer, John H 6	50 Warnock, Emma	19 35	Dent, Joseph, t 10 00	St. John, Charles, o 50
050/December 1		15	,

Scafe, William, o 60 Swainson, Earl, t 10 60	IC D TO T		1353 0
		12 00	Morden, George 3 00 Morden, Sarah 5 00	)  Alice Gregory, f226 68    Louisa St. John, f222 00
Taylor, Charles W. and	and wife		Meadowcroft, Elizabeth. 5 00	Elizabeth Mortimer, f180 00	Benner Adam and wife 2 25
Melissa, t 11 00	Campbell, William Calder, Duncan	1 00	Marten, George 1 00		Benner, Mrs. Inez 75
Taylor, John, t300 00 Taylor, William H. and	Cancer, Duncan		wife	Emily Phillips, f 108 35 R. C. Evans, e 212 60	Dune, Cards and Wife 2 00
Mary, t 35 95	Cameron, Alice M	5 00	MacGregor, Minnie 8 00	Frederick Gregory, e105 00	Barrett Coorgo and wife 95 00
Taylor, George and	Clark, AlexClark, James V	20 00		Daniel MacGregor, e 30 00	Booher, John 2 50
Ellen, t	Clark, Forbes		McLean, Charles and wife 8 00	A. E. Mortimer, e 8 00 J. L. Mortimer, e 20 00
Traxler, Moroni, o	Clampitt, Elizabeth J		McDonald, Agatha 3 00	T. A. Phillips, e 15 00	Curry Louis
Tyrrell, Levi H , t 3 00	Clampitt, Annie		McDonald, Clarence 2 00		Davis, Catharine 75
Tyrrell, James and Eliza- beth, t 11 90	Clark, Charles L	7 00			Daw, Elizabeth 3 00
Tyrrell, Elizabeth, t 18 00			MacGregor, Daniel and	Joseph Luff, e 10 00	Daugherty, W. H 14 25 Evans, Ellen 1 00
Thorp, David and Eliza-	wife	8 50	wife 1 00	Joseph Smith, e 10 00	Fairly E S and wife
beth, t	Cooper, KingCollins. Calista		McKibben, John and wife 11 00	R. B. Howlett, e 6 00 A. C. Barmore, e 22 20	Gillespie, Mary 75
Thompson, Catherine Isa-	Crake, Martha R	14 94	McMurdo, Agnes 2 00	John Shields, e 10 00	Hadfield, T. S
dore, t 4 42	Dack, William B	14 00	McDonald, Hiram 10 00	John Shields, e 10 00 Bishop E. L. Kelley 1,132 31 Postage and orders 19 24	Lewis, L. C. and wife 2 70
Vince, Thomas, t	Dawson, Abigail Dack, Etta	25 2 00	wife 25 00	Postage and orders 19 24
Clara, t 2 00	Derby, Belle	20 00	McMullin, Alex 13 00	Total$2,500 09
Wellington, Jane, o 42	Densmore, David	20 00	MacGregor, E 1 00	Due church 1.709 38	McDowell, W. J. and
Wellington, Edwin, o 87 Wellington, John, t 50	Densling, John, Sr	25 00	Neal, Charles and wife 13 50 Northey, Daniel T 5 00	$5.209.47	wife 11 00
Wellington, John, t 50 Wilson, Nellie, o 25	Dickhout, Hiram	33 75	Norris, Alfred and wife. 1 00	2007 41	Murray, Ella
Walker, George and Har-	Dixon, William	5 00	Osbourne, Joseph 20 00	OPECON	Muse, Ella 2 00
riett, o	Dow, Elizabeth Dobson, Robert		Osbourne, Mary 1 00 Overholt, Nathan and	OREGON.	Orr, Emma 25
Walton, Annie, o 50	Duckworth, James	26 90	wife	OREGON DISTRICT.	Richardson, Sarah
Walton, James and	Eastwood, James	2 00	Orne, Sarah 2 13	Alma Morris, Agent.	Reese, Frank 500
Emily, t	Egremont branch Evans, R. C. and wife		Phillippin, Philip and wife 3 00	Receipts.	Rodgers, Clifford 30
Williamson, James, t 2 39 Woods, Benjamin, t 2 70	Faulds, William and wife.	3 00	wife	Due church January	Rodgers, Jessie
Woods, David A., o 01	Falkner, Jessie	00.00	Pronton Howard E 00	1, 1900 6,95,91	Scott, Martha 2 00
Woods, E A , t	Freeman, B. F Freeman, Annie	1 00	Pycock, James	Exerces in Landing Distriction of the	Thomas, Sarah 1 50
Wrencher, Ambrose and	Franks, Esther	2 25	Proton branch 6 00	Hale, Lina (correction.	Thomas, Catharine
Jennie, o 1 00	Frazer, Henry	4 00	Patton, Lewis 1 00	1899) 501	Uncafer, Julia 2 00 Fayette City Branch.
Total$1,420 33	Gerrie, William Gerrie, James	77 (10)	Phillips. James and wife 12 00	Propet, Florence and Otis W., t	Brightwell, Elizabeth 2 50
	Goheen, George	20 00	Pow Sw Pichowd 10.00	Propet, Mrs. Florence t 4 95	Fields, Henry 1 00
Expenditures.	Gozzard, Catharine	1 00	Onick, Mary A 10 00	( Weits, R. E., t 10 0)	Gaskill, Thomas and
Agent's expenses $ 7 24	Garafraxa branch Grice, Mary	5 25	Rodwell, Edward 15 00 Rodwell, George 11 00		family 45 00 Gaskill, Samuel 2 15
Green, George, e	Grico Annie	14 00	Roy William and wife 2 00	Deg 6 2 1101	Hillman, George and wife 5 00
Grant, J. A., e 50 00	Grice, Luke	5 00	Raviell, Wesley 300 00	Holmes, Frank, t 29 20	Maxon, Joseph 1 00
Kelley, E. L., Bishop250 00	Grey, William H	5 00	Rowett, William 6 00	mointes, Frank and Mary	Pace, George
Mortimer, A. E., e 58 00 Philips, T. A., e		5 00	Rowett, Earnest 15 00 Russell, Clark 5 00	Richey, Margaret, t 2 00	Shotton, John 8 00
Shields, John, f295 00	family	25 00	Rose, Alice 5 00	Smith, Adaline M., t 2 501	Winship, Samuel and
St. John, Benjamin 46 00	Hamilton, Robert	25 00	Rushton, Herbert A 20 00 St. Thomas branch 4 00	Hanson, H. P., t 15 90 Olson, Christina, t 6 00	Winship, Jesse and wife. 2 00
Tomlinson, Catherine J., f 80 00	Hannah, Charles	10 00	Snell, Margaret 12 00	Harper, S. P., t	Winship, Beury and wife 3 00
Tomlinson, Elizabeth, f 133 36 Taylor, George 50	Hannah, Hugh and wife	12 00	Smith, David180 00	Holland, Elia M., t 5 00	Winship, Amos 25
m . 1	Hulbert, William Hulbert, William and wife	7 00	Silk, Mrs. William 1 00 Silk, Herbert 50	Taylor, William, t 2 50 Madden, New, t 21 80	Glen Easton, West Virginia,
Total$972 10 Due church (notes	Howlett Bessie	3 50 05	Snell, William 15 00	Madden, Emma, t 3 25	Saints.
$397 00, Cash	Howlett, Bessie Hardey. William and wife	1 00	Smith, Sarah Jane 1 00 Snell, Marten 10 00	Bartmess, Mrs. M. A., t. 60 Titter, Barbara £., o 5 00	Craig, Sarah
$51.23).	Humphries, Edwin Humphries, Robert		Sherman, Arthur A 2 00	Hastings, August and	Dobbs, W. H 1 10
$448 23	Hilles, William	10 00	Smith, Amos 5 00	Reed, Margaret, t 5 00	Dobbs, Elizabeth 2 35
LONDON DISTRICT.	Howlett, R. B and wife		Small, Harriet 1 25 Smith, Thomas 5 00	Greek, A., o 7 85	Dobbs, Gordon
R. C. Evans, Agent.	Hamilton, Maggie Hales, Ellen	5 00	Snell, Lizzie 3 00	Ulark, J. R., O 5 00	Dobbs, Lillie M 35
Receipts.	Hooey, Elias	10 00	Shepherdson, William 10 00 Sister300 00	Edwards, Jane, 0 2 00 Rice, M. J., 0 5 00	Dobbs, James B 1 00 Dobbs, James B 2 15
	Hales, Richard	1 00	Sinclair, Alex. and wife 5 00
				(Taka)	Dobbs, Gomer E 10
Due church January 1, 1900$995 25	Hamilton, Elizabeth Hathaway, May	50	Steade, Henry and wife 823 35	Total$279 41	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900$995 25 Anderson Mitchell 19 90	Hathaway, MayIrvine, T. M	50 1 00	Steade, Henry and wife823 35 Steade, John and wife100 00	Total$279 41  Expenditures.	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M Interest	1 00 31 88	Steade, Henry and wife323       35         Steade, John and wife100       00         Steade, Walter	Expenditures.	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May	1 00 31 88 2 00	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley, Charles$125 00 Error 1899, amount peid	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900$995 25 Anderson Mitchell	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M Interest Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins. Mary	1 00 31 88 2 00 10 00 1 00	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley, Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena. Jackson, Mary. Judkins, Mary. Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F.	1 00 31 88 2 00 10 00 1 00 50 2 75	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures. $125 00 Error 1899, amount paid A. M. Chase. 10 Chase, A. M. 75 00 Error oredit, Mary E.	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena. Jackson, Mary Judkins, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi.	1 00 31 88 2 00 10 00 1 00 50 2 75 2 00	Steade, Henry and wife823       35         Steade, John and wife100       00         Steade, Walter	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena. Jackson, Mary Judkins, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi. Jordan, William F.	1 00 31 88 2 00 10 00 1 00 50 2 75 2 00 10 00	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900   $995 25	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena. Jackson, Mary Judkins, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi. Jordan, William F.	1 00 31 88 2 00 10 00 1 00 50 2 75 2 00 10 00 5 00	Steade, Henry and wife $23 35         Steade, John and wife $10 00         Steade, Walter 70         Shields, John 200         Timbrell, Frederick J 150         Thrings, Edward 10 00         Thrings, Wesley 350         Timbrell, Thomas G 10 00         Timbrell, Clara 10 00         Taylor, Bethia 40         Thompson, Robert 20         Taylor, Jacob and wife 10 00	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900   $995 25	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jewell, Fanny Johnson, Jane	1 00 31 88 2 00 10 00 1 00 2 75 2 00 10 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures. $125 00  Crumley, Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Blizabeth. Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jewell, Fanny Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth.	1 00 31 88 2 00 10 00 1 00 50 2 75 2 00 10 00 5 00 25	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E.       10         Dobbs, Jasper N.       10         Dobbs, J. F.       45         Harris, Nancy.       6 50         Harris, Mary E.       1 35         Treadway, Susan.       10         Wayt, Joseph.       1 00         Wayt, Estella       3 75         Wheeling Branch.         Brewster, Mary S.       26 50         Bosley, Hattie J.       3 43         Barnes, Elijah.       10 00         Barnes, Rebecca.       7 00         Barnes, Annie.       1 00
1900   $995 25	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Mary Judkins, Blizabeth Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jewell, Fanny Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.).	50 1 00 31 88 2 00 10 00 5 00 2 75 2 00 10 00 5 00 5 00 2 5 1 00 2 5 1 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900   $995 25	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena. Jackson, Mary Judkins, Blizabeth. Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jewell, Fanny Johnson, Jane. Jaques, Elizabeth Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Klien, Maggie.	50 1 00 31 88 2 00 10 00 1 00 2 75 2 00 10 00 5 00 5 00 2 50 2 50 5 00 8 00 8 00	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E.       10         Dobbs, Jasper N.       10         Dobbs, Uharles       10         Dobbs, J. F.       45         Harris, Nancy       6 50         Harris, Mary E.       1 35         Treadway, Susan       10         Wayt, Joseph       1 00         Wayt, Estella       3 75         Wheeling Branch         Brewster, Mary S       26 50         Bosley, Hattie J       3 43         Barnes, Elijah       10 00         Barnes, Rebecca       7 00         Barnes, Aunie       1 00         Barnes, Henry       2 00         Devore, Ella R       5 00         Ebeling, J. E. and wife       114 50
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth Johnson, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jewell, Fanny Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Klien, Maggie. Klien, Maggie.	1 00 31 88 2 00 1 00 1 00 2 75 2 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 2 50 2 50 2 50	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900   $995 25	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena. Jackson, Mary Juakins, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William Johnson, Jane. Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, Jane. Jaques, Elizabeth Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Klien, Maggie. Klien, Alexander Klien, John. Klien, Milliam and wife.	50 1 00 31 82 2 00 1 00 1 00 2 75 2 00 1 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E.       10         Dobbs, Jasper N.       10         Dobbs, Uharles.       10         Dobbs, J. F.       45         Harris, Nancy.       6 50         Harris, Mary E.       1 35         Treadway, Susan.       10         Wayt, Joseph.       1 00         Wayt, Estella.       3 75         Wheeling Branch.         Brewster, Mary S.       26 50         Bosley, Hattie J.       3 43         Barnes, Elijah.       10 00         Barnes, Rebecca.       7 00         Barnes, Annie.       1 00         Barnes, Henry.       2 00         Devore, Ella R.       5 00         Ebeling, J. E. and wife 114 50         Ebeling, J. E. and wife 114 50         Gill, Sarah E.       1 50
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena. Jackson, Mary. Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jewell, Fanny. Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Klien, Maggie. Klien, Alexander Klien, William and wife, Keen, Charles	50 1 00 31 82 2 00 1 00 1 00 2 75 2 00 1 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley, Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest Jordan, Rosena Jordan, Rosena Juakisn, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Klien, Maggie Klien, Alexander Kiten, John Klen, William and wife, Keen, Charles Keennard, Nelson and	50 1 00 31 80 2 00 10 00 2 75 2 00 10 00 5 00 5 00 2 50 2 50 40 00 5 00 5 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 7 00 8 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00 9 00	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, Herbert M. Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Klien, Maggie Klien, Alexander Kiten, John Klien, William and wife. Keen, Charles. Kennard, Nelson and wife.	50 1 00 31 82 2 00 1 00 1 00 2 75 2 00 1 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6 00 6	Steade, Henry and wife $23 35           Steade, John and wife $10 00           Steade, Walter 7 00           Shields, John 2 00           Timbrell, Frederick J 1 50           Thrings, Edward 10 00           Thrings, Wesley 3 50           Timbrell, Thomas G 10 00           Timbrell, Clara 10 00           Taylor, Bethia 4 00           Taylor, Bethia 4 00           Taylor, Jacob and wife 10 00           Taylor, Jacob and wife 10 00           Tarzwell, Robert and wife 15 00           Trarzwell, Robert and wife 10           Wife 10 00           Vanessa branch 15 00           Vanessa branch 15 00           Vasbinder, John and wife 10 00           Wilson, Gertie 2 00           Wilson, Ida M 5 00           Wilson, Ida M 5 00	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena. Jordan, Rosena. Jokson, Mary Juakins, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William I. Jordan, William I. Jordan, William I. Johnson, Jane. Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Klien, Maggie. Klien, Alexander Klien, John Klien, John Klien, John Klien, Milliam and wife, Keen, Charles Kennard, Nelson and wife. Kern, Alfred Kern, Alfred Kern, Alfred Kern, Alfred Kern, Alfred Kennedy, Alex	50 100 31 88 2 00 10 00 1 05 2 75 2 00 1 5 00 2 5 00 2 5 00 2 5 00 2 5 00 2 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5	Steade, Henry and wife $23 35           Steade, John and wife $10 00           Steade, Walter 7 00           Shields, John 2 00           Timbrell, Frederick J 1 50           Thrings, Edward 10 00           Thrings, Wesley 3 50           Timbrell, Thomas G 10 00           Timbrell, Clara 10 00           Taylor, Bethia 4 00           Taylor, Bethia 4 00           Taylor, Jacob and wife 10 00           Taylor, Jacob and wife 10 00           Tarzwell, Robert and wife 15 00           Trarzwell, Robert and wife 10           Wife 10 00           Vanessa branch 15 00           Vanessa branch 15 00           Vasbinder, John and wife 10 00           Wilson, Gertie 2 00           Wilson, Ida M 5 00           Wilson, Ida M 5 00	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Blizabeth. Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi. Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, Berney M. Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Klien, Maggie. Klien, Alexander. Klien, William and wife. Keen, Charles. Kennard, Nelson and wife Kerr, Alfred Kennedy, Alex Knieley, Alex.	50 1 00 31 88 2 00 10 00 1 00 2 75 2 75	Steade, Henry and wife $23 35           Steade, John and wife $10 00           Steade, Walter	Expenditures.  Crumley, Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jewell, Fanny Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Klien, Maggie Klien, Alexander Klien, William and wife, Keen, Charles Kennard, Nelson and wife. Kern, Alfred Kern, Alfred Kennedy, Alex Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alvin Likins, Sarah W.	500 31 88 2 000 10 000 1 000 1 000 2 75 2 2 00 10 00 5 00 2 2 50 2 2 50 2 2 50 2 2 50 2 2 00 5 00 5	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E.       10         Dobbs, Jasper N.       10         Dobbs, Charles.       10         Dobbs, J. F.       45         Harris, Mary E.       1 35         Treadway, Susan.       10         Wayt, Joseph.       1 00         Wayt, Estella.       3 75         Wheeling Branch.         Brewster, Mary S.       26 50         Bosley, Hattie J.       3 43         Barnes, Elijah.       10 00         Barnes, Rebecca.       7 00         Barnes, Annie.       1 00         Barnes, Henry.       2 00         Devore, Ella R.       5 00         Ebeling, J. E. and wife 114 50       Ebeling, Dena.       1 00         Gill, Sarah E.       1 50         Gill, Harry D.       26 85         Gibbs, J. R.       3 00         Hughes, Rachel S.       204 50         Kennedy, Russell L.       9 45         Logsdon, Albert and wife       4 50         Lucas, William and wife.       10 00         Lucas, C. A.       5 00         Liston, Sarah E.       50
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest Jordan, Rosena Jordan, Rosena Jordan, Rosena Juakisn, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth Johnson, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth Johnson, Jane Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Kilen, Maggie Kilen, Alexander Kilen, John Kilen, William and wife. Keen, Charles Kennard, Nelson and wife Kern, Alfred Kennedy, Alex Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Lindsay, George	5 00 31 88 2 00 10 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00	Steade, Henry and wife $23 35           Steade, John and wife $10 00           Steade, John and wife $10 00           Steade, Walter 7 00           Shields, John 2 00           Timbrell, Frederick J 1 50           Thrings, Edward 10 00           Thrings, Wesley 3 50           Timbrell, Thomas G 10 00           Timbrell, Clara 10 00           Timbrell, Clara 10 00           Taylor, Bethia 4 00           Thompson, Robert 2 00           Taylor, Jacob and wife 10 00           Tarzwell, Robert and wife 15 00           Tarzwell, Robert and wife 10 00           Tomlinson, Martha 2 00           Tomlinson, Lizzie 1 00           Vanssa branch 15 00           Vasbinder, John and wife 10 00           Wilson, Gertie 2 00           Whitney, Clara A. M 5 00           Whitworth, Edwin and wife 38 00           Whitworth, Edwin and wife 38 00           Whitworth, Fanny 20 00           Willing, Bro 25 00           Whittebead, Sr. William 10	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth Joulkins, Elizabeth Johnson, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, Herbert M. Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Klien, Maggie Klien, Alexander Klien, Alexander Klien, William and wife. Keen. Charles Kennard, Nelson and wife. Kern, Alfred Kern, Alfred Kenniely, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Likins, Sarah W. Lindsay, George Lott, Wesley Lott, George and wife.	500 31 88 82 000 11 00 00 11 00 00 12 75 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 15 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 00 16 0	Steade, Henry and wife $23 35           Steade, John and wife $10 00           Steade, John and wife $10 00           Steade, Walter 70           Shields, John 200           Timbrell, Frederick J 150           Thrings, Edward 10 00           Thrings, Wesley 350           Timbrell, Thomas G 10 00           Timbrell, Clara 40           Thompson, Robert 200           Taylor, Jacob and wife 10 00           Taylor, Jacob and wife 10 00           Tarzwell, Robert and wife 10           Tomlinson, Martha 20           Tomlinson, Lizzie 150           Vanessa branch 150           Vasbinder, John and wife 20           Wilson, Gertie 20           Whitney, Clara A. M 50           Whitworth, Edwin and wife 38           Wilson, Fanny 20           Whitworth, Gladys M 25           Willing, Bro 25           Whithehead, So, William 10           Whithehead, Robert 20	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena. Jordan, Rosena. Joackson, Mary. Juakins, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William and wife, M. Kilen, Maggie Klien, Johnson, William and wife (B. C.). Kilen, Alexander Kilen, John Kilen, Alexander Kilen, John Kilen, William and wife Keen, Charles Kennard, Nelson and wife Kern, Alfred Kennedy, Alex Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alvin Likins, Sarah W Lindsay, George Lott, Wesley Lott, George and wife Likins, Alda	500 31 88 2 000 11 00 11 00 2 755 2 00 10 00 1 2 00 10 00 2 00 10 00 2 00 10 00 2 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00 10 00	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena. Jordan, Rosena. Joackson, Mary. Juakins, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William and wife, M. Kilen, Maggie Klien, Johnson, William and wife (B. C.). Kilen, Alexander Kilen, John Kilen, Alexander Kilen, John Kilen, William and wife Keen, Charles Kennard, Nelson and wife Kern, Alfred Kennedy, Alex Knisley, Alvin Likins, Sarah W Lindsay, George Lott, Wesley Lott, George and wife Likins, Alda	500 31 88 2 000 11 00 11 00 2 755 2 00 10 00 1 2 00 10 00 2 755 1 00 2 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 10 00 11 50 5 00 5 0	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley, Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Jodan, Elizabeth. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jewell, Fanny Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, William and wife, B. C.). Klien, Maggie Klien, Alexander Klien, Alexander Klien, William and wife, Keen, Charles Kennard, Nelson and wife. Kern, Alfred Kennedy, Alex Knisley, Alvin Likins, Sarah W. Lindsay, George Lott, Wesley Lott, George and wife Likins, Alda London branch Longhurst, R. C. and wife.	5 00 31 88 2 00 1 00 1 00 2 75 2 75 2 75 2 75 2 75 2 75 2 75 2 75	Steade, Henry and wife $23 35           Steade, John and wife $10 00           Steade, John and wife $10 00           Steade, Walter 70           Shields, John 200           Timbrell, Frederick J 150           Thrings, Edward 10           Thrings, Wesley 350           Timbrell, Thomas G 10           Timbrell, Clara 10           Timbrell, Clara 40           Thompson, Robert 20           Taylor, Jacob and wife 10           Tarzwell, Robert and wife 15           Wife	Expenditures.  Crumley, Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Belizabeth. Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Kien, Maggie Kien, Alexander Kien, Alexander Kien, William and wife. Keen, Charles, Kennard, Nelson and wife Kern, Alfred Kennedy, Alex Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alvin Likine, Sarah W Lindsay, George Lott, Wesley Lott, George and wife. Likins, Alda London branch Longurst, R. C. and wife. Lore, Ethel	500 31 88 2 200 1 000 1 000 2 75 2 75 2 75 2 75 2 75 2 75 2 75 2 75	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, William F. Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Klien, Maggie. Klien, Alexander. Klien, Alexander. Klien, Alexander. Kennend, Nelson and wife Keen, Charles. Kennard, Nelson and wife Kern, Alfred. Kennedy, Alex Knisley, Alvin Likins, Sarah W. Lindsay, George Lott, Wesley Lott, George and wife. Likins, Alda London branch Longhurst, R. C. and wife Lore, Ethel. Lore, Ethel. Lore, Ethel. Lore, Lake, Chester.	500 31 88 2 000 1 000 1 000 2 75 20 2 750 2 2 00 2 2 50 2 50	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest Jordan, Rosena Jordan, Rosena Jordan, Rosena Juackson, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth Johnson, William F Jordan, William F Jordan, William F Jordan, William F Jordan, William F Jordan, William F Jordan, William F Jordan, William F Jordan, William F Jordan, William F Jordan, William F Jordan, William F Jordan, William F Jordan, William F Jordan, William F Jordan, William F Jordan, William and wife. Klien, John Klien, Maggie Klien, Alexander Kinen, John Klien, William and wife. Keen, Charles Kennard, Nelson and wife Kern, Alfred Kennedy, Alex Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Lundsay, George Lott, Wesley Lott, George and wife Likins, Sarah W. Lindsay, George Lott, Wesley Lott, George and wife Lore, Ethel. Lonsway, Henry Lake, Chester London Sabbath school	500 31 88 2 000 1 000 1 000 2 75 20 2 750 2 2 00 2 2 50 2 50	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, Herbert M. Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Klien, Maggie Klien, Alexander Klien, Alexander Klien, Alexander Klien, William and wife, Keen, Charles Kennard, Nelson and wife Kern, Alfred Kennedy, Alex Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alvin Likins, Sarah W. Lindsay, George Lott, Wesley Lott, George and wife Likins, Alda London branch Longhurst, R. C. and wife Lore, Ethel Lone, Henry Lake, Chester London Sabbath school, Marten, Albert and	500 31 88 2 000 1 000 1 000 2 75 2 00 2 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 0	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena. Jackson. Mary. Judkins, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi. Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jewell, Fanny. Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, Jane Milliam and wife, B. C. Klien, Alexander. Klien, Alexander. Klien, William and wife. Keen, Charles. Kennard, Nelson and wife. Kerr, Alfred. Kern, Alfred. Kennedy, Alex. Knisley, Alvin. Likins, Sarah W. Lindsay, George Lott, Wesley Lott. George and wife. Likins, Alda London branch Loughurst, R. C. and wife. Lore, Ethel. Lonsway, Henry. Lake, Chester. London Sabbath school. Marten, Albert and wife. Marten, Albert and wife. Marten, Richard and	5 00 0 1 0 00 5 00 1 0 00 5 00 1 0 00 5 00 1 0 00 5 00 1 1 0 00 5 00 1 1 0 00 5 0 00 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 0	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena. Jackson, Mary. Judkins, Mary. Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi. Jordan, Herbert M. Jewell, Fanny. Johnson, Jane. Jewell, Fanny. Johnson, Jane. Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, Jane. Klien, Jelizabeth. Johnson, William and wife, B. C.). Klien, Maggie. Klien, Maggie. Klien, John. Klien, William and wife. Kern, Charles. Kennard, Nelson and wife. Kern, Alfred. Kernedy, Alex. Knisley, Alice. Knisley, Alice. Knisley, Alvin. Likins, Sarah W. Lindsay, George Lott, Wesley Lott, George and wife. Likins, Alda. Longhurst, R. C. and wife. Longhurst, R. C. and wife. Longway, Henry Lake, Chester London Sabbath school, Marten, Albert and wife. Marten, Richard and	500 10 000 11 000 15 000 22 000 15 000 11 000 11 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 00	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena. Jackson, Mary. Judkins, Mary. Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi. Jordan, Herbert M. Jewell, Fanny. Johnson, Jane. Jewell, Fanny. Johnson, Jane. Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, Jane. Klien, Jelizabeth. Johnson, William and wife, B. C.). Klien, Maggie. Klien, Maggie. Klien, John. Klien, William and wife. Kern, Charles. Kennard, Nelson and wife. Kern, Alfred. Kernedy, Alex. Knisley, Alice. Knisley, Alice. Knisley, Alvin. Likins, Sarah W. Lindsay, George Lott, Wesley Lott, George and wife. Likins, Alda. Longhurst, R. C. and wife. Longhurst, R. C. and wife. Longway, Henry Lake, Chester London Sabbath school, Marten, Albert and wife. Marten, Richard and	500 10 000 11 000 15 000 22 000 15 000 11 000 11 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 15 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 00	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena. Jackson, Mary. Judkins, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi. Jordan, Herbert M. Jewell, Fanny Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, William and wife, B. C.). Klien, Maggie. Klien, Maggie. Klien, Maggie. Klien, John Klien, William and wife. Kern, Alfred Kern, Alfred Kernedy, Alex Knisley, Alvin Likins, Sarah W. Lindsay, George Lott, Wesley Lott. George and wife Likins, Alda London branch Longhurst, R. C. and wife Lore, Ethel. Lonsway, Henry Lake, Chester London Sabbath school Marten, Albert and wife Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Sarah	500 10 000 11 000 15 25 500 10 000 15 99 5 500 10 000 15 525 000 15 525 000 10 000 15 525 000 10 000 15 525 000 10 000 15 525 000 10 000 15 525 000 10 000 15 525 000 10 000 15 525 000 10 000 15 525 000 10 000 15 525 000 10 000 15 525 000 10 000 15 525 000 10 000 15 525 000 10 000 10 52 000 10 000 10 52 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10 000 10	Steade, Henry and wife	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, Herbert M. Johnson, Jane. Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, Jane. Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Klien, Maggie. Klien, Alexander. Klien, Alexander. Klien, Alexander. Klien, William and wife. Keen, Charles. Kennard, Nelson and wife Kern, Alfred. Kennedy, Alex Knisley, Alvin. Likins, Sarah W. Lindsay, George Lott, Wesley Lott, George and wife. Likins, Alda London branch Longhurst, R. C. and wife Lore, Ethel Lonsway, Henry Lake, Chester London Sabbath school, Marten, Richard and wife Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Walter Masonville branch Moore, Annie	500 31 88 82 200 11 000 1 1 000 2 75 25 2 700 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 1 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 1 000 5 000 1 000 5 000 1 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 1 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5	Steade, Henry and wife. $23 35 Steade, John and wife. 100 00 Steade, Walter. 7 00 Shields, John 2 00 Timbrell, Frederick J. 1 50 Thriag, Kesley 3 50 Thrings, Wesley 3 50 Timbrell, Clara 10 00 Taylor, Bethia 4 00 Timbrell, Clara 10 00 Taylor, Bethia 4 00 Taylor, Jacob and wife. 10 00 Taylor, Jacob and wife. 10 00 Taylor, Jacob and wife. 10 00 Taylor, Jacob and wife. 10 00 Taylor, Jacob and wife. 10 00 Taylor, Jacob and wife. 10 00 Taylor, Jacob and wife. 10 00 Taylor, Jacob and wife. 10 00 Trarzwell, Robert and wife 15 00 Trarzwell, Robert and wife. 10 00 Trarzwell, Robert and wife. 10 00 Tomlinson, Lizzie 1 00 Vanessa branch 15 00 Vanessa branch 15 00 Vanessa branch 15 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M 2 00	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Jondan, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Jodkins, Levi Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jewell, Fanny Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, William and wife, B. C.). Klien, Maggie Klien, Alexander Klien, Alexander Klien, William and wife, Keen, Charles Kennard, Nelson and wife Kern, Alfred Kennedy, Alex Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alvi Likins, Sarah W. Lindsay, George Lott, Wesley Lott, Wesley Lott, George and wife Likins, Alda London branch Loughurst, R. C. and wife Lore, Ethel. Lonsway, Henry Lake, Chester London Sabbath school Marten, Albert and wife Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Walter Masonville branch Moore, Annie Metcalf, Julia Madge, Richard and	500 31 88 2 000 1 000 1 000 2 75 2 00 2 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 1 000 5 00 5	Steade, Henry and wife. $23 35 Steade, John and wife. 100 00 Steade, Walter. 7 00 Shields, John 2 00 Timbrell, Frederick J. 1 50 Thriag, Edward. 10 00 Thrings, Wesley. 3 50 Timbrell, Prederick J. 1 50 Thriag, Edward. 10 00 Thring, Wesley. 3 50 Timbrell, Clara. 10 00 Taylor, Bethia. 10 00 Taylor, Bethia. 10 00 Taylor, Jacob and wife. 10 00 Taylor, Jacob and wife. 10 00 Tarzwell, Robert and wife 15 00 Tarzwell, Robert and wife 15 00 Tombinson, Martha. 2 00 Tombinson, Lizzie. 1 00 Vanessa branch. 15 00 Vanessa branch. 15 00 Vasbinder, John and wife. 10 00 Wilson, Gertie. 2 00 Wilson, Gertie. 2 00 Wilson, Ida M. 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M. 5 00 Wilson, Ida M. 2 00 Whitney, Fanny. 20 00 Wilson, Fanny. 20 00 Wilson, Fanny. 20 00 Willing, Bro. 25 00 Wilson, Fanny. 20 00 Wilson, Fanny. 20 00 Wilson, George, Sr. 5 00 Wilson, Samuel and wife. 60 00 Warren, George, Sr. 5 00 Wilson, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, George, Sr. 5 00 Wilson, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, George, Sr. 5 00 Wilson, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, George, Jr. 75 Whitworth, Ethel May. 10 Wilson, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Yerks, Percy. 6 00 Yerks, Percy. 6 00 Yerks, Mathias. 15 00 Total. $5,209 47	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Jondan, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Jodkins, Levi Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jewell, Fanny Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, Jane Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, William and wife, B. C.). Klien, Maggie Klien, Alexander Klien, Alexander Klien, William and wife, Keen, Charles Kennard, Nelson and wife Kern, Alfred Kennedy, Alex Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alice Knisley, Alvi Likins, Sarah W. Lindsay, George Lott, Wesley Lott, Wesley Lott, George and wife Likins, Alda London branch Loughurst, R. C. and wife Lore, Ethel. Lonsway, Henry Lake, Chester London Sabbath school Marten, Albert and wife Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Walter Masonville branch Moore, Annie Metcalf, Julia Madge, Richard and	500 31 88 2 000 1 000 1 000 2 75 2 00 2 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 5 00 1 000 5 00 5	Steade, Henry and wife. $23 35 Steade, John and wife. 100 00 Steade, Walter. 7 00 Shields, John 2 00 Timbrell, Frederick J. 1 50 Thriag, Edward. 10 00 Thrings, Wesley. 3 50 Timbrell, Prederick J. 1 50 Thriag, Edward. 10 00 Thring, Wesley. 3 50 Timbrell, Clara. 10 00 Taylor, Bethia. 10 00 Taylor, Bethia. 10 00 Taylor, Jacob and wife. 10 00 Taylor, Jacob and wife. 10 00 Tarzwell, Robert and wife 15 00 Tarzwell, Robert and wife 15 00 Tombinson, Martha. 2 00 Tombinson, Lizzie. 1 00 Vanessa branch. 15 00 Vanessa branch. 15 00 Vasbinder, John and wife. 10 00 Wilson, Gertie. 2 00 Wilson, Gertie. 2 00 Wilson, Ida M. 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M. 5 00 Wilson, Ida M. 2 00 Whitney, Fanny. 20 00 Wilson, Fanny. 20 00 Wilson, Fanny. 20 00 Willing, Bro. 25 00 Wilson, Fanny. 20 00 Wilson, Fanny. 20 00 Wilson, George, Sr. 5 00 Wilson, Samuel and wife. 60 00 Warren, George, Sr. 5 00 Wilson, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, George, Sr. 5 00 Wilson, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, George, Sr. 5 00 Wilson, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, George, Jr. 75 Whitworth, Ethel May. 10 Wilson, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Yerks, Percy. 6 00 Yerks, Percy. 6 00 Yerks, Mathias. 15 00 Total. $5,209 47	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, Herbert M. Johnson, Jane. Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, Jane. Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Klien, Maggie. Klien, Alexander. Klien, Alexander. Klien, Alexander. Klien, William and wife. Keen, Charles. Kennard, Nelson and wife. Kennard, Nelson and wife. Knisley, Alice. Knisley, Alice. Knisley, Alice. Knisley, Alice. Knisley, Alice. Knisley, Alice. Knisley, Alice. Lott, George and wife. Likins, Sarah W. Lindsav, George Lott, Wesley Lott, George and wife. Lore, Ethel. London Sabbath school, Marten, Richard and wife. Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Walter Masonville branch Moore, Annie. Metcalf, Julia Madge, Richard and wife. Moore, Annie. Metcalf, Julia Madge, Richard and wife. Michell, Lena Morrison, David.	500 31 88 2 000 1 000 1 000 2 75 2 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 1 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 1 000 5 000 5 000 1 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 0	Steade, Henry and wife. $23 35 Steade, John and wife. $10 00 Steade, Walter. 7 00 Shields, John. 2 00 Timbrell, Frederick J. 1 50 Thriag, Edward. 10 00 Thrings, Wesley. 3 50 Timbrell, Clara. 10 00 Thring, Wesley. 3 50 Timbrell, Clara. 10 00 Taylor, Bethia. 4 00 Timbrell, Clara. 10 00 Taylor, Jacob and wife. 10 00 Taylor, Jacob and wife. 10 00 Taylor, Jacob and wife. 10 00 Tarzwell, Robert and wife 15 00 Tarzwell, Robert and wife. 10 00 Trarzwell, Robert and wife. 10 00 Tomlinson, Martha. 2 00 Tomlinson, Lizzie. 1 00 Vanessa branch. 15 00 Vanessa branch. 15 00 Vanessa branch. 15 00 Wilson, Gertie. 2 00 Wilson, Gertie. 2 00 Wilson, Ida M. 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M. 5 00 Wilson, Ida M. 2 00 Whitney, Clara A. M. 5 00 Wilson, Hany. 2 00 Wilson, Hany. 2 00 Willing, Bro. 25 00 Willing, Bro. 25 00 Willing, Bro. 25 00 Wilson, Martha. 2 00 Whitehead, Sr. William. 1 00 Whitehead, Robert. 2 00 Wunsch, Elijah. 1 00 Whitehead, Robert. 2 00 Warren, George, Sr. 5 00 Walson, Martha. 65 Whitworth, George, Jr. 75 Whitworth, Ethel May. 10 Wilson, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, George, Sr. 5 00 Wilson, Martha. 5 00 Warren, George, Sr. 5 00 Wilson, Martha. 5 00 Warren, George, Sr. 5 00 Wilson, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, George, Sr. 5 00 Wilson, Martha. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel and wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel And wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel And wife. 5 00 Warren, Samuel And wife. 5 00 Warren, S	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E
1900	Hathaway, May Irvine, T. M. Interest. Jordan, Rosena Jackson, Mary Judkins, Elizabeth. Johnson, William F. Judkins, Levi. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, William F. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, Herbert M. Jordan, Herbert M. Johnson, Jane. Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, Jane. Jaques, Elizabeth. Johnson, William and wife, (B. C.). Klien, Maggie. Klien, Alexander. Klien, Alexander. Klien, Alexander. Klien, William and wife. Keen, Charles. Kennard, Nelson and wife. Kennard, Nelson and wife. Knisley, Alice. Knisley, Alice. Knisley, Alice. Knisley, Alice. Knisley, Alice. Knisley, Alice. Knisley, Alice. Lott, George and wife. Likins, Sarah W. Lindsav, George Lott, Wesley Lott, George and wife. Lore, Ethel. London Sabbath school, Marten, Richard and wife. Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Sarah Morrison, Walter Masonville branch Moore, Annie. Metcalf, Julia Madge, Richard and wife. Moore, Annie. Metcalf, Julia Madge, Richard and wife. Michell, Lena Morrison, David.	500 31 88 2 000 1 000 1 000 2 75 2 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 1 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 1 000 5 000 5 000 1 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 000 5 0	Steade, Henry and wife. $23 35 Steade, John and wife. 100 00 Steade, Walter	Expenditures.  Crumley. Charles	Dobbs, Gomer E

	Expenditures.	Hay, Virginia, t 1 30	UTAH.	Dan Davies, t 9 74	Brott, Mrs. William 3 39
	Bickerton, Tamar$ 21 00	Kelley, E. L., Bishop 75 00	SALT LAKE DISTRICT.	David Thomas, o 4 87 Sr. Eleanor Treharne, t. 6 98	Burr, Martha A 3 00 Ball, Fred M 6 50
	Craig, Sarah J., I220 00	Cittora, italia, commence i oo	Sr. Jane D. Cooper, Agent.	Sisters Treharne, o 3 04 W. P. Cox, t 1 22	Barnes, Jane
	Devore, Ella R., f		Receipts. Due charch January	Penygraig branch, o 3 19	Carpender, S. P216 75 Dutton, O. N
	Ebeling, Minnie, f 12 00 Everts, Mary 5 00	Expenditures.	1, 1900 $ 58 87 A sister (B. B.), t 3 00	Total$ 61 55	Dutton, Julia N
	Grav. Marv 62 00	H. O. Smith	Bondige, Minnie, t 2 00 Chapman, Elijah, t 10 00	Expenditures.	Dutton, Jasper O 1 00
	Kelley, E. L., Bishop 672 85	Sr. Pinson, San Antonio 5 00 O. D. Johnson 1 75	Chapman, Sarah A., t 7 50	A. N. Bishop $ 60 88	Davis, Charles 50 00 Dowse, Richard 2 50
	May, Eliza	Total$91 75	Coleman, Uriah, t 15 00 Carlson, Ellen, t 4 25	Due church 67	Dowse, Ella A
	Shinn, Mrs. D. L., f160 00 Smoley, Martha 20 00	Due church 13 35	Condit, Ida, t	4.	Edgington, Mrs. James, o. 100 Edgington, James and
	McDowell, J. F., e 60 00 Expense 13 30	$105 10	Clark, Myra, t	WEST VIRGINIA.	wife 10 00 Gaylord, C. E 9 00
	Total$1,465 15	NORTHEAST TEXAS AND	A Sister (S. L.), t 5 00 Nilson, Jans, t 8 00	WEST VIRGINIA DIS- TRICT.	Gaylord, Daisy B 1 00 Gregory, Mrs. Knute 1 00
	Due church111 89	CHOCTAW DISTRICT.	Pettit, Ezra, t	B. Beall, Agent.	Hicks, Mrs. L. C., o100 00 Hield, Norman E 19
	SANDWICH IS-	Ellis Short, Agent.	Pettit Addie t 5 00	Due church January 1.	Hadley, Samantha 10 00 Hoague, Mary 10 02
	LANDS.	Receipts.	A sister (A. V.R.), t 53 00 Sandall, Ellen, t 2 50 Smith, Sarah, t 20 00		Hoague, Charles C., Jr 90 Hare, James 600
	SANDWICH ISLAND	Ellis Short$2,721 35 J. H. Butler 10 00	Toombs, James, t 25 00 Wardle, James, t 20 00	Beall, Mary J 1 00 Carpenter, John 50	Johnson, August
	MISSION. G. J. Waller, Agent.	H. L. Dalby 5 00 Maud_Wilson 7 65	Weaver, John, t 20 00 Wilkin, Jane 5 00	Carpenter, Mary E 50 Curus, Martha J 2 00	Jenson, Martha 2 60 Kimball, Walter L 18 65
	Receipts.	Jack Wilson         1 00           T. L. Manning         5 00	Toombs, James, t. 25 00	Cooper, William 75 Cooper, Sarah L 75	Lange, Carl W
	Due church January 1, 1900$200 00	Mrs. D. B. Cleft 3 00 Nellie McLain 2 50		Depue, Jonathan G 2 00 Ferrell, Thomas K 10 00	Ostes Thornton 10.00
	La Moether, James, o 50 Mahuka, Sister, o 75	John Stewart	Expenditures.	Ferrell, Mary	Oakes, Edith 25 Pendleton, J. T 26 40
	Kapuhi, Obeda J., o 1 00 Kanui, James, t 9 00		T TV TOTionht # # #0 00	Ferrell, Ida J 25	Pendleton, Rosella F 4 75 Robinson, J. B 80 00
	Kauhaue, o		Registering letter and	Fishback, Sophia 25 00	Sperry, Ida
	Friends, 0	William Colley 5 00	postage         20           Money order         2 42           Recording deed         95	Givens, Susan	See, Mrs. E. R       1 00         Vail, William       24 56         Woodstock, Charles B       15 00
	Simpson, Sister, o 2 00 Poepoe, Cecilia, o 50	H. T. McLain 20 00	niggins, Sr. Pauline 1 00
	Kaneakua, Sister, o 4 00	Peter Adamson, Sr 10 00 George Phillips 40 00	Wight, 9. W., e 19 00	Girrong Down 9 50	Total
	Mahuka, John, t 9 00 Book of Mormon sale	D. D. Babcock 5 00	Wight, D. W., f	Godbey, Gordon H 3 26	Expenditures.
	Doctrine and Covenants	Z. B. Hogue	Total$262 82	Hoffman, Mary 1 00 Geffries, F. M 1 00	Burr, C. H., e$ 10 00 Burr, C. H., f105 00
	sale account 1 00 Tell, William H., t 15 00	J. L. Jackson	Due church101 15	Kelley, James 1 00 Loyd, Henry J 1 00	McDowell, W. A., f 300 00
	Mahuka, Minnie, t 1 25 Kualaku, Sister, o 1 00	Jack Taylor	VIRGINIA.	McCoy, Phebe 2 00 McEldowney, Mattie 75	Muceus, Peter, e 8 00 Robinson, W. P., f144 00
	Kneipp, Bro, 0 50 Keaeve, Rebekah, 0 3 60	A. L. Newton	NEW HOPE BRANCH.	Osner, Paulina 15 00 Osner, Louisa 15 00	Sawley, F. L., e 10 00 Wildermuth, J. B., e 5 00
	Kalae, Sister, o 1 00 Izenberg, D. P. R., gift. 5 00	Frank Leslie 17 85 Ellis Ford 15 00	Isaac Coffman, Agent.	Odell, Mary 10 00 Russell, Martha 2 00	Wildermuth, E. M., e 2 00 Whiteaker, A. L., f 60 00
	Niau, Maria, o	W. D. Kittner 1 50 Joe Bedwell 1 15	Receipts.	Russell, James B 1 00 Russell, John F 1 00	Postage, post office or- ders, etc 3 84
	Baker, Sister, 0 2 00 Ingham, Ed, t 5 00	L. S. Moore	A brother	Ruby, Charles G 2 00 Smith, Sophia 58 00	Total
	Scholefield, Ethel, t 37 00 Waller, Gilbert J., t 1,000 00	Jessie L. Reed	Maggie S. Coffman 7 00 P. P. Starke 50 00	Smith, Louella	Due church118 09
	Total$1,352 00	Charles Clements 7 00 D. O. Harder 35 00	Katie White 5 00 O. E. Cleveland 2 50	Valentine, Mary 50 Williams, Lucinda 7 00	SOCIETY ISLANDS.
		Earl D. Bailey	Total$89 50	Williams Clara 1 50 Wilson, Isaac B 50	Metuaore, Agent.
	Expenditures. Poepoe, G. K$129 75	A. Phillip 20 00 Rent from Wilburton	Expenditures.	Total $214 91	Receipts.
	Kalae Sr S4 00	church	Postage on remittance 40 J. L. Goodrich 50 00	Expenditures.	From April 6, 1899, to April 6, 1900.
	Wells Comer 100 00	E. A. Erwin 10 00	Hall rent	Godbey, G. H., f$174 26	No report received for manoy, Sr 25 50	James Hervey 1 00		Godbey, G. H., e	two years. 1897 report showed balance due
	Total$619 25 Due church732 75	Scott Goodman 10 00		Goodrich, J. L., e 3 40	Due church April 6.
		Will Carr	WALES.	Leason, John and wife 5 00 Cox, James and wife 10 00	1899 $ 62 10 Money from the Sisters.
	TEXAS.	S. N. Kelso	EASTERN DISTRICT.	Total$214 66	Sisters' Prayer Union of
	NORTHERN DISTRICT.	John E. Towne	Thomas Gould, Agent. Receipts.	Due church 25	the branch Tikahau 5 20 Tupuai 1 30
	A. J. Moore, Agent. Amend, J. H., t$150 00	R. C. Billingley 8 00 T. M. Dood 2 50	Balance due church January 1, 1900$ 8 38	WISCONSIN.	Tithing Money. Keha 1 00
	Shumaker, W. W	T. M. Dood	Morris, George, t 24 35 Ellis, Thomas, t 2 44	NORTHERN DISTRICT.	Pou 10 00
	Nicoll, John E 5 00 Holcombe, Charles C 10 00	Dick Dalby 6 00	Evans, James, t 1 71 Jones, Thomas and	William Hutchinson, Agent. Receipts.	Sisters' Money. Sisters' Prayer Union of
	Giengar, Filley 85 00 Wilcox, G. W 10 00	J. M. McKinney 2 50 Mr. and Mrs J. H. Stevens 6 00	wife, t 22 16 Williams, Edward, Bish-	Ganoe, O. D	the branch Avatoru 7 00 Avatoru 5 40
	Tucker, Julia	James S. Moore 20 00 Total$3,561 84	op's agent Western district 12 18	Heath, Sister 2 00	Tithing Money.
	Larsen, Frank	#Utal	Jones, John, t	Relley, E. L., Bishop110 00 Patent, Anna	Taia
	Total$705 00	Expenditures.	Taylor, Thomas, agent England for Wales 48 70	Meneal. Fremont	Auarii
	Expenditures.	Balance due agent$ 32 02 E. L. Kelley for Inde-	Richan Sr A N a 1 01	Snaver, Emma 5 00	Roo 2 50
	Shennard, Thomas J. e.$ 10.75	pendence church1,500 00	Bishop, Lillie, o 1 01 Bishop, Bessie, o 1 01 Bishop, Moreni o	Shellito, Ziphia	Marutake 4 00 Teahio 1 00
	Hansen, Edward L., e 29 00 Moore, Amos J., e 50 75 Renfroe, B. F., e 20 00	S. W. Simmons290 00 T. J. Sheppard290 00	Bishop, Moroni, o 1 01 Bishop, Thomas, o 1 01		Tefau
	Similar, 11. O., C	T A Trustin 100 00	* Total$168 80		Sisters' Money.
	Hansen, E. L., f	A. J. Cato, a 5 00 Roderick May, for Inde-	Expenditures.	Total$161 50	Sisters of the branch of Manihi 1 00
	Moore, A. J., f	pendence church259 00	Bishop, A. N 7 51 Bishop, A. N., f 116 88	Expenditures. Closson, A. V., e$ 8 50	Gaki
	Total $650 50	M. T. Short	Poor 1 22	Closson, A. V., f	Hiriata 1 00 Tauera 3 00
	Due church54 50	D. Babcock, e	Total$126 45	Total$158 50	Mitihora
	WESTERN DISTRICT.	Poor	Due church 42 35	Due church 3 00	Fareana
	O. D. Johnson, Agent.	Grannis 12 50	WESTERN DISTRICT.	SOUTHERN DISTRICT.	Teupoo
		John Harp	Edward Williams, Agent.	C. C. Hoague, Agent.	Vahinearii 2 80
	1900 $ 18 40 Albright, Etta, t 2 00	Total$3,199 71 Due church 362 13	Receipts.  Due church January	Receipts. Due church January	Sisters' Money. Branch of Tikahau 15 70
٠.	Callahan, Joseph, t 1 20 Edwards, Lizzie, t 2 00	#2 561 Q4			Money from the gather-
	Gifford, George, t 8 00	90,001 84	Evan Lewis, t 19 49	Beitz, Mary J.	Hikueru 11 20
	•	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·

and the second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second s	and the second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second s
Tithing Money.	AUSTRALIA.	Nambucca Branch.	Balmain Branch.	Wallsend Branch.
Teupoo 1 00	SYDNEY DISTRICT.	Allen Argent, t	Maggie Wrigley, t 14 61	George Lewis, t 7 43 W. J. Haworth, t 2 44
Sisters' Money.	John Wright, Agent.	Edward J. Ballard, t 1 22	Bro. Elliott, Sr., t 10 10	Thomas Gregory, t 3 65
Branch of Tarona 6 70	Receipts.	Hamilton Branch.	H. White, Sr , t 5 84 A. A. Ferrett, t 57 59	Ann Gregory, t
Tiputa 2 60	1899 Report.	John Jones, t	Sr. M. McLaughlin, t 2 44	Sr. E. Haworth, t 3 90 C. J. Haworth, t 2 44
Niau 11 20	Due church January 1, 1899$260 20	Johanna Hatch, t 61	Sr. Hendricks, t	Sr. E. Hooper, t 73
Avatoru 70	Wallsend Branch.	Rosina Wallis, t 7 43 W. H. Broadway, t 1 22	Sr. M. Madrers, t 5 48	David Lewis, t
Tithing Money in Avatoru.	George Lewis, t 11 45	Edward Pickering, t 8 04	Sr. F Bagges, Jr., t
Faurae 50	George Wrightson, t 1 46 Sr. E. Rawlins, t 1 95	F. Whaler, t 4 87 Margaret Bramstone, t 22 65	Sr. L. White, t 2 19
Teraiefa 1 00	E. J Haworth, t 3 65	Mary J Pascoe, t 49	Sr. B Bagges, t	Expenditures.  J. Kaler $192 41
Naomi 1 50	W. J. Haworth, t 2 31	Joseph Thomson, t 6 82 W. H. Gammidge, t 2 25	Sr. Watson, t 6 21	G. R. Wells 14 61
Taruia 3 00	Sr. Gregory, t	Elizabeth Birt, t 1 22	F. Haworth, t	W. J Haworth 173 01
Parepare 1 00	Sr. I. Jones, o 1 09	Henry J Jones, t 18	Bro. Hendricks, Sr., t 14 61	money)194 80
Temaumi 50	Sr. E. J. Haworth, t 4 20 Sr. E. Hooper, t 49	Mary Ford, t 2 07 Mary Ann Williams t 1 22	Sr. Goldstone, 0 24 A. Seaberg, t 12 91	J. Kaler 19 48
Tevaea 3 00	R. V. Hooper 73	Grace Imrie, t 9 74	C. Avery, t 6 49	Stamps, exchange, etc 2 55
Mareihau 1 50	Sr. W. J. Haworth, o 49 T. Gregory, t 1 46	Sr Cox, t 5 11 H. Broadway, t 7 31	Bro. Elliott, Jr., t 1 22
Tehono 1 00	Alfred A. Haworth, t 1 58	Zebedee Baker, t 97	Carrie Ferrett, t 1 52 Sr. Rankin, t 8 52
Taaroa 50 Tearai 1 00	Olice, Comment 2 20	Sr A. Wells, t 4 87 Albert Ford, t 73	Annie Madrers, t 61	$888 43
Marae 1 00	Tuncurry Branch.	· · ·	Annie White, t
	J. R. Taylor, t	Total$750 24	A. Brown, t 61	CHNINDAT DISTRICT
Tevaea	Sr. Mather, t 2 44	Expenditures.	Bro. Wilson, t 36 Sr. Dorne, t 1 71	1
	William Maybury, t 2 44 G. Moore, t 4 87	J. Kaler$175 32	-	Receipts.
Sisters' Money.	Sr. Magennis, t 2 44	G. R. Wells170 45	Hamilton Branch.	Schuster, C. A 6 00
Tubuai		W. J. Haworth 97 89	Charles Davis, t 1 83 W. H. Broadway, t 1 95
Offerings of the children. 8 30	Scattered Members.		W. H. Broadway, t 1 95 Ed Pickering, t 2 44	Stephens, Annie L 1 25
Total $231 00	1	Total	Z-bedee Baker, t 49
10181 $231 00	Balmain Branch,		Francis Whaler, t 7 91 Margaret Bramston, t 22 40
TB	John Kaler, t 9 74	$750 24	Rosina Wallace, t 6 33	McAllister, D. A 2 30
Expenditures.	Sr. Madrers, Sr., t 2 44		Joseph Thompson, t 4 14 W. H. Gammidge, t 5 56
John Hawkins$ 11 00	Sr. J. Kaler, t	[Received too late to be in-	W. H. Gammidge, t 5 56 Eliza Morley, t 49	Hay, Sam R 10 00
	Sr. M. A. McNeil, o 4 87	cluded in summarized report.]	Mary Ann Williams, t 1 22
Writing paper for confer-	Marie Madrers, t 3 29	SYDNEY DISTRICT.	Grace Imrie, t 14 61 John Jones, t 4 14	Schuster, C. A 3 00
J. W. Peterson 45 00	Sr. Hendricks, t 4 87 Richard Ellis, t 12 18		James Potter, t 41 64	Schuster, M. V., Sr 2 00
Ioane Purahui 14 90	F. Haworth, t 1 58	Dogginte	Elizabeth Birt, t 2 44 James Corniels, t 7 31
Missionary house in Ta-	Rosa Madrers, t 6 09 S. Robinson, t 06		Alfred Haworth, t 4 87	Nunley, J. M 2 40
rona — chair, window curtains.lumber for ceil-	Bro. Madrers, Sr., t 9 74	1900	Thomas Frost, t 2 44 M. J. Pascoe, t 2 44
ing and for making a	Alfred Elliott, t 13 39 Edna Kaler, t 61		Sr. Marriott, t	Tra lounge	Elma Kaler, t 24	Robert Mather, t 12 42	Alfred Ford, t 1 25
Lili (Peterson) 30 30	Lillie White, t 1 05	A. Colvin, t 9 74 A. and G. Parker, t 7 91	David Lewis, t
Anetoni 2 00		L. Anderson, t 3 17		Nunley, E. W., f.,$110 00
Total$231 20	Alex. Seaberg, t 13 64	W. Maybury, t 14 61	Nambucca Branch.	Bryan, J. W , f 30 00
Due agent 20	Bro Madrers, t 4 87	J. R. Taylor, t	C. A. Loving, t
$231 00	Lizzie Haworth, t 1 83	John Wright, t 48 70	M. J. Ballard, t 4 87	Due church 2 00
	A Saint, t 2 80	C. H. Ivers, t 17 05	Lmma Argent, Sr., t 24 35	9
		The second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second second secon

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES OF ELDERS, FOR YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1900.

Tenomit ID Will In	ALEMANDILU.	TO CREGGE	TATALITATION	79 11 17 11 11 11 11 11	CALL STAINE	ORNER ORIGINAL	THE ST.	000.
Names.	Bal due Ja Church.	n. 1, 1900 Elder.	Individual Receipts.	Rec. from Bps. & Agts.	Total Receipts.	Total Expenditures.	Balanc Church.	e due. Elder.
Adams, J. W.	$	27 76	$ 90 52	$ 67 45	$157 97	$130 21
Allen, Arthur		3 13	103 95	13 14	117 09	113 96
Allen, S. D.			1 25		1 25		1 25
Allen, D. L.			51 10	15 00	66 10	60 60	5 50
Albertson, Charles			3 00		3 00	181 40		178 40
Ames, J. N.			27 62		27 62	28 07		45
Anderson, David A.		2 50	71 40	80 00	151 40	240 00		91 10
Anderson, Peter		5 83	89 65	- 51 00	140 65	139 76		4 94
Aylor, W. M.			. 12 50	38 95	51 45	51 45
Babcock, D. D., (Furn	ished by him	self $3.45	33 70	1 00	38 15	38 15
Baggerly, I. P.	-		35 44	50 76	86 20	86 20
Baggerly, J. M.
Bailey, J. J.			6 75		6 75	6 75
Bailey, O. H.			30 97	39 37	70 34	70 34
Baker, A. M.			16 46	36 00	$52\ 46$	52 35	11
Baker, J. M.			11 00	$43 \ 42$	54 42	$54 \ 42$
Baldwin, D. R.
Baldwin, Richard			31 69	10 00	41 69	44 10		2 41
Barmore, A. C.	10 75		107 24	33 20	151 19	175 09		$23 \ 90$
Barr, Andrew			7 80		7 80	43 07		35 27
Beatty, T. J.			14 75	53 84	68 59	68 59
Belkham, C. F.
Beckley, J. R.		37	40 96	$34 \ 36$	75 32	74 95
Beebe, G. W., Jr.		2 21	28 67	28 50	57 17	76 11	-	21 15
Bell, T. J.	72		35 50	57 00	$93\ 22$	60 28	32 94
Belville, H. W.		10 65	28 90	3 00	31 90	32 18		10 93
Berve, Amos			10 62	12 60	23 22	23 22
Biggs, Joseph		40	.0.00		10.00	10.10		40
Bishop, A. N.			48 98	FO 00	48 98	48 46	52
Blair, F. B.		6 25	200 45	50 00	250 45	244 20
Blanchard, W. W.		69 24	103 90	105 00	208 90	208 90		69 24
Bond, M. H.			27 02	90 00	117 02	181 46		64 44
Booker, W. J.			14.00		14.00	14.00
Booker, W. L.		-16\	14 20		14 20	14 20
Boswell, J. J., (Furnis		en)			74 49	74 49	70.00
Briggs, E. C.	72 09				72 09		72 09
Broadway, W. H.		9 54						0.74
Brown, Samuel		3 54		18				3 54

Names.	Bal. due Jan. 1, 1900 Church Elder.	Individual Receipts.	Rec. from Bps. & Agts.	Total Receipts.	Total Expenditures.	Bala Church	nce due. . Elder.
Bryan, J. W. Bullard, R.		17 35	36 205 26	17 71 205 26	14 35 205 26	3 36
Burr, C. H. Burton, J. F.	6 27	81 74 245 00	50 00 73 85	131 74 318 85	142 59 345 60		17 12 26 75
Butterworth, C. A. Butterworth, C. E.	5 88 1 00	58 44 57 69	11 55	64 32 69 24			3 16
Brown, J. M. Caffall, James	20 52	2 00 82 69	10 00 28 00	$12 00 \\ 131 21$	$12 00 \\ 114 22$	16 99
Campbell, Duncan Carlson, C. J.	04 51 00	37 30 49 30	41 31 56 00	78 61 105 30	78 57 83 30	20 00	29 00
Carpenter, J. A. Carpenter, C. I.	$\begin{array}{c} 25 & 00 \\ 4 & 67 \end{array}$	1 50	4 67	1 50 4 67	29 00		52 50
Case, Hubert Case, Oscar	3 26	$\frac{48}{24} \frac{10}{90}$	32 00 34 00	80 10 58 90	81 65 73 39		4 81 14 49
Chambers, D. R. Chase, A. M.		40 00 285 50	31 00 65 52	$71 00 \\ 351 02$	52 81 351 12	18 19	10
Chatburn, T. W. Chatburn, Frank J.	29 80 3 83	78 75 27 85	65 00 7 00	173 55 38 68	174 35 39 99		80 1 31
Clapp, J. C. Closson, A. V.	32 73	20 55 22 13	105 26 36 54	125 81 58 67	92 33 58 67	75	,
Compton, Ed N. Condit, S. D.	$\begin{array}{c} 3 \ 71 \\ 44 \ 43 \end{array}$	28 52 84 05	3 00 10 00	$   \begin{array}{ccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccc$	29 46 89 48		$\frac{1}{39} \frac{65}{86}$
Cooper, F. M. Cornish, J. J.		54 20	53 00 81 69	107 20 81 69	84 80 81 69	22 40	00 00
Corthell, Earl Crabb, J. C.		2 80 50 01	9 00 55 13	11 80 105 14	13 45 105 14		1 65
Craig, James Crawley, D. S.	8 75	59 40	41 75	101 15	107 05		14 65
Crumley, C. E. Cunningham, S. G.		$   \begin{array}{ccc}     56 & 75 \\     21 & 07   \end{array} $	$\begin{array}{ccc} 22 & 50 \\ 12 & 65 \end{array}$	$\frac{79}{33} \frac{25}{72}$	$82 \ 30 \ 34 \ 18$		$\begin{array}{ccc} 3 & 05 \\ & 46 \end{array}$
Curtis, J. F. Cushman, S. F.		16 70 23 90	52 33 27 00	69 03 50 90	69 03 48 55	2 35
Daley, Thomas Dana, R. R.	36 41 31 66	70 25 104 95	80 00 42 00	186 66 146 95	183 39 144 83	3 27	29 54
Davis, E. A. Davis, John	8 61	30 21 65 30	15 00 55 00	45 21 123 45	41 25 117 23	6 22	4 65
Davis, J. Alfred Davis, J. Arthur	37 92 2 25	28 79 30 32	38 80 23 00	67 59 53 32	67 24 46 71	4 36	37 57
Davis, J. T. Davis, R. W.	30 49 30 37	27 60 27 56	64 00 35 00	$   \begin{array}{ccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccc$	106 98 92 88		45 87 60 69
Davis, William Davison, H. J.	9 16	$\frac{50}{30}$ $\frac{79}{141}$ $\frac{1}{44}$	16 81 55 00	$\begin{array}{c} 47 & 60 \\ 199 & 29 \end{array}$	38 44 194 39	4 90	,00
Derry, Charles Devore, L. R.	$\tilde{5}$ $\tilde{00}$	78 90 59 62	14 73 5 00	98 63 64 62	97 63 60 62	1 00 4 00
Duncan, C. R. Durand, E. H.		41 30 20 10	91 00 12 00	$132\ 30$ $32\ 10$	129 29 39 50	3 01	7 40
Ebeling, F. J. Ellis, W. D.	29 81 9 82	15 55 62 99	45 00 38 87	90 36 111 68	49 44 111 68	40 92
Elvin, B. M. Erwin, J. D.	9 58	81 15	40 44 40 00	$121 59 \\ 40 00$	112 01 40 00
Erwin, E. A. Enge, N. C., (Scandina)	vian mission)	11 40 1 71	207 60	$11 40 \\ 209 31$	11 20 206 65	20 2 66
Etzenhouser, R. Evans, John R.	18 17 61	141 50 30 86	$\frac{40}{33} \frac{00}{00}$	199 67 63 86	189 94 41 94	$973 \\ 2131$
Evans, R. C. Enge, N. C., (Washingt	2 57	67 08 28 00	$\begin{array}{ccc} 212 & 60 \\ 29 & 98 \end{array}$	282 25 57 98	$\begin{array}{ccc} 280 & 05 \\ 57 & 02 \end{array}$	$\begin{array}{cc} 2 & 20 \\ 96 \end{array}$
Forscutt, M. H. Foss, J. C.	1 05 98 91	50 67	35 00	1 05 85 67	123 45	1 05	136 69
Foss, S. O. Fyrando, A. M.		85 17	60 00	145 17	140 17	5 00
Fry, Charles Gamet, Levi		28 15	12 41	40 56	40 56
Gibson, William Godbey, G. H.	19 70 14 02	$\frac{20\ 00}{38\ 49}$	$\begin{array}{c} 7 & 00 \\ 69 & 00 \end{array}$	$\begin{array}{cc} 27 & 00 \\ 121 & 51 \end{array}$	$\begin{array}{ccc} 25 & 00 \\ 113 & 25 \end{array}$	8 26	17 70
Goodenough, E. J. Goodrich, J. L.	12 47	19 25 48 03	15 00 70 40	34 25 130 90	$ \begin{array}{ccc} 80 & 82 \\ 127 & 99 \end{array} $	2 91	46 57
Goodrich, V. M. Goodwin, E. A.		10 15 28 60	29 75 91 15	$\begin{array}{c} 39 \ 90 \\ 119 \ 75 \end{array}$	39 90 98 75	21 00
Gowell, M. F. Grant J. A.	15 44 36 33	48 05 83 58	52 00 47 33	115 49 130 91	111 39 125 61	4 10	31 03
Granger, Francis Graves, Geo. H.	1 83 5 14	11 25 64 17	30 00 15 00	$\frac{43}{79} \frac{08}{17}$	$\begin{array}{cc} 37 & 20 \\ 74 & 03 \end{array}$	5 88
Gray, S. N. Green, George	4 66	40 90	25 00	65 90	75 65	97 47	14 41
Greene, U. W. Gregory, Frederick	1 13 63	77 25 46 98	271 00 115 00	349 38 161 98	321 91 135 85	27 47 25 50
Griffiths, Gomer T. Gurwell, L. G.	12 30 69 54	75 24 21 10	118 00 95 01	205 54 116 11	203 49 46 57	2 05
Gould, Leon A. Hackett, J. C.	4.00	73 51	40 00	113 51	110 65	2 86
Haden, W. E. Hand, C. E. Hansen, H. N	2 25	10 00 27 91 21 80	31 04	41 04 27 91 44 11	35 34 56 85 44 11	1 70	28 94
Hansen, H. N. Hanson, A. B., furnishe			21 64	56 29	48 09	8 20
Hanson, John E. Hanson, M. P. Hanson, Paul M		26 95		26 95	26 95
Hanson, Paul M. Harris, D. L. Haworth, Walter J.	7 26 11 20	123 90 69 59	42 50	166 40 69 59	20 95 202 57 71 94		43 43 13 55
Hay, S. R.	11 20	09 59		. งง ยช	DA UZ

	D 1 1 7 -	1000	7	D 4	Pra . 3	FD 4 3
Names.	Bal. due Jan. 1 Chürch. El	, 1900. der.	Individual Receipts.	Rec. from Bps. & Agts.	Total Receipts.	Total Expenditures.	Balance Church	e due. Elder.
Hayer, Eli	1	7 77	46 42	75 54	121 96	104 19
Henson, J. F.		42						42
Henson, E. L. Hills, L. E.			$\begin{array}{ccc} 4 & 75 \\ 1 & 00 \end{array}$	$\begin{array}{cccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccc$	$\begin{array}{c} 37 & 71 \\ 4 & 75 \end{array}$	$\begin{array}{ccc} 36 & 00 \\ 4 & 75 \end{array}$	1 71
Hodson, W. S.		59	1 00	0 .0	1 00	41
Holt, Hiram L.	47 63	0.50	98 95	94 42	241 00	222 00	19 00
Houghton, L, furn. by Howlett, R. B.	self \$24 77 1	3 53	63 71 77 05	$\begin{array}{c} 10 \ 00 \\ 6 \ 00 \end{array}$	$\frac{98}{83} \frac{48}{05}$	$\begin{array}{cc} 84 & 95 \\ 73 & 05 \end{array}$	10 00
Hudgens, J. W.			11 00	0 00	00 00	10 00	10 00
Hugill, R. W.			00.40		# O !!! O O	# 4 Om
Hunt, C. J. Haws, Albert	Đ	3 79	$\begin{array}{ccc} 20 & 40 \\ 13 & 50 \end{array}$	87 46 7 90	107 86 21 40	$\begin{array}{c} 54 \ 07 \\ 21 \ 40 \end{array}$
Irwin, Chas. E.			13 55	20 00	33.55	47 88		14 33
Jackson, J. W.			5 00		5 00	5 00
Jeffers, S. J. Jenkins, George	T	5 23	6 65	74 84	81 49	87 64		21 38
Jenkins, J. D.	52	0 20	0 00		52	0, 01	52	- L 00
Johnson, L. F.	4 80		19 40	22 00	46 20	39 00	7 20
Karahoo, Noah Kaler, John	9	5 27	$\begin{array}{c} 75 \\ 18 67 \end{array}$	10 15 19 50	$\frac{10}{38} \frac{90}{17}$	10 90 38 17		35 27
Keck, A J.	1 39		96 82	6 00	104 21	101 43	2 78	00 2.
Keck, F. C.	2 00	9.60	90 40	37 05	129 45	115 15	14 30	19.05
Keeler, E. Kelley, T. C.		3 60 0 06	58 35 97 79	$\begin{array}{cc} 25 & 00 \\ 52 & 99 \end{array}$	83 35 150 78	93 60 110 09	30 63	13 85
Kellev, W. H.	1	0 00	62 90	329 95	392 85	346 85	36 00
Kelley, W. H., Indian	4 90		7 15 64 80	36 75 5 00	$\frac{43}{74} \frac{90}{00}$	43 90 74 00
Kemp, Henry Kent, A.	4 20	4 78	15 00	68 74	83 74	28 96
Kephart, W. H.		472	27 45	52 85	80 30	75 58
Lake, John H.		5 22	56 81 45 41	84 00 49 92	140 81 95 33	$ \begin{array}{ccc} 130 & 71 \\ 95 & 33 \end{array} $	4 88
Lambert, Joseph R. LaRue, W. E.			11 19	35 16	46 35	46 35
Layland, A. J.			1 70	15 00	16 70	16 70
Leaverton, Arthur
Longhurst, R. C. Love, S. D.			6 85	27 27	34 12	34 12
Luff, Joseph	10.00		04 50		400 50	145.05	F0 0F
McDowell, J. F. McDowell, W. A.	$\begin{array}{c} 18 \ 00 \\ 53 \end{array}$		84 70 50 57	$\begin{array}{cccc} 97 & 00 \\ 39 & 32 \end{array}$	$19970 \\ 9042$	$\begin{array}{cccc} 143 & 05 \\ 90 & 42 \end{array}$	56 65
McKiernan, James	50		58 10	30 20	88 30	88 30
MacGregor, Daniel		6 11	184 76	30 00	214 76	211 83		3 18
Macrae, W. S. Maloney, R. M.		5 91 3 22	$\begin{array}{ccc} 72 & 95 \\ 24 & 40 \end{array}$	$\frac{38}{75} \frac{25}{00}$	$ \begin{array}{ccc} 111 & 20 \\ 99 & 40 \end{array} $	109 25 120 36		$\begin{array}{c} 3 \ 96 \\ 64 \ 18 \end{array}$
Mannering, W. H.		3 25	24 40	73 77	98 17	98 17		53 25
Marshall, W. C.			20 00	76 85	96 85	74 85	22 00
May, Roderick Mintun, J. F.		3 73	82 59	$\frac{49}{11} \frac{65}{71}$	$\frac{49}{94} \frac{65}{30}$	$\frac{49}{80} \frac{65}{57}$
Moler, H. E.		4 87	74 01	31 43	105 44	100 57
Moler, James	5 11		41 00	26 80	72 91	72 91	9.00
Montague, George Moore, A. B.	$\begin{array}{ccc} 6 & 53 \\ 26 & 80 \end{array}$		5 25 6 00	14 20	11 78 47 00	$\begin{array}{c} 7.80 \\ 47.00 \end{array}$	3 98
Moore, A. J.				50 75	50 75	50 75
Morgan, J. W.	15		$\begin{array}{c} 43\ 15 \\ 26\ 42 \end{array}$	35 00 66 00	78 15 92 57	$62\ 75$ $83\ 45$	15 40 9 12
Mortimer, A. E. Mortimer, J. L.	10		76 35	20 00	96 35	97 20	9 12	. 85
Muceus, Peter	4 56		44 11	37 26	85 93	85 93
Newton, Wm., furn. by Nunley, E.W.	7 self \$277 92 13	82 14	$\begin{array}{c} 13 & 92 \\ 9 & 15 \end{array}$	20 00	311 84	$\begin{array}{c} 129\ 70 \\ 9\ 15 \end{array}$
Omans, F. D.			17 50	9 00	26 50	27 58		1 08
Parker, R. J.	0.40	1 55	34 05	23 65	57 70	56 15	1.05
Parsons, A. H. Payne, S. D.	$\begin{smallmatrix}9&49\\2&71\end{smallmatrix}$		57 00 31 80	$\begin{array}{c} 127 \ 00 \\ 40 \ 00 \end{array}$	$193 49 \\ 74 51$	$191 54 \\ 75 31$	1 95	80
Peak, W. E.	7 53		37 42	$90\ 25$	135 20	162 48		27 28
Pender, W. S.	8 63		$\begin{array}{cc} 43 & 25 \\ 167 & 75 \end{array}$	120 00	171 88	166 88	5 00 51 05
Peterson, J. W. Phillips, A. B.	18 50	1 09	124 85	$\begin{array}{c} 29 & 65 \\ 119 & 00 \end{array}$	215 90 243 85	164 85 258 59	51 05	15 83
Phillips, T. A.			23 60	32 00	55 60	55 60
Pierce, F. J., furnishe	d by himself \$	18 25 11 19	$\begin{array}{c} 8 & 48 \\ 220 & 01 \end{array}$	$\begin{array}{ccc} 22 & 40 \\ 88 & 59 \end{array}$	49 13 308 60	$\begin{array}{c} 49\ 13 \\ 320\ 31 \end{array}$		22 90
Pitt, F. G. Porter, C. H.		41 07	63 45	77 92	141 37	100 30		# 1 00
Prettyman, C. W.			11 50	4 15	15 65	15 65
Quick, Lee Rank, J. R			2 50	18 00	20 50	20 50
Renfroe, B. F.			2 50	60 00	62 50	119 05		56 55
Reese, Gomer			7 50		7 50	63 08		55 58
Robinson, H. H. Robley, George W.			8 15 65 98	139 34	8 15 205 32	$\begin{array}{c} 8 \ 15 \\ 183 \ 66 \end{array}$	21 66
Roth, John S.		54 36	80 90		80 90	81 45		54 91
Roush, J. B.		12 40	$\begin{array}{ccc} 65 & 30 \\ 10 & 22 \end{array}$	$\begin{array}{ccc} 26 & 45 \\ 25 & 00 \end{array}$	91 75 35 22	74 35 36 17	5 00	95
Rhoads, W. H. Rich, Calvin H.			$\begin{array}{c} 10 & 22 \\ 13 & 02 \end{array}$	20 00	33 02	21 12	11 90
Riley, J. T.			67		67	29 40		28 73
Robinson, Bradbury			11 00	47 00	58 00	43 70	14 30
Roach, W. T. Rudd, D. M.	3 19		69 43	41 00	113 62	110 02	3 60
Rumel, W. M.
Rushton, J. W. Russell, F. A.		11 45	129 54 120 30	21 98	129 54 142 28	127 90 130 83	1 64
Roberts, I. N.		11	50 25	105 35	155 60	140 87	14 62
Robinson, W. P.			13 60	9 45	23 05	23 05
			A	*

=
	Names.	Bal. due Church	Jan. 1, 1900 Elder.	Individual Receipts.	Rec. from Bps. & Agts.	Total Receipts.	Total Expenditures.		ice due. . Elder.
	St. John, Benjamin		26 39		72 42	107 25	94 91		14 05
	St. John, Benjamin Sawley, F. L. Schreur, John		2 50	17 36 19 73	69 50 5 00	$\begin{array}{c} 86 & 86 \\ 24 & 73 \end{array}$	$84\ 36$ $44\ 04$		19-31
	Scott, Columbus Scott, J. M.	18 18		119 72	100 57 37 00	238 47	238 47
	Scott, M. R., Jr.	2 21		19 00 18 70	65 00	56 00 85 91	$   \begin{array}{ccc}     56 & 00 \\     137 & 45   \end{array} $		51 45
	Scott, S. M. Scott, S. W. L.	41 66		75 35 30	11 56 107 18	12 31 184 14	12 31 122 98	61 16
	Self, W. M.		6 79	36 34	19 50	55 84	49 05	. OT 10
	Shields, John Shinn, D. L.	1 55 45 43		$\begin{array}{ccc} 92 & 39 \\ 6 & 35 \end{array}$	$\frac{10}{20} \frac{00}{00}$	$10394 \\ 7178$	94 14 9 75	$\begin{array}{c}9 \ 80 \\ 62 \ 03\end{array}$
	Sheehy, F. M.	10 10	46 12	59 10	144 06	203 16	157 04
	Sheldon, T. J. Sheppard, T. J.		20 30	62 98	81 00	143 98	153 81		9 83 20 30
	Sheppard, 1. J. Short, M. T. Silvers, A. C. Simmons, S. W. Slover, F. M.	10.01		0.00	F4 40	. #4 00	Pr 1 00		4.00
	Silvers, A. C. Simmons, S. W.	13 61 15 25		3 20 95 90	54 19 47 00	71 00 158 15	$71 00 \\ 152 42$	5 73
	Slover, F. M.		9 34	60 71	65 OO	60 71	70 20		18 83
	Smart, W. H. Smith, A. H., Patriarch		18 80	20 00 444 25	$65 00 \\ 116 65$	85 00 560 90	$\begin{array}{cc} 85 & 00 \\ 465 & 25 \end{array}$	76 85
	Smith, David Smith, Elbert A.		7 70	51 65 21 75	$\frac{4}{55} \frac{00}{00}$	55 65 76 75	56 11 111 63		$\begin{array}{c} 8 \ 16 \\ 34 \ 88 \end{array}$
		1 90		108 11	25 00	135 01	126 24	8 77
	Smith, F. C.		1 54 1 41	43 95 8 25	$\begin{array}{ccc} 35 & 00 \\ 69 & 50 \end{array}$	78 95 77 75	$\begin{array}{c} 77 & 34 \\ 77 & 16 \end{array}$	07	82
	Smith, Heman C.		972	47 87	137 94	185 81	176 09		04
	Smith, Henry C.		77 99	6 69 135 21	285 80 47 05	$ \begin{array}{cccc} 292 & 49 \\ 182 & 26 \end{array} $	$199 50 \\ 182 26$	15 00	•
	Smith, Isaac M.	15 00		124 40		139 40	125 40	14 00
	Smith, S. S.	5 00	4 41	$   \begin{array}{cccc}     28 & 94 \\     27 & 45   \end{array} $	46 94 40 20	80 88 67 65	80 88 63 24
	Smith, F. A. Smith, F. C. Smith, George A. Smith, Heman C. Smith, Hyrum O. Smith, Isaac M. Smith, John Smith, S. S. Smith, W. A. Smith, W. A. Smith, W. R.		46 41	27 36	14 66	42 02	42 02		46 41
			10 11	11 60	21 63	33 23	33 23		10 11
	Smith, Walter W. Snively, Joseph S.			19 30 14 15	41 00 23 00	60 30 37 15	5373 $4425$	6 57	7 10
	Snow, C. L.		140 10	6 55	187 45	194 00	34 95	18 95
	Sorensen, S. K. Sory, M. L.			29 12	14 90	44 02	44 02
	Southwick, Henry			8 39	149 03	157 42	157 42
	Sparling, William	8 70		49 75		58 45	56 83	1 62
	Spuriock, C. J.	10	23 47	47 95 44 15	$\begin{array}{c}4 & 00\\36 & 32\end{array}$	52 65 80 47	$\frac{31}{57} \frac{96}{00}$	20 69
	Stebbins, H. A. Stedman, E. A. Steffe, Frank Stephenson, J. N.			10 75		en no	60.00
	Steffe, Frank	8 00			49 25	60 00 8 00	60 00	8 00
	Stephenson, J. N. Stubbart, J. M.			85 11 85	31 34 18 85	32 19 30 70	32 19 30 70
	Summerfield, William	E. 07		37 50	16 00	53 57	53 00	57
	Sutton, J. R. Swenson, Swen		8 95 64 87	69 05 34 58	31 18 119 78	100 23 154 36	91 28 89 49
	Tanner, Joseph A. Terry, J. M.	5 00		$\begin{array}{c} 44 \ 63 \\ 182 \ 06 \end{array}$		44 63 187 06	$\begin{array}{c} 43 \ 90 \\ 182 \ 06 \end{array}$	73 5 00
	Thomas, O. B.	28		54 60	48 00	102 88	100 73	2 15
	Thorburn, G. W. Tomlinson, G. C.	45	41	$64 \ 45 \ 47 \ 90$	$\begin{array}{cccc} 15 & 00 \\ 25 & 00 \end{array}$	79 45 73 35	67 16 73 86	12 29	51
	Tomlinson, S. W.		91	44 84	25 00	69 84	74 30	Om 40	5 37
	Tucker, D. E. Turpen, M. M.	32 94	2 32	$63 69 \\ 27 50$	5 00 10 29	101 63 37 79	74 47 35 47	27 16
	Ullom, L. D.			25 36	32 02	57 38	57 38
	Waldsmith, J. W. Waller, G. J.			40 00	94 U4	01 90	or 90
	Walling, W. H. Walters, R. T.		48 08 43 24	52 12	44 24	96 36	87 49		$\frac{48}{34} \frac{08}{37}$
	Ward, Joseph			2 15	32 30	34 45	34 45
	Weld, F. M. Wells, G. R.		13 03 34 07	12 00 81 00	77 43 87 75	89 43 168 75	89 43 135 13		$\begin{array}{c} 13 \ 03 \\ 45 \end{array}$
	Welsh, C. P. White, Alfred	20		3 35 19 20	69 50 36 25	72 85 55 65	70 30 55 65	2 55
	White Ammon		21 05						21 05
	White, D. C. White, I. N.	15 22	7 44	$23 87 \\ 111 09$	14 92 36 00	54 01 147 09	$\begin{array}{cccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccc$	$\begin{array}{ccc} 20 & 22 \\ 17 & 82 \end{array}$
	White, J. D.			$22\ 65$	46 23	68 88	68 88	0.
	White, T. R. Wight, David W.	15 38		60 161 15	9 28	9 88 176 53	$988 \\ 15670$	19 83
	Wight, J. W. Wight, L. L., furn. by	16 80		$124 85 \\ 18 40$	51 35 54 75	$193 00 \\ 95 65$	$193 00 \\ 50 90$
	Wight, R.	WAA	11	10 53	10 25	20.78	15 48	5 30
	Wildermuth, E. M. Wildermuth, J. B.	10 77	٠.	$\begin{array}{cccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccc$	$\frac{22\ 00}{18\ 58}$	54 34 75 10	49 34 75 10	5 00
	Williams, D. D., furnis					20 00	20 00		ብ የጣ
	Williams, T. W. Wood, Samuel		76 94	122 94 15 66	55 00	177 94 15 66	187 51 7 82		$\begin{array}{c} 9 \ 57 \\ 69 \ 10 \end{array}$
	Whiteaker, A. L. Whiting, W. W.		1 03	$\begin{array}{ccc} 26 & 10 \\ 10 & 98 \end{array}$		26 10 10 98	$\frac{57}{28} \frac{29}{26}$		$\frac{32}{17} \frac{22}{28}$
		$75Q 49	$9 907 SE	$12,313 80 $	11 454 94			$1,189 92	-
	Total $466 78	Ψ.υυ πυ	Ψω,ΔΟΙ ΟΟ	21			ARO1100 90	Ψ1,100 θΔ	V-,100 11
				N/-	•				and the second second

SAINTS' HOME ACCOUNT.	P. C. Taggart, 25 00	1 sofa pillow, Jane Heaton, Blackfoot,	W. A. Hopkins, Dorsey
STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS	Mary Ann Seelve. 50 00	Idaho. 1 quilt, Clinton Religio, Clinton, Iowa	funeral, $35.00, W. A. Hopkins, furniture, 7.25, 42 25
AND EXPENDITURES	Sarah S. Sawley, 25 00 Mary A. Lewis, 120 00	1 quilt, Thurman branch and Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Dyke, and Mrs.	Mrs. Barnes freight on box, 1 27
From January 1, 1900, to January 1,	Marie E. Ronat, 27 50 Church for 3 persons 3 months, 67 50	Greenwood, friends of the church.	Lamoni Hardware Company, 79 78
1901.	Church for 30 persons 6 months, 1,350 00 Church for 27 persons 26 weeks, 1,053 00	1 quilt, Sr. J. K. Palsgrove, 110 Second Ave., Clinton, Iowa. All her own	Saints' Home, 2 75
Receipts.	J. A. Robinson, interest on origi-	work.	Labor, George W. Bush, 42 07
J. N. Ames, Charleston, Mass., $ 500 A sister, Mass., 5000	nal subscription not previously reported (correction), 3 35	1 quilt, pillow shams, Sr. A. P. Sterrett, Pleasant Grove, Utah.	supt., 1 year, 360 00
Matthew Pruyn, Lamoni, Iowa, 150 00 Harriet Roberts, Escondido, Cal.,	M. E. Ronat deposit. 4,900 00 Bills Payable, E. L. Kelley, Trus-	2 tidies, Sr. Bettie Haws 14 Twenty- seventh St., Ogden, Utah.	Labor, John Wahlstrom, 38 75 Labor, C. E. Harp, 1 59 per E. P. Hawley, 1 00 House rent, Aaron Allen. Work	tee, for Johnson note, 1,224 00	1 crazy-worked cushion cover from	Labor, Roy Parker, 1 50 Labor, Ed Church, 12 60 account, 10 00 H. T. Watson, Des Moines, per C.	Total $16.965 14	Kansas. Name of sender not given.  1 large rug, 1 small rug, 6 hemstitched	Labor, H. C. Danielson, 15 90
Scott, 2 50	July, 1899.	sheets, 10 yards towling, 12 hem-	Labor, C. E. Franks. 12 40
Sale of seed to M. J. Danielson, 80 Bills receivable, Cutler mortgage, 125 00	1 comfort from the ladies' aid society,	stitched pillow cases, 2 dozen nap- kins, 3 white table covers, $1 from	Labor, Willie Mason, 2 00
Interest (above), 4 14 Painting material, E. L. Kelley, 25	Salt Lake City, Utah.	Bessie, their daughter, Mrs. Lewis E. Bentley, No. 526 Purchase St,	Labor, L. Grenawalt, 1 25 Labor, W. L. Conover, 63
Dorothy Brown, Rocky Ford, Col., 1 00 Almira Snow, 30	August, 1899. 1 comfort from the ladies' aid society.	New Bedford, Mass.	Labor, Harry Bailey, 1 88
Daughters of Zion, San Francisco, Cal. 250	Des Moines, Iowa	Iowa .
Laura I. Cook, Frederick City Md., 1 00	101 quitte, from Maggie Wallies,	2 dozen nut picks, A. J. Whitney, Amboy, Ill.	Labor, J. W. Gunsolley, 9 65 Labor, W. R. Salisbury, 1 75
Alice P. Dancer, Matron, amount	Davenport, Iowa.	1 turkey, A. G. Mumma, Lamoni, Iowa. 1 turkey, Dr. Greer, Lamoni, Iowa.	Labor, James Braybrooks, Jr., 2 75
advanced, returned, 100 00 Visitors during General Confer-	October, 1899.  1 quilt, 2 pair hose, 2 gingham aprons,	3 turkeys, William Anderson, Lamoni,	Labor, A. M. Newberry, 16 25 Labor, T. E. Olsen, 5 85
ence, Alice P Dancer, Matron, amount	1 pair towels, 10 yards unbleached	Iowa. 4½ bu fried cakes and 7 mince pies,	Labor, O Madison, 9 88 Labor, J. Willis, 3 00 advanced, returned, 200 00 Sale of stone to J. D. Stead, 5 47	muslin. The quilt was pieced by Betty Bardsley when in her seventy-	Sr. Anna Dancer, Lamoni. Iowa. 1 sack of flour, ½ bu. apples, Jones Grocery Co., Lamoni, Iowa.	Labor, Austin Olsen, 1 25 Labor, E. A. Gerringer, 1 00
Mrs. Phebe Williams, Lucas, Iowa, per John Williams, 500	ninth year. 2 comforts, 1 quilt, 2 pillows, 4 sheets,	Grocery Co., Lamoni, Iowa. 1 dozen napkins, 8 napkin rings, Sr.	Labor, Robert Booth, 2 00 Telephone, 10 00
Mary H. Raymond, Helena, Mont., 1 00	1 tidy,4 pillow cases, 1 dozen silver-	Jessie D. Smith, Lamoni, Iowa. 1 Battenburg tidy, Mrs. Ruby Cum-	Seed and grain, 126 79
W. C. Lanyon, painting Historian's office, 3 40	from Standley, Indian Territory.	mins, Leon, Iowa.  1 quilt, Mrs Margaret Babcock, Baroda,	Clothing, W. C. Lanyon, 9 00 Clothing, per bill, Williams and
Oats sold to Joseph Smith, 20 88 Oats and rye sold to E. L. Kelley, 22 37	November, 1899.	Michigan	Grenawalt, 111 65 Account M. E. Ronat, 68 26
Eliza Barling, Chicago, per J. M. Terry, 5 00	1 quilt, from ladies' aid society, Narrows Creek, Mo.	chusetts, U. S. A.	Insurance, 50 25
Joel H. Powers, Maine, 50 Mary Somes, Mich., 2 00	December, 1899.	1 quilt, pillow cases and underclothes, Sr. Roberts, California.	Interest, 66 00 Twine, Foreman, Derry, and
Bills payable, Reorganized	6 teaspoons from Mrs. Whitney, Am-	Picture, Sr. Condit, Utah.	Newcomb, 7 16 Thomas Galley shoes 50
Ladies' aid society, Mass., 5 00	boy, Ill. 1 comfort, 1 pair blankets, 1 pair pil-	Missouri. 1 quilt from the children of Webb City,	Mrs Seelye, frt., 15 88 Taxes on N E ¼ S W S E, 31 45
Sr. L. A. Hartwell (received May 26, 1892), correction, 5 00	lows, 1 dozen towels, 1 pair sheets, and pillow slips. Ladies' aid so-	Missouri.	Rose Hill Cemetery, Lots 77, 78,
Pasturage, D. F. Nicholson, 1 00 Pasturage, J. F. Kane, 1 00	ciety, Council Bluffs, Iowa.	A number of magazines given by Mrs. George Blair were very much en-	81, 82, 85, 86, 211, 35 00 Bowsher and Biddison, 15 50
Pasturage, E. J. Robinson, 6 65 Pasturage, Hans Hayer, 10 75	1 set steel knives and forks and sev- eral pieces of rag carpet for rugs.	joyed by the Home. 1 quilt, willing workers, Chase branch,	8 bushels potatoes, E. Sparks, 5 30 12 bushels apples, 6 00
Pasturage, W. A. Campbell, 65 Pasturage, J. Barr, 445	Mrs. Abbott, Lamoni, Iowa.  1 pieced quilt and 65 cents. Emeline	Michigan 1 quilt, Sr. Wilma Erickson, per Oscar	E D. McKean, repairing shoes, 1 35 Bill Herald Office, 73
Pasturage, E. L. Kelley, 16 75 Pasturage, A. H. Smith, 7 60	McLenau, Denison, Texas. 1 quilt from Sr. J. H. Wells, Bozeman,	Case.	Bill Herald Office, H. L. Fergu-
Pasturage, J. M. Stubbart, 15 55	Mont.	by Mrs J B. Baker. Clock and bananas, D F. and Minnie	Fon, 3 35
Pasturage, D. C. White, 7 25 Pasturage, Oscar Thomas, 7 15	man, Mont. 1 quilt from Eliza A. Benafiel, Spring-	Nicholson. These were made on Thanksgiving and Christmas.	wardrobe, etc., 1 60
Pasturage, George W. Bush, 6 00 Pasturage, Frank Hammer, 6 00	field, Neb.	Colorado cactus cane, Daniel Wilson,	John Farmer, services Dr. Greer, 12 60 Bro. and Sr. Coiner, services Dr.
Pasturage, L. B. Gaulter, 5 85 Pasturage, C. F. Church, 7 00	1 quilt, Bevier aid society, Bevier,	western Nebraska, per J. W. Waldsmith	Greer, 5 60 Bro. Dorsey, services Dr. Greer, 4 50
Pasturage, Eli Hayer, 5 00 Pasturage, George Bandy, 6 35	1 quilt, willing workers of Chase branch, Chase, Mich., March 31,	from ——.	Bro. and Sr. Bowman, services Dr. Greer, 1 60
Pasturage, Lewis Gaulter, 4 50 Pasturage, G. W. Weld, 6 00	1900. 1 quilt, Mrs. F. W Curtis, Stanberry,	1 quilt, 1 table cloth, sisters' aid so- ciety, Lucas, Iowa, per Sr. Isaac Philling Pros	T T11
Pasturage, Robert Booth, 21 10	Mo. 1 quilt, 1 chair cushion, Lone Rock	1 milt Mrs H & Williams Oklahama	T. Galley, services, Dr. Greer, 1 25
Pasturage, James Braybrooks, 7 35	branch. Pawnee, Mo.	City, Oklahoma. 2 comforts, Sr. M. B. Holmes, Buffalo	Sr. Seelye, services Dr. Greer, 1 00 Sr. Greenwood, services Dr.
Pasturage, F. E. Cochran, 8 00 Pasturage, J. W. Gunsolley, 7 00	Colo. 10 yards calico, Mrs. Hattie Ness, St.	Prairie, Ill.	Greer, 25 Bro. Jones, services Dr. Greer, 1 95
Pasturage, J. Wahlstrom, 8 00 Pasturage, B. L. Merritt, 5 50	Francis, Kan.	Expenditures	Sr. White, services Dr. Greer, 25 Sr. Price, services Dr. Greer, 75
Pasturage, C. Lasley, 1 00 Pasturage, Bertha A. Greer, 4 10	1 quilt, Sr. Thompson, Moorhead, Io. 2 comforts, Mrs. LaChapelle, Belle	Ance P. Dancer, Matron, amount	Medicine to Sr. Dancer, Dr.
Pasturage, S. E. Ballou, 3 25 Pasturage, J. D. Briggs, 1 50	Fourche, S. D. 2 pillow cases, 1 quilt, Sr. Kolstrop,	made and matcher, range, so it	Sr. Cowden, services Dr. Greer, 480 Services Dr. Moore
Pasturage, J. H. Hansen. 1 00 Pasturage, E. C. Briggs, 25	Mo. 1 quilt, 2 pillow cases, Sr. Lawrence,	mittenen biothers, thains,	Canned fruit, William Anderson, 4 50
Pasturage, Ed L. Kelley, Jr., 9 70 Pasturage, Alma Ellison. 4 00	Mound City, Mo. 1 quilt, Sr. E. A. Newberry, Montrose,	Potatoes, Isaac Bogue, 3 50	George Derry and Son 9 90
Pasturage, E. A. Gerringer, 1 00	Iowa, and Sarah Pearent, Pitts-field, Ill.	Aaron Allen, account, 10 35 Funeral expense, Mrs. Green-	5 gallons syrup at 40c., 2 00 Running expenses, 1,580 42
Pasturage, Samuel Spurrier, 4 00 Pasturage, Cyrus Lester, 1 00	1 rug. 1 chair cushion, Mrs. Silas Rogers, Piper City, Ill.	wood, digging grave, 3 00	Lumber, I. W. Allender, 109 47 Lumber, Burlington Lumber
Pasturage, B. Bergersen, 28 Pasturage, M. J. Danielson, 2 00	1 quilt, Sr. Heppie Morris, Xenia, Ill.	Carriages for two funerals, 2 00 Gasoline stove, M. J. Danielson, 2 00	Company, 79 65 Blacksmithing, 17 15
Pasturage, Lewis Stewart, 1 00 Pasturage, Joseph Smith, 2 00	1 quilt, Sr. Lillie Slover, Orchardville,	John Wahlstrom, work and mer-	Live stock, Daniel Weber, 30 00
Sale of straw to J. W. Mather, 2 50 Sale of straw to Charles Bracken-	10 yards calico, Mrs. Hattie James, Highland Branch, Colo.	chandise, 3 75 J. H. Hansen, disinfectant, 2 10	Live stock, Elbert A. Smith, 33 25
bury, 50	1 calico apron, Cynthia Colpitts, Promise, Oregon.	W. A. Hopkins, funeral expenses L. A. Greenwood, 40 00	Live stock, R. M. Elvin, 45 00
Elijah Sparks (potatoes for rent) 5 30 Sale of Live Stock.	14 yards calico and 1 spool thread, Mrs. Nora L. Colpitts, Kirk, Colo.	Ance r. Dancer per receior Dan-	Freight on coal, 74 10
Cow per M. J. Danielson, 35 00	1 patchwork quilt, Mrs. Mary A. Colpitts, Promise, Oregon.		Drayage, 1 29
Cow to Mrs. Pickle, 32 00 Cow to Mr. Gaylord, 30 00	1 quilt, Sr. Clarissa Rope and daugh-	pasture, 2 00 W. A O. White, oil, 70	Gasoline, 7 56 Bills payable, 1,224 00
Hogs per M. J. Danielson, 79 00 Cattle to J. C. Danielson, 255 00	ter Emma, Tabor, Iowa. 4 pairs hose, 2 aprons, 12 yards calico,	count, 1,306 29	Real estate, 2,000 00
· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	10 yards muslin, handkerchiefs, Mrs. Alice Halliday, Council	Interest, Boston church account, 97 97 Herald Publishing House, 1 53	CORRECTIONS. Unpaid subscriptions in cash
$431 00	Bluffs, Iowa. I quilt, by the sisters of Vermillion,	S. M. Bass, digging grave Joseph Dorsey, 3 00	account, 640 00
Sale of coal to E. L. Kelley, $15 05 Sale of coal to William Anderson 5 30	Erie county, Ohio.	Expense, release Cutler mortgage	Account due from Independence
Care and Board.	1 quilt, 1 rug, sisters and friends of Clearwater, Neb.	Repairing washer, 25	church entered in cash, 1,291 74
W. E. Price for Mary Price, 35 00 Abbie L. Godfrey per W. W.	2 quilts, sheets and pillow cases, Rachel Smith, Baxter, Iowa.	cutting rye, 5z, 12 00	Total, $16,516 25 Due church, 448 89
Scott, 73 00	1 quilt, Mrs. A. L. Piper, Milford,	McKim's livery, 1 50 Painting ladders, Charles Church,	$16,965 14
Catherine Herrick, 30 00	Oakland county, Mich.	exchange for pasture, 3 55	market 13

GACELAND COLLEGE AC- Henry Echternacht	 			**************************************	***************************************
AND EXPENDIL  TURES  Receipts  A.A. Let seekey, Benan 1 00   Sarah A. Myers, Iowa 1 10   Sarah A. Myers, Iowa 2 10   Sarah A. Myers, Iowa 3   Society Billy River, Mas. 2 10   Mary Letters 1 (1994)   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50   Receipts 1   A brother, Iowa 5   50	CRACELAND COLLEGE AC-	Honry Echternacht 25 001	David Crow Htsh 9	ONIR Reell W Ve 5 0	It adies' aid society T.o.
AND EXPENDI- TURES    Martha A. Love		D W Zimmonnon 1 00	Sarah A Myora Torra	00 Zion's Policio Litaren	man Town
AND EXPENDITURES   Ladies aid society, Benan, TURES   Ladies aid society, Benan, TURES   Ladies aid society, Benan, Turkes   Ladies   Ladies aid society, Benan, Turkes   La	COUNT OF RECEIPTS		Dashal Harrand Larra	90 Contactor Roll Divon No. o. 95 0	D V D M
TURES   10va	AND EXPENDI-	M. A. LOVE 25	T. C. Cookb Toward, 10wa	00 Sucrety, Fall River, Mass. 29 W	A. A. ROSS, MO 25 00
Receipts		Ladies aid society, Benan,	J. C. Crabo, 10wa 25	00 Frank M. Sneidon, 10 25 U	James Bradley, lowa 5 00
Receipts	TURES.	10wa 10 00	A brother, lowa500	00 H. Damoske, Cal 25 00
Martha A. Burr, Wiss. $ 1 00   Martha Lake, Ohio	D t t	Julia A. Thomas, Maine. 5 00	Charles Derry, Iowa 5	00 Della Brown, Iowa 1 0
H.T. Watson, per C. Scott. 2 50   Benry and Mary Wing. E. Peter, 80 250   Mary Davis, 80 250   Mary Davis, 80 250   Mary Davis, 80 250   Mary A. John, Idaho 250   George W. Taylor, Io 100   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green		Carrie Smith, Ohio 10 00	R. Vansickle, Iowa 5	00 Rose E. Hurtt, lowa 5	J. R. Johnson 1 00
H.T. Watson, per C. Scott. 2 50   Benry and Mary Wing. E. Peter, 80 250   Mary Davis, 80 250   Mary Davis, 80 250   Mary Davis, 80 250   Mary A. John, Idaho 250   George W. Taylor, Io 100   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green 150   Mrs. R. M. Green	Martha A. Burr, Wis$ 1 00	Martha Lake, Ohio 5 00	C. C. Joehnk, Cal 25	00 Earl Booth, Iowa 1 0	Mrs. Ed Green 5 00
E. E. Petre, $\delta_0$			Levi Atkinson, Iowa 25	00 Lulu Dulin, Iowa 1 0	O. E. Green 10 00
C. Weiler, Minn	E F Petra Mo 25 00		William Maddock Eng. 4
Sr. J. M. Severance   25   Nephi Lovell, Iowa   12 50   Dr. C. A. Sherrill, Texas   5 00   Mary Pool, Iowa   12 51   D. Dierks   25	C Woiler Minn 1 00	Mary Davis Mo 25 00	Mary A John Idaho 2	50 George W Toylor Io 5	W B Thomas 5 00
Sr. L. P. Marshall		Norbi Lorell Town 19 50	Dr C A Showill Tores 5
Sr. B. J. Marshall					10 00
Sp. B. J. Marshall.   25   W. McFadden, Ont.   1   00   Ted Burrows, Mont.   5   00   John McKenzie, Mo.   1   00   Clara E. Briggs, Iowa   10   00   W. D. Mary Hawkins, Nev.   25   00   Simon Kighan, Mont.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   Francis Display.   1   00   1   00   1   00   1   00   1   00   1   00   1   00   1   00   00   1   00   00   1   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00   00					Min renn, 10 wa 10 00
William Rounds   25 Mary Hawkins, Nev   25 00   Simon Kughan, Mont.   1 00   Frank L. Goode and wife,   100   Elkanah Craven, Mo   1 00   Elkanah Craven, Mo   1 00   Ennice Beam, Pa   2 00   John Johnson, Mont.   1 00   Robert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Johnson, Mont.   1 00   Robert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo   2 00   John Schert Garlich, Mo		George H. Butter, wyo. 2 00	S. G. Sargent, Mont 1	of Povina Daim towa I of	Minnie Osier, lowa 10 00
Second Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of t	Sr. B. J. Marshall 25	W. McFadden, Ont 1 00	Ted Burrows, Mont 5	00 John McKenzie, Mo 1 0
Second Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of t	W. D. Marshall 25	Mary Hawkins, Nev 25 00	Simon Kughan, Mont 1	00 Frank L. Goode and wife.
Elkanah Craven, Mo.   100   Eunice Geam, Pa.   200   A. F. Jemison, Mont.   100   Nina Brooks, Jowa.   500   A. C. Hoffman.   250   Robert Garlich, Mo.   200   Joanna Anthony, Pa.   100   Will Stoll, Jowa.   150   Ohney Brooks (decage)   Jowa.   250   Ohney	William Anderson, Iowa, 100 00	W. F. Beam, Pa 200	John Johnson, Mont 2	00 Town 95.0	Sr Knight, Cal 1 00
Mary Oder, Mo.   100   Alice Gandy, Pa.   10   A. P. Larson, Utah.   140   None of Garlich, Mo.   200   N. M. Gunsolley, Jowa.   5 00   N. M. Gunsolley, Jowa.   5 00   Myra Worden, Pa.   25   George Jackson, Jowa.   15 00   N. A. J. Vickrey, Ala.   25 00   Mise Gunilisk, Pa.   25   Sale type.   25   Sale type.   25   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26   Sale type.   26	Elkanah Craven, Mo 1 00	Eunice Beam, Pa 2 00	G. P. Jemison, Mont 1	00 Nine Brooks Town 5 0	John P. Lilly, Ontario 2 00
Robert Garlich, Mo.   2   00   Joanna Anthony, Pa.   1   1   1   1   1   1   1   1   2   1   1	Mary Oder. Mo 1 00	Alice Gandy, Pa 10	A. P. Larson, Utah 14
N. M. Gunsolley, Iowa. 5 00 Myra Worden, Pa	Robert Garlich Mo 2 00	Joanna Anthony, Pa 1 00	Will Stoll, Iowa 15
A. J. Vickrey, Ala. 25 00 Misk Guinlisk, Pa. 25 John Heide, Mont. 12 50 George W. Galley, Neb. 25 00 Mrs. Buckwalter, Pa. 25 Martha Roush, Iowa 1 00 George W. Galley, Neb. 25 00 Mrs. and Mrs. Mathias Pa. 25 Martha Roush, Iowa 1 00 Mrs. and Mrs. Mathias Pa. 25 Martha Roush, Iowa 1 00 Mrs. and Mrs. Mrs. Mathias Pa. 25 Martha Roush, Iowa 1 00 Mrs. Mrs. Mrs. Mrs. Mrs. Mrs. Mrs. Mrs.	N M Cunceller Iowa 5 00	Myra Worden Pa 25			ED 111 00 00
A. P. Larson, Utah. 11 25 Mrs. Gallespie, Pa	A I Wielman Ale 95 00	Mika Guinlick Pa 95
Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secretary   Secr	A. J. Vickrey, Ala	Mas Callegrie Po 95
Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Color   Colo	A. P. Larson, Utan 11 23	M. D. L. Mar D. 05		00 8-3 7
C. E. Holcomb   12 50   L. R. and Ella k. Devore, St. Lucy Schrunck, Iowa   10 00   Jack Spencer, Iowa   1 00   R. Cooper   10 00   Nathan Hayes, Iowa   5 00   Jack Spencer, Iowa   1 00   Mary Omans, Minn   5 00   More Charles Bedson, Iowa   2 00   George Herbert, Ill   1 00   Lizabeth Bedson, Iowa   2 00   Charles Brooke, Iowa   2 00   George Herbert, Ill   1 00   Lizabeth Malkace, Iowa   2 00   George Herbert, Ill   1 00   Lizabeth Malkace, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Macklan, Iowa   2 00   Lizabeth Mackla	George W. Galley, Neb 25 00	Mrs Duckwalter, ra 25		00	Retund freight 85
R. L. Young	H. Kemp and wife, lowa. 20 00	Mr. and Mrs Matthias Pa. 50			0, 100 51
R. Cooper.   10 00   Nathan Hayes, Iowa   5 00   Thomas Beasley, Iowa   2 00   George Herbert, III   1 00   L. McCord   1 00   A friend (J. F.), Iowa   25 00   Charles Brooks, Iowa   2 00   George Herbert, III   1 00   L. McCord   1 00   A friend (J. F.), Iowa   25 00   Charles Brooks, Iowa   2 00   George Herbert, III   1 00   L. McGord   1 00   Carries Grown, Inn.   3 50   M. G. Chapman, Neb   1 00   W. D. McKnight, Mon   1 00   D. W. D. McKnight, Mon   1 00   D. W. D. McKnight, Mon   1 00   Carrie Sund, Mont.   5 00   M. G. Chapman, Neb   1 00   Elizabeth Macktan, Iowa   5 00   Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 5 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jenkins, Idaho   1 00   John Mary E. Jen	O. E. Holcomb 12 50	L. R. and Ella R. Devore,	Lucy Schrunck, 10wa 10	00 lowa 1 0
John Hall	R. L Young 5 00	Mo∞
John Hall	R. Cooper 10 00	Nathan Hayes, Iowa 5 00			Expenditures.
Nesland Smith	John Hall 50	Elizabeth B. Edson, Iowa. 25 00	Charles Brooks, Iowa 2	00 George Herbert, Ill 1 0	0 -
Nestland Smith	I. McCord 1 00	A friend (J. F.), Iowa 25 00	Mary Eckhart, Iowa 1	00 Elizabeth Wallace, Iowa 25
J. T. Newton		O. A. Erickson, Minn 3 50	M. G. Chapman, Neb 1	00 W. D. McKnight, Mo 1 0	01 1900 Ф600 10
3				00 Elizabeth Macklan Iowa 5 0	Olorders previously given
William Roundy					of by board of trustees 520 21
J. Johnson				100 W I Pooks Miss 9 6	Daniel Anderson, treas-
Lloyd Marteeny
Lloyd Marteeny   2   A Irient to Graceland   5   5   5   5   5   5   5   5   5
N. L. Hunt		A friend to Graceland". 8 00	James O Sheidon, 10 5	ou mary Engler, lowa 25 (	Ultare to Doord of Cours
Nath   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Constant   Co		O. Owen, Eng 1 91	mary A. warren, Colo 1	00 Maggie Chew, lowa 1 U	toos for honton 707 94
Hattle Crandall   25   Miss Susie Ellison, Wis   50   Nathan Mefford   50   Charles Albertson, Ida   25   50   Nathan Mefford   50   Charles Albertson, Ida   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N. J. Roundy   25   50   N					Tunovinitora 140 00
Nathan Mefford   50   Charles Albertson, Ida   25   00   August Klopping   2   200   Sunday school, Clifford   5   N. D.   5   5   00   Sunday school, Clifford   5   5   00   Sunday school, Clifford   5   5   00   Sunday school, Clifford   5   5   00   Sunday school, Clifford   5   00   Sunday school, Clifford   5   00   Sunday school, Clifford   5   00   Sunday school, Clifford   5   00   Sunday school, Clifford   5   00   Sunday school, Clore   5   00   Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Sunday school, Cove, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday school, Sunday sc					Unatable transportations 0.50
Nathan Mefford   August Klopping   2   00   Sunday school, Clifford   5   N. J. Roundy   5   N. D. Sunday school, Clifford   5   N. D. Sunday school, Clifford   5   N. D. Sunday school, Clifford   5   N. D. Sunday school, Clifford   5   N. D. Sunday school, Clifford   5   S. W. M. Scott   7   5   S. W. M. Scott   7   5   S. W. M. Scott   7   5   S. W. M. Scott   7   5   S. W. M. Scott   7   5   S. W. M. Scott   7   5   S. W. M. Sunday school, Cove   7   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S. W. Slater   1   00   S.	F. J. Seelev 50	Miss Susie Ellison, Wis. 50	James Comstock and	Albert T Davis, Kan 1 (
August Klopping. 200   Sunday school, Clifford, N. J. Roundy. 50   N. D 500   Lowa 500   Lowa 500   Birch Whiting, Minn. 500   Charles and Nellie Mary Yeoman. 100   Charles and Nellie Mary Servent. 500   J. D. Babcock, Ark. 500   J. R. Harper 250   Birch Whiting, Minn. 500   Charles and Nellie Mary Servent. 500   J. R. Harper 250   Cory Servent. 500   Cory Shearer 250   Cory Shearer 250   Eliza Thomas Idaho. 100   Eliza Thomas Reese, Mont. 250   Lorens Leeka, Iowa 2500   Margaret Richards, Idaho. 100   Cory Ark 1750   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100   Elizabeth Rowley, Iowa 100	Nathan Mefford 50	Charles Albertson, Ida. 25 00	wife, Iowa 25	5 00 Eli Haver, Iowa 25 (
N. J. Roundy 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 50 N. D. 100 N. A. 100 N. A. 100 N. A. 100 N. A. 100 N. A. 100 N. A. 100 N. A. 100 N. A. 100 N. Stater 1 10 N. Sunday school, Cove, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. D. Babcock, Ark 1750 N. D. D. D. Babcock,		Sunday school, Clifford.	Thomas Teale and Co.	Alice Jacobs, Iowa 2 (
Mary Yeoman					OI trustees 33 37
Sr. Wm   Scott   7 50			John R. Allen, Jowa 2	2 00 Birch Whiting, Minn 5 (	n recording deed 15
John Hall					n Loan returned 42 40
J. W. Slater		D D Reheark Ark 5 00	George O Sellers	2 50 C V Shoarar 95 (	n Postage and circulars 5 80
C. W. Justice				Tital Observer Tarks 10	Bible 2 50
C. W. Justice			U. I. Gicon and Daidh A.	U UI SELLE LES LES LES LES LES LES LES LES L	Revenue stamps 20
Aaron Sweet		Ark	Films, lowa 25	o oo wiiiam Richards, Idano. 10	Bills payable 114 56
Ola Jones					On roal cetata contract 900 00
A. B. Reynolds					Toyog and rofund 9 20
Swen Swenson
Swen Swenson
Joseph Hodges	Swen Swenson 25 00	C. D. and M. E. Sanford.	Jay Leeka, Iowa 25	5 00 Stella Williams, Idaho 2	Delamon on hand 906 41
Jane Gault		) III 2 00	Mrs. John Albertus, Io	1 00 David D. Williams, Ill 20	00 Darance on nand220 41
Alice M. Dempster 4 50 George Buschlen, Ont 5 00 Sr. C. A. Lucas, Ohio 2 00 J. F. Potter, Iowa 5 00		John Soderstadt, Kan 25 00	Richard Farmer, Iowa	2 00 C. G. Dykes, Iowa 12
200000000000000000000000000000000000000	Alice M. Dempster 4 50	George Buschlen, Ont 5 0	Sr. C. A. Lucas, Ohio	2 00 J. F. Potter, Iowa 5	00
	zzite zz. zempster 1 oc

The Saints' Herald.

(Established 1860.)

Published Every Wednesday, at Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Subscription price, $1.50 per year.
Address communications for publication to "Editors Herald."

"Editors Herald."

Marriage, birth, and death notices: Marriages, $1.00 per 100 words or fraction thereof. Births, 50 cents per 75 words or fraction thereof. Deaths, 100 words free, above that number 50 cents per 100 words or fraction thereof. To insure prompt insertion, make remittance with notice.

For advertising rates apply to business mana-

For advertising rates apply to business mana-

All errors in the filling of orders or rendering of All errors in the filling of orders or rendering of accounts should be reported immediately, as receipts for all money received are sent within two days after reaching the office.

Send all business letters and make all remittances payable to Herald Publishing House, Lock Box E, Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa.

Entered at post office, Lamoni, Iowa, as second-class mail matter.

Subscriptions received for Zion's Ensign, also

Subscriptions received for Zion's Ensign, also orders for all kinds of Ensign Publications.

(Continued from page 408.)

disposal of territory to our coming King, Jesus Christ, who will put down all rule and authority, etc.

In your ministerial work don't harbor the thought that a knowledge of God's saving methods means a knowledge of all things seen and unseen. Nor do I think that a re-membrance of the fact that the secret things belong unto the Lord our God, but those things which are revealed belong unto us and to our children forever, that we may do all the works of the law, will in any way tend to our discomfiture. (Deut. 29: 29) The gospel is our message, to preach and live by its precepts.

The order of reporting quarterly to the missionary in charge is not abolished. My permanent address is 308 Oak street, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

In bonds, JAMES CAFFALL.

To the Saints of Pottawattamie District:-Having been appointed in charge of abovenamed district, and desiring your hearty co-öperation for the success of the work, I simply wish to ask united efforts with the missionary force, both local and general, and where you see an opening for good and need of preaching, advise us. As to the General Conference appointees, we expect to advise with them in person with a prayer for victory.

My permanent address is Magnolia, Iowa.

Your brother, D. R. CHAMBERS.

CONFERENCE NOTICES.

Chatham will meet with Zone branch, Saturday, June 8, at ten a. m. Presidents and secretaries of branches, please see that your branches are correctly reported. Arrangements have been made with the L. E. and D. R. R., G. T. R., and C. P. R. for reduced rates by observing the following rules: All persons going by rail will purchase a single fare ticket to Bothwell, and also get from the tilest area. the ticket agent a certificate to show that they purchased the ticket, and if traveling over more than one line of railway and cannot get a through ticket, get a certificate with each ticket purchased. If there are fifty or more holding the above-named cer-tificates, they will be able to return home by paying one third regular fare, and if forty nine or less, by paying two thirds fare. The above arrangements hold good for Sunday school convention, which meets on the 7th. By all observing the above we may help each GEORGE GREEN, Pres. RICHARD COBURN, Sec.

Little Sioux will convene at Mondamin, Iowa, June 8 and 9. Sunday school convention will meet at same place, Friday, June 7, two p. m. Lenna Strand, Sec.

Northern Michigan will convene June 8 and 9 at Fork. All are cordially invited. Teams will meet the p. m. train at Chippewa station

Thursday, and the a. m. train Friday and Saturday. Any coming via Grand Rapids will be met at Barryton. A full report of officers and branches desired. Send all branch reports to C. B. Joice, South Boardman or Fork. J. H. Peters, Pres. C. B. JOICE, Sec.

Eastern Michigan conference convenes June 1. Branch clerks, please send reports as early as May 29 to the undersigned at 365 Grand River avenue, Detroit, Michigan. WM DAVIS, Sec.

The Spring River district will convene with the Pleasant View branch on Friday, T. S. HAYTON. June 7, 1901.

Eastern Michigan will meet at Detroit, Michigan, 424 Grand River avenue, June 1 and 2. M. A. LIDDY, Sec.

SESSION OF BISHOP'S COURT.

A session of the Bishop's court will be held in the Bishop's office, Lamoni, Iowa, beginning June 11, 1901. All persons having business before the court please take notice of time and place, as all cases pending will be called up for trial.

E. L. KELLEY, Presiding Bishop.

LAMONI, IOWA, May 20, 1901.

TENT NOTICE.

Saints of Northwestern Kansas district, our district conference on May 4 ordered that money be raised by donation to purchase a new district tent. Let us each respond to the call without delay. The tent is needed before the reunion is held, also for district work. Send money to me, Box 261, Greenleaf, Kansas.

L. G. GURWELL, Solicitor and Treasurer.

ADDRESSES.

Will E. LaRue, Millersburg, Illinois. R. Wight, Dow City, Iowa.

WM. ANDERSON, Pres. MRS. DAVID DANCER. Vice Pres.

W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier. OSCAR MNDERSON, Ass't Cashier.

STATE SAVINGS BANK OF LAMONI.

Incorporated under the laws of the State of Iowa, July 1, 1898. Total assets January 1, 1900, $133,032.34; April 1, 1900, $162,781.07.

We pay interest on time deposits, and especially solicit the correspondence and deposits of all Herald readers. All etters of inquiry will be promptly and carefully answered. Direct all letters to W. A. HOPKINS, Cashier, State Savings Bank of Lamoni, Iowa.

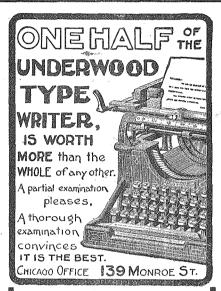

STOC版版OLDERS:--Mrs. David Dancer, Geo. H. Hilliard, A. K. Anderson, Lucy L. Resseguie, Anderson, Wm. Anderson, Frank Criley, Alice P. Dancer, Ella D. Whitehead, G. W. Blair, W. A. Hopkins.

UWANTO STOP

Using tobacco. Quit-to-bac makes it easy to do so. Three boxes postpaid, only $1.50 with positive guarantee to cure or the $1.50 cheerfully refunded! It cures others, why not you.

Address, (Bro.) B. F. ORDWAY, Peoria, Ill.

47-42 (U. S. Postage stamps taken.)

Or apply to
The Underwood Agency,
LAMONI, JOWA.

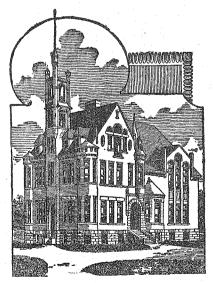

SAINTS' HYMNAL. Words only.		4 2
115. Paper Per dozen	1	15 60
116. Cloth, limp	2	$\frac{25}{70}$
117. Cloth	_	35
Per dozen	3	75 50
GOSPEL QUARTERLIES.
Published by the General
Sunday School Association.  Designed for use in Sabbath school work. Issued quarterly.		••
73. Senior Grade, per quarter Per year, in advance		08 25
74. Intermediate Grade, per quar-		ded Q
ter		05
Per year		15 05
75. Primary Grade, per quarter Per year		15
INTERMEDIATE QUESTION LOOK.
76. Limp, 25c. each, per dozen	2	50
PRIMARY QUESTION BOOK.
77. Limp, 15c. each, per dozen	, 1	50
The office will procure for its pa any book that is obtainable	tro	ons with hook and in chains and		-

1	7! 0! 5!
	3
	5 11

GRACELAND.... COLLEGE,

LAMONI, IOWA.

Telephone 71.

For catalogue or further information, address, PROF. R. A. HARKNESS, President, or I. W. ALLENDER, Secretary,

LAMONI, DECATUR CO. IOWA

The Metropolitan.

Being justified by your patronage, the South Side Barber Shop is now strictly first-class, up to date. Everything new, and here to stay. Come and see us. Always welcome. Agents Iowa Steam Laundry.

BLACK & SHOOK.

WHAT IS MAN? By Elder J. R. Lambert.

140. Cloth......

COMMERCIAL BANK

LAMONI, - IOWA,

Solicits your Deposits and pays

5 % INTEREST. D. F. NICHOLSON, Cashier.

FOR SALE.

House of fourteen rooms, including cellar, bath, store and plant rooms, and three closets. Good well, cistern, and outbuildings. Lot  $100 \times 100$  feet. Excellent location. Good reasons for selling will be given. Address J. R. LAMBERT, Lamoni, Iowa.

DR. E. S. SWEET, DENTIST. Decoe Building,

WOODBINE, - - IOWA.

PARLOR BARBER SHOP.

L. DICKEY, Proprietor.

A new, clean shop.

Always courteous treatment and best of work.

WHY NOT A TRIP TO COLORADO NEXT SUMMER?

The price for a round-trip ticket on certain days will be less than half fare. Call and see me about it?

We are doing everything possible this year, by making unusually low ticket rates and running unusually fast and comfortable trains, to make it convenient and not too expensive for people of moderate means to spend their vacation in the Colorado mountains. There is no country in the world like Colorado for invalids and others in search of rest and pleasure. The pure, dry climate has the most astonishing permanent effect on the health and spirits of visitors, and especially is this so in the case of those from that part of the country near to the level of the sea. Ask for our handbook of Colorado. All about the resorts, hotels and boarding houses, with prices; also a fine topographical map.

L. F. SILTZ,
Agent C. B. & Q. R. R.

KEOKUK & WESTERN R. R. CO.

North—Leave Leon 2:40 p. m., arrive at Des Moines 6:05 p. m. South—Leave Des Moines 8:25 a. m., arrive at Leon 11:45 a. m. Trains daily except Sunday; connect with C.

B. & Q. at Leon.

BAINTS' HERALD.

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE REORGANIZED CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER DAY SAINTS.

"If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."—John 8: 31, 32.

"Hearken to the word of the Lords for there shall not any man among you have save it be one wifes and concubines he shall have none."—B. of M., page 116.

VOL. 48.

LAMONI, IOWA, MAY 29, 1901.

NO. 22.

The Saints' Herald.

JOSEPH SMITH FRED'K MADISON SMITH ASSISTANT EDITOR. JOSEPH LUFF }
D. W. WIGHT

EDITOR.

CORRESPONDING EDITORS.

LAMONI, IOWA, MAY 29, 1901.

CONSECRATION.

Just now there is an article running in the HERALD, by Bro. Joseph Flory, under the title "Zion and her law," in which there are some excellent ideas. We do not indorse the article as a whole, nor are we responsible for the author's conclusions; but bespeak for the article a careful reading.

We write now to remind the Saints that the revelations will not bear a construction that will put a premium on staying out of Zion. To the contrary, it will be found that to be "of Zion" and "in Zion," is to be blessed of the Lord in the laws going forth Consecration is the act of setting apart what one may have and chooses to spare to the upbuilding of the cause of Christ, as we and the rest of the Saints understand the term. To consecrate is to put into the Bishop's hands, or into the storehouse, whatever of moneys, or other property, of which a person may be possessed, which that person intends to set apart to be used for the work of the ministry, building a temple, storehouses, meeting houses, the care of the poor, and any and all other uses which the needs of the church, in any and all of its business affairs may require, or that may be found advisable or neces-

Consecrations are such sums of money, goods, wares, merchandise, houses, lots, and lands, which the members of the church may put into the hands of the Bishop, or his associate bishops, or agents, which such members may intend shall be used for the purposes referred to, all to be used in legitimate ways for the general good of the body and the necessities of those who may need.

It is said that there was a system of consecration in vogue under Pres. J. J. Strang, at Beaver Island, Michigan, which meant taking from the Gentiles, styled the "milking of the Gentiles." No such system as that can be possible under the rules of the Bible, Book of Mormon, or the revelation to the church during this dispensation. It was robbery pure and simple, directly opposite the command, "Thou shalt not steal."

No matter what name the wrongful taking of a man's goods may be under, it is theft; and whether the taker is one man or a whole lot of men, they are plunderers and thieves. So, dear Saints, be it known unto you that consecration will not be a wrongful taking of your goods, in any form or under any pretense.

For some time Joseph Smith served the church as trustee in trust. In this character he held considerable of the church property. At his death, Elder Joseph Coolidge was made administrator, and we suppose that under his administration the property of the church held by Joseph Smith as trustee was put into the possession of the church, or trustees for the church. We think Messrs. Babbitt, Heywood, and Fulmer, were made such trustees.

Subsequently, that portion of the church that went west appointed Pres. Brigham Young trustee in trust, and he served in this way a number of years. At his death it was found that the trusts he held for the church as trustee were not referred to in his will; but the church obtained possessisn of such property by action of the executors of the estate of Pres. Young, under the just debts clause found in the will. This is as we understood the affair as it was made public.

The Book of Covenants provides that the church should hold its properties through its Bishopric, and not through the Presidency as trustee. This makes the Bishop the trustee of the church properties. To hold property in other ways is not in accord with the church rule; and can only obtain where the restrictions of local statutes make it necessary in order to be in harmony with the laws of We have nothing to say the land. to condemn the action of the church in appointing Pres. Joseph Smith trustee, nor any fault to find with the action of that portion of the people in the west for appointing and sustaining Pres. B. Young as their trustee; for so far as we know the people lost nothing by either of these trustees in the final result. We but mention the fact to show that this was not the method pointed out in the revelation, for the ways of dealing with the Bishopric, but does not so provide for trustees other than the Bishopric.

There was a greater element of danger to the general church in the way of putting its properties into the control of the President, than in the Bishopric rule. The control of the finances of the church added to the spiritual control would be an element of mischief to the general body, if the President was an ambitious and unscrupulous man, as the rules applying to the care of the finances under the Bishopric would not apply to him, and he would in a way be an irresponsible

All this is favorable to the carrying out of the law of tithing, consecration, and freewill offering, as found set forth in the Doctrine and Covenants, these being but three parts of the one law, providing for three divisions of finance collections; tithing, the tenth, or tithe; freewill offering, a larger giving than a tithe, after the tithe has been paid; and a consecration, of whatever a man may have, more than he may have need, his station, business, family, and his personal needs all being taken account of.

The "more than he have need," is as old as the revelations of 1831, and is, or ought to be, clear to everybody, as we think.

The Bishopric will have a meeting with the authorities of the Independence Stake, soon, probably in this month of May, in which meeting it is likely some methods of procedure will be agreed upon, and specific instructions to the Saints follow. In the meantime we hope all unofficial speculation and gossip will cease, and the people possess their souls in patience. Everybody should feel assured that the organization effected will be for the good of all, and not for the oppression of any.

GRACELAND.

It was remarked by some one at the conference at Independence, regarding the statement that the "college debt should be paid," "No need for a revelation to know that. Everyone knows that.'

We beg pardon of the one who made this remark for differing from him in what he said. Everyone did and to suggest that the law provides not know that the said college debt reader to carefully inves

the

348°

ought to be paid. There were some who thought that the college movement should be abandoned, and the building sold, and this, too, without any further call on the finances of the church. The direction that it should be paid was timely, and emphasized the fact that the church as a body was responsible for the erection of the building, whatever mistakes in procedure the committee chosen as agents of the church to carry their decision into effect may have made.

It would seem to us that before any disposition to abandon the college as an institution should be entertained the debt should be paid and the church freed from honorable obligation in a monetary sense. Then if further difficulty in running it should be met with, the faculty could be dismissed, the janitor discharged, the doors locked, a placard be placed across its principal entrance with the legend, 'Ichabod" printed on it, as a notice to all that the church had gone out of the business of looking after the education of her sons and daughters.

But, not till the debt is duly discharged, should the church or its defenders of every class hesitate or pause in urging it upon themselves and all others to become parties to the effort to meet and fully face the situation, and with the sinews of finance "pay what thou owest," as a duty to men and to God.

"Whatsoever thing is lovely and of good repute" we should seek after. And Paul's injunction is still of force, "Owe no man anything."

We have known what it was to be in debt for over forty years. And have at times so felt the pressure of the attitude of the chief ministerial officers, that they would not appoint a man as a missionary who did not pay his debts, or make proper arrangement with his creditors, that we were shamedfaced before audiences when the reflection would come to us that we owed what we could not pay and had no means of arranging with our creditors.

Others have felt, and do now feel the pressure of debt in a similar way; and it requires courage of a sure sort to overcome the severe restriction such a condition imposes, and assume an appearance of confidence and freedom of spirit.

Of course the pressure of private indebtedness would affect a man more than the sense of a general obligation, but the latter has its effect upon some.

However, the Bishop is hopeful that the affairs of the college may be satisfactorily arranged this conference year, provided the prospects of present prosperity continue. "Let us pray!" And while praying let us do what our prayers may ask for so far as in us lies.

TRACTS! TRACTS!!

It will be remembered that at the late conference we had some direction about tracts for general circulation.

As a means of letting people know what we believe, the use of pamphlets, booklets, or tracts is not only permissible but desirable. Short, pithy, readable dissertations on the different subjects of the belief and faith of the church can be used almost everywhere, and prove to be in the hands of workers a very efficacious aid to the preacher's work.

We invite the writers of the church to aid in the writing of these tracts; there being no good reason that we can see, why our people are not equal to the task, if it be a task. This invitation includes all.

As a help, we suggest that when essaying to write, you will take the HERALD and count the words in a given half column, and from the space covered by a hundred words determine the length of your tract, or A number of two leaf four page, four leaf eight page leaflets or tracts may be arranged in a series of two or a dozen successive treatises on different topics, to be used in distribution as one, two, three, etc., each to be taken up when its successor is left in places where they are likely to be read.

Bro. Wm. Penman Cairns, writing from Hamilton, Scotland, expresses the opinion that the indiscriminate scattering of tracts is not beneficial to the public good of the cause, or productive of the best results. He is impressed with the idea that the tract distributor should have some sort of assurance that the tract left at a house, where a house to house canvas is undertaken, will be read. otherwise it is not only a waste of the cost of the tract, which though small is still of value, but is also a waste of time and labor, both of importance in the day of warning.

It may be that others have met with similar experiences as this of Bro. Cairns, who have opinions on the subject. Let us hear from you.

The tracts referred to in the direction given at conference, we believe to be those which are to be prepared and used for general distribution. could not have been intended to mean that all the tracts written by the elders and Saints in local fields for use there, should be forwarded to the Presidency for inspection and indorsement, any more than that the Presidency should hear and pronounce on the merit or demerit of every sermon which the elders in the field should deliver, or contemplate delivering. This last would be impossible, and the other is impracticable and for that reason unnecessary. The Presidency will be pleased, however, to receive a copy of every tract and leaflet written and used in any field, in order to keep in touch with the laborers abroad as well as at home.

Any one having any sum or sums which they may choose to devote to the use of the tract fund, they will please remit to the Herald Publishing House, lock box E, Lamoni, Iowa, and the business manager of HERALD office will see that it is properly

Who will write the tracts? Let us hear from you, Saints.

OUR BRETHREN AT CLAY CROSS, ENGLAND.

The Clay Cross Chronicle, for Friday, May 3, contains two and one third columns of information about the church, its doctrine and history, beginning with an account of the erection and opening of a new chapel lately built by the Saints of that branch.

The opening ceremony was conducted by Elder J. W. Rushton, of Leeds, missionary appointed to Scotland, who was assisted by Elder Samuel Platts, president of the Sheffield district. Elder Thomas Taylor, of Birmingham, bishop's agent of the English mission, was expected to be present, but was unfortunately unable to attend through indisposition.

Elder S. Platts was in charge of the morning service on Sunday, which commenced at 10:45.

Elder J. W. Rushton, the preacher, read Psalm 111, and remarked that as the Israelites rejoiced at the dedication of the temple in Jerusalem, so the Saints could rejoice at the opening of that building, and though it is not adorned with the magnificent decorations as was the temple at Jerusaiem, yet they had sacrificed to build a house wherein they might worship God. After these remarks he took as was the temple at Jerusalem, yet they had remarks made, which were substantiated by other references from the Bible, were that the mission and work of Jesus Christ were to destroy the works of the devil, and to supplant in the place thereof works of righteousness, and the preacher enjoined upon all present the necessity of yielding obedience to God's word.

At three p. m., the prayer and testimony meeting was in charge of Elder J. W. Rushton, when a peaceful and profitable time was had by all present.

At six p. m., Elder S. Platts was again in charge. Elder J. W. Rushton took his text from Mark 16:16, from which an excellent sermon was delivered. A good congregation greeted the preacher, and all seemed to appreciate his remarks.

It was announced that Elder Rushton would preach each night during the week at seven o'clock, except Monday and Saturday. He will also preach next Sunday, 10: 45 a. m., and six p. m.

The collections at the close realized £3 1s.

On Monday a public tea was held at 5:30 p. m., when about 150 sat down. This number was considerably in advance of what was expected; in fact, all could not sit down together, and quite a number had to wait for a second turn.

A public meeting followed the tea, when Priest John Holmes was in charge. Six of the brethren present made short speeches. There was an excellent attendance.

The Saints desire to thank all the friends who have so nobly contributed to their cause.

This account is followed by an article said to be a brief of a sermon preached by Bro. J. W. Rushton, in the chapel, on the subject of the Book of Mormon, and a second article, An account of Joseph Smith and the initiation of the Latter Day Saints," by Bro. C. Cousins.

Taken all together, it is an excellent showing of our brethren of Clay Cross.

LIVE PIGEON SHOOTING.

A commendable effort is being made by the editor of Our Dumb Animals to stop the cruel practice of shooting live pigeons from the trap. An effort is being made now in the legislature of New York to pass a law stopping the practice in that state, and the editor of Our Dumb Animals thought it a good time to enter a protest against the practice everywhere. We wish Mr. Angell success in his attempts, and most sincerely wish that the practice could be stopped throughout the United States.

In many states it is not allowed, and it is a matter of some surprise that all the states have not taken a step to put a stop to a sport that is so degrading in its nature. We do not see wherein good can come from such sport, in any way; but we do see where there can come an untold amount of evil, as is pointed out by Mr. Angell, in cultivating a spirit of cruelty which is barbarous in the extreme. Our sportsmen, of course, do not realize to what an extent the spirit of cruelty grows upon them; but that it does is evidenced by the fact that men naturally tender-hearted learn to look upon the suffering of the unfortunate pigeons with absolute indifference, catching them with baited hooks, wounding them and leaving them to the mercies of a trained dog, and by putting out an eye, or pulling out feathers so as to affect the flight of the pigeons, in their attempts to escape, in such a way as to procure certain difficult shots.

Why is it that men who are fond of shooting cannot satisfy themselves with shooting at targets or clay pigeons? Why is it that some of them grow to think that they must have live marks to shoot at? Is it the shooting that they enjoy, or is it the killing of creatures that are handicapped in making their escape from their tormentors?

"Thou shalt not kill," is the mandate of the Mosaic law; and while that is generally interpreted to mean the taking of a human being's life, we are not prepared to say that it does not apply with considerable force to killing in any way. In Ecclesiastes, third chapter, we are told that there is a time for everything, and in the third verse is the statement that there is a time to kill. In the same chapter we are told that man should eat and drink, and enjoy the good of all his labor, as a gift from God; but in the latter part of the chapter it declares that what befalls the sons of men befalls the beasts, and that man "hath no preeminence above a beast." Then why should we, unlike the beasts of the field, kill except when we have need for food which could be furnished by the body of the slain creature? God has not created for us to waste, and we firmly believe that we shall be held strictly accountable for the lives we take, no matter what the creature is that bears the life.

In the word of the Lord to us in this day, as found in Doctrine and Covenants, section 49, paragraph 3, we find this:

And whose forbiddeth to abstain from meats, that man should not eat the same, is not ordained of God; for, behold, the beasts of the field, and the fowls of the air, and that which cometh of the earth, is ordained for the use of man, for food, and for raiment, and that he might have in abundance, but it is not given that one man should possess that which is above another; wherefore the world lieth in sin; and woe be unto man that sheddeth blood or that wasteth flesh and hath no need.

God has given, that we might possess everything to satisfy the needs of man; but he will hold us accountable for our stewardship, and we are warned to use wisely and waste not. In the light of this, Latter Day Saints cannot consistently indulge in anything like the shooting of live pigeons; nor, indeed, in any unnecessary slaughter of any life. Hence it is that we feel sure that the Saints will always be found ready to work for the suppression of live pigeon shooting or anything of like nature.

Bro. C. Cousins has the concluding portion of his article on "Joseph Smith and the Initiation of the Church," in the Clay Cross Chronicle for Friday, May 10, 1901, which reached us on the 20th.

Bro. Cousins closes his article:

The Clay Cross branch is in the Sheffield district, which has a radius of twenty-five miles from Sheffield. As the doctrine of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints claims to be of divine origin, I would ask the reader to carefully investigate before condemning, yea, in the words of the Apostle Paul, I would say, "Prove all things, and hold fast that which is good."

EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS.

In a letter to Bro. E. C. Briggs, Leonard Scott writes, under date of the 8th inst. from Hopkins. Michigan:

I am at Bro. Sherman I. Smith's. Preached in hall at station last night. There is a great interest and commotion here. Congregationalist pastor has lectured twice against us, but he has done so both times on the sly. We knew nothing. Bro. Durand is doing good work through here. I was at Lansing last week. Held some interesting services and baptized two persons. I have had a tilt through the Coldwater papers with the Brighamites, who have been working there. The editor of the Reporter gave me one full column, and the Utah elders have not lisped since we gave them the shot. They took train east the other afternoon.

Bro. John Shields writes from Col-

poys Bay, Ontario, May 18:

The preachers here are working hard against us, circulating tracts reflecting the views of Brighamism and trying to class us with the Utah people, and lecturing from pulpit against us. But the Lord is blessing us, and the honest in heart are coming into the kingdom. Baptized four good people lately; others near.

EDITORIAL ITEMS.

At the general assembly of the Presbyterians in Philadelphia, May 21, in the report of the committee on home missions, Congress was urged to act on the anti polygamy amendment before the Mormons can secure the balance of political power in other states than Utah.

Original Articles.

"ZION AND HER LAW."—NO. 2.
BY JOSEPH FLORY.

In section 70:1, 2, we find a revelation and commandment given to certain ones therein named, appointing them to be stewards over the revelations and commandments which had been and might yet be given to the church, and their business was to manage the concerns thereof, and the benefits thereof, that those things should not be given unto the church or the world. But if they received more than was needful for their necessities and wants, it should be given into the storehouse to be consecrated unto the inhabitants of Zion. general principle herein taught is that they would be held accountable for their stewardship over the properties therein named, and given into their charge. From the position occupied in the church by those named, and the character of the properties specified, we claim that they were not under the same rules and regulations as the rules governing the stewardship of the members and those classed with them; namely, priests and teachers, as already noted; but were under that portion of the law which, as we have already stated, was not applicable to the general membership of the church. From what follows, in paragraph 3, of same section (70), which we quote below, we are sure the general principle of accountability over stewardships was taught; and in whatever sense the word stewardship here was intended to be used, that it must be subject to that part of the law relating to and governing that particular class of stewardships which we will more fully illustrate further on.

Behold, this is what the Lord requires of every man in his stewardship, even as I, the Lord, have appointed, or shall hereafter ap-point unto any man. And, behold, none are exempt from this law who belong to the church of the living God; yea, neither the bishop, neither the agent, who keepeth the Lord's storehouse; neither he who is appointed in a stewardship over temporal things; he who is appointed to administer spiritual things, the same is worthy of his hire, even as those who are appointed to a stewardship, to administer in temporal things.—D. C. 70:3.

In order to more fully understand the course of procedure in carrying out the law of consecration, we will quote a letter written by Joseph Smith to Bishop Partridge in relation to this matter, as found in tract on tithing, page 4:

BRO. E. PARTRIDGE, Sir:—
I proceed to answer your questions, concerning the consecration of property: First, it is not right to condescend to very great particulars in taking inventories. The fact is this, a man is bound by the law of the church, to consecrate to the Bishop, before he can be considered a legal heir to the kingdom of Zion; and this, too, without constraint; and unless he does this, he cannot be acknowledged before the Lord, on the church book: therefore, to condescend to particulars, I will tell you that every man must be his own judge, how much he should receive, and how much he should suffer to remain in the hands of the bishop. I speak of those who consecrate more than they need for the support of themselves and their families

The individual consecrates all his property, giving an inventory to the bishop, and then takes back what he needs, and this he does by right, though with the consent of the bishop; and this is the manner of his receiving inheritance by consecration.

The matter of consecration must be done by mutual consent of both parties; for to give the bishop power to say how much every man shall have, and be obliged to comply with the bishop's judgment, is giving to the bishop more power than a king has; and, bishop more power than a ring has, and, upon the other hand, to let every man say how much he needs, and the bishop be obliged to comply with his judgment, is to throw Zion into confusion, and make a slave of the bishops. The fact is, there must be a believe of the bishops. balance or equilibrium of power between the bishop and the people; and thus harmony and good will be preserved among you.

Therefore, those persons consecrating property to the bishop in Zion, and then receiving an inheritance back, must show reasonably to the bishop that he wants as much as he claims. But in case the parties cannot come to a mutual agreement, the bishop is to have nothing to do about receiving their consecrations; and the case must be laid before a council of twelve high priests; the bishop not being one of the council, but he is to lay the case before them.

Joseph Smith here instructs the bishop as to the method of procedure. and that of necessity all must comply with the law in order to become legal heirs to the kingdom of Zion, or as we understand it, to be legally entitled to receive an inheritance in Zion, and which was more fully explained by the writer in the note at bottom of page of the tract on tithing, which note we have above quoted.

Section 72 contains instructions on various things connected with the bishopric, and that N. K. Whitney was to be appointed as bishop for Kirtland, while Bishop Partridge was to have charge of affairs in Zion. is but little else in section 72 that has a direct bearing on the subject, or the information we are searching for, except that the law required every man who went to Zion to lay all things before the bishop in Zion, which we have already quoted.

Section 82 explains the rights of widows and children, and confirms the statement made in section 51:1, that even transgressors may hold the inheritances they have received from the church according to the laws of the land, by virtue of a deed, as section 51:1 required to be given children of members who have obeyed the law of consecration and who have a claim on the church properties when they become of age, if their parents have not wherewith to give them inheritance.

The reader will please notice that we can draw an inference from the statement just made, i. e., that children will have a claim on their parents for inheritances if they have the wherewith to give them inheritances. Remember this, as we shall want to make a point on that further on.

We have now given the sum and substance of the law, as given to this time-April, 1832-which we claim is applicable to the body of the church at large. Some revelations that we have passed over, and some given later on, and which we will notice hereafter, we claim relate only to a certain class, or the officials of the church. With the law as given, and already quoted, in the hands of the church, they passed through all the vicissitudes brought to bear upon them, because of the evils they had to contend with, until July 8, 1838, when section 106 was given, and which has a direct bearing on the subject under consideration:

In answer to the question, O Lord, show unto thy servants how much thou requirest of the properties of thy people for a tithing?

Verily, thus saith the Lord, I require all verily, thus saith the Lord, I require all their surplus property to be put in the hands of the bishop of my church of Zion, for the building of mine house, and for the laying the foundation of Zion, and for the priesthood, and for the debts of the presidency of my church; and this shall be the beginning of the tithing of my people; and after that the tithing of my people; and after that, those who have thus been tithed, shall pay one tenth of all their interest annually; and this shall be a standing law unto them forever, for my holy priesthood, saith the Lord.

Verily I say unto you, It shall come to pass that all those who gather unto the land of Zion shall be tithed of their surplus properties, and shall observe this law, or they shall not be found worthy to abide among you. And I say unto you, If my people observe not this law, to keep it holy, and by this law sanctify the land of Zion unto me, that my statutes and my judgments may be kept thereon, that it may be most holy, behold, verily I say unto you, It shall not be a land of Zion unto you; and this shall be an ensample unto all the stakes of Zion. Even so. Amen. —D. C. 106.

Many theories have been advanced as to why section 106 was given and what its relation to the former revelations and to the church at large was. Some have claimed that section 106 is another and separate law from that given in section 42; that it (section 106) was given for a special purpose, and under particular circumstances, and that after those particular circumstances ceased to exist, it was not in force, at least not so far as the surplus clause was concerned. Others have claimed that the law given in section 42 not having been kept, section 106-an inferior law-was given as a schoolmaster to discipline the church preparatory to again observing the law given in section 42, and so on. Let us examine this matter. Does the question asked in section 106 give us any reason to believe that any particular circumstances existed requiring a special law for the time being? fail to see any grounds for such an idea, and certainly the answer given does not in the least support such a theory, from the fact that the revelation given is declared to be a "standforever," ing law and all who gather to Zion must observe it, or not be accounted worthy to abide there; and this law was to be an ensample to all the stakes of Zion, just as the instructions found in section 51:5 were declared to be in reference to the law given in section 42, under which they were then organized. By observing the law given in section 106, the land of Zion is to be sanctified, that God's statutes and judgments may be kept thereon, so that it may be most holythe highest degree of perfection. The observance of section 106 places the church in a position to do a perfect work, even all that that which had previously been given could do, which was intended to prepare them to escape the burning (section 64:5), and prepare the land so that it would be free from the curse when the Lord comes. (Section 38: 4.)

Where, then, is there room for two laws? We can find none; and if two have been given, one must be superfluous, for either could accomplish the work intended to be done; namely, establish and build up Zion, so as to be acceptable to the Lord. For what, then, is section 106 intended? It is simply an explanation of a law about which there had been some misunderstanding in the church.

This is the conclusion arrived at by the writer many years ago, from the very nature of the question asked, and from the answer given, and he has been fully confirmed in his conclusion by an article in the HERALD for February 6, 1886, page 86, by Bro. John Hawley, and by an editorial in HERALD for September 12, 1891, page 584. Bro. Hawley said that the bishop claimed that the law required one tenth of a man's possessions, while others claimed different, hence the question, "How much is required as a tithing?" as found in section 106. The editorial above referred to, which we quote, confirms the fact as stated by Bro. Hawley.

The time came in the history of the people when controversy arose concerning how and what they should pay into the treasury, and on bended knees the petition was made, "How much, O, Lord?" To this the Lord answered: "I require all their surplus property to be put in the hands of the bishop of my church in Zion."

This view is certainly satisfactory, and it alone should refute all other theories in reference to what section 106 is, and why it was given. But in addition we will yet produce two proofs to show that there is but one law. In section 58:4, the Lord says:

For verily I say unto you, My law shall be kept upon this land.

Given in Zion, August, 1831.

The revelation given to J. W. Briggs, in 1851, declares that God had not changed concerning Zion; that the land should be redeemed, Zion be reinhabited by the pure in heart, and his law which he had revealed to his servant, Joseph Smith, Jr., should be kept on the land.

No room for two laws to do the same work, or to be observed in the same place, consequently we claim that section 106 is only an explanation of and a defining of what was required of those who placed themselves under obligations to the law of consecration, as given in section 42, and the many other revelations given relative thereto.

Having proved our claim, as we think, that there is but one law, we shall now endeavor to harmonize all the revelations given in relation to the subject of giving property under the requirements of the law of consecration. If our position is correct in there being but one law given for the guidance of the church, then all the revelations given must harmonize when properly understood, or else we must conclude that we have been imposed upon somewhere; for if God is at the helm, his work is perfect. Whether or not a perfect understanding of the law was had at any time. even by the officials of the church prior to the giving of section 106 in 1838, or whatever the practice might have been previous to 1838—or even afterwards—should have no weight with us in forming our conclusions in reference to the law, unless it be shown that such practice was in harmony with the revelations given. That there was, however, not a satisfactory understanding, is evident from the fact that information was asked relative to how much of the properties of the Saints was required as a tithing; and that the same state of affairs, or want of understanding, has existed more or less in the Reorganization is clearly evidenced in the revelation given April 15, 1894, section 122: 5, 6, Doctrine and Covenants.

Section 106 having, as we claim, been given as explanatory of that which had previously been given, let us see what it requires, and then go back and see if we can harmonize that which had been previously given with section 106. In section 106 the Lord says:

Verily, thus saith the Lord, I require all their surplus property to be put into the hands of the bishop of my church of Zion, . . . and this shall be the beginning of the tithing of my people.

Here we have a plain statement, that as a beginning of tithing, all the surplus is required, which is in harmony with what was given to Martin Harris, who was the first one commanded to give money for church purposes—the printing of the Book of Mormon, section 18:3; and paragraph 5, same section, the command was for him to—impart a portion of thy property; yea, even part of thy lands, and all save the support of thy family.

Here we have the principle of giving all the surplus for the benefit of the church. And Martin Harris was afterwards counseled to become an example unto the church in laying his moneys before the bishop of the church.—Sec. 58.7.

This latter being after the law in section 42 had been given, it was in same section and paragraph, 58: 7, declared:

And, also, this is a law unto every man that cometh unto this land [Zion], to receive an inheritance, and he shall do with his moneys according as the law directs.

Martin Harris' example in laying his moneys before the bishop was doubtless with a view to his receiving an inheritance, as paragraph 8 gives us to understand he was to receive such. In March, 1830, he was commanded to give his surplus (sec. 18). If he did this, then, it would in all probability leave him without any surplus to consecrate when commanded to lay his moneys before the bishop in August, 1831 (sec. 58:7). as an ensample to the church, which was not to be only an ensample but a law to every man who went to Zion to receive an inheritance. (Sec. 58:7.) We would infer from this act of Martin Harris, that in placing ourselves under the requirements of the law of consecration, we must consecrate all we have in the first place to the bishop, which inference is fully confirmed in section 72:3, which declares that according to the law every man that cometh up to Zion must lay all things before the bishop in Zion.

If we now refer to the letter of instructions by Joseph Smith to Bishop Partridge on this subject, which we have quoted, together with the note at the bottom of the page as explanatory by the writer of the tract on tithing, we shall find language used which cannot well be misunderstood as meaning that when an individual places himself under the requirements of the law of consecration, he places without reserve all his property into the hands of the bishop by "a covenant and a deed which cannot be broken;" and having done this, it is his by right, and the law now requires the bishop to give him an inheritance or stewardship, secured by deed; and it may be some of the same property which he had consecrated to the bishop. According to the law, then, the man shall be made accountable unto God, a steward over his own property, or that which he has received by consecration, inasmuch as is sufficient for himself and family. (Sec. 42:8, 9.)

By reference to section 51:1, we learn that in the giving of property as inheritances to the Saints, there must be an equitable division of the properties "according to their families, according to their circumstances, and their wants and needs," and that each one is to have his portion—inheritance, stewardship, or whatever you may choose to call it-"deeded unto him. "and thus all things shall be made sure according to the laws of the land," so that both parties to the transaction-the man who consecrated to the bishop and the bishop who gave him an inheritance or stewardship-have performed an act or made a covenant and a deed which will stand the tests of the courts of the land, or which cannot be broken.

The transaction just described is the operation of the law by which the Saints are to be made equal. The man of wealth places all he has in the bishop's hands and receives back an amount "sufficient for himself and family" (42:9), leaving all his surplus in the bishop's hands as section 106 requires, or he has "remembered the poor and consecrated of his properties for their support or benefit," as section 42:9 requires.

The poor man with but a small amount of property comes, and being worthy, he consecrates his all (little though it may be), even as the wealthy man has already done, and receives from the bishop his stewardship or inheritance. Now remember that in section 51: 1 the bishop was instructed to "appoint unto this people," the Saints of God, "their portion, every man"—not in proportion to what he may have brought, but "equal according to their families, according to their circumstances, and their wants and needs."

Remember, we quoted from section 101:2, that God had created all things, and he intended to provide for his Saints; but he was going to do it in his own way, and his way was that the poor were to be exalted and the rich were to be made low, and that if any were not willing to comply with the law of the gospel in this respect, they would share the same fate as the wicked. Will the interpretation that we have thus far put upon the law under consideration do what God has all through the book of Doctrine and Covenants declared he would do, i. e., make the Saints equal in temporal things? We think that there is no question but that it will do just what he designed it to do, and bring about just such a condition of affairs as existed among the people of Enoch.

And the Lord called his people Zion, because they were of one heart and one mind, and dwelt in righteousness; and there was no poor among them.—D. C. 36: 2.

Does this interpretation harmonize the various revelations given? So far as we have gone, we claim it does. Section 42: 8 teaches the consecration of properties for the benefit of the poor. It does not say how much. Section 106, given in answer to the question, "How much?" says all of their surplus as a beginning.

So far we have harmony. How this was to be done we have already explained by reference to other revela-tions, and to Bishop Partridge's instructions on that subject; and have also shown where the individuals now stand; both the one who had been rich and the one who had been poor, are now equal, and each is in possession of a stewardship or inheritance in Zion, which is called his own property, and is secured to him by deed made sure. According to the laws of the land they have now placed themselves under obligations-are indebted or made responsible—to God and his law, and are expected to obey or fulfill the requirements of God's law as pertaining to temporal or property interests of the church, even the law of consecration, under which they They are have placed themselves. now citizens of the kingdom of God, and are subject to the laws of that kingdom.

We now quote again from section 42:10, as we now enter upon ground where we shall have to combat the idea held by some who have in the past written to the church papers on the law of consecration, that those who were under its requirements would, from time to time, have to consecrate all of their increase or gains which they might secure through the management of their stewardships which had been placed in their hands.

And again, if there shall be properties in the hands of the church, or any individuals of it, more than is necessary for their support, after this first consecration, which is a residue, to be consecrated unto the bishop, it shall be kept to administer unto those who have not, from time to time, that every man who has need may be amply supplied, and receive according to his wants.

That this paragraph teaches an after consecration, after the one required in paragraph 8, is unquestion. ably true, and for what purposes it was to be used as well; but how often it was to be observed is not stated. But this it certainly does teach, that if there are, or shall be, properties in the hands of the church, or any individuals of it, more than are necessary for their support, after this first consecration, which is a residue. to be consecrated unto the bishop, they shall be thus disposed of. The question is, Does it teach that all of the properties thus found are to be consecrated? Some will doubtless say, Certainly; for some have so claimed in the past. Let us see. Now notice the language used, which says,

If there shall be properties in the hands of the church, or any individuals of it, more than is necessary for their support, after this first consecration, which is a residue, to be consecrated unto the bishop, it shall be kept,

Upon the meaning and proper application of the phrase, "which is a residue," subject to the requirements of the law of consecration, will depend whether all or only a part of the properties thus found in the hands of the church, or any individuals of it, are to be consecrated.

Now let us go back to the individual who has made his first consecration. i. e., tithed himself of all his surplus properties, as taught in section 106. and who is now under obligations, or indebted to the law to observe its requirements, and see if we can find a harmony there in section 106 with what we are now considering in reference to this after consecration, as found in section 42:10.

Webster defines "residue" to mean 'that which remains due of a debt or account."

Then that which remains of a debt. and is not yet paid, is a residue. Now what obligation or debt does section 106 say the individual owes, or is due, under the law as there given in answer as to how much is required as a tithing? The first debt was, or required, a consecration of all their surplus property, and after that those who have thus been tithed shall pay one tenth of their interest annually: and this shall be a standing law unto them forever, for my holy priesthood, saith the Lord.

Remember, that in section 42:10, we are taught that if properties are found in the individual's hands more than he has need of, which is a residue to be consecrated or paid over to the bishop—a part of a debt not yet paid—that it must be paid over to the bishop, etc. Section 106 says one tenth of the interest is the amount due at the end of each year. Conseconsecration of section 42:10 consists of one tenth of the interest or increase the individual has made in the management of his stewardship since his first consecration, and that the time of paying this part of the debt-or residue of a debt contracted when he placed himself under obligation to this law—was to become due and payable annually.

Will the language used in section 42:10 admit of such a construction? We think it will. Notice, it says if there be properties more than necessary for their support, which is a residue—part of a debt. It does not say that such property if found is all a residue, or part of a debt, and must all be consecrated. This leaves, we think, a clear inference that such property may be found which is not a residue and is no part of the debt to be consecrated to the bishop, and which section 106 clearly defines that in the after consecration only a part, one tenth, of the interest or increase as it is generally understood to mean, which may be found in the individual's hands is a residue, or part of a debt, to be annually paid to the bishop, as contracted by the individual when he accepted the terms of the law, as given in section 106.

We shall now notice paragraph 14 of section 42, which we think is one of the strongest passages to be found in favor of the theory that all of the increase must be consecrated to the church by those who hold stewardships under the law of consecration of the class of stewardships that we have now under consideration; namely, that of the general member-ship. We shall by and by find a class of stewards and stewardships in which all of the increase is required from those in charge of them, and shall then attempt to show a harmonious whole of all the revelations given concerning Zion and her law. We quote paragraph 14 of section

Thou shalt stand in the place of thy stew. ardship; thou shalt not take thy brother's garment; thou shalt pay for that which thou shalt receive of thy brother; and if thou obtainest more than that which would be for thy support, thou shalt give it unto my storehouse, that all things may be done according to that which I have said.

This paragraph teaches the relation that one man holds to his brother's stewardship or property, and that is, that you have no right to take from your brother his property, but that you shall pay him for it, just as the Saints in Book of Mormon times did when they were working under the same law, and which in Book of Mormon is called having "all things in common;" yet they "dealt justly one with another," which we think implies property rights in the individual, and that the "all things in common" prinquently we conclude that the after ciple is only to be understood in a limited sense, as we shall see further on in reference to that principle, as taught in Doctrine and Covenants. But to our subject in section 42:14. After telling how to deal with one another, the Lord said:

If thou obtainest more than that which would be for thy support, thou shalt give it unto my storehouse, that all things may be done according to that which I have said.

This giving into the storehouse must be the after consecration mentioned in paragraph 10, and is subject to the same rule or law by which that is governed; for, notice the last clause says "that all things may be done according to that which I have said;" undoubtedly that which had previously been said on the same subject, must have reference to paragraph 10 in the same section. then, we have harmonized the law, as given in paragraph 10, with the law as explained in section 106, we must not let an isolated passage have greater weight in our minds in determining what is meant than we find in the general law, which has been so plainly and completely explained in section 106. If our explanation is not allowed, then let us have a harmonious explanation on some other theory than that there is but one general law governing the matter under consideration. When we remember that scribes, copyists, and printers all may make mistakes—and we have already showed that even a wrong punctuation may destroy the sense of a sentence so that it will not give the correct idea—should we not better conclude an error has been made by some one in that capacity than to try too strongly to force an interpretation on that paragraph which will destroy all the harmony already shown to exist in the two revelations given on the same subject?

And again, section 82, given to define the rights of women and children under the law of consecration, certainly teaches in harmony with section 106, that not all of the increase of those who have tithed themselves of their surplus properties is to be paid over into the storehouse. For if all must be paid over, how could they accumulate property so as to have wherewith to give inheritances to their children when they become of age, which idea is certainly implied in the language used in section 82, when speaking in reference to this matter.

This is the point we wish to make from the inference drawn from section 82, that children will have claim on their parents for an inheritance if their parents have the wherewith to give them inheritances. In section 94:2 we find the Lord describes a class of people who are brokenhearted, honest, of contrite spirits, sacrifice; yea, even every sacrifice which he shall command them, and as being accepted of him; and that he will cause them to bring forth as a very fruitful tree, which is planted in a goodly land by a pure stream of water, that yieldeth much precious

This condition of things is certainly most desirable. The people described must certainly be his Saints, and the condition of things described must be his blessings promised upon condition of obedience.

Although somewhat out of the line of our investigation, we here quote from paragraph 12, section 42, as part of the law given to the Saints, and which will call for a sacrifice from

And again, thou shalt not be proud in thy heart; let all thy garments be plain, and their beauty the beauty of the work of thine own hands, and let all things be done in cleanliness before me. Thou shall not be idle; for he that is idle shall not eat the bread nor wear the garments of the laborer.

This instruction, coupled with the word of wisdom (sec. 86), will require the Saints to lay aside much that is both useless and hurtful in dress and diet, which will no doubt prove a sacrifice, but will in the end prove a blessing unto them. Let us suppose that Zion is redeemed and the Saints ready to observe all the Lord has commanded or shall command them, and that he has commanded them to gather to Zion and her stakes, as he may from time to time appoint, and the time has come to accomplish all that is included in the phrase,

Let my commandments concerning Zion and her law be executed and fulfilled after

What do we see? Do the Saints come from all parts of the world observing all the commandments given, instructing them in reference to the gathering, while those who have already observed the command to gather into the regions round about will also place themselves under the law, in order that they may fulfill the command of God which says,

It is my will that those lands should be purchased, and after they are purchased, that my saints should possess them according to the laws of consecration which I have

And thus all place themselves under the requirements of Zion's law, the law of consecration, by which they are tithed of their surplus properties and receive an inheritance in the land Those who are poor and of Zion. worthy will also receive an inheritance upon the same equitable principle as the wealthy; all in harmony with the law in its various parts, as applicable to each individual's circumstances and conditions, as we have already set forth. The bishop, who is to receive their consecrations willing to observe their covenants by and give them their inheritances, must be governed by just and righteous principles, for he is appointed to be a judge in Israel, like as it was in ancient days, to divide the lands of the heritage of God unto his children, and to judge his people by the testimony of the just, and by the assistance of his counselors, according to the laws of the kingdom which are given by the prophets of God.— D. C. 58:4.

None such as are described in section 56:5 need apply, for it says:

Woe unto you rich men, that will not give your substance to the poor, for your riches will canker your souls; and this shall be your lamentation in the day of visitation, and of judgment, and of indignation: The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and my soul is not saved! Woe unto you poor men, whose hearts are not broken, whose spirits are not contrite, and whose bellies are not satisfied, and whose hands are not stayed from laying hold upon other men's goods, whose eyes are full of greediness, who will not labor with their own hands!

Behold, the Lord requireth the heart and a willing mind: and the willing and obedient shall eat the good of the land of Zion in these last days; and the rebellious shall be cut off out of the land of Zion, and shall be sent away, and shall not inherit the land; ... Zion; and liars and hypocrites shall be proved by them, and they who are not apostles and prophets shall be known. And even the highest and hypocrites are not apostles and prophets shall be known. And even the bishop, who is a judge, and his counselors, if they are not faithful in their stewardships, shall be condemned, and others shall be planted in their stead.—D. C. 64:7, 8.

But blessed are the poor, who are pure in heart, whose hearts are broken, and whose spirits are contrite, for they shall see the kingdom of God coming in power and great glory unto their deliverance; for the fatness of the earth shall be theirs; for, behold, the Lord shall come, and his recompense shall be with him, and he shall reward every man, and the poor shall rejoice; and their genera-tions shall inherit the earth from generation to generation, forever and ever.—D. C. 56:6. (To be continued.)

NOT OF A KIND.

Some time has now elapsed since the Graceland College agitator has greeted you in behalf of that Godacknowledged church institution.

At the conference three members of the board of trustees were chosen, organized for and we are now the business of another conference It was thought advisable to continue me in the same work as last year, so here goes, with the understanding that my efforts shall be to promote the best interest and success of Graceland, with no intent or wish to find fault with the views of anyone, or to wound the tender feelings; and all my appeals shall be with the positive understanding that all who shall contribute are to do so of their own free will.

I have permission to use the following letters:

Dear Sir and Brother:—In looking over your plea for Graceland, in the SAINTS' HERALD for March 13, I observed this lan-guage: "I talk in behalf of its interest, that guage: the youthful poor may receive the blessing of an education within her walls."

Now is it not a fact that any of the Saints living at a distance from Lamoni, in order to obtain this blessing spoken of by you, must have enough of this world's goods to enable them to dress their children well? Or in other words, provide them well with clothboard while there, furnish books for them, and pay tuition, and provide for their expense to return home?

If my conclusions are correct I fail to see how the poor can be benefited, except a few who live in the immediate vicinity of La-moni. But I can see how the selfish rich people of the church can be helped by it.

Now if I am correct in my conclusions, then I frankly admit that I don't care to help that class to get richer. But if it be true, that by helping Graceland now, she can get on such a paying basis after awhile that the worthy poor in the church can really be benefited, then I want to be enrolled as one of her helpers now, and will try from this on to give what I can, and will talk and work to get others interested.

Please answer this through the HERALD, and oblige.

Without doubt this brother's heart is in the right place, and perhaps his erroneous conclusions may have arisen from imbibing misrepresentations relative to Graceland and her work, or from his educational viewpoint; however, as he gives evidence of a willingness of conversion to helpfulness, we accept the task, with this proviso, that a man shall not be made an offender for a word.

My observation would be: It is the unwritten law, and society will not excuse parents, that they should furnish to their children wholesome and sufficient food, comfortable and respectable wearing apparel, with an education equal to the demand of life work-either of business or place of trust that by vote the community may impose.

Graceland College has not prescribed a uniform dress, either as to fashion or value of fabric. So far as I know, the boy in overalls, or girl in calico, would be as welcome as those in broadcloth and silk.

It would be both unjust and unreasonable to expect any institution of learning to meet the expense of textbooks, and the transportation of students to and from the seat of operation.

While we cannot furnish free board, we have aided a number in obtaining places where they could work for their board.

A number of students in Graceland, through the provisions made, have gained the benefit of education, and that without the payment of tuition. This, however, could not be the general rule, for instructors must live and charity alone will not keep the heating plant in coal. A college with open door to all comers would be impracticable, and such an idea could only be the fruitage of a chimerical propagandist.

It is unjust and untrue to claim that any rich, either in or out of the

to their possessions from Graceland College. Some who have means are paying for scholarships, and are allowing said scholarships to the use and benefit of those who otherwise could not attend college; and be it here understood that some of these beneficiaries are not autochthonous of Lamoni, but their home is more than a thousand miles distant.

The worthy poor need not wait until Graceland hath won the victory over debt and poverty, for some worthy poor have been, and are now being, helped to an education. Do not keep your help until Graceland stands as a giant among the institutions of learning of free America; but now, in the time of need, bestow your aid, that a wider circle of usefulness may be open to a greater number of the worthy poor.

From the far away "Nutmeg State" comes the following:

Dear Brother in Christ:-You will please find inclosed money order for Graceland. It is only a mite, but I feel under obligation to do something for the institution of learning that comes under the Church of Jesus Christ, although when I first united with the church I was unable to see why those coming into the church after the structure had been built should be called upon to help pay off a debt that others had contracted. But after due consideration of the matter, I was given evidence that this work was true, and indeed of God, and that Graceland was an institution of learning of great importance to the church, for in it the young could and would be educated to carry on the great work of re-demption. So today I am a firm believer in the fact that when anyone accepts this gospel, they of necessity accept all that goes with it, and appertains to it. I hope Graceland will soon be freed from debt and shine forth to the world as the only institution of its kind in the land, that comes directly under the divine influence of the gospel of Jesus Christ.

The foregoing breathes the sentiment of one converted to the purposes and needs of our college.

For self-denial and real sacrifice, here comes from one of our National Soldiers' Homes the following:

Dear Sir and Brother:-I have been for some weeks planning and saving to go to our next General Conference, and had saved up eight dollars, and said I was going. I have no property, and that eight dollars is all the money I have, but when I read your "What Kind" in the HERALD today, I thought I would deny myself of the long wished for (and now lost) chance of seeing one General Conference, and send you the six dollars that it would cost me for fare to Independence, to use for Graceland.

My fare would be six dollars and fifty-five cents, as I am an old soldier and could get half fare. That will leave me a couple of dollars cas capita. If I had the cash you would not have to repeat the call for the money for Graceland, or any other good cause.

I ask an interest in your prayers that God may forgive my sins, and that I may be kept faithful, so that I may have part in the first resurrection.

Yes sir! I will pray for the old soldier, and also that the same spirit that moved him to action, may move church, have ever added a dollar upon thousands whose minds, hearts, or pocket-books have not yet opened to the necessity and aid of our Graceland. More anon, ROBT. M. ELVIN.

Box 224, Lamoni, Iowa,

Selected Articles.

THE MASTODON AT THE BROOKLYN INSTITUTE MUSEUM.

During the summer of 1899 a skeleton of Mastodon giganteus was found upon the farm of Frederick W. This Schaeffer, at Newberg, N. Y skeleton was purchased by members of the board of trustees of the Brooklyn Institute Museum, and is now mounted and on public exhibition at the Museum building, on Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn.

The skeleton is almost complete, so far as the trunk is concerned, but most of the leg bones were not found. These have been replaced in plaster or from other mastodon bones.

The skeleton was found about four to six feet below the surface, lying upon the clay bottom of what had been a small pool of water. At the death of the mastodon this pool became partially filled with a layer of peat, having a maximum thickness of about three and one half feet. merous sticks gnawed by beavers were found scattered through this peat, showing that the beavers had lived there long after the death of the mastodon. The peat was covered with a layer of clay and of black loam about two and a half feet in thickness.

There is some reason to believe that the Brooklyn mastodon died long after the glacial period, but a careful examination of the locality must be carried out by some competent physiographical geologist before any statement to this effect can be made with certainty. The Brooklyn mastodon was an adult individual, and is peculiar in that the tusks curve upward and inward, their outer points being not more than eight inches apart.

In most mastodon skeletons it will be remembered that the tusks bend outward. There are no traces of tusks having been present in the lower jaw. Such tusks are seen in young mastodons, but they were shed at maturity by the females and occasionally replaced by a permanent tusk on the left side in the males.

The mastodon was common from Mid-Tertiary times until near the close of the glacial epoch, over the United States, from the Gulf of Mexico northward and from the west banks of the Hudson river to the Mississippi Valley. It was rare to the eastward of the Hudson, and this river probably proved a barrier to its migrations.

Several good skeletons have been found at Newburg, where they appear to have become mired in soft swampy ground. There is reason to believe that the animals fed upon the twigs and leaves of trees, for half-digested spruce twigs were found in the midst of the ribs of one of the Newburg mastodons.

The mastodon probably presented the appearance of a huge hairy elephant having remarkably long, massive tusks. Although we have no direct evidence, there is some reason to believe that man coëxisted with the mastodon in North America.

The mammoth (Elephas primigenius) lived in North America at the time of the mastodon and probably survived long after the latter disappeared. It is certain that prehistoric man hunted the mammoth in Europe, for numerous remains of carved mammoth bones are found in the caverns of the Vézère and at other places in France. Among these is a rude drawing of the mammoth executed upon a slab of mammoth ivory. — Prof. Alfred G. Mayer, in Scientific American for May 18, 1901.

PACIFIC KINDRED POLYNESIAN TYPES AS SEEN IN TRAVEL.

OBSERVATIONS OF BAINBRIDGE, M. A.

[The following, taken from the Pacific Commercial Advertiser, published at Honoluiu, appeared in the issue of that paper for April 23 The paper was sent us by Bro. G. J. 23 The paper was sent us by Bro. G. J. Waller, and we deem the article of sufficient interest to justify its reproduction in the HERALD.

I find in my genealogical researches regarding the Polynesian races that the Maoris, Tongans, Tahitians, Samoans, and Hawaiians can without difficulty be proved one and the same family. My researches carry us back unerringly to a period of probably one thousand years ago, which may be considered as fairly remote in two ancestral lines as thus:

Maori-Toi, Whatonga, Raura. Samoan—Ta, Atonga, Raulu.

Maoriori (the people who are supposed to have inhabited New Zealand before the Maoris)-Toi, Hatonga, Raura.

Here we have absolute agreement in the order and names of these ancestors of the Maori and Samoans. The variation in "orthography" is due to the peculiar dialect which the latter have no doubt contracted by closer contact with their barbarous speaking neighbors of the west. By tracing these lines down to the present day it will be found that they severally give a mean of about forty generations, some more, others again less. Assuming twenty five years to fairly represent a generation, we have here a period in Polynesian history of one thousand years ago, which absolutely accords with that of their kindred of Samoa, while that of the Maoriori, was as complete as that of the Samoan, also give the names in the same order if not so fully:

Raratongan, Moemetua, Moeitiiti. Tahitian-Moeteraur, Moeitiiti. Maori-Mouriuri, Moitiiti.

Finally, if we choose to review a period which is at the least twenty generations, or about five hundred years earlier, one thousand five hundred years ago, we may do so thus:

Hawaiian—Laka, Wahicioa, Aloha. Maori—Rata, Wahicro, Aroha. Samoan— ..., Taolfa.

With a variation in orthography only, we at this remote period find perfect harmony in the genealogical tables of these people, who for hundreds of years have been separated by that vast surface of heaving waters. Polynesian history is built up in the lives and works of individuals who have succeeded each other in their generations: individual names are frequently derived from some circumstance connected with the birth or life of the possessor, and finally important principles are ofttimes associated in a name. Vast though the subject be and wide the interval of space and of time, unfettered by cataclysmal disasters and terrestrial changes, the mind of the native prophet, or adept, of less than 100 years ago could grasp with clearness the principles of creation which have been handed down as a legacy from his forefathers; he could explain the evolution and involution of a germ, how it was affected by its surrounding elements, and what those elements consisted of; he could describe the contents of the universe, recite how the stars were sown throughout space, their order and class, and the forces which keep them suspended and circling in their respective spheres; he could point to the four parts of the "Girdle of the Sky" and tell us that even these points participated in the unceasing motion visible elsewhere; he would state that far beyond the "column of the sky" or milky way, new worlds were ever being created and that Rehua-Sirius is recorded to have rushed in brilliance through the dark opening near the Southern Cross on the way to its present position in the sky. He would assert that all material and visible phenomena was hastening onward to its final equilibrium: that as a man was born of his mother, the earth, so he returns again to her. The Maori prophet will tell that his progenitors had originally belonged to a large country, the borders of which almost extended to New Zealand; that the principal part of that country was suddenly submerged by subterraneous forces, and that a large proportion of the people of his race perished, and at the same time historical buildings containing the whose isolation from New Zealand records of the history and all other

