Independence, Jackson County-----State of Missouri, As the forerunner of the night of the cad, and the messenger of the day of redemption, the Star will borrow its light from sacred sources, and be devoted to the revelations of God as made known to his sur-vants by the Holy Ghost, at sundry times since the creation of man, but nore especially in these last days, for the restoration of the house of Israel. We rejoice much because God hath been so mindful of his promise, as again to send into this world the Ho-ly Ghost, whereby we are enabled to know the right way to holiness; and, furthermore, to prove all dioc-trines, whether they he of God or of man for there can be but one, as Christ and the Father are one.-All of us know, or ought to, that our heavenly Fa-iher, out of all the peoples which he planted on the earth, chose but one people to whom he gave his earth, does but one people's which he planted on the earth, chose but one people to whom he gave his laws, his revelations, and his commandments, and this was Jacob his chosen and Israel his elect. All know, to, or might, that for disobeticner, or not keeping his commandments to do them, God had this needle carried have conting into all words. people carried away captive into all countries, and scattered among all nations, but promised that he would gather them and bring them again unto their own lands: then the land should yield its increase, and at that time he would take away the stony heart and give them a heart of flesh, and write his law in it, and give them a heart of flesh, and write his law in it, that all might know him from the least of them to the greatest of them......So that the knowledge of bim might fill the whole earth, as the waters cover the sea. At which time it shall no more be said, the Lord liveth that brought up the children of Israel out of Egypt, but, the Lord liveth that brought up the obtions of Lorend from the land of the north aud from of Egypt, but, the Lord liveth that brought up the children of Israel from the land of the north, and from all the lands whither he had driven them. And it shall come to pass in the last days, the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established in the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shell flow unto it. And many people shalt go and say. Come ye, and let us go up to the moun-tain of the Lord, to the house of the Gol of Jacob; and he will teach us of his ways, and ye will walk in his paths; for out of Zien shall go forth the law and the word of the Lord from Jerussiem. And it shall the word of the Lord from Jerusalem. And it shall rome to pass in that day, the Lord shell set his hand again the second time to recover the remnant of hand again the second time to recover the remnant of his product which shall be left, from Assyria, and from Egypt, and from Pathros, and from Cush, and from Elam, and hon Shinar, and from Hamath, and from the islands of the sea. And he shall set up an ensign for the nations, and shall assemble the out-casts of Israel, and gather together the dispersed of Judah from the four corners of the earth.

Second from the joint corticly of the carin. Second from the joint corticly of the carin, the second vr, to inherit the corth, until the children of Israel become as humerous as the stars in the sky, or the sand  $\pi$ pon the sea shore—Wherefore we beseech all that npon the set shore—Wherefore we beseech all that inave cars to hear, or eyes to see, to beware! for God, at all times, when he was about to visit the children of men for their wi kedness, bath sent angels, or prophets, to warn them of what was about to take place. As before the flood he sent Eno h and Noah, before the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah, two angels, before he took Israel out of Egypt, Moses and Aaron, and so down to the coming of our Savior; and test he expected before the great day of the Lord? Will God neglect to blow the trumpet in Zi-on, and sound an alarm in his holy mountain; or renon, and sound an alarm in his holy mountain; or re-fuse to pour out his Spirit upon all flesh that will serve him in truth, before the wicked shall be turned into hell, with all the nations that forget him? No; haven and earth shall pass away but not a joint toget him tog heaven and earth shall pass away but not a joi or tit-tle of his word shall ever fail. Therefore, in the fear of him, and to spread the truth among all nations, kindrens, tongues and people, this paper is sent forth, that a wicked world may know that Jesus Christ, the Redeemer who shall come to Zion, will soon appear, who then that look for him, the second time without sin unto salvation, to make a full end of all nations whither he hath driven Israel, but will not make a full end of him, because he cometh to make restitution of all things which he hath spoken by the mouths of all his holy prophets since the world began. The Book of Normou, having already gone to the world, being the fulness of the gospet to the Gentiles according to the promises of old, we know that the tessing of Joseph is near at hand. For his gld ry, the firstling of his bullock, and his horns, the horns of unicorns: with them he shall push the people togeth-er from the ends of the earth, to the place of the name of the Lord of hosts, the mount Zion: for in this mountain shall the Leyd of hosts make unto all people a feast of fat things, a feast of wines on the leve ple a least of lat trings, a least of whites on the lees well of fat things full of marrow, of whites on the lees well refined. And he will destroy in this mountain the face of the covering cast over all people, and the vail that is spread over all nations: wherefore it is now made known and published to the world, by the au-heading the behavior short the statement of thority of the beloved Savior, that the gathering of the house of Israel hath commenced upon the land of Zion; and that the church which is called the church of Christ, is an ensign to all nations, that the children of God are returning from their long dispersion, to possess the land of their inheritance, and reign with Christ a thousand years, while sataq is bound. We know there are many lying spirits abroad in the earth, to withstand the truth and decrive the

in the earth, to withstand the truth and deceive the people, but he cannot be called a disciple of the hum-ble Jesus, who do'th not know the language of God from the language of man. The Savior declares: He that will not believe my words, will not believe me, that I am; and he that will not believe me, will not believe the Father which sent me. For behold, I am the Father, I am the light, and the life, and the truth of the world. Come unto me, O ye Gentiles, and I will show unto you the greater things, the knowledge which is hid up because of unbelief. Come unto me O ye house of Israel, and it shall be made manifest unto you, how great things the Father hath laid up for you from the feandation of the world, and it hath for you from the foundation of the world; and it hath not come unto you, because of unbelief. Behold, when ye shall read that vail of unbelief which dota Behold, when ye man rend that yan of unbener when dom cause you to remain is your awful state of wickedness and hardness of heart, and Undness of mind, then shall the great and marvelous things which have been hid up from the foundation of the world from you; yea, when ye shall call upon the Father in my name, with a broken heart and a contrite spirit, then shall ye know that the Father hath remembered the covenant which he made unto your fathers, O house covenant which he made unto your fathers, O house of Israel; and then shall my revelations which I have caused to be written by my servant John, be unfolded in the eyes of all the people. Remember when ye say these things, ye shall know that the time is at hant that they shall be made manifest in very deed; and those endowed with power from on high shall do miracles by faith, and signs shall follow them that be heve, mait the Son of man cometh in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory. THE ARTICLES AND COVENANTS OF THE CHURCH OF CHRIST. [With a few items from other revelations.]

The rise of the church of Christ in these last days, being one thousand eight hundred and thirty years since the coming of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ in the flesh, it being regularly organized and established agreeably to the laws of our country, by the will and commandments of God in the fourth month, and on the sixth day of the month, which is called April: which commandments were given to Joseph Smith Jr. who was called of God and ordained an apostle of Jesus Christ, to be the first elder of this church: and to Oliver Cowdery, who was also called of God an apostle of Jesus Christ, to be the second elder of this church, and ordained under his hand: and this according to the grace of our Lord and Sayior Jesus Christ, to whom be all glory both now and forever. Amen.

After it was truly manifested unto this first elder that he had received a romission of his sins he was entangled again in the vanities of the world; but after repenting, and humbling himself, sincoroly, through faith God ministored unto him by a holy angel whose countenance was as lightning, and whose garments were pure and white above all other whiteness, and gave unto him commandments which inspired him, and gave him power from on high, by the means which were before prepared, to translate the book of Mormon. Which contains a record of a fallen people, and the fulness of the gospel of Jesus Christ to the Gentiles, and to the Jews also, which was given by inspiration, and is confirmed to others by the ministering of angels, and is declared unto the world by them, proving to the world that the holy scriptures are true, and that God does inspire men and call them to his holy work in this ago and generation, as well as in gencrations of old, thereby showing that he is the same God yesterday, to day, and forever. Amen.

to a knowledge of this work; and those who receive it in faith and work rightcousness, shall receive a crown of eternal life; but those who harden their hearts in unbelief and reject it, it shall turn to their own condemnation; for the Lord God has spoken it; and we the elders of the church have heard, and bear witness to the words, of the glorious Majesty on high, to whom be glory forever and ever. Amen.

By these things we know that there is a God in heaven who is infinite and eternal, from everlasting to everlasting the same unchangable God, the framer of heaven and earth and all things which are in them, and that he created man male and female: after his own image and in his own likeness created he them, and gave unto them commandments that they should love and serve him the only living and true God, and that he should be the only Being whom they should worship. But by the transgression of these holy laws, man became sensual and devilish, and became fallen man.

Wherefore, the Almighty God gave his only begotten Son, as it is written in those scriptures which have been given of him; he suffered temptations but gave no lived unto them; he was erucified, died, and rose again the third day; and ascended into heaven to sit down on the right hand of the Father, to reign with almighty power according to the will of the Father, that as many as would believe and be baptized, in his holy name, and endure in faith to the end should be saved; not only those who believed after he came in the moridian of time in the flesh, but all those from the beginning, even as many as were before he came, who believed in the words of the holy prophots, who spake as they were inspired by the gift of the Holy Ghost, who truly testified of him in all things, should have eternal life, as well as those who should come after, who should believe in the gifts and callings of God by the Holy Ghost, which bearoth record of the Father, and of the Son, which Father, Son, and Holy Ghost are one God, infinite and eternal, without end. Amon.

And we know that all mon must repent and believe on the name of Jesus Therefore, having so great witness- Christ and worship the Father in his even as many as shall hereafter come to the end, or they cannot be saved in the kingdom of God. And we know that justification through the grace of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, is just and true: and we know, also, that sanctification through the grace of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, is just and true, to all those who love and serve God with all their mights, minds, and strength; but there is a possibility that man may fall from grace and depart from the living God. Therefore let the church take heed and pray always, lest they fall into temptations; yea, and even let those who are sanctified. take heed also. And we know that these'things are true and according to the revelations of John, neither adding to, nor diminishing from the prophecy of his book, the holy scriptures, or the revelations of God which shall come hereafter by the gift and power of the Holy Ghost, the voice of God, or the ministering of angels: and the Lord God has spoken it; and honor, power, and glory, be rendered to his holy name, both now and ever. Amen.

And again by way of commandment to the church concerning the manner of baptism.

All those who humble themselves before God and desire to be baptized. and come forth with broken hearts and contrite spirits, and witness before the church that they have truly repented of all their sins and are willing to take upon them the name of Jesus Christ, having a determination to serve him to the end, and truly manifest by their works that they have received of the Spirit of Christ unto the remission of their sins, shall be received by baptism into his church.

The duty of the elders, priests, teachers, deacons, and members of the church of Christ.

An apostle is an elder, and it is his calling to baptize, and to ordain other elders, priests, teachers, and deacons, and to administer bread and wine-the emblems of the flesh and blood of Christ-and to confirm those who are baptized into the church, by the laving on of hands for the baptism of fire and the Holy Ghost, according to the scriptures; and to teach, expound, exhort, baptize, and watch over the church; and to confirm the church by the laying on of the hands, and the giving of the Holy Ghost-and to take the lead of all meetings.

ings as they are led by the Holy Ghost, according to the commandments and revelations of God.

The priest's duty is to preach, teach, expound, exhort, and baptize, and administer the sacrament, and visit the house of each member, and exhort them to pray vocally and in secret, and attend to all family duties: and he may also ordain other priests, teachers, and deacons-and he is to take the lead of meetings when there is no elderpresent, but when there is an elder present he is only to preach, teach, expound, exhort, and baptize, and visit the house of each member, exhorting them to pray vocally and in secret, and attend to all family duties. In all these duties the priest is to assist the elder if occasion requires.

The teacher's duty is to watch over the church always, and be with, and strengthen them, and see that there is no-iniquity in the church, neither hardness with each other; neither lying, backbiting, nor evil speaking; and see that the church meet together often, and also see that all the members do their duty-and he is to take the lead of meetings in the abscence of the elder or priest-and is to be assisted always, in all his duties in the church, by the deacons, if occasion requires: but neither teachers nor deacons have authority to baptize, administer the sacrament, or lay on hands; they are however to warn, expound, exhort, and teach, and invite all to come unto Christ.

Every elder, priest, teacher, or deacon, is to be ordained according to the gifts and callings of God unto him: and he is to be ordained by the power of the Holy Ghost which is in the one who ordains him.

The several elders composing this church of Christ are to meet in conference once in three months, or from time to time, as said conferences shall direct or appoint: and said conferences are to do whatever church business is necessary to be done at the time.

The elders are to receive their liscences from other elders by vote of the church to which they belong, or from the conferences.

Each priest, teacher, or deacon, who is ordained by a priest, may take a cirtificate from him at the time, which cirtificate when presented to an elder, shall entitle him to a license, which The elders are to conduct the nicet- shall authorize him to perform the du-tion of his calling—or ho may receive it from a conference.

No person is to be ordained to any office in this church, where there is a regularly organized branch of the same, without the vote of that church; but the presiding elders, travelling bishops, high counsellors, high priests, and eldors, may have the privilege of ordaining, where there is no branch of the church, that a vote may be called.

Every president of the high priesthood, (or presiding elder,) bishop, high counsellor, and high priest, is to be ordained by the direction of a high counsel, or general conference.

The duty of the members after they are received by baptism:

The elders or priests are to have a sufficient time to expound all things concorning the church of Christ to their understanding, previous to their partaking of the sacrament, and being confirmed by the laying on of the hands of the elders; so that all things may be done in order. And the members shall manifest before the church and also before the elders, by a godly walk and conversation, that they are worthy of it, that there may be works and faith agreeable to the holy scriptures—walking in holiness before the Lord.

Every member of the church of Christ having children, is to bring them unto the olders before the church, who are to lay their hands upon them in the name of Jesus Christ, and bless them in his name.

No one can be received into the church of Christ unless he has arrived unto the years of accountability before God, and is capable of repentance.

Baptism is to be administered in the following manner unto all those who repent: The person who is called of God and has authority from Jesus Christ to baptize, shall go down into the water with the person who has presented him, or herself for baptism, and shall say, calling him or her by name: Having been commissioned of Jesus Christ, baptize you in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Then shall he immerse him or Amen. her in the water, and come forth again out of the water.

It is expedient that the church meet together often to partake of bread and wine in remembrance of the Lord Jesus: and the elder or priest shall administer it: and after this manner shall he administer it: he shall kneel with the church and call upon the Father in solemn prayer, saying, O God, the eternal Father, we ask thee in the name of thy Son Jesus Christ to bless and sanctify this bread to the souls of all those who partake of it, that they may eat in remembrance of the body of thy Son, and witness unto thee O God, the eternal Father, that they are willing to take upon them the name of thy Son, and always remember him and keep his commandments which he has given them, that they may always have his Spirit to be with them. Amen.

The manner of administering the wine: He shall take the cup also, and say, O God, the eternal Father, we ask theo in the name of thy Son Jesus Christ, to bless and sanctify this wine to the souls of all those who drink of it, that they may do it in remembrance of the blood of thy Son which was shed for them, that they may witness unto thee, O God, the eternal Father, that they do always remember him, that they may have his Spirit to be with them. Amen.

Any member of the church of Christ transgressing, or being overtaken in a fault, shall be doalt with as the scriptures direct.

It shall be the duty of the several churches composing the church of Christ, to send one or more of their teachers to attend the several conferences, held by the elders of the church, with a list of the names of the several members uniting themselves with the church since the last conference, or send by the hand of some priest, so that a regular list of all the names of the whole church may be kept in a book, by one of the elders, whoever the other elders shall appoint from time to time: and also, if any have been expelled from the church; so that their names may be blotted out of the general church record of names.

All members removing from the church where they reside, if going to a church where they are not known, may take a letter certifying that they are regular members and in good standing; which certificate may be signed by any elder or priost, if the member receiving the letter is personally acquainted with the elder or priest, or it may be signed by the teachers, or deacons of the church.

EXTRACT OF A PROPHECY GIVEN MARCH 7, 1831.

O ye people of my church to Hearken, whom the kingdom has been given: hearken yc and give ear to him who laid the founda-tion of the earth; who made the heavens and all the host thereof, and by whom all things were made which live and move and have a being. And again I say, hearken unto my voice, lest death shall overtake you: in an hour when ye think not the summer shall be past, and the harvest ended, and your souls not saved. Listen to him who is the advocate with the Father, who is pleading your cause before him; saying, Father behold the sufferings and death of him who did no sin, in whom thou wast well pleased: behold the blood of thy Son which was shed, the blood of him whom thou gavest that thyself might be glorified; wherefore, Father spare these my brethren that believe on my name, that they may come unto me and have everlasting life

Hearken, O ye people of my church, and ye elders listen together, and hear my voice while it is called to-day and harden not your hearts; for verily I say unto you that I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the light and the life of the world, a light that shineth in darkness and the darkness comprehendeth it not: I came unto my own and my own received me not; but unto as many as received me gave I power to do many miracles, and to become the sons of God, and even unto them that believed on my name, gave I power to obtain eternal life.-And even so I have sent mine everlasting covenant into the world, to be a light to the world, and to be a standard for my people and for the Gentiles to seek to it; and to be a messenger before my face to prepare the Wherefore come ye unto it, way before me. and with him that cometh I will reason as with men in days of old, and I will show unto you my strong reasoning; wherefore hearken ye together and let me show it unto you, even my wisdom, the wisdom of him whom ye say is the God of Enoch, and his brethren, who were separated from the earth, and were received unto myself-a city reserved until a day of righteousness shall come-a day which was sought for by all holy men, and they found it not because of wickedness and abominations: and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth; but obtained a promise that they should find it, and sec it in their flesh. Wherefore hearken and I will reason with you, and I will speak unto you and prophesy as unto men in days of old; and I will show it plainly as I showed it unto my disciples, as I stood before them in the flesh, and spake unto them saying: As ye have asked of me concerning the signs of my coming, in the day when I shall come in my glory in the clouds of heaven, to fulfil the promises that I have made unto your fathers: for as you have looked upon the long absence of your spirits from your bodies to be a bondage, I will show unto you how the day of redemption shall come, and also the restoration of scattered Israel.

And now ye behold this temple which is fall from heaven; and the remnant shall in Jerusalem, which ye call the house of God, and your enemies say that this house shall never fall. But verily I say, unto you, that desolation shall come upon this generation as clothed with power and great glory, with all a thief in the night, and this people shall be destroyed and scattered among all nations, and this temple which ye now see, shall be thrown down that there shall not be left one stone upon another. And it shall come to pass, that this generation of Jews shall not pass away, until every desolation which I have told you concerning them, shall come to pass.

to pass. Ye say that ye know, that the end of the world cometh; ye say also that ye know, that the heavens and the earth shall pass away; and in this ye say truly, for so it is; but these things which I have told you, shall not pass away, but all shall be fulfilled .-And this I have told you concerning Jerusa-lem, and when that day shall come, a remnant shall be scattered among all nations, but they shall be gathered again; but they shall remain until the times of the Gentiles And in that day shall be heard be fulfilled. of wars and rumors of wars, and the whole earth shall be in commotion, and men's hearts shall fail them, and they shall say that Christ delayeth his coming until the end of the earth. And the love of men shall wax cold, and iniquity shall abound; and when the time of the Gentiles is come in, a light shall break forth among them that sit in darkness, and it shall be the filness of my gospel; but they receive it not, for they perceive not the light, and they turn their hearts from me because of the precepts of men; and in that generation shall the times of the Gentiles be fulfilled: and there shall be men standing in that genera-tion, that shall not pass until they shall see an overflowing scourge; for a dessolating sicness shall cover the land; but my disciples shall stand in holy places and shall not be moved; but among the wicked men shall lift up their voices and curse God and die. And there shall be earthquakes, also, in divers places, and many desolations, yet men will harden their hearts against me; and they will take up the sword one against another and they will kill one another.

And now, when I the Lord had spoken these words unto my disciples, they were troubled, and I said unto them, be not troubled, for when all these things shall come to pass, ye may know that the promises which have been made unto you, shall be fulfilled; and when the light shall begin to break forth, it shall be with them like unto a parable which I will show you: you look and behold the fig trees, and ye see them with your eyes, and ye say, when they begin to shoot forth and their leaves are yet tender, that summer is now nigh at hand; even so it shall be in that day when they shall see all these things; for then shall they know that the hour is nigh.

And it shall come to pass that he that feareth me shall be looking for the great day of the Lord to come, even for the signs of the coming of the son of man; and they shall see signs and wonders, for they shall be shown forth in the heavens above and in the earth beneath; and they shall behold blood and fire, and vapors of smoke; and before the day of the Lordshall come the sun shall be darkened, and the moon turned into blood, and stars fall from heaven; and the remnant, shall be gathered unto this place, and then they shall look for me, and behold I will come; and they shall see me in the clouds of heaven, clothed with power and great glory, with all the holy angels; and he that watcheth not for me shall be cut off.

But before the arm of the Lord shall fall, in angel shall sound his trump, and the saints that have slept, shall come forth to meet me in the cloud. Wherefore if ye have slept in peace blessed are you, for as you now behold me and know that I am, even so shall ye come unto me and your souls shall live, and your redemption shall be perfected; and the saints shall come forth from the four quarters of the earth: then shall the arm of the Lord fall upon the nations, and then shall the Lord set his foot upon this mount, and it shall cleave in twain, and the earth shall tremble and reel to and fro, and the heavens also shall shake, and the Lord shall utter his voice and all the ends of the earth shall hear it; and the nations of the earth shall mourn, and they that have laughed shall see their folly, and calamity shall cover the mocker, and the scorner shall be consumed, and they that have watched for iniquity, shall be hewn down and cast into the fire.

And then shall the Jews look upon me, and say what are these wounds in thy hands and in thy feet? then shall they know that I um the Lord; for I will say unto them, these wounds, are the wounds with which I was wounded in the house of my friends. I am he who was lifted up. I am Jesus who was crucified. I am the Son of God. And then shall they weep because of their imquities; then shall they lament because they persecuted their King. And then shall the heathen nations be redeemed, and they which knew no law shall have part in the first resurrection, and it shall be tolerable for them; and satan shall be bound that he shall have no place in the hearts of the children of men.

And at that day when I shall come in my glory, shall the parable be fulfilled which I spake concerning the ten virgins; for they that are wise and have received the truth and have taken the Holy Spirit for their guide, and have not been deceived; verily I say unto you, they shall not be hewn down and cast into the fire, but shall abide the day, and the carth shall be given unto them for an inheritance; and they shall multiply and wax strong, and their children shall grow up without sin unto salvation, for the Lord shall be in their midst, and his glory shall be upon them, and he will be their King and their Lawgiver.

And now, behold I say unto you, it shall not be given unto you to know any further than this until the new testament be translated, and in it all these things shall be made known; wherefore I give unto you that ye may now translate it, that ye may be prepared for the things to come; for verily I say unto you that great things await you: hear of wars in foreign lands, but behold I say unto you they are n'gh even at your doors, and not many years hence ye shall hear of wars in your own lands. Wherefore I the Lord have said, gather ye out from the eastern lands, assemble ye yourselves together ye elders of my church; go ye forth into the wes-tern countries, call upon the inhabitants to repent, and inasmuch as they do repent, build up churches unto me; and with one heart and with one mind, gather up your riches that ye may purchase an inheritance which shall hereafter be appointed you; and it shall be called the New Jerusalem; a land of peace; a city of refuge; a place of safety for the saints of the most high God; and the glory of the Lord shall be there, and the terror of the Lord also shall be there, insomuch that the wicked shall not come into it: and it shall be called Zion. And it shall come to pass among the wicked, that every man who will not take his sword against his neighbor, must needs flee unto Zion for safety. And there shall be gathered unto it out of every nation under heaven; and it shall be the only people that shall not be at war one with the other. And it shall be said among the wicked, let us not go up against Zion; for the inhabitants of Zion are terrible --wherefore, we cannot stand.

And it shall come to pass that the righteous shall be gathered out from among all nations, and shall come to Zion, singing, with songs of everlasting joy. Even so. Amen.

The Evening and the Morning Star.

INDEPENDENCE, MO. JUNE, 1822.

TO MAN.

With the help of God, the first number of the Evening and the Morning Star, comes to the world for the objects specified in its prospectus, which was published last winter.-That we should now recapitulate some of its leading objects, and briefly add a few remarks, will naturally be expected; and we cheerfully do so, that this generation may know, that the Star comes in these last days as the friend of man, to persuade him to turn to God and live, before the great and terrible day of the Lord sweeps the earth of its wickedness. That it comes not only as the messenger of truth, to bring the revelations and commandments of God which have been, but to publish those that God gives now, as in days of old, for he is the same God yesterday, to-day and forever; and, if, after he was taken up, as mentioned in the first chapter of Acts, he through the Holy Ghost had given commandments unto the apostles whom he had chosen, what possible reason is there to suppose that he would neglect to do likewise nowbefore he comes in his glory; before he gathers his elect, (the house of Israel; see Isaiah 45:4,) and even before John the revelator must prophesy again before many peoples, and nations, and tongues, & kings! (see Rev. 10.) We know of no reason in the bible.— That it comes as the harbinger of peace and good will to them that serve the Lord with a determination to have a part in the first resurrection, and finally become kings and priests to God, the Father, in the celestial kingdom, where God, and Christ is, and where they will be for eternity; and where will be also, the general assembly of the first born, the church of Enoch, who walked with God and built up Zion in the first days, which Zion and Enoch the Lord translated to paradise be-fore the flood; but Isaiah says: Thy watchmen shall lift up the voice; with the voice together shall they sing: for they shall see eye to eye, when the Lord shall bring AGAIN ZION, That it comes according to the will of God. From those who are not ashamed to take upon them the name of Christ, and walk lowly in the valley of humiliation, and let the so-lemnities of eternity rest upon them: knowing that the great day of the Lord will soon usher in the Sabbath of creation, for the rest of the saints; that the Savior may reign his thousand years of peace upon the earth, while satan is bound. That it comes in meckness and mercy to all mankind that they may do works meet for repentance and be saved in the first resurrection, and afterward dwell with the spirits of just men made perfect in the celestial kingdom, which transcends the glory of the terrestrial as much as the terrestrial transcends the telestial, or the teles-tial transcends the prison of the imperfect.-That it comes to bring good tidings of great joy to all people, but more especially the house of Israel scattered abroad, that the day of their redemption is near, for the Lord hath set his hand again the second time to restore them to the lands of their inheritance; ready to receive the Savior in the clouds of heaven. That it comes to show that the ensign is now set up, unto which all nations shall come, and worship the Lord, the God of Ja-rob, acceptably. That it comes when war, and the plague or pestilence, as it is called, are sweeping their thousands and tens of thousands, to show that the days of tribula-tion, speken of by our Savior, are nigh at hand, even at the doors. That it comes to repeat the great caution of Paul: Beware lest any spoil you, (the disciples of Christ,) through philosophy and viain deceit, after the tradition of men and the ruci nents of the That it comes to prepare the way world. of the Lord, that when he comes he may have a holy people ready to receive him. That it comes to show that no man can be too good to be saved, but that many may be too bad. That it comes to declare that goodness consists in doing good, not merely in preaching it. That it comes to show that all men's re-ligion is vain without charity. That it comes to open the way for Zion to arise and put on her beautiful garments and become the glory of the earth, that her land may be joined, or married, (according to the known translation of Isaiah,) to Jerusalem again, and they be one as they were in the days of Peleg. Thus it comes.

Man, being created but little below the angels, only wants to know for himself, and not by another, that, by obeying the com-mands of his Creator, he can rise again, after. death, in the flesh, and reign with Christ a thousand years on the earth, without sin; be rhanged in the twinkling of an eye, and become a king and a priest to God in eternity to forsake his sins, and say: Lord, I am The first words of which we have acthine! count, that Jesus Christ, spake, concerning the things of eternal life, were: Suffer it to the things of eternal life, were: Suffer it to be so now: For thus it becometh us to ful-fill all righteousness. Then he was baptized: and truly, if it became the Savior of the world, holy as he was, to be baptized in the meridian of time, to fulfill all righteousness, how much more necessary is it for man, to be baptized upon the very eve of the Sabbath of creation, to be saved? Let the heart answer the head, that the body may save the soul. As this paper is devoted to the great concerns of eternal things and the gathering of the saints, it will leave politics, the gainsaying of the world, and many other matters, for their proper channels, endeavoring by all means, to set an example before the world, which, when followed, will lead our fellow and brought up in the way of holiness. Those men to the gates of glory, where the wicked cease from troubling, and where the weary will find rest. That there may be errors both in us and in the paper, we readily ad-mit, and we mean to grow better, till, from little children, we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ, which we pray may be the happy lot of thousands, before he comes with the hundred forty and four thousand that are without guile. ## TO THE CHURCH OF CHRIST ABROAD IN THE EARTH.

It is the duty of the church of Christ, in Zion, to stand as an ensign to all nations, that the Lord hath set his hand the second time to restore the house of Israel to the lands of their inheritance, &c. and it behoves the members of this church, to manifest before the world by a godly walk; by a noble exam-ple, as well as by sterling precept; by prudence in living; by plainness in dress; by industry; by economy; by faith and works, and above all, by solemnity, lumility, and patience, that this is a day of warning and not a day of many words.

This being the order in Zion, how much more necessary is it, that the churches of Christ, which have not yet come up to this tand, should show the world, by well ordered 🚙 conduct in all things, that they are the children of the living God? It is all-important and the salvation of many souls, depends up-on their faultless example. They will, therefore, knowing that the Lord will suddenly come to his temple, do their part in preparing the way, by observing the Sabbath day, and keep it holy; by teaching their children the gospel and learning them to pray; by avoid-ing extremes in all matters; by shunning every appearance of evil; by studying to be approved, and doing unto others, as they would have others do unto them; by bearing trouble and persecution patiently, without a murnur, knowing, that Michael, the arch angel, when contending with the devil, he disputed about the body of Moses, durst not bring against him a railing accusation, but said, the Lord rebuke thee. They will not only set an example worthy of imitation, but they will let their light so shine as that others, seeing, may go and do likewise. Exam-ple is the great thing that defies the world with all its vain glory; by letting their moderation be known unto all men, both in dress and in living: in words and in deeds; in watching and in praying; in love and in la-bor, and in works as well as in faith, they preach the world a lecture, they set the enquirer a sample, and teach all christendom a lesson, that studied preaching and pulpit el-oquence have failed to accomplish.

COMMON SCHOOLS.

The disciples should lose no time in pre-appointed to select and prepare books for the use of shools, will attend to that subject, as soon as more weighty matters are finished. But the parents and guardians, in the church of Christ need not wait-it is all important that children, to become good should be taught so. Moses, while delivering the words of the Lord to the congregation of Israel, the parents, says, And these words which I command thee this day, shall be in thy heart: And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sitest in thy house, and when thou, walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up. And thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thy hand, and they shall be as frontlets between thine If it were necessary then to teach eves. their children diligently, how much more necessary is it now, when the church of Christ is to be an ensign, yea, even a sample to the world, for good? A word to the wise ought to be sufficient, for children soon become men and women. Yes, they are they that must follow us, and perform the duties which, not only appertain to this world, but to the second coming of the Savior, even preparing for the Sabbath of creation, and for eternity.

THE BOOK OF MORMON.

There are not a few honest enquiring persons, who wish to learn the truth of the book of Mormon. To put them in possession of such testimony as may lead to truth, is our duty, and, after stating that this Book contains a record of that branch of the tribe of Joseph which was separated from his brethren, according to the 49th chapter of Ecckiel and if the STICK OF EPHRAIM, therein mentioned does not mean the book of Mormon, what does it mean? Isaiah has information, which, if rightly understood, ought to wake the world; the Lord says he will proceed to do a marvelous work among this people, a marvelous work and a wonder, and who dare dispute the Lord?

Independent of bible proof on the subject before us, we have the remains of towns, citics, forts &c, which silently declare to the beholder: We were built by a civilized people.

As man cannot trust in man, we request all that wish the truth on this great subject, to enquire of the Lord, who will always answer the pure in heart.

Every person that will procure ten subscribers for the Star, and transmit to us, free of postage, $10,(U. S. paper,) shall be entitled to a paper per. ar. gratis. In all cases, payment must be made to us through the post office, or to an authorized agent, before the Star will be forwarded.

IPAs the public seem somewhat astonished that we, among all the light of this century, should have "sacred records which have slept for ages" to publish, it is our duty to say, that we shall take an extract from the prophecy of Enoch, for our second or third number. Jude spake of this prophet in the 14th verse of his epistle. There are too many books mentioned and missing in the bible, for any one to query about more sacred records.

LF UNDER the head of SELECTIONS, we intend to furnish the disciples with well-written articles from celebrated authors, that they may be enabled to judge between right and wrong; between the church of Christ and the church of man, and set an example worthy of imitation.

Under the head, also, of WORLDLY MAT-TERS, shall be given, as far as our limits may permit, such items of general news, as may enable the saints to know the condition of the world. We, therefore, cannot be responsible for the errors that may be in the articles or items, but shall endeavor, at all times, to give correct information, praying to God continually for his Spirit to guide us to all truth.

SELECTIONS.

CULTIVATE THE MIND.

Man was created to dress the earth, and to cultivate his mind, and glorify God. It, therefore, cannot be amiss for us, at this early period, to urge the disciples of our Lord, to study to shew themselves approved in all things. For, when a disciple, educated, even as Paul at the feet of Gamaliel, is guided by the Holy Spirit, he not only edifies his fellow beings correctly, but he improves his faculties agreeable to the will of God. We select the following article from the Old Countryman as worthy of a place under this head:--[Ed. E. & M. Star.]

The venerable and Rev. Dr. Kidd, of Aberdeen, delivered the last season, a course of lectures in mechanic's hall. Judging from the specimen before us, these lectures must be invaluable to the general reader. We understand they have been printed.

In his introductory lectures he said, in speaking of the advancement of knowledge: "Many a Mechanic at the present day was a much greater adept in political economy than many legislators at the beginning of the present century; and in the heart of England, where M'Culloch had lectured, they would find a journeyman mechanic rise up in any large assembly, and discuss the most abstruse points in this science, with such depth of thought, force and eloquence, that the orations of Pitt and Fox were fairly outshone. No man without careful observations would believe the march of mind which had taken place since the suicide, of Londonderry. Referring to the benefits of the cultivation of intellect, the doctor said he might quote the beautiful passage of Dr. O. Gregory, and ask what was Arkwright?---a barber. Ferguson?-a peasant. ## Worldly¶Matters.

AWFUL AND ALARMING STATISTICS,

The Rev. Dr. C. pastor of the Presbyterian church in York, Pa. has communicated in the Magazine of the German Reformed church, the result of an account kept during one year, of all the murders that came under his observation in reading various periodicals.--[Evang.]

The account has been kept for one year, commencing on the first day of January 1831, and to his surprise, the number amounts to 109, among which are some of the most appalling kind, such as parents by their children, and children by their parents, husbands by their wives, and wives by their husbands, and several others of the most atrocious kind.

We are disposed to consider ourselves as moral, at least as the British nation, and yet in the kingdom of England, whose population is about the same as ours, from a statistical account lately published, of all the crimes committed in that nation for 7 years, ending with that of 1830, the number of murders during that time is 103, averaging 15 each year, while ours amount to more than seven times that number.

As we cannot be supposed to be more wicked by nature than others, and as there is no other nation on earth where the inhabitants enjoy so abundantly, both necessaries and even comforts of life, and where there is less temptation for the commission of crimes, it becomes an important inquiry, how this awful increase of murder can be accounted for? Now we think, that it must occur to every serious and impartial observer, that of the 109 murders, a very large proportion was occasioned by the immoderate use of ardent This is truly an alarming heavier crimes-21,843, two-thirds of who is a friend to religion and moral

Let even the temperate drinker ponder well, and consider what he is doing; for the greatest drunkard was once a temperate drinker, and could he have been foretold what crime he would one day commit, would have, perhaps, replied in the words of Haziel: "Is thy servant a dog that he should do this great thing?" Yet the crime has been committed, and several executions have taken place during the past year It ought to be in consequence of it. stated that the murders occasioned by the insurrection of the negroes in the southern states, are not included in the above, and there may also have been others in different parts of the United States that did not come under the observation of the subscriber.--[Robert Cathcart.

Does a man die, the question is asked, how much is he worth? Does he come to his end by drowning or in an apoplectic stroke, the bystanders immediately haul out his pocket book and begin to count the cash it contains. The more money they find about his person, the more they wonder that he should die! ## PERSECUTION.

The following article has lately appeared in the news papers of the day, and we copy it to show that the religion of Jesus Christ, has always been persecuted. But when a saint lives to God, persecution or applause is all one: the soul is above them. Editor.

The first persecution of the church of Christ under the heathen Roman Emperors by Domitius Nero the VI. about the year 67, collected out of the lives of Nero, Cusar, Cusur, Eusebius, and the book of martyrs. casion whereof was this, Nero having passed over the first five years of his reign somewhat plausibly, he then began to commit all manner of prodigious impieties; and among other designs, he had a great desire to con-sume the stately imperial city of Rome with fire; pronouncing king Pryanus a happy man, because he beheld the end of his kingdom and country together. Yea, said he, let not all be ruined, when I am dead, but while I am yet alive. And for effecting this villainy, he sent divers to kindle the fires in sundry places; yea, some of his own bed chamber were seen to carry flax, torches, &c. to farther it; and when any attempted to quench it, they were threatened for it, Others openly hurled fire-brands; crying they knew what they did, there was one would bear them This fire began among the oil-men and out. druggists; the night watch and Pretorian guards, did openly cherish it; and when it was thoroughly kindled, Nero went up to the top of Mecenes tower, which overlooked the whole city, where he fed himself with the sight of the infinite burnings, and sang to his harp the burning of troy.

Among other stately buildings that were burned down, the Circus or Race yard was one, being about half a, mile in length, of an ovel form, with rows of seats one above another, capable to receive at least a hundred and fifty thousand spectators, without uncivil shoulderings. But the particulars were innumerable, and the damage inestimable: besides which many thousands of people perished; the flame and smoke smothered some, the weight of runs crushed others, the fire consumed others; others threw themselves into the fire, out of sorrow and dispair, and villains slew many.

But Nero finding that this fire, which continued burning nine days, brought a great odium upon him, to excuse himself, transfered the fault upon the Christians, as if out of malice, they had done it, and there-upon he raised this first persecution against them. For there was at this present a flourishing church of Christians, in Rome, even before St. Paul's arrival there, and Nero's own court was secretly garnished and enriched with some of those diamonds, whose salutations the apostle remembers in his epistle to the Philip ans. But while Nero with their blood, sought to quench and cover his own infamy, he procured himself new envy; while many that abhored Christians for their religion, commiserated their sufferings as undeserved. Some he caused to be sewed up in skins of wild beasts, and then worried them to death with dogs; some he crucified, others he burnt in public, to furnish even-ing sports with bonfires. Many he caused to be packed up in paper stiffened in molten wax, with a coat of searcloth about their bodies and bound upwards to axletrees, many of which were pitched in the ground, and so set on fire at the bottom, to maintain light for Nero's night sports in his gardens. Some of them were gored in length upon stakes, the one end fustened in the earth, the other thrust into the fundaments, and coming out of their mouths.

Nor did the persecution rage in Rome alone, but it was extended generally over the whole empire, insomuch, that a man might then have seen cities lie full of dead mens' bodies, the old lying there together with the young; and the dead bodics of women cast out naked in the open streets, without any reference to their sex: Yea, his rage and malice was so great, that he endeavored to have rooted out the very name of Christians in all places. Whereupon Tertullian said, that it could be no ordinary goodness which Nero condemned: And, saith he, we glory on the behalf of our sufferings, that they had such a dictator as he. But this persecution, like a blast, spread the religion that it blew, and having continued four years from the first rising, it expired in two most shining blazes, viz: in the martyrdom of the two great apostles, Peter and Paul; Peter was crucified with his head downwards, which manner of death himself made choice of; and while he thus hung upon the cross, he saw his wife going to her martyrdom, whereupon he much rejoiced; and calling her by name, he bade her remember the Lord Jesus At the same time, also Paul, before Christ. Nero, made a confession of his faith, and of the doctrines which he taught; whereupon he was condenined to be beheaded, and the emperor sent two of his esquires, Ferega and Parthemius, to bring him word of his death. They coming to Paul, heard him instruct the people, and thereupon desired him to pray for them that they might believe; who told them, that shortly after, they should believe and be baptized. Then the soldiers led him and be baptized. Then the soldiers led him out of the city to the place of execution, where he prayed, and so gave his neck to the sword, and was beheaded. This was done in the fourteenth, which was the last year of Nero.

THE GREAT WALL OF CHINA.

"But the most stupendous work of this country is the great wall that divides it from N. Tartary. It is built exactly on the same plan as the wall of Pekin, being a mound of earth cased on each side with brick or stone.-[The astonishing magnitude of the fabric consists not so much in the plan of the work, as in the immense distance of fifteen hundred miles over which it is extended, over mountains of two and three thousand feet in height, across deep valleys and rivers.] The materials of all the dwelling houses of England and Scotland, supposing them to amount to one million eight hundred thousand, and to average on the whole, two thousand cubic feet of masonry. or brick work, are barely equivalent to the bulk or solid contents of the great wall of China. Nor are projecting massy towers of stone and brick included in this calculation. These alone, supposing them to continue throughout at bow-shot distance, were calculated to contain as much masonry and brick work as all London. To give another idea of the mass of matter in this stupendous fabric, it may be more than sufficient to surround the circumferece of the earth on two of its great circuits, with two walls each six feet high and two feet thick! It is to be understood, however, that in this calculation is included the earthy part in the middle of the wall."--[Barrow's Travels in China.]

TO THE SAINTS OF CHRIST SCATTERED ABROAD.

Brethren, as some of you have not been correctly informed, as we understand, respecting the order of the gath-Therefore, ering of the saints to Zion: for the benefit of the church of Christ, generally, I subjoin a few extracts from the Revelations on this subject, that all may know and understand, and so conduct themselves, that order and not confusion may be produced; for God is a God of order.

In the love of Christ, Yours.

EDWARD PARTRIDGE.

HYMNS.

What fair one is this, in the wilderness traviling, Looking for Christ, the belov'd of her heart? O this is the church, the fair bride of the Savior, Which with every idol is willing to part. While nen in contention, are constantly howling, And Babylon's bells are continually talling, As though all the craft of her merchants was failing, and leave was coming to right the action

And Jesus was coming to reign on the cartin.

There is a sweet sound in the gospel of heaven, <sup>1</sup>. And people are joyful when they understand The saints on their way home to glory, are even Determin'd, by goodness, to reach the blest land. Old formal professors are erying "delusion," And high-minded hypocrites say ""tis confusion," And high-minded hypocrites say "it is confusion While grace is poured out in a blassed effusion, And saints are rejoicing to see priest-craft fall.

A blessing, a blessing, the Savior is coming, As prophets and pilgrims of old have declar'd; And Israel, the favor'd of God, is beginning To come to the feast for the rightcous prepar'd In the desert are fountains continually springing, The heavenly music of Zion is ringing; They saints all their tithes and offerings are bringing.

They thus prove the Lord and his blessing receive, The name of Jehovah is worth of praising,

And so is the Savior an excellent theme, The elders of Israel a standard are raising, And call on all nations to come to the same: These elders go forth and the gospel are preaching And all that will hear them, they freely are teaching, And thus is the vision of Daniel fulfiling: The Stone of the mountain will soon fill the earth.

Glorious things of thes are spoken, Zion, city of our God!

He whose word cannot be broken, Chose thee for his own abode:

On the Rock of Enoch founded; What can shake thy sure repose? With salvation's walls surrounded, Thou may'st smile on all thy focs.

See the stream of living waters, Springing from celestial love, Well supply thy sons and daughters, And all fear of drought remove:

Round each habitation hov'ring, See the cloud and fire appear! For a glory and a cov'ring, Showing that the Lord is near:

Thus deriving from their banner, Light by night and shade by day; Sweetly they enjoy the Spirit, Which he gives them when they pray.

Bless'd inhabitants of Zion, Purchas'd with the Savior's blood! Jesus whom their souls rely on,

Makes them kings and priests to God,

While his love his people raises, With himself to reign as kings; All, as priests, his solemn praises,

Each for a thank-offering brings.

Savior, since of Zion's city , I through grace a member am; Though the world despise and pity, I will glory in thy name.

Fading are all worldly treasures, With their boasted pomp and show! Heav'nly joys and lasting pleasures None but Zion's children know.

The time is nigh that happy time, That great, expected, blessed day, When countless thousands of our race, Shall dwell with Christ and him obey.

The prophecies must be fulfil'd Though earth and hell should dare oppose; The stone out of the mountain cut, Though unobserved, a kingdom grows.

Soon shall the blended image fall, Brass, silver, iron, gold and clay; And superstition's dreadful reign, To light and liberty give way.

In one sweet symphony of praise, The Jews and Gentiles will unite; And infidelity, o'er come, Return again to endless night.

From east to west, from north to south, The Savior's kingdom shall extend, And every man in every place, Shall meet a brother and a friend.

Redeemer of Israel, Our only delight, On whom for a blessing we call;

Our shadow by day, And our pillar by night, Our king, our companion, our all.

We know he is coming

To gather his sheep, And plant them in Zion, in love,

For why in the valley

Of death should they weep, Or alone in the wilderness rove?

How long we have wandered As strangers in sin,

And cried in the desert for thee! Our foes have rejoic'd

When our sorrows they've seen; But Israel will shortly be free. As children of Zion Good tidings for us: The tokens already appear; Fear not and be just, For the kingdom is ours, And the hour of redemption is near.

The secret of heaven, The mys' try below, That many have sought for so long, We know that we know, For the Spirit of Christ, Tells his servants they cannot be wrong.

On mountain tops the mount of God In latter days, shall rise Above the summit of the hills, And draw the wond ring cycs.

To this the joyful nations round, All tribes and tongues shall flow; Up to the mount of God, they'll say, And to his house we'll go.

The rays that shine from Zion's hill, Shall lighten every land;

Her King shall reign a thousand years, And all the world command.

Among the nations he shall judge, His judgments truth shall guide; His sceptre shall protect the meek, And crush the wicked's pride,

No war shall rage, no hostile band Disturb those peaceful years; To plow-shares men shall beat their swords,

To pruning-hooks their spears. Come then, O house of Jacob, come, And worship at his shrine;

And, walking in the light of God; With holy beauties shine.

Tr Those who were subscribers for the first Vol. of the Star, will see that we have inserted its originat prospectus, which was not published in the first No. when issued at Independence, Mo. We have inserted every thing which we deemed to be interesting now, except an extract from the book of Mormon, and at this time that work has spread so extensively, that we thought our subscribers would prefer the original prospectus of the Star, to that extract. Relative to short extracts of common news, we have inserted that part which we thought the most interesting now, and left the other untouched. To re-publish the whole, would be like going to our old news papers, and developing their contents, which contain neither interest nor salvation. On the revelations we mercly say, that we were interest nor salvation. On the revelations we merchy say, that we were not a little surprised to flut the previous print so different from the original. We have given them a careful comparison, assisted by individuals whose known integrity and ability is uncensurable. Thus saying we cast no reflections upon those who were entrusted with the responsibility of publishing them in Missouri, as our own labors were included in that important service to the church, and it was our unceasing endeavor to have them correspond with the copy furnished us. We believe them are now correct. If not in every word, at least in principle. For the special good of the church we have also added a few items from other revelations.—[Editor of the Letter Day Saints' Messenger and Advocate.]

SCRIPTURE. THE EXCELLENCE OF

The incomparable excellency which is in the sacred scriptures, will fully appear, if we consider the matters contained in them under this threefold capacity. 1. As matters of divine revelation. 2. As a rule of life. 3. As containing that covenant of grace which relates to man's cternal happiness.

n 1: Consider the scripture generally, as containing in it matters of divine revelation. and therein the excellency of the scripture appears in two things. 1. The matters appears in two things. which are revealed. 2. The manner in which it is revealed. and the ture, may be considered these three ways. I. As they are matters of the greatest weight and moment. 2. As matters of the greatest depth and mysteriousness. 3. As matters of the most universal satisfaction to the minds of men.

1. They are matters of the greatest mo-ment and importance for men to know. The wisdom of men is most known by the weight of the things they speak; and therefore that wherein the wisdom of God is discovered, cannot contain any thing that is mean and trivial; they must be matters of the highest importance, which the Supreme Ruler of the world vouchsafes to speak to men concerning: and such we shall find the matters which God hath revealed in his word to be, which either concern the rectifying our apprelicusions of his nature, or making known to men their state and condition, or discovering the way whereby to avoid eternal misery. Now which is there of these three, which, supposing God to discover his mind to the world, it doth not highly become him to speak to men of

1. What is there which doth more highly concern men to know, than God himself? or what more glorious and excellent object could he discover than himself to the world?

There is nothing certainly which should more commend the scriptures to us, than that thereby we may grow more acquainted with God; that we may know more of his nature, and all his perfections and many of the great reasons of his actings in the world.

We may by them understand with safety what the eternal purposes of God were as to the way of man's recovery by the death of his Son; we may there see and understand the great wisdom of God; not only in the contrivance of the world, and ordering of it, but in the gradual revelations of himself to his peo-ple, by what steps he trained up his church till the fulness of time was come; what his aim was in laying such a load of ceremonies on his people the Jews; by what steps and degrees he made way for the full revelation of his will to the world by speaking in these last days by his Son, after he had spoken at sundry times and divers manaers by the prophets, &c. unto the fathers. ... In the scriptures we read the most rich and, admirable ners to himself; with what majesty he com mands, with what importunity he woos men' souls to be reconciled to him; with what fa vor he embraceth, with what tenderness he chastiseth, with what bowels he pitieth those who have chosen him to be their God! With what power he supporteth, with what wisdom he directeth, with what cordials he refresheih the souls of such who are dejected under the sense of his displeasure, and yet their love is sincere towards him! With what profound humility, what holy boldness, what becoming distance, and yet what ris:less importunity do we therain find the souls of God's people addressing themselves to him in prayer! With what cheerfulness do they serve him, with what confidence do, they trust him, with what resolutions do they adhere to him in all straits and difficulties, with what patience do they submit to his will in their greatest extremities! How fearful are they of sinning agaist God, how careful to please him, how regardless of suffering, when they must choose either that or sinning, how little apprehensive of mcn's displeasure, while they enjoy the favor of God! Now all these things which are so fully and pathetically expressed in scripture, do abundantly set forth to us the exuberancy and plecnasm of God's grace & goodness & his sending his Son into the world to die for sinners, is that which the scription sets forth with the greatest life and eloque. By eloquence, I mean not an artificial composure of words, but the gravity, weight, and persuasiveness of the matter contained in them. And what can tend more to melt our frozen hearts into a current of thankful obedience to God than the vigorous reflection of the scams of God's love through Je-sus Christ upon us? Was there ever so great an expression of love heard of! nay, was it possible to be imagined, that God who perfectly hates sin, should himself offer the pardon of it, and send his Son into the world to secure it to the sinner, who doth so hearti-ly repent of his sins, as to deny himself, and take up his cross and follow Christ? Well might the apostle say, "This is a faithful say-ing, and worthy of all acceptation, that Jesus Christ came into the world to save sinners." How dry and sapless are all the volumnious discourses of philosophers, compared with this sentence! How jejune and unsatisfacto-ry are all the discoveries they had of God and his goodness, in comparison of what we have by the gospel of Christ! Well might Paul then say, "That he determined to know no-thing but Christ and him crucified." Christ crucified is the library which triumphant souls will be studying to all eternity. This is the only library which to commend is the true LATREION PSUCHES, [Greek] that which cures the soul of all its maladies and distempers; other knowledge makes men's minds giddy and flatulent, this settles and composes them; other knowledge is apt to swell men into high conceits and opinions of themselves, this brings them to the truest view of themselves, and thereby to humility and sobriety: other knowledge leaves men's hearts, as it found them, this alters them and makes them discoveries of divine goodness, and all, the better So transcendant an excellency is ways and methods he as the in alluring ski- there in the knowledge of Christ crucified above the sublimest speculations in the world! And is not this an inestimable benefit we enjoy by the scripture, that therein we can read and converse with all these expressions of God's love and goodness, and that in his own language? Shall we admire and praise what we meet with in heathen philosophers, which is generous and handsome; and shall we not adore the infinite fulness of scriptures, which run over with continued expressions of that and a higher nature? What folly is it to magnify those lean kine, the notions of billocontent and the second philosophers, and to contern the fat, the lenty and fulness of the scriptures! If there be not more valuable and excellent discoveries and rules of practice in the sacred scriptures, <sup>31</sup> than in the sublimest of all the philosophers, then let us leave our full ears, and feed upon the thin. But certainly no sober and rationthe thin. al spirit, that puts any value upon the knowledge of God, but on the same account that he a doth prize the discourses of any philosophers concerning God, he cannot but set a value of a far higher nature on the word of God. And as the goodness of God is thus discovered in scripture, so is his justice and holiness: we have therein recorded the most remarkable judgments of God upon contumscious sinners, the severest denunciations of a judgment to come against all that live in sin, the exactest precepts of holiness in the world; and what can be desired more to discover the holiness of God, than we find in scripture concer-ning him? If therefore acquaintance with the nature, perfection, designs of so excel-lent a being as God is, be a thing desirable to human nature, we have the greatest cause to admire the excellency and adore the fulness of the scriptures, which gives us so large, rational, and complete account of the being and attributes of God. And which tends yet more to commend the scriptures to us, those things which the scripture doth most fully discover concerning God, do not all contra-dict those prime and common notions which are in our natures concerning him, but do exceedingly advance and improve them, and tend the most to regulate our conceptions and apprehensions of God, that we may not miscarry therein, as otherwise men are apt to do. For it being natural to men so far to love themselves, as to set the greatest value upon those excellencies which they think themselves most master of: thence men come to be exceedingly mistaken in their apprehensions of a deity some attributing one thing as a perfection, another a different thing, according to their humors and inclinations. Thus imto their humors and inclinations. perious self-willed men are apt to cry up God's absolute power and dominion as his greatest perfection; easy and soft spirited men his patience and goodness; severe and ridged men his justice and severity: every one according te his humor and temper, making his god of his own complexion: and not only so, but in things remote enough from being perfections at all, yet because they are such things as they prize and value, they suppose of neces-sity they must be in God, as is evident in the Epicurians' ATARAXIA, [Greek.] by which they exclude providence as hath already been observed. And withall considering how ve-ry difficult it is for one who really believes that God is of a pure, just, and holy nature, and that he hath grievously offended him by his sins, to believe that this God will pardon him upon true repentance: it is thence necos sary that God should make known himself to the world, to prevent our misconceptions of his nature, and to assure a suspicious, be-cause guilty oreature, how ready he is to pardon iniquity, transgression, and sin, to such as unfeignedly repent of their follies, and re-turn unto himself. Though the light of nature may dictate much to us of the benignity and goodness of the divine nature, yet it is hard to conceive that that should discover forther than God's general goodness to such as please him: but no foundation can be gathered thence of his readiness to pardon offenders, which being an act of grace, must alone be discovered by his will. I cannot think the sun, moon, and stars are such itinerant preachers, as to unfold unto us the whole counsel and will of God upon repentance. It is not every star in the firmament can do that whicle the star once did to the wise men, lead then unto Christ. The sun in the heavens is no Parelius to the sun of righteousness. The best astronomer will never find the day-star true of the whole volume of creation. There are admirable things to be found in them: but the name of Christ is not legible there .-The work of redemption is not engraven on the works of providence; if it had, a particular divine revelation had been unnecessary, and the apostles were sent on a needless errand, which the world had understood without their preaching, viz. "That God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing to men their trespasses, and hath committed to them the ministry of reconciliation." How was the word of reconciliation committed to them if it were common to them with the whole frame of the world? and the apostle's query elsewhere might have been easily answered, How can men hear without a preacher? for then they might have known the way of salvation, without any special messenger sent to deliver it to them. I grant that God's long suffering and patience is intended to lead men to ripentance, and that some general collections might be made from providence of the placibility of God's nature, and that God never left himself without a witness of his good-ness in the world, being kind to the unthankful, and doing good, in giving rain and fruit-ful scasons. But though these things might sufficiently discover to such who were appre-hensive of the guilt of sin, that God did not act according to his greatest severity, and thereby did give men incouragement to hearken out and enquire after the true way of being reconciled to God; yet all this amounts not to a firm foundation for faith as to the remission of sin, which doth suppose God himself publishing an act of grace and indemni-ty to the world, wherein he assures the pardon of sin to such as truly repent and mr-feignedly believe his holy gospel. Now is not this an inestimable advantage we enjoy by the scriptures, that therein we understand what God himself hath discovered of his own nature and perfections, and of his readiness to pardon sin upon those gracious terms of faith and repentance, and that which necessarily follows from these two, hearty and sin-

in dispute concerning the nature, condition, and immortality of the soul before divine revelation was made known to mankind by the gospel of Christ: but "life and immortality was brought to light by the gospel," and the future state of the soul of man, not discovered in an uncertain Platonical way with the greatest light and evidence from that God who hath the supreme disposal of souls, and therefore best knows and understands them. The scriptures plainly and fully reveal a judg-ment to come, in which God will judge the secrets of all hearts, when every one must give an account of himself unto God, and God will call men to give an account of their stewardship here, of all the receipts they have had from him, and the expenses they have been at, and the improvements they have made of the talents he put into their hands. So that the gospel of Christ is the fullest in-strument of the discovery of the certainty of the future state of the soul, and the conditions which abide it, upon its being dislodged from the body. But this is not all which the scripture discovers as to the state of the soul; for it is not only a prospective glass, reaching to its future state, but it is the most faith-ful looking-glass, to discover all the spots and deformities of the soul: and not only shows where they are, but when they came, what their nature is, and whither they tend. The true original of all that disorder and discomposure which is in the soul of man, is only fully and satisfactorily given us in the word of God.

The nature and working of this corruption in man had never been so clearly manifested, isad not the law and will of God been discovered to the world; that is the glass whereby we see the secret workings of those bees in our hearts, the corruption of our natures; that sets forth the folly of our imaginations, the unruliness of our passions, the distempers of our wills, and the abundant deceitfulness of our hearts.

And it is hard for the most elephantine sinner (one of the greatest magnitude) so to trouble these waters, as not therein to discover the greatness of his own deformities. But that which tends most to awaken the drowsy, senseless spirits of men, the scripture doth most fully describe the tendency of corruption, "that the wages of sin is death," and the issue of continuance in sin will be the everlasting misery of the soul, in a perpetual separation from the presence of God, and undergoing the lashes and severities of concience to all eternity. What a great discovery is this of the faithfulness of God to the world, that he suffers not men to undo themselves without letting them know of it before hand, that they may avoid it! God seeks not to entrap men's souls, nor doth he rejoice in the misery and ruin of his creatures, but fully declares to them what the consequence and issne of their sinful practices will be, assures them of a judgment to come, declares his own future severity against contumacious sinners, that they might not think themsleves surprised, and that if they had known there had been so much danger in sin, they would never have been such fools as for the sake of it to run into eternal misery. Now God to prevent this, with the greatest plainness and faithfulness, hath showed men the nature and danger of all their sins, and asks them before hand what they will do in the end thereof; whether they are able to bear his; wrath, and wrestle with everlasting burnings? if not, he bids them bethink themselves of what they have done already, and repent and amend their lives, lest iniquity prove their ruin, and destruction overtake them, and that witout remedy. Now if men have cause to prize and value a faithful monitor, one that tenders their good, and would prevent<sup>4</sup> their ruin, we have cause exceedingly to prize and value the scriptures, which gives us the truest representation of the state and , condition of our souls.

3. The scripture discovers to us the only way of pleasing God and enjoying his favor. That clearly reveals the way (which man might have sought for to all eternity without particular revelation) whereby sins may be pardoned, and whatever we do may be accept-able unto God. It shows us that the ground of our acceptance with God, is through Christ, whom he hath made "a propilation for the sins of the world," and who alone is the true and living way, whereby we may "draw near to God with a true heart, in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprink-led from an evil conscience." Through Christ we understand the terms on which God will show favor and grace to the world, and by him we have ground of a PARRESIA [Greek.] access with freedom and boldness unto God. On his account we may hope not only for grace to subdue our sins, resist temptations, conquer the devil and the world; but having "fought the good fight, and finish-ed our course by patient continuance in well doing, we may justly look for glory, honor, and immortality," and that 'crown of righteousness which is laid up for those who wait in faith,' holiness, and humility, for the appearance of Christ from heaven. Now what things can there be of greater moment and importance for men to know, or God to reveal, than the nature of God and ourselves the state and condition of our souls, the only way to avoid eternal misery and enjoy everlasting bliss! .

The scriptures discover not only matters of importance, but of the greatest, depth and mysteriousness. There are many wonderfal things in the law of God, things we may admire, but are never able to comprehend.— Such are the cternal purposes and decrees of God, the doctrine of the Trinity, the incarnation of the Son of God, and the manner of the operation of the Spirit of God upon the souls of men, which are all thngs of great weight and moment for us to understand and believe that they are, and yet may be unsearchable to our reason, as to the particular manner of them.

I cannot forbear taking notice of one other mark of integrity which appears in all the composition of the sacred writers, and particularly the Evangelists; and that is, the simple, unaffected, unornamental, and unostentatious manner, in which they deliver truths so impor tant and sublime, and facts so magnificent and wonderful, 'as are' capable, one would think, of lighting up a fiame. of orntory, even in the dullest and coldest breast. They speak of an angel descending from heaven to foretel the miraculous conception of Jesus; of another proclaiming his birth, attended by a multitude of heavenly host praising God, and saying, "Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace, good will towards men;" of his star appearing in the East; of angels ministering to him in the wilderness; of his glory in the mount; of a voice twice heard from heaven, saying, "This is my beloved Son;" of innumerable miracles performed by him, and by his disciples in his name; of his knowing the thoughts of men; of his foretelling future events; of prodigies accompanying his crucifixion and death; of an angel decending in terrors, opening his sepulchre, and frightning away the soldiers who were set to guard it; of his rising from the dead, ascending into heaven, and pouring down, according to his promise, the various and miraculous gifts of the Holy Spirit upon his disciples. All these amazing incidents do these inspired historians relate nakedly and plainly without any of the colorings and heightenigs of rhetoric, or so much as a single note of admiration; without making any comment or remark upon them, or drawing from them any conclusion in honor either of their master or themselves, or to the advantage of the religion they preached in his name; but contenting themselves with relating the naked truth, whether it seems to make for them or against them; without either magnifying on the one hand, or palliating on the other, they leave their cause to the unbiassed judgment of mankind, seeking, like genuine apostles of the Lord of truth, to convince rather than to persuade; and therefore coming, as St. Paul speaks of his preaching, "not with excellency of speech,-not with enticing words of man's wisdom, but with demonstration of the Spirit, and of power, that," adds he, "your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God." And let it be remembered that he, who speaks this, wanted not learning, art, or cloquence, as is evident from his speaches knowing, such evident characters of recorded in the Acts of the Apostles, wisdom, goodness and power, as will and from the testimony of that grea leave him no room to doubt of their critic Longinus, who, in reckoning put author, or to suspect that in those par-

the Grecian orators, places samong them Paul of Tarsus; and surely, had they been left solely to the suggestions. and guidance of human wisdom, they would not have failed to lay hold on such topics, as the wonders of their master's life, and the transcendent put rity and perfection of the noble, gen erous, benevolent morality contained in his precepts, furnished them with these topics, 1 say, greater than ever Tully, or Demosthenes, or Plato, were possessed of, mere human wisdom would doubtless have prompted them to make use of, in order to recommend. in the strongest manner, the religion of Jesus Christ to mankind, by turning their attention to the divine part of his character, and hiding, as it were in a blaze of heavenly light and glory, his infirmities his sufferings, and his death. Had they called to their assistance ail the arts of composition, rhetoric, and logic, who would have blamed them for it? Not those persons, I presume, who, dazzled and captivated with the glittering ornaments of human wisdom, made a mock at the simplicity of the gospel, and think it wit to ridicule the. style and language of the holy Script But the all-wise Spirit of God, tures. by whom these sacred writers were guided into all truth, thought fit to direct or permit them to proceed in a different method; a method, however, very analogous to that in which he has been pleased to reveal himself to us in the great book of nature, the stupendous frame of the universe; all whose wonders he hath judged it sufficient to lay before us in silence, and expects from our observation the proper com-ments and deductions, which have endued us with reason, he hath enabled us to make. And tho' a careless and superficial spectator may fancy he perceives even in this fair volume many inconsistencies, defects, and superfluities; yet to a diligent, unprejudiced, and rational enquirer, who will take pains to examine the laws, consider and compare the several parts, and regard their use and tendency, with reference to the whole design of this amazing structure, as far as his short abilities can carry him, there will appear, in those instances which he is capable of ticulars which he has not examined, or to a thorough knowledge of which he cannot perhaps attain, there is nothing but folly, weakness, and malignity .-The same thing might be said of the written book, the second volume, if I may so speak, of the revelations of God, the holy scriptures. For as in the first, so also in this are there many passages, that to a cursory, unobserving reader appear idle, unconnected, unaccountable, and inconsistent with those marks of truth, wisdom, justice, mercy, and benevolence, which in others are so visible, that the most careless and inattentive cannot but discern them. And even these, many of them, at least, will often be found, upon a closer and stricter examination, to accord and coincide with the more plain and more intelligible passages, and to be no heterogeneous parts of one and the same wise and harmonious composition. In both, indeed, in the natural as well as the moral book of God, there are, and ever will be, many difficulties. which the wit of man may never be able to resolve; but will a wise philosopher, because he cannot comprehend every thing he sees, reject for that reason all the truths that lie within his reach, and let a few inexplicable difficulties over-balance the many plain and infallible evidences of the finger of God, which appear in all parts, both of his created and written works? Or will he presume so far upon his own wisdom, as to say, God ought to have expressed himself more clearly? The point and exact degree of clearness, which will equally suit the different capacifies of men in different ages and countries, will I believe, be found more difficult to fix than is imagined; since what is clear to one man in a certain situation of mind, time, and place, will inevitably be obscure to another, who vews, it in other circumstances. How various and even contradictory are the readings and comments, which several men, in the several ages and climates of the world, have made upon nature! And yet her characters are equally legible, and her laws equally intelligible, in all times and in all places: "There is no speech nor language where her voice is not heard: her sound is gone out through all the earth, and her words to the end of the world." All these in writing, what is eternity? wrote up-misrepresentations, therefore, and mis- on his, slate with his pencil, THE LIFEconstructions, of her works, are chargeable only upon mankind, who have set themselve to study them with various degrees of capacity, application, and impartiality. The question then should be, why hath God given men such various talents? And not, why hath not Gcd expressed himself more clearly? And the answer to this question, as far as it concerns man to know, is, that God will require of him according to what he hath, and not according to what he hath not. If what is necessary for all to know, is knowable by all; those men upon whom God hath been pleased to bestow capacities and faculties superior to the vulgar, have certainly no just reason to complain of his having left them materials for the exercise of those talents, which, if all things were equally plain to all men, would be of no great advantage to the possessors. If therefore, there are in the sacred writings, as well as in the works of nature, many passages hard to be understood, it were to be wished, that the wise and learned, instead of being offended at them, and teaching others to be so too, would be persuaded that both God and man except that they would set themselves to consider and examine them carefully and impartiully, and with a sincere desire of discovering and embracing the truth, not wit an Parrogant unphilosophical conccit of their being already sfliciently wise and knowing. And then I doubt not but most of these objections to revelations, which are now urged with the greatest confidence, would be cleared up and removed, like those formerly made to creation, and the being and providence of God, by those most ignorant, most absurd, and yet most selfsufficient pretenders to reason and philosophy, the atheist and sceptics. SHUEvil communication," says" the text, Mearupts good manners." The assertion is general, and no doubt all, people suffer from such communication; but above all, the minds of youth will suffer; which are yet unformed, unprincipled, unfurnished, and ready to receive any impression. Service based ing bad company, let us first see the meaning of the phrase.

In the phrase of the world, good compa-ny means fashionable people. Their stations ny means fashionable people. in life, not their morals are considered: and he, who associates with such, though they set him the example of breaking every com-mandment of the decalogue, is still said to keep good company.-I should wish you to fix another meaning to the expression; and to consider vice in the same detestable light, in whatever company it is found; nay, to consider all company in which it is found, be their station what it will, is bad compa-

The three following classes will perhaps include the greatest part of those, who deserve this appellation.

In the first, I should rank all who endeavor to destroy the principles of christianitywho jest upon scripture-talk blasphemy. and treat revelation with contempt.

A second class of bad company are those, who have a tendency to destroy in us the principles of common honesty and integrity. Under this head we may rank gamesters of every denomination; and low and infamous characters of every profession.

A third class of bad company, and such as are commonly most dangerous to youth, includes the long catalogue of men of pleasure. In whatever way they follow the call of appetite, they have equally a tendency to corrupt the purity of the mind.

Besides these three classes, whom we call bad company, there are others who come under the denomination of ill chosen company: trifling, insipid characters of every kind; who follow no business- are led by no ideau of improvement-but'spend their time in dissipation and folly-whose highest praise it is, that they are only not vicious-with none of these a serious man would wish his son to keep company.

It may be asked what is meant by keeping bad company? The world abounds with .characters of this kind: they meet us in every place; and if we keep company at all, it is impossible to avoid keeping company with such persons.

It is true if we were determined never to have any commerce with bad men, we must, as the apostle remarks, "altogether go out of the world." By keeping bad company, therefore, is not meant a casual intercourse with them, on occasion of business, or as they accidently fall in our way; but having an in-clination to consort with them-complying with that inclination-seeking their company when we might avoid it-entering into their parties-and making them the companions of our elsoice. Mixing with them accasionally cannot be avoided.

Ż

The danger of keeping bad company, arises principally from our aptness to imitate and catch the manners and sentiments of others-fam the power of custom-from our 111 own bad inclinations and from the pains taken by the bad to corrupt us. In our earliest youth, the contagion of manners is observable. In the boy, yet incapable of having any thing instilled into him, we easily discover from his first actions, and rude attempts at language, the kind of persons with whom he has been brought up: we see the early spring of a civilized education, or the first wild shoots of rusticity.

As he enters farther into life, his behavior, manners, and conversation, all take their cast from the company he keeps. Observe the peasant, and the man of education, the difference is striking. And yet God hath be-stowed equal talents on each. The only difstowed equal talents on each. ference is, they have been thrown into dif-ferent scenes of life; and have had commerce with persons of different stations.

Nor are manners and behavior more easily caughi, than opinions and principles. In childhood and youth, we naturally adopt the sentiments of those about us.

And as we advance in life, how few of us think for ourselves; How many of us are satisfied with taking our opinions at second hand.

The great power and force of custom forms another argument against keeping bad company. However seriously disposed we may be; and however shocked at the first approaches of vice; this shocking appearance goes off upon an intimacy with it. Custom Custom will soon render the most disgustful thing familiar. And this is indeed a kind provision of nature, to render labor, and toil and danger, which are the lot of man, more easy to him.

The raw soldier who trembles at the first encounter becomes a hardy veteran in a few campaigns. Habit renders danger familiar, and of course indifferent to him.

But habit, which is intended for our good, may, like other kind appointments of nature, be converted into a mischief. The well-dis-posed youth, entering first into bad compa-ny, is shocked at what he hears, and what he sees. The good principles which he had imbibed, ring in his ears an alarming leacon against the wickedness of his companions.-But alast this sensibility is but of, a day's continuance. The next jovial meeting makes the horrid picture of yesterday more easily endured. -- [IF To be continued.]

They were tied together around the waist, and from previous declarations, no doubt remained but that they had deliberately made way with themselves. They were seen going to the pond on Wednesdy preceding, she quite intoxicated, and it was supposed he not much better. They had divested themselves of their upper garments wich were carefully deposited near the Lake, together with a bottle containing the remains of a pint of rum which they had purchased that morning, perhaps not an hour before they took their fatal plunge. EVENING AND MORVING STAR.

The Elvening and the Morning Star. INDEPENDENCE, NO. JULY, 1532. THE ELDERS IN THE LAND OF ZION

TO THE CHURCH OF CHRIST SCATTERED ABROAD. [Communicated.]

Brethren, we think it proper to give you some general information respecting the present state of the church in Zion, and also the Notwithstanding work of the guthering. that nearly all christendom doubt the propriety of receiving revelations for the government of the church of Christ in this age, and generally adopt the scriptures of the old and new testamont as the only rule of faith and practice, yet we believe, from the scriptures of truth, that to every church in the past ages, which the Lord recognized to be his, he gave revelations wisely calculated to gov-ern them in the pseuliar situation and circumstances under which they were placed, and to enable them by authority to do the peculiar work which they, were to perform. The bible contains revelations given at different times to different : people, under different circumstances, as will be seen by editorial articles in this paper. The old world was destrayed for rejecting the revelations of God. given to them through Noah. The Israelites were destroyed in the wilderness for dispising the revelations given to them through Moses; and Christ said that the world, in the days of the apostles, should be condemned for not receiving the word of God through them: thus we see that the judgments of God in the past ages have come upon the people, not so much for neglecting the revelations given to their forefathers, as for rejecting those giver mme-diately to themselves. Of the blossing rheaven it may be said, they have always rested upon the heads of those to whom they were promisedi "Therefore, seeing that it not only was, but as long as God remains the same, always will be the privilege of the true church to receive revelations, containing blessings and cursings, peculiarly adapted to itself as a church.16 We conclude it is a mistaken notion that the scriptures of the old and new testa-ment are the only rule of faith and practice; nevertheless, inasmuch as the precepts and examples contained in them are truly applicable to us, under our particular circumstances, we are bound to be governed by them; and we also can receive much benefit from such prophecies as point out the ovents that shall take place in our day and age; of these there ura many, both in the old and new testament. They speak plainly of great things that shall be accomplished in the last days: such as preaching the everlasting gospel to all mations;

of heaven; the building up of Zion and Jerusalem, or the ingathering of the rempants of Jacob, and the planting them in the lands of ( their futhers' inheritance: the necessary, preproaration to meet the Savior at his second coming, with all the saints to dwell, with them in, the millenium reign. And now, who with the bible in his hand, can suppose that these great ? and marvellous works can be accomplished by the church without more revelations from the Lord? We cannot, for we worship the God. of Israel, in whom is neither variablences nor shadow of turning; consequently as in days 3 of old, so in these last days, he has given us 1 revelations by which we may know how to; organize the church of Christ, and by his authority to perform the work which he has enjoined upon us. And now brethren, if we wish for blessings upon this church, we must welk humble before the Lord, and observe to keep all his commandments. Notwithstanding the work of the gathering will be accomplished, we believe, in a speedy manner, yet. done in haste, nor by flight, but that all things shall be prepared before you; and for this purpose he has made it the duty of the bishop or agent in the land of Zion, to make known from s time to time, the privileges of the land, to the conferences, which may determine and make t known how many can be accommodated. And the saints will remember that the bishop in the land of Zion, will not receive any, as wise stewards, without they bring a recommend from the bishop in Ohio, or from three elders. The elders therefore, will be careful not to recommend and send up churches to this place, without first receiving information from the bishop in Ohio, or in the land of Zion, that they can be accommodated when they arrive, it so as to be settled without confusion, which would produce pestilence. Therefore, if a " church is desirous to ecme to the land of Zicn, " we would recommend, that first, by letter or otherwise, they make known their desires and their situation to the bishop in Ohio, or in the land of Zion, and receive information from them before they start. Brethren will perceive as well as we, that where churches of fifty er a hundred souls each, are coming to the land of Zion from different parts of the nation, and, " as soon will be the case, from different nations, without a knowledge of each other, they would, when they arrive, be in a state of cenfusion, and labor under many disadvantages, which might be avoided by strictly observing the rules and regulations of the church.-Moreover by being in haste, and forcing the sale of property, unreasonable sacrifices have sale of property, uncompared this is a day of sad-been made, and although this is a day of sad-rifices and tithing, yet to make layish and enreasonable sacrifices is not well pleasing in the sight of the Lord.

It is about one year since the work of the gathering commenced, in which time between three and four hundred have arrived here and are mostly located upon their inheritances, and are generally in good health and spirits, and are doing well. The expense of journeying and settling here, together with the estabishing of a printing office and store, have brobably exceeded the expectations of our at brother abroad, and although Zion, according to the prophets, is to become like Eden or the garden of the Lord, yet, at present it is as it were but a wilderness and desert, and the disadvantages of settling in a new country, you know, are many and great: therefore, 'prudence would dictate at present the churches abroad, come not up to Zion, until preparations can be made for them, and they receive information as above. The prospect for crops in this region of country, is, at present, tolerably good, but calls' for provisions will undoubtedly be considerable, for besides the emigration of the whites, the government of the United States is settling the Indians, (or remnants of Joseph,) immediately to the west, and they must be fed.

Brethren, we drop the above remarks for your benefit, until you can have the revelations to peruse for yourselves, which will be published as soon as they can be consistently. Although the Lord has said, that it is his business to provide for his saints in these last days, yet, remember he is not bound so to do, unless we observe his sayings and keep them.

TO THE ELDERS WHO PREACH GOOD TIDINGS TO THE WORLD.

Brethren, as stars of the ensign which is now set up for the benefit of all nations, you are to enlighten the world; you are to prepare the way for the people to come up to Zion; you are to instruct men how to receive the fulness of the gospe!, and the everlasting covenants, even them that were from the beginning; you are to carry the ark of safety before the wondering multitudes, without fear, entreasing, and beseeching all men to be saved;

you are to set an example of meekness and humility before saints and sinners, as did the Savior; and when reviled you are not to revile again; you are to reason with men as in da of old, to bear patiently and answer as the or ord, to bear patiently and answer as the, Spirit of truth shall direct, allowing all credit, for every item of good. You are to walk in? the valley of humility and pray for the salva-tion of all; yes, you are to pray for your en-emies; and warn in compassion, without the threatening the wicked with judgments which, are to be poured upon the world hereafter.-You have no right to take the judgments, which fell upon the ungodly before the flocd, and pour them upon the head of this generation; you have no authority to use the judgments which God sent upon Pharaoh in Egypt, to terify the inhabitants of America, nether, have you any direction by commandment, to: collect the calamities of six thousand years, and paint them upon the curtain of these last. days, to scare mankind to repentance; no; you are to preach the gospel, which is the power of God unto salvation, even glad tidings of great joy unto all people.

Again, you are not to take the blessings of i an individual, or of a church, from the days of Enoch to the days of the apostles, and place them upon an individual or a church in these last days: but you are to teach all men that they shall be judged according to their tworks: for if God is the same yesterday today, and forever, his reward is always with him, and his revelations, and blessings, and i judgments, before the flood, were fitted for that people and that time; in the days of Abraham, for that man and that time: in the days of Moses, for that man and that time; in the days of David, for that man and that time; in the days of Paul, for that man and that time; and now for this generation and this time: you therefore, must reason from the bible and the book of Mormon, with great care, and not pervert the meaning of God's sacred word. If our heavenly Father saw fit to destroy Sodom and Gomorran for their wickedness, Nineveh for its abomination, and, Jerusalem for a transgression of his 'ommand-ments, what have their destructions to do with the salvation of the world how?' The Lord says, Vengeance is mine, and I will repay. Teach all men to trust in God and not in man, and do works meet for repentance.-Again, teach all men that God is a God of the living and not of the dead. Finally, what-ever you do, do it with an eye single to the glory of God. You are the light of the world I in matters of pure religion, and many souls; may be required at your hands. Let the idea. not leave you, that, not only the eyes of the world, but the eyes of the angels and of God 1.17 are upon you.

The unquenchable thirst for news: the continuity of emigration; the wars and rumors of wars, with many, other signs of the distress of nations, from the old world, as it is called across the ocean, whispers so loud to the un.

desitanding, that he that runs may read the label on the eastern sky: The end is nigh. France is filled with a spirit of rebellion, and when the cholers was sweeping its thonsands, mobs were collecting to slay their tens of thousands. While the hospitals were crowded with the sick, and the groans of the dying filled the air, the fashionable French were holding cholera balls and dancing at the judgments of the Almighty. In England, where an anxious multitude have been waiting for reformation in government for years, disap-pointment is destruction. The house of lords pointment is destruction. The house of lords has rejected the reform bill, and the proud hearted Englishman says—Reform or revolu-tion! No stop there: for the sound comes across the Atlantic—Reform or ruin! All the kingdoms of the east seem to be preparing to act the part allotted to them, when the Lord rebukes the nations. As on a morning of some great festival, the church bell, the cannon, the small arms, the music, and the cheers of the multitude, arouse all to what is going on, and thunders to man: Behold the day! So also earthquakes, wars and rumors of wars, the distress of nations, the constant tide of emigration to the west, the wide spreading ravages of the cholera morbus, and the joy of the saints of God as they come out of Babylon, alarms the world, and whispers to every mortal, Watch ye, for the time is at hand for the second coming of Jesus Christ, the Redeemer of Israel, with peace on earth and good will to man! Watch the signs of his coming that ye be not deceived.

REVELATIONS.

COMMANDMENT FOR KEEPING THE SABBATH. 2 11 61 [Given August 7, 1831.]

Behold, saith the Lord, blessed are they who have come up unto this land with an eye single to my glory, according to soi commandments; for they that live, and walk in them, faithfully, shall inherit the earth when it is prepared for them; and when they die they shall rest from all their labors and their works shall follow them: and they shall receive a crown in the mansions of my Father which I have prepared. Yea. blessed are they whose feet stand upon the land of Zion, who have obeyed my gospel; for they shall receive for their reward the good things of the earth, and it shall bring forth in its strength for them: and they shall also be crowned with blessings from above, yce, and with commandments not a few, and with revelations in their time-they who are faithful and diligent before Wherefore I give unto them a me. commandment, saying, inus:

Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, with all thy might

Jesus Christ thou shalt serve him. Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. Thou shalt not steah neither commitadultery, nor kill, nor do any thing like unto it. Thou shalt thank the Lord thy God in all things. Thou shalt offer a sacrifice unto the Lord thy God in righteousness; even that of a broken heart and a contrite spirit. And that thou mayest more fully keep thyself unspotted from the world, thou shalt go to the house of prayer and offer up thy sacraments upon my holy day; for verily, this is a day appointed unto theo to rest from thy labors, and to pay thy: devotions unto the Most High. Nevertheless, thy vows should be offered up in righteousness on all days, and at all times; but remember, that on this, the Lord's day, thou shalt offer thine oblations and thy sacraments unto the Most High, confessing thy sins unto thy brethren and before the Lord; and on this day thou shalt do none other work, only let thy food be prepared with singleness of heart, that thy fasting may be perfect, or in other words. that thy joy may be full; for verily, this is fasting and prayer; or, in other words, rejoicing and prayer. And inasmuch as ye do these things with thanksgiving, with cheerful hearts and countenances-not with much laughter for this is sin-but with a glad heart and a cheerful countenance: verily I say unto you, that inasmuch as ye do this, the fulness of the earth is yours; the beasts of the field, and the fowls of the air, and that which climbeth upon the trees, and walketh upon the earth, yea, and the herb, and the good things which come forth of the earth, whether for food or raiment, or houses, or barns, or orchards, or gardens, or vineyards; yea, all things which come forth of the earth, in the season thereof, are made for the benefit and the use of man, both to please the eye and to gladden the heart; yea, for food and h raiment, for taste and smell, to strength-" en the body, and to enliven the soul; and it pleases God that he has given all these things unto man; for unto this end were they made, to be used with judgment, not to excess, neither by extortion: and in nothing does man offend God, or against none is his wrath kindled save those who confess not his hand in all things, and oboy not his Behold this is accorcommandments. mind and strength, and in the name of ding to the law and the prophets.-

Thus saith the Lord, concerning all those who know my power, and have been made partakers thereof, and suffered themselves, through the power of the devil, to be overcome, and to deny the truth, and defy my power: they are they who are the sons of perdition, of whom I say it had been better for them never to have been born; for they are vessels of wrath doomed to suffer the wrath of God, with the devil and his angels, in eternity: concerning whom I have said there is no forgiveness in this world nor in the world to come: having denied the Holy Spirit after having received it, and having denied the only begotten Son of the Father, having crucified him unto themselves, and put him to an open shame: these are they who shall go away into the lake of fire and brinstone, with the devil and his angels, and the only ones on whom the second death shall have any power; yea, vcrily the only ones who shall not be redeemed in the due time of the Lord, after the sufferings of his wrath; for all the rest shall be brought forth by the resurrection of the dead, through the triumph and the glory of the Lamb, who was slain, who was in the bosom of the Father before the worlds were And this is the gospel, the glad made, tidings which the voice out of the heavens bore record unto us, that he came edek, which was after the order of into the world, even Jesus to be crucified for the world, and to bear the sins the only begotten Son: wherefore, as of the world, and to sanctify the world, and to cleanse it from all unrighteousness; that through him all might theirs, whether life or death, or things be saved, whom the Father had put into his power, and made by him; who glorifies the Father, and saves all the works of his hands, except those sons of perdition, who denies the Son after the Father has revealed him: wherefore he saves all except them; they shall go away into everlasting punishment, which is endless punishment, which is eternal punishment, to reign with the devil and his angels in eternity, where their worm dieth not and the fire is not quenched, which is their torment, and the end thereof, neither the place thereof, nor their torment, no man knows, a vision of the sufferings of these with of nevertheless I the Lord show it by vision unto many, but straitway shut it up again: wherefore the end, the width, the heighth, the depth, and the misery thereof, they understand not, neither any man except them who are ordained unto this condemnation. And we heard the voice saving, Write the vision, for lo! this is the end of the vision of the sufferings of the ungodly!

And again, we beer record for we saw and heard, and this is the testimony of the gospel of Christ, concerning them who come forth in the resurrection of the just: they are they who received the testimony of Jesus, and believed on his name, and were baptized after the manner of his burial, being buried in the water in his name, and this according to the commandment which he has given, that, by keeping the commandments, they might be washed and cleansed from all their sins, and receive the Holv Spirit by the laying on of the hands of him who is ordained and sealed unto this power; and who overcome by faith, and are sealed by that Holy Spirit of promise, which the Father sheds forth upon all those who are just and true: they are they who are the church of the first-born: they are they into whose hands the Father has given all things: they are they who are pricests and kings, who having received of his fulness, and of his glory, and are priests of the most High after the order of Melchis-Enoch, which was after the order of it is written, they are gods, even the sons of God: wherefore all things are present, or things to come, all are theirs, and they are Christ's, and Christ is God's; and they shall overcome all things; wherefore let no man glory in man, but rather let him glory in God, who shall subdue all enemies under his feet: these shall dwell in the presence of God and his Christ forever and ever: these are they whom he shall bring with him, when he shall come in the clouds of heaven, to reign on the earth over his people; these are they who shall have part in the first resurrection: these are they who shall come forth in the resurrection of neither was it rovealed, neither is, nei-| the just: these are they who are come ther will be revealed unto man, except unto mount Zion, and anto the city of to them who are made partakers there- the living God, the heavenly place, the holiest of all: these are they who have come to an innumerable company of angels; to the general assembly and church of Enoch, and of the first born: these are they whose names are written in heaven, where God and Christ are the judge of all: these are they who are just men made perfect through Jesus the mediator of the new covenant, who wrought out this perfect atonement through the shedding of his own blood: these are they whose bodies are celestial, whose glory is that of the sun, even the glory of God the highest of all; whose glory the sun of the firmament is written of as being typical.

-And again, we saw the terrestrial world, and behold and lo! these are they who are of the terrestrial, whose glory differs from that of the church of the first born, who have received the fulness of the Father, even as that of the moon differs from the sun of the firmament. Behold, these are they who died without law; and also they who are the spirits of men kept in prison, whom the Son visited and preached the gospel unto them, that they might be judged according to men in the flesh. who received not the testimony of Jesus in the flesh, but afterwards received it: these are they who are honorable men of the carth, who were blinded by the craftiness of men: these are they who receive of his glory, but not of his fulness: these are they who receive of the presence of the Son, but not of the fulness of the Father: wherefore they are bodies terrestrial, and not bodies celestial, and differ in glory as the moon differs from the sun: these are they who were not valiant in the testimony of Jesus: wherefore they obtained not the crown over the kingdom of our God. And now this is the end of the vision which we saw of the terrestrial, that the Lord commanded us to write while we were yet in the Spirit

And again, we saw the glory of the telestial, which glory is that of the lesser, even as the glory of the stars differ from that of the glory of the moon in the firmament; these are they who receive not the gospel of Christ, neither the testimony of Jesus: these are they who deny not the Holy Spirit: these are they who are thrust down to bell; these are they who shalf not be redeemed from the devil, until the last resurrection, Juntily the Lord, even Christ the Lamb, shall have finished his work: these are they who receive not of his fulness in the eternal worlds. but of the Holy Spirit through the ministration of the terrestrial; and the terrestrial through the ministration of the celestial; and also the telestial receive it of the administering of angels, who are appointed to minister for them, or who are appointed to be ministering spirits for them, for they shall be heirs of salvation. And thus we saw in the heavenly vision, the glory of the telestial which surpasses all understanding; and no man knows it except him to whom God has revealed it. And thus we saw the glory of the terrestrial, which excels in all things the glory of the telestial, even in glory, and in power, and in might, and in dominion. And thus we saw the glory of the celestial, which excels in all things where God, even the Father, reigns upon his throne forever and ever: before whose throne all things bow in humble reverence and give him glory forever and ever. They who dwell in his presence are the church of the first born; and they see as they are seen, and know as they are known, having received of his fulness and of his grace; and he makes them equal in power, and in might, and in domin-And the glory of the celestial is ion. one, even as the glory of the sun is one. And the glory of the terrestrial is one, even as the glory of the moon is one. And the glory of the telestial is one, even as the glory of the stars are one: for as one star differs from another star in glory, even so differs one from another in glory in the telestial world: for these are they who are of Paul, and of Apollos, and of Cophas: these are they who say, there are some of one and some of another; some of Christ; and some of John; and some of Moses; and some of Elias; and some of Esaias; and some of Isaiah; and some of Enoch, but received not the gospel; neither the testimony of Jesus; neither the prophets: neither the everlasting covenant; last of all, these all are they who will not be gathered with the saints, to be caught up unto the church of the first born, and received into the cloud: these are they who are liars, and sorcerors, and adulterers. and whoremungers, and whosoever who suffer the wrath of God on the earth; these are they who suffer the vengeance of eternal fire: these are they who are cast down to hell and suffer the wrath of Almighty God until the fulness of times, when Christ shall have subdued all enemies under his feet, and shall have perfected his work, when he shall deliver up the kingdom and present it unto the Father spotless, saying: I have overcome and have trodden the wine-press alone, even the wine-press of the fierceness of the wrath of Almighty God: then shall he be crowned with the crown of his glory, to sit on the throne of his power to reign forever and ever. But hehold and lo, we saw the glory and the inhabitants of the telestial world, that they were as innumerable as the stars in the firmament of heaven, or as the sand upon the sea shore, and heard the voice of the Lord saying: These all shall bow the knee, and every tongue shall confess to him who sits upon the throne forever and ever: for they shall be judged according to their works; and every man shall receive according to his own works, and his own dominion, in the mansions which are prepared, and they shall be servants of the most High, but where God and Christ dwell they cannot come, This is the end worlds without end. of the vision which we saw, which we were commanded to write while we were yet in the Spirit.

But great and marvelous are the works of the Lord and the mysteries of his kingdom which he showed unto us, which surpases all understanding in glory, and in might, and in dominion, which he commanded us we should not write, while we were yet in the Spirit and are not lawful for man to utter; neither is man capable to make them known, for they are only to be seen and understood by the power of the Holy Spirit, which God bestows on those who love him and purify themselves before him; to whom he grants this privilege of seeing and knowing for themselves; that through the power and manifestation of the Spirit, while in the flesh, they may be able to bear his presence in the world of glory. And to God and the Lamb be glory, and honor, and dominion forever and ever. Amen.

EXTRACT OF COVENANTS FOR THE CHURCH OF THE LATTER DAY SAINTS.

And again, the elders, priests and teachests of this church, shall trach the principles of sty gospel which are in the bible and the book df Mormon, in the which is the fulness of the gospel; and they shall observe the govenants and eburch articles to do them, and these shall be their teachings, as they shall be directed by the Spirit; and the Spirit shall be given unto you by the prayer of falth, and if ye receive not the Spirit ye shall not teach..... And all this ye shall observe to do as I have commanded, concerning your teaching, until the fulness of my scriptures are given. And as ye shall lift up your voices by the Coufforter, ye shall speak and prophesy as seemethan me good; for behold, the Comforter knoweth all things, and beareth record of the Father and of the Son.

And now, behold I speak unto the church: Thou shalt not kill; and he that kills shall not have forgiveness, in this world, nor in the world to come.

And again, I say, thou shalt not kill; but he that killeth shall die. Thou shalt not staa; and he that stealeth and will not repent, shall be cast out. Thou shalt not lie; he that lieth and will not repent, shall be cast out.— Thou shalt love thy wife with all thy heart, and shall cleave unto her and none else; and he that looketh upon a woman to lust after her, shall deny the faith, and shall not have the Spirit, and if he repents not he shall be cast out. Thou shalt not commit adultery; and he that committeth adultery and repenteth not, shall be cast out; but he that has committed adultery and repents with all his heart, and forsaketh it, and doeth it no more, thou shalt forgive; but if he doeth it again, he shall not be forgiven, but shall be cast out.— Thou shalt not speak evil of thy neighbor, nor do him any harm. Thos knowest my laws concerning these things are given in my scriptures; he that sinneth and repenteth not, shall be cast out."

If thou lovest 'me thou shalt serve me and keep all my commandments. And behold, thou wilt remember the poor, and consecrate of thy properties for their support, that which thou hast to impart unto them, with a coveand in as much as ye impart of your substance unto the poor, ye will do it unto me —and they shall be laid before the bishop of my church and his counsellors, two of the elders, or high priests, such as he shall or has appointed and set apart for that purpose.

And it shall come to pass, that after they are laid before the bishop of my church, and after that he has received these testimonies concerning the consecration of the properties of my church, that they cannot be taken from the church, agreeably to my commandments, every man shall be made accountable unto me, a steward over his own property, or that which he has received by consecration, in as much as is sufficient for himself and family.

And again, if their shall be properties in the hands of the church, or any individuals of it, more than is necessary for their support, after this first consecration, which is a residue, to be consecrated unto the bishop, it shall be kept to administer to those who have not, from time to time, that every man who has need may be amply supplied, and receive according to his wants. Therefore, the residue shall be kept in my store house, to administer to the poor and the needy, as shall be appointed by the high council of the church, and the bishop and his counsel, and for the purpose of purchasing lands for the public benefit of the church, and building houses of worship, and building up of the New Jerusalem which is hereafter to be revealed, that my covenant people may be gathered in one in that day when I shall come to my temple. And this I do for the salvation of my people.

And it shall come to pass, that he that sinneth and repenteth not, shall be cast out of the church, and shall not recive again that which he has consecrated unto the poor and the needy of my church, or in other words, unto me, for in as much as ye do it unto the least of these ye do it unto me—for it shall come to pass, that which I spake by the mouths of my prophets, shall be fulfilled; for I will consecrate of the riches of those who embrace my gospel among the Gentiles, unto the poor of my people who are of the house of Israel.

And again, thou shalt not be proud in thy heart, let all thy garments be plain, and their beauty the beauty of the work of thine own hands; and let all things be done in cleanli-Thou shalt not be idle; for ness before me. he that is idle shall not eat the bread, nor wear the garments of the laborer. And whosoever among you are sick, and have not faith to be healed, but believeth, shall be nourished with all tenderness with herbs and mild food, and that not by the hand of an enemy. And the elders of the church, two or more, shall be called, and shall pray for and lay their hands upon them in my name, and if they die they shall die unto me, and if they live they shall live unto me. Thou shalt and if live together in love, in so much that thou shalt weep for the loss of them that die, and more especially for those that have not hope of a glorious resurrection. And it shall come to pass, that those that die in me, shall not taste of death, for it shall be sweet unto them, and they that die not in me, wo unto them, for their death is bitter!

And again, it shall come to pass, that he that has faith in me to be healed, and is not appointed unto death, shall be healed: he who has faith to see shall see; he who has faith to hear shall hear: the lame who have faith to leap shall leap; and they who have not faith to do these things, but believe in me, have power to become my sons: and in as much as they break not my laws, thou shalt bear their infirmities.

Thou shalt stand in the place of thy stewardship: thou shalt not take thy brother's garment; thou shalt pay for that which thou shalt receive of thy brother; and if thou obtainest more than that which would be for thy support, thou shalt give it into my storehouse, that all things may be done according to that which I have said.

Thou shalt ask, and my scriptures shall be given as I have appointed, and they shall be preserved in safety; and it is expedient that thou shouldst hold thy peace concerning them, and not teach them until ye have reeived them in full. And I give unto you a commandment, that then ye shall teach them unto all men; for they shall be taught unto all nations, kindreds, tongues and people.

Thou shalt take the things which thou hast received, which have been given unto thee in my scriptures for a law, to bemy law, to govern my church; and he that doeth according to these things, shall be saved, and he that doeth them not shall be damned, if he continues.

If thou shalt ask, thou shalt receive revelation upon revelation, knowledge upon knowledge, that thou mayest know the mysteries, and peaceable things; that which bringeth joy, that which bringeth life eternal.

Thou shalt ask, and it shall be revealed unto you in my own due time, where the New Jerusalem shall be built.

And behold, it shall come to pass, that my servants shall be sent forth to the east, and to the west, to the north, and to the south; and even now, let him that goeth to the east, teach them that shall be converted to flee to the west; and this in consequence of that which is coming on the earth, and of secret combinations. Behold thou shalt observe all these things, and great shall be thy reward; for unto you it is given to know the mysteries of the kingdom, but unto the world it is not given to know them. Ye shall observe the laws which ye have received, and be faithful. And ye shall hereafter receive church covenants, such as shall be sufficient to establish you, both here, and in the New Jerusalem. Therefore, he that lacketh wisdom, let him ask of me, and I will give him liberally, and apbraid him not. Lift up your hearts and rejoice, for unto you the kingdom, or in other words, the keys of the church, have been given; even so Amen

The priests and teachers shall have their stewardships, even as the members, and the elders, or high priests who are appointed to assist the bishop as counsellors, in all things are to have their families supported out of the property which is consecrated to the bishop, for the good of the poor, and for other purposes, as before mentioned; or they are to receive a just remuneration for all their services; either a stewardship, or otherwise, as may be thought best, or decided by the councellors and bishop. And the bishop also, shall receive his support, or a just rensuncration for all his services, in the church.

Behold, verily I say unto you, that whatever persons among you having put away their companions for the cause of fornication, or in other words, if they shall testify before you in all lowliness of heart that this is the case, ye shall not cast them out from among you; but if ye shall find that any persons have left their companions for the sake of adultery, and they themselves are the ofienders, and their companions are living, they shall be cast out from among you. And again I say unto you, that ye shall be watchful and careful, with all inquiry, that ye receive none such among you if they are married, and if they are not married, they shall repent of all their sins, or ye shall not receive them.

CHOLERA MORBUS, We select an item under this head, which, gives an extensive view of this sweeping discase. The Atlantic cities iremble at the distant destruction of this irreconcilable for to helth and happings, but the only alternative is, trust in God. To endeavor to stay the progress of such a calamity by means, is—is what? why, what means would have stayed the angel's visit to the camp of the Assyrianal

The item is from the N. Y. Courier & Enquirer's Paris correspondent:

I find it impossible to procure the exact number of the deaths up to the latest moment with any pretentions to accuracy, but there cannot be the least doubt that they now exbeed 10,000, and as the number of cases in the early stages of the disease when its character was more virulent than it has since become hore a proportion to the deaths somewhere between five to two and three to one, the number of persons affected by it may now be stated in round numbers to amount to at least 30,000 or about four per cent, on the whole mass of the population.

Supposing the discuse to be suddenly arrested at its present point, which would be inconsistent with the whole of its previous history, the proportional loss which Paris has suffered with the other great cities of Europe which have yet been visited by the discrewould be vary considerable, as you will at once perceive on casting your eye over the following abstract, in which the first column gives the names of places, the second the amount of their population, the third the number of persons effected by cholera and the fourth the number of deaths.

HORRORS OF THE CHOLERA MORBUS.

We have witnessed in our days the birth of a new pestilence, which, in the short space of fourteen years, has desolated the fairest portion of the globe, and swept off at lenst fifty millions of our race. It has mastered every variety of elimate, surmounted ev ery natural barrier, conquered every-people. it has not, like the simoon blasted life, and then passed away; the cholera, like smallpox or plague, takes root in the soil which it has once possessed. The circumstances under, which the individual is attacked are no less appalling than the history of the progress and mortality of the disease. In one man says an eye witness, the prostration of etergth was so great that he could hardly more a limb, though he bad been but filten minuits before in perfect health, and actively employed in his busines of a gardner. A Lascar in the service of an officer was seized in the act of picking up his rice, previous to going out to cut grass close to his master's feet, and being unable to call for assistance, he was observed by another person at a distance from him, picking up small stones and pitching them towards him, for the purpose of attracting his notice. This man died in an houit is no wander that the approach of such a pestilence has struck the depest terror into every community.

The origin of this disease is not known. It broke out at Jessore, about a hundred miles south east of Calcutta, in August, 1817. "Spreading from village to village, and destroying thousands of the inhabitants, it reached Calcutta early in September. lt then spread into other parts of the country, taking different places in succession; and at length it appeared in the grand army, and eventually extending over a large portion of Hindostan." In Bassora, which contained 60,000 inhabitants, in fourteen days it des-troyed fron 15,000 to 18,000 persona. In seven months, it had extended from Carmania to Judea, over a space of not less than a hundred leagues, and reached the shores of the Mediterranean. But it was introduced into Europe at the mouth of the Volga into on the Caspian sea, in 1830.-[London Quarterly Review.]

The Cholera.

This desolating sickness is spreading steadily over the United States. The account of its ravages, in many places, we cannot give: The whole number of cases in New-York, to July 31, is-3731. Deaths-1520.

No man can stop the work of the Lord, for God rules the pestilence, and the pestilence rules men. Oceans, sentinels, and forts, may hinder men, or money may bribe, but pestilence rides on the wings of the wind, the ocean is no barrier; the sentinel has no powcr; the fort is no obstacle, and money has no value: the destroying angel goes, waving the banner of death over all; and who shall escape his pointed arrow? Not he that could brave death at the cannon's mouth, but shrink at the sound of the cholera; not he that worships his god in some stately chapel, every Sabbath till the cholera comes, and then flees for his life; no; none but him that trusts in God, shall be able to stand when a thousand shall fall at his side, and ten thousand at his right hand, by the noisesome pestilence.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SCRIPTURE [CONCLUDED.]

The Scripture comprehends matters of the most universal satisfaction to the minds of men; though many things do much exceed our appreliensions, yet others are most suitable to the dictates of our nature, as Origin bid Celsus see, whether it was not the agreeableness of the principles of faith with the common notions of human nature, which prevailed most upon all candid and ingenious auditors of them. And therefore, as Socrates said of Herachin's books, what he understood was excellent, and therefore he supposed that which he did not understand was so too: so ought we to say of the scriptures: if those things which are written within our capacity be so suitable to our natures and reasons, those cannot contradict our reason, which are yet above them. There are many things which the minds of men were sufficiently assured that they were, yet were to such for satisfaction concerning them which they never could have had without divine revelation. As the nature of true happiness, revelation. wherein it lay, and how to be obtained, which the philosophers were so much puzzled with, the scriptures gives us full satisfaction con-cerning it. True ententment under the troubles of life, which the scripture only ac-quaints us with the true grounds of; and all the prescriptions of heathen moralists fall as much short of, as the directions of an empiric do of a wise and skilful physician. Avoiding the fears of death. which can alone be through a grounded expectation of a future as this light reacheth. it comes with power state of happiness which death leads men to, which cannot be had but through the right understanding of the word of God. thus we see the excellency of the matters themselves contained in this revelation of the minds of God to the world.

As the matters are of an excellent nature, so is the manner wherein they are revealed in Scripture; and that, I. In a clear and perspicuous manner; not but there may be still some passages which are hard to be under-stood, as being either prophetical, or consisting of ambiguous phrases, or containing matters above our comprehension: but all those things which concern the terms of man's salvation, are delivered with greatest evidence Who cannot understand and perspicuity. what these things mean, "what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God!"-that "without faith it is impossible to please God?"-that "without holiness none shall see the Lord"-that "unless we are born again we can never enter the king-dom of heaven:"-these and such like things are so plain and clear, that nothing but men's shutting their eyes against the light, can keep them from understanding them: God intended these things as directions to men; and is he not able to speak intelligibly when he pleases? He that made the tongue, shall he not speak so as to be understood without an infallible interpreter? Especially when it is his design to make known to men the terms of their eternal happiness? Will God judge men at the great day for not befieving those things which they could not understand? Strange, that ever man should judge the scriptures obscure in matters necessary, when the scripture accounts it so great a judgment for men not to understand them. "If our gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are lost; in whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ should shine unto them.' Sure Lot's door was visible enough, if it were a judgment for the men of Sodom not to see it, and the scriptures then are plain and intelligible enough, if it be so great a judgment not to understand them.

In a powerful and authoritive manner; as the things contained in scripture do not so much beg acceptance as command it; in that the expressions wherein our duty is concerned, are such as awe men's consciences and pierce to their hearts and to their secret thoughts; all things are open and naked be-fore this Word of God; every secret of the mind and thought of the heart lies open to its stroke and force: "it is quick and powerful, sharper than a two edged sword, piercing to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thought and intents of the heart." The the thoughts and intents of the heart.' word is a telescope to discover the great luminaries of the world, the truths of highest concernment to the souls of men, and it is such a microscope as discovers to the smallest atom of our thoughts, and decerns the most secret intents of the heart. And as far and authority, as it comes armed with the majesty of that God who reveals it, whose authority extends over the soul and conscience of man in its most secret and hidden recesses.

3. In a pure and unmixed manner; in all other writings, how good soever, we have a great mixture of dross and gold together: here is nothing but pure gold, diamonds without flaws, suns without spots. The most current coins of the world have their alloys of baser metals, there is no such mixture in divine truths; as they all come from the same author, so they all have the same purity.--There is a Urim and Thummim upon the whole Scripture, light and perfection in every part of it. In the philosophers we may meet, it may be, with some «cattered fragments of purer metal, amidst abundance of dross and impure ore; here we have whole wedges of gold, the same vein of purity and holiness running through the whole book of Scripture. Hence it is called "the form of sound words; here have been no hucksters to corrupt and mix their own inventions with divine truths.

In uniform and agreeable manner.-4. This I grant is not sufficient of itself to prove the Scriptures to be divine, because all men do not contradict themselves in the agreeableness of the parts of Scripture to each other, which are not to be found in mere human writings.

That this doctrine was delivered by 1. persons who lived in different ages and times from each other. Usually one age corrects another's faults, and we are apt to pity the ignorance of our predecessors, when it may be our posterity may think us as ignorant, as we do them. But in the Sacred Scripture we read not one age condemning another; wa find light still increasing in the series of times in Scripture, but no reflection in any time upon the ignorance, or weakness of the precedent; the dimmest light was sufficient for its age, and a step to farther discovery. Quintillian gives it as the reason of the great uncertainty of grammer rules, "quia non analogia demissa cœlo forman loquendi dedit;" that which he wanted as to Grammar, we have as to divine truth; they are delivered from heaven, and therefore are always uniform and agreeable to each other.

By persons of different interests. 2. God made choice of men of all ranks to be inditers of his oracles, to make it appear it was no matter of state policy, or particular interest, which was contained in his word, which persons of such different interest, could not have agreed in as they do. We have Moses, David, Solomon, persons of royal rank and quality; and can it be any mean thing, which those think it their glory to be penners of?-We have Isaiah, Daniel, and other persons of the highest education and accomplishments, and can it be any trivial thing which these employ themselves in? We have Amos, and other prophets in the Old Testament, and the apostles in the New, of the meaner sort of men in the world, yet all these join in concert together; when God tunes their spir-its, all agree in the same strain of divine truths, and give light and harmony to each other.

A. By persons in different places and conditions; some in prosperity in their own for the government of the lives of men, and country, yet all agreeing the substance of therein the excellency of it lies in the nature doctrine; of which no alteration we see was made, either for the flattery of those in power, or for avoiding miseries and calamities. And under all the different dispensations before, under, and after the law, though the management of things was different, yet the doctrine and design was for substance the same in all. All the different dispensations agree in the same common principles of religion; the same ground of acceptance with God, and obligation to duty was common to all, though the peculiar instances wherein God was served might be different according to the ages of growth in the church of God. So that this uniformity considered in these circumstances, is an argument that these things came originally from the same spirit, though conveyed through different instruments to the knowledge of the world.

5. In a persuasive and convincing man-ner: and that these Ways, 1. Bringing divine truth down to our capacity, clothing spiritual matter in familiar expressions and similitudes, that so they might have the easier admission into cur minds. 2. Propounding things as our interest, which are our duty:thence God so frequently in Scripture, recommends our duties to us under all those motives which are wont to have the greatest force on the minds of men; and annexed gracious promises to our performance of them; and those of the most weighty and concerning things. Of grace, favor, protection, de-liverance, audience of prayers, and eternal happiness, and if these will not prevail Courtwith men, what motives will? 3. ing us to obedience, when he might not only command us to obey but punish presently for disobedience. Hence are all those most pathetical and affectionate strains we read in Scripture: "O that there were such a heart within them, that they would fear me and keep my commandments always, that it might go well with them, and with their children after them!-Wo unto thee, O Jorusalem, wilt thou not be made clean? When shall it once be? Turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways, for why will ye die, O house of Israel? How shall I give thee up, Ephraim? How shall I deliver thee Israel? How shall I make thee as Admah? How shall I set thee as Zeboim? Mine heart is turned within me, my repentings are kindled together .-- O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, how often would I have gathered thy children together, as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not?" What majesty and yet what sweetness and condescension is there in these expressions! What obstinacy and rebellion is it in men for them to stand out against God, when he thus comes down from his throne of majesty and woos rebellious sinners to return unto him that they may be pardoned! Such a matchless and unparallelled strain of rhetoric is there in the Scripture, far above art and insinuations of the most admired orators.-Thus we see the peculiar excellency of the manner wherein the nutters contained in Scripture are revealed to us: thus we have considered the excellency of the Scripture, as it is a discovery of God's mind to the world.

The Scripture may be considered as a rule. of life, or as a law of God, which is given for the government of the lives of men, and of the dutics, and the encouragement's to the practice of them.

 In the nature of the duties required, which are most becoming God to require, most reasonable for us to perform.
Most becoming God to require, as they are most suitable and agreeable to the divine nature, the imitation of which in our actions is the substance of our religion. Imitation of him in his goodness and holiness, by our constant endeavors of mortifying sin and growing in grace and piety. In his grace and mercy, by our kindness to all men, for-giving the injuries men do unto us, doing good unto our greatest enemies. In his justice and equity, by doing as we would be done by, and keeping a conscience void of offence towards God and towards men. The first takes in the duties of the first, the other the duties of the second table. All acts of piety towards God, are a part of justice; for as Tully saith, "Quid aliud est pictas nisi justitia, adversus deos?" And so our loving God with our whole hearts, our entire and sincere obedience to his will, is a part of natural justice; for thereby we do but render unto God that which is his due from us as we are his creatures. We see then the whole duty of man, the fearing of God and keeping his commandments, is as necessary a part of justice, as the rendering to every man his own. 2. They are most reasonable for us to perform, in that 1. Religion is not only a service of the reasonable faculties which are employed the most in it, the commands of the Scripture reaching the heart most, and the service required being a spiritual service, not lying in meats and drinks, or any outward observations, but in a sanctified temper of heart and mind, which discovers itself in the course of a Christian's life: but 2. The service itself is reasonable; the commands of the gospel are such, as no man's reason which considers them, can doubt of the excellency of them. All natural worship is founded from the dictates of nature, all instituted worship on God's revealed will; and it is one of the prime dictates of nature, that God must be universally obeyed. Besides, God requires nothing but what is apparently man's interest to do; God prohibits nothing but what will destroy him if he doth it; so that the commands of the Scriptures are very just and reasonable.

2 The encouragements are more than proportionable to the difficulty of obedience. God's commands are in themselves easy, and What more ramost suitable to our natures. tional for a creature than to obey his Maker?" All the difficulty of religion ariseth from the corruption of nature. Now God, to encour-age men to conquer the difficulty arising thence, hath propounded the strongest motives, and most prevailing arguments to obedience. Such are the considerations of God's love and goodness manifested to the world by sending his Son into it to die for sinners, and to give them an example which they are to follow, and by his readiness through him to pardon the sins, and accept the persons of such who so received him as to walk in him; and by his promises of grace to assist them in the wrestling with the enemies of their sal-And to all these add that glorious vation. and inconceivable reward which God hath pro- | of peace, which God hath revealed in order " mised to all those who sincerely obey him, I to man's cternal happiness .- Stillingfleet.

and by these things we see how much the encouragements overweigh the difficulties, and that none can make the least pretence that there is no motive sufficient to downweigh the troubles which attend the exercise of obedience to the will of God. So that we see what a peculiar excellency there is in the Scriptures as a rule of life, above all the precepts of mere moralists, the foundation of obedience being laid deeper in man's obligation to serve his Maker, the practice of obedience being carried higher in those most holy precepts which are in Scripture, the reward of obedience being incomparably greater than what men are able to conceive, much less to promise or bestow.

The excellency of the Scriptures appears as they contain in them a covenant of grace, or the transactions between God and man in order to his eternal happiness. The more memorable any transactions are, the more valuable are any authentic records of them.-The Scriptures contain in them the Magna Charta of heaven, an act of pardon with the royal assent of heaven, a proclamation of good will from God towards men; and can we then set too great a value on that which contains all the remarkable passages between God and the souls of men, in order to their felicity, from the beginning of the world? Can we think, since there is a God in the world of infinite goodness, that he should suffer all mankind to perish inevitably without his propounding any means for escaping of eternal misery? Is God so good to men as to this present life; and can we think, if man's soul be immortal, that he should wholly neglect any offer of good to men as to their eternal wel-fare? Or is it possible to imagine that man should be happy in another world without God's promising it, and prescribing condi-tions in order to it? If so, then this happi-ness is no free gift of God, unless he has the bestowing and promising of it; and man is no rational agent, unless a reward suppose conditions to be performed in order to the obtaining it; or man may be bound to conditions which were never required of him; or if they must be required, then there must be a revelation of God's will, whereby he doth require them: and if so, then there are some records extant of the transactions between God and man, in order to his eternal happiness: for what reason can we have to imagine that such records, if once extant, should not continue still, especially since the same goodness of God is engaged to preserve such records, which at first did cause them to be indited?-Supposing then such records extant some where in the world, of these grand transac-tions between God and men's souls, our business is brought to a period: for what other records are in the world that can in the least vie with the Scriptures, as to the giving so just an account of all the transactions between God and men from the foundation of the world? which gives us all the steps, methods, and ways whereby God hath made known his mind and will to the world, in order to man's salvation? It remains only then that we adore and magnify the goodness of God in making known his will to us, and that we set a value and esteem upon the Scriptures, as the only authentic instruments of that Grand Charler

THE VALLEY OF THE JORDAN, AND THE DEAD SEA.

We left the convent at three in the afternoon, ascended the torrent of Cedron, and at length crossing the ravine, rejoined our route to the east. An opening in the mountain gave us a passing view of Jerusalem.— I hardly recognized the city; it seemed a mass of broken rocks; the sudden appearance of that city of desolation, in the midst of the wilderness had something in it almost terrifying. She was in truth the queen of the Desert.

As we advanced, the aspect of the mountains continued constantly the same, that is, a powdery white—without shade, a tree, or even moss. At half past four, we descended from the lotty chain we had hitherto traversed, and wound along another of inferior clevation. At length we arrived at the last of the chain of heights, which close in on the west of the valley of Jordan and the Dead Sea. The sun was nearly setting; we dismounted and I lay down to contemplate at leisure, the lake, the valley, and the river.

When you speak in general of a valley, you conceive it either cultivated or uncultivated; if the former, it is filled with villages, cornfields, vineyards, and flocks, if the latter, it presents grass or forests; if it is watered by a river, that river has its windings and sinuosities, or projecting points afford agreeable and varied landscapes. But here is nothing of the kind. Conceive two long chains of inountains running parallel from north to south, without projections, without recesses, without vegetation. The ridge on the east, called the mountains of Arabia is most elevated: viewed at the distance of eight or ten leagues, it resembles a vast wall, extremely similar to the Jura, as seen from the lake of Geneva, from its form and azure tint. You can perceive neither summits nor the smallest peaks; only here and there slight inequalities, as if the hand of the painter who traced the lines along the sky, had occasionally trembled.

The chain on the eastern side forms part of the mountains of Judea-less elevated and more uneven than the ridge on the west, it differs also in its character; it exhibits great masses of rock and sand, which occasionally present all the varieties of ruined fortifications armed men, and floating banners. On the side of Arabia, on the other hand, black rocks with perpendicular flanks, spread from afar their shadows over the Dead Sea. The smallest bird could not find in these crevices of rock a morsel of food; every thing announces a country which has fallen under the divine wrath; every thing inspires the horror at the incest from whence sprung Ammon and Moab.

The valley which lies between these mountains resembles the bottom of the sea, from which the waves have long ago withdrawn; banks of gravel, a dried bottom--rocks covered with salt, deserts of moving sand--here and there stunted arbutus shrubs grow with difficulty on that arid soil; their leaves are covered with the salt which had nourished their roots while their bark Lad the scent and taste of smoke.

Instead of villages, nothing but the ruins of towers are to be seen. Through the midst of the valleys flows a discolored stream, which seems to drag its hay course unwillingly towards the lake. Its course is not to be discerned by the water, but by the willows and shrubs which skirt its banks—the Arabconceals himself in these thickets to waylay and rob the pilgrin.

Such are the places rendered famous by the maledictions of Heaven; that river is the Jordan; that lake is the Dead sea. It appears with a serene surface, but the guilty cities which are embosomed in its waves, have poisoned its waters. Its solitary abyes can sustain the life of no living thing: no vessel ever ploughed its bosom—its shores are without trees, without birds, without verdure; its water frightfully salt; it is so heavy that the highest wind can hardly raise it.

In travelling in Judea, an extreme feeling of ennui frequently seizes the mind, from the sterile and monotonous aspects which are presented to the eye; but when journeying through these deserts, the expanse seems to spread out to infinity before you—the ennui disappears, and a secret terror is experienced which, far from lowering the soul, elevates and inflames the genius. These extraordiand inflames the genius. nary scenes reveal the land desolated by miracles-the burning sun, the impetuous ea-gle, the barren fig tree; all the poetry-all the pictures of scriptures are there. Every name recalls a mystery—every grotto speaks of a life to come—every peak re-echoes the voice of a prophet. God himself has spoken on of a prophet. these shores: these dried-up torrents, these cleft rocks, these tombs vent asunder, attest his resistless hand-the desert appears mute with terror; and you feel that it has never ventured to break silence since it heard the voice of the Eternal.

I employed two complete hours in wandering on the shores of the Dead Sea, notwithstanding the remonstrances of the Bedouins, who pressed me to quit that dangerous re-gion. I was desirous of seeing the Jordan, at the place where it discharged itself into the lake; but the Arabs refused to lead me thither, because the river, near its mouth, makes a detour to the left, and approaches the mountains of Arabia. It was therefore necessary for us to direct our steps towards the curve nearest us. Wc struck our tents, and travelled for an hour and a half with excessive difficulty, through a fine silvery sand. We were moving towards a little wood of willows and tamarinds, which, to my great surprise, I perceived growing in the midst of the desert. All of a sudden the Bethlehemites stepped, and pointed to something at the bottom of a ravine, which had not yet attracted my attention.

Without being able to say what it was, I perceived a sort of sand rolling, on through the fixed banks which surrounded it. I approached it, and saw a yellow stream which could bardly be distinguished from the sand of its own two banks. It was deeply furrowed through the rocks, and with difficulty rolled on, a stream surcharged with sand: it was the Jordan.

VALLEY OF THE JEHOSHAPHAT.—The aspect of this celebrated valley is desolate.— The western side is bounded by a ridge of lofty rocks, which support the walls of Jerusalem, above which the towers of the ci ty appear. The eastern side is formed by the Mount of Olives, and another eminence called the Mount of Scandal, from the idola-The eastern side is formed by the try of Solomon. These two mountains adjoin each other, are almost bare, and of a red and sombre hue; on their desert side you see here and there some black and withered vineyards, some ploughed land, covered with hysop, and a few ruined chapels. At the bottom of the valley, you perceive a torrent traversed by a single arch, which appears of great antiquity. The stones of the Jewish cemetry appear like a mass of ruins at the foot of the mountain of Scandal, under the village of Siloam. You can hardly distin-and Absalom. The sadness of Jerusalem, from which no smoke ascends, and in which no sound is to be heard; the solitude of the surrounding mountains, where not a living creature is to be seen; the disorder of those tombs, ruined, sacked, and half exposed to view, would almost induce one to believe, that the last trump had been heard, and that the dead were about to rise in the valley of Jehoshaphat.

THE RUINS OF CARTHAGE.—From the summit of Byrsa, the eye embraces the ruins of Carthage, which are more considerable than are generally imagined; they resemble those of Sparta, having nothing well preserved, but embracing a considerable space. I saw them in the middle of February; the olives and the fig trees were already bursting into leaf; large bushes of an-gelica and acanthus formed tufts of verdure, amid the remains of marble of every color. In the distance I cast my eyes over the isthmus, the double sca-the distant isles-a cerulean sea, a smiling plain, and azure moun-tains. I saw forests and vessels, and aqueducts; Moorish villages and Mahometan hermitages, glittering minerals, and the white buildings of Tunis. Surrounded with the most touching recollections, I thought alternately of Dido Sophonisba, and the noble wife of Astrubal. I contemplated the vast plains where the legions of Hannibal, Scipio, and Cesar were buried; my eyes sought for a sight of Utica. Alas! the remains of the palace of Tiberius still remain in the island of Capri, and you search in vain at Utica for the house of Cato.

Finally, the terrible Vandals, the rapid Moors passed before my recollection, which terminated at last on Saint Louis expiring on that inhospitable shore .- Chautebriands Trarels.

manner in which this shall be effected, the Lord has reserved to himself, and it must be expected that the opinion of men in regard to it, will be various, and in many instances contradictory. In all probability it will take place near the time of the thousand years of peace and rest, foretold in the Revelation, when Satan shall be bound, and not permitted to deceive the nations any more, till the thousand years are finished.

The Lord, and not man, will have the glory of bringing about this event, and all the efforts and undertakings of men to accomplish it will prove unavailing, as heretofore has been the case down to the present time. A Jew once said to me, says Adam Clarke, 'There are some of you christians, who are making wonderful efforts to convert the Jews. Ah, there is none but God Almighty that can convert a Jew. Adam Clark remarks, Truly I believe him. Only God can convert any man, and if there be a peculiar difficulty to convert any soul, that difficulty must be in the conversion of the Jew.—Reformer.

REMARKS .- Neither the house of Joseph in America, nor the Jews among all nations, nor the ten tribes which went out to that country, "where never mankind dwelt, can be converted by ministers though the Gentiles are: for God has said to his son in the Psalms, Thy people, [Israel] shall be willing in the day of thy power: (that is, when he comes in the clouds of Heaven, and all the tribes mourn, [the whole 12.] they will be ready and willing to receive the Messiah.)-[Star.]

Wickedness proceedeth from the wicked. What is the proverb, &c. The days are pro-longed and every vision faileth! * *

Thus saith the Lord God. The days are at hand, and the effect of every vision. The fathers have caten sour grapes, and the chil-drens' teeth are set on edge. Physician heal thyself. The dog is turned to his own voniit again; and the sow that was washed, to her wallowing in the mire.

The Providence, (R. I.) American, gives the names, ages, and residence of thirty seven Revolutionary soldiers, who were present at the recent celebration of our National Inde-pendence in that city. The oldest was 94, pendence in that city. and the youngest 62.

At the celebration in 1830, says the American, 76 Revolutionary soldiers were present; & in 1831, 53. In a few years more, these last remains of Revolutionary glory will live on-ly in the memory of their countrymen.

PRESENT AGE OF THE WORLD,

There are so many different opinions upon, as well as various periods to the age of the world, that we fear the truth of the matter will be believed by few. Whether by the commentator upon the sacred wri-tings, or by the clergy, the term of four thousand and four years, was put down as the exact time from the beginning till the birth of the Savior, we shall not pretend to say, but content ourselves by stating, that 4004 years, which is the present Christian calculation, added to the current year of our Lord, makes but 5836 years since the commencement of time in this world. But upon collecting the passed periods that the Lord has been pleased to measure out to his servants, by the prophets, we find a very different amount of years from the beginning. We compute thus;

Be patient, beloved reader, and you shall know where the error comes from. The different parcels of time, from the creation until Jacob told Pharaoh the days of his pilgrimage were 130 years, make them; and he that will, may add the thence to the Babylopish captivity of the, years of each man from birth to birth, till he comes to Jacob's pilgrimage, when he enter-ed Egpyt, and he will find 2238 years. - Ve-ry well, but notwithstanding the word of the Lord says, in several places, that the children of Israel sojourned in Egypt four hundred and thirty years, in words at full length, yet all christendom reject the account, and declare that the said 430 years commenced when Abram departed from Ur in Chaldea, leaving Israel in Egypt but 220 years, and some have actually had the presumptuous audacity to endeavor to strengthen this cal-culation, by quoting Paul's words in the 3d chapter of Gallatians: The covenant that was confirmed before of God in Christ, the law that was four hundred and thirty years after, cannot disannul, that it should make the promise of none effect. Now let us search out the word confirm, and we shall learn that Paul allowed the children of Israel to be in Egypt 430 years, according to the record of the prophets. The 105th Psalm says, O ye seed of Abraham, his servant, ye children of Jacob his chosen; he is the Lord our God; his judgments are in all the earth; he hath remembered his covenants to a thousand generations; which he made with Abraham and his oath unto Isaac, confirmed the same unto Jacob for a law, and to Israel for an everlast-ing covenant. He that believes the Bible, knows that God made a covenant with Abraham, and said to Isaac, I will perform the oath which I sware unto Abraham thy father, and when the same God spoke to Jacob, saying, Fear not to go down into Egypt-I will surely bring you up again, in addition to the promise before, that, in him and his seed should all the families of the earth be blessed, he has the confirmation, that Paul when he used to confirm had no reference to the time when God made the covenant with Abraham Besides the prophetic declaration that the seed of Abraham should be a stranger in a land not theirs: and they should be afflicted ( 400 years (Gen. 15.) Stephen says in the 7th chap. of Acts. that they were evil entreated that length of time, which just agrees with the general account, that about thirty years after Jacob went into the land of Goshen a new king rose up, who began to torment, Israel and to increase the tale of his labor, which lasted four hundred years.

The objection to this account of time, is. like others against the scripture, made by man upon the supposition, that if Levi begat Kohath, and Kohath begat Amram, and Amram begat Moses, there could not have been 430 years, as the age of man at that day rarely exceeded 120 or 130 years.

As there is but one place, as we recollect, that carries an idea that Moses was the SON of Amram, if the world will furnish us with the Book of the kings of Israel and Judah men-tioned in the 9th chap. of 1st Chronicles, wherein the genealogics of the fathers of Israel and Judah, were regularly kept, we willendeavor to explain the secret; so we add 430 years to the last sum, and it makes 2668 years when God brought Israel out of bondage.

From this till the Savior came, are 1491 years. Divided thus; to the commencement of Solomon's temple, 480, as mentioned in are just as explicit as words at full length can the 6th chap. of the 1st book of Kings. From,

Jews, are 411 years, drawn from the different weigns of the various kings. In this account we think there is a small difference, not to exceed 8 or 10 years; we take the least. From the Babylonish captivity till the birth of the Savior, not only the scripture and commentators, but the Book of Mormon also, agree in 600 years; which three sums, added to 2668, gives an aggregate of four thousand one hundred and fifty five years to the commencement of this present era.

We will remark here, that years cannot be calculated by generations. For the 1948 years from Adam to Abraham included 20 generations; 974 years to a generation in all, but before the flood 165 years. From Abraham to Christ were 42 generations, 2211 years, which would give about 523 years to a generation; but as the sacred writer divided the said 2211 years into three portions of 14 generations each, we have from Abraham to David 1126 years; equal to 801 years to a ge-From David to the captivity at neration, Babylon, 485 years, equal to 343 years to a generation; and from the captivity to the birth of Christ, 600 years; equal to 421 years to a generation. Wherefore he that is wise will watch the signs, without measuring the length of a generation.

As no serious objections have been made to the current account of time called the christian era, we shall not only suppose it correct. but set it down so, at 1832, and with the old and new cras, we have five thousand nine hundred and ninety one years; leaving the world NINE years from the beginning of the seven thousandth year, or sabbath of the creation; but as all have the privilege of ascertaining such facts for themselves, we ask no man to take our word for the age of the world; the worl of the Lord is enough, and whether it be 160 or only 9 years to the morning of the Great Day, is not so much matter, as the solemn reality—are we ready?

TO THE HONORABLE MEN OF THE WORLD.

To the honorable searchers for truth, we in a spirit of candor and morkness, are bound by every tie that makes man the friend of man, by every endowment of Heaven that renders intelligent beings seekers of happiness, to show you the way to salvation. In fact we are not only bound to do thus for those that seek the riches of eternity, but to walk in the tracks of our Savior, we must love our enemies; bless them that despitefully use us, and persecute us, or you and the world may know that we are not the children of God.-Therefore, to be obedient to the precepts of our divine master, we say unto you, search the scriptures—search the revelations which we publish, and ask your heavenly father, in the name of his son Jesus Christ, to manifest the truth unto you, and if you do it with an eye single to his glory, he will answer you by the power of his Holy Spirit; you will then know for yourselves, and not for anoth-er; you will not then be dependant on man for the knowledge of God, nor will there be any room for speculation. No; for when men receive their instruction from him that made them, they know how he will save them.

Then again we say search the scriptures: search the prophets, and learn what portion of them belongs to you, and the people of the nineteenth century. You, no doubt, will agree with us, and say, that you have no right to claim the promises of the inhabitants before the flood: that you cannot found your hopes of salvation upon the obedience of the children of Israel, when journeying in the wilderness; nor can you expect that the blessings which the aposlles pronounced upon the churches of Christ eighteen hundred years ago, were intended for you; again, if others blessing's are not your blessings, others curses are not your curses; you stand then in these last days, as all have stood before you. agents unto yourselves, to be judged according to your works.

Every man lives for himself. Adam was made to open the ways of the world, and for dressing the garden. Noah was born to save seed of every thing, when the earth was washed of its wickednesss by the flood; and the son of God came to redeem it from the fall. But except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God. This eternal truth settles the question of all man's re-ligion. A man may be saved after the judgment in the Terrestial kingdom, or in the Telestial kingdom, but he can never see the Celestial kingdom of God, without being born of water and the Spirit. He may receive a glory like unto the moon, or a star, but he can never come unto mount Zion, and unte the city of the living God, the heavenly Je-rusalem, and to an innumerable company of angels, to the general assembly and church of the first born, which are written in Heaven, and to God the Judge of all, and to the spirits of just men made perfect, and to Jesus, the mediator of the new Covenant, unless ha becomes as a little child, and is taught by the the Spirit of God. Wherefore, we again say, search the revelations of God; study the prophecies, and rejoice that God grants unto the world, seers and prophets; they are they who saw the mystery of godliness; they saw the flood before it came; they saw angels ascending and descending upon a ladder that reached from earth to Heaven; they saw the stone cut out of the mountain that filled the whole earth: slwy saw the Son of God come from the regions of bliss- and dwell with men on earth; they saw the Deliverer come out of Zion, and turn away ungodliness from Jacob: they saw the glory of the Lord when he shewed the transfiguration of the earth on the Mount; they saw every mountain laid low and every valley exalted when the Lord was taking vengeance upon the wicked; they saw truth spring out of the earth, and righteousness look down from heaven in the last days, before the Lord came the second time, to gather his elect; they saw the end of wicked, ness on the earth, and the sabbath of creation crowned with peace; they saw the end of the glorious thousand years, when Satan was loosed for a little season; they saw the day of judgment when all men received according to their works, and they saw the Heaven and earth flee away to make room for the city of God; when the righteous receive an inheri-And, fellow sojourners tance in eternity. upon earth, it is your privilege to purify yourselves and come up to the same glory, and see for yourselves and know for yourselves.

THE BOOK OF ETHER.

The book of Mormon contains a short history of a race of people, which lived on this conor a rate, by people, which which the difference in a complete the children of largel came to it. This brief account was written by a pro-phet of the Lord named Ether; and his account, em-bracing a period from the contounding of the lan-guage at at the bailting of Babel, to about 600 years before the birth of the Savior is supported by the Bi-low for the food tableng that he with the the before the birth of the savior is supported by the bi-ble; for the Lord declares that he scattered them a-broad from thence, upon the face of all the earth... This nation, which in honor of one of the first fami-hes that came over, were called Jaredites, must have had the unmolested control and use of America, near 1500 ranse. No writen, wings them two heat of so had the unmolested control and use of America, near 1500 years. No nation, since then, can hoast of so long a national existence; and but low before; the A-dualities, or, at least, some Cainites, had the world to themselves about 1660 years before the flood. As to the Jaredites no more is known than is contain-ed in the Book of Ether. Perhaps "Dighton writing Rock," in Massachusetts, may holdan unknown tale in relation to these pioneers of the land of liberty which can yet be revealed. God is great, and when we look abroad in the earth, & take a glimpse through the long avenue of departed years, we cannot only discover the traces in artificial curiosfities, and com-mon works, and small hills, mountain caves, and ex-tensive prairies where the Jaredites filed the measure of their time, but as they were a very large race of tensive praintes where the Jurcentes into the measure of their time, but as they were a very large race of men whenever we hear that very large bones have been dug up from the earth, we may conclude that was the skeleton of a Juredite. The mystery of men in this world, has not been unfolded to all, yet; and may not be in full, till the Savior comes; but enough has not be in full, till the Savior comes; but enough has come to light in these last days, to show that man was made to multiply and replenish the earth and scodue it, whether a few branches of christendom kney; it of not. To the point: a beautiful sketch of the book of Efther is handed down to us in the book' of Mormon, by Moroni. We give an extract. And it exact to pass that the days of Ether was in the days of Corientum, and Coriantum was king over all the land. And Ether was a prophet of the Land; wherefore Ether came forth in the days of Co-iantum, and heem to propher unit the paped for

And it came to pass that Ether did pro-The your which the set of the set ior ye receive no witness until after the trial of your faith, for it was by faith that Christ shewed hinself unto our fathers, after that he had risen from the dead, and he shewed not hinself unto them, until afdetail, and he snewed not ministra unto tache, and ac-ter they had faith in him, for he shewed himself un-to the world. But because of the faith of men he has shewn himself unto the world, and glorifed the name of the Father, and prepared a way that thereby others might be partakers of the heavenly gift, that they might hope for those things which they had not seen; wherefore ye may also have hope, and be parta-kers of the gift, if ye will but have faith. Behold, it was by faith that they of old were called after the order of God; wherefore by faith was the law of Moses given. But in the gift of his son hath God prepared a more excellent way; and it is by faith that it hath been fallilled; for if there be no faith among the chil-dren of men, God can do no miracle among them; wherefore he shewed not himself, until after their faith; Behold it was the faith of Alma and Amulek that caused the prison to tumble to the earth. Be-hold, it was the faith of Nephi and Lehi that wrought the change upon the Lamanites, that they were bapter they had faith in him; wherefore it must needs be the change upon the Lamanites, that they were hap-tized with fire and with the Holy Ghost, behold it was the faith of Ammon and his brethren, which wrough! so groat a miracle anong the Lamanites

And it was by furth that the three disciples obtained a promise that they should not taste of death; and they obtain-ed not the promise until after their faith. And actifier of the before both any wrongthe miscales used to death ed not the promise until alter their faith. And actiner at any time hath any wrought miracles until aforth their faith. Wherefore they first believed in the son z of God. And there were many whose faith was so ex-ceeding strong even before Christ came, which conhe<sup>(1)</sup> not be kept from within the yeil, but truly saw with <sup>(1)</sup> not be kept from within the weil, but truly saw with their eyes the things which they had beheld with an eye of faith, and they were glad. And, behold, we have seen in this record, that one of these was the brother of Jarrd; for so great was his faith in God, that when God put forth his finger he could not hide it from the sight of the brother of Jarrd, because of his word which he had spoken unto him, which he had obtained by faith. And after that the brother of Jared had beheld the finger of the Lord, because of the syronise which the brother of Jared had ob-tained by faith, the Lord could not withhold any thing from his sight; therefore he shewed him all things. from his sight; therefore he shewed him all things, for he could no longer be kept without the weil.-And it is by faith that my fathers have obtained the promise that these things should come unto their brethren through the Gentiles; therefore the Lord hath commanded me, yea even Jesus Christ. -And I said unto him, Lord, the Gentiles will mock at these things, because of our weakness in writing: for Lord thou hast made us mighty in word by faith, whereunto thou hast not made us mighty in wriwhereunto thou hast not made us mighty in wri-ting; for thou hast made all this people that they could speak much, because of the Holy Ghost which thou hast given them and thou hast made us that we could write but little, because of the awkwardness of our hands. Behold thou hast not made us mighty in writing like unto the brother of Jared, for thou madest him that the things which he wrote, were mighty, even as thou art, unto the overpowering of much to read them. Thou hast also made our words power-fol and great, even that we ci nnot write them; there-fore, when we write we hold our weakness and ful and great, even that we c: nnot write them; there-fore, when we write we behold our weakness and stumble because of the placing of our words and I fear lest the Gentiles shall mock at our words. And when I caidthis, the Lord spake unto me saying, fools mock, but they shall morn: and my grace is suffi-cient for the neck, that they shall take no advantage of thy weakness, and if men come unto nel will shew unto them their weakness. Behold, I will shew unto the Gen-tiles their weakness; and I will shew unto them that faith hope, and charity, bringeth unto me the four-tian of all rightcourses. And now, I, Moroni, proceed to finish my record concerning the destruction of the people of which I have been writing. For behold they rejected all the words of Ether; for he truly told them of all things: from the beginning of man; and how that after the wa-ters held re ded from off the face of this haid, it he-came a choice land above all other lands, a chosen land of the Lord. Wherefore the Lord would have the after the should serve him, which dwell-eth upon the face theres, and that it was the place of eth upon the face there a; and that it was the place of the New Jerssalem, which should come down out of Heaven, and the holy sometarry of the Lord. Behold Ether saw the days of Christ, and he spake concern-ing a new Jerusalem upon this land; sud he spake also concerning the house of Israel, and the Jerusalem from whence Lehi should come; after that it would be destroyed, it should be built up again a holy cuy not to the Lord; wherefore it could not be a new Jerosclen, for it had been in a time of old, but it should be built up again, and become a hely city unto the Lord; and it should be built up unto the house of Isrcel; and and it should be built up unto the house of isrcei; and that a new Jerusalem should be built up upon this land, unto the remnent of the seed of Joseph, for the which things there has been a type, for us Joseph brought his father down into the lend of Egypt, even so he died there; wherefore the Lord brought a remnant of the seed of Joseph out of the land of he tide there, where the tide here here the bord of build in of Jerusalem, that he might be merciful unto the seed of Joseph, that they perish not, even is he was mer-ciful unto the father of Jaseph. that he should perish not, wherefore the remnant of the house of Joseph shall be built up on this lond; and it shall be a land of their inheritance; and they shall build up a holy city, unto the Lord, like unto the Jerusalem of old; and they shall up on more herefore. they shall no more be confounded, until the end come, they shall no more be confounded, until the end come, de when the earth shall pass away. And there shall be a new heaven and a new earth; and they shall be 179 like unto the old, save the old have passed way, and all things have become new. And when these things come, bringeth to pass the Scienture which saith. There are they which were first, which shall be last; and there are they which were last, which shall be first.

Let every one that queries about more Revelations from the Lord, take his bible and soe if God ever acknowledged a church to be his, unless there was a prophet in it. This is one of the most important points relative to salvation, for, as it is written, not every one that says Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven.

27 The prophet told the truth, when, prophesying of the last days, he said, The good is perished out of the earth; for so it is. Christ's disciples were nick-named CHRISTIANS, in the merickan of time, sud his disciples, are now called MORMONITES with-out authority or provocation, by the sectarian papers, as well as the political; not, however, with an inti-mation to follow the Savior's golden rule, or to teach mankind, to embrace Paul's more excellent way! The other columns indicate the ्य Prussia respectively for the 10 years from 1821 to IS30, both in live. The other columns indicate the births over the deaths, in each year, and it is not a little interesting to see how this excess is affacted by the price of corn. The total population of Prunce is fully 32, and yet the total excess of births over deaths dur-ing the whole tea years is in Prussia 4, 603, 004, while in France no more than 1, 929, 530, supposing the num-bers to be the same for 1830 as for the previous year. The French prices are of course stated in france and centimes per hectolitre, and the Prussian in thalery and decimal parts of a thaler per bushel-the value of a thaler in French money being 3 france 71 centimes.

Truth, is the glory of time, and the daughter of eternity; a title of the highest grace, and a note of di-vine nature; she is the life of religion, the light of love, the grace of with, and the crown of wisdom; she is the beauty of valor; the brightness of honor, the blessing of reason, and the joy of faith; her truth is glorious; her essence is in God, and her dwelling with bic sources her will in his wisdom and her work to plotions, heressence is in God, and her dwelling with his servants; her will in his wisdom, and her work to his glory; she is honored in love, and graced in con-stancy; in patience admired, and in charity beloved; she is the angel's worship, the virgin's fame, the saint's bliss, and the martyr's crown; abe is the king's greatness, and his council's gootness; his subjects' peace and his kingdom's praise: her heart never faints, her tonguo never trips, ber hand never fails, and her faith never fears: her church is without schism, her sity without fraud, her court without va-nity, and her kingdom withoutvillainy. #### HOPE.

As the influence of the sun upon the earth; or the light of the moon upon the blackness of night; so is hope to the soul. It is hope that enkindles the spirits light of the moon upon the blackness of night, so is hope to the goul. It is hope that enkindles the spirits when dimmed by disappointments, und chilled by the cold touch of despair. It is the boon of heaven to man, and serves as a faithful pilot to guile him throi the dark avenues of life, nor ever shrink from the parts assigned it. Mankind are all inspired by this kind soother of anxious toil---it is co-eval with our creation, and as lasting as our existence. In child-bood it annuses; in youth it encourages and animates; in manhood it promises greater preferments and more eminent distinctions, and in the declivity of life, it strengthens and supports---it strewsrosses on our pathstrengthens and supports—it strewsroses on our path-way to the tomb, and although the pleasures and al-lurements of earth may cheat, still bope clings to us with enthusiastic fondness; nor does it wane with the decline of our existence, 'but travels through nor quits us when we die.' Sweet harbinger of joy! Life with-out thee, were a world without light-a deathlike song—a frightful dream!' Where could we flee in ad-versity but to thee? When sorrow and sadness pour upon us like a mighty deluge—when grief corrodes within the breast—when care perplexes the mind and ty deluge-when grief corrodes when care perplexes the mind, and ithin the breastdisappointments bring their train of melancholy, or despair fixes her talons deep upon the heart; it is hope alone that can light up the dark paths of life, and hear us up from shrinking under the heavy head of afflic-tion. A well founded hope presents the lature illu-minated by its own unfading radience; it refers us to a nobler world than this—to the beautiful shores of immortality; and when the last convulsive throb of nature censes to beat within the breast, hope with ra-dient inger points to realms of everilasting felicity and joys unspeakable.—[Ladies' Magazine.

EVENING.

There are two periods in the life of man teresting in youth and in old age. In youth Man monlight, its mil 4 LOVE IL LOT LLE MALLEN lian of stars, its thin, rich and soothing shades, its still serenity, amid these we commune with our loves or entwine the wreaths. of friendship, while there is none to hear us witness but the heavens and the spirits that hold their endless Sabbath there, or look into the deep bosom of creation, spread abroad like a canopy above us, and look and listen until we can almost see and hear the waying wings and melting songs of other worlds. To youth evening is delightful, it accords with the flow of his light spirits, the fervor of his funcy, and the softness of his heart. Even ing is, also, the delight of virtuous age; it affords hours of undisturbed contemplation; it seems an emblem of the tranquil close of busy life, serene, placid and mild, with the impress of its great Creator stamped upon it; it spreads its wings over the grave, as if watching for the day star of eternity.

A REVELATION GIVEN MARCH 8, 1831.

Hearken, O ye people of my church, for verily I say unto you, that these things are spoken unto you for your profit and learning; but notwithstanding these things which are written, it always has been given to the elders of my church, from the beginning, and ever shall be, to conduct all meetings as they are directed and guided by the Holy Spirit: nevertheless ye are commanded never to cast any one out from your public meetings, which are held before the world; ye are also commanded never to cast one, who belongs to the church, out of your sacrament meet-ings: nevertheless, if any have trespassed, let them not partake until they make recon, ciliation. And again, verily I say unto you, I would, that ye should always remember, and always retain in your minds what these gifts are, in which the evening hour is peculiarly in-lihat are given unto the church, for all have not every gift given unto them, for there are many gifts, and to every man is given a gift by the Spirit of God; to some is given one, and to some is given another, that all may be profited thereby; to some is given by the Holy Spirit to know that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, and that he was crucified for the sins of the world; to others it is given to believe on their words, that they also might have eternal life if they continue faith-And again, to some it is given by the ful. ### A REVELATION GIVEN MAY 9, 1831.

Hearken, O ye elders of my church, and give ear to the voice of the living, God; and attend to the words of wisdom which shall be given unto you, according as ye have asked and are agreed as touching the church, and the spirits which have gone abroad in the earth. Behold verily I say unto you, that there are many spirits, which are false spirits, which have gone forth in the earth, deceiving the world: and also satan has sought to deceive you, that he might over-throw you. Behold I the Lord have looked upon you and have seen abominations in the church, which profess my name; but blessed are they who are faithful and endure whether in life or in death, for they shall inherit eternal life. But wo unto them that are deceiving han a calor the sets offer ers, and hypocrites, for thus saith the Lord, I will bring them to judgment. Behold veri-ly I say unto you, there are hypocrites among you, and have deceived some which has given the adversary power: but behold such shall be reclaimed, but the hypocrites shall be detected and shall be cut off, either in life or in death, even as I will, and wo unto them that are cut off from my church, for the same are overcome with the world: wherefore let every man be aware lest he do that which is not in truth and righteousness before me.

And now come, saith the Lord, by the spirit, unto the elders of his church, and let us reason together, that ye may understand: let us reason even as a man reasons one with another face to face: now when a man reasons he is understood of man, because he reasons as a man: even so will I the Lord reason with you ti at you may understand; wherefore I the Lord ask you this question: Unto what were ye ordained: to preach my gospel by the spirit, even the comforter which was sent forth to teach the truth; and then receive ye spirits which ye could not understand, and received them to be of God, and in this are ye justified? Behold ye shall answer this question yourselves, nevertheless I will be merciful unto you: he that is weak by the comforter, in the spirit of truth, does he preach it by the spirit of truth, or some other way: and if by some other way, it be not of God; and again he that receives the word of truth does he receive it by the spirit of truth, or some other way; if it be some other way it be not of God: Therefore, why is it that ye cannot understand and know that he that receives the word by the spirit of truth, receives it as it is preached by the spirit of truth, wherefore he that preaches and he that receives understands one anoth-er and both are edified and rejoice together: and that which does not edify is not of God and is darkness; that which is of God is light, and he that receives light and continues in God, receives more light, and that light grows brighter and brighter until the perfect day. And again, verily I say unto you, and I say it that ye may know the truth, that you it may chase darkness from among you, for he that is ordained of God and sent forth, the same is appointed to be the greatest, not-withstanding he is least, and the servant of all: wherefore he is possessor of all things, for all things are subject unto him, both in heaven and on earth, the life, the light, the spirit and the power, sent forth by the will of the Father, through Jesus Christ his Sont but no man is possessor of all things except he be purified and cleansed from all sin; and if ye are purified and cleansed from all sin, ye shall ask whatsoever you will in the name of Jesus and i shall be done: but know this, it shall be given you what you shall ask, and as ye are appointed to the head, the spirits shall be subject unto you: wherefore it shall come to pass, that if you behold a spirit manifested that ye cannot understand, and you receive not that spirit, ye shall ask of the Father in its the name of Jesus and if he give not unto you that spirit, then ye may know that it is not of God; and it shall be given unto you power ftaoyo ori tiuw i

And it came to pass that Enoch continued his speech saying, Behold our father Adam taught these things, and many have believed and become the sons of God, and many have believed not and perished in their sins, and are looking forth with fear, in torment, for the fiery indignation of the wrath of God to be poured out upon them.-And from that time forth Enoch began to prophesy, saying unto the people, that, as I was journeying and stood upon the place Mahujah, I cried unto the Lord, and there came a Sice out of the heaven, saying, Turn ye and get ye upon the mount Simoon. And And it came to pass that I turned and went upon the mount, and as I stood upon the mount, I beheld the heavens open, and I was clothed upon with glory, and I saw the Lord; he stood before language, which God had given him.

as a man talks one with another faces that epirits with railing accusation that ye be not overcome; neither with boasting, nor re-joicing, lest you be seized therewith: he that receives of God 13 him account it of God, it came to pass that I beheld the valley Shum, and lo, a great people which dwelt in tents, which were the people of Shum. And again the Lord saids unto me, Look, and I looked towards: the north, and I behekl the people of Canaan, which dwelt in tents. And the Lord said unto me, Prophesy, and I prophesicd saving, Behold the people of Canana, which are numerous, shall go forth in battle aray against the people of Shum, and shall slay them. that they shall atterly be destroyed; and the people of Caman shall divide themselves in the land, and the land shall be barren and unfautiful, and none other people shall dwell there but the people of Canaan; for behold the Lord shall curse the land with much heat, and the barrenness thereof shall go forth forever: And there was blackness come upon all the children of Canaan, that they were despised among all people. And it came to pass that the Lord said unto me, Look, and I looked and beheld the land of Sharon, and the land of Enoch, and the land of Omner, and the land of Heni, and the land of Shem, and the land of Haner, and the land of Hanannihah, & all the inhabitants thereof: and the Lord said unto me, Go to this people and say unto them, Repent, lest I come out and smite them with a curse, and they die. And he gave unto me a commandment that I should baptize in the name of the Father, and the Son, which is full of grace and truth, and the Holy Spirit, which bears record of the Father and the Son.

And it came to pass that Enoch continued to call upon all the people, save it were the people of Canaan, to repent: And so great was the faith of Enoch that he lead the people of God, and their enemies came to battle against them, and he spake the word of the Lord, and the earth trembled: and the mountains fled, even according to his command; and the rivers of water were turned out of their course; and the roar of the lions was heard out of the wilderness; and all nations feared greatly, so powerful was the word of Enoch, and so great was the power of my face, and he talked with me, even! There also came up a land out of the rlepth of the sea; and so great was the fear of the enemies of the people of God, that they fied and stood afar off, and went upon the land which came up out of the depths of the sea. And the giants of the land, also, stood afaroff; and there went forth a curse upon all the people which fought against God; and from that time forth there were wars and bloodsheds among them, but the Lord came and dwelt with his people, and they dwelt in righteous-The fear of the Lord was upon ness. ull nations, so great was the glory of the Lord, which was upon his people: And the Lord blessed the land, and they were blessed upon the mountains, and upon the high places, and did flour-And the Lord called his people ish. And it came to pass in his days, that he built a city that was called the city of holiness, even ZION. And it came to pass that Enoch talked with the Lord, and he said unto the Lord, Surely Zion shall dwell in safety forever: But the Lord said unto Enoch, Zion have I blessed, but the residue of the people have I cursed.-And it came to pass that the Lord showed unto Enoch all the inhabitants of the earth; and he beheld, and lo, Zion, in process of time, was taken up into heaven! And the Lord said unto Enoch, Behold my abode forever: and Enoch also beheld the residue of the people which were the sons of Adam, and they were a mixture of all the seed of Adam, save it were the seed of Cain, for the seed of Cain were black, and had not place among them. And after that Zion was taken up into heaven, Enoch beheld and lo, all the nations of the earth were before him! and there came generation upon generation, and Enoch was high and lifted up, even in the bosom of the Father, and the Son of Man; and behold the power of Satan was upon all the face of the earth!-And he saw angels descending out of heaven; and he heard a loud voice, edness, as among your brethren; but saying, Wo, wo, be unto the inhabit- behold their sins shall be upon the ants of the earth! Enoch beheld angels descending out of heaven bearing testimony of the Father and Son: and the Holy Spirit fell on many, and they were caught up by the powers of heaven into Zion: And it came to pass that the God of heaven looked upon the residue of the people, and he wept, and Enoch bore record of it, saying, How is it the heavens weep and shed forth their tears as the rain upon the mountains? And Enoch said unto the Lord, How is it that you can weep, seeing you are holy and from all eternity to all eternity? and were it possible that man could number the particles of the earth, and millions of earths like this, it would not bo a beginning to the number of your creations; and your curtains are streatched out still; and yet you are there, and your bosom is there; and also, you are just; you are merciful and kind forever; you have taken Zion to your own bosom from all your creations, from all eternity to all eternity, and nought but peace, justice and truth is the habitation of your throne; and mercy shall go before your face and have no end: how is it that you can weep? The Lord said unto Epoch, Behold these your brethren: they are the workmanship of my own hands, and I gave unto them their knowledge, in the day I created them; and in the garden of Eden gave I unto man his agency; and unto your brethren have I said, and also, gave commandment, that they should love one another; and that they should choose me their Father, but behold they are without affection; and they hate their own blood; and the fire of my indignation is kindled against them: and in my hot displeasure will I send in the floods upon them, for my fierce anger is kindled against them. Behold I am God; Man of holiness is my name; Man of council is my name, and Endless and Eternal is my name, also. Wherefore, I can stretch forth my hands and hold all the creations which I have made; and my eye can pierce them, also; and among all the workmanship of my hand, there has not been so great wick-52.56

And it came to pass, that the Lord spake unto Enoch and told Enoch all the doings of the children of men: wherefore Enoch knew, and looked upon their wickedness, and their misery, and wept and streached forth his arms, and his heart swelled wide as eternity; and his bowels yearned, and all eternity shook. And, Enoch saw Noah, also, and his family, that the posterity of all the sons of Noah should be saved with a temporal salvation: wherefore he saw that Noah built an ark; and the Lord smiled upon it, and held it in his own hand; but upon the residue of the wicked came the floods and swallowed them up. And as Enoch saw thus, he had bitterness of soul, and wept over his brethren, and said unto the heavens, I will refuse to be comforted; but the Lord said unto Enoch, Lift up your heart and be glad, and look.-And it came to pass that Enoch looked, and, from Noah, he beheld all the families of the earth; and he cried unto the Lord, saying, When shall the day of the Lord come? When shall the blood of the rightcous be shed, that all they that mourn may be sanctified, and have eternal life? And the Lord said, It shall be in the meridian of time, in the days of wickedness and vengeance. And behold, Enoch saw the day of the coming of the Son of man, even in the flesh; and his soul rejoiced, saying, The righteous is lifted up, and the Lamb is slain from the foundation of the world; and through faith I am in the bosom of the Father: and behold Zion is with me! And it came to pass, that Enoch looked upon the earth, and he heard a voice from the bowels thereof, saying, Wo, wo is me the mother of men! I am pained: I am weary because of the wickedness of my children! When shall I rest, and be cleansed from the filthiness which has gone forth out of me? When manded me that I should ask in the will my Creator sanctify me that I name of your Only Begotten, you have may rest, and righteousness, for a season abido upon my face? And when Enoch heard the earth mourn, he wept, and cried unto the Lord, saying, O Lord, will you not have compassion upon the earth? Will you not bless the children of Noah? And it came to pass that Enoch continued his cry unto the Lord, saying, I ask you, O Lord, in the name of your only Begotten, even Jesus Christ, that you will have morey upon Noah and his seed, that the earth might never more bo covered by the floods? And the Lord could not withhold: and he covenanted with Enoch, and swore unto him with an oath, that he would stay the floods; that he would call upon the children of Noah: and he sent forth an unalterable decree, that a remnant of his seed should always be found among all nations, while the earth should stand: and the Lord said, Blessed is him through whose seed Messiah shall come: for he says, I am Messiah, the King of Zion; the Rock of heaven, which is broad as eternity; whose comes in at the gate and climbs up by me shall never fall: wherefore, blessed are they of whom I have spoken, for they shall come forth with songs of everlasting joy.

And it came to pass, that Enoch cried unto the Lord, saying, When the Son of man comes in the flesh, shall the earth rest? I pray you show me these things. And the Lord said unto Enoch, Look, and he looked and beheld the Son of man lifted upon the cross, after the manner of men; and he heard a loud voice; and the heavens were veiled; and all the creation of God mourned; and the earth groaned; and the rocks. were rent: and the saints arose and were crowned at the right hand of the Son of man, with crowns of glory; and as many of the spirits as were in prison, came forth and stood on the right hand of God; and the remainder were reserved in chains of darkness until the judgment of the great day. And again, Enoch wept and cried unto the Lord, saying, Whon shall the earth rest?-And Enoch beheld the Son of man ascend up unto the Father: and he called unto the Lord, saying, Will you not come again upon the earth, for inasmuch as you are God, and I know you, and you have sworn unto me and com-

made me, and given unto me a right to your throne, and not of myself but through your own grace: wherefore, I ask you if you will not come again on the earth? And the Lord said unto Enoch, as I live, even so will I come in the last days, in the days of wickedness and vengeance, to fulfill the oath which I have made unto you, concerning the children of Noah: and the day shall come that the earth shall rest, but before that day the heavens shall be darkened, and a veil of darkness shall cover the earth; and the heavens shall shake, and also the earth; and great tribulations shall be among the children of men, but my people will I preserve; and righteousness will I send down out of heaven; and truth will I send forth out of the earth to bear testimony of my Only Begotten; his resurrection from the dead; yea, and also the resurrection of all men: and righteousness and truth will I cause to sweep the earth as with a flood, to gather out my own elect from the four quarters of the earth unto a place which I shall prepare; a holy city, that my people may gird up their loins, and be looking forth for the time of my coming; for there shall be my tabernacle, and it shall be called ZION, a New Jerusalem. And the Lord said unto Enoch, then shall you and all your city meet them there, and we will receive them into our bosom, and they shall see us, and we will fall upon their necks, and they shall fall upon our necks, and we will kiss each other, and there shall be my abode, and it shall be Zion which shall come forth out of all the creations which I have made; and for the space of a thousand years shall the earth rest. And it came to pass that Enoch saw the days of the coming of the Son of man, in the last days, to dwell on the earth in righteousness, for the space of a thousand years: but before that day he saw great tribulations among the wicked; and he also saw the sea that it was troubled, and men's hearts failing them, looking forth with fear for the judgments of the Almighty God, which should come upon the wicked. And the Lord showed Enoch all things, even unto the end of the world; and he saw the day of the righteous, the hour of their redemption, and received a fulness of joy: and all the days of Zion in the days of Enoch, were three hundred and sixty five years: and Enoch and all his people walked with God, and he dwelt in the midst of Zion: and it came to pass that Zion was not, for God received it up into his own boson; and from thence went forth the saying, Zion is fied.

In the last number of this paper (re-printed) we promised a few remarks on the revelations.

Those who read this paper will see that it contains items of covenant of deep interest to the church of the saints, and as they have frequently been ridiculed in consequence of certain items contained in the one setting forth their faith on the subject of bestowing temporal gifts for the benefit of the poor, it is a matter of joy to as to be able to present this document according to the original.

We hope the saints may profit by every word proceeding from the mouth of the Lord.

Some have said, and still say, that this Church, "has all things sommon. This assertion is meant, not only to falsify on the subject of property, but to blast the reputation and moral characters of the members of the same.

The church at Jerusalem, in the days of the apostles, had their earthly goods in common; the Nephites, after the appearance of Christ, held theirs in the same way; but each government was differently organized from ours, and could admit of such a course when ours cannot. As to the moral virtue of this society, facts speak for themselves, and no tongue of calumny can do it an injury, where it is known.

The extract from the book of Ether, issued in this number, has been so materially altered by the typographer, (who, by-the-by, is not here,) that if it differs from the original, our friends must pardon us.

Writing Letters.

The art of writing is one of the greatest blessings we enjoy. To cultivate it is our duty, and to use it is our privilege. By these means the thoughts of the heart can act without the body, and the mind can speak with-out the head, while thousands of miles apart, and for ages after the flesh has mouldered back to its mother dust. Beloved i feader; have you ever reflected on this simple, this useful, this heavenly blessing? It is one of the best gifts of God to man, and it is the privilege of man to enjoy it. By writing, the word of the Lord has been handed to the inhabitants of the earth, from generation to generation. By writing, the inventions and knowledge of men have been received, age after age, for the benefit of the world. By writing, the transactions of life, like the skies over the ocean, are spread out upon the current of time, for the eyes of the rising multitudes to look upon. And while we are thus summing up some of the blessings and enjoyments, which result from this noble art, let us not forget to view a few of the curses and mischiefs which follow an abuse of this high privilege. While we behold what a great matter a little fire kindles, let us not stand mute: Let us not forget to set a better example, when we see the slanderer dip his ra-ven's quill in gall, to blot the fair fame of some innocent person. Let us weep, for so will the heavens do, when the great men of the earth, write their glory in the tears of the fatherless and the widow. Let us mourn while this world's vanity is written for deception, in letters of gold. But enough, for the wicked are writing their own death warrant, and the hail of the Lord shall sweep away the refuge of lies. We, as the disciples of the blessed Jesus, are bound by every considtration that makes religion a blessing, to the inhabitants of the earth, while we see this ex-alted privilege abused, to set a more noble example : to do our business in a more sacred way, and, as servants of the Lord, that would be approved in all things, hide no fault of our own, nor cover any imperfections in others; neither offend, lest we bring a reproach upon the great cause of our holy Father. It is pleasing to God to see men use the blessings which he gave them, and not abuse them.", For this reason, if the saints abide in the faith wherewith they have been called, the land shall yield her increase, and the blessings of heaven shall attend them, and the Lord will turn to them a pure language, and the glory of God will again be upon the righteous on earth. All things are for men, not men for all things. Beloved brethren, before we can teach the world how to do right, we must be able to do so ourselves: Therefore, in the love of him who is altogether lovely, whose yoke is easy, and whose burthen is light, who spake as never man spake, let us offer a few ideas on this important subject, for the consideration of such as mean to love their neighbors as themselves, for the sake of righteousness and eternal life. 1. Never write a letter to friend or fee, unless you have business which can bot be done as well in some other way; Sr, unless you have news to communicate, that is worth time and moncy. In this way you will increase confidence and save postage.

[Whole No. 4.

2. Never write any thing in a letter to friend or foe, that you are afraid to read to friend or foe, for letters from a distance, especially one or two thousand miles, are sought for with great anxiety; and, as no one is a judge of men and things, you are liable to misrepresent yourself, your country, your friends, and your enemies, and put in the mouth of the honest, as well as the dishonest, a lie, which truth, in her gradual but virtuous way, may not con-tradict till your head is nnder the silent clods of the valley.

3 Never write any thing, but truth, for truth is heavenly, and like the sun, is always bright, and proves itself without logic, without reason, without witnesses, and never fails. Truth is of the Lord and will prevail.

4. Never reprove a friend or foe for faults in a letter, except by revelation; for in the first place, your private intentions, be they ever so good, are liable to become public, because, all letters may be broken open, and your opinion only on one side of the question, can be scattered to the four winds, and he to whom you meant good, receives evil; and you are not benefitted. Again, we can hardly find a language, written or spoken, on earth, at this time, that will convey the true meaning of the heart to the understanding of another; and you are liable to be misunderstood, and to give unpleasant feelings: and you merely to use a simile, bleed an old sore, by pro-bing it for proud flesh, when it only wanted a little oil from the hand of the good Samaritan, in person, to heal it. No matter how pure your intentions may be; no matter how high your standing is, you cannot touch man's heart when absent as when present. Truly, you do not cast your pearls before swine, but you throw your gold before man, and he robs you for your folly. Instead of reproof give good advice ; and when face to face, rebuke a wise man and he will love you ; or, do so to your friend, that, should he become your enemy, he cannot reproach you : thus you may live, not only unspotted, but unsuspected.

5. Never write what you would be asham. ed to have printed ; or, what might offend the chastest ear, or hurt the softest heart. If you write what you are ashamed to have print. ed, you are partial: If you write what would offend virtue, you have not the spirit of the Lord; and if you write what would wound the weak hearted, you are not feeding the Lord's Lambs, and thus you may know that you are not doing to others, what you would expect others to do to you. The only rule we would give to regulate writing letters, is this: Write what you are willing should be published in this world and the world to come. And would to God, that not only the disciples of the church of Christ, but the whole world, Then the were willing to follow this rule ; commandments would be kept, and no one would write a word against the Lord his God. No one would write a word against his father or mother. No one would write a word against his neighbor. No one would write a word against the creatures of God. No one would need write a word against ought but sin; and then the world would be worth living in, for there would be none to offend.

a to the church, this being a day of warning and not a day of many words, let them that wish to communicate, or instruct, wheth-er high or low, whether male or female, whether parent or child, whether master or servant, whether teacher or member, whether elder or high priest, come to this conclusion, That the eyes of God are upon them, and that what they do is for eternity; for God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil: and therefore, to obey the commandments of the Lord, and to set an example in all things, worthy of imitation by the world; knowing that in themidst of counsellors there is safety ; with the light of revelation shining around them, as the sun in his strength ; while the tidings from heaven to the faithful, is, Peace on earth and good will while the spirit of Christ dito men: rects them to pray for one another, and for their enemies ; and while the love of God ex-alts the heart, to forget and forgive : let them not write a line that they would be ashamed to have printed, for the world to profit by; or, written in the unsullied books of heaven, Begin to think for the angels to look upon. right and your thoughts may be worth saving; begin to speak truth in all things, and your words may be powerful; so much so, that you can exclaim like Job: O that my words O that they were printwere now written! Again, should hypocrites or sin-ners, write, either to or from Zion, and not write the truth, their own words may condemn them: Their own letters can be sent back, either way, as witnesses of their folly now, and remain as testimony against them, when the Lord comes out of his place to pumish the inhabitants of the earth for their ini-So be it, and the will of the Lord be quity. done : But brethren : Love the Lord and keep his commandments, that righteousness may Serve the Lord and pray earnestly. abound. that the Spirit may be with you. And finally, walk in the valley of humility, and remember the world of mankind which lies in darkness and sin, and pray for them ; and if necessary, that you die for Christ-die-for he died for you. Beloved, there was a time so perfect, and the union so pure, that the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy! and we do beseech you, to purify yourselves that your names may be written in heaven, for the company of angels to look upon, that they may come down and teach us to purify ourselves for the presence of Jesus, that he may dwell with us, while his glory covers the heavens, and the earth is full of his praise, that we may be one with all the redeemed of the Lamb, and them that are changed in the twinkling of an eye as the heaven and the earth are made new, that the tabernacle of God may be with men, and he with them, that we may hear the songs of Zion from all the creations he hath made, shouting glory and power and honor, to God and the Lamb throughout eternity.

The Cholera.

Not since the flood, if we think right, has the Lord sent the same pestilence, or destruction, over the whole carth at once: But the Cholera, which has swept its thousands in Asia, Africa, Europe and America, gives a solemn token to a wondering world, that it will do so. Let the reader remember that all flesh is grass, but that amidst all the judgments of the Lord, the righteous have never been forsaken. The spread of the Cholera, may be fikened unto the ripple or wave, formed by casting a stone into a pond of waters ring follows sing till they meet the shore: It is staid to be in nearly all the eastern cities. Well has Isaiah said, When the overflowing scourge shall pass through, then ye shall be trodden down by it. From the time it goeth forth it shall take you: for morning by morning shall it pass over by day and by night: and it shall be a vexation only to understand the report.

THE BOOK OF JACOB.

One of the greatest figures, one of the plainest parables, and sublimest prophecies, that we know of, is found in the book of Jacob in the book of Mormon. It is as simple as the accents of a child, and as sublime as the lan-guage of an angel. The words are from the mouth of an ancient prophet named Zenos, and would to God we had all his prophetic book, for he that caused Isaiah's lips to be touched with sacred fire, filled Zenos with the word of wisdom. Isaiah said, The vineyard of the Lord of hosts, is the house of Is-rael, and the men of Judah his pleasart plant, and Zenos adorns it with the tame olive tree for the children of Israel, and grafts in the wild olive for the Gentiles; and marvel not that the Lord is now sending his servants to prune this vineyard for the last time; he hath already had laborers in it at the sixth and ninth hour, and these that work for the Lord at this eleventh hour, will receive their penny as much as those that have labored all day. The much as those that have labored all day. captivity of Jacob will return, and the children of Israel shall come, they and the children of Judah together, going and weeping: they shall go and seek the Lord their God. They shall ask the way to Zion with their faces thitherward, saying, Come and let us join ourselves to the Lord in a perpetual covenant that shall not be forgotten. Whose readeth that shall not be forgotten. let him understahd, for thus it is:

which spake unto the house of Israel, saying: Hearken O ye house of Israel, and hear the words of me, a prophet of the Lord, for behold, thus saith the Lord, I will liken thee, O house of Israel, like unto a tame olive tree, which a man took and nourished in his vine-yard: and it grew and waxed old, and began to decay. And it came to pass that the master of the vineyard went forth, and he saw that his olive tree began to decay; and he saith, I will prune it, and dig about it and nourish it, that perhaps it may shoot forth young and tender branches, and it perish not. And it came to pass that he pruned it, and digged about it, and nourished it according to his word. And it came to pass that after many days, it began to put forth somewhat a little, young and tender branches; but behold, the main top thereof began to perish. And And it came to pass that the master of the vineyard saw it, and he saith unto his servant, It grieveth me that I should lose this tree; wherefore, go and pluck the branches from a wild olive tree, and bring them hither unto me; and we will pluck off those main branchas which are beginning to wither away, and we will cast them into the fire that they may be burned. And behold, saith the Lord of the vineyard, I take away many of these young and tender branches, and I will graft them whithersoever I will; and it mattereth not that if it so be, that the root of this tree will perish, I may preserve the fruit thereof unto myself; wherefore, I will take these young and tender branches, and I will graft them This long time have I not whithersoever I will. Take thou the branch-brought forth much fruit. es of the wild olive tree, and graft them in, in the stead thereof; and there which I have plucked off, I will cast into the fire and burn them, that they may not cumber the ground of my vineyard.

And it came to pass that the servant of the Lord of the vineyard, done according to the word of the Lord of the vineyard, and grafted in the branches of the wild olive tree. And the Lord of the vineyard caused that it should be digged about, and pruned, and nourished, saying unto his servant, It grieveth me that I should lose this tree; wherefore, that per-haps I might preserve the roots thereof that they perish not, that I might preserve them Whereunto myself, I have done this thing. fore, go thy way; watch the tree, and nour-ish it, according to my words. And these will I place in the nethermost part of my vineyard, whithersoever I will, it mattereth not unto thee: and I do it, that I may preserve unto myself the natural branches of the tree; and also that I may lay up fruit thereof, against the season, unto myself: for it grieveth me that I should lose this tree, and the fruit thereof

And it came to pass that the Lord of the vineyard went his way. and hid the natural branches of the tame olive tree in the nethermost part of the vineyard; some in one, and some in another, according to his will and pleasure. And it came to pass that a long time passed away, and the Lord of the vineyard saith unto his servant, Come, let us go down into the vineyard, that we may labor in the vineyard.

And it came to pass that the Lord of the vineyard, and also the servant, went down into the vineyard to labor. And it came to pass that the servant saith unto his master, Behold, | against the season. And it came to pass that took here; behold the tree. And it came to pass that the Lord of the vineyard looked and beheld the tree, in the which the wild olive branches had been grafted; and it had sprang forth, and began to bear fruit. And he beheld that it was good; and the fruit thereof was like unto the natural fruit. And he saith unto the servant, Behold, the branches of the wild tree hath taken hold of the moisture of the root thereof, that the root thereof hath brought forth much strength; and because of the much strength of the root thereof, the wild branches hath brought forth tame fruit: now, if we had not grafted in these branches, the tree thercof would have perished. And now behold, I shall lay up much fruit, which the tree thereof hath brought forth; and the fruit thereof I shall lay up, against the season, unto mine own self.

And it came to pass that the Lord of the vineyard saith unto the servant, Come, let us go to the nethermost part of the vineyard, and behold if the natural branches of the tree hath not brought forth much frait also, that I may lay up of the fruit thereof, against the season, unto mine own self. And it came to pass that they went forth whither the master of the vineyard had hid the natural branches of the tree, and he saith unto the servant, Behold these: and he beheld the first, that it had brought forth much fruit ; and he beheld also that it was good. And he saith unto the servant, Take of the fruit thereof, and lay it up, against the season, that I may preserve it unto mino own self: for behold, saith he, This long time have I nourished it, and it hath

And it came to pass that the servant saith unto his master, How comest thou hither to to plant this tree, or this branch of the tree! for behold, it was the poorest spot in all the land of thy vineyard. And the Lord of the vineyard said unto him, Counsel me not: knew that it was a poor spot of ground: wherefore, I said unto thee, I have nourished it this long time; and thou beholdest that it hath brought forth much fruit.

And it came to pass that the Lord of the vineyard saith unto his servant, Look hither: behold I have planted another branch of the tree also; and thou knowest that this spot of Bui, bcground was poorer than the first. hold the tree: I have nourished it this long time, and it hath brought forth much fruit; therefore, gather it, and lay it up, against the season, that I may preserve it unto mine own self.

And it came to pass that the Lord of the vineyard saith again unto his servant, Look hither, and behold another branch also, and it hath brought forth fruit. And he saith unto his servant; Look hither, and behold the last: behold, this have I planted in a good spot of ground; and I have nourished it this long time, and only a part of the tree hath brought forth tame fruit: and the other part of the tree hath brought forth wild fruit: behold, I have nourished this tree like unto the others.

And it came to pass that the Lord of the vineyard saith unto the servant, Pluck off the branches that have not brought forth good fruit, and cast them into the fire. But behold, the servant saith unto him, Let us prune it, and dig about it, and nourish it a little longer, that perhaps it may bring forth good fruit unto thee, that thou cannot lay it up the Lord of the vineyard, and the servent of the Lord of the vineyard, did nourish all the corrupted.

And it came to pass that a long time passed away, and the Lord of the vineyard saith unto the servant, Come, let us go down into the vineyard, that we may labor again in the vineyard. For behold, the time draweth near, and the end soon cometh; wherefore, I must lay up fruit, against the season, unto mine own self.

And it came to pass that the Lord of the vineyard, and the servant, went down into the vineyard; and they came to the tree whose natural branches had been broken off, and the wild branches had been grafted in; and behold, all sorts of fruit did cumber the tree.

And it came to pass that the Lord of the vineyard did taste of the fruit, every sort according to its number. And the Lord of the vineyard saith, Behold, this long time I have nourished this tree, and I have laid up unto myself against the season, much fruit. But behold, this time it hath brought forth much fruit, and there is none of it which is good. And behold, there are all kinds of bad fruit. And it profiteth me nothing, notwithstanding all our labor; and now, it grieveth me that I should lose this tree. And the Lord of the vineyard saith unto the servant, What shall we do unto the tree, that I may preserve again good fruit thereof unto mine own self? And the servant saith unto his master, Behold, because thou didst graft in the branches of the wild olive tree, they have nourished the roots, that they are alive, and they have not perished; wherefore thou beholdest that they are yet good.

And it came to pass that the Lord of the vineyard saith unto his servant, The tree profiteth me nothing, so long as it shall bring Nevertheless, I know that forth evil fruit. the roots are good; and for mine own purpose I have preserved them ; and because of their much strength,, they have hitherto brought forth from the wild branches, prought forth from the wild branches, good fruit. But behold, the wild branches have grown, and have overran the roots thereof; and because that the wild branches have overcome the roots thereof, it hath brought forth much evil fruit, and because it hath brought forth much evil fruit, thou beholdest that it beginneth to perish: and it will soon become ripened, that it may be cast into the fire, except we should do something for it to preserve it.

And it came to pass that the Lord of the vineyard saith unto his servant, Let us go down into the nethermost parts of the vineyard, and behold if the natural branches have also brought forth evil fruit. And it came to pass that they went down into the nethermost part of the vineyard. And it came to pass that they beheld that the fruit of the natural branches had become corrupt also; yea, the first, and the second, and also the last; and they had all become corrupt. And the wild fruit of the last had overcome that part of the tree which brought forth good fruit even that the branch had withered away and died.

And it came to pass that the Lord of the vineyard wept, and saith unto the servant, What could I have done more for my vineyard? Behold, I knew that all the fruit of the vineyard, save it were these, had become corrupted. And now, these which have once brought forth good fruit, have also become

And now all the trees of my vineyard are good for nothing, save it be to be hewn down and cast into the fire. And behold, this last, whose branch had withered away, I did plant in a good spot of ground; yea, even that which was choice unto me, above all other parts of the land of my vineyard. And thon beheldest that I also cut down that which cumbered this spot of ground, that I might plant this tree in the stead thereof. And thou beheldest that a part thereof, brought forth good fruit; and a part thereof brought forth wild fruit. And because that I plucked not the branches thereof, and cast them into the fire, behold they have overcome the good branch, that it hath withered away. And now behold, notwithstanding all the care which we have taken of my vineyard, the trees thereof hath become corrupted, that they bring forth no good fruit; and these I had hoped to preserve, to have laid up fruit thereof, against the season, unto mine own self. But behold, they have become like unto the wild olive tree; and they are of no worth, but to be hewn down and east into the fire: and it grieveth me that I should lose them. But what could I have done more in my vineyard? Have I slackened mine hand, that I have not nourished it? Nay; I have nourished it, and I have digged it, and I have prunned it, and I have dunged it; and I have stretched forth mine hand almost all the day long; and the end draweth nigh. And it grieveth me that I should hew down all the trees of my vineyard, and cast them into the fire, that they , should be burned. Who is it that hath corrupted my vineyard?

And it came to pass that the servant, saith unto his master, Is it not the loftiness of thy vineyard? Hath not the branches thereof overcome the roots, which are good? And because that the branches have overcome the roots thereof. For behold, they grew faster than the strength of the roots thereof, taking strength unto themselves. Behold, I say, Is not this the cause that the trees of thy vineyard hath become corrupted.

And it came to pass that the Lord of the vineyard saith unto the servant, Let us go to, and hew down the trees of the vineyard, and cast them into the fire, that they shall not cumber the ground of my vineyard; for I have done all; what could I have done more for my vineyard? And behold, the roots of the natural branches of the tree which I planted whithersoever I would, are yet alive; wherefore, that I may preserve them also, for mine own purposes, I will take of the branches of this tree, and I will graft them in unto them. the natural tree which had become wild, and grafted in unto the natural trees, which also had become wild; and they also took of the natural trees which had become wild, and grafted into their mother tree. And the Lord of the vineyard saith unto the servant, Pluck not the wild branches from the trees, save it be those which are most bitter; and in them ye shall graft, according to that which I have said. Wherefore, dig about them, and prune and dung them once more, for the last time: for the end draws nigh." And if it so be that these last grafts shall grow, and bring forth the natural fruit, then shall ye prepare for them, that they may grow; and as they begin to grow, ye shall clear away the branches which bring forth bitter fruit, according to the strength of the good and the size thereof; and ye shall not clear away the bad thereof, all at once, lest the roots thereof should be too strong for the graft, and the graft thereof shall perish, and I loose the trees of my vineyard. For it grieveth me that I should lose the trees of my vineyard; wherefore, ye shall clear away the bad, according as the good shall grow, that the root and the top may be equal in strength, until the good shall overcome the bad, and the bad be hewn down and cast into the fire, that they cumber not the ground of my vineyard; and thus will I sweep away the bad out of my vineyard. And the branch-es of the natural tree, will I graft in again, into the natural tree; and the branches of the natural tree, will I graft into the natural branches of the tree; and thus will I bring them together again, that they shall bring forth the natural fruit: and they shall be one. And the bad shall be cast away; yez, even were eventually insufficient for the salvation out of all the land of my vineyard: for behold, only this once will I prune my vineyard.

And it came to pass that the Lord of the vineyard sent his servant; and the servant went and did as the Lord had commanded him, and brought other servants; and they were And the Lord of the vineyard saith unfew. to them, Go to, and labor in the vineyard, with your mights. For behold, this is the last time that I shall nourish my vineyard: for the end is nigh at hand, and the season speedily cometh; and if ye labor with your mighta with me, ye shall have joy in the fruit which I shall lay up unto myself, against the time which will soon come.

And it came to pass that the servants did go to it, and labor with their mights; and the Lord of the vineyard labored also with them: and they did obey the commandments of the Lord of the vineyard in all things. And there began to be the natural fruit again in the vineyard; and the natural branches began to grow and thrive exceedingly; and the wild branches began to be plucked off, and to be cast away; and they did keep the root and the top thereof equal, according to the strength thereof. And thus they labored, with all diligence, according to the commandments of the Lord of the vineyard, even until the bad had been cast away out of the vineyard, and the Lord had preserved unto himself, that the trees had become again the natural fruit; and they become again like unto one body; and the fruit were equal; and the Lord of the vineyard had preserved unto himself the natural fruit, which was most precious unto him from the beginning.

And it came to pass that when the Lord of the vineyard saw that his fruit was good, and that his vineyard was no more corrupt, he calleth up his servants and saith unto them, Behold, for this last time have we nourished my vineyard; and thou beholdest that I have done according to my will; and I have pre-served the natural fruit that it is good, even like as it was in the beginning; and blessed art thou. For because that ye have been diligent in laboring with me in my vineyard, and have kept my commandments, and hath brought unto me again the natural fruit, that my vineyard is no more corrupted, and the bad is cast away, behold, ye shall have joy with me, because of the fruit of my vineyard. For behold, for a long time will I lay up of the fruit of my vineyard unto mine own self, against the season, which speedily cometh; and for the last time have I nourished my vineyard, and prunned it, and dug about it, and dunged it, wherefore I will lay up unto mine own self of the fruit, for a long time, according to that which I have spoken. And when the time cometh that evil fruit shall again come into my vineyard, then will I cause the good and the bad to be gathered; and the good will I preserve unto myself; and the bad will I cast away into its own place. And then cometh the season and the end; and my vineyard will I cause to be burned with fire.

COMPARISON TOTWEEN MEATHEN. ISM AND CHILISTIANITY.

The apostle saith, "After the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God to save believers by the foolishness of preaching."-That is to say, since the mere system of reason of mankind; and since it was impossible that their speculations should obtain the true knowledge of God; God took another way to instruct tham; he revealed by preaching of the gospel what the light of nature could not discover, so that the system of Jesus Christ and his apostles supplied all that was wanting in the systems of the ancient philosophers.

But it is not in relation to ancient philosophers only, that we mean to consider the proposition in our text; we will examine it also in reference to modern philosophy. Our philosophers know more than all those of Greece knew; but their science which is of unspeakable advantage, while it contains itself within its proper sphere, becomes a source of errors, when it is extended beyond it. Human reason now lodges itself in new intrenchments, when it refuseth to submit to the faith. It even puts on new armor to attack it, after it hath invented new methods of self defence. Under pretence that natural science hath: made greater progress, revelation is despised. Under pretence that modern notions of God the Creator are purer than those of the ancients, the yoke of God the Redeemer is bro-ken off. We are going to employ the re-maining part of this discourse in justifying the proposition of St. Paul, in the same that we have given it: we are going to endeavor to prove that revealed religion hath advantages infinitely superior to natural religion: that the greatest geniuses are incapable of discovering by their own reason all the truths pecessary to salvation: and that it displays the goodness of God, not to abandon us to the uncertainties of our own wisdom, but to make us the rich present of revelation.

We will enter into this discussion, by placing on the one side a philosopher contemplating the works of nature: on the other, a disciple of Jesus Christ receiving the doctrines of revelation. To each we will give four subjects to examine: the attributes of God; the nature of man: the means of appeasing the remorse of conscience: and a future state.— From their judgments on each of these subjects, evidence will arise of the superior worth of that revelation, which some minute philosophers affect to despise, and above which they prefer that rough draught, which they sketch out by their own learned apeculations.

out by their own learned speculations. 1. Let us consider a disciple of natural religion, and a disciple of revealed religion med-When the itating on the attributes of God. disciple of natural religion considers the symmetry of this universe; when he observes that admirable uniformity, which appears in the succession of seasons, and in the constant rotation of night and day: when he remarks the exact motions of the heavenly bodies: the flux and reflux of the sea, so ordered the billows, which swell into mountains, and seem to threaten the world with an universal deluge, break away on the shore, and respect on the beach the command of the Creator, who said to the sea, " hitherto shalt thou come, but no further; and here shall thy proud waves be staid;" when he attends to all these marvellous works, he will readily conclude, that the Author of nature is a being powerful and But when he observes winds, temwise. pests, and earthquakes, which seem to threaten the reduction of nature to its primitive abaos; when he sees the sea overflow its banks, and burst the enormous moles, that the industry of mankind had raised; his speculations will be perplexed, he will imagine he sees characters of infirmity among so many proofs of creative perfection and power.

When he thinks that God, having enriched the habitable world with innumerable productions of infinite worth to the inhabitant, hath placed man here as a sovereign in a superb palace; when he considers how admirably God hath propertioned the divers parts of the creation to the construction of the human body, the air to the lungs, aliments to the different humors of the body, the medium by which objects are rendered to the eyes, that by which sounds are communicated to the ears; when he remarks how God hath connected man with his own species, and not with animals of any other kind; how he hath distributed talents. so that some requiring the assistance of others, all should be mutually united together: how he hath bound men together by invisible ties, so that one cannot see another in pain without a sympathy, that inclines him to relieve him: when the disciple of natural religion meditates on these grand subjects, he concludes that the Author of nature is a benchcent being. But when he sees the innumerable miseries to which men are subject; when he finds, that every creature, which contributes to support, contributes at the same time to destroy us; when he thinks, that the air, which assists respiration, convoys epidemical diseases, and imperceptible poisons; that aliments, which nourish us, are often our bane; that the animals, &c. &c. when he observes the profidiousness of society, the mutual industry of mankind in tormenting each other; the arts which they invent to deprive one another of life; when he attempts to reckon up the innumerable maladies that consume us; when he considers death, which bows the loftiest heads, dissolves the firmest coments, and subverts the bestfounded fortunes; when he makes these reflections, he will be apt to doubt whether it be goodness, or the contrary attribute, that inclineth the Author of our being to give us When the disciple of natural reliexistence. gion reads these reverses of fortune, of which history furnisheth a great many examples: when he seeth tyrants fall from a pinnacle of grandeur; wicked men often punished by their own wickedness, the avaricious punished by their avarice, the ambitious by those of their ambition, the voluptuous by these of their voluptuousness; when he perceives that the laws of virtue are so essential to public happiness, that without them society would become a banditti, at least, that society is more or less happy, or miserable, according to its looser or closer attachment to virtue; when he considers all these cases, he will probably conclude that the Author of this universe is a just and holy being. But when he sees tyranny established, vice enthroned, humility in confusion, pride wearing a crown, and love to holiness sometimes exposing people to mahe will not be ny and intolerable calamities; able to justify God, amidst the darkness in which his equity is involved in the government of the world.

But, of all these mysteries, can one be proposed, which the gospel doth not unfold; or, at least, is there one, on which it doth not give us sore e principles that are sufficient to conciliate it with the perfections of the Creator, how opposite soever it may seem !

Do the disorders of the world puzzle the disciple of natural religion, and produce diffi-culties in his mind? With the principles of the gospel I can solve them all. When it is remembered that this world hath been defiled by the sin of man, and that he is, therefore, an object of divine displeasure; when the principal is admitted, that the world is not when the what it was, when it came out of the hands of God; and that, in comparison with its pristine state, it is only a heap of ruins, the truly magnificent, but actually ruinous heap of an edifice of incomparable beauty, the rubbish of which is far more proper to excite our grief for the loss of its primitive grandeur, than to suit our present wants. When these reflections are made, can we find any objections, in the disorders of the world, against the wisdom of our Creator.

the wisdom of our Greator. Are the miscries of man, and is the fatal necessity of death, in contemplation? With the principles of the gospel, I solve the difficulties, which these sad objects produce in the mind of the disciple of natural religion... If the principles of Christianity be admitted if we allow that the afflictions of good men are profitable to them, and that, in many cases, prosperity would be fatal to them; if we grant, that the present is a transitory state, and that this momentary life will be succeeded by an immortal state; if we recollect the many similar truths, which the gospel abundantly declares; can we find in human migeries, and in the necessity of dying, objections against the goodness of the Creator?

Do the prosperities of bad men, and adversities of the good, confuse our ideas of Godt With the principles of the gospel, I can remove all the difficulties, which these different conditions produce in the mind of the disciples of natural religion. If the principles of the gospel be admitted, if we be persuaded that the tyrant, whose prosperity astonishes us, fulfils the counsel of God; if ecclesiastical history assures us, that Herods, and Pilates, themselves contributed to the establishment of that very Christianity, which they meant to destroy; especially, if we admit a state of future rewards and punishments: can the obscurity, in which providence hath been pleased to wrap up some of its designs, raise doubts about the justice of the Creator?

In regard then, to the first object of contemplation, the perfection of the nature of God, revealed religion is infinitely superior to natural religion; the disciple of the first religion is infinitely wiser than the pupil of the last.

II. Let us consider these two disciples examining the nature of man, and endeavoring to know themselves. The disciple of natural religion cannot know mankind; he cannot perfectly understand the nature, the obligations the duration of man.

1. The disciple of natural religion can only imperfectly know the nature of man, the difference of the two substances, of which he is composed. His reason, indeed, may spection between motion and thought, between the dissolution of a few fibres and violent sensations of pain, between agitation of humors and profound reflections; he may infer from wo different effects, that there ought to be two different causes, a cause of motion, and a cause of sensation, a cause of agitating humors, and a cause of reflecting, that there is body, and that there is spirit.

But, in my opinion, those philosophers, who are best acquainted with the nature of man, cannot account for two difficulties, that are proposed to them, when, on the mera principles of reason, they affirm, that man is composed of the substances of matter and mind. I ask, first, Do ye so well understand matter, are your ideas of it so complete, that ye can affirm, for certain, it is susceptible of nothing more than this or that? Are ye sure that it implies a contradiction to affirm, it hath one property, which hath escaped your observation? And consequently, can ye actually demonstrate, that the essence of matter Since, when is compattible with thought? ye cannot discover the union of an attribute with a subject, ye instantly conclude, that two attributes, which seem to you to have no relation, suppose too different subjects: and since ye conclude that extent and thought compose two different subjects, body and so2!, because ye can discover no natural relation between extent and thought; if I discover a third attribute, which appears to me entirely unconnected with both extent and thought, I shall have a right, in my turn, to admit three subjects in man; matter, which is the subject of extent; mind, which is the subject of thought; and a third subject, which belongs to the attribute, that seems to me to have no relation to either matter or mind. Now I do know such an attribute: but I do not know to which of your two subjects I ought to refer it; I mean sensation. I find it in my nature, But I am aland experience it every hour. together at a loss, whether I ought to attribute it to body or spirit. I perceive no more natural and necessary frelation between sensation and motion, than between sensation and thought.

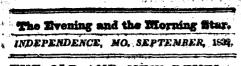

There are, then, on your principle, three substances in man, one the substratum, which is the subject of extension; another, which is the subject of thought; and a third, which is the subject of sensation; or rather, I suspect, there is only one substance in man, which is known to me imperfectly, to which all these attributes belong, and which are united together, although I am not able to discover their relation.

A wise man hath his foibles as well as a fool. But the difference between them is, that the foibles of the one are known to himself, and concealed from the world; the foibles of the other are known to the world, and soncealed from himself. The wise man sees those frailties in himself, which others cannot; but the fool is blind to those blemishes in his character, which are conspicuous to every body else.

It is mentioned in the Niagara' Gleaner, that several of the deserters from Gen. Scott's forces had arrived at that place from fort Gratiot. Out of a par'y of forty that deserted at one time, fifteen had either died, or were left on the rout unable to proceed. Before they came to the inhabited part of the Upper Province, the deserters were plundered by the Indiane.

THE OLD AND NEW REVELA-TIONS.

What a source of happiness our heavenly Father has placed before us, if we believe his word ! But say thousands, we do believe his word, we have the old and new testaments and they are enough; they were given to the world that every body might be saved. But my friends, reflect a moment: Was the law which was given to the children of Israel, given also to the world? was the revelation, that prophetic blessing and cursing & the gathering, as recorded by Moses, in the 8, 29, 30, 31, 32 and 33rd chapters of Deuteronomy, meant for any other peo-What nation but Isple than Israel? rael had the blessing, or prophets to foretell it? what nation but Israel received the curse, and what nation but Israel was scattered to be gathered again? Be it remembered also, that while Israel endeavored to keep the law, they had prophets to tell them when they were right and when they The revelations of the were wrong. old and new testaments, were given from Adam in the garden of Eden, till John on the Isle of Patmos, during which time, holy men, moved by the Holy Ghost, spake to the Lord's annointed, his elect, his chosen, and church, what the Lord commanded.-Each prophet revealed what was expedient for his own time, and the people he spoke to: foretelling just what the Lord pleased to communicate to that people. When the Savior came, he gave his own revelations, and used the old to support them. If the many things which Jesus did, were written, we suppose, as John did, that even the world itself could not contain the books that should be written : and yet, John, many years after, brings forth some new revelations, which must shortly come to pass,

The world should not be ignorant of this fact: when Paul wrote an epistle to the Romans, it was not to the Corinthians; when he wrote to the Corinthians, it was not to the Ephesians; when he wrote to the Hebrews, it was not to the Gentiles: So, also, when James directed his epistle to the twelve tribes scattered abroad, it was not intended for the Corinthians, Galatians, Ephesians, nor any Gentile church, but for the covenant people of the Lord. We do entreat all men to consider, before they offer an opinion upon the The covenant with word of the Lord, Noah was very different from the covenant with Abraham, and the last covenant with Israel, which is to be written in the heart, when the Lord gathers in Jacob, from all countries where they have been driven, will undoubtedly be different from the creeds or articles of every church on carth, not established by immediate revelation from heaven, The Spirit of God is a spirit of revelation, and when the following chapter is fulfilled, there must be some new revelations :---Blow ye the trumpet in Zion, and sound an alarm in my holy mountain: Let all the inhabitants of the land tremble : for the day of the Lord cometh, for it is nigh at hand; a day of darkness and of gloominess, a day of clouds and of thick darkness, as the morning spread upon the mountains: a great people and a strong; there hath not been ever the like, neither shall be any more after it, to the years of many generations. A fire devoureth before them; and behind them a flame burneth; the land is as the garden of Eeden before them, and behind them a desolate wilderness; yea, and nothing shall escape them. The appearance of them is as the appearance of horses; and as horseman, so shall they run.— Like the noise of chariots on the tops of mountains shall they leap, like the noise of a flame of fire that devoureth the stubble, as a strong people set in battle array. Before their face the people shall be much pained ; all faces shall gather blackness. They shall run like mighty men; they shall climb the wall like men of war; and they shall march every one on his ways, and they shall not break their ranks; neither shall one thrust another; they shall walk every one in his path: and if they fall upon the sword, they shall not be wounded. They shall run to and fro in the city; they shall run upon the wall, they shall climb up upon the houses; they shall enter into the windows like a thief. The earth shall quake before his army: for his camp is very great: for he is strong that executeth his word: for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible; and who can abide it?

Therefore also now, saith the Lord, Turn ve to me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning: and rend your heart, and not your garments, and turn unto the Lord your God; for he is gracious and merciful slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repenteth him of Who knoweth if he will rethe evil. turn and report, and leave a blessing behind him; yea, even a meat-offering and a drink-offering unto the Lord your God ?

Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctify a fast, call a solemn assembly: gather the people, sanctify the congregation, assemble the elders, gather the children, and those that suck the breasts : let the bridegroom go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her closet. Let the priests, the ministers of the Lord, weep between the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and give not thy heritage to reproach, that the heathen should rule over them : wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

Then will the Lord be jealous for his land, and pity his people, Yea, the Lord will answer and say unto his people, Behold, I will send you corn, and wine, and oil, and ye shall be satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproach among the heathen : but I will remove far off from you the northern army, and will drive him into a land barren and desolate, with his face towards the east sea, and his hinder part toward the utmost sea; and his stink shall come up, and his ill savor shall come up, because he hath done great things.

Fear not, O land; be glad and rejoice : for the Lord will do great things. Be not afraid, ye beasts of the field : for the pastures of the wilderness do spring, for the tree beareth her fruit, the fig-tree and the vine do yield their strength. Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and rejoice in the Lord your God: for he hath given you the former rain moderately, and he will cause to come down for you the rain, the former rain, and the latter rain in the first month .-And the floors shall be full of wheat, only to labor for the benefit of the and the fats shall overflow with wine saints, but that the world may know, and oil. And I will restore to you the years that the locust hath eaten, the canker-worm, and the caterpillar, and the palmer-worm, my great army which I sent among you. And ye shall cat in plenty, and be satisfied, and praise the name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt wonderously with you: and my people shall never be ashamed .-And ye shall know that I am in the midst of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none else : and my people shall never be ashamed.

And it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my Spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions: and also upon the servants and upon the handmaids in those days will I pour out my Spirit. And I will shew wonders in the heavens and in the earth, blood, and fire, and pillars of smoke. The sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before the great and the terrible day of the Lord And it shall come to pass, that come. whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be delivered; for in mount Zion and in Jerusalem shall be deliverance, as the Lord hath said, and in the remnant whom the Lord shall call.

Beloved reader! when the Lord pours out his Spirit upon all flesh, which will not be until the wicked are consumed, for every soul that will not hear the Lord at his second coming, must be cut off, there will be marvelous things revealed which will cause the children of God to rejoice. But before this great work is finished, John the Revelator, [Rev. 10] comes to prophesy again before many peoples, and nations, and tongues, and kings, which the Lord [not man] will see fit to add to the words of his other prophecy : For eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that wait for him.

THE SECOND COMING OF THE SAVIOR-NO. I.

One of the first duties of man is, to assist his fellow beings in all things appertaining to their happiness, and, for this purpose, we have a desire, not

EVENING AND MORNING STAR.

Notwithstanding there exists, is near. to have a form of godliness, a groat difference of opinion when and how the Lord will come, yet we shall en-deavor to bring such passages of sacred writ, as will make this subject clear to them that look for him the second time without sin unto salvation, and remind them that doubt, that the Firstly, Peter, who time is at hand. had the keys of the kingdom, wrote thus: This second epistle, beloved, I now write unto you; in which I stir up your pure minds by way of remembrance : that ye may be mindful of the words which were spoken before by the holy prophets, and of the commandment of us the apostles of the Lord and Savior: knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts and saying, Where is the promise of his coming? for since the fat hers fell asleep, all things continue as from the beginning of the creation.

It is a good thing to be reminded of the words which were spoken before by the holy prophets, for without them the world would be a wilderness; men could not tell from whence they sprang, or to where they would go after death. But to the subject, according to Jude, Enoch said, Behold the Lord cometh with ten thousand of his saints; and by reading the extract of his prophecy, in the last Star, it will be seen that Enoch was shown all things from the beginning to the end. and he thus inquires about the Sabbath of creation and second coming of the Lord: When shall the earth rest? And Enoch beheld the Son of man ascend up unto the Father: And he called upon the Lord saying, Wilt thou not come again upon the earth, for inasmuch as thou art God, and I know thee, and thou hast sworn unto me and commanded me that I should ask in the name of thine only begotten, thou hast made me, and given unto me a right to thy throne, and not of myself but through thine own grace; wherefore, I ask thee, if thou wilt not come again on the earth ? And the Lord said unto Enoch, as I live, even so will I come in the last days, in the days of wickedness and vengeance, to fulfil the oath which I have made unto you, concerning the children of Noah: and the day shall come that the

that the second coming of our Savior | earth shall rest, but before that day the heavens shall be darkened, and a veil and that too, among those who profess of darkness shall cover the earth; and the heavens shall shake, and also the earth; and great tribulations shall be among the children of men, but my people will I proservo ; and righteousness will I send down out of heaven; and the truth will I send forth out of the earth to bear testimony of mine only begotten; his resurrection from the dead; yea, and also the resurrection of all men; and righteousness and truth will I cause to sweep the earth as with a flood, to gather out mine own clect from the four quarters of the earth, unto a place which I shall prepare, an holy city, that my people may gird up their loins, and be looking forth for the time of my coming; for there shall be my tabernacle, and it shall be called ZION, a New Jerusalem.

David seems to have understood this prophecy when he composed the 85th Psalm; for besides saying, that the Lord had brought back the captivity of Jacob, (meaning the twelve tribes, and ten of them have been lost over since the reign of Hosea,) he said, Truth shall spring out of the earth; and righteousness shall look down from heav-Yea, the Lord shall give good, en. and our land shall yield her increase. Passing the promises to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, we next observe that the Lord said, by Moses, I will raise them up a prophet from among their brethren, like unto thee, which Peter, while preaching, thus adds to his own words on the same subject : Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord; and he shall send Jesus Christ, which before was preached unto you: whom the heaven must receive, until the times of restitution of all things, which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets, since the world began. For Moses truly said unto the fathers, A Prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you, of your brethren, like unto me: him shall he hear in all things whatsoever he shall say unto you. And it shall come to pass, that every soul which will not hear that Prophet, shall be destroyed from among the peo-Yea, and all the prophets from ple. Samuel, and those that follow after, as many as have spoken, have likewise foretold of these days, We will rewww.LatterDayTruth.org mark here, that notwithstanding many prophecies have been fulfilled, yet the time when every soul was destroyed, who refused to hear a prophet, from Moses till this day, has not come to pass, but there can be no doubt, it will be so when Malachi's words are fulfilled : For behold, the day cometh, that shall burn as an oven: and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly. shall be stubble, and the day that cometh shall burn them up, saith the Lord of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch. Job, who is supposod to have lived while the children of Israel sojourned in Egypt, said, he knew his Reedemer lived, and that he should stand at the latter day, (not the meridian of time,) upon the earth, at which time the stone that Daniel saw cut cut of the mountain, will fill the whole earth: Then the moon shall be confounded, and the sun ashamed, when the Lord of hosts shall reign in mount Zion, and in Jerusalem, and before his ancients gloriously. It is said, that the Redeemer shall come to Zion, and unto them that turn from transgression in Jacob. Paul, while speaking of the salvation of Israel, in the 11th chapter of Romans, says, There shall come out of Sion, [Zion] a Deliverer, and shall turn away ungodliness from Jacob. And again, Isaiah said, O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee up into the high mountain: O Jerusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift up thy voice with strength; lift up, be not afraid; say unto the cities of Judah, Behold Behold the Lord God will your God! come with strong power, and his arm shall rule for him; behold, his reward is with him, and his work before him. And Zecheriah says when the day of the Lord cometh, his feet shall stand in that day upon the mount of Olives; and the Lord my God shall command all the saints with him. . But move all doubt, let us take the Davior's own words, when he was asked by his disciples when and what should be the sign of his coming? Immediately after the tribulation of those days, shall the sun be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light, and the stars shall fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens shall be shaken : and then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heaven: and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn, and they shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds I will give you rest.-Christ.

of heaven with power and great glory. And he shall send his angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other. Now learn a parable of the figtree; when his branch is vet tender, and putteth forth leaves, ye know that summer is nigh : so likewise ve, when ve shall see all these things, know that it is near, even at the doors. Verily I say unto you, This generation [in the which these things shall be shewn forth,] shall not pass, till all these things be fulfilled. Again it is written, he said, Jerusalem shall be trodden down of the Gentiles, till the times of the Gentiles be fulfilled. We need not quote every passage' that alludes to the second coming of the Savior, for it is so plainly foretold by almost all the prophets, that a child cannot mistake, even the generation when the Lord may be For as it is written : locked for. Yo men of Gallilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven? this same Jesus which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven: So also, when you hear of wars and rumors of wars; when pestilence begins to spread over the whole earth; when famine and other troubles try men's souls, and when, as the book of Mormon says, the fulness of the gospel goes to the Gentiles, and the remnants of Joseph begin to know that they are the covenant people of the Lord, watch, for the hour is near, when Jesus will drink of the fruit of the vine, new with his disciples in his Father's kingdom.

The only caution we give on this subject, is, be careful and blend not the Day of Judgment, which comes at least, more than a thousand years after the Son of Man comes in the clouds of heaven, with the first .resurrection ! When the earthquake begins to shake this broken globe, and the mountains begin to flow down at his presence, and every valley is exalted, all them that have escaped the desolations, will soon see the Son of Man coming in his glory with Zion, or the general assembly and church of the first-born, with him, to reign on earth while Satan is bound: Then peace and righteousness, like the noon-sun, will enlighten the world.

Come unto me, all ye that labor, and

HEAR. O ISRAEL! THE LORD OUR GOD IS ONE LORD.

And Joshua the son of Nun, was full of the spirit of wisdom; for Moses had Moses orlaid his hands upon him. dained Joshua that he might receive the Holy Ghost and lead Israel into the promised land. And the apostles laid on hands, that the person might receive the Holy Ghost, if he was contrite before the Lord; for, every one that hungers after righteousness shall be filled, and God gives him that repents and is baptized, the gift of the Holy Ghost, that the words which were spoken by the Savior, may be fulfilled, And these signs shall follow namely: them that believe : In my name shall they cast out devils : they shall take up serpents : they shall speak with new tongues; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick and they shall recover.

The Lord our God is one Lord, and the Holy One of Israel is one Savior, that spake and the world was, and he never had a church unless the Holy Spirit was in it because no one can be born into his church without water and the Spirit, for the Spirit is the gift of God, which is so plainly illustrated by Paul, in the 12th chapter to his Corinthian brethren, that we quote it : No man can say that Jesus is the Lord, but by the Holy Ghost. Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit. And there are differences of administrations, but the same Lord. And there are diversities of operations, but it is the same God which worketh all in all.-But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal. For to one is given by the Spirit the word of wisdom : to another, the word To of knowledge by the same Spirit. another, faith by the same Spirit; to another the gift of healing by the same Spirit; to another, the working of miracles; to another, prophecy; to another, discerning of spirits; to another, all kinds of tongues; to another, the interpretation of tongues.

As the Lord is one God, that never changes, where are the signs following them that believe in the sectarian church-Has God ever said these signs cease? No. These signs were es? shall cease? in the beginning: Hence, as a sign that Abel had faith and works to please that Abel had faith and works to please to sin no more, lest perils shall come upon God, his offering was accepted : as a you. Verily I say unto you, that ye are

A REVELATION GIVEN SEP-TEMBER, 1830.

Listen to the voice of Jesus Christ, your Redeemer, the great I am, whose arm of mer-cy has atoned for your sins; who will gather his people even as a hen gathers her chickens under her wings, even as many as will hearken to my voice, and humble themselves before me, and call upon me in mighty pray-Behold, verily, verily I say unto you at this time your sins are forgiven you: therefore ye receive these things; but remember chosen out of the world to declare my gospel with the sound of rejoicing, as with the voice of a trump: lift up your hearts and be glad for I am in your midst, and am your advocate with the Father; and it is his good will to give you the kingdom; and as it is written, Whatsoever ye shall ask in faith, being united in prayer according to my command, ye shall receive; and ye are called to bring to pass the gathering of my elect, for my elect hear my voice and harden not their hearts: Wherefore the decree has gone forth from the Father, that they shall be gathered in unto one place, upon the face of this land, to prepare their hearts, and be prepared in all things, against the day when tribulation and desolation are sent forth upon the wicked: for the hour is nigh, and the day is soon at hand, when the earth will be ripe; and all the proud, and they that do wickedly, shall be as stuble, and I will burn them up, saith the Lord of hosts, that wickedness shall not be upon the earth; for the hour is nigh, and that which was spoken by my apostles must be fulfilled; for as they spoke so shall it come to pass: for I will reveal myself from heaven with power and great glory, with all the hosts thereof, and dwell in rightcousness with men on earth a thousand years, and the wicked shall not stand. And again, verily, verily I say unto you, and it has gone forth in a firm decree, by the will of the Father, that my apostles, the twelve which were with me in my ministry at Jerusalem, shall stand at my right hand at the day of my coming in a pillar of fire, being clothed with robes of righteousness, with crowns upon their heads, in glory even as I am, to judge the whole house of Israel, even as many as have loved me and kept my commandments, and none else; for a trump shall sound both long and loud, even as upon mount Sinai, and all the earth shall quake, and they shall come forth, yea, even the dead who died in me, to re-ceive a crown of righteousness, and to be clothed upon, even as I am, to be with me that we may be one. But behold, I say unto you, that before this great day shall come, the sun shall be darkened, and the moon shall be turned into blood, and the stars shall fall from heaven; and there shall be great signs in the heavens where shall be great signs have, and in the earth be-neath; and there  $B_{1}$  be weeping and wailing among the inhabitants of the earth; and there shall be a great hailstorm sent forth to destroy the crops of the earth: and it shall come to pass, because of the wickedness of the world, that I will take ve beance upon the wicked, for they will not y ht: for the cup of my indignation is full; bold my blood shall not cleanse ther y repent not: wherefore, I will send with es upon the face of the earth, which shall take hold of the inhabitants thereof, and shall eat their flesh, and shall cause maggots to come in upon them, and their tongues shall be stayed that they shall not utter against me, and their flesh shall fall from off their bones, and their eyes from their sockets: and it shall come to pass, that the beasts of the forests, and the fowls of the air, shall devour them up: and that great and abominable church, which is the whore of all the earth, shall be cast down by devouring fire, according as it was spoken by the month of Ezekiel the it came to pass, that the devil tempted Adam have not come to pass as yet, but surely must, as I live, for abominations shall not reign

And again, verily, verily I say unto you, that when the thousand years are ended, and men again begin to deny their God, then will I spare the earth but for a little season; and then the end shall come, and the heaven and the earth shall be consumed, and pass away, and there shall be a new heaven and a new earth; for all old things shall pass away, and all things become new, even the heaven and the earth, and all the fulness thereof, both men and beasts; the fowls of the air, and the fishes of the sea, and not one hair, neither moat, shall be lost, for it is the workmanship of my hand. But verily I say unto you, before the earth shall pass away, Mich-ael, my arch-angel, shall sound his trump, atid then shall all the dead awake, for the graves shall be opened, and they shall come forth, yea, even all; and the righteous shall be gathered on my right hand unto eternal life; and the wicked on my left hand will I be ashamed to own before the Father: wherefore I will say unto them, depart from me ye cursed into everlasting fire, prepared for the And now, behold I say devil and his angels. unto you, never, at any time, have I declared from my own mouth, that they should return, for where I am they can not come, for they have no power; but remember, that all my judgments are not given unto men, and as the words have gone forth out of my mouth, even so shall they be fulfilled, that the first shall be last, and the last shall be first in all things, whatsoever I have created by the word of my power, which is the pow-er of my Spirit, for by the power of my Spir-it created I them, yea, all things both spirit-ual and temporal; firstly spiritual, secondly temporal, which is the beginning of my work: and again, firstly temporal, and secondly spiritual, which is the last of my work, speaking unto you that ye may naturally under-stand, but unto myself my work has no end, stand, but unto mysen my work has no chap neither beginning; but it is given unto you, that ye may understand, because ye have asked it of me, and are agreed: wherefore, verily I say unto you, that all things unto me are spiritual, and not at any time have I given unto you a law which was temporal, neither any man, nor the children of men; neither Adam your father, whom I created; behold I gave unto him that he should be an agent unto himself; and I gave unto him a commandment, but no temporal commandment gave I unto him, for my commandments are spiritual; they are not natural, nor temporal, neither carnal nor sensual; and it came to pass, that Adam, being tempted of the devil, for behold the devil was before Ad am, for he rebelled against me, saying, Give me thy honor, which is my power, and also a third part of the host of heaven turned he away from me because of their agency: and they were thrust down, and thus came the devil and his angels; and behold, there is a place prepared for them from the beginning, which place is hell; and it must needs be that the devil should tempt the children of men, or they could not be agents unto them-selves, for if they never should have bitter, they could not know the sweet: Wherefore, prophet, which spoke of these things, which | and he partook of the forbidden fruit, and transgressed the commandment, wherein he became subject to the will of the devil, because he yielded unto temptation: wherefore, I the Lord God caused that he should be cast out from the garden of Eden, from my pres-ence, because of his transgression; wherein he became spiritually dead, which is the first death, even that same death which, is the last death, which is spiritual, which shall be pronounced upon the wicked when I shall say, depart ye cursed. But behold I say unto you, that I the Lord God gave unto Ad-am, and unto his seed, that they should not die as to the temporal death, until I the Lord God should send forth angels to declare unto them repentance and redemption through faith on the name of my only begotton Son; and thus did I the Lord God appoint unto man the days of his probation, that by his natural death he might be raised in immortality unto eternal life, even as many as would believe on my name, and they that believe not, unto eternal damnation, for they cannot be redeemed from their spiritual fall, because they repent not, for they love dark-ness more than light, and their deads are evil, and they receive their wages of whom they list to obey. But behold, I say unto you, that little children are redeemed from the foundation of the world, through my only begotton: Wherefore they cannot sin, for power is not given to satan to tempt little children until they begin to be accountable before me, for it is given unto them even as I will, according to my own pleasure, that great things may be required at the hand of their fathers. And again, I say unto you, that whoso, having knowledge, have not I commanded to repent! and he that has no understanding, it remains in me to do accor-ding as it is written. And now, behold, I declare no more unto you at this time .-Amen.

A REVELATION ON PRAYER, GIV-EN OCTOBER 30, 1831.

Hearken, and lo, a voice as of one sent down from on high, who is mighty and powerful, whose going forth is unto the ends of the earth: yea, whose voice is unto men, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths strait. The keys of the kingdom of God, are committed unto man on the earth, and from thence shall the gospel roll forth unto the ends of the earth, as the stone which is hewn from the mountain without hands shall roll forth, until it has filled the whole earth; yea, a voice crying, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, prepare ye the supper of the Lamb, make ready for the bridegroom; pray unto the Lord; call upon his holy name; make known his wonderful works among the people; call upon the Lord; that his kingdom may go forth upon the earth; that the inhabitants thereof may receive it, and be prepared for the days to come, in the which the Son of man shall come down in heaven, clothed in the brightness of his glory, to meet the kingdom of God which is set up on the earth: Wherefore, may the king-dom of God go forth. that the kingdom of heaven may come, that thou O God may be glorified in heaven, so on earth, that thy enemies may be subdued; for thine is the honor, power and glory, forever and ever: Amen.

Worldly Matters.

An ourang outang which lately arrived at Philadelphia, has died with a disorder resem-bling that of cholera. More than $91,000 in specie, arrived lately in New York, from foreign ports. Five hundred buildings, with most of their contents, were burnt at Port au Prince, on the 8th of July last. From appearances, the Indian war in the Upper Mississippi region, is about closed, and the Illinois militia have been disbanded. The carpet manufactory of Tariffville, Conn. has a capital of $123,000. Since the cholera appeared on this continent, $10,000 have been collected in New York for the benefit of the poor and needy. It seems that, at the Unioncelebration of the 4th of July, in Bishopville S. C. the cooks poisoned the victuals, which sickened all that eat, and one died. On the 7th of July, a raft of pine boards and shingles, with thirteen persons upon it, landidg at Quebec, was driven back in a storm and eleven of the thirteen were drowned. On the 10th of July, a schooner was sunk in Lake Erie, containing 500 barrels of salt and ten tons of merchandise. On Sunday, the 22nd of July, two daughters of Mr. Woodworth, of Fenner, New York, were killed by light-ning; one aged 15, the other 5 years. It is said that more than 40,000 emigrants had arrived at Quebec, up to July, this season.

We learn says the Lexington Observer that a man named Coleman, was murdered near Harrisburg oa Friday night last. The particulars we have not been able to learn, further than that the person deceased, left Harrisburg late on the evening of Friday, for his residence, a short distance in the country, and was way-laid, cut and mangled in a most shocking manner. He had about him, when he left Harrisburg, about three thousand dollars, which was also taken from his pockets. His body was discovered on Saturday morning. The perpetrators of the crime have not been discovered, nor suspicion, as yet, fixed upon them.

Murder.—On Thursday of last week, an Indian by the name of John Steeprock, beat his squaw with his fist, until she died. The outrage was committed near the Tonnewanda Reservation, while the, were both drunk. Steeprock was accused by his wife with having stolen pork, upon which he fell to mauling her, and she fell down, and to use his own emphatic language, when explaining the act afterwards, "ped breathing."—[Batavia Advocate.]

How to b Exster, who reached a sermon at St. Jame's church last, he gave out his text, 'What shall I do to be saved?' a wag in the gallery called out, to the evident discomfiture of the right Rev. prelate, but to the no small amusement of a great portion of the congregation, 'vote for the Reform Bill!' The beadle immediately bustled towards the place whence the sound proceeded but no further notice was taken of the occurrence.

We observe in the Quebec Mercury of the 21st instant, that the benificent socity of that city has resolved to "send back to Europe, with their families, the widowers and widows who may be desirous of returning thither."

PERSECUTION OF THE QUAKERS.

Though the government of New England was restrained from putting the Quakers to death, and granted them liberty for a while, it lasted not long. The dispositions of the magistrates were still the same.

In 1662, Mary Tomkins, Alice Ambrose, and Ann Coleman, came under a religious concern to visit their friends about Piscataqua They had not been long there, before river. Rayner, a priest of Dover, excited the magis-trates to persecute them. He brought them before Walden, a deputy magistrate, who telling them of the law they had to punish them, Mary Tomkins answered, "So there was a law that Daniel should not pray to his God." He renlied "Vor and Daniel Should Daniel Should Daniel State God." He replied, "Yes, and Daniel suffer-ed, and so shall you." Also, when A. Am-brose said, "Her name was written in the Lamb's book of Life," he answered, "Nobody here knows that book, and for this you shall suffer." On this occasion the priest supply-ing the place of a clerk, formed for him a warrant or order as follows:

"To the Constables of Dover, Hampton, Sa-lisbury, Newbury, Rowly, Ipswich, Wen-ham, Linn, Boston, Roxbury, Dedham, and until the vagabond Quakers are carried out of this jurisdiction. "You and every one of you are required in the King's majesty's name, to take these va-gabond Quakers, Ann Coleman, Mary Tom-kins, and Alice Ambrose; and make them fast to the cert's tail, & driving the cart thro' your several towns, to whip on their backs, not exceeding ten stripes a piece on each of them, in each town, and so from constable to constable, till they come out of this jurisdiction, as you answer it at your peril: and this shall be your warrant,

Per me, "RICHARD WALDEN." Dated at Dover, Dec. 22, 1662. Per me,

This order was executed at Dover, while the priest stood by and laughed; for which cruel levity Eliakim Wardel and William Fourbish reproved him; when the magistrate caused them to be put in the stocks. They caused them to be put in the stocks. were then conveyed to Hampton, and then again whipped, and also at Salisbury; but the constable of that town, deputing a person to convey them farther, he, moved with compassion, determined to run the hazard of breaking the law, set them at liberty, whereby the priest was disappointed of his aim, which seems to be to take away their lives, which in all likelihood had been the case, if the constables of these eleven townships had executed the warrant with such severty as he had excited the constable of Dover to do, the distance from Dover, to the end of the jurisdiction, being all t eighty miles.

After a little time they returned again to Dever, where, being met together with other friends on the first day of the week, whilst A. Ambrose was at prayer, two constables, Thomas Roberts and John his brother, came into the meeting, and taking her each by an arm, dragged her out of doors, and then thro' the snow, which was knee deep, over stumps and old trees, near a mile; when they had wearied themselves they commanded two others to help them; then they fetched Mary Tomkins, and treated her in like manner. The next morning, which was excessive cold, they forced them into a canos, together with Ann Coleman, (who had in love accompanied them] and carried them to the harbor's mouth, threatening that they would dispose of them so, as that they would be troubled with them no more. And because they were not willing to go they forced them down a steep place in the snow, dragging Mary Tomkins again over stumps of trees to the water side, whereby she was much bruised, and fainted under their hands. Anne Ambrose they pulled into the water, and kept her swimming by the canoe, in danger of drowning, or be-ing frozen to death. They would in all probability have proceeded in the design of murdering, if they had not been prevented by a storm, which drove them back to the house where they had kept them all the night before. They kept them there till near midnight, and then turned them out of doors, in the frost and snow, though Ann Ambrose's clothes were frozen. The barbarity exercised on these women was such, that, to all human probability, they must have perished, had not providence in a signal manner preserved them. It did not appear that these men had any legal authority for what they did, but that they were encouraged to this abuse of these harm less women by a ruling elder of their church (miscalled) "Hate-evil Nutter."

A statesman of the Tang dynasty recommended the Emperor Kaou-Tsoo to put away all sycophants from the Court. His Majesty asked, 'who are the sycophants?' To find them out, his advisers suggested this notable expedient:-'At your next levee, when your courtiers are all about you, consulting on na-tional affairs, affect to be angry, in order to try them. Those that pertinaciously reason the point, and won't submit to you are upright statesmen: those who are awed by your Majesty, and submit to your will, are syco-phants.' The emperor replied, 'the Sovereign phants. is the fountain: statesmen are the streams; from a turbid fountain clear streams cannot be obtained. If the Sovereign act a deceitful part, how can he expect upright Ministers? I must rule with perfect sincerity. Your device, sir, may be a good one, but I cannot adopt it.'--[Canton Register.]

Labor .- The idea that labor degrades the mind, is one of the most mischievous errors of which poor human nature ever was guilty. It enables the idle and vicious to rob the honest and laborious of a large portion of their carnings: it is a most serious obstacle in the way of all improvement, and ought to be discountenanced by every sensible man.-Says Governor Morris, on this subject, 'I have met with mechanics, in the first societies in Europe, from which idlers of high rank were excluded; and was once introducd by a coppersmith to the intimacy of a duke.

Bogota papers to the 10th of Jui. , re-ceived at Baltimore, contain intelligence of the Cholers having made its appearance in Chili.

"This fatal news," says the Bulletin de Popayan, "has just reached us, and we conropayan, "has just reached us, and we con-sider ourselves under obligation to give it im-mediate publicity. A letter from Santiago de Chili, from unquestionable source, dated 12 February, says. "An epidemic called Scarlatina, or Cholera Morbus, has made its appearance in this country, with so much violence, that people die in the streets in a few minutes after leaving their houses. By few minutes after leaving their houses. By the mail just arrived from Valparaiso, we learn, that 363 persons have died in that city in the space of eight days; and during the present week 591 have died in this capital."

BEWARE LEST ANY MAN SPOIL YOU THROUGH PHILOSOPHY AND VAIN DECEIT .- PAUL.

Among all denominations in the world, that serve, or, at least, worship God to be saved, it may be worth while for the humble disciple of the neek and lowly Jesus, to no-tice how the rich, the great and the noble, are flattered and honored, and even excused from acts of sin; nor would it be wrong for the children of the living God, to observe how the Christians, as they style themselves, fol-low the changing firstlows of the day to the low the changing fashions of the day, to the most extravagant extremes; and watch how greedily they seek the world and all things in it, while the poor are forgotten by their neighbors. Truly did the Savior say, For that which is highly esteemed among men, is an abomination in the sight of God. Great names are clung to, good or bad, and rich men are courted, saints or sinners, though it may be easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God. As in the days of the Savior, all sects are striving for the uppermost rooms at feasts, and for the chief seats in the synagogues, and as Paul said should be the case in the last days, they have a form of godliness, but deny the power thereof. Well might James exclaim: Hath not God chosen the poor of this world rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he hath promised to them that love him?

THE POWER OF GOD.

How little does man know of the power of God. The prophets who exercised this power, never left a trace of it upon the earth, nor a line upon the sacred scroll, which would convince the world what it was. The earthquake, the whirlwind, and the flaming flame, might terrify and astonish, but when Elijah heard the still small voice, he wrapped his face in his mantle, and went out, & stood in the entering in of the cave, for the Lord was there! When the Lord said to Moses, Lo, I come unto thee in a thick cloud, and all the people saw the thunderings, and the lightnings, and the noise of the trumpet, and the mountain smoking; standing back, afar off. beseeching Moses to speak with God, that he might not speak to them, lest they die, we may know that a man must be pure in heart, I to see God: When we read that God is not a man, that he should lie, we learn that he always does as he says, and when we see, by the revelation on the second page of this pa-per, that the power of God is his honor, then may we exclaim like Lehi of old, Great and marvellous are thy works, O Lord God Almighty! Thy throne is high in the heavens, and thy power, and goodness, and mercy, is over all the inhabitants of the earth!

THE TEN TRIBES.

Perhaps some might think, that we ought to embrace the scattering of the twelve tribes In this article, but a moment's reflection will show the propriety of taking the ten lost tribes first. We have a sufficient foundation for the scattering and gathering of Israel in the 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, and 33rd chapters of Deuteronomy: that glorious blessing, the Lord shall open to thee his good treasures, if thou shalt hearken unto the commandments to do them; that solemn curse, but it shall come to pass, if thou wilt not hearken unto the voice of the Lord thy God, to ob-serve to do all his commandments, that thou shalt become an astonishment, a proverb, and a by-word among all nations whither the Lord shall lead thee, and that sacred promise: And it shall come to pass, when all these things are come upon thee, the blessing and the curse, that the Lord will have compassion upon thee and will return and gather thee from all the nations whither the Lord thy God hath scattered thee,—when traced through the bible and fully explained, would be more than the world would believe at once, or do believe now, and so we take the ten tribes as the subject of this estay, allowing all men their own privilege of searching the scriptures for themselves, to know whether these things are so or not; and how much of the blessing fell to the lot of Israel, from the day it was pronounced till Solomon showed the queen of Sheba his glory; and how much of the curse came upon this elect nation, when it went into captivity and was scattered to the four winds: that they may the better judge whether the Lord will return according to his sacred promise, and gather his elect from every country where they were scattered in a dark and clottdy day.

The division of Israel was foretold by Ahijah the prophet, in the days of Solomon, when he tore the new garment of Jeroboam into twelve pieces, saying, take thee ten pieces: for thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel, Behold; I will rend the kingdom out of the hand of Solomon, and will give ten tribes to thee. Some time after this, the destiny of the ten tribes was made known, for Jeroboam's wife went to the same prophet to in-quire concerning the life of her sick child, and recieved for answer that it should die, for the Lord shall smite Israel, as a reed is shaken in the water, and he shall root up Israel out of this good land, which he gave to their fathers, and shall scatter them beyond the river, because they have made their groves, provoking the Lord to anger. And he shall give Israel up because of the sins of Jeroboam, who didsin, and who made Israel to sin. Some where about two hundred and fifty years after this prophecy was given, it was fulfilled; Shalmaneser king of Assyria made Hosea, king of Israel, tributary, and soon after, find-ing conspiracy in him, he took Samaris, and carried Israel away into Assyria, for the children of Israel walked in all the sins of Jeroboam which he did; they departed not from them; until the Lord removed Israel out of of their iniquity, that they know not of you. his sight, as he had said by all his servants And verily, I say into you again, that the the prophets. So was Israel carried away out other tribes hath the Father separated from years before the Babylonish captivity of the tribe of Judah. Ezekiel speaking of the whole captivity, says, Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take of the highest branch of, the high cedar, and will set it: I will crop off from the top of his young twigs a tender one and will plant upon a high mountain and eminent: In the mountain of the height of Israel will I plant it; and it shall bring forth boughs, and bear fruit, and be a goodly cefar: and under it shall dwell all fowl of every wing; in the shadow of the branches thereof shall they dwell. And all the trees of the field shall know that I the Lord have brought down the high tree, have dried up the green tree, and have made the dry tree to flourish: I the Lord have spoken and have done it.

The highest branch of the high cedar, is Israel, for Israel is swallowed up: now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessel wherein is no pleasure: for they are gone up to Assyria, A WILD ASS ALONE BY HIMSELF .-Having thus traced Israel to Assyria, where he is figuratively declared by Hosea, to be a wild ass alone by himself, and where he has remained in complete obscurity from the world 2556 years, let us consider what else is to become of him. The Savior declares that he was sent to the lost sheep of the house of Israel, and in another place he says: And other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold and one shepherd. These words admit of no cavil or supposition; if the Savior came to the lost sheep of the house of Israel, and declared that he had other sheep beyides the Jews at Jerusalem, we believe him, let us then take his words as recorded in the book of Mormon:

And now it came to pass that when Jesus had spoken these words, he said unto those twelve whom he had chosen, Ye are my disciples; and ye are a light unto this people, which are a remnant of the house of Joseph. And behold, this is the land of your inheritance; and the Father hath given it unto you. And not at any time hath the Father given me commandment that I should tell it unto your brethren at Jerusalem; neither at any time hath the Father given me commandment that I should tell unto them concerning the other tribes of the house of Israel, which the Father hath led away out of the land. This much did the Father command me that I should tell unto them, that other sheep I have, which are not of this fold; them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold, and one shephed .-And now because of stiffneckedness and unbelief, they understood not my word; there-fore I was commanded to say no more of the Father Concerning this thing unto them-But, verily I say unto you, that the Father hath commanded me; and I tell it unto you, that ye were separated from among them because of their iniquity; therefore it is because them; and it is because of their iniquity, that they know not of them. And verily, I say unto you, that ye are they of which I said, Other sheep I have, which are not of this fold; them also I must bring, and they shall have which are cold hear my voice; and there shall be one fold, and one shepherd. And they understood me not, for they supposed it had been the Gentiles: for they understood not that the Gen-tiles should be converted through their preaching; and they understood not that I said, They shall hear my voice; and they un-derstood me not that the Gentiles should not at any time hear my voice; that I should not manifest myself unto them, save it were by the Holy Ghost. But behold, ye have both heard my voice, and seen me; and ye are my sheep, and ye are numbered among them which the Father hath given me. And veri-ly, verily I say unto you, that I have other sheep, which are not of this land; neither of the land of Jerusalem; neither in any parts of that land round about, whither I have been to minister. For they of which I speak, are they which have not as yet heard my voice; neither have I at any time manifested myself unto them. But I have received a commandment of the Father, that I shall go unto them, and that they shall hear my voice, and shall be numbered among my sheep, that there may be one fold, and one shepherd; therefore I go to shew myself unto them. And I command you that ye shall write these sayings, after that I am gone, that if it so be that my people at Jerusalem, they which have seen me, and been with me in my ministry, do not ask the Father in my name, that they may receive a knowledge of you by the Holy Ghost, and also of the other tribes which they know not of, that these sayings which ye shall write, shall be kept, and shall be manifested unto the Gentiles, that through the fullness of the Gentiles, the remnant of their seed which shall be scattered forth upon the face of the earth, because of their unbelief, may be brought in, or may be brought to a knowledge of their Redeemer.

While quoting the Book of Mormon let us take a small extract from the parable of the Lord's vineyard, where it is likened unto a tame olive tree, viz:

And it came to pass that the Lord of the vineyard saith unto the servant, Come, let us go to the nethermost part of the vineyard, and behold if the natural branches of the tree hath not brought forth much fruit also, that I may lay up of the fruit thereof, against the season, unto mine ownself. And it came to pass that they went forth whither the master of the vineyard had hid the natural branches of the tree, and he saith unto the servant, behold these: and he beheld the first, that it had brought forth much fruit; and he beheld also, that it was good. And he saith unto the servant, Take of the fruit thereof, and lay it up against the season, that I may preserve it unto mine ownself: for behold, saith he, This long time have I nourished it, and it hath brought forth much fruit.

And it came to pass that the servant saith unto his master, How comest thou hither to plant this tree, or this branch of the tree? for behold it was the poorest spot in all the land of thy vineyard. And the Lord of the vineyard saith unto him, Counsel me not: I knew that it was a poor spot of ground; wherefore; I said unto thee, I have nourished it this long time; and thou beholdest that it hath brought forth much fruit.

Here we have a clue to the place where Israel is; for while standing upon the centre of the earth, it would be perfectly natural to call the north, south, east and west, nethermost, or lowest; and as this branch was the first that the Lord had hid, it would evidently mean the ten tribes as they were the first carried away. Again, when the Lord begins to call home his branches that were hid about in the lower parts of his vineyard, he says to the north first, [because first planted] Give up. The world has been troubled a good deal to find Israel and to get to the north pole, and to search out the Northern Lights, but when the Lord shall utter his voice out of Zion, and shall speak from Jerusalem; and his voice shall be heard among all people; and it shall be as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of a great thunder, which shall break down the mountains, and the valleys shall not be found, he shall command the great deep, and it shall be driven back into the porth ecupation and the identication. north countries, and the islands shall become one land; and the land of Jerusalem and the land of Zion shall be turned back into their own place, and the earth shall be like as it was in the days before it was divided,-the saints shall know how much further the wisdom of God extends on earth, than the knowledge of men. The time must soon come, as the prophet Jeremiah hath said, when they shall no more say, The Lord liveth which brought up the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt: But the Lord liveth which brought up and which led the seed of the house of Israel out of the north country, for the Lord hath said: Go and proclaim these words toward the north, return, thou backsliding Israel saith the Lord; and I will not cause mine anger to fall upon you: for I am merciful, saith the Lord, and I will not keep anger forever. Only acknowledge thine iniquity, that thou hast transgressed against the Lord thy God, and hast scattered thy ways to the strangers under every green tree, and ye have not obeyed my voice, saith the Lord. Turn, O, backsliding children, saith the Lord; for I am married unto you: and I will take you one of a city, and two of a family, and will bring you to Zion: And they shall come together out of the land of the north to the land that I have given for anl inheritance unto your fathers. And they shall come with weeping, and they shall come and sing in the height of Zion, for it shall come to pass, as the Lord Lath watched over them to pluck them up for their iniquity, so also will the Lord watch over them to build them up and to plant them, for good.

We have already brought evidence enough to convince an unprejudiced mind how the ten tribes were scattered; where they went to and how they will be gathered, but to make the subject still plainer, we add a few more extracts. Firstly, Esdras, (who it may be perceived, by comparing the first chapter of his second book, with the 7th chapter of Ezra, was Ezra, as near as the Hebrew and Greek language can be defined,) gives this full and fair account of the ten tribes.

But he shall stand upon the top of mount Sion. [Zion] And Sion shall come, and shall be shewn to all men, being prepared and builded, like as thou sawest the hill graven without hands. And this my son shall re-buke the wicked inventions of those nations, without hands. which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest: and shall lay before them their evil thoughts, and the torments wherewith they shall begin to be tormented, which are like unto a flame: aud he shall destroy them without labor by the law which is like unto fire. And whereas thou sawest that he gathered another peaceable multitude unto him: Those are the ten tribes, which were carried away prisoners out of their own land in the time of Osea the king, whom Salmanasar the king of Assyria led away captive, and he carried them over the waters, and so they came into another land. But they took this counsel among themselves, that they would leave the multitude of the heathen, and go forth into a further country, where never mankind dwelt, that they might there keep their statutes, which they never kept in their own land. And they entered into Euphrates by the narrow passages of the river. For the Most High then shewed signs for them, and held still the flood, till they passad over. For through that country there was a great way to go, namely, of a year and a half. and the same region is called Arsareth. Then dwelt they there until the latter time; and now when they shall begin to come, the Highest shall stay the springs of the stream again, that they may go through: therefore sawest thou the multitude with peace.

This plain and unvarnished history of the ten tribes, shows itself to be true as much as the account of the creation in the first chapter of Genesis, and for all that has as yet appeared to the contrary, is as much the word of the Lord. Not to quote a tenth part of the prophets in relation to this subject, (for the last paragraph ought to convince the world where Israel went, and when he will return,) we turn to the Savior's parable of the Gentiles and Jacob. which, while it alludes to the whole house of Israel, is so plain that it makes one's heart leap for joy, when he reads it in the spirit of God.

And he said, A certain man had two sons: and the younger of them said to his father, Father, give me the portion of goods that falleth to me. And he divided unto them their living. And not many days after, the younger son gathered all together, and took his journey into a far country, and there wasted his substance with rioutous living. And when he had spent all, there arose a mighty famine in that land; and he began to be in And he went and joined himself to a want. citizen of that country; and he sent him into his fields to feed swine. And he would fain have filled his belly with the husks that the swine did eat: and no man gave unto him .-And when he came to himself, he said, How many hired servants of my father's have bread enough and to spare, and I perish with hungar! I will arise and go to my father, and will say unto him, Father I have sinned against heaven, and before thee, and n no more worthy to be called thy son: make me as one of thy hired servants. And he arose, and came to his father. But when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and ran, and fell upon his neck, and kissed him. And the son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy son. But the father said to his servants, Bring forth the best robe and put it on him; and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet: and bring hither the fatted calf, and kill it, and let us cat and be merry: for this my son was dead, and is alive again; And they began to was lost and is found. be merry. Now his elder son was in the field: and as he came and drew nigh to the house, he heard music and dancing. And he called one of the servants and asked him what these things meant. And he said unto him, Thy brother is come; and thy father hath killed the fatted calf, because he hath received him safe and sound. And he was angry, and would not go in; therefore came his father out, and entreated him. And he answering, said to his father, Lo, these many years do I serve thee, neither transgressed I at any time thy commandment; and yet thou never gavest me a kid, that I might make merry with my friends: but as soon as this thy son has come, which hath devoured thy living with harlots, thou hast killed for him the fatted calf. And he said unto him, Son, thou art ever with me; and all that I have is thing. It was meet that we should make merry, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is alive again; was lost, and is found.

Here we have a plain parable of the Gentiles for the elder son, and Israel for the younger son; or, in other words, Esau, and Jacob: For it is written, that Esau is the end of the world, and Jacob is the beginning of it that follows, for when they were born, Jacob's hand held first the heel of Esau. It has been often remarked, that the two sons was one of the greatest parables of our Savior, and true it was: For when the younger son came to himself, and said, how many hired servants of my father's have bread enough and to spare, who can mistake our day? who, with the love of Jesus Christ in his heart, can view the thousands of meeting houses, chapels, temples and churches, thronged with men, eager to preach; and witness the missionaries sending some to India, some to Africa, some to New Holland, some to one place and some to another; printing the bible in every tongue and language, and blending almost every means on earth with religion,-can mistake the day in which this parable is fulfilled?-No one that is lead by the Spirit of the Lord. Pardon us, beloved readear! for quoting the parable of the two sons, as touching the ten tribes: the allusion is so great; the figure so strong; the reality so true; the language so melting; and the application so merciful, so heavenly and so tender, that we could not omit it, when the Lord left us welcome to Elijah was translated to paradise in a chariot of fire, and Malachi says he shall return before the great and dreadful day of the Lord: and he shall turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers. Now the Savior said he is come already, but the Jews knew it not, so he did not turn the hearts of the fathers te the children, and the following extract from Ecclesiasticus, chap. 48th, shows that Elijah, as he is called in Hebrew, and Elias in Greek, will yet come and restore the tribes of Jacob:

Then stood up Elias the prophet as fire, and his word burned like a lamp. He brought a sore famine upon them, and by his zeal he diministic their number. By the word of the Lord he shut up the heaven, and also, three times brought down fire, O Elias, how wast thou honored in thy wondrous deeds! and who may glory like unto thee! Who didst raise up a dead man from death, and his soul from the place of the dead, by the word of the Most High: who brought kings to destruction, and honorable men from their bed: who heardest the rebuke of the Lord in Sinai, and in Horeb the judgment of vengance: who anointedest kings to take revenge, and proph-ets to succeed after him: who wast taken up in a whirlwind of fire, and in a chariot of fiery horses: who wast ordained for reproofs in their times to pacify the wrath of the Lord's judgment, before it brake forth into fury, and to turn the heart of the father unto the son, and to restore the tribes of Jacob. Blessed afe they that saw thee and slept in love; for we shall surely live.

We have said enough on so plain a subject, and, will therefore, leave the reader to scurch for himself, and know for himself: The word of God is free; the Spirit of God is free, and the children of God will soon be free. Let us then, close, by saying that suppositions never go before facts: that man's wisdom soon fails, but the word of the Lord endures forever, and his purposes never fail: For I am with thee, [Israel] saith the Lord, to save thee: though I make a full end of all nations whither I have driven thee, I will not make a full end of thee.

Worldly Matters.

On the 19th of September, Capt. Sublett's Fur company returned from the Rocky mount tains with 163 packs of fur, valued at abou-$80,000. The company was attacked in Piers Hole, on the 12th of July last, by the Black feet Indians, and lost in killed of their own men, six, and four wounded, among whom was Capt. We learn that the Black feet Indians, said to be numerous, are becoming more and more warlike towards the mountain hunters; so much so, that some of the hunters returned, say, they will hardly be able to hunt two years longer. In the engagement in Piers Hole, there were, of Capt. S's. Fur company, Capt. #### THE PLAGUE.

The prevalence of the plague, says the Baltimore Gazette, has always been marked by licentiousness and depravity. Thucydides licentiousness and depravity. thus speaks of the manners of the people during the plague at Athens. For people now dared to do many things openly which they were heretofore compelled by shame to conceal, and they calculated on their sudden change of fortune, seeing that many of the rich perished, while those who formerly were destitute became rich with their property. They therefore deemed it right to set about the immediate enjoyment of it, and give up all their mind to pleasures, considering they might, in turn, be deprived of their treasures and life itself in a few days. Nor was any individual disposed to undertake any labor for an honorable reward, because he was not certain he might not die before he could obtain it. Whatever each person deemed agreeable or lucrative to himself he considered as expedient and honorable; and he did not allow himself to be restrained in the pursuit by the fear of God or human laws." The plague at Marseilles was as fruitful in

The plague at Marseilles was as fruitful in horrors. M. Bertrand says, "While the arm of the Lord was yet extended over us, a general license was seen to reign among the people and depravity of morals frightful to think on. Some seized on houses left vacants by the mortality; others forced open those which were shut up or guarded by persons incapable of resistance. They entered those where perhaps there remained only one person languishing with the malady, forced open the drawers and closets, and took away whatever they found most precious, often carrying their guilt to the length of delivering themselves from an opportune witness who otherwise had but a few moments to live.

Intelligence was received at Falmouth on the 29th of July that a battle had been fought on the 23d, near Oporto, which terminated in the total defeat of Don Miguel's forces. Letters from Oporto to the 24th July confirm the account of the victory of Donna Maria's army headed by her father, Don Pedro. It was stated in these letters, that the Don had made 2000 prisoners, and captured all the enemy's artillery, baggage, &c. with little loss on his own side. The fighting lasted two days.

CHEROKEE PHŒNIX.

Mr. Elias Boudinot has resigned his situation as editor of this paper, and rocommends that it be discontinued, on account of the pecuniary embarrassments of the Cherokee nation. Mr. Rose, the principal chief, in communicating the resignation to the Committee and Council, says:

I deem it to be essentially important that the paper should be kept up. It is an incontrovertible fact, that the circulation of that paper has been greatly instrumental in the diffusion of science and general knowledge among cur own citizens. The pecuniary embarrassments of the nation by no means ought to influence you to discontinue the paper, if a suitable person can be found to conduct it.

We sincerely hope the paper will not be discontinued; and we cannot refrain from expressing our surprise at the recommendation of Mr. Boudinot. "Knowledge is power," and the publication of a weekly paper among the Cherokees, in which the subject of their rights shall be freely discussed, & containing such other articles as shall be calculated to instruct and reform the people, and afford them the necessary information of passing events, will be of incalculable benefit. We say to them, "Don't give up the ship;" maintain the paper, if possible; it may be that God will yet send you deliverance.—C. Soldier.

THE COTTON CROP.

So frequently have we been deceived respecting the Cotton crop, that we had almost determined not to trouble our friends again on this subject, but we are induced to change this determination, from the extraordinary appearance of the cotton fields at this time.— A general gloom pervades the planting interest of this State. Many planters, who, with only ordinary seasons, would have made 200 bales of cotton, cannot now, under any circumstances, make 50. Many fields have already been abandoned, and stocks turned into them.

In many counties, the drought and the rust have destroyed entire fields of cotton.---We have cried Wolf, Wolf, Wolf, again and again when there was no Wolf, but rely on it there is now no mistake. It may be set down as indisputable, if the mind of a child cannot be excited to inquiry, by explaining the dimensions, distances, and revolutions of the planets, there is a vacuum that can never be filled. The remark of an experienced teacher is, "Many a dunce and many a truant has been put into my hands, and pronounced nearly hopeless, who has approximated to first rate scholarship, by a faithful elucidation of this sublime science, and where this has failed, all other expedients are unavailing.-What a pity then, that this important study should be so much neglected in the early education of children, that Orin and his belt. #### SINGULAR FACT.

Among the applicants for pensions before the Vice Chancellor's Court, in this county, a few days since, were two men, a father and his son!—the former ayed 94 years, and the latter 70. They both served two years or more in the Revolutionary war; and the Father had been through the old French war.— While the son was giving in his declaration to the court, the father caused much laughter by occasionally correcting him, with "Tut, BOY, you are mistaken." "You are wrong, BOY!" The term "boy" applied to a war worn veteran of '76, whose whitened locks and wrinkled visage evinced extreme old age, was irresistibly amusing. It may well be doubted whether a similar case exists in the state.—Chenango Tel.

The cold weather of Friday and Saturday, 24th and 25th of August, was unusual and extreme. In the vicinity of this city there was frost more or less severe. The Kingston U. C. #### TWILIGHT.

Of all the myriad sources of enjoyment which nature unfolds to man, I know few equal to those elicited by a balmy summer sunset. The idea is old, but the reflections it excites are perpetually varying. There is something in this hour, so tender, so truly fraught with simple, yet sublime associations that it belongs rather to heaven than to earth. The curtain that drops down on the physical, also descends on the moral world. The day also descends on the moral world. with its selfish interest, its common-place distractions, has gone by, and the season of intelligence, of imagination, of spirituality, is dawning. Yes, twilight unlocks the blandu-sian fountain of fancy; there, as in a mirror, reflecting all things in added loveliness, the heart surveys the past; the dead, the absent, the estranged, come thronging back on memory; the paradise of inexperience, from which the flaming sword of truth has long since exiled us, rises again in all the pristine beauty of its flowers and verdure: the very spot where we breathed our first vows of love; the slender girlish figure, that, gliding like a sylph beside us, listened entranced to that avowal, made in the face of heaven, beneath the listening evening star; the home that witnessed her decline; the church yard that received her ashes; the grave wherein she now sleeps, dreamless and happy, deaf alike to the syren voice of praise, and the withering sneers of envy-such sweet but solemn recollections, sweep in shadowy pomp across the mind, conjured up by the spells of twilight, as he waves his enchanted wand over the earth.

NATURE.

The contemplation of the works of nature, affords some of the noblest and purest pleasures of the human mind. Gazed upon as the workmanship of a great, and wise, and good Being, who can consider them without feel-ings of mingled admiration and awe. Even in the inferior parts of creation, among the little things of our own earth, how much do we find to call forth wonder and inspire delight. Animate and inanimate nature is full of beauty and astonishing displays of superi-or wisdom. How surprising the order and regularity of the crystal. So exact, that amidst a million of the same species, no difference in angle and form can be detected .-How beautiful the little vernal flower! Its leaves seem touched by the pencil of an angel.

But let us vise still higher & take a wider survey. Let us gain some commanding eminence and look off upon hill and dale, and field, and forest, and stream. What a boundless variety, and yet all beautiful! Whose eye is so dull-whose sonl so insensible that he cannot gaze and admire with almost insatiable delight? Whose heart is not enlarged, whose feelings are not refined, whose pleasures are not multiplied, by mingling with, and contemplating the beauties of creation. It is here we seem to commune with ourselves and with our Creator in his works. ١Ł is here that is placed the first impress of our The mysteries of nature Maker's character. we should study, the loveliness of nature we should admire, as the work of the Almighty. And how easy thus would become our pathway from nature up to nature's God. Let me say with Dr. Beattie,

Oh, how canst thou renounce the boundless store

Of charms, which nature to her votary yields? The warbling woodland, the resounding shore, The pomp of groves and garniture of fields, All that the genial ray of morning gilds,

And all the echoes to the song of even,

All that the mountain's sheltering bosom shields,

And all the grand magnificence of heaven-

Oh how canst thou rendunce and hope to be forgiven?

Who does not retire from the contemplation of nature with feelings of a tender relation to his Father in heaven? He can say "in wisdom hast thou made them all." But . when he turns to the region of animal life, he finds still more to gratify and delight, than in mere inanimate matter. Here is superior wisdom and greater goodness. Look at the diminutive insect that crosses your path .-Learn his mode of existence, his habits of life, the nice adaptation of his size and form, to all the circumstances of his being, to all the necessities and means of individual happiness. Examine the little fly that buzzes about in all the sportiveness of youth, and all the bliss of conscious being and overflowing joy. Admire his gossamer his fixed but bright and animated eyet Admire his gossamer wing, The sun sheds upon him as cheering a ray, and the summer air breathes as mildly around him, as the boasted Lord of creation. How true is the declaration of the Psalmist "The Lord is good unto all and his tender mercies are over all his works."

But when we have travelled over our little earth and witnessed all it possesses of the beautiful and the sublime, when we have listened to the roar of ocean, and the song of birds, when we have looked upon the forest's gorgeousness and the flowret's beauty, when we have seen the limpid, and purling rill, & the majestic river, when we have turned our eye upon the vine-clad hills and towering mountains; when we have seen and heard all this, we have but entered the vestibule of the great temple of nature

THE FAR WEST. The far west, as the section of country from the Mississippi to the Rocky Mountains may justly be styled, is not only distant from the Atalantic States, but different. Its principal river, running rapidly from the 45th to the 39th degree of north latitude, is always rily, always wearing away its banks and al-ways making new channels: It is rightly named Mis-souri; for in plain English. It looks like the waters of misery,—or troubled water:—even as the sea which the prophet said, Casts up mire and dirt. With the exception of the skirts of timber upon the streams of water, this region of country is one continued field, the prophet said, Casts up mire and dirt. With the exception of the skirts of timber upon the streams of water, this region of country is one continued field, or prairie, (as the French have it, meaning mead-ows.) and there is something ancient as well as grand about it, too; for while the eye takes in a large scope of clear field, or extensive plains, decorated with here and there a patch of timber, like the orchards which beautify the farms in the cast, the mind goes back to the day, when the Jaredites were in their glory upon this choice land above all others, and comes on till they, and even the Nephites, were destroyed for their wickedness: Here pause and look to the east, and read the words of the prophet: Wo to the crown of pride, to the drunkards of Ephraim, whose glorious beauty is a fading flower, which is on the head of the 'fat valleys of them that are overcrome with wine! Be-hold, the Lord hath a mighty and strong one, which as a tempest of hail and a destroying storm, as a flood of mighty waters overflowing, shall cast down to the earth with the hand. The crown of pride, the drun-Kards of Ephraim, shall be trodden under feet: and the Bards of Ephraim, shall be trodden under feet, and the glorious beauty, which is on the head of the fat val-ley, shall be a fading flower, and as the hasty fruit be-fore the summer, which when he that looketh upon it seeth, while it is yet in his hand he eatch i toohen upon it seeth, while it is yet in his hand he eatch it up. In that day shall the Lord of hosts be for a crown of glo-ry, and for a diadem of beauty, unto the residue of his people, and for a spirit of judgment to him that sit-teth in judgement, and for strength to them that turn the battle to the gate.

the battle to the gate. To return: this beautiful region of country is now mostly, excepting Arkansas and Missouri, the land of Joseph or the Indians, as they are called, and embra-cesthree fine climates: First, like that of New York; second, like Missouri, neither norts outhern; and third, the Carolinas. This place may be called the centre of America; it being about an equal dis-tance from Maine, to Nootka sound; and from the gulf of St. Lawrence to the gulf of Californin; yea, and about the middle of the continent from cape Horn, south to the head land at Bafing's Bay. north. The and about the middle of the continent from cape Horn, south, to the head land at Bafin's Bay, north. The world will never value the land of Desolation, as it is called in the book of Mormon, for any thing more than huming ground, for want of timber and mill-seats: The Lord to the contrary notwithstanding, de-clares it to be the land of Zion which is the land of Joseph, blessed by him, for the precious things of heaven, for the dew, and for the deep that coucheth beneath, and for the precions thins but forth by the sun, and for the precions thins put forth by the beneath, and for the precions fruits brought forth by the sun, and for the precions things put forth by the moon, and for the chief things of the ancient moun-tains, and for the precious things of the lasting hills, and for the precious things of the earth and tulness thereof, and for the good will of him that dweit in the thereof, and for the good will of him that dweit in the bush: let the blessing come spon the head of Joseph, and upon the top of the head of him that was separa-ted from his brethren. His glory is like the firstling of his bullock, and his horns are like the horns of uni-corns: with them he shall push the people together from the ends of the earth: and they are the ten thou-sands of Ephraim, and they are the thousands of Ma-naseth nasseh, passeb. When we consider that the land of Missouri to the land where the saints of the living God are to be gathered together and sanctified for the second coming of the Lord Jesus, we cannot help exclaiming with the prophet, Oland be glad and O sarth, earth, sarth, hear the word of the Lord: For Zion's sake will I not hold my peace, and for Jerusalem's sake I will not rest, until- the rightcousness thereof go forth as brightness, and the salvation thereof as a lamp that burneth. And the Gentiles shall see thy rightconsness, and all kings thy glory: and thou shalt be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name. Thou shalt also be acrown of glo-win the band of the Lord arown dindom in the rightconsness, and an ango my group, and be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name. Thou shalt also be acrown of glo-ry in the hand of the Lord, and a royal diadem in the hand of the god. Thou [Jerusalem] shalt no more be termed Forsaken: neither shalt thy land [Zion] any more be termed Desolate; but thou shalt be called Hephzi-bah, and thy land Beulah: for the Lord de-lighteth in thee, and thy land shall be married. [Join-ed together] so that the land of Zion, and the land of Jerusalem will be one, as they were before the days of Peleg: For in his days the earth was divided or separated to receive the oceans, on account of wick-edness. Peleg died 305 years after Noah's flood:--Abram's father was born 210 years after the flood, and Abram 293 after, which brings to mind Joshua's words unto all the people. Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Yeur fathers dwelt on the other side of the flood in old time, even Terah the father of Abraham, and the father of Nachor, and they served other gods. The building of Babel was wickedness; and serving other gods was wickedness: so that dividing, or open-ing the earth to let in the waters, which were in the ing the earth to let in the waters, which were in the beginning gathered unto one place, is one of the Lord's great miracles, and shows to the world that them that look for signs among the wicked, have them to their own condemnation in all ages.

But, reader, stop and pause at the greatness of God; and remember that even Moses, when on the top of Pisgah, lifted up his eyes and looked westward first, to view the promised land.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES. Our readers will expect from us, some of the signs of the times; and, as watchmen that would strive to be approved in all things before the Lord, we will try to collect a few of the many, and lay them before the world. It is a day of strange appearances to them that are without the true knowledge of God. That the watchful might not be deceived, the Lord while speaking of withdrage which is existing Babylon use watchius might not be deceived, the Lord while speaking of wickedness, which is spiritual Habylon, by the mouth of Jeremiah, says, My people, go ye out of the midst of her, and deliver ye every man his soul from the fierce anger of the Lord. And lest your heart faint, and ye fear for the rumor that shall be heard in the land; a rumor shall both come one year, and after that in another year shall come a rumor, and violence in the land, ruler against ruler.

To begin: An eastern paper thus speaks of Europe To begin: An eastern paper thus speaks of Europer Austria has an immense army in the field. Russia an immense force ready to march upon the Rhine, and a fleet of 42 sail ready for seal Belgium and Hol-land are both armed for battle. England has a large squadron in the north seas. A large number of Na-tional Guards has been called out in France, to form a new army. The Emperor of Russia say Chrismas dinners will be eaten by some people with long faces. A Napoleonite has said there will be another march to Paris. Lord Durham has goue to Copenhagen to gain the Alliance of the Danes. The Dutch Ambas-sador has yery unexpectedly left Eneland. and Joseph sador has very unexpectedly left England, and Joseph South's project of moving the French and yoseph Bounparted for that country: the Grey ministry are evidently out of favor with the court, and the French ministry are about adopting South's project of moving the French army towards the frontiers.

Sould's project of moving the French army towards the frontiers. Such is the prospect of aff.irs in the East, upon ru-mor, and our own country is not exactly in a state of peace; for besides the Indian war, which has been a source of considerable trouble upon the frontiers of lilinois, there is raging, to an alarming extent, a war of opinion for political power and party continuance. Our politics are wild. Mark that, our politics are wild! The extent to which men resort to obtain office, in any present party, is certainly barren of that hon-or and honesty which produced the exalted privilege. It is said to be an enlightened day and age, but the de-pravity of the times would argue a state of wicked-ness similar to that which brought the flood. The United States boasts of the free constitution, and the happiest government, in the world, but if the coun-try prisons and state penitentiaries, may number their citizens of affiction and rrine, especially for the last four or five years, without reference to the many murdurs that have filled a large share of the chapter of atrocities, and the keen revernge that has been practiced between freemasons and their oppo-nents:—they might as well fall to the dust, with the other crumbing nations of the earth, and cry, un-elan: unclean! clan! unclean!

clan: unclean! Again: Are they free from censure, that pretend to worship God! Is there not something strange, of, at least, a falling away from the ancient order of things? In the days of Christ and the spostles, religion was preached and practiced for, the sake of eternal life in he world to come: But now religion is preached and inclied for the sake of this present world and the practical for the sake of this present work and the things that are in it. (Christ said: Follow me, but now the language is: Follow me! [man.]. Ubrist ask-ed no aid of the governments of the earth to spread the gospel. He rendered to Casar his own, and to God his own. Now nearly all denominations are eager to obtain converts for temperance societies, and eager to obtain converts for temperance societies, and bible societies, when a large portion of these prose-lytes are unbelieving; and probably die so, with a full knowledge that Christ said, except a man be born a-gain he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. When nosuch societies existed, we were at war for our liberty and the blessings that have resulted from it, and it has been told us that our ancestors proyed to the Lord, for assistance, and he granted it, for it is thus recorded in the Book of Mormon.

recorded in the BOOK of Mormon. • And it came to pass that I benefit many multitudes of the Gentiles, upon the land of promise; and I be-held the wrath of God, that it was upon the seed of my brethren; and they were scattered before the Gen-tiles, and they were smitten. And I beheld the spirit of the Lord, that it was upon the Gentiles; that they did prosper, and obtain the land of their inheritance; and I beheld that they were white, and exceeding fair and beautiful, like unto my people before that they were slain.

And it came to pass that I Nephi, beheld that the Gentiles which had gone forth out of captivity, did humble themselves before the Lord, and the power of the Lord was with them; and I beheld that their mother Gentiles was gathered together upon the wa mother Gentiles was gathered together upon the wa-ters, and upon the land also, to battle against then; and I beheld that the power of God was with them; and also, that the wraih of God was upon them that were gathered together against them to battle. And P Nephi, beheld that the Gentiles which had gone out of captivity, were delivered by the power of God out of the ban's of all other nations.

of the han's of all other nations. As to so many appendaged societies to the Gospel, we must say, that neither the Savior nor his aposities; nor the Scriptures have taught any thing more neces-gary; than to repent and believe on the Lord Jesus, and be baptized for the remission of sins; to receive the gift of the Holy Ghost; and continue faithful to the end, to inherit eternal life. Camp-meetings and protorsted meetings, like the wind that blows before protracted meetings, like the wind that blows before a storm, seem to increase, as the judgments of the Alnight are set forth to purify the world. Beye clean that bear the vessels of the Lord, is a command from the most High, but when we observe, ministers and piembers, among almost every sect upon the globe, not only mingling in all the political rateor, and crowding themselves into the contentions and broils of the day, not only engaged in nearly every specula-tion that the love of money urges the avaricious integ but, as often as the world that lays no claim to goodbut, as often as the work that hay no chain to gover ness, found guilty of every crime that disgraces the human family, they might, with all them that pesti-lence is hurrying to their long home, shrink from their greatness, and cry: God be merciful to us sinners!

ners! Such are the signs of the times, from the king upon the throne to the beggar upon his knees. Such is the commotion of the world; her pain has begun, and trouble succeeds trouble, as wave follows wave upon the ocean. Instead of the good old times, when men would inquire of the Lord on all great matters, and would inquire of the Lord on all great matters. pray to the Lori when trials come, the faithless days have arrived, when the majority of men seck for pul-fic Opinion, whether it comes from wise men or fools; from the moral or wicked. All firsh in the world from the moral or wicked. All firsh in the world secons to trust in an arm of flesh, even while the Lord is feeding the inhabitants with judgements. From the east comes a rumor; from the west comes a ru mor; from the north comes a runnor; from the south comes a runnor, while the Lord is sending forth judg-ment unto victory, among the nations, great are the times with events, for this generation: And while the times with events, for this generation: And while the solemnities of eternity are thus bursting upon our minds, we do humbly befacet the disciples, the wick-ed, yca, all flesh, to watch, for the signs in heaven, and the signs on earth, like the hand writing upon the yall of Belshazzar, declare that the world has been weighed in the balances, and found wanting. The set time to favor Zion, is come; and when the righteous are gathered, the wicked will be cut off, for the earth must rest from sin.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Many of our readers, especially in the land of Zion, may be disappointed because we present them with very little foreign news. Should any thing transbut, as we are calculating to make our weekly paper worthy of patronage, and a vehicle of the news of the day, in the course of next year, permit us to say, that the Blar, hereafter, will contain more matter for the edification and benefit of the soul, to obtain a glorious membrane. resurrection; the gathering of Israel, and whomsdev-er whence for godliness, than any thing else:—There-fore, let Cæsar have his own, and the Lord his own, for we cannot serve God and mamnon, although we make friends with the mammon of unrighteousness.

A Revelation, given November, 1831, to Orson Hyde, Luke Johnson, Lyman Johnson and William E. McLelin. The mind and will of the Lord, as made known by the voice of the Spirit to a conference concerning certain elders: and also certain items, as made known, in addition to the covenants and commandments:-

My servant, Orson Hyde, was called, by his ordinance, to proclaim the everlasting gospel, by the spirit of the living God, from people to people, and from land to land, in the congregations of the wicked, in their synagogues, reasoning with and expounding all scriptures unto them: And behold and lo, this is an ensample unto all those who were ordained unto this priesthood, whose mission is appointed unto them to go forth: And this is the ensample unto them to go forth: And this is the ensample unto them, that they shall speak as they are moved upon by the Holy Ghost; and whatsoever they shall speak, when moved upon by the Holy Ghost, shall be scripture; shall be the will of the Lord; shall be the mind of the Lord; shall be the word of the Lord; shall be the voice of the Lord, and the power of God unto salvation; Behold this is the promise of the Lord unto you, O ye my servants: wherefore, he of good cheer, and do not fear, for I the Lord am with you, and will stand by you; and ye shall bear record of me even Jesus Christ, that I am the Son of the living God; that I was; that I am; and that I am to come. This is the word of the Lord unto you my servant, Orson Hyde; and also unto my servant, Luke Johnson, and unto my servant, Lyman Johnson, and unto my servant William E. McLelin; and unto all the faithful elders of my church: Go ye into all the world; preach the gospel to every creature; acting in the authority which I have given you; baptizing in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost; and he that believeth, and is baptized, shall be saved, and he that believeth not shall be damned; and he that believeth shall be blessed with signs following, even as it is written: And unto you it shall be given to know the signs of the times, and the signs of the coming of the Son of man; and of as many as the Father shall bear record, to you it shall be given power to seal them up unto eternal lifet Amen.

And now concerning the items in addition to the covenants and commandments, they are these; there remaineth hereafter, in the due time of the Lord, other bishops to be set apart unto the church to minister even according to the first: Wherefore they shall be high priests who are worthy, and they shall be appointed by the first presidency of the Melchisedek priesthood, except they be literal descendants of Aaron; and if they be literal descendants of Aaron, they have a legal right to the bishopric, if they are the first born among the sons of Aaron: for the first born holds the right of presidency over this priesthood, and the keys or authority of the same. No man has a legal right to this office, to hold the keys of this priesthood, except he be a literal descendant and the first born of Aaron: but as a high priest of the Melchize-dek priesthood, has authority to officiate in all the lesser offices, he may officiate in the office of bishop when no literal descendant of Aaron can be found; provided he is called and set apart, and ordained unto this power under the hands of the first presidency of the Melchizedek priesthood. And a literal descendant of Aaron, also, must be designated by this presidency, and found worthy, and annointed, and ordained under the hands of this presidency, otherwise they are not legally authorized to officiate in their priesthood: but by virtue of the decree concerning their right of the priesthood descending from father to son, they may claim their annointing, if at any time they can prove their lineage, or do ascertain it by revelation from the Lord under the hands of the above named presidency.

And again, no bishop or high priest, who shall be set apart for this ministry, shall be tried or condemned for any crime save it be before the first presidency of the church; and inasmuch as he is found guilty before this presidency, by testimony that cannot be impeached, he shall be condemned, and if he repents he shall be forgiven, according to the covenants and commandments of the church.

And again, inasmuch as parents have children in Zion, or in any of her stakes which are organized, that teach them not to understand the doctrine of repentance; faith in Christ the Son of the living God; and of baptism and the gift of the Holy Ghost by the laying on of the hands, when eight years old: the sin be upon the head of the parents, for this shall be a law unto the inhabitants of Zion, or in any of her stakes which are organized, and their children shall be baptized for the remission of their sins when eight years old, and receive the laying on of the hands: and they shall also teach their children to pray, and to walk uprightly before the Lord. And the inhabitants of Zion shall also observe the Sabbath day to keep it holy. And the inhabitants of Zion, also, shall remember their labors, inasmuch as they are appointed to labor, in all faithfulness, for the idler shall be had in remembrance before the Lord. Now I the Lord am not well pleased with the inhabitants of Zion, for there are idlers among them; and their children are also growing up in wickedness: They also seek not earnestly the riches of eternity, but their eyes are full of greediness. These things ought not to be, and must be done away from among them: wherefore let my servant Oliver Cowdery, carry these sayings unto the land of Zion. And a commandment unto the land of Zion. I give unto them, that he that observeth not his prayers before the Lord in the season thereof, let him be had in remembrance be-fore the judge of my people. These sayings are true and faithful: wherefore transgress them not, neither take therefrom. Behold I am Alpha and Omega, and I come quickly: Amen. 1:21-23

EXTRACTS GIVEN 1831.

And again, every person who belongeth to this church of Christ shall observe to keep all the commandments and covenants of the church: and it shall come to pass, that if any persons among you shall kill, they shall be delivered up and dealt with according to the laws of the land; for remember, that he hath no forgiveness; and it shall be proven according to the laws of the land.

And if any man or woman shall commit adultery, he or she shall be tried before two elders of the church or more, and every word shall be established against him or her by two witnesses of the church, and not of the enemy. But if there are more than two witnesses it is better: but he or she shall be condemned by the mouth of two witnesses, and the elders shall lay the case before the church, and the church shall lift up their hands against him or her, that they may be dealt with ac-cording to the law of God. And if it can be, it is necessary that the hishop is present also. And thus ye shall do in all cases which shall come before you. And if a man or woman shall rob, he or she shall be delivered up unto the law of the land. And if he or she shall steal, he or she shall be delivered up unto the law of the land. And if he or she shall lie, he or she shall be delivered up unto the law of the land, If he or she do any manner of iniquity, he or she shall be delivered up unto the law, even that of God.

And if thy brother or sister offend thee, thou shalt take him or her between him or her and thee alone, and if he or she confeas, thou shalt be reconciled. And if he or she confess not, thou shalt deliver him or her up unto the church, not to the members but to the elders. And it shall be done in a meeting, and that not before the world. And if thy brother or sister offend many, he or she shall be chastened before many. And if any one offend openly, he or she shall be rebuked open. ly, that he or she may be ashamed. Again I say, hearken ye elders of my church, whom I have appointed: ye are not sent forth to be taught, but to teach the children of men the things which I have put into your hands by the power of my Spirit; and ments; even so: Amen.

ye are to be taught from on high. Sanctif? yourselves and ye shall be endowed with power, that ye may give even as I have spoken. Hearken ye, for behold the great day of the Lord is nigh at hand. For the day cometh that the Lord shall utter his voice out of heaven; the heavens shall shake and the earth shall tremble, and the trump of God shall sound both long and loud, and shall say to the sleeping nations, Ye saints arise and live: ye sinners stay and sleep until I shall call again. Wherefore gird up your loins, lest ye be found among the wicked. Lift up your voices and spare not. Call upon the nations to repent, both old and young, both bond and free; saying, Prepare yourselves for the great day of the Lord: for if I, who am a man, do lift up my voice and call upon you to repent, and ye hate me, what will ye say when the day cometh when the thunders shall utter their voices from the ends of the earth, speaking to the ears of all that live, saying: Repent, and prepare for the great day of the Lord! yea, and again, when the lightnings shall streak forth from the east unto the west, and shall utter forth their voices unto all that live, and make the ears of all tingle, that hear, saying these words: Repent ye, for the great day of the Lord is come!

And again, the Lord shall utter his voice out of heaven, saying: Hearken, O ye nations and of the earth, and hear the words of that God who made you. O ye nations of the earth, how often would I have gathered you together as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, but ye would not? How oft have I called upon youlby the mouth of my servants; and by the ministring of angels; and by mine own voice; and by the voice of thunderings; and by the voice of lightnings; and by the voice of tempests; and by the voice of earthquakes, and great hailstorms; and by the voice of famines, and pestilences of every kind; and by the great sound of a trump; and by the voice of judgment: and by the voice of mercy all the day long; and by the voice of glory, and honor, and the riches of eternal life; and would have saved you with an everlasting sal-vation, but ye would not? Behold the day has come, when the cup of the wrath of mine indignation is full.

Behold, verily I say unto you, that these are the words of the Lord your God: wherefore. labor ye, labor ye, in my vineyard for the last time: for the last time call upon the inhabitants of the earth, for in mine own due time will I come upon the earth in judgment: and my people shall be redeemed and shall reign with me on earth: for the great Millennial which I have spoken by the mouth of my servants, shall come; for satan shall be bound; and when he is loosed again, he shall only reign for a little season, and then com-eth the end of the earth: and he that liveth in righteousness, shall be changed in the twinkling of an eye; and the earth shall pass away so as by fire; and the wicked shall go away into unquenchable fire; and their end no man knoweth, on earth, or ever shall know, until they come before me in judgment.

Hearken ye to these words; behold I am Jesus Christ the Savior of the world. Treasure these things up in your hearts, and let the solemnities of eternity rest upon your minds. Be sober. Keep all my command.

THE BOOK OF MORONL

Every well-wisher to the cause of religion, every soul that is possessed of the least spark of divine love, and every disciple that ever had the Spirit of Christ move him to do good, must bear record of the truth of Moroni's last epistle to the Lamanites. He touches the continuation of the gifts according to the promise of the Savior, so truly; and of their being done away for want of faith, so exactly, according to the unbelief of the world now, that we copy it into the Star, as a fair sample of purity: yea, as a guide by which the world may inquire of the Lord and know of a truth, that these things are so.

Now I Moroni, write somewhat as seemeth me good; and I write unto my brethren, the Lamanites; and I would that they should know that more than four hundred and twenty years has passed away, since the sign was given of the coming of Christ. And And I seal up these records, after that I have spoken a few words by way of exhortation unto you. Behold, I would exhort you that when ye shall read these things, if it be wisdom in God that ye should read them, that ye would remember how merciful the Lord hath been un-to the children of men, from the creation of Adam, even down until the time that ye shall receive these things, and ponder it in your hearts. And when ye shall receive these things, I would exhort you that ye ask God, the Eternal Father, in the name of Christ if these things are not true; and if ye shall ask with a sincere heart, with real intent, having faith in Christ, and he will manifest the truth of it unto you, and by the power of the Holy Ghost, ye may know the truth of all things. And whatsoever thing is good, is just and true; wherefore, nothing that is good denieth the Christ, but acknowledgeth that he is. And ye may know that he is, by the power of the Holy Ghost; wherefore I would exhort you, that ye deny not the power of God: for he worketh by power, according to the faith of the children of men, the same to-day, and to-morrow, and forever. And again I exhort morrow, and forever. And again I exhort you, my brethren, that ye deny not the gifts and they come of God for they are many; from the same God. And there are different ways that these gifts are administered; but it is the same God which worketh all in all: and they are given by the manifestation of the spirit of God unto men, to profit them.-For behold, to one is given by the spirit of God, that he may teach the word of wisdom; and to another, that he may teach the word of knowledge by the same spirit; and to another, exceeding great faith; and to another, the gifts of healing by the same spirit. And again, to another, that he may work mighty miracles; and agaiu, to another, that he may prophesy concerning all things; and again, to another, the beholding of angels and ministering spirits; and again, to another, all kinds of tongues; and again, to another, the interpetation of languages and of diverse And all these gifts come kinds of tongues. by the spirit of Christ; and they come unto every man severally according as he will. And I would exhort you, my beloved brethren, that ye remember that every good gift cometh of Christ. And I exhort you, my beloved brethren, that ye remember that he is the same yesterday, to-day, and forever, and that all these gifts of which I have spoken, which are sipiritual, never will be done away, even as long as the world shall stand, only according to the unbelief of the children of men. Wherefore, there must be faith; and if there must be faith, there must also be hope; and if there must be hope, there must also be charity; and except ye have charity, ye can in no wise be saved in the kingdom of God; neither can ye be saved in the kingdom of God; neither can ye be saved in the kingdom of God, if ye have no faith; neither can ye if ye have no hope; and if ye have no hope, ye must needs be in despair; and despair cometh because of iniquity. And Christ truly said unto our fathers, If ye have faith, ye can do all things which is expedient nuto me.

And now I speak unto all the ends of the earth, that if the day cometh that the power and gifts of God shall be done away among you, it shall be because of unbelief. And wo be unto the children of men, if this be the case: for there shall be none that doeth good among you, no not one. For if there be one among you that doeth good, he shall work by the power and gifts of God. And wo unty them which shall do these things away and die, for they die in their sins, and they can-not be saved in the kingdom of God; and I speak it according to the words of Christ, and I lie not. And I exhort you to remember these things: for the time speedily cometh that ye shall know that I lie not, for ye shall see me at the bar of God: and the Lord God will say unto you, Did I not declare my words unto you, which was written by this man, like as one crying from the dead !yea, even as one speaking out of the dust, I declare these things unto the fulfilling of the And behold, they shall proceed prophecies. forth out of the mouth of the everlasting God; and his word shall hiss forth from generation to goneration. And God shall shew unto you, that that which I have written is true. And again I would exhort you that ye would come unto Christ, and lay hold upon every good gift, and touch not the evil gift nor the unclean thing. And awake and arise the unclean thing. And awake and arise from the dust, O Jerusalem; yes, and put on thy beautiful garments, O daughter of Zion, and strengthen thy stakes, and enlarge thy borders forever, that thou mayest no more be confounded, that the covenants of the Eternal Father, which he hath made unto Vea, Come unto Christ, and be fulfilled.---Vea, come unto Christ, and be perfected in him, and deny yourselves of all ungodliness; and if ye shall deny yourselves of all ungod-liness, and love God with all your might, wind attend to the the the second second mind and strength, then is his grace sufficient for you, that by his grace ye may be perfect in Christ: and if by the grace of God ye are perfect in Christ, ye can in no wise deny the power of God. And again, if ye by the grace of God are perfect in Christ, and deny not his power, then are ye sanctified in Christ by the race of God, through the shedding of the blood of Christ, which is in the covenant of the Father, unto the remission of your sins, that ye become holy without spot. DESCRIPTION OF LAKE SUPERIOR, Lake Superior, without the aid of any great effort of imagination, may be considered as the inexhaustible spring from whence, thro' ages, the St. Lawrence has continued to de-rive its ample stream. This immense lake, unequalled in magnitude, by any collection of fresh water upon the globe, is situated be-tween the parallels of 56 deg. 25 min. and 49 deg. 1 min. north latitude, and the meridians of 84 deg. 34 min. and 92 deg. 14 min. west longitude. Its length, measured on a curved line through the center, is about 350 geographical miles, its extreme breadth 140, and its circumference, in following the sinuosities of the coast, about 1500. Its surface is about 627 feet above the tide water of the Atlantic; but the shore exhibits almost conclusive indications of its having been, in former ages, as much, perhaps, as 40 or 50 feet above its present level: Various soundings have been taken from 80 to 150 fathoms, but its greatest depth probably exceeds 200 fathoms; thus demonstrating the bottom of the lake to be nearly 600 feet below the level of the ocean. The chrystaline transparency of its waters is unrivalled, and such as to render rocks at an extraordinary" depth distinctly visible. The bottom of the lake chiefly consists of a very adhesive clay, which speedily indurates by atmospheric exposure, and contains small shells of the species at present existing in the lake. A sea almost of itself, this lake is subject to many vicissitudes of that element, for here the storm rages, and the billows break, here the storm rages, and the billows break, with a violence scarcely surpassed by the tempests of the ocean, but is not subject to the oceanic phenomena displayed by an un-erring and periodical flux and reflux. Its expansive surface, however, yields to the in-fluence of heavy winds; so that, when these blow strong from one quarter, they produce a very percentible rise of the lake in an once a very perceptible rise of the lake in an oppc-site direction. The spring freshets are also known to have occasioned a rapid swelling of the waters, which has been especially conspicuous after a rigorous winter. That its waters were once salt is by no means unlikely, and the supposition stands, in some degree, supported by the nature of the fish that inhabit them, and the marine shells that are found along the beaches or imbedded in the shores .-- [Bouchette's British Dominions in North America.]

TRANSMIGRATION OF SOULS. HINDOOISM.

The Hindoo creed derives its peculiar character from the tenet, so generally different throughout the east, respecting the transmigration of souls. According to this belief, the spirit of man, after death, is not conveyed into a different state of existence, but goes to animate some other mortal body, or even one belonging to the arute creation. The receptacle into which it then enters is decided by the course of action followed during the present life. The virtuous man may rise from an humble cast to the mak ef a princa or even of a Brantin, while the depraved not only sink in degration of human beings, but even have their souls enclosed in the bodies of animals. With this view, the Hindoo oracles endeavor to establish a certian conformity between the offences committed and the condition under which they are expiated.— The thief is converted into some animal addicted to steal the articles which were the wonted object of his own depredation. The pilferer of grain is metamorphosed into a rat; while he who stole roots or fruit be-comes an ape. The person thus lowered in the scale of being, must pass through a long succession of degraded births ere he re-assume the human form and endowments. This belief is so familiar with the Hindoo, that his conversation is filled with allusions to it. lf he sees any one suffering under evils that seem unmerited, he at once pronounces them the penalty of sin committed in a previous stage and form of existence. Even on seeing a cow or deg receive a severe beating, he infers that the soul which animates them must, under its human shape, have committed some offence worthy of such castigation.-Wives who consider themselves injuriously treated by their husbands, or servants by their masters, indulge the carnest hope, that in some future state of being they shall exchange conditions, and obtain the opportuni-ty of a signal retaliation.—Edinburg Cabi-net Library.

COMPARISON BETWEEN HEATHEN, ISM AND CHRISTIANITY,

CONTINUED.

Revealed seligion removes these difficulties, and decides the question. It tells us that there are two beings in man, and, if I may express myself so, two different men, the material man, and the immaterial man. The scriptures spake on these principles, thus; "The dust shall return to the earth as it was," this is the material man: "The spirit shall return to God who gave it," this is the immaterial man. "Fear not them which kill the body," that is to say, the material man: "fear him which is able to destroy the soul," that is, the immaterial man. "We are willing to be absent from the body," that is, from the material man: "and to be present with the Lord," that is to say, to have the immaterial man disembodied. "They stoned Stephen," that is, the material man: "calling upon God, and saying, Lord Jesus, receive my spirit," that is to say, receive the immaterial man.

2 The disciple of natural religion can obtain only an imperfect knowledge of the obligations, or duties of man. Natural religion may indeed conduct him to a certain point, and tell him that he ought to love his bene: he factor, and various similar maxims. But is natural religion, think ye, sufficient to account for that contrariety, of which every man is conscious, that opposition between inclination and obligation? A very solid ar-gument, I grant, in favor of moral rectitude ariseth from observing, that, to whatever de-gree a man may carry his sin, whatever ef-forts he may make to eradicate those seeds of risthe form in the bardwhile those seeds of virtue from his heart, which nature has sown there, he cannot forbear venerating virtue, and recoiling at vice. This is certainly vir-a proof, that the Author of our being meant to forbid vice, and to enjoin virtue. But is there no room for complication of the second there no room for complaint? Is there nothing specious in the following objection ?-As, in spite of all my endeavors to destroy virtuous dispositions, I cannot help respecting virtue, ye infer, that the Author of my being intended I should be virtuous; so as, in spite of all my endeavors to eradicate vice, I cannot help loving vice, have I not reason for my being designed I should be vicious; or, at least, that he cannot justly impute guilt to me for performing those actions, which proceed from some principles, that were born with me? Is there no show of reason in this famous sophism? Reconcile the God of nature with the God of religion. Explain how the God of religion can forbid what the God of nature inspires; and how he, who follows those dictates, which the God of nature inspires, can be punished for so doing by the God of religion.

It at-The Gospel unfolds this mystery. tributes this seed of corruption to the depravity of nature. It attributeth the respect, that we feel for virtue, to the remains of the image of God, in which we were formed, and which can never be entirely effaced. Because we were born in sin, the Gospel concludes, that we ought to apply all our attentive endeavors to eradicate the seeds of cor-And, because the image of the ruption. Creator is partly erased from our hearts, the gospel concludes, that we ought to give ourselves wholly to the retracing of it, and so to answer the excellence of our extraction.

3. A disciple of natural religion can obtain only an imperfect knowledge of the duration of man, whether his soul be immortal, or whether it be involved in the ruin of matter. Reason, I allow, advanceth some solid argu-iments in proof of the doctrine of the immor-tality of the soul. For what necessity is there for supposing, that the soul, which is a spiritual, indivisible, and immaterial being, that constitutes a whole, and is a distinct being, although united to a portion of matter, should cease to exist, when its union with the body is dissolved? A positive act of the Creator is necessary to the annihilation of a substance. The annihilating of a being, that subsists, requireth an act of power similar to that which gave it existence at first. Now far from having any ground to believe that God will cause his power to intervene to annihilate our souls, every thing, that we know, persuadeth us, that he himself hath engraven characters of immortality on them, and that he will preserve them forever. Enter into thy heart frail creaturel see, feel, consider those grand ideas, those immortal designs, that thirst for existing, which a thousand ages cannot quench, and in these lines and points behold the finger of thy Creator wrifing a promise of immortality to thee. But how solid soever these arguments may be, however evident in themselves, and striking to a philosopher, they are objectionable, because they are not popular, but above vulgar minds, to whom the bare terms, spirituality and existence, are entirely barbarous, and convey no meaning at all.

Moreover, the union between the operations of the soul, and those of the body, is so close that all the philosophers in the world cannot certainly determine, whether the operations of the body ceasing, the operation of the soul do not cease with them. I see a body in perfect health, the mind, therefore, The same body is disordered, and is sound. The brain the mind is disconcerted with it. is filled, and the soul is instantly confused. The brisker the circulation of the blood is, the quicker the ideas of the mind are, and Inferring, in my turn, that, the Author of | body; and how difficult is it to persuade one's self, that the soul, which was effected by every former motion of the body, will not be dissipated by its entire dissolution!

Are they the vulgar only, to whom philosophical arguments for the immortallity of the soul appear deficient in evidence? Do not geniuses require, at least, an explanation of what rank ye assign to beasts, on the principle, that nothing capable of ideas and conceptions, can be involved in a dissolution of mat-ter? Nobody would venture to affirm now, in an assembly of philosophers, what was some time ago maintained with great warmth that beasts are mere self-moving mashines. Experience seems to demonstrate the falsity of the metaphysical reasonings, that have been proposed in favor of this opinion; and we cannot observe the actions of beasts, without being inclined to infer one of these two consequences; either the spirit of man is mortal, like his body; or the souls of beasts are immortal, like those of mankind.

Revelation dissipates all our obscurities. and teacheth us clearly, and without a may be, that God willeth our immortality. carries our thoughts forward to a future state, as to a fixed period, whither the greatest part of the promises of God tend. It commendeth us indeed, to consider all the blessings of this life, the aliments that nourish us, the rays which enlighten us, the air that we breathe, sceptres, crowns, and kingdoms, as effects of the liberality of God, and as grounds of our gratitude. But, at the same time, it requireth us to surmount the most magnificent earthly objects. It commandeth us to consider light, air, and aliments, crowns, sceptres. and kingdoms, as unfit to constitute the falsity of a soul created in the image of the blessed God, and with whom the blessed God hath formed a close and intimate union. It assureth us that an age of life cannot fill the wish of duration which it is the noble prereg-It doilt ative of an immortal soul to form. not ground the doctrine of immortality on metaphysical speculations, nor on complex arguments, uninvestigable by the greatest part of mankind, and which always leave some doubts in the minds of the ablest philoso-The gospel grounds the doctrine on phers. the only principle that can support the weight with which it is encumbered. The principle; which I mean, is the will of the Creator, who, having created our souls at first by an act of his will, can either eternally preserve them or absolutely annihilate them whether they be material, or spiritual, mortal, or im-mortal, by nature. Thus the disciple of revealed religion doth not float between doubt and assurance, hope and fear, as the disciple of nature doth. He is not obliged to leave the most interesting question, that poor mortals can agitate, undecided; whether their souls perish with their bodies or survive their ruins. He does not say, as Cyrus said to his children; I know not how to persuade myself, that the soul lives in this mortal body and ceaseth to be when the body expires. am more inclined to think, that it requires after death more penetration and purity. He doth not say, as Socrates said to his judges; And now we are going, I to suffer death, and ye to enjoy life. God only knows which is the best. He doth not say as Sicero said, the more extensive its knowledge. At length speaking on this important article; I do not death comes and dissolves all the parts of the pretend to say, that what I affirm is as infallible as the Pythian oricle, I speak only by conjecture. The disciple of revelation, authorized by the testimony of Jesus Christ, "who hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel:" boldly affirms, "though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day. We, that are in this tabernacle, do groan, being burdened; not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life. I know whom I have believed, and I am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him, against when I have that day." III. We are next to consider the disciple and the disciple of revealof natural religion, and the disciple of reveal-ed religion, at the tribunal of God as penitents soliciting for pardon. The former cannot find even by feeling after it in natural re. ligion, according to the language of St. Paul, the grand mean of reconciliation, which God hath given to the church; I mean the sacrifice of the cross. Reason, indeed, discovers that a man is guilty as the confess-sions, and acknowledgements, which the Heathens made of their crimes, prove. It discerns that a sinner deserves punishment, as the remorse and fear, with which their consciences were often excruciated, demon-strate. It presumes, indeed, that God will yield to the entreaties of his creatures, 88 their prayers, and temples, and altars testify. It even goes so far as to perceive the necessity of satisfying divine justice, this their sacrifices, this their burnt offerings, this their human victims, this the rivers of blood, that flowed on their altars, show.

But, how likely soever all these speculations may be, they form only a systematic body without a head; for no positive promise of pardon from God himself belongs to them. The mystery of the cross is invisible; for only God could reveal that, because only God could plan; and only he could execute that profound relief. How could human reason, alone and unassisted have discovered the mystery of redemption. when, alas! after an is fallible God hath revealed it, reason is absorbed in its depth, and needs all its submission to receive it, as an article of faith?

But that, which natural religion cannot attain, revealed religion clearly discovers. Revelation exhibits a God-Man, dying for the sins of mankind and setting grace before every penitent sinner: grace for all mankind. The The schools have often agitated the questions, and sometimes indiscreetly, whether Jesus Christ died for all mankind, or only for a small number? Whether his blood were shed for all, who hear the gospel, or for those only, who believe it? We will not dispute these points now: but we will venture to affirm, that there is not an individual of all our hearers, who hath not a right to say to him-self, if I believe, I shall be saved; I shall be. lieve if I endeavor to believe. Consequently, The gospel reveals grace, that pardons the most atrocious crimes, those that have the most fatal influences. Although ye have denied Christ with Peter, betrayed him with Judas, persecuted with Saul; yet the blood of a God-Man is sufficient to obtain your par-don, if ye be in the covenant of redemption. Grace, which is accessible at all times, at brethren; woe be to you if, abasing this re-flection, ye delay your return to God till the last moments of your lives, when your repentance will be difficult, not to say imprac-ticable and impossible! But it is always certain, that God every instant opens the treasures of his mercy, when sinners return to him by sincere repentance. Grace, capable of terminating all those melancholy thoughts that are produced by the fear of being abandoned by God in the midst of our race, and of having the work of salvation left imperfect. For, after he hath given us a present so magnificent, what can he refuse?

COX'S TRAVELS.

Any thing relating to travelling is directly within our province: and were it not so, our interest would scarcely be diminished, in the following: Mr. Ross Cox in his six years peregrinations, and singular adventures, and painful sufferings, among various tribes of Indians on the Columbia river, hitherto unknown; all of which have been thrown before the public in the shape of a goodly octavo, by the Messrs. Harpers. Numerous extracts had previously come to us, and been published from the London magazines, & our minds were prepared for a work of originality & commanding interest. In this we were not disappointed. Mr. C. on his voyage out, in 1811 12, stopped at the Sandwich Islands, of which, and of the manners and customs of the inhabitants, he presents some highly amusing sketches. He next proceeds to the northwest coast, reaches the Columbia river, ascends it for some distance, and enters upon a course of adventures in that remote region, that are not only extremely curious, but in some instances almost marvellous. He then journies through the interior, and arrives at Montreal in 1817.

"In general appearance, and in cortain characteristics, the American savage is the same from Chili to Athabasca, and from Nootka to Labrador. There is an indescribable coldness about him, that cheeks familiarity; he is a stranger to our hopes and fears our joys and our sorrows. His eyes are seldom moistened by a tear, or his feelings relaxed by a smile; and whether he basks beneath the vertical sum on the burning plains of the Amazon, or freezes in eternal winter on the ice bound shores of the Arctic ocean, the same piercing black eyes, and stern immobility of countenance, equally set at nought the skill of the physiognomist. But in mcrai character and personal habits, the various tribes, even living adjacent to each other, differ almost as much as do civilized communities. Most of the tribes at the mouth of the Columbia river, for instance, are a trea-cherous, misshapen, thievish set, who smear themselves with fish-oil, and live in filthy hovels, while, as an exception, there are bands which, like the Chinooks, are well formed, frank in their manners, cleanly in their persons, and every way trustworthy .-These ingenious people have houses of wood eighty feet in length, by forty feet broad, di-vided by partitions 18 feet high; they construct cances 50 feet in length, which will carry 30 persons; and besides the usual offensive arms of the Indians, they wear armor of elk skin, with leather helmets, so prepared as to be every instant of life. Wos be to you, my arrow proof, and frequently even turn a ball.

Again, in advancing into the interior, some miserable, squallid looking, skulking tribes, who live by trapping, are to be found in the immediate vicinity of a thriving race of men, whose habits and appearance are totally the reverse. The last are generally, those who hunt the buffalo on horseback, and with frames invigorated by the chase and spirits nerved by the constant encounter of peril, are equally fearless in character and noble in their carriage. Both on the coast and in the interior, some tribes are entirely absolved from the restraints of chastity, while others punish incontinency with death; many clans again are addicted to stealing and lying, while these vices are held in such abhorrence by others that those who commit them are driven from their communities. Cruelty to their enemies and fortitude under the infliction of pain, seems to be the only qualities which are common to all.

Forty or fifty years ago, while living in their ancient rudeness, and practicing customs which now remain only as vestiges, the Cherokees were accustomed to be addressed, when assembled in their town houses, by certain individuals who are to be found in every village. Whether these individuals were a distinct class of men and set apart for the special purpose of talking, and relating traditions to the people, or whether they were nothing more than the leaders or head men of the villages, we are not prepared to say.

It is a fact, however, which many living witnesses can testify, in addition to many very interesting particulars (with which, perhaps, we may hereafter entertain our readers) related of these men, that they actually foretold the events which are now taking place in relation to the south western Indians. It was their custom, on the occasion above mentioned, to take their station (some say they would ascend the town house, wearing leggens made of dressed, but unsmoked deerskin, and fanning themselves with the wing of some particular bird) and relating the traditions of the nations to the people.

The language they employed was somewhat different from the one in common use, many words and phrases being interspersed in their speeches which were not understood by the mass of their hearers, especially when mentioning the names of places where the Cherokees had formerly resided. They would tell of the events which had happened to their forefathers and would bring their account to time in which they lived, when a new era in their history would commence in consequence of approaching settlements of the whites-

In speaking of the future destiny of their nation, they foretold with a remarkable exactness the principal events which have since taken place in its history. This part of their address was something like the following.

Our elder brother [meaning the white peoyle-using the singular for the plural] has become our neighbor: he is now near us, and already occupies our ancient habitations-But this is as our forefathers told us-They said my [our] feet are turned towards the west-they are never to turn round. Now mark what our forefathers told us. Your elder brother will settle around you-he will encroach upon your lands, and then ask you to sell them to him. When you give him a part of your country, he will not be satisfied but of for more than the set of the set of the set but ask for more. In process of time he will ask you to become like him-He will tell you that your mode of life is not as good as his-Whereupon you will be induced to make great roads through the nation, by which he act have free access to you. He will learn your women to spin and weave and make clothes, and learn to cultivate the earth. He will even teach you his language, and learn you, to read and write, &c. &c. But these are but the means to destroy you, and to eject you from your habitations. He will point you to the west, but you will find no resting place there, for your elder brother will drive you from one place to another until you get to the western waters. These things will certainly happen, but it will be when we are dead and gone. We shall not live to see and dead and gone. feel the misery which will come upon you.

Such in substance was a portion of their speeches, and it is that which we have denominated prophecy, and as for the fulfilment, we leave it to the reader to judge for himself.

It is, perhaps, difficult to say upon what grounds the forebodings of untutored men were predicated. It will hardly do to say that they judged from the past conduct of the whites towards other Indian tribes, because they were in a great measure ignorant of the behavior of the whites, except towards the Cherokees themselves, and there was nothing in that behavior, at that time, to excite suspicion that the events which they seem to have foreseen would actually take place. [Cherokee Phœnix.]

IF REMARKS.—Notwithstanding the Indians may doubt, or even fear the policy of the government of the United States, in gathering and planting them in one place, &c. —they may be assured, that the object is good and they will soon be convinced that it is the best thing that has come to pass among them for many generations.—[Star.]

THE TRIBE OF JOSEPH.

Vol. I.

No. 6.]

Having given a sketch of the history of the ten tribes, in our last, the next subject which presents itself, is the tribe of Joseph. The Lord was with Joseph in his youth and not only his dreams, one of which says, that the sun and moon, and the eleven stars made obeisance to him, but much of his life was a type of future events in relation to his seed. His being sold unto the Egyptians, was a wise plan of the Lord to show his power to Israel, and to convince the world, that he is merciful to such as keep his commandments, and seek the path of endless virtue; yea, all the work-manship of his hands. The history of Joseph, in full, cannot at present be given; but in part, it will occupy a great place in the hearts of such as seek diligently the kingdom of God and the welfate of scattered Israel. It is so well known that Joseph was the beloved of his father, that we can quote the words of the good old man pronounced upon him, as what should befall him, or come to pass among his seed, in the last days, without the fear of contradiction, and with a great deal of pleasure, as well as satisfaction, knowing that the very days have arrived for the fulfilment of that prophecy: Joseph is a fruitful bough, a fruitful bough by a well, whose branches run over the wall: The archers have sorely grieved grieved him, and shot at him, and hated him: But his bow abode in strength, and the arms of his hands were made strong by the hands of the mighty God of Jacob: (from thence is the Shepherd the Stone of Israel:) Even by the God of thy father, who shall help thee, and by the Al-mighty, who shall bless thee with blessings of heaven above, blessings of the deep that lieth under, blessings of the breast and of the womb; The blessings of thy father have pre-vailed above the blessings of my progenitors unto the utmost bound of the everlasting hills; they shall be on the head of Joseph, and on the crown of the head of him that was separate from his brethren.

This is one of the greatest prophecies in the hible, and contains more of the economy of the Lord than will be seen till the Redcemer comes to dwell on the earth. What an admirable expression is that; the branches run over the wall; as plain as to have said, some of his seed shall cross the ocean. But the most profound is, From thence is the Shepherd, the Stone of Israel. It could not mean the birth of the Savior, for Paul says, it is evident our Lord sprang from the the tribe of Judah: But when Paul said to the Romans, There shall come out of Sion the Deliverer, and turn away ungodliness from Jacob, he must have meant the. Deliverer, which is to come and gather his sheep into his fold, and becomes the good Shepherd: and according to the blessing of Moses, Joseph is the firstling of his bullock. Let us read it: And of Joseph he said, Blessed of the Lord be his land, for the precious things of heaven, for the dew, and for the deep that coucheth beneath, and for the precious fruits brought forth by the sun, and for the precious things put forth by the moon, and for the chief things of the ancien; mountains, and for the precious things of the lasting hills, and for the precious things of the earth and fulness thereof, and for the good will of him that dwclt in the bush: los the blossing come upon the head of Joseph, and upon the top of the head of him that was separated from his brethren. His glory is like the firstling of his bullock, and his horns are like the horns of unicorns: with them he shall push the people together from the ends of the earth: and they are the ten thousands of Ephraim, and they are the thousands of Manasseh.

[Whole No. 6.

The beauty, the wisdom, and the extent of this blessing upon the seed of Joseph, have never yet been found out by the world, nor fully understood by all the saints. In the first place, Moses says, Blessed of the Lord be his land, &c. And why? Because it is the land on which the saints of the living God shall gather in the last days, to receive the Savior at his second coming. It is blessed of the Lord, too, for the precious things of heaven: the fulness of the gospel in the book of Mormon: for instance, I am a descendant of Joseph, which was carried captive into Egypt. And great were the covenants of the Lord, which he made unto Joseph: wherefore, Joseph truly saw our day. And he obtained a promise of the Lord, that out of the fruit of his loins, the Lord God would raise up a righteous branch unto the house of Israel: not the Messiah, but a branch which was to be broken off: neverthless, to be remembered in the cov-enats of the Lord, that the Messiah should be made manifest unto them in the latter days, in the spirit of power, unto the bringing of thèm out of darkness unto light; yea, out of hidden darkness and out of captivity unto freedom. For Joseph truly testified, saying: A seer shall the Lord my God raise up, which shall be a choice seer unto the fruit of my Yea, Joseph truly said, thus saith the loins. Lord unto me: A choice seer will I raise up out of the fruit of thy loins, and he shall be esteemed highly among the fruit of thy loins. And unto him will I give commandment, that he shall do a work for the fruit of thy loins, his brethren, which shall be of great worth unto them, even to the bringing of them to the knowledge of the covenants which I have made with thy fathers. And I will give him a commandment, that he shall do none other work, save the work which I shall command him. And I will make him great in mine eyes: for he shall do my work. And he shall be great like unto Moses, whom I have said I would raise up unto you, to deliver my people, O house of Israel. And Moses will I raise up, to deliver thy people out of the land of Egypt. But a seer will I raise up out of the fruit of thy loins: and unto him will I give power to bring forth my word unto the seed of thy loins; and not to the bringing forth my word only, saith the Lord, but to the convincing them of my word, which shall have already gone forth among them. Wherefore, the fruit of my loins shall write; and the fruit of the loins of Judah shall write; and that which shall be written by the fruit of thy loins, and also that which shall be written by the fruit of the loins of Judah, shall grow together, unto the confounding of false doctrines.

and laying down of contentions, and establishing peace among the fruit of thy loins, and bringing them to the knowledge of their fathers in the latter days; and also to the knowledge of my covenants, saith the Lord. And out of weakness he shall be made strong, in that day when my work shall commence among all my people. unto the restoring thee, O house of Israel, saith the Lord. And thus prophesied Joseph, saying: Behold, that seer will the Lord bless; and they that seek to destroy him, shall be confounded: for this promise, of which I have obtained of the Lord, of the fruit of thy loins, shall be fulfilled .-Behold I am sure of the fulfilling of this prom-And his name shall be called after me; ise. and it shall be after the name of his father. And he shall be like unto me; for the thing which the Lord shall bring forth by his hand, by the power of the Lord shall bring my peo-ple unto salvation; yea, thus prophesied Jo-seph. I am sure of this thing, even as I am sure of the promise of Moses; for the Lord hath said unto me, I will preserve thy seed forever. And the Lord hath said, I will raise up a Moses; aud I will give power unto hlm in a rod; and I will give judgement unto him Yet I will not loose his tongue, in writing. that he shall speak much: for I will not make him mighty in speaking. But I will write unto him my law, by the finger of mine own hand; and I will make a spokesman for him. And the Lord said unto me also, I will raise up unto the fruit of thy loins; and I will And I, behold, make for him a spokesman. I will give unto him, that he shall write the writing of the fruit of thy loins, unto the fruit of thy loins; and the spokesman of thy loins shall declare it. And the words which he shall write, shall be the words which is expedient in my wisdom, should go forth unto the fruit of thy loins. And it shall be as if the fruit of thy loins had cried unto them from the dust: for I know their faith. And they shall cry from the dust; yea, even repentance unto their brethren, even that after many generations have gone by them. And it shall come to pass that their cry shall go, even according to the simpleness of their words. Because of their faith, their words shall proceed forth out of my mouth unto their brethren, which are the fruit of thy loins: and the weakness of their words will I make strong in their faith, unto the remembering of my covenant which I made unto thy fath-

Thus spake Lehi to his son Joseph, and who is there that cannot rejoice when he reads such a glorious and sacred promise? When we look abroad in the earth and view the extent of the Lord's dominions in this world; when we reflect upon the space of time that the Lord has allowed the sons of men to set these dominions in order, by giving them the privilege of the gospel; and when we consider how much the Lord has promised to such as build up his kingdom on the earth, we are astonished! When Jacob, or as he was named, Israel, blessed the children of Joseph, he crossed his hands and put Ephraim the youngest first, saying his seed shall become a multitude of nations: and Lehi says, repeating the words of Joseph of Egypt, the fruit of my loins shall write; and the fruit of the loins of Judah shall write, &c. and the writings shall grow together. Let us now compare these the Lord's reading sticks [or records] for the great sayings with the prophecy of Ezekiel: benefit of Israel. The circumstance of Ja-

Moreover thou son of man, take thee one stick, and write upon it, For Judah, and for the children of Israel his companions: then take another stick, and write upon it, For Jo-seph, the stick of Ephraim, and for all the house of Israel his companions: And join them one to another into one stick; and they shall become one in thy hand. And when the children of thy people shall speak unto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shew us what thou meanest by these? Say unto them, thou meanest by these? Say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God: Behold i will take the stick of Joseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellows, and will put them with him, even with the stick of Judah, and make them one stick, and they shall be one in my hand. And the sticks whereon thou writest shall be one in thy hand before their eyes. And say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God; Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen, whither they be gone, and will gather them on every side, and bring them into their own land: And I will make them one nation in the land upon the mountains of Israel; and one king shall be king to them all: and they shall be no more two nations, neither shall they be divided into two kingdoms any more at all: Neither shall they defile themselves any more with their idols, nor with their detestable things, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will save them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they have sinned, and will cleanse them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their God. And David my servant shall be King over them; and they all shall have one S. epherd: they shall also walk in my judgements, and observe my statutes, and do them. And they shall And they shall dwell in the land that I have given unto Jacob my servant, wherein your fathers have dwelt, and they shall dwell therein, even they, and their children, and their children's children forever: and my servant David shall be their prince forever. Moreover 1 will make a covenant of peace with them; it shall be an everlasting covenant with them: and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my sanctuary in the midst of them for ever more. My tabernacle also shall be with them: yea, I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And the heathen shall know that I the Lord do sanctify Israel, when my sanctuary shall be in the midst of them for evermore.

So, then, it appears, that Ephraim, besides becoming a multitude of nations, writes and keeps one of the sticks or books of the Lord. The stick of Judah, the bible, is about as much acknowledged and received as the Sayior was, when he came to fulfit the words of the prophets, to be offered a sacrifice for sin. But there is another light, which presents itself to us, which ought not to be omitted. Say, our Savior came through the tribe of Judah, and the Jews kept the record or the bible, as it is called, for the scepter was not to depart from Judah, nor a lawgiver from between his feet, until Shiloh come; and then, that the Redeemer, shall come the second time, to the tribe of Joseph; and they have also written and kept a record, called the book of Mormon, for, from thence is the Shepherd the Stone of Israel: who can mistake what Eze-kiel meant by the Two Sticks? They are cob's serving seven years for Rachel, and his great disappointment when finding himself wedded to Leah, may with propriety be con-nected with the history of Joseph, as one of the great similes of the Lord to show great things to some, according to their faith, and nothing to others agreeable to the blindness of their minds. Passing, however, this with many other circumstances, which are connected with the well-being and final glory of Juseph, but, which can be sought out and read by the humble searcher for truth, with pleasure, in the bible and book of Mormon, we proveed to quote the word of the Lord, in relation to saving of the House of Joseph; for Joseph may now be considered as bearing the ensign of the Lord to the nations. As the Lord hath written unto Ephraim the great things of his law, and they are counted as a strange thing: so also, is the Lord preparing to show unto him the glory of the last days; for his horns are the horns of Unicorns, with them he shall push the people together from the ends of the earth. Now what a sublime figure this is! The sons of Joseph among the nations, to come forth as the servants of the Lord, in the last days and push the people to Zion; for at the same time, saith the Lord, will I be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be my people. Thus saith the Lord, The people which were left of the sword found grace in the wilderness; even Israel, when I went to cause him to rest.-The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, say-ing, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with loving-kindness have I drawn thee. Again I will build thee, and thou shall be built, O Virgin of Israel; thou shalt again be adcreed with thy tabrets, and shalt go forth in the dances of them that make merry. Thou shalt yet plant vines upon the mountains of Samaria: the planters shall plant, and shall eat them as common things. For there shall be a day, that the watchmen upon the mount Ephraim shall cry, Arise ye, and let us go up to Zion unto the Lord our God. For thus saith the Lord; Sing with gladness for Jacob, and shout among the chief of the nations: publish ye, praise ye, and say, O Lord, save thy people, the remnant of Israel. Behold, I will bring them from the north country, and gather them from the coasts of the earth, and with them the blind and the lame, the women with child and her that travaileth with child together: a great company shall return thither. They shall come with weeping, and with supplications will I lead them; I will cause them to walk by the rivers of waters in a strait way, wherein they shall not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is my first born. Hear the word of the Lord, O ye nations, and declare it in the isles afar off, and say, He that scattered Israel will gather him, and keep him, as a shepherd doth his flock. For the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and ransomed him from the hand of him that was stronger Therefore they shall come and than he. sing in the height of Zion, and shall flow together to the goodness of the Lord, for wheat, and for wine, and for oil, and for the young of the flock and of the herd: and their soul shall be as a watered garden: and they shall not sorrow any more at all. Then shall the virgin rejoice in the dance, both young men and old together: for I will turn their mourning into joy, and will comfort them, and make them rejoice from their sorrow. And I will satiate the soul of the priests with fatness, and my people shall be satisfied with my goodness, saith the Lord. Thus saith the Lord: a voice was heard in Ramah, lamentation, and bitter weeping; Rachel weeping for her children, refused to be comforted for her Thus saith children, becouse they were not. the Lord; Refrain thy voice from weeping, and thine eyes from tears: for thy work shall be rewarded, saith the Lord; and they shall come again from the land of the enemy. And there is hope in thine end, saith the Lord, that thy children shall come again to their own border. I have surely heard Ephraim bemoaning himself thus; Thou hast chastised me, and I was chastised, as a bullock unaccustomed to the yoke: turn thou me, and I shall be turned; for thou art the Lord my God. Surely after that I was turned, I repented; and after that I was instructed, I smote on my thigh: I was ashamed, yea, even confounded, because I did bear the reproach of my youth. Is Ephraim my dear son? is he a pleasant child? for since I spuke against him, I do earnestly remember him still: therefore my bowels are troubled for him; I will surely have mercy upon him saith the Lord.

Now mark, Ephraim is the first born: the Lord's dear son, and a picasant child, and the Lord will have compassion upon him, notwithstanding it is said by the prophet Hosea, that they, (the seed of Ephraim) shall be wanderers among the nations: notwithstanding Ephraim is joined to idols; let him alone; notwithstanding Ephraim hath mixed himself among the people; notwithstanding Ephraim is a cake not turned; notwithstanding Ephraim is like a silly dove without a heart; and notwithstanding Ephraim is a heifer taught, and loves to tread out the grain, Ephraim shall ride, for the Lord hath spoken it. Half the tribes of Manasseh, being absent near the lost tribes in the region of Arsareth, we shall not pretend to say as much in relation to Manasseh as Ephraim.

But to make all things plain let us remember, what the Lord has said in relation to Joseph as a house, or particular portion of Is-rael: that he would save it. The words of Zechariah are in point: I will save the house of Joseph, and I will bring them again and place them: for I have mercy upon them; and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will hear them. And they of Ephraim shall be like a mighty man and their heart shall rejoice as through wine; yea their children shall see it, and be glad; their heart shall rejoice in the Lord. I will hiss for them, and gather them: for I have redeemed them: and they shall increase as they have increased. And I will sow them among the people: and they shall remember me in far countries; and they shall live with their children, and turn again. I will bring them again also out of the land ... of Egypt, and gather them out of Assyria; and 1 will bring them into the land of Gilead and Lebanon; and place shall not be found And he shall pass through the for them. sea with affliction, and shall smite the waves in the sea, and all the deeps of the river shall dry up: and the pride of Assyria shall be brought down, and the sceptre of Egypt shall depart away. And L will strengthen them in the Lord; and they shall walk up and down in his name, suith the Lord.

How plain the Lord has told the world, that he would do great things for the house of Joseph, and well might the Psalmist ex-claim: Give ear, O Shepherd of Israel, thou that leadest Joseph like a flock; thou that dwellest between the cherubims, shine forth. Before Ephraim and Benjamin and Manasseh stir up thy strength, and come and save us. Turn us again, O God, and cause thy face to shine; and we shall be saved. O Lord God of hosts, how long wilt thou be angry against the prayer of thy people? Thou feedest them with the bread of tears; and givest them tears to drink in great measure. Thou maktears to drink in great measure. est us a strife unto our neighbors: and our enemies laugh among themselves. Turn us again, O God of nosts, and the saved. Thou hast shine; and we shall be saved. Thou hast brought a vine out of Egypt: thou hast cast brought a vine out of anted it. Thou preagain, O God of hosts, and cause thy face to out the heathen and planted it. Thou pre-paredst room before it, and didst cause it to take deep root, and it filled the land. The hills were covered with the shadow of it, and the boughs thereof were like the goodly cedars. She sent out her boughs unto the sea, and Why hast thou her branches unto the river. then broken down her hedges, so that all they which pass by the way do pluck her? The boar out of the wood doth waste it, and the wild beast of the field doth devour it. Return, we beseech thee, O God of hosts: look down from heaven, and behold, and visit this vine: And the vineyard which thy right hand bath planted, and the branch that thou madest strong for thyself. It is burnt with fire, it is cut down: they perish at the rebuke of thy countenance. Let thy hand be upon the man of thy right hand, upon the son of man whom thou ma-dest strong for thyself. So will not we go back from thee: quicken us, and we will call upon thy name. Turn us again, O Lord God of hosts, cause thy face to shine; and we shall be saved.

e shall be saven. Here let us pause. The Lord is ground words fail not. The Shepherd of Israel, hike a flock, stir his words fail not. which comes leading Joseph like a flock, stir up thy strength before Ephraim, and Benja-min, and Manasseh. Ah what precious words! Judah is to be gathered at old Jerusamin, and Manasseh. lem; the lost tribes, with the half tribe of Manasseh, will be restored by Elijah, which leaves Ephraim, the remaining half tribe of Manasseh, and Benjamin to be stirred up by the good Shepherd. What a consolation! No wonder Ephraim was likened unto a green fir tree, for says the Lord: From me is thy fruit found. When the Savior was on earth, he spake this parable: There was in a city he spake this parable: a judge, which feared not God, neither regarded man. And there was a widow in that city; and she came unto him, saying, Avenge me of mine adversary. And he would not for a while; but afterwards he said within himself, Though I fear not God, nor regard man: yet, because this widow troubleth me, I will avenge her, lest by her continual coming she weary me. And the Lord said, Hear what the unjust judge saith. And shall not God avenge his own elect which cry day and sight unto him, though he bear long with them? I tell you that he will avenge them speedily. Nevertheless, when the Son of man cometh, shall he find faith on the earth?

cous, and despised others: Two men went up in the temple to pray; the one a Pharisee, and the other a publican. The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are; extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican. I fast twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I possess. And the publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast, saying, God be merciful to me a sinner.

Now, beloved reader, when the Son of man comes shall he find faith on the earth? He will find some with Ephraim, if Hosea's words are true, that-From me is thy fruit found. Again, taking this parable for a sample, will he come to those that pray in fine houses and fast by states and nations, as it were, giving bountifully of their wealth, to Bible societies, and temperance soceities, while the poor, are forgotten by them, or will he come to them that humble themselves, and cry mightily, Not our will but thine O God be done?

Joseph was a type of coming events unto his seed; Ephraim was to become a great many nations, and all these things were to be fulfilled in the last days. The land of Joseph was to be blessed above all others, and Joseph was to be honored by his parents and brethren, according to his dream of the shining hosts of heaven. Joseph was sold into Egypt to save his father's household from famine, as a type of what should be after-wards. It is thus said in the Book of Mormon, by Moroni the chief captain of the Nephites, who lived about seventy years before the birth of the Savior: Behold, we are a remnant of the seed of Jacob; yea, we are a remnant of the seed of Joseph, whose coat was rent by his brethren, into many pieces; yea, and now behold, let us remember to keep the commandments of God, or our garments shall be rent by our brethren, and we be cast into prison, or be sold, or be slain; yea, let us preserve our liberty, as a reinnant of Joseph; yea, let us remember the words of Ja-cob, before his death; for behold, he saw that a part of the remnant of the coat of Joseph was preserved, and had not decayed. And he saith, Even as this remnant of garment of my sons hath been preserved, so shall a remnant of the seed of my son be preserved by the hand of God, and be taken unto him-self, while the remainder of the seed of Joseph shall perish, even as the remnant of his garment: And again: Moroni the son of Mormon, who sealed and hid up this record, says in the book of Ether: Behold, Ether saw the days of Christ, and he spake concerning a New Jerusalem upon this land; and he spake also concerning the house of Israel, and the Jerusalem from whence Lehi should come; after it should be destroyed, it should be built up again a holy city unto the Lord; wherefore it could not be a New Jerusalem, for it had been in a time of old, but it should be built up again, and become a holy city of _ the Lord; and it should be built up unto the house of Israel; and that a New Jerusalem should be built up upon this land, unto the remnant of the seed of Joseph, for the which things there has been a type: for as Joseph brought his father down into the land of And he spake this parable unto certain which gypt, even so he died there; wherefore the trusted in themselves that they were right- Lord brought a remnant of the seed of Joseph out of the land of Jerusalem, that he might be merciful unto the seed of Joseph, that they should perish not, even as he was merciful unto the father of Joseph, that he should perish not; wherefore the remnant of the house of Joseph shall be built upon this land; and it shall be a land of their inheritance; and they shall build up a holy city unto the Lord, like unto the Jerusalem of old; and they shall no more be confounded, until the end come, when the earth shall pass away.

Now as Joseph caused all the Egyptians to leave the room when he made himself known to his brethren: So the branch of his seed, which was led to this continent by the hand of the Lord, to prepare the land of their inheritance, and the other branches which are wandering among the nations, may be bro't from the east, and gathered from the west, ready to meet the Redeemer when he brings again Zion.

In the view of this coming scene is a joy, which cannot be known by them that are without the hope of a glorious resurrection. Before Joseph went into Egypt the great day of a thousand years' holiness on earth, was better known among some men than now.— What started a party of high-minded men to build a Tower to go to heaven? The world had just been inunersed in water: Zion had previously been taken to paradise, and for fear that it might again be destroyed, as they had again begun to trust in themselves, this evil generation, sat out to force themselves into heaven, without coming in as the Lord had appointed. Now, it is well known that Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, were so much in favor with the Lord, that he talked with them and gave them commandments, and they were filled with the Holy Ghost, and knew many things in relation to the last days, which they taught to their posterity.

Although Joseph or Ephraim, may be mixed among the nations, so that feet have scarce trod where he hath not been, and good and evil have not come to the lot of any on earth, more than him, still as the blessing to him was the greatest, and as he was lord over all Egypt, so shall he become a multitude of nations, reaching from sea to sea, and from the river to the ends of the earth, among the rest of the saints. For it shall come to pass, that many nations shall come, and say, Come, let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, and to the house of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths: for the law shall go forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Jerusa-And he shall judge among many people, lem. and rebuke strong nations afar off; and they shall beat their swords into ploughshares, and their spears into pruning hocks: nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more. But they shall sit every man under his vine and figtree; and note shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hosts hath spoken it. For all people will walk every one in the name of his god, and we will walk in the name of the Lord our God for ever and ever. In that day, saith the Lord, will I assemble her that halteth, and I will gather her that was driven out, and her that I have afficted; and I will make her that halted a remnant, and her that was cast far off a strong na ton: and the Lord shall reign over them in mo unt Zion from henceforth, even for ever. And thou, O tower of the flock, the strong hold of the daughter of Zion, unto thee shall it come, even the first dominion; the kingdom shall come to the daughter of Jerusalem. Now why dost thou cry out aloud? is there no king in thee? is thy counsellor perished? for pargs have taken thee as a woman in travail. Be in pain, and labor to bring forth, O daughter of Zion, like a woman in travail; for now shalt thou go forth out of the city, and thou shalt dwell in the field, and thou shalt go even to Babylon; there shalt thou be delivered; there the Lord shall redeem thee from the hand of thine enemies. Now also many nations are gathered against thee, that say, Let her be defiled, and let our eye look upon Zion. But they know not the thoughts of the Lord, neither understand they his counsel: for he shall gather them as the sheaves into the floor. Arise and thresh, O daughter of Zion: for I will make thy horn iron, and I will make thy hoofs brass; and thou shalt beat in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their gain unto the Lord, and their substance unto the Lord of the whole earth.

To close: what can be said more than the Lord hath said? Judah would not receive the Savior at his first coming, and he was crucified. He then manifested himself to the other tribes and remnants. The word was, whosoever shall fall on this stone shall be broken: but on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grind him to powder. The Jews fell upon that stone and/were broken: and, O ye inhabitants of the earth, beware! for if that stone falls upon you, it will grind you to powder. Remember that Joseph's glory is the firstling of his bullock, and also, that with his horns he is to push the people together from the ends of the earth.

God made the world in six days, and rested on the seventh, and blessed and sanctified it: and thus will he do with creation, for the creation of the spiritual world was in the likeness of the temporal; the temporal a preparation for man to enter into the Sacred Rest: The Lord has now begun to feed the flock of his heritage with the rod [or word of truth] as in days of old, and according to the days of his coming out of the land of Egypt, will he show marvelous things. The oceans have to roll back into one place; the valleys have to be exalted; the mountains have to flow down at his presence, the sun has to be darkened, and the moon turned into blood, and the stars have to fall, then behold, he will come to reign on the earth with power and great glory, and all the holy angels with him; yea, with the church of the first born, even Zion which was received up to the bosom of the Father, in the days of Enoch, before the flood; that the righteous that died in the hope of a glorious resurrection, may arise and meet the Lord in the air, and live again, in the flesh, on the earth.

most extravagant, and infidelity the most obstinate, cannot enervate his declarations. For, the death of Christ may be considered in different views: it is a sufficient confirmation of his doctrine; it is a perfect pattern of patience, it is the most magnanimous degree of extraordinary excellencies, that can be imagined: but the gospel very seldom presente it to us in any of these views, it leaves them to our own perception; but when it speaks of his death, it usually speaks of it as an expiatory sacrifice. Need we repeat here a number of former texts, and express decisions on this matter? Thanks be to God, we are preaching to a christian auditory, who make the death of the Redeemer the foundation of faith! The gospel, then, assureth the penitent sinner of pardon. Zeno, Epicurus, Pytha-goras, Socrates Porch, Academy, Lycæum, what have ye to offer to your disciples equal to this promise of the gospel?

4 But that which principally displays the prerogatives of the christian above those of the philosopher, is an all-sufficient provision against the fear of death. A comparison between a dying pagan and a dying christian will show this. I consider a pagan in his dy-ing-bed, speaking to himself what follows.— On which side soever I consider my state, I ful symptoms, violent sickness, and intolera-ble pain, which surround my sick bed, and are the first scenes of the tragedy. As to the world, my dearest objects disappear; my closost connexions are dissolving; my most specious titles are effacing; my noblest privileges are vanishing away; a dismal curtain falls between my eyes and all the decorations of the universe. In regard to my body, it is a mass without motion, and life: my tongae is about to be condemned to eternal silence: my eyes to perpetual darkness: all the organs of my body to entire dissolution; and the miserable remains of my carcass to lodge in the grave, and to become food for the worms. If I consider my soul, I scarcely know whether it be immortal; and could I demonstrate its natural immortality, I should not be able to say, whether my Creator would display his attributes in preserving, or in destroying it: whether my wishes for immortality be the dictates of nature, or the language of sin.— It' I consider my past life, I have a witness within me, attesting that my practice hath been less than my knowledge, how small soever the latter hath been; and that the ubundant depravity of my heart hath thickened the darkness of my mind. If I consider futurity, I think I discover through many thick clouds a future state; my reason suggests, that the author of nature hath not given me a soul so sublime in thought, and so expansive in desire, merely to move in this little orb for a moment: but this is nothing but conjecture; and, if there be another economy after this, should I be less miserable than I am here?-One moment I hope for annihilation, the next I shudder with fear of being annihilated: my thoughts and desires are at war with each other, they rise, they resist, they destroy one another. Such is the dying heathen.— If a few examples of those who have died otherwise, be adduced, they ought not to be nrged in evidence against what we have advanced: for they are rare, and very probably deceptive, their outward tranquility being on Ly a concealment of trouble within. Trouble is the greater for confinement within, and for an affected appearance without. As we ought not to believe that philosophy hath rendered men insensible of pain, because some philosophers have maintained that pain is no evil, and have seemed to triumph over it: so neither ought we to believe, that it hath disarmed death in regard to the disciples of natural religion, because some have affirmed that death is not an object of fear. After all, if some Pagans enjoyed a real tranquility at death, it was a groundless tranquility, to which reason contributed nothing atall.

O! how different do christians die! how doth revealed religion triumph over the religion of nature in this respect! may each of our hearers be a new evidence of this article! the whole that troubles an expiring heathen, revives a christian in his dying bed.

Thus speaks the dying christian. When I consider the awful symptoms of death, and the violent agonies of dissolving nature, they appear as medical preparations, sharp, but sulutary; they are necessary to detach me from life, and to separate the remains of inward depravity from me. Beside, I shall not be abandoned to my own frailty; but my patience and constancy will be proportional to my sufferings, and that powerful arm which hath supported me through life, will uphold me under the pressure of death. lfI consider my sins, man / as they are, I am invulnerable; for I go to a tribunal of mercy, where God is reconciled, and justice is satis-fied. If I consider my body, I perceive I am putting off a mean and corruptible habit, and putting on robes of glory. Fall, fall ye imperfect senses, ye frail organs, fall, house of clay, into your original dust; ye will be "sown in corruption, but raised in incorruption; sown in dishonor, but raised in glory; sown in weakness, but raised in power. If I consider my soul, it is passing, I see, from slavery to freedom. I shall carry with me that which thinks and reflects. I shall me that which thinks and reflects. carry with me the delicacy of taste, the harmony of sounds the beauty of colors, the fragrance of odoriferous smels. I shall surmount heaven and earth, nature and all terrestrial things, and my ideas of all their beau-If I consider ties will multiply and expand. the future economy, to which I go, I have, I own, very inadequate notions of it: but my incapacity is the ground of nay expectation. Could I perfectly comprehend it, it would ar-gue its resemblance to some of the present objects of my senses, or its minute proportion to the present operations of my mind. If worldly Lignities and grandeurs, if accumu-lated treasures, if the enjoyments of the most refined voluptuousness, were to represent to me celestial felicity, I should suppose, that, partaking of their nature, they partock of their vanity. Bu, if nothing here can rep-resent the future state, it is because that state surpasseth every other. My ardor is increased by my imperfect knowledge of it.-My knowledge and virtue I know will be perfected; I know I shall comprehend truth, and obey order; I know I shall be free from all evils, and in possession of all good; I shall be present with God, I know, and with all the happy spirits, who surround his throne; and this perfect state, I am sure, will continue forever and ever.

Such are the all-sufficient supports which revealed religion affords against the fear of death. Such are the meditations of a dying christian; not of one, whose whole christianity consists of dry speculations which have no influence over his practice; but of one who applies his knowledge to relieve the real wants of his life. Christianity, then, we have seen, is superior to natural religion, in these four respects. To these we will add a few more reflections in farther evidence of the superiority of revealed religion to the religion of nature.

1 The ideas of the ancient philosophers concerning natural religion were not collec-ted into a body of doctrine. One philosopher had one idea, another studious man had another idea: ideas of truth and virtue, there-fore, lay dispersed. Who doth not see the pre-eminence of revelation, on this article?-No human capacity either hath been, or would ever have been equal to the noble conception of a perfect body of truth. There is no genius so narrow, as not to be capable of proposing some clear truth, some excellent maxim: but to lay down principles, and to perceive at once a chain of consequences, these are the efforts of great geniuses; this capability is a philosophical perfection. If this axiom be incontestable, what a fountain of wisdom does the system of Christianity ar-gue! It represents us, in one lovely body, of perfect symmetry, all the ideas that we have enumerated. One idea suppose h another idea: and the whole is united in a manner so compact, that it is impossible to alter one article without defacing the beauty of all.

2 Pagan philosophers never had a system of natural religion comparable with that of modern philosphers, although the latter glory in their contempt of revelation. Modern philosophers have derived the clearest and best parts of their systems from the very revelation which they effect to despise. We grant, the doctrines of the perfections of God, of providence, and of a future state, are perfect-ly conformable to the light of reason. A man, who should pursue rational tracks of knowledge to his utmost power, would discover, we own, all these doctrines: but it is one thing to grant, that these doctrines are conformable to reason; and it is another to affirm, that reason actually discovered them. It is one thing to allow, that a man, who should pursue rational tracks of knowledge to his utmost power, would discover all these doctrines: and it is another to pretend, that any man hath pursued these tracks to the utmost, and hath actually discovered them. It was the gospel that taught mankind the use of their reason. It was the gospel that assisted men to form a body of natural religion.-Modern philosophers avail themselves of these aids; they form a body of natural religion by the light of the gospel, and then they attribute to their own penetration what they derive from foreign aid.

3 What was most rational in the natural religion of the pagan philosophers was mixed with fancies and dreams. There was not a single philosopher, who did not adopt some absurdity, and communicate it to his disciples. One taught, that every being was animated with a particular soul, and on this absurd hypothesis he pretended to account for all the phenomena of nature. Another took every star for a God, and thought the soul a vapor, that passed from one body to another, explating in the body of a best the sins that were committed in that of a man. One attributed the creation of the world to a blind chance, and the government of all events in it to an inviolable fate. Another affirmed the cternity of the world, and said, there was no period in eternity in which heaven and earth, nature and elements, were not visible. One said, every thing is uncertain; we are not sure of our own existence; the distinction between just and unjust, virtue and vice, is fan-ciful, and hath no real foundation in the nature of things. Another made matter equal to God; and maintained, that it concurred with the Supreme Being in the formation of the universe. One took the world for a prodigious body, of which he thought God was Another affirmed the materiality the soul. of the soul, and attributed to matter the faculties of thinking and reasoning. Some de-nied the immortality of the soul, and the intervention of providence; and pretend, that an infinite number of particles of matter, invisible, and indestructible, revolve in the universe; that from their fortuitous concourse arose the present world; that in all this there was no design; that the feet were not formed for walking, the eyes for seeing, nor the hands for handling. The gospel is light without darkness. It hath nothing mean; nothing false; nothing that doth not bear the characters of that wisdom, from which it proceeds.

A mediocrity of genius, I allow, is sufficient for the purpose of infering a part of those consequences from the works of nature, of which we form the body of natural religion; but none but geniuses of the first order are capable of kenning those distant consequences, which are enfold-The bulk of mankind wanted in darkness. ed a short way proportional to every mind .-They wanted an authority, the infalibility of which all mankind might easily see. They wanted a revelation founded on evidence plain and obvious to all the world. Philosophers could not show the world such a short way: but revelation hath showed it. No philosopher could assume the authority, necessary to establish such a way; it became God alone to dictate in such a manner, and in revelation he hath done it .- Saurin.

Autumn.

Autumn comes. The spring with her flowcrs: the summer with her heat and thunder, is past; and autumn-sear, fruitful autumn, appears at last. Well so it is—and so it has been—and so it will be, while the searcons come and go over our earth. Autumn is pleasant; autumn is sweet. True, in it there is a shade—a more sober seneet thrown around us. But it is as the soft twilight of eve, closing over the theatre of mirth, of bustle and confusion. Like the youth, who has been, by the flight of time, brought to the sedateness of manbood—so is autumn. Along the horizon, the dark hills stretch away, bearing the heavy forest; the vales are no more an ocean ofliving green, but they are wide and insked: the hand of the reaper has been there, and nought but the short, yellow stubble, and the fresh, tender growth which followed the swing of the sythe, lays before the eye.— Plenty—the harvest of the year—the toil of the burger is been for a fording to the the husbandman, is here. Bending to the earth and loaded to profusion, stands a group of yonder trees, whose fruit one by one, as the breeze stirs through its branches, strikes the earth, ripened and delicious, by the sun and rains of the by-gone summer. The song of the bird wakes not the echoes of autumnbut in its stead the crickets, beneath the soft, bland beams of a meridian moon, join in one solemn song, which throws over the listener, a shroud of thought, pointing backward to the things which have been, which now are past, and which shall be no more. Autumn -autumn; there is a thousand recollections connected with the season. I love the social few, who have with me passed over the flowers of spring; who have laughed away the sultry hours of summer beneath the projecting arms of the oak, or took the cool draught at the bursting spring-I say, I love to meet them again, when the heat of summer is tempered away, and autumn reigns over the wide earth. I love to repeat the sweet communion which we have had together. I love to catch the tear which glistens in their eyes, as they bend along the world below, and catch the expression, which doubly suith, "All things must fade." It seems to me that feeling grows stronger at this season. It seems as if we, too, with the departing year, were has-stening to a close, and that now, even now, we were treading the threshold of eternity. And again, the rich banquet which is spread over the earth, inspires us with a noble gratitude to its Giver and Benefactor. We see pictured out in "bold relief," the certainty of a Supreme Being, and cannot refrain from adoring him for his goodness.

IF REMARKS .- The above essay on autumn, is extracted from one of the literary papers of the day, and it is not unworthy of a place with us. Autumn is a season for reflection. It seems indicative of the end or close of something. The glory of the earth passes. The birds that filled the woods with The glory of the earth passes. their molody, have flown away with the falling leaves, and the beautiful bloom of summer is fading into a holy gloom, that carries on its very brow, the everlasting promise of God: While the earth remaineth, seed-time and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night, shall not cease.-But there is another idea attaches itself to autumn, of more consequence, than all the rest; it is this; it is the season to gather and secure the fruits of summer before winter:-An emblem that the fruit of man must be gathered and secured before the great day: For when John the Revelator looked, and behold a white cloud, and upon the cloud one sat like unto the Son of man, having on his head a golden crown, and in his hand a sharp cickle. And another angel came out of the temple, crying with a loud voice to him that sat on the cloud, Thrust in thy sickle, and resp: for the time is come for thee to reap; for the harvest of the earth is ripe. Yes, beloved reader, and behold the time draws nigh, when not only the autumn of the year, but the autumn of our lives, and of the world, shall come, and there shall be time no longer

SACRED POETRY.

Every thing that comes from the Lord, is sublime; this sublimity clothing the prophe-cies, and giving the psalms a glory and sweetness, touching the saint's heart with thoughts that whisper like the still small voice to Elijah, and delighting the soul with words that moisten, as the dew that descended upon the mountains of Zion: for there the Lord commanded the blessing, even life for ever more; yea, this sublimity, which may be called the beauty of holiness, common writers have never touched: no; never; for that flight of mind which caused the Psalmist to exclaim: Such knowledge is too wonderful for me; it Whither is high, I cannot attain unto it. shall I go from thy Spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence? If I ascend up into heaven, thou art there; if I make my bed in hell, behold thou art there. If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sca; even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me. If I say, surely the darkness shall cov-er me: even the night shall be light about me. Yea, the darkness hideth not from thee; but the night shineth as the day, the darkness and the light are both alike to thee. For thou hast possessed my reins, thou hast covered me in my mother's womb. I will praise thee; for I am fourfully and wonderfully made: marvellous are thy works; and that my soul knoweth right well: Yes, that peace of mind; that love of divine things; that confidence in the Lord; that faith in the world to come; that dependence upon Jesus Christ; and that joy of heart that gladdens the soul, and happifies the body in every place, and under all the trials and troubles of this present life, cannot be found in common books: comfort and satisfaction, like light and truth, come from God. One reason, perhaps, that the sacred poets came nearer the standard of truth, or, in fact, came up to it, with less fancy, and more beauty, than common poets, is because the Hebrew, in which they wrote, was nearer the pure language, with which Adam gave names, than any other since used by man. Another reason, and one, too, that never fails, is that those holy men wrote as they were moved by the Holy Ghost. One of the greatest specimens of prophetic poetry is found in the song of Moses. Nothing but is found in the song of Moses. the Spirit of the living God could have directed such sublime ideas: the first line is not spoken to earth, or heaven, alone, but is addressed to the heavens; and who can read it without being almost led within the veil; let us read:

"Give ear O ye heavens, and I will speak; and hear, O earth. the words of my mouth. As an egle stirreth up her nest, fluttereth over her young, spreadeth abroad her wings, taketh them, bearcth them on her wings; so the Lord alone did lead him, and there was no strange god with him. He made him ride on the high places of the earth, that he might eat the increase of the fields; and he made him to suck honey out of the rock, and oil out of the flinty rock; butter of kine, and milk of sheep, with fat of lambs, and rams of the breed of Bashan, and goats, with the fat of kidneys of wheat; and thou didst drink the pure blood of the grape. But Jeshurun waxed fat, and kicked: thou art waxen fat, thou art grown thick, thou art covered with fatness; then he forsook God which made him, and lightly esteemed the Rock of his salvation. They provoked him to jealousy with strange gods, with abomina-tions provoked they him to anger. They sacrificed unto devils, not to God; to gods whom they knew not, to new gods that came newly up, whom your fathers feared not.-Of the Rock that begat thee thou art unmindful, and hast forgotten God that formed thee. I will heap mischiefs upon them; I will spend mine arrows upon them. I said, I would scatter them into corners, I would make the remembrance of them to cease from among men; were it not that I feared the wrath of the enemy, lest their adversaries should behave themselves strangely, and lest they should say, our hand is high, and the Lord hath not done all this. Is not this laid up in store with me, and sealed up among my treasures? To me belongeth vengeance and recompence; their foot shall slide in due time: for the day of their calam-ity is at han, and the things that shall come upon them make haste. See now that I, even I am he, and there is no god with me: I kill and I make alive; I wound, and I heal: neither is there any that can de-liver out of my hand. For I lift up my hand to heaven, and say, I live forever. If I whet my glittering sword, and my hand take hold on judgment, I will render vengeance to mine If I whet enemies, and will reward them that hate me. What a prophecy is contained in the last verse! He will be merciful unto his land and to his people: so he will; and we can exclaim, O that the Lord were come to Zion, that his a pure language! But the time is short, for Zephaniah says, the determination of the Lord is, to gather the nations, that he may assemble the kingdoms, to pour upon them his indignation, even all his fierce anger; for all the earth shall be devoured with the fire of his jealousy. For then he will turn unto the people a pure language, that they may all call upon the name of the Lord, to serve him with one consent. From beyond the rivers of Ethiopia his suppliants, even the daughter of his dispersed, shall bring his offering. In that day shalt thou not be ashamed for all thy doings wherein thou hast transgressed against him: for then he will take away out of the midst of thee them that rejoice in thy pride, and thou shalt no more be haughty because of his holy mountain. He will also leave in the midst of thee an afflicted and poor people, and they shall trust in the name of the Lord. The remnant of Israel shall not do iniquity, nor speak lies; neither shall a deceitful tongue be found in their mouth: for they shall field and lie down, and none shall make them afraid. Sing. O daughter of Zi-on; shout, O Israel; be glad and rejoice with all the heart, O daughter of Jerusalem. The Lord hath taken away thy judgments, he hath cast out thine enemy: the King of Is-rael, even the Lord, is in the midst of these thou shalt not see evil any more. In that day it shall be said to Jesusalem, fear thon not; and to Zion, let not thy hands be slack. The Lord thy God in the midst of thes is mighty, he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing. He willighther them that are sorrowful for the solemn assembly, who are of thee, to whom the reproach of it was a burden. Behold, at that time he will undo all that afflict thee: and he will save her that halteth, and gather her that was driven out; and he will get them praise and fame in every land where they have been put to shame. At that time will he bring you again, even in the time that he gathers you: for he will make you a name and a praise among all people of the earth, when he turns back your captivity before your eyes, saith the Lord.

The following sketch of a night scene in the desert, is extracted from Fullers tour in the Turkish empire, and is really a beautiful description. It would be somewhat gratifying to the eastern citizens of our country, if some experienced one of the Santa Fee traders, would give a prospect of their caravan. To see twenty or thirty wagons drawn by six or eight mules each; two or three 4 pounders well mounted, with 80, or 100 men, part mounted riflemen, passing across a naked prairie, with little or no timber for nearly 900 miles, and making a virtue of necessity, by living on Buffalo meat, fortifying themseives with their wigons every night, against the attacks of the Indians, would almost equal a figure, to that of the company of Ishmaelites that carried Joseph into Egypt .-But to the subject:

THE GATHERING.

There is a great anxiety manifested to learn how the church of Christ prospers, since it commenced settling in the western part of the state of Missouri. To satisfy this inquiry, and more especially to publish the truth upon this great subject, that none may be deceived by flying reports, we shall endeav-or to give all the information in our possession. Since the gathering commenced, which is a little over a year, the number of the disciples which have come from the east, and which have been baptized in this region, 472 18

This little flock, which is now enjoying the glorious privileges and blessings of the everlasting gospel, preparatory to the second coming of the Savior, have, as it were, almost simultaneously come together from New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Tennessee and Missouri, to worship God and keep his commandments, on the land of their inheritance. So far, the disciples have been highly favored; coming, as most of them have from different climates, and changing, as is necessarily the case, their modes of living undergoing the troubles and hardships of a long and tedious journey, and planting themselves down without the conveniences and even necessaries, which most of them have been used to, it is certainly a matter of great joy, if not a miracle, that they are generally so healthy, so industrious, so thriving, and more than all, so contented to love the Lord and their neighbors as themselves. Reports, to be sure, have been circulated, that so many were moving in, that a famine must succeed, and some starve to death: perhaps a few believed so, but in the joyful language of the Psalmist we can exclaim: We have been young, and now are old; yet have we not seen the righeous forsaken, nor his seed beging bread. The great consolation is, the promises of the Lord never fail; nor his store-house ever empty. Virtue, honesty, industry, economy, and patience, added to that pure religion, and undefiled before God and the Father; To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world, bring about the purposes of God, in their eternal salvation, and blesses the contrite souwith a sweet consolation and a prospect be-fore it, that the world, with all its alluring, but vanishing appearances, can neither give nor take. We admit that the flowing together of so many saints has the appearance of a meeting of strangers: but as they already begin to grow in grace and in the knowledge of the Lord, the world may witness that it is the preparation of Israel to meet his God .-As the prophet said, Zion is a wilderness, but with faithful hearts raised to God, the wilderness will soon blossom as the rose, and, as the prospect brightens, we look forward with joy to the day when Zion shall arise come the joy of the world, once to die, twelve persons have died since the emigration commenced to this land: that is, nine here, and three upon the way. There have been solemnized six marriages.

Our news from abroad is cheering. The harvest is truly abundant, but the laborers are few. New churches have been built up in Missouri: in Illinois; at Fulton, near Cin-cinnati, Ohio; at Guyandotte, Virginia; in Spafford, Onondaga co. at Tompkins, Delaware co. and at Essex co. New York: at Benson, North Troy, and Charleston, Vermont; at Bath, New Hampshire; in New Rowley and Boston, Massachusetts; and how many in other places we cannot say: while we look at the distress of nations, and hear how the judgements of God sweep off the inhabitants of the earth, we must exclaim, The Lord is making a short work. It was but two years last April, since the church of Christ was organized, by special revelation; now branches are rising up in almost every state in the Union, which, willing to overcome the world for the sake of Christ, the Redeemer, will come to Zion, and assist in enlarging her borders; and stretching forth the curtains of her habitations: No weapon that is formed against thee shall prosper; and every tongue which shall rise against they in judgement, thou This is the heritage of the shalt condemn. servants of the Lord, and their righteousness is of me, saith the Lord.

To continue: It gives us pleasure, knowing that these are the last days, and making it our duty, as faithful servants of the Lord, in the hope that the example will cause the elders generally, to go and do likewise, to lay before the disciples, all the news that will benefit Zion, or cheer the inquiring soul abroad: For this purpose we give the following extract of a letter, from one of the elders of this church, to a brother of this place,-Da-ted Benson, (Vt.) September 20, 1832.

BROTHER SIDNEY:-Through the mercy of God, I have the pleasing moments of time to redeen that promise I made you while in Buffalo, N. Y. I can assure you that the Lord has been merciful and kind towards me ever since I left you; he has protected me on the right hand and on the left; his blessings have been given me, health I have enjoyed all the day, and my sleep has been sweet to me all the night, and my food has been nourishment unto me: and his blessed Spirit has been my joy and comforter, director, instructor, teacher and guide, and it has not suffered me to be confounded by the highminded pharisee or priest; but truth has cut its way and pierced the hearts of many; and the Lord has blessed me with many sheaves; even sons and daughters for Zion.

I took passage in the hoat you saw me on board of, and went to Palmyra; from thence to Benson, where I found a company of dear brethren and sisters very much persecuted; but they are firm in the faith of the everlasting gospel; the number was about thir-ty, but is now about forty. When I arrived I found them in meeting: I spoke the word of the Lord unto them and it was an affecting scene to them and me. I visited my old neighbors many of whom I found very unbe-lieving. I went to visit my wife's brother David, I heard that himself and family were opposed to the work of the Lord; but I went Amid all things, for it is appointed for all in faith, and when I came there I found two young women on a visit: they were about to go away, but David's wife went out with them and said they had better stay, for she had heard that the Mormons c uld cast out devils, and that brother Sim. was a Mormon, and she thought she had a devil in her and they had better stay and see him cast Brother David soon came in and I beout. gan to converse with them, and the devils were cast out, for the word cut them to the neart, and it fastened like a nail in a sure place; and they wept like little children, and their minds were opened to receive the truth, and their hearts ready to embrace it; and in a few days the Lord blessed me with the op-portunity of leading them into the waters of baptism, and the Lord blessed them with the Comforter; and they are firm and unshaken in the faith. The Lord has prepared broth-er David to do much good if faithful: he has been ordaided an elder under my hands; he is meek, humble, bold, firm and persevering.

We met in conference the tenth of August: There were fourteen elders and several priests and teachers present. Great union dwelt among us; two were ordained to the priesthood: two others were ordained, one an elder, and the other a priest. Brethren, O. Pratt and L. Johnson, were there; they have planted three or four churches since last February, and have baptized in all about seventy. Brother Collins and others from Essex county N. Y., (where there are about forty disciples,) were also present .-Brother Jared has labored there also, and has been a partner in baptizing about seventy souls since April. I have baptized forty two since the first of July. I have been laboring west of the Lakes in Bolton, and brother Jared has been with me a part of the time, and we expect to continue together for a while .-Some powerful manifestations of healing have been wrought through our ministry; but the people are generarally very unbelieving in this region of country, and ready to rail at us and to persecute us; and the hirelings make their bitter cries, for fear they will loose their wages, and are callying their forces to bind their flocks or bundles of tares to be burned, or ready for the destroying angel.

O that the Lord would save his people from Babylon! O Lord, speed on the gathering of thy people that Babylon may linger! O Lord, who hath believed our report since thou hast sent us to Babylon to make known thy coming? O Lord, rend the heavens and come down, and let the mountains flow down at thy presence, that thy sons and daughters may see thy glory and speak of they myster-ies! And make known thy power to thine enemiesl

Surely the earth is ripe in iniquity, and it does seem to me that the priests are the most corrupt of all the branches, for they are binding thousands with their strong cords; but the Judge of all the earth will do right. And I rejoice much, that the time will soon come, and that the day is near at hand when the earth will rest, and when it will be cleansed from its wicked polluters. I still feel resolved to continue my labor in the vineyard of

EVENING AND MORNING STAR.

"For I will fight until I conquer, though I die."-Then arm me with thy strength, O God, that I may count my victories over when the war is ended, and thou takest me to thyself and crownest me thy son in thy kingdom. When I look forth upon the broad field and see the thick weil that satan has spread over all nations, I am ready to cry out in the language of Jesus, that it will be as it was in the days of Nosh. And when I look round and see how few the faithful laborers are, and that the destroying angel has already begun to reap down the tares that they cumber not the vineyard, I cry unto the Lord of the harvest to send more laborers into the field. And that he will not keep any idle servants at home, (the same I fear is the case,) let me exhort such to look a little forward of them, to the day when the good master of the vineyard shall call unto him his servants, and say, Bring forward your sheaves: and each at his bidding presents himself and his sheaves at his right hand. And what if you instead of sheaves, should present your dear wife and little children, and one of your fellow ser-vants should claim them to be the fruit of his labors; and you should look down to the pit and see your sheaves in the gulf of black despair; would the Lord say, well done thou good and faithful servant, thou hast gathered me many sheaves; therefore thou shalt be crowned over a great dominion in the king-dom of my father, and your dear companion who has suffered tribulation and privation, shall be crowned with you, and shall partake with me and her husband my faithful servant in all the fruit of my vineyard? O then brethren, be gathering sheaves, for the time of harvest is short and the laborers are very few. Go out and labor with me, for the harvest will soon be over; then we will return, laden with sheaves, to sit down in the kingdom of Jesus with wives and children to rest forevermore.

Be faithful brethren and sisters, keep your hearts pure before the Lord, press on, run in the strait way that leads to life; for the just shall live by faith. And remember Simeon in all your petitions before the Lord. Remember God's promise to Abrrham as possessor of heaven and earth: and you are his children of you are of his faith; and the day is not far distant when Abraham is to receive the end of his faith; and bless the Lord, so will all his children. And I thank the Lord that I have found some of his children in this country, and hope to find some more of them the Lord being willing. Give ny love to my dear wife and my dear children, and to all that love the Lord.

SIMEON CARTER.

We make an extract of a letter from a mercantile house in St. Louis, to Br. A. S.— Gilbert.

Dated October 28, 1832.

"We have the painful duty to perform of communicating the melancholy death of your brother, William L. who died in this place on Wednesday night, the 24th inst. of the Cholera, after a few hours illness. Every thing was done that medical skill could devise to save him, but the attack was so severe, that all remedies failed.

The Cholera has raged here for the last few days, with unprecedented violence, but we think it is abating." TO THE SAINTS.

The Lord has said, Blessed are they who have come up to this land with an eye single to my glory, according to my command-ments. Brethren, have you all done so? Have you fulfilled the commandment, which saith: Behold I the Lord have appointed a way for the journeying of my saints, and be-hold this is the way: that after they leave the canal, they shall journey by land, inas-much as they are commanded to journey and go up unto the land of Zion; and they shall do like unto the children of Israel, pitching their tents by the way? Have you all ful-ties, that which thou hast, unto me, with a covenant and deed that cannot be broken; and they shall be laid before the bishop of my churchi And also the commandment which saith: It is wisdom in me, that my servant Martin should be an example unto the church, in laying his money before the bishop of the church; and also, this is a law unto every man that cometh unto this land to receive an inheritance? and he shall do with his moneys according as the law directs. Brethren, have you all kept the commandments thus far? If you have the Lord will kcep you from danger. Let each look to these great queries, and ask himself the question, HAVE 11

INDIAN CORN.

SINGULAR FACT. In the course of some experiments made by the editor of the American Farmer, for the purpose of improving Indian corn last year, he impregnated the pistils (silk) of the large white Tuscarora with the pollen from the tassels of the golden Sioux. The result was tassels of the golden Sioux. a perfect hybrid between the two. The grain being of a pixe brimstone color, of the size and form of the Tuscarora, and like that with eight rows on the cob. It was a most beautiful variety of corn; partaking of all the good qualities of both, without the disadvan-tage of the large cob and small grain of the golden Sioux. We planted this corn last spring; the stalks were very dwarfish, resembling those of the Sioux, and the corn very early fit for use. It is now ripe, however, and on examing it a day or two since we find that the two original colors have separated, and instead of the brimstone color, we have on every ear grains of the bright yellow Sioux, and the pure white Tuscarora; but the quality of the corn is evidently superior to either of the original parents, although the colors have resumed their original tints. This is, to us, a singular circumstance, and one which we are unable to account for. The only thing analogous to it we have read of, is the proposition advanced by an able writer some time since in the columns of the Farmer, that the offspring of cross breeds of animals, would instead of partaking of the mixt character of their immediate parents, assume that of one or the other of their original progenitors. How far this proposition may hold geod with animals we do not know, but it certainly appears to be the case in the vegitable world, at least so far as the fact above stated warrants the formation of an opinion.

There is a good deal of difficulty in recon-ciling the above fact with the law of nature, which requires two parents for the production of every organized being, animal or vegitable. If the two kinds of corn which were combined in the hybrid have become again distinct varieties, they are each of them the produce of but one parent-the Tuscarora is the produce of a female parent exclusively, and the Sioux that of a male parent; for it must be recollected there was no male Tuscarora nor female Sioux present, either during the origin of the hybrid, last year or the subsequent culture and separation of varieties this year. Yet we know, that if we deprive the corn of either the male or female flowers, (tassels or silk,) there will be no corn formed on the cob. How then are we to account for the present fact of the separation of the two varieties? It was this difficulty that made us, doubt the correctness of the proposition relative to cross breeds of animals above refered to, and although we have the fact before us in the case of the corn, we are still compelled to doubt its general application. We do not think that each variety has resumed all its original characters: one of them we know it has not-the size of the Sloux gram is larger than the original, and there are but eight rows on the cob; in these respects retaining the hybrid character derived from the Tuscarora; but then the original color and flintiness of the grain is resumed; the Tuscarora has resumed its original character entirely, with the exception of the soft flowery quality of the grain, the flintiness of the hybrid derived from the Sioux parent is retained. As the Tuscarora was the female parent of the hybrid, the number of rows and the size of the grain would of course be like those of that variety, and hence the presence of those characters in the present seperated varieties. We should be glad to receive an explanation of this circumstance from some of our practical naturalists.

We accidentily came across the following sketch:-"'New ZEALANDERS. The natives The natives are cast in beauty's perfect mould: the children are so fine and powerfully made, that each might serve for a model of the statue of the Infant Hercules; nothing can excel the graceful and athletic forms of the men, or the rounded limbs of their young women. These possess eyes beautiful and eloquent: and a profusion of long, silky, curling hair; while the intellects of both sexes seem of a superior All appear eager for improvement, order. full of energy, and indefatigably industri-ous;" And it really affords consolation to think that such a people_exists upon the Islands of the sea, for the Lord will not forget them. The Isles are to wait for his law, and the gospel of the kingdom, is to be preached to every nation on the globe so that some may be gathered out of every kindred, tongue and people, and be brought to Zion.

revelation

Revelation, to Sidney Rigdon, Parley P. Pratt, and Lemon Copley, given May, 1831.

Hearken unto my word, my servant Sidney, and Parley, and Lemon, for behold, verily I say unto you, that I give unto you a commandment, that you shall go and preach my gospel, which ye have received, even as ye have received it, unto the shakers. Behold I say unto you, that they desire to know the truth in part, but not all, for they are not right before me, and must needs repent: wherefore I send you, my servants Sidney and Parley, to preach the gospel unto them; and my servant Lemon shall be ordained unto this work, that he may reason with them, not according to that which he has received of them, but according to that which shall be taught him hy you, my servants, and by so doing I will bless him, otherwise he shall not prosper: thus saith the Lord, for I am God and have sent mine only begotten Son into the world, for the receiveth him shall be saved, and he that receiveth him not, shall be damned.

And they have done unto the Son of man even as they listed; and he has taken his power on the right hand of his glory, and now reigneth in the heavens, and will reign till he descends on the earth to put all enemies under his feet: which time is nigh at hand: I the Lord God have spoken it: but the hour and the day no man knoweth, nei-ther the angels in heaven, nor shall they know until he comes: wherefore I will that all men shall repent, for all are under sin, except them which I have reserved unto myself, holy men that ye know not of: where-fore I say unto you, that I have sent unto you mine everlasting covenant, even that which was from the beginning, and that which I have promised I have so fulfilled, and the nations of the earth shall bow to it; and, if not of themselves, they shall come down, for that which is now exalted of itself, shall be laid low of power: wherefore I give unto you a commandment, that ye go among this peo-ple and say unto them, like unto mine apostle of old, whose name was Peter: Believe on the name of the Lord Jesus, who was on the earth, and is to come, the beginning and the end; repent and be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ, according to the holy com-mandment, for the remission of sins; and whose doeth this, shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost, by the laying on of the hands of the elders of this church.

And again, I say unto you, that whose forbiddeth to marry, is not ordained of God, for marriage is ordained of God unto man: wherefore it is lawful that he should have one wife, and they twain shall be one flesh, and all this that the earth might answer the end of its creation; and that it might be filled with the measure of man, according to his creation before the world was made. And whose forbiddeth to abstain from meats, that man should not eat the same, is not ordained of God; for behold the beasts of the field, and the fowls of the air, and that which cometh of the earth, is ordained for the use of man, for food, and for raiment, and that he might have in abundance, but it is not given that one man should possess that which is above another: wherefore the world lieth in sin: and wo be up to man that sheddeth blood or that wasteth flesh and hath no need.

And again, verily I say unto you, that the Son of man cometh not in the form of a woman, neither of a man traveiling on the earth: wherefore be not deceived, but continue in steadiastness, looking forth for the heavens to be shaken: and the earth to tremble, and to recl to and fro as a drunken man; and for the valleys to be exalted; and for the mountains to be made low; and for the rough places to become smooth: and all this when the angel shall sound his trumpet.

But before the great day of the Lord shall come, Jacob shall flourish in the wilderness; and the Lamanites shall blossom as the rose; Zion shall flourish upon the hills, and rejoice upon the mountains, and shall be assembled together unto the place which I have apointed. Behold I say unto you, go forth as I have commanded you; repent of all your sins; ask and ye shall receive: knock and it shall be opened unto you: behold I will go before you, and be your re-reward; and I will be in your midst, and you shall not be confounded; behold I am Jesus Christ, and I come quickly; Even so. Amen.

HE THAT WILL NOT WORK, IS NOT A DISCIPLE OF THE LORD.

Purposing to do the will of God in all things, every disciple must do with his might, whatsoever his hand finds to do, knowing that the idler is to be had in remembrance before the Lord. There is no respect of persons: every one ought to do his best to be approved in the sight of God. The old command is: Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work, and no one will pretend that this commandment has been revoked or made void; on the contrary, Paul, at least 1500 years after this commandment came from the Lord, says, in his second epistle to the Thessolonian church, Now we command yoa, brethren, in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw yourselves from every brother that walketh disorderly, and not after the tradition which ye received of us. For yourselves know how ye ought to follow us; for we behaved not ourselves dis orderly among you; neither did we eat any man's bread for nought; but wrought with labor night and day, that we might not be chargeable to any of you: not because we have not power, but to make ourselves an ensample unto you to follow us. For even when we were with you, this we command-ed you, that if any would not work, neither should he eat. For we hear that there are some which walk among you disorderly, working not at all, but are busy bodies.-Now them that are such we command and exhort by our Lord Jesus Christ, that with quietness they work, and cat their own bread.

It is no more than reasonable or right, to say, that he that will not work, should not eat, for as saith Alma, Thus says the Lord: ye shall not esteem one flesh above another, or one man shall not think himself above another. All men are after the sample of their father Adam. He was put into the garden to dress it; or, in other words, man was made to be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it. All men, then, to live according to the will of the Lord, must labor. And what can be more just? for there is no specimen of idleness in the crea-tion, or works of the Lord. When the morning dawns, the invisible hand that drew the curtains of night around us for sleep and repose, opens the windows of day for the labot and refreshment of them that live upon the earth: And who can view the buisy multitudes of created beings, and things, from the mite to the mamnioth; from the spring to the ocean; from the mole-hill to the mountain: from the garden to the globe, and from man to his Maker, and not exclaim like Lchi of old: Great and marvelous are thy works, O Lord God Almighty! Thy throne is high in the heavens, and thy power, and goodness, and mercy, is over all the inhabitants of the earth.

Who can fail to see industry in the fly that furbishes her wings in the window? or among the cattle grazing upon a thousand hills? or with the bees culling the flowers of the land-scape for their sweets? or in the river ranning with all its glassy majes  $\tau$ ? or in the green growing race of earth, from the grass to the trees, each with every blade, and every limb pointing to heaven? yes, who can look upon so much industry, and suppose that a man was made to live without labor? Not the disciple of Jesus Christ.

Since the heaven was stretched out as a curtain between this world and the worlds beyond, neither the sun, nor moon, nor the planets, nor the stars, have ceased for a moment, (except when Joshua commaned otherwise,) from performing their daily labors, and why does man, while he lives, shrink from what the Lord meant he should do? why not fill the measure of his days in helping himself and assisting others, that, when he appears before the bur of God, to give an account of his stewardship, he may hear the pleasing acceptance of his Lord and Master: Well done, good and faithful servant, you have been faithful over a few things, now be lord over many.

THE BOCK OF JOB.

Men of moral characters, as well as the disciples of Jesus Christ, generally venerate sacred or sublime writings. Faultless rules, pure principles, and the truth coming from man, or through the Spirit of the living God, have ever found friends, and while virtue has a mansion in the heart of man, we fear no change. Dr. Blair, who lived up to such good opinions of good things, when review. ing the bible, thus speaks of the book of Job: It is known to be extremely ancient; generally reputed the most ancient of all the poetical books; the author uncertain. It is remarkable, that this book has no connexion with the affairs or manners of the Jews, or Hebrews. The scene is laid in the land of Uz, or Idumea, which is a part of Arabia; and the imagery employed is generally of a different kind, from what I before showed to be peculiar to the Hebraw poets. We meet with no allusion to the sacred history, to the religious rites of the Jews, to Lebanon or to Carmel, or to any of the peculiarities of the climate of Judea. We find few comparisons founded on rivers or torrents: these were not familiar objects in Arabia. But the longest comparison that occurs in the book, is to an object frequent and well known in that region, a brook that fails in the season of heat, and disappoints the expectation of the traveller.

The poetry, however, of the book of Job, is not only equal to that of any other of the sacred writings, but is superior to them all, except those of Isaiah alone. As Isaiah is the most sublime, David the most pleasing and tender, so Job is the most descriptive, of all the inspired poets. A peculiar glow of fancy, and strength of description, characterize the author. No writer whatever abounds so much in metaphors. He may be said, not to describe, but to render visible, whatever he treats of. A variety of instances might be given. Let us remark only those strong and lively colours, with which, in the following passages, taken from the 18th and 20th chapters of his book, he paints the condition of the wicked; observe how rapidly his figures rise before us; and what a drep impression, at the same time, they leave on the imagination. "Knowest thou not this of old, since man was placed upon the earth, that the triumphing of the wicked is short, and the joy of the hypocrite but for a moment? Though his excellency mount up to the heavens, and his head reach the clouds, yet he shall perish forever. He shall fly away as a dream, and shall not be found; yea, he shall be chased away, as a vision of the night.— The eye also which saw him, shall see him no more; they which have seen him, shall say, where is he? He shall suck the poison in straits; every hand shall come upon him. He shall flee from the iron weapon, and the bow of steel shall strike him through. All darkness shall be hid in his secret places. A heaven shall reveal his iniquity, and the earth shall rise up against him. The in earth shall rise up against man is goods crease of his house shall depart. His goods light of the wicked shall be put out; the light shall be dark in his tabernacle. The steps of his strength shall be straitened, and his own counsel shall cast him down. For he is cast into a net, by his own feet. He walketh upon a snare. Terrors shall make him afraid on every side; and the robber shall prevail against him. Brimstone shall be scattered upon his habitation. His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and he shall have no name in the street, He shall be driven from light into darkness. They that come after him shall be astonished at his day. He shall drink of the wrath of the Almighty.'

Again: Oh that my words were now written! Oh that they were printed in a book!— That they were graven with an iron pen, and lead in the rock forever! For I know my Redeemer liveth, and he will stand at the latter day upon the earth.

PEARL FISHERIES.—The Pearl Fisheries of Ceylon are among the most noted. The most skilful divers come from Collesh on the coast of Malabar, and some of these are alledged to have occasionally remained under water for the lapse of several minutes. According to the testimony of Mr. Le Beck, this fete was also performed by a Gaffre boy at Carrical. The following is the usual mode of diving for pearls:

By means of two cords, a diving stone and a net are connected with the boat. The diver putting the toes of his right foot on the car rope of the diving stone and those of his left on the net, seizes the two cords with one hand an' shutting his nostrils with the other, plunges into the water. On gaining the bottom he hangs the net around his neck and throws into it as many pearl shells as he can collect, while he is able to remain beneath the surface, which is generally about two minutes. He then resumes his former posture, and making a signal by pulling the cords, he is instantly hauled up into the boat. On emerging from the sea he discharges a quantity of water from his mouth and nose. There are generally ten divers to cach boat, and while five are respiring, the other five descend with the same stones. Each brings up about 100 oysters in his net at a time, and if not interrupted by any accident will make 50 trips in the course of a forenoon. The most frequent and fatal of the catastrophes to which they are subject, arises from sharks which by biting the diver in two, prevent his reascend-ing to the surface.—History of British Italy. FROM CANTON.—We are indebted to the politeness of Mr. James F. Thorndike, for the Chinese Courier of April 14th. Mr. T. came passenger in the ship Hamilton. The Courier states that the insurrection against the reigning Emperor was assuming a very serious aspect.—Boston Paper.

It is said that great difficulties are experienced in getting the imperial troops to face the enemy, and that better provisions, and even the forbidden opium were given to the forces, to induce them to porform their duty. Several large bodies of his Majesty's troops have been sent to the scene of action, where they were in several affairs worsted by the rebels, and in one instance, it is said that of 3000 men but seven escaped to tell the story of their defeat. There are many tales in circulation relative to these mountaineers and their success, which are evidently exaggerated. Two large towns, several villages and military posts have fallen into their kands.

The rebels have communication with the mountaineers in their neighborhood, and the hill-people of Kwag-se; and the Chinese say that very judicious measures have been adopted by the rebels for carrying on the campaign, they being well furnished with provisions and war-like stores. Many of the officers commanding the forces sent against them have been taken and destroyed, and after a serious defeat, in which his troops were entirely routed, the Foo yuen of Hou-Kwag was made prisoner.

The temper of the Chinese people generally, in regard to the present imperial government, is far from loyal, and there is little question that should the new self-nominated Emperor of China carry his success much farther, thousands who want but favorable opportunity to proceed to open rebellion, will join his standard.

The amount of property brought from Santa Fee, this year, is about $190,000; consisting of coin, gold and silver bullion, peltry and mules.

Supposing the earth to contain 800,000,000 of inhabitants, the cholera has already swept off more than a 16th of thrm.

THE YOUNGER SON. Behold the son that went away, And wasted his estate! He feign would beg among the swine, To taste the husks they eat.

I die with hunger here, he cries, I starve in foreign lands;

While father's house hath bread enough, And many hired hands.

I'll go, and to my father say, For follies I have done, O father, father, I have sin'd, And hardly am thy soul

He said, and hasten'd on his way, To seek his father's love; unto a place which I shall prepare, an holy city, that my people may gird up their loins, and be looking forth for the time of my coming; for there shall be my tabernacle, and it shall be called ZION, a new Jerusalem. And the Lord said unto Enoch, Then shalt thou and all thy city meet them there, and we will receive them into our bosom, and they shall see us, and we will fall upon their necks, and they shall fall upon our necks, and we will kiss each other, and there shall be mine abode, and it shall be Zion which shall come forth out of all the creations which I have made; and for the space of a thousand years shall the earth rest.

The father saw his Israel come, And all his bowels move.

This promise to Enoch, and many others to others, have been withheld from man, for many generations, on account of wickedness, and for want of faith: Still the bible has ever contained the blessed promise, though not as plain as the Lord has revealed in these last days. In fact the redemption of the bodies of the righteous, is one of the glorious myster-

the beauty of the Lord, and to inquire in his temple. Let it be remembered that David desired this thing, before the temple of Solomon was built: Knowing as he says in the 71st Psalm, Thou, which hast shewed me great and sore troubles, shalt quicken me again, and shalt bring me up again from the depths of the earth.

The prophets knew what the resurrection meant, having had the eyes of their understandings opened, in some instances, by the power of God, to behold the just rise from the dust, at the morning of the resurrection to meet ( hrist in the air: and live again in the flesh, on earth, a thousand years, while satan is bound. The apostles preached this doctrine with great power, showing that Christ had actually risen from the tomb, in the flesh, as a sample of what should follow. The 15th chapter of first Corinthians, contains many important things on the resurrection of the just, at the second coming of the Savior as well as hints and instructions, on the resurrection of all: Paul says: Moreover, ies of the Lord, unfolded unto them in the brethren, I declare unto you the gaspel which

I preached unto you, which also ye have re-ceived, and wherein ye stand; by which also ye are saved, if ye keep in memory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain. For I delivered unto you first of all, in vain. that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scrip-tures: And that he was seen of Cephas, then of the twelve: After that, he was seen of above five hundred brethren at once; of whom the greater part remain unto this pre-sent, but some are fallen asleep. After that, he was seen of James; then of all the apos-And last of all he was seen of me also, tles. as of one born out of due time. For I am the least of the apostles, that am not meet to be called an apostle, because I perscuted the church of God. But by the grace of God I am what I am: and his grace which was bestowed upon me, was not in vain; but I labored more abundantly than they all: yet not I, but the grace of God which was in me .-Therefore whether it were I or they, so we preach, and so ye believed. Now if Christ be preached that he rose from the dead, how say some among you that there is no resurrection of the dead? But if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not ris-And if Christ be not risen, then is our en. because we have testified of God that he raised up Christ: whom he raised not up, if so be that the dead rise not. For if the dead rise not, then is not Christ raised: And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins. Then they also which are yet in your sins. are fallen asleep in Christ are perished. If in this life only, we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable. But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept. For since by man came death, by man come also the resurrection of the dead. For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive. But every man in his own order: Christ the first fruits; afterward they that are Christ's at his coming.

Again: after Zion was taken up to heaven; yea, after the world had been, as it were, baptized for its former sins, the Lord revealed himself to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, wherefore, the children of Jacob, or Israel, as the Lord named him, became the elect nation to receive the Savior, and heirs of the promise, to rise in the first resurrection, and live again, in the flesh, on earth, if they walked in all the commandments of the Lord blameless: and there is something great promised to that nation, yet, notwithstanding it was scattered abroad for transgressing the commandment. It is the powerful word of the Lord, by the mouth of Ezekiel, which brings flesh upon the dry bones of Israel, and they are alive again. Ezekiel says:-The hand of the Lord was upon me, and carried me out in the Spirit of the Lord, and set me down in the midst of the valley which was full of bones, and caused me to pass by them round about, and behold, there were very many in the open valley; and, lo, they were very dry. And he said unto me, Son of man, can these bones live? and I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest. Again he said unto me, prophesy upon these bones, and say unto them, O ye dry bones, hear the word of the Lord. Thus saith the Lord God unto these bonce; Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and yo shall live: and I will lay sinews upon you, and will bring up flesh upon you, and cover you with skin, and put breath in you, and ye shall live, and ye shall know that I am the Lord. So I prophesied as I was commanded: " and as I prophesied, there was a noise, and behold a shaking, the bones came together, bone to his bone. And when I beheld, lo, the sinews & the flesh came up upon them, & the skin covered them above: but there was no breath in them. Then said he unto me, Prophesy unto the wind, prophesy, son of man, and say to the wind, thus saith the Lord God; Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe upon these slain, that they may live. So I prophesied as he commanded me, and the breath came into them, and they lived, the breath came into them, and they ived, and stood up upon their feet, an exceeding great army. Then he said unto me, Son of man, these bones are the whole house of Is-rael: behold, they say, our bones are dried, and our hope is lost: we are cut off for our parts. Therefore prophesy and say unto them, thus saith the Lord God; Behold, O my people, I will open your graves, and cause you to come up out of your graves, and bring you into the land of Israel. And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I have openyou up out of your graves, and shall put my Spirit in you, and ye shall live, and I shall place you in your own land: then shall ye know that I the Lord have spoken it, and performed it, saith the Lord.

This promise alone, to the house of Israel, is enough to establish the resurrection of the righteous, in the flesh; and the remainder of the chapter goes to confirm it, so that Israel may dwell in the land of his fathers; but to make the matter plainer, let us quote Paul's words to the Thessalonians: But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, conceruing them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope.— For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him. For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent them which are asleep. For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the arch-angel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. In this Paul does not say the righteous rise in the flesh, but he says, we which are alive, and remain, shall be caught up together with them, (the rising dead, such as the pure members of the Lord's church in the days of the apostles, &c., that dicd in the hope of a glorious resurrection) to meet the I ord in the air, which is just as plain as to have said, we which remain when the Lord comes the second time, shall be caught up in the body to meet him.

To the saints that trust in the Lord, the whole bible, seemingly, has a reference, in a greater or less degree, to the resurrection of the just. The Psalmist said the righteous shall inherit the land, and Christ said the meek shall inherit the earth, and so we might go on, and make quotations, till we had brought all that relates to the gospel, from Genesis to Revelations, but, to shorten the matter, and, we may say, to unfold the subject, and bring it to the common understanding of such as seek the truth, let us take a paragraph or two from the book of Mormon. In that, Alma says: Behold, 1 say unto you, that there is no resurrection; or I would say, in other words, that this mortal does not put on immortality; this corruption does not put on incorruption, until after the coming of Christ. Behold, he bringeth to pass the resurrection of the dead. But behold, my son, the resurrection is not yet. Now I unfold unto you a mystery; nevertheless, there are many mysteries, which are kept, that no one knoweth them, save God himself. But I shew unto you one thing, which I have in-quired diligently of God, that I might know; that is, concerning the resurrection. Behold, there is a time appointed that all shall come forth from the dead. Now when this time cometh, no one knows; but God knoweth the time which is appointed. Now whether there shall be one time, or a second time, or a third time, that men shall come forth from the dead, it mattereth not; for God knoweth all these things; and it sufficeth me to know that this is the case; that there is a time appointed that all shall rise from the dead. Now there must needs be a space betwixt the time of death, and the time of the resurrection .-And now I would inquire what becometh of the souls of men, from this time of death, to the time appointed for the resurrection? Now whether there is more than one time appointed for men to rise, it mattereth not; for all do not die at once; and this mattereth not; all is -as one day, with God; and time only is measured unto men; therefore there is a time appointed unto men, that they shall rise from the dead; and there is a space between the time of death and the resurrection. And now concerning this space of time. What becometh of the souls of men, is the thing which I have inquired ailigently of the Lord to know; and this is the thing of which I do know.--And when the time cometh when all shall rise, then shall they know that God knoweth all the times which are appointed unto man. Now concerning the state of the soul between death and the resurrection. Behold, it hath been made known unto me, by an angel, that the spirits of all men, as soon as they are departed from this mortal body; yea, the spir-its of all men, whether they be good or evil, are taken home to that God who gave them And then shall it come to pass that the life. spirits of those which are righteous, are received into a state of happiness, which is called paradise; a state of rest; a state of peace, where they shall rest from all their troubles, and from all care, and sorrow, &c. And then it shall come to pass, that the spirits of the wicked, yea, which are evil; for behold, they have no part nor portion of the Spirit of the Lord; for behold, they chose evil works, rather than good; therefore the spirit of the Devil did enter into them, and take posses-sion of their house; and these shall be cast out into outer darkness; there shall be weeping, and wailing, and ghashing of teeth; and hath been worried also, concerning this thing. this because of their own iniquity; being led But behold, I will explain it unto thee.

captive by the will of the Devil. Now this is the state of the souls of the wicked; yea, in darkness, and a state of awful, fearful looking for of the fiery indignation of the wrath cf God upon them; thus they remain in this state, as well as the righteous in paradise, until the time of their resurrection. Now there are some that have understood that this state of happiness, and this state of misery of the soul, before the resurrection, was a first resurrection. Yea, I admit it may be termed a resurrection; the raising of the spirit or the soul, and their consignation to happiness or misery, according to the words which have been spoken. And behold, again it hath been spoken, that there is a first resurrection; a resurrection of all those which have been, or which are, or which shall be, down to the resurrection of Christ from the dead. Now we do not suppose that this first resurrection which is spoken of in this monner, can be the resurrection of the souls, and their consignation to happiness or misery. Ye cannot suppose that this is what it meaneth. Behold, I say unto you Nay; but it meaneth the re-uniting of the soul with the body of those from the days of Adam, down to the resurrection of Christ. Now whether the souls and the bodies of those of which have been spoken, shall all be re-united at once, the wicked as well as the righteous, I do not say; let it suffice, that I say that they all come forth; or in other words, their resurrection cometh to pass before the resurrection of those which die after the resurrection of Now my son, I do not say that their Christ. resurrection cometh at the resurrection of Christ; but behold, I give it as my opinion, that the souls and the bodies are re-united, of the righteous, at the resurrection of Christ, and his ascension into heaven. But whether it be at his resurrection, or after, I do not say; but this much I say: That there is a space between death and the resurrection of the body, and a state of the soul in happiness or in misery, until the time which is appointed of God that the dead shall come forth, and be re-united, both soul and body, and be brought to stand before God, and be judged according to their works; yea, this bringeth about the restoration of those things of which have been spoken by the mouths of the prophets. The soul shall be restored to the body, and the body to the soul; yea, and every limb and joint shall be restored to its body; yea, even a hair of the head shall not be lost. but all things shall be restored to its proper and perfect frame. And now my son, this is the restoration of which has been spoken by the mouths of the prophets: And then shall the righteous shine forth in the kingdom of God. But behold, an awful death cometh upon the wicked; for they die as to things pertaining to things of rightcourses; for they are unclean, and no unclean thing can inherit the kingdom of God; but they are cast out, and consigned to partake of the fruits of their labors or their works, which have been evil; and they drink the dregs of a bitter cup.

And now my son, I have somewhat to say concerning the restoration of which has been spoken; for behold, some have arrested the scriptures, and have gone far astray, because of this thing. And I perceive that thy mind say unto thee, my son, that the plan of restoration is requisite with the justice of God; for It is requisite that all things should be restored Behold, it is requisite to their proper order. and just, according to the power and resurrection of Christ, that the soul of man should be restored to its body, and that every part of the body should be restored to itself. And it is requisite with the justice of God, that men should be judged according to their works; and if their works were good in this life, and the desires of their hearts were good, that they should also, at the last day, be restored unto that which is good; and if their works are evil, they shall be restored unto him for evil; therefore, all things shall be restored to their proper order; every thing to its natural frame; mortality raised to immortality; corruption to incorruption: raised to endless happiness, to inherit the kingdom of God, or to endless misery, to inherit the kingdom of the devil; the one on one hand, the other on the other; the one raised to happiness, according to his desires of happiness; or good, according to his desires of good; and the other to evil, according to his desires of evil; for as he has desired to do evil all the day long, even so shall he have his reward of evil, when the night cometh. And so it is on the other hand. If he hath repented of his sins, and desired righteousness until the end of his days, even so shall he be rewarded unto righteousness. These are they that are redeemed of the Lord; yea, these are they that are taken out, that are delivered from that endless night of darkness; and thus they stand or fall; for behold, they are their own judges, whether to do good or do evil. Now the decrees of God are unalterable; therefore the way is prepared, that whosoever will, may walk therein and be saved. And now behold, my son, do not risk one more offence against your God upon those points of doctrine, which ye hath hitherto risked to commit sin. Do not suppose because it hath been spoken concerning restoration, that ye shall be restored from sin to happiness. Behold I say unto you, wickedness never was happiness. And now my son, all men that are in a state of nature, or I would say, in a carnal state, are in the gall of bitterness, and in the bonds of iniquity; they are without God in the world, and they have gone contrary to the nature of God; therefore they are in a state contrary to the nature of happiness. And now behold, is the meaning of the word restoration. to take a thing of a natural state, and place it in an unnatural state, or to place opposite to its nature? O, my son, this is not the case; but the meaning of the word restoration, is to bring back again evil for evil, or carnal for carnal, or devilish for devilish; good for that which is good; righteous for that which is righteous; just for that which is just; merciful for that which is merciful; therefore, my son, see that ye are merciful unto your brethren; deal justly, judge righteously, and do good continually; and if ye do all these things, then shall ye receive your reward; yea, ye shall have mercy restored unto you again; ye shall have justice restored unto you again; ye shall have a righteous judgment restored unto you again; and ye shall have good rewarded unto you again: for that which ye doth send out, shall return unto you again, doth send out, shall return unto you again, off from his presence. And now the plan of and be restored: therefore the word restora. mercy could not be brought about, except an tion, more fully condemneth the sinner, and justifieth him not at all.

And now, my son, I perceive there is some-what more which doth worry your mind, which ye cannot understand, which is conwhich ye cannot understand, which is con-cerning the justice of God, in the punishment of the sinner: for ye do try to suppose that it is injustice that the sinner should be consigned to a state of misery. Now behold, my son, I will explain this thing unto thee: for behold, after the Lord God sent our first pa-rents forth from the garden of Eden to till the ground, from whence he was taken; yea, he drew out the man, and he placed at the east end of the garden of Eden, cherubims, and a flaming sword which turned every way, to keep the tree of life. Now we see that the man had become as God, knowing good and evil; and lest he should jut forth his hand, and take also of the tree of life, and eat, and live forever, that the Lord God placed cherubims and the flaming sword, that he should not partake of the fruit; and thus we see, that there was a time granted unto man, to repent, yea, a probationary time, a time to repent and serve Cod. For behold, if Adam had put forth his hand immediately, and par-took of the tree of life, he would have lived forever, according to the word of God, having no space for repentance; yea, and also the word of God would have been void, and the great plan of salvation would have been frustrated. But behold, it was appointed unto man to die; therefore as they were cut off from the tree of life, therefore they should be cut off from the face of the earth; and man became lost forever; yea, they became fallen And now we see by this, that our first man. parents were cut off, both temporally and spiritually, from the presence of the Lord; and thus we see they became subjects to follow after their own will. Now belold, it was not expedient that man should be reclaimed from this temporal death, for that would destroy the great plan of happiness; therefore, as the soul could never die, and the fall had brought upon all mankind a spiritual death as well as a temporal; that is, they were cut off from the presence of the Lord; therefore it was expedient that mankind should be reclaimed from this spiritual death; therefore as they had become carnal, sensual, and devilish, by nature, this probationary state became a state for them to prepare: it became a preparatory state. And now rcmember my son, if it were not for the plan of redemption, (laying it aside,) as soon as they were dead, their souls were miserable, being cut off from the presence of the Lord. And. now there was no means to reclaim men from this fallen state which man had brought upon himself, because of his own disobedience; therefore, according to justice, the plan of redemption could not be brought about, only, on conditions of repentance of men in this probationary state; yea, this preparatory state; for except it were for these conditions, mercy could not take effect except it should destroy the work of justice. Now the work of justice could not be destroyed: if so, God would cease to be God. And thus we see that all mankind were fallen, and they were in the grasp of justice; yea, the justice of God, which consigned them forever to be cut.

atonement should be made; therefore God himself atoneth for the sins of the world, to bring about the plan of mercy, to appease the demands of justice, that God might be a perfect just God, and a merciful God also. Now repentance could not come unto men, except there were a punishment, which also was as eternal as the life of the soul, should be affixed opposite to the plan of happiness, which was as eternal also as the life of the Now, how could a man repent, except soul. he should sin? How could he sin, if there was no law? How could there be a law, save there was a punishment? Now there was a punishment affixed, and a just law giv-Now there en, which brought remorse of conscience unto man. Now if there was no law given, if a man murdered he should die, would he be afraid he should die if he should murder?-And also, if there was no law given against sin, men would not be afraid to sin. And if there was no law given if men sinned, what could justice do, or mercy either, for they would have no claim upon the creature? But there is a law given, and a punishment affixed, and repentance granted; which repentance, mercy claimeth; otherwise, justice claimeth the creature, and executeth the law, and the law inflictcth the punishment; if not so, the works of justice would be destroyed, and God would cease to be God. But God ceaseth not to be God, and mercy claimeth the penitent, and mercy cometh because of the atonement; and the atonement bringeth to pass the resurrection of the dead; and the resurrection of the dead bringeth back men into the presence of God; and thus they are restored into his presence, to be judged according to their works; according to the law and justice; for behold, justice exerciseth all his demands, and also mercy claimeth all which is her own; and thus, none but the truly penitent are saved. What, do ye suppose that mercy can rob justice? I say unto you Nay; not one whit. If so, God would cease And thus God bringeth about to be God. his great and eternal purposes, which was prepared from the foundation of the world.-And thus cometh about the salvation and the redemption of men, and also their destruction and misery; therefore, O my son, whosoever will come, may come, and partake of the waters of life freely; and whosoever will not come, the same is not compelled to come; but in the last day, it shall be restored unto him according to his deeds. If he hath desi-red to do evil, and hath not repented in his days, behold, evil shall be done unto him, according to the restoration of God.

Our extract from Alma is somewhat long, but it is so full of instruction, that it needs no apology. What greater object can there be of the gospel, which was sent from heaven to Adam, and which has been preached at sundry times from his days until now, than that men might be prepared for the kingdom of God, that the kingdom of heaven might come down, and the righteous rise from the dead, and live again, in the flesh, on earth, a thousand years, before they go into eternity to dwell in the celestial kingdom? This subject is made very plain by the following extract from one of our late commandments from the blessed Redeemer: He that is faithful and endureth, shall overcome the world. He that sendeth up treasures unto the land of Zion, shall receive an inheritance in this world, and his works shall follow him; and also, a reward in the world to come; yea, and blessed are the dead that die in the Lord from henceforth, when the Lord shall come and old things shall pass away, and all things become new, they shall rise from the dead and shall not die, and shall receive an inheritance bcfore the Lord, in the holy city, and he that liveth when the Lord shall come, and have kept the faith, blessed is he, nevertheless, it is appointed to him to die at the age of man: wherefore, children shall grow up until they become old; old men shall die, but they shall not sleep in the dust, but they shall be changed in the twinkling of an eye: wherefore, for this cause preached the apostles unto the world, the resurrection of the dead: these things are the things that ye must look for, and speaking after the manner of the Lord, they are now nigh at hand; and in a time to come, even in the day of the coming of the Son of man, and until that time, there will be foolish virgins among the wise, and at that hour cometh an entire separation of the righteous and the wicked; and in that day will I send mine angels to pluck out the wicked, and cast them into unquenchable fire.

Not to go beyond our knowledge, there are at least two resurrections yet: one of the just, at the second coming of the Savior, and another at the day of judgment, after the thousand years of peace, when the books are opened, and all men judged according to their works. Concerning the first resurrection the Vision, published in the second number of the Star, says thus: And again, we bear record for we saw and heard, and this is the testimony of the gospel of Christ, concerning them who come forth in the resurrection of the just: they are they who received the tes-timony of Jesus, and believed on his name, and were baptized after the manner of his burial, being buried in the water in his rame; and this according to the commandment which he bath given, that, by keeping the commandment, they might be washed and cleans-ed from all their sins, and receive the Holy Ghost by the laying on of the hands of him who is ordained and sealed unto this power; and who overcome by faith, and are sealed by that Holy Spirit of promise, which the Father sheddeth forth upon all those who are just and true: they are they who are the church of the first-born: they are they into whose hands the Father hath given all things: they are they who are priests and kings, who having received of his fulness, and of his glory, are priests of the most High, after the order of Melchisedeck, which was after the order of Enoch, which was after the order of the only begotten Son: wherefore, as it is written, they are gods, even the sons of Goi: wherefore, all things are theirs, whether life or death, or things present, or things to come, all are theirs, and they are Christ's and Christ is God's: and they shall overcome all things: wherefore let no man glory in man, but rather let him glory in God, who shall subdue all encunies under his feet; these shall dwell in the presence of God and his Christ forever and ever: these are they whom he shall bring with him, when he shall come in the clouds of heaven, to reign on the earth over his people: these are they who shall have part in the first resurrection: these are

'hey who shall come forth in the resurrection of the just: these are they who are come unto mount Zion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly place, the holiest of all: these are they who have come to an innumerable company of angels; to the general assembly and church of Enoch, and of the first born: these are they whose names are written in heaven, where God and Christ is the judge of all: these are they who are just men made perfect through Jesus the Mediator of the new covenant, who wrought out this perfect atonement through the shedding of his own blood: these are they whose bodies are celestial, whose glory is that of the Son, even of God the highest of all: which glory the sun of the firmament is written of as being typical.

The above paragraph is so plain, that we might leave the subject here, but lest sny should be left in doubt, or blend the second coming of the Savior with the day of judgment, we continue. In the first resurrection, Christ comes to the righteons, but at the last day, the wicked stand before God and are judged according to their works: let us read the 20th chapter of Revelations: And I saw an angel come down from heaven, having the key of the bottomless pit and a great chain in his hand. And he laid hold on the dragon, that old scrpent, which is the devil, and sa-tan, and bound him a thousaud years, and cast him into the bottomless pit, and shut him up, and set a seal upon him, that he should deceive the nations no more, till the thousand years should be fulfilled; and after that he must be loosed a little season. And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and judgment was given unto them: and I saw the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God, and which had not worshiped the beast, neither his image, neither had received his mark upon their foreheads, or in their hands; and they lived and reigned with Christ a thousand years. But the rest of the dead lived not again until a thousand years were finished. This is the first resurrection. Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection: on such the second death hath no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years. And when the thousand years are expired, satan shall be loosed out of his prison, and shall go out to deceive the nations which are in the four quarters of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battle. the number of whom is as the sand of the sea. And they went up on the breadth of the earth, and compassed the earp of the saints about, and the beloved city: and fire came down from God out of heaven, and devoured them. And the devil that deceived them was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone, where the beast and the false prophet are, and shall be tormented day and night for ever and ever. And I saw a great white throne, and him that sat on it, from whose face the earth and the heaven fled away; and there was found no place for them. And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened, and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works. And the sea gave up dead which were in it; and death and hell delivered up the dead which were in them: and they were judged every man according to their works. And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death. And whosever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fre.

THE JEWS.

[From the Columbian Register.]

In Palestine of late years, the Jews have greatly increased. It is said that not fewer than 10,000 inhabit Saphet and Jerusalem. At this time the Jewsare nearly as numerous as when David swayed the sceptre of the twelve tribes; and on whatever part of the earth's surface they have their abode, their eyes & their faith are all pointed in the same direction-to the land of their fathers and the holy city where they worshiped. Though rejected by God, and persecuted by man, they have not once during 1800 long years, ceased to repose confidence in the promises made by Jehovah to the founders of their nation; and although the heart has often been sick, and the spirit faint, they have never relin-quished the hope of that bright reversion in the latter days, which is once more to establish the Lord's house on the top of the mountains, and to make Jerusalem the glory of the whole earth.

REMARKS .- The scripture shows two places of gathering: one at Zion, and the other at Jerusalem, for the law shall go forth out of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Je-rusalem. To make the subject plainer, let us read the 18th chapter of Isaiah: Wo to the land shadowing with wings, which is beyond the rivers of Ethiopia: that sendeth ambassadors by sea, even in vessels of bulrushes upon the waters, saying, Go, ye swift messen-gers, to a nation scattered and peeled, to a people terrible from their beginning hitherto; a nation meted out and troden down, whose land the rivers have spoiled! All ye inhabitants of the world, and dwellers on the earth, see ye, when he lifteth up an ensign on the mountains; and when he bloweth a trumpet; hear ye. For so the Lord said unto me, I will take my rest, and I will consider in my dwelling place like a clear heat upon herbs, and like a cloud of dew in the heat of harvest. For after the harvest, when the bud is perfect, and the sour grape is ripening in the flower, he shall both cut off the sprigs with pruninghooks, and take away and cut down the branches. They shall be left together unto the fowls of the mountains, and to the beasts of the earth: and the fowls shall summer upon them, and all the beasts of the earth shall winter upon them. In that time shall the present be brought unto the Lord of hosts of a people scattered and peeled, and from a peo-ple terrible from their beginning hitherto; a nation meted out and trodden under foot. whose land the rivers have spoiled, to the place of the name of the Lord of hosts, the mount Zion. Again in the 24th chapter is the following: From the uttermost parts of the earth have we heard songs, even glory to the righteous. But I said, My leanness, my leanness, wo unto me! the treacherous dealers have dealt treacherously; yea, the treacherous dealers have dealt treacherously. Fear the and the pit, and the snare, are upon thee, O of Joseph, for the which things there has been a type; for as Joseph brought his father down into the land of Egypt, even so he died there; wherefore the Lord brought a remnant of the seed of Joseph cut of the land of Jerusalem, that he might be merciful unto the seed of Joseph, that they should perish not, even as he was merciful unto the father of Joseph, that he should perish not, wherefore the remnant of the house of Joseph shall be built upon this land; and it shall be a land of their inheritance; and they shall build up a holy city unto the Lord, like unto the Jerusalem of old; and they shall no more be con founded, until the end come, when the earth shall pass away.

And it shall come to inhabitant of the earth. pass, that he who fleeth from the noise of the fear shall fall into the pit; and he that cometh up out of the midst of the pit shall be taken in the snare: for the windows from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth do shake. The earth is utterly broken down, the earth is clean dissolved, the earth is moved exceedingly. The earth shall reel to and fro like a drunkard, and shall be remo-ved like a cottage; and the transgression thereof shall be heavy upon it; and it shall fall, and not rise again. And it shall come to pass in that day, that the Lord shall pun-ish the host of the high ones that are on high, and the kings of the earth upon the And they shall be gathered together, earth. as prisoners are gathered in the pit, and shall be shut up in the prison, and after many days shall they be visited. Then the moon shall be confounded, and the sun ashamed when the Lord of hosts shall reign in mount Zion and in Jerusalem, and before his ancients gloriously. Again, in the 62d chapter we read: For Zion's sake will I not hold my peace, and for Jerusalem's sake I will not rest, until the righteousness thereof go forth as brightness, and the salvation thereof as a lamp that burneth. Aud the Gentiles shall see thy righteousness, and all kings thy glory: and thou shalt be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name.--Thou shalt also be a crown of glory in the hand of the Lord and a royal diadem in the hand of thy God. Thou shalt no more be termed forsaken; neither shall thy land any more be termed desolate: but thou shalt be called Hephzi-bah, and thy land Beulah: for the Lord delighteth in thee, and thy land shall be married. Jeremiah says, in the 23d chapter and 3d verse: And I will gather the remnant of my flock out of all countries whither I have driven them, and will bring them again to their folds: and they shall be fruitful and increase. And again, in the 31st chapter, 4th, 5th, and 6th verses: Again I will build thee, and thou shalt be built, O wirgin of Israel: thou shalt again be adorned with thy tabrets, and shalt go forth in the dances of them that make merry. Thou shalt yct plant vines upon the mountains of Samaria: the planters shall plant, and shall eat them as common things. For there shall be a day. that the watchmen upon the mount Ephraim shall cry, Arise ye, and let us go up to Zion unto the Lord our God. Joel says in the last verse of his second chapter, that it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be delivered: for in mount Zion and in Jerusalem shall be deliverance, as the Lord hath said, and in the remnant whom the Lord shall call. And the book of Mormon says, in the sixth chapter of Ether: Behold, Ether saw the days of Cl r'st, and he spake concerning a New Jerusalem upon this land; and he spake also concerning the house of Israel, and the Jerusalem from whence Lehi should come; after that it shorl-l be destroyed, it should be built up again a holy city unto the Lord; wherefore it could not be a new Jerusalem, for it had been in a time of old, but it should be built up again, and become a holy city of the Lord; and it should be built up unto the house of Israel; and that a new Jerusalem should be built up upon this land, unto the remnant of the seed | shall dwindle in unbelief because of iniquity:

This being the case, the abov - article gives us some joy: the word of the Lord has gone out in righteousness, and will not return void: Israel will now be gathered from all the countries where he was scattered, ready to enter into the sacred rest with all that have part in the first resurrection. It is not scripture, however, that Jerusalem is to become "the glory of the whole earth" but the Lord says, a praise; and beautiful for situation, the joy of the whole earth, is mount Zion, on the sides of the north, the city of the great King.

The command of the Lord to restore, has gone forth, that Israel may prepare to meet his God; and how easy it would be for the world to know it, if they would scarch the words of the Lord, and watch the signs of the times: for the Holy One of Israel, the Savior, while ministering to the Nephitcs, which dwelt on this continent, and who were a branch of Israel, and of the tribe of Joseph, thus said: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, all these things shall surely come, even as the Father hath commanded me. Then shall Father hath commanded me. this covenant which the Father Lath covenanted with his people, be fulfilled; and then shall Jerusalem be inhabited again with my people: and it shall be the land of their inheritance. And verily, 1 say unto you, I give unto you a sign, that ye may know the time when these things shall be about to take place, that I shall gather in from their long dispersion, my people, O house of Israel, and shall establish again among them my Zion. And behold, this is the thing which I will give unto you for a sign: for verily, I say unto you, that when these things which I declare unto you, and which I shall declare un-to you hereafter of myself, and by the power of the Holy Ghost, which shall be given unto you of the Father, shall be made known unto the Gentiles, that they may know concerning this people which are a remnant of the house of Jacob, and concerning this my neople which shall be scattered by them; verily, verily, I say unto you, when these things shall be made known unto them of the Father, and shall come forth of the Father from them unto you: for it is wisdom in the Father that they should be established in this land, and be set up as a free [ cople by the power of the Father, that these things might come forth from them unto a remnant of your seed, that the covenant of the Father may be fulfilled which he hath covenanted with his people, O house of Israel; therefore, when these works, and the works which shall be wrought among you hereafter, shall come forth from the Gentiles unto your seed, which for thus it behooveth the Father that it should come forth from the Gentiles, that he may shew forth his power unto the Gentiles, for this cause: that the Gentiles, if they will not harden their hearts, that they may repent and come unto mé, and be baptized in my name, and know of the true points of my doctrine, that they may be numbered among my people, O house of Israel; and when these things shall come to pass, and thy seed shall begin to know these things, it shall be a sign unto them, that they may know that the work of the Father hath already commenced unto the fulfilling of the covenant which he hath made unto the people which are of the house of Israel. And when that day shall come, it shall come to pass that kings shall shut their mouths: for that which had not been told them shall they see; and that which they had not heard shall they consider. For in that day, for :ny sake shall the Father work a work, which shall be a great and a marvelous work among them; and there shall be among them which will not believe it, although a man shall declare it unto them. But behold, the life of my servant shall be in my hand; therefore they shall not hurt him, although he shall be marred be-cause of them. Yet I will heal him, for I will shew unto them that my wisdom is greater than the cunning of the devil. Therefore it shall come to pass, that whoseever will not believe in my words, which am Jesus Christ, which the Father shall cause him to bring forth unto the Gentiles, and shall give unto him power that he shall bring them forth unto the Gentiles, (it shall be done even as Moses said,) they shall be cut off from among my people which are of the covenant; and my people which are a remnant of Jacob, shall be among the Gentiles, yea, in the midst of them, as a lion among the beasts of the forest, as a young lion among the flocks of sheep, who, if he go through, both treadeth down and teareth in pieces, and none can deliver. Their hand shall be lifted up upon their adversaries, and all their enemies shall be cut Yea, wo be unto the Gentiles, except off. they repent: for it shall come to pass in that day, saith the Father, that I will cut off thy horses out of the midst of thee, and I will destroy thy chariots, and I will cut off the cities of thy land, and throw down all thy strong holds; and I will cut off witchcrafts out of thy hand, and thou shalt have no more soothsayers; thy graven images I will also cut off, and thy standing images out of the midst of thee, and thou shalt no more worship the works of thy hands; and I will pluck up thy groves out of the midst of thee; so will I destroy thy cities. And it shall come to pass that all lyings, and deceivings, and envyings, and strifes, and priestcrafts, and whoredoms, shall be done away. For it shall come to pass, saith the Father, that at that day, whosoever will not repent and come unto my beloved Son, them will I cut off from among my people, O house of Israel: and I will execute vengeance and fury upon them, even as upon the heathen such as they have not heard."

Thus said the Lord unto the Nephiter, upon this land, and it will come to pass. But this is not all, for Zechariah says, by the power of the Lord, which stretcheth forth the heavens, and layeth the foundation of the earth, and formeth the spirit of man within | head, for the hour of his redemption is nigh.

him: Behold, I will make Jerusalem a cup of trembling unto all the people round about, when they shall be in the siege both against Judah and against Jerusalem. And in that day will I make Jerusalem a burdensome stone for all the people: and all that burden themselves with it shall be cut in pieces, tho' all the people of the earth be gathered together against it. In that day, saith the Lord, I will smite every horse with astonishment, and his rider with madness: and I will open mine eyes upon the house of Judah, and will smite every house of the people with blind-ness. And the governors of Judah shall say in their heart, The inhabitants of Jerusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hosts their God. In that day will I make the governors of Judah like a hearth of fire among the wood, and like a torch of fire in a sheaf; and they shall devour all the people round about, on the right hand and on the left and Jerusalem shall be inhabited again in her own place, even in Jerusalem. The Lord also shall save the tents of Judah first, that the glory of the house of David and the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem do not magnify themselves against Judah. In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Jerusalem; and he that is feeble among them at that day shall be as David; and the house of David shall be as God, as the angel of the Lord before them. And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will seek to destroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem. And I will pour upon the house of David and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the spirit of grace and of supplications: and they shall look upon me whom they have pierced, and they shall mourn for him, as one mourneth for his only son, and shall be in bitterness for him, as one that is in bitterness for his firstborn. In that day shall there be a great mourning in Jerusalem, as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.-And the land shall mourn, every family spart: the family of the house of David apart, and their wives apart; the family of the house of Nathan apart, and their wives apart; the family of the house of Levi apart, and their wives apart; the family of Shimei apart, and their wives apart; all the families that remair, every family apart, and their wives apart.

Thus spoke Zechariah unto Israel, and it will come to pass, for Jacob while telling his sons what should befall them in the last days, says of Judah, and unto him shall the gathering of the people be. And Moses said: Hear, Lord, the voice of Judah, and bring him unto his people. Well may the Jews look for the Lord, and well may Israel begin to lift up his

THE WAY OF JOURNEYING FOR THE SAINTS OF CHRIST.

Feeling a great anxiety for the welfare of the disciples of our coming Lord, that they may keep his commandments blameless, at all times, and in all things relative to their salvation, it is thought proper to give some instruction upon the subject of journeying to the land of Zion. Fulfilling the commandment, and experience, have already shown, that, to come by land, especially from the state of Ohio, and this side, is the safest, and generally the quickest, and cheapest. Besides the saving of time and money, you save risks and many dangers: Firstly, of disasters upon the waters, and secondly, in some degree, the fear and trouble of the cholera, which the Lord has sent into the world, and which may, without repentance, ravage the large towns near the waters, many years, or at least, till other judgments come.

Again: When a number of disciples are crowded together upon a boat, they cannot attend to their prayers before the Lord, in the season thereof, that they may enjoy the influence of the Holy Spirit: Wherefore, they cannot set that example before the world, which will be seen among them that journey like the children of Israel, pitching their tents by the way; preaching to the inhabitants as much by deeds, as by words; walking so worthily before the Lord; keeping his commandments so strictly, in very deed, and bearing their fatigue so patiently, that the most careless people, about things of eternity, will be constrained to say: They act like the children of God. Brethren, great things are required at your hands: you have the immediate commandments of the Lord to walk by, and if you do not keep them, in every point, how do you suppose that the unbelieving can be made to believe them? or how can you expect the blessings of heaven? If you would persuade the people to keep the commandments, you must first keep them yourselves. If you would entice men to flee from the wrath to come, you must go yourselves: If you would urge men to leave the houses they now live in, you must show them better ones. Evil must be overcome with good.

In the commandment which follows, the Lord points out the way for his saints to journcy. In others there are necessary cantions and hints: For instance: The bishop, or his agent, is to make known the privileges of the land from time to time, &c., that the gathering be not in haste, or by flight. Again : Every disciple that comes to Zior, as a faithful servant that would be approved, must bring with him, a certificate from the bishop in the east, or from three elders; and let not your flight be in haste, but let all things be prepared before you. And now, behold, this is the will of the Lord your God, concerning his saiats: That they should assemble themselves together unto the land of Zion, not in haste, lest there shall be confusion, which bringeth pestilence. Now brethren, you behold for yourselves, that the language of the Lord is plain, and positive, and, if you should act contrary to his commandments, you may not only be sorely chastened, but even consumed by the pestilence, for as sure as the Lord lives, he will not be mocked with the pretensions of any in these last days: The Lord requires of all men to fulfil their yows unto him: Therefore, if you promise to keep his commandments, do so, and the blessings of heaven are yours.

REVELATION GIVEN AUGUST, 1831.

Behold, and hearken unto the voice of him who has all power, who is from everlasting to everlasting, even Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. Behold, verily thus saith the Lord unto you O ye elders of my church, who are assembled upon this spot, whose sins are now forgiven you, for I the Lord forgiveth sins, and am merciful unto those who confess their sins with humble hearts: but verily I say unto you, that it is not needful for this whole company of mine elders, to be moving swiftly upon the waters, whilst the inhabitants on either side are perishing in unbelief: nevertheless, I suffered it that ye might bear record: behold there are many dangers upon the waters and more especially hereafter, for I the Lord have decreed, in mine anger, many destructions upon the waters; yea, and especially upon these waters; nevertheless, all flesh is in mine hand, and he that is faithful among you, shall not perish by the waters.

Wherefore it is expedient that my servant Sidney Gilbert, and my servant William W. Phelps, be in haste upon their errand and mission: nevertheless I would not suffer that ye should part until you are chastened for all your sins, that you might be one; that you might not perish in wickedness; but now verily I say, it behooveth me that ye should part: wherefore let my servants Sidney Gilbert and William W. Phelps, take their former company, and let them take their journey in haste that they may fill their mission, and through faith they shall overcome; and inasmuch as they are faithful, they shall be preserved, and I the Lord will be with them. And let the residue take that which is needful for clothing. Let my servant Sidney Gilbert take that which is not needful with him, as you shall agree. And now behold, for your good I gave unto you a commandment concerning these things; and I the Lord will reason with Behold I the Lord in the beginning, blessed the waters, but in the last days by the mouth of my servant John, I cursed the waters: wherefore, the days will come that no flesh shall be safe upon the waters, and it shall be said in days to come, that none is able to go up to the land of Zion, upon the waters, but he that is upright in heart. And, as I the Lord in the begininng cursed the land, even so in the last days have I blessed it, in its time, for the use of my saints, that they may partake the fatness thereof. And now I give unto you a commandment, and what I say unto one I say unto all, that you shall forewarn your brethren concerning these waters, that they come not in journeying upon them, lest their faith fail and they are caught in her snares: I the Lord have decreed, and the destroyer rideth upon the face thereof, and I revoke not the decree: I the Lord was angry with you yesterday, but to-day mine anger is turned away. Wherefore let those concernturned away. Wherefore let those concern-ing whom I have spoken, that should take their journey in haste, again I say unto you, let them take their journey in haste, and it mattereth not to me, after a little, if it so be that they fill their mission, whether they go by water or by land: let this be as it is made known unto them according to their judgments, hereafter.

And now, concerning my servants Sidney Rigdon, and Joseph Smith, jr. and Oliver Cowdery, let them come not again upon the waters, save it be upon the canal, while journeying unto their homes, or in other words, they shall not come upon the waters to journey, save upon the canal. Behold I the Lord have appointed a way for the journeying of my saints, and behold this is the way: that after they leave the canal, they shall journey by land, inasmuch as they are commanded to journey and go up unto the land of Zion; and they shall do like unto the children of Israel, pitching their tents by the way.

And behold this commandment you shall give unto all your brethren: nevertheless unto whom it is given power to command the wa-ters, unto him it is given by the Spirit to know all his ways: wherefore let him do as the Spirit of the living God commandeth him, whether upon the land or upon the waters, as it remaineth with me to do hereafter; and unto you it is given the course for the saints, or the way for the saints of the camp of the Lord, to journey. And again, verily I say unto you, my servants Sidney Rigdon, and Joseph Smith, jr. and Oliver Cowdery, shall not open their mouths in the congregations of the wicked, until they arrive at Cincinnati; and in that place they shall lift up their voi-ces unto God against that people: yea, unto him whose anger is kindled against their wickedness; a people who is well nigh ripened for destruction; and from thence let them journey for the congregations of their brethren, for their labors, even now, are wanted more abundantly among them, than among the congregations of the wicked.

And now concerning the residue, let them journey and declare the word among the congregations of the wicked, inasmuch as it is given, and inasmuch as they do this they shall rid their garments, and they shall be spotless before me; and let them journey together, or two by two, as seemeth them good, only let my servant Reynelds Cahoon, and my servant Samuel H. Smith, with whom I am well pleased, he not separated until they return to their homes, and this for a wise purpose in me. And now verily I say unto you, and what I say unto one I say unto all, he of good cheer little children, for I am in your midst, and I have not forsaken you, and inasmuch as you have humbled yourselves before me, the blessings of the kingdom are yours. Gird up your loins and be watchfol, and he sober, looking forth for the coming of the Son of man, for he cometh in an hour you think not. Pray always that you enter not into temptation, that you may abide the day of his coming, whether in life or in death; even so. Amen.

Hearken and listen to the voice of the Lord, O ye who have assembled yourselves together, who are the high priests of my church, to whom the kingdom and power has been giv-For verily thus saith the Lord, it is exen. pedient in me, for a bishop to be appointed unto you, or of you unto the church in this part of the Lord's viney: rd: and verily in this thing ye have done wisely, for it is required of the Lord, at the hand of every steward, to render an account of his stewardship, both in time and in eternity. For he who is faithful and wise in time, is accounted worthy to inherit the mansions prepared for them of my Father. Verily I say unto you, the elders of the church in this part of my vineyard, shall render an account of their stewardship, unto the bishop which shall be appointed of me, in this part of my vineyard. These things shall this part of my vineyard. be had on record to be handed over unto the bishop in Zion; and the duty of the bishop shall be made known by the commandments which have been given, and the voice of the conference.

And now, verily I say unto you, my servant Newel K. Whitney is the man who shall be appointed, and orderned unto this power: this is the will of the Lord your God, your Redeemer; even so. Amen. The word of the Lord, in addition to the law which has been given, making known the duty of the bishop, which has been ordained unto the church in this part of the vineyard; which is verily this: to keep the Lord's storehouse; to receive the funds of the church in this part of the vineyard; to take an account of the elders as before has been commanded, and to administer to their wants, who shall pay for that which they receive, inasmuch as they have wherewith to pay; that this also may be consecrated to the good of the church, to the poor and needy: and he who hath not wherewith to pay, an account shall be taken and handed over to the bishop in Zion, who shall pay the debt out of that which the Lord shall put into his hands: and the labors of the faithful who labor in spiritual things, in administering the gospel and the things of the kingdom, unto the church, and unto the world, shall answer the debt unto the bishop in Zion: thus it cometh out of the church, for according to the law every man that cometh up to Zion, must lay all things before the bishop in Zion.

And now, verily I say unto you, that as every elder in this part of the vineyard, must give an account of his stewardship unto the bishop in this part of the vineyard, a certificate from the judge or bishop in this part of the vineyard, unto the bishop in Zion, rendereth every man acceptable, and answereth all things, for an inheritance, and to be re-ceived as a wise steward, and as a faithful laborer; otherwise he shall not be accepted of the bishop in Zion. And now, verily I say unto ycu, let every elder who shall give an account unto the bishop of the church, in this part of the vineyard, be recommended by the church or churches, in which he labors, that he may render himself and his accounts approved in all things. And again, let my servants a ho are appointed stewards over the literary concerns of my church, have claim for assistance upon the bishop cr bishops, in all things, that the revelations may be pub-lished, and go forth unto the ends of the earth, that they also may obtain funds which shall benefit the church, in all things: that they also may render themselves approved in all things and be accounted as wise stewards. And now, behold this shall be an ensample for all the extensive branches of my church, in whatsoever land they shall be established. And now I make an end of my sayings. Amen.

A few words in addition to the laws of the kingdom, respecting the members of the church; they that are appointed by the Holy Spirit to go up unto Zion; and they who are privileged to go up unto Zion. Let them carry up unto the bishop a certificate from three elders of the church, or a certificate from the bishop, otherwise he who shall go up unto the land of Zion, shall not be ac-counted as a wise steward. This is also an ensample. Amen.

THE INDIANS.

It is not only gratifying, but almost marvelous, to witness the gathering of the Indians. The work has been going on for some time, and these remnants of Joseph gather by hundreds and settle west of the Missouri and Arkansas. And is not this scripture fulfilling: Give ear, O Shepherd of Israel, thou that leadest Joseph like a flock, through the instrumentality of the government of the United States? For it is written, Behold I will lift up my hand to the Gentiles, and set up my standard to the people: and they shall bring thy sons in their arms, and thy daughters shall be carried upon their shoulders.-Thus said the prophet and so it is; and there is reason to rejoice that the great purposes of the Lord are fulfilling before our eyes, and that the time is approaching when his people will be willing in the day of his power.-Last week about 400, out of 700 of the Shaw. nees from Ohio, passed this place for their inheritance a few miles west, and the scene was at once calculated to refer the mind to the prophecies concerning the gathering of Israel in the last days. For the instruction of our readers, we make a quotation from the book of Mormon: And I command you that doctring, that they may be numbered among ye shall write these sayings, after that I am gone, that if it so be that my people at Jerusalem, they which have seen me, and been with me in my ministry, do not ask the Father in my name, that they may receive a knowledge of you by the Holy Ghost, and also of the other tribes which they know not of, that these sayings which ye shall write, shall be kept, and shall be manifested unto the Gentiles, that through the fulness of the Gentiles, the remnant of their seed which shall be scattered forth upon the face of the earth, because of their unbelief, may be brought in, or may be brought to a knowledge of me, their Redeemer. And then will I gather them in from the four quarters of the earth; and then will I fulfil the covenant which the Father hath made unto all the people of the house of Israel. And blessed are the Gentiles, because of their belief in me, in and of the Holy Ghost, which witness unto them or me and of the Father. Behold, because of their belief in me, saith the Father, and because of the unbelief of you, O house of Israel, in the latter day shall the truth come unto the Gentiles, that the fulness of these things shall be made known unto them.

And verily, I say unto you, I give unto you a sign, that ye may know the time when these things shall be about to take place that I shall gather in from their long dispersion, my people, O house of Israel, and shall es-tablish again among them my Zion. And behold, this is the thing which I will give unto you for a sign: for verily, I say unto you, that when these things which I declare unto you, and which I shall declare unto you hereafter of myself, and by the power of the Holy Ghost, which shall be given unto you of the Father, shall be made known unto the Gentiles, that they may know concerning this people which are a remnant of the house of Jacob, and concerning this my people which shall be scattered by them; verily, verily, I say unto you, when these things shall be made known unto them of the Father, and shall come forth of the Father from them unto you: for it is wisdom in the Father that they should be established in this land, and be set up as a free people by the power of the Father, that these things might come forth from them unto a remnant of your seed, that the covenant of the Father may be fulfilled which he hath covenanted with his people, O house of Israel: therefore, when these works, and the works which shall be wrought among you hereafter, shall come forth from the Gentiles unto your seed, which shall dwindle in unbelief because of iniquity: for thus it behooveth the Father that it should come forth from the Gentiles, that he may show forth his power unto the Gentiles, for this cause, that the Gentiles, if they will not harden their hearts, that they may repent and come unto me, and be baptized in my name, and know of the true points of my my people, O house of Israel; and when these things come to pass, that thy seed shall begin to know these things, it shall be a sign unto them, that they may know that the work of the Father hath already commenced unto the fulfilling of the coveriar t which he hath made unto the people which are of the house of Israel. And when that day shall come, it shall come to pass that kings shall shut their mouths: for that which had not been told them shall they see; and that which they had not heard shall they consider. For in that day, for my sake shall the Father work a work, which shall be a great and a marvelous work among them; and there shall be among them which will not believe it although a man shall declare it unto them.

ZION.

It was said, when the righteous gathered together, in the days of Enoch, that the Lord called his people Zion, because they were of one heart and of one mind, and dwelt in righteousness; and there was no poor among them: and such must be the case in these last days, when the Lord is pruning his vineyard for the last time, and gathering his elect from the four quarters of the earth. One cannot be above another in wealth, nor below another for want of means, for the earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof. Neither shall men labor for the Lord for wages. As it is written in the book of Mormon: Behold, the Lord hath forbidden this thing; wherefore, the Lord God hath given a commandment, that all men should have charity, which charity is love. And except they should have charity, they were nothing: wherefore, if they should have charity, they would not suffer the laborer in Zion to perish. But the laborer in Zion, shall labor for Zion; for if they labor for money, they shall perish.

Men have no right to trust in an arm of flesh, and for this reason, that Zion may again be built up on earth, that faith may increase, and the saints rely upon the mercies of God, and as the Lord hath said in the preface to his commandments: Wherefore I the Lord, knowing the calamity which should come upon the inhabitants of the earth, called upon my servant Joseph, and spake unto him from heaven, and gave him commandments; and also gave commandments to others, that they should proclaim these things unto the world, and all this that it might be fulfilled, which was written by the prophets: The weak things of the world should come forth and break down the mighty and strong ones; that man should not counsel his fellow man, neither trust in the arm of flesh, but that every man might speak in the name of God, the Lord, even the Savior of the world; | our consideration, that faith also might increase in the earth; that mine everlasting covenant might be established; that the fulness of my gospel might be proclaimed by the weak and the simple, unto the ends of the world; and before kings and rulers.

The book of Mormon declares that the land which is now called America, is a choice land above all others, and we believe it, because the Lord has said it, and we have seen it.— At present, the world thinks much of America because it is trying the experiment of a free government; and the people of the Lord are beginning to lift up their heads and rejoice, because Jesus the Redeemer is setting up his kingdom upon this choice land above all others, and it is no more to be confounded,

We came across the following, which brought to mind the above reflections:--

A LEAF FROM AN OLD ALMANAC: // [From the New England Magazine for Sept.] The father of the late Fisher Ames, it is generally known, published an Almanac for a long series of years, which in its day was highly appreciated and extensively circula-ted. A mutilated file of this annual was lately found among a bundle of rags, and rescued from the devouring maw of the paper-mill.-It affords, if not a feast, a comfortable luncheon or tit-bit to an antiquarian appetite. The contents of one leaf are worthy of preservation. It has already escaped the "con-flagration" dreaded by its publisher, for al-most three quarters of a century; and should it he appublisher and should it be republished, verbatim et literatim, some future antiquarian may be pleased to find i*, as long hence, and pass it on to still future generations. According to all present ap-pearances, the dream of the almanac-maker seems likely, in every respect, "to come to pass.'

"America is a subject which daily becomes more and more interesting:—I shall therefore fill these pages with a word upon its past, present and future state.

"I. First, of its past state. Time has cast a shade upon this scene.-Since the creation innumerable accidents have happened here, the bare mention of which would create wonder and surprise; but they are all lost in obli-vion: the ignorant natives for want of letters have forgotten their stock; and know not from whence they came, or how, or when they arrived here, or what has happened since. Who can tell what wonderful changes have happened by the mighty operations of nature, such as deluges, volcanoes, earthquakes, &c .- Or whether great tracts of land were not absorbed into those vast lakes or inland seas which occupy so much space to the west of us-But to leave the natural, and come to the political state: we know how the French have erected a line of forts from the Ohio to Nova Scotia, including all the inestimable country to the west of us, in their exorbitant claim. This, with infinite jus-tice, the English resented; and in this cause our blood has been spilled: which brings to

EVENING AND MORNING STAR.

"II. Secondly, The present state of NORTH AMERICA. A writer upon this present time says, 'The parts of North America which may be claimed by Great Britain or France are of as much worth as either kingdom.---That fertile country to the west of the Appalachian mountains (a string of 8 or 900 miles in length) between Canada and the Mississippi, is of larger extent than all France, Germany and Poland; and well provided with rivers, a very fine wholesome air, a rich soil, capa-ble of producing food and physick and all things necessary for the conveniency of life: in fine, the garden of the worldl'-Time was, we might have been possessed of it: at this time two mighty kings contend for this ines-timable prize:-their respective claims are to be measured by the length of their swords. The poet says, the gods and opportunity ride post; that you must take her by the forelock being bald behind. Have we not too fondly depended upon our numbers?-Sir Francis Brown says, 'the wolf careth not how many the sheep be:' but numbers well spirited, with the blessing of heaven will do wonders, when by military skill and discipline, the commanders can actuate (as by one soul) the most numerous bodies of armed people:--our num-Lers will not avail till the colonies are united; for whilst divided, the strength of the inhabitants is broken like the petty kingdoms in Africa.-If we do not join heart and hand in the common cause against our exulting foes, but fall to disputing among ourselves, it may really happen as the Governor of Pennsylvania told his assembly, 'we shall have no privilege to dispute about, nor country to dispute in.'

"III. Thirdly, of the future state of NORTH AMERICA. Here we find a vast stock of proper materials for the art and ingenuity of man to work upon:-treasures of immense worth, concealed from the poor ignorant abo-riginal natives! The curious have observed that the progress of human literature (like the sun) is from east to west; thus has it travelled through Asia and Europe, and is now arrived at the castern shore of America. As the celestial light of the gospel was di-rected here by the finger of GOD, it will doubtless, finally drive the long! long! night of heathenish darkness from America:--80 arts and sciences will change the face of nature in their tour from hence over the Appalachian mountains to the western ocean; and as they march through the vast desert, the residence of wild beasts will be broken up, and their obscene howl cease forever;-instead of which, the stones and trees shall dance together at the music of Orpheus,the rocks will disclose their hidden gems,-and the inestimable treasures of gold and silver be broken up. Huge mountains of iron ore are already discovered; and vast stores are reserved for future generations: this metal more useful than gold or silver, will employ millions of hands, not only to form the martial sword, and peaceful share, alternately; but an infinity of utensils improved in the exercise of art, and handicraft amongst men. Nature through all her works has stamped authority on this law, namely, 'that all fit matter shall be improved to its best purposes.' Shall not then those vast quarries, that teem with mechanic stone,-those for structure be piled into great cities, and those for sculpture into statues to perpetuate the honor of renowned heroes; even those who shall NOW save their country.

Ol ye unborn inhabitants of Americal should this page escape its destined conflagration at the year's end, and these alphabetical letters remain legible,—when your eyes behold the sun after he has rolled the seasons round for two or three centuries more, you will know that in ANNO DOMINI 1758, we dreamed of your times.

NATH. AMES."

GREAT DROUGHT.

The following account of a great drought, is taken from Niles' Register; and, while we read, we cannot help exclaiming: The judgments of God are in all the earth! All flesh is grass, and the wicked shall be cut off, for the Lord will cleanse the world of its corruption.

THE CAPE DE VERD ISLANDS.—No considerable quantity of rain has fallen on these islands for three years—and the land has become parched, and unfit for cultivation; the seed that was sown in the present year remains without the appearance of vitality.— Most of the animals had died of starvation, and the people were hardly able to keep up a miserable existence—their means of purchasing provisions being exhausted by the long duration of the drought—and 12 or 14 were dying daily at Port Praya only. These islands were inhabited by 60 or 70,000 persons; and it is thought that the greater part must perish, if charitable relief be not speedily obtained.

Again: the same paper has an account, also of the following "NEW DISCOVERED ISL-LANDS! Capt. Hiram Covell, of the barque Alliance, has just returned to Newport, R. I. from the Pacific ocean, and states that on the 7th May, 1831, in latitude 4 deg. 30 min. N. longitude 168 deg. 40 min. E. he discovered a group of 14 islands not laid down on any chart. They were all inhabited, and the natives spoke the Spanish language. He called them the Covell Group."

So the great purposes of the Lord are unfolding to the view of the inhabitants of the earth, for he has some choice souls among every nation, kindred, tongue, and people; and they must hear his voice and be gathered to Zion, for he hath said the isles shall wait for his law.

It is the will of God that the truth should be known by all men, and it is also according to the order of the Lord, that the church of Christ should have the gifts as in the days of the apostles and prophets: The tollowing letter which appeared in the N. Y. Evangelist, makes a disciple of the Savior think that the Lord will pour out his Spirit upon all flesh that will serve him in truth, in the last days.

Bradford county, Pa. August, 1832. "SIR-The prayer of my heart to God is, that you may believe the scriptures of the old and new Testament, if you do not be-lieve what I write. But I now tell you what has taken place since I arrived here. On the 30th of July, there was an appointment for preaching, at 4 o'clock, P. M. by a Methodist. We went to the place but he did not attend; and we occupied the time by prayer and ex-hortation. The company were Methodists, and a class of people called Mormonites.-After the meeting was over, notice was given that there would be a meeting in the eve-ning at my brother's house. Some of the Mormonites, together with others, collected, and the meeting commenced and went on the same as your meetings do, until about 10 o'clock, when I should say, by what I saw and feit, of a truth the Lord was present with The spirit seemed to rest and clothe up-118. on a Mrs. Conkling, and I thought, and think yet, that I heard a few words of a language that I could not understand. You must know that my mind was on the look out. And not long after, perhaps forty-five minutes, she broke forth in prayer to God, in a language that I could not understand, and continued two or three minutes, and then in our language, she gave an interpretation of what she had said. Then she broke out again, in the same language and was more lengthy than the first time. This last prayer or exhortation she did not interpret. I am credibly informed that they have these gifts and all the gifts of the gospel. I trust that I shall see and hear more yet; when I do I will write. I leave all to God whether you believe or disbelieve."

The Lord says, in these last days, that his voice is to all men; yea, verily he says, hearken ye people from afar, and ye that are upon the islands of the sea, listen together; there is none to escape; there is no eye that shall not see, neither ear that shall not hear, neither heart that shall not be penetrated. In solemn view of these things, we select the following item from a late New York paper:

SANDWICH ISLANDS.—The population of these Islands is estimated at 185,000 souls; more than one quarter of whom are under instruction. The number of schools and scholars in the islands is as follows:

	Schools.	Scholars.
Hawaii	338	20,396
Maui	274	11,170
Molakai	31	1,426
Lanai	9	522
Kahoolawe	1	35
Oahu	250	10,336
Kaui	200	9,000

A greater part of the New Testament, and a considerable portion of the Old, have been translated and published in the language of the Islands. Also a Hymn Book, and various elementary and other books. The whole number of copies is about 556,000, comprising 21,/31,380 pages. Numerous churches have been erected in different parts of the Islands, some of which are generally attended on the Sabbath by congregations of more than 3000 persons. Of course they must be immensely large, though constructed of light materials, and we suppose not very expensive. The whole number of native church members is about 550, nearly 400 of whom were added during the year embraced in this Report. A vast improvement has taken place in the social condition of the people, as well as in every thing else which distinguishes civilized man from the savage.

BONBAY.—At Bombay and vicinity, there are 34 schools under direction of the missionaries, containing 1940 scholars, of which 455 are girls; a fact which Americans will hardly appreciate as they ought. Until very recently, the idea of a female learning to read, would have been regarded by the native population as the height of absurdity. The Mission Press is very active, having printed during the year 1831, 1,481,300 pages, and since the first establishment of the mission 11,-481,000 pages.

CEVION.—This mission has been, in many respects, far more successful than that at Bombay. The number of native children and youth in the schools, is 3,650, of whom 617 are females. There is a sort of High School at Batticotta, to which students of promise in the lower schools are transferred, after they have advanced to a certain stage of progress, containing 93 native young men, 28 of whom are members of the Mission Church. The whole number of native church members connected with the mission, is 170.

CHINA AND SIAM.—The only missionary which the Society has in China, is Rev. Elijah C. Bridgeman. He has not been long there, and has been engaged, so far mainly in acquiring a knowledge of the language.— A printing press has been sent out to his aid, and a printer, Mr. S. W. Wells of Utica, is expected to go out in the course of a few months. The missionary at Siam is Rev. David Abeel formerly of this city.

IF To all these inhabitants of the Islands of the sea, the gospel of the kingdom has to be preached, before the Son of man comes in the clouds of heaven, that some may be gathered to Zion.

Men in general, feast upon the errors of heir fellow beings, rather than teach them how to unlearn them. Nation watches nation, state watches state, society watches society, sect watches sect, family watches family, and man watches man for iniquity.--Such is the condition of the world now .---The only way that many seem to take to become popular, is to paint the vices of others. A Paris correspondent of the New York Coutier and Enquirer, while speaking of the American politics, says :- Let me add however, that there are among us those who congratulate themselves on the prospect of the spirit of rivalship excited by the question of the tariff being converted into hatred and of local discontents being fanned into open war. The admirers of what is called the strong form of government, are delighted at the prospect which your differences afford them, of the destruction of that model to which the people of the old world look for-ward as an object of study and imitation.-They do not scruple to assert that the cause of all this angry discussion is to be found in a defect inherent and inseparable from the republican form of government. They tell republican form of government. They tell us that the constitution of the United States would be infinitely improved if that very spirit of centralization could be infused into it which in the provinces of France is so bit-In the mean time your terly complained of. dissensions are held up to our young republicans as a lesson that ought to teach them, that the mere forms of democracy are not an infalible cure for all political evils.

Without venturing to express any personal opinion on this interesting and important subject, I shall think it my duty to report to you from time to time the views which I hear expressed on it in general society, in order that you may have the benefit as far as my opportunities of observation extend, of that sort of reaction which is naturally produced by the reflections of distant and disintcrested observers.

By this short extract, we see these are men feasting upon the errors of our republic: and we might bring forward something, to show how many are watching for iniquity, among the various denominations that profess to serve the Lord, to be saved, but we forbear, beseeching our brethren to set a better example, knowing that all that watch for iniquity shall be cut off. We have said, and we repeat it, that evil must be overcome with good. Our Lord said :- Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted. Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled. Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy. Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God. Blessed are the peace-makers: for they shall be called the children of God. Blessed are they which any persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

Such are the blessings which are promised to all who keep the commandments of the Lord, for the sake of eternal life; but if there are any disciples in Zion or abroad, that watch for iniquity; or, in other words, that wait until their brethren become perfect, be. fore they themselves strive with honest hearts to become pure, will the Lord hold them guiltless? The world watches for iniquity, because satan is spreading his dominions over the face of the earth, and is reigning in the hearts of the children of men; but you who as brasse soundynge or a symbale tinking.-

are instructed by the revelations of the Lord, if humble, and guided by his Holy Spirit have no excuse to watch for iniquity, or be jealous of your brethren. Every soul is to Watch, therefore, that be saved for itself. you may stand in your lot, O disciple of the living God! Watch, we do entreat, and do your duty.

THE CHOLERA.

Our exchange papers generally, carry the idea, that the cholera has left the northern states: in the southern, however, its desolating ravages continue. Natchez is said to be afflicted to a very great extent. As to New Orleans, the following will suffice:

IT The Argus of the 29th of October says: The cholera and yellow fever continue to send great numbers to the grave. The Protestant cemetery last week amounted to 71, and in the Catholic to 121-total 192. We have been unable to find out the number of victims of each malady. The cholera, as far as we have been able to learn, has principally attacked the slaves, and persons of intemperate and unclean habits.

It is added by the Courier, that some of the physicians designate the prevailing disease as the Asiatic cholera, whilst others pronounce it the cold plague. The same paper complains much of inattention to the immediate burial of those who have died, and alleges that corpses are taken to the cemetery at night and allowed to remain until the next "Last evening," says the edday unburied. itor, "at six o'clock, no one was employed in digging graves, and ten bodies remained all night unburied. We understand that this morning there were twenty!"

ANCIENT.

The following is given as an exact copy of the thirteenth chapter of the first Corinthians, from an ancient manuscript, and which is the oldest English translation of the New Testament, at present known to exist. The precise date is not known; but supposed to be about the year 1350, or about twenty years before the introduction of printing into England.

It is taken from a copy given by Dr. Adam Clark, the only alteration being the substitution of Roman print for the old black letter English.

REMARKS.—Notwithstanding the bad spelling in this chapter, there is an air of solemmity, full as striking, and touching, to the lheart of the saint, as there is in the learned translation, where many words are supplied with Italics. What a blessing it would be to man, if he had the bible in its original purity! even as in the days of the apostles.

One good rule to live by, is to talk little: hear much, and reflect upon every thing you have done during the day, and then ask the Lord to forgive your trespasses as you forgive those that trespass against you.

D We again request the elders abroad, to send up to the land of Zion, an account of their doings in the world: And also, to receive subscriptions to the Star, as heretofore directed: And for the Book of Commandments, now printing, which will be published as soon as the Lord will.

THE BOOK OF MORMON.

When darkness covered the carth, and gross darkness the people; when no man did walk in the old paths, nor did search out the everlasting gospel: when the church of Christ, and the gifts which he left in it, could not be found; when men built up churches in the glory of the world; and when all flesh had become so corrupt, that a few more years might have left the cities of the world, like Sodom and Gomorrah, the Lord our Savior, saw fit in his goodness, endless mercy, and infinite wisdom, to send an angel and signify unto man, that there was a sacred record to be unfolded in the eyes of all nations, containing the fulness of the gospel. It was the book of Mormon: An account written by the hand of Mormon, upon plates taken from the Wherefore it is an abridgplates of Mephi. ment of the record of the people of Nephi; and also of the Lamanites; written to the Lamanites, which are a remnant of the house of Israel; and also to Jew and Gentile: written by way of commandment, and also by the spirit of prophecy and of revelation. Written, and sealed up, and hid up unto the Lord, that they might not be destroyed; to come forth by the gift and power of God, unto the interpretation thereof; sealed by the hand of Moroni, and hid up unto the Lord, to come forth in due time by way of Gentile; the in-terpretation thereof by the gitt of God.

An abridgment taken from the book of Ether, also, which is a record of the people of Jared, which were scattered at the time the Lord confounded the language of the people when they were building a tower to get to heaven: which is to shew unto the house of Israel how great things the Lord hath done for their fathers: and that they may know the covenants of the Lord, that they are not cast off forever: and also to the con-vincing of the Jew and Gentile that Jesus is the Christ, the Eternal God, manifesting himself unto all nations. And now if there be fault, it be the mistake of man; wherefore condemn not the things of God, that ye may be found spotless at the indgment seat of Christ.

This was welcome news to them that looked for the gathering of the righteous, in the last days. They, from a perusal of this book, aided by the Spirit of God, began to see eye to eye in some things, and to lift up their heads and rejoice. But before the glorious and happy results of this book are set forth, it seems necessary to go back to the time it was brought forth. In the year one thousand eight hundred and twenty seven, the plates came forth from the hill Cumorah, which is in the county of Ontario. and state of New York, by the power of God. In less than three years after, it was translated by the gift and power of God, and then published; and on the 6th of April, 1830, the church of Christ was organized, with six members. It may be just to remark, that this church was established by revelation, as the church of Christ always has been, since the world be-gan, to be acknowledged by him. As in days of old, so now, the keys of the mysteries of fight against her and her munition, and that the kingdom of God, were committed unto distress her, shall be as a dream of a night-man, and, by a few commandments, in connexicn with the book before us, the contrite and humble seeker of eternal life, had opened to the eyes of his understanding, that happy view, and bright reversion of latter day glo-ry, which shows the nations gathering round the standard of the Lord, which was to be raised upon mount Zion, preparatory to his second coming. That vail which has been cast over the prophecies of the old Testament, or, at least, over the reading of many of them, since the day that Moses vailed his face before the children of Israel, was removed by the plainness of the book of Mormon. The doubtful points of doctrine, in the bible, which left one sect to immerse for baptism; a second to sprinkle: a third to pour, and a fourth to do without either, were cleared up by the book of Mormon. That embarrassment under which thousands had labored for years, to learn how the saints would know where to gather, that all nations might come to Zion, with songs of everlasting joy, and prepare a house, that the Lord might suddenly come to his temple, so that the mountain of the Lord's house might be established in the top of the mountains, and be exalted above the hills, and the law go forth out of Zion, in the last days, was obviated by the book of Mor-mon. That wonderful conjecture, which left a blank as to the origin, or forefathers of the American Indians, was done away by the book of Mormon. To use the language of one of its opposers, it opened a flood of light and might justly be called a wonderful volume.

(Whole No; B:

But as there are thousands yet to receive this good book, and learn the true points of the Savior's doctrine, it may be well enough to refer them to some of the allusions to it in the bible. In the 85th Psalm, David said, Truth shall spring out of the earth; and rightcousness shall look down from heaven. All that have been blessed with the Spirit of God, when reading this book, for the sake of truth and salvation, can bear witness to the truth of this quotation. The 29th chapter of Isaiah is still plainer and much of it has been fulfilled in the eyes of this generation. It reads:-Wo to Ariel, to Ariel, the city where David dwelt! add ye year to year: let them kill sacrifices. Yet I will distress Ariel, and there shall be heaviness and sorrow: and it shall be unto me as Ariel, and I will camp against thee round about, and will lay siege against thee with a mount, and I will raise forts against thee. And thou shalt be brought down, and shalt speak out of the ground, and thy speech shall be low out of the dust, and thy voice shall be, as one that hath a familiar spirit, out of the ground, and thy speech shall whisper out of the dust. Moreover, the multitude of thy strangers shall be like small dust, and the multitude of the terrible ones as chaff that passeth away: yea, it shall be at an instant suddenly. Thou shalt be visited by the Lord of hosts with thunder, and with earthquake, and great noise, with storm and tempost, and the flame of devour-ing fire. And the multitude of all the na-tions that fight against Ariel, even all that

It shall even be as when a hungry vision. man dreameth, and behold he eateth; but he awaketh, and his soul is empty: or as when a thirsty man dreameth, and behold he drinketh; but he awaketh, and behold he is faint, and his soul hath appetite: so shall the multitude of all the nations be, that fight against mount Zion. Stay yourselves, and wonder; cry ye out, and cry: they are drunken, but not with wine; they stagger, but not with strong drink. For the Lord hath poured out upon you the spirit of deep sleep, and hath closed your eyes; the prophets and your rulers, the seers hath he covered. And the vision of all is become unto you as the words of a book that is sealed, which men deliver to one that is learned, saying, Read this, I pray thee: and he saith, I cannot; for it is sealed: and the book is delivered unto him that is not learned, saying, Read this, I pray thee: and he saith, I am not learned.-Wherefore the Lord said, Forasmuch as this people draw near me with their mouth, and with their lips do honor me, but have removed their heart far from me, and their fear toward me is taught by the precept of men: Therefore behold, I will proceed to do a marvelous work among this people, even a marvelous work and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise shall perish, and the understanding of their prudent shall be hid. Wo unto them that seek deep to hide their counsel from the Lord, and their works are in the dark, and they say, who seeth us? and who knoweth us? Surely your turning of things upside down shall be esteemed as the potter's clay: for shall the work say of him that made it, he made me not? or shall the thing framed say of him that framed it, he had no understanding? Is it not a very little while, and Lebanon shall by turned into a fruitful field, and the fruitful field shall be esteemed And in that day shall the deaf as a forest? hear the words of the book, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscurity, and out of darkness. The meck also shall increase their joy in the Lord, and the poor among men shall rejoice in the Holy One of Israel. For the terrible one is brought to nought and the scorner is consumed, and all that watch for iniquity are cut off: that make a man an offender for a word, and lay a snare for him that reprove h in the gate, and turn aside the just for a thing of nought. Therefore thus caith the Lord, who redeemed Abraham, concerning the house of Jacob, Jacob shall not now be ashamed, neither shall his face now wax pale. But when he seeth his chil-dren, the work of my hands, in the midst of him, they shall sanctify my name, and sanctify the Holy One of Jacob. and shall fear the God of Israel. They also that erred in spirit shall come to understanding, and they that murmured shall learn doctrine.

He that cannot see that the prophet, in this chapter, spoke of a book that should come out of the ground, would scarcely be convinced if a man should rise from the dead. In addition to the above, however, Isaiah says, Drop down, ye heavens, from above, and let the skies pour down righteousness: let the earth open, and let them bring forth solvation, and let righteousness spring up together; I the Lord have created it. Eze-kiel also says: Moreover, thou son of man, press their way forward, continually holding take thes one stick, and write upon it, for fast to the rod of iron, until they came forth

Judah, and for the children of Israel his companions: then take another stick, and write upon it, for Joseph, the stick of Ephraim, all the house of Israel his companions: and join them one to another into one stick; and they shall become one in thy hand. The bi-ble for the stick of Judah, and the book of Mormon for the slick of Jcseph, in the hand of Ephraim, is all that need be said, upon these words, for no man ever pretended to know, (till the book of Mormon came,) any thing about the tribe of Joseph, or his history, notwithstanding God had declared by the month of Hosea, that he had written the great things of his law to Ephraim; and they are counted a strange thing. The ancient are counted a strange tining. The ancient and modern practice of reading sticks, wants but little elucidation. The common scl.ool-boy cught to know, that anciently, they wrote on parchment for common use, and rolled it round a stick; and latterly, newspapers are put into a stick for public utility.

But let us turn again to the book. simplicity of the language, and the purity of the ideas, carry a holy spirit, as well as breathe an air of religion, that soothes the heart and feeds the scul of every son and daughter of Read the following:-And 1 beheld a God. rod of iron; and it extended along the bank of the river, and led to the tree by which I And I also beheld a straight and narstood. row path, which came along by the rod of iron, even to the tree by which I stood; and it also led by the head of the fountain, unto a large and spacious field, as if it had been a world; and 1 saw numberless concourses of resple; many of whom were pressing forward, that they might obtain the path which led unto the tree by which I stood.

And it came to pass that they did come forth, and commence in the path which led to the ties. And it came to pass that there arose a mist of darkness: yea, even an exceeding great mist of darkness, insomuch that they which had commenced in the path, did lose their way, that they wandered off, and were lost. And it came to pass that I beheld others pressing forward; and they came forth and caught hold of the end of the rod of iron; and they did press forward through the mist of darkness, clinging to the rod of iron, even until they did come forth and partake of the fruit of the tree. And after that they had partaken of the fruit of the tree, they did cast their eyes about as if they were ashamed .-And I also cast my eyes round about, and beheld, on the other side of the river of water, a great and spacious building; and it stood as it were in the air, high above the earth: and was filled with people, both old and young, both male and female: and their manner of dress was exceeding fine; and they were in the attitude of mocking and pointing their fingers towards those which had come at, and were partaking of the fruit. And after they had tasted of the fruit, they were asha-med, because of those that were scoffing at them; and they fell away into forbidden paths, and were lost.

And now I, Nephi, do not speak all the words of my father. But, to be short in writing: Behold, he saw other multitudes pressing forward; and they came and caught hold

And after that they did enter into that building, they did point the finger of scorn at me, and those who were partaking of the fruit also; but we heeded them not.

Again, that perfect accordance with the wisdom of God, after he had said, while man-ifesting himself to his people, in the ficsh, at Jerusalem, other sheep have I that are not of this fold, and they shall hear my voice; that he should minister to the Nephites, on this continent, is such heavenly evidence of the divinity and propriety of the book of Mormon, that all doubts, cavils, surmises, and even worldly reasons, which have been bro't against its purity, shrink into little nothings. Says Jesus my sheep know my voice. Now read:-And now it came to pass that when Jesus had ended these sayings, he cast his eyes round about on the multitude, and saith unto them, Behold, ye have heard the things which I have taught before I ascended to my Father; therefore whoso remembereth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, him will I raise up at the last day. And it came to pass that when Jesus had said these words, he perceived that there was some among them which marveled, and wondered what he would concerning the law of Moses: for they understood not the saying, that old things had passed away, and that all things had become new. And he saith unto them, Marvel not that I said unto you, that old things had passed away, and that all things had become Behold I say unto you, that the law new. is fulfilled that was given unto Moses. Behold, I am he that gave the law, and I am he which covenanted with my people Israel; therefore, the law in me is fulfilled; for I have come to fulfil the law; therefore, it hath an Behold, 1 do not destroy the prophets: end. for as many as have not been fulfilled in me, verily, I say unto you, shall all be fulfilled. And because I said unto you, that old things had passed away, I do not destroy that which hath been spoken concerning things which is to come. For behold, the covenant which I have made with my people, is not all fulfilled; but the law which was given unto Moses, hath an end in me. Behold I am the law, and the light: Look unto me, and endure to the end and ye shall live: for unto him that endureth to the end, will I give eternal life. Behold, I have given unto you the command-ments: therefore keep my commandments.-And this is the law and the prophets: for they truly testified of me.

And now it came to pass that when Jesus had spoken these words, he said unto those twelve whom he had chosen, Ye are my disciples: and ye are a light unto this people, which are a remnant of the house of Joseph. And behold, this is the land of your inheri-tance; and the Father hath given it unto you. And not at any time hath the Father given me commandment that I should tell it unto that I should tell unto them concerning the other tribes of the house of Israel, which the Father hath led away out of the land. This much did the Father command me, that I This should tell unto them, that other sheep I have, which are not of this fold; them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice: and there shall be one fold, and one Shepherd.-And now because of stiff-neckedness and unbelief, they understood not my word; therefore I was commanded to say no more of the Eather concerning this thing unto them.-But verily, I say unto you, that the Father hath commanded me, and I tell it unto you, that ye were separated from among them be-Therefore it is because of their iniquity. of you. And verily, I say unto you again, that the other tribes hath the Father separated from them; and it is because of their iniquity that they know not of them. And verily, I say unto you, that ye are they of which I said, other sheep I have, which are not of this fold; them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold, and one Shepherd. And they understood me not, for they supposed it had been the Gentiles: for they understood not that the Gentiles should be converted through their preaching; and they understood me not that I said they shall hear my voice; and they understood me not that the Gentiles should not at any time hear my voice; that I should not manifest myself unto them, save it were by the Holy Ghost-But behold, ye have both heard my voice, and seen me; and ye are my sheep, and ye are numbered among them which the Father hath given me. And verily, verily, I say unto you, that I have other sheep, which are not of this land; neither of the land of Jerusalem; neither in any parts of that land round about, whither I have been to minister. For they of which I speak, are they which have not as yet heard my voice; neither have I at any time manifested myself unto them. But I have received a commandment of the Father, that I shall go unto them, and that they shall hear my voice, and shall be numbered among my sheep, that there may be one fold, and one Shepherd; therefore I go to shew myself unto them. And I command you that ye shall write these sayings, after that I am gone, that if it so be that my people at Jeru-salem, they which have seen me, and been with me in my ministry, do not ask the Fa-ther in my name, that they may receive a knowledge of you by the Holy Ghost, and also of the other tribes which they know not of, that these sayings which ye shall write, shall be kept, and shall be manifested unto the Gentiles, that through the fulness of the Gentiles, the remnant of their seed which shall be scattered forth upon the face of the earth, because of their unbelief, may be brought in, or may be brought to a knowledge of me, their Redeemer. And then will I gather them in from the four quarters of the earth; and then will I fulfil the covenant which the Father hath made unto all the people of the house of Israel. And blessed are the Gentiles because of their belief in me, in and of the Holy Ghort, which witness unto them of me and of the Father. Behold, your brethren at Jerusalem; neither at any because of their belief in me, saith the Father, time hath the Father given me commandment, and because of the unbelief of you, O house of Israel, in the latter day shall the tiuth come unto the Gentiles, that the fulness of these things shall be made known unto them. But we, south the Father, unto the unbelieving of the Gentiles: for notwithstanding that they have come forth upon the face of this land, and have scattered my people, which are of the house of Israel: and my people which are of the house of Israel, have been cast out from among them, and have been trodden under feet by them; and because of the mercies of the Father unto the Gentiles, and also the judgments of the Father upon my peoply, which are of the house of Israel, verily, verily, I say unto you, that after all this, and I have caused my people which are of the house of Israel, to be smitten, and to be attlicted, and to be slain, and to be cast out from among them, and to become hated by them, and to become a hiss and a by-word among them. And thus commandeth the Father that I should say unto you. At that day, when the Gentiles shall sin against n y gospel, and shall reject the fulness of my gospel, and shall be listed up in the pride of their hearts above all nations, and above all the people of the whole earth, and shall be filled with all manner of lyings, and deceits, and of mischiefs, and all manner of hypocrisy, and murders, and priestcrafts, and whoredoms, and ofsecret abominations; and if they shall do all these things, and shall reject the fulness of my gospel, behold, saith the Father, I will bring the fulness of my gespel from among them; and then will I remember my covenant which I have made unto my people, O house of Israel, and I will bring my gospel unto them; and I will shew unto thee, O house of Israel, that the Gennies shall not have power over you, but I will remember my covenant unto you, O house of Israel, and ye shall come unto the knowledge of the fulness of my gospel. But if the Gentiles will rejent, and turn unto me, saith the Father, behold, they shall be numbered among my peaple, O house of Israel: and 1 will not suffer my people, which are of the house of Israel, to go through among them, and tread them down, saith the Father. But if they will not turn unto me, and hearken unto my voice, I will suffer them, yea, I will suffer my people, O house of Israel, that they shall go through among them, and shall tread them down, and they shall be as salt that hath lost his savor, which is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of my people, O house of Israel. Verily, verily, I say unto you. thus hath the Father commanded me, that I should give unto this people this land for their inheritance. their inheritance. And when the words of the prophet Isaiah shall be fulfilled, which saith, Thy watchmen shall lift up the voice; with the voice together shall they sing: for they shall see eye to eye, when the Lord shall bring again Zion. Break forth into joy, sing together, ye waste places of Jerusalem: for the Lord hath comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jerusalem. The Lord hath made bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations: and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of God.

The book of Mormon, sa a revelation from Cod, pessesses some ad-vantage over the old scripture: it has not been tinctured by the wisdom of nan, with here and there an Italic word to supply defciences. It was translated by the gut and power of God. I y an unlearned man, through the aid of a pair of Interpreters, or speciacles-(known, jerkajs, in ancient days an Terapi im, or trim and Thun mim) and while it unfolds the history of the first inhabitants that settled this continent, it, at the same time, brings a oneness to scripture, like the days of the apostles; and opens and explains the prophecies, that a child may understand the meaning of many of them; and shows how the Lord will gather his saints, even the childr n of Israel, that have been scattered over the face of the earth, more than two thousand years, in these last days, to the place of the name of the Lord of hosts, the mount Zion.

It nay be well to state, that the people of God, in ancient days, according to the accounts of men, kept their sacred records on plates of gold, and these of less consequence on plates of brass, copper, wood, &c. see Jahn's biblical archeology, Josephus, and others. These plates were generally made from the sixteenth to the thirty-second part of an inch thick (of metal) and something like six by eight inches square, and iastened at the back with three rings through which a rod was put to carry them, or hang them. The word of the Lord, the history of the doings of the c'ildren of God, and their genealogy was engraved in a nice workmanlike meaner, upon them, in Hebrew, reformed Egyptian, &c. Such was the condition of the plates, from which came the book of Mor-As may be seen by an allusion in the mon. book of Ether, all that was on them is not translated; wherefore, as they are sacred, when the book of Mormon was translated from them, they were again hid up to the Lord, to come forth again in his own due The Ark of the covenant containing time. the sacred stone tables, was hid up to the Lord, in the cave where Moses climbed up to view the heritage of God, and was not to come forth till God received his people again unto mercy, when all these things and the cloud shall return, and the glory of God shall rest upon his temple. The present generation is great with events. The people of God cught to lift up their hearts and rejoice that they live in this age: that they have been permitted through the mercy of the Lord, to have a foreknowledge of what is about to happen on earth; and that they, if faithful, whether in life or in death, will come forth in the first resurrection, and always be with the norm. world would learn wisdom and reflect, that no man can be too good to be saved! That no people ever had too much revelation to make them happy!

The object of the book of Mormon, is the salvation of men, being good tidings, the fulness of the gaspel, and manifesting the new covenant, that Israel may be gathered, and as many of all nations as will, that there may Its champles be one fold and one Shephord.

Although many have at empted to ridicole the word of God, yet no man has been able to speak out of the whichwind and palm his word upon the righteous as a revolation.-When the ingenuity of man has invented a novel, the rich and the noble; the wise and the prodent: the strong and the weak; the minister and the chiro: m.n; yea, the king and the infilel, are ready to laud it to the clouds, though every page is fiction and every line a lie. O blindness to goodness! When a revelation from God comes, the same persons are afraid of deception, and cry, beware of delusion! We again say, O blindness to goodness!!

When the Savior came to the Jews, they were so wise in their own wisdom, and so eager for the glory of the world, and for power, that, with the inspired words of the prophets, to guide them to all truth, they did not know their Lori; and though they could have furnished beds to lodge a nation, the Son of God was laid in a manger! So when the book of Mormon had come, containing the fulness of the gospel, to complete the salvation of man for the Lord's rest, even his fulness and glory; had come to call home the children of Israel from their long disp rsion, to join the feast which is preparing for the righteous: had come to warn the inhabitants of the earth of jadgments to come; had come to prepare the way for the second coming of the Savior, that he might meet his elect at the resurrection, and live with them in the flesh on earth, a thousand years; yea, when this book had come by the gift and power of God, that man might be brought back into the presence of his Maker, when he brought again Zion, men, poor weak men, instead of learning wisdom from the experience of eighteen hundred years, and shunning the gulf of imprudence, into which the Jews fell, echoed the folly of bigots-Blasphemy! Men generally believe upon testimony, and the rule is good. Now, as to the evidence of the truth of the bible, we have no witnesses to prove it, for they have been dead many hundred years, and the fashion of saying you believe it is true, because your father said so, will not amount to proof, but the testimeny of the Spirit of God, is, that it is true. The book of Mormon, besides the evidence of the Holy Spirit, showing that God is the same yesterday, to-day, and forever, has the living witnesses to bear testimony that it is true:-

THE TESTIMONY OF THREE WIT-NESSES.

Be it known unto all nations, kindreds, tongues and people, unto whom this work shall come, that we, through the grace of God the Father, and our Lord Jesus Christ, have seen the plates which contain this record, which is a record of the people of Nephi, and also of the Lamanites, his brethren, and also of the people of Jared, which came from the tower, of which hath been spoken; and we also know that they have been translated by the gift and power of God, for his voice hath declared it unto us: wherefore we know of a surety, that the work is true. And we also testify that we have seen the crgravings which are on the plates; and they have been shewn unto us by the power of God, and not of man. And we declare with words of soberness, that an angel of God came down from heaven, and he brought and laid before our eyes, that we beheld and saw the plates, and the engravings thereon; and we know that it is by the groce of God the Father, and our Lord Jesus Christ, that we beheld and bear is ord that these things are true; and it is mary-lous in our ever: Nevertheless the voice of the Lord commanded us that we should bear record of it: wherefore, to be obedient to the commandments of God, we bear testimony of these things. So much for the benefit of enquirers in the world. To the church that knows for a surety, that this book has come forth, ir these last days, as a light to them that sat in darkness, by the good will of Jesus Christ, the Savior of the world, we say: Fear not little flock, for it was the Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom. Stand fast in the faith that has been delivered to you in these last days, and while the servants of the living God are preaching the everlasting gospel to the inhabitants of the world, and are gathering sons and daughters to Zion, keep the commandments and learn the peaceable things of the kingdom, that as wise virgins, when the Lord comes to the supper, yea, the feast of fat things, prepared for the righteous, your lamps may be trimmed and burning, and you ready to meet him. Remember your first love, for the glory that will soon be revealed, was kindled into a sacred flame, by the good things contained in the book of Mormon. Remember, that the vail of darkness which still envelopes the minds of thousands in the world, was taken away from you, when, by the book of Mormon, you learned, that the Lord was about building up Zion again on the earth, as an everlasting home for the righteous.

Well may you lift up your hearts and rejoice; of all the beings beneath the celestial kingdom, you are the most blessed! While the judgments of God are poured out upon the wicked; yea, while the pestilence sweeps them away, as a mighty wind drives the clouds from your sight, if you love the Lord and keep his commandments, you shall be safe in mount Zion. While the treasures of snow and hail are opened, and sent forth upon the ungodly, if you love the Lord and keep his sommandments, you shall be safe in mount Zion. While the mountains flow down at his presence, and every valley is exalted, and the mighty ocean rolls back to its ancient habitation, if you love the Lord and keep his commandments, you shall be safe in mount Zion. And when the Lord has come in his glory, you shall lift up your voices and sing this new song of the Lord, saying:-The Lord hath brought again Zion: The Lord hath redeemed his people, Israel, According to the election of grace, Which was brought to pass by the faith,

And covenant of their fathers.

The Lord hath redeemed his people,

And satan is bound; and time is no longers

The Lord hath gathered all things in one:

The Lord hath brought down Zion from above:

The Lord hath brought up Zion from beneath; The earth hath travailed and brought forth her strength.

And truth is established in her bowels; And the heavens hath smiled upon her; And she is clothed with the glory of her God: For he standeth in the midst of his people: Glory, and honor, and power, and might, be ascribed to our God.

For he is full of mercy, justice, grace and truth,

And peace, for ever and ever: Amen.

THE WEST.

When Moses climbed up to view the heritage of God, he lifted up his eyes westward. Isaiah says, So shall they fear the name of the Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the sun. When the enemy shall come in like a flood, the Spirit of the Lord shall lift up a standard against him. And the Redeemer shall come to Zion, and unto them that turn from transgression in Jacob, saith the Lord. And by an article in our next No. it will be seen, that the Jews continue to pray to God upon the ruins of the west wall of Jerusalem.

The inhabitants of Zion are brought under condemnation for neglecting the book of Mormon, from which they not only received the new covenant, but the fulness of the gospel. Has this been done for the sake of hunting mysteries in the prophecies? or has it come to pass by carelessness? O brethren, walk circumspectly before the Lord and bring meets fruit for repentance, that you pollute not the heritage of God. You cannot serve God and mammon; be good, for the just shall I've by faith. Fut to the extract:

And now I, Moroni, write a few of the words of my father Mormon, which he spake concerning faith, hope and charity: for after this manner did he speak unto the people, as he taught them in the symagogue which they had built for the place of worship. And now I, Mormon, speak unto you my beloved bre-thren; and it is by the grace of God, the Fa-ther, and our Lord Jesus Christ, and his holy will, because of the gift of his calling unto me, that I am permitted to speak unto you at this time; wherefore I would speak unto you that are of the church, that are the peaceable followers of Christ, and that have obtained a sufficient hope, by which ye can enter into the rest of the Lord, from this time henceforth, until ye shall rest with him in heaven. And now my brethren, I judge these things of you because of your peaceable walk with the children of men: for I remember the word of God, which saith, by their works ve shall know them: for if their works he good, then they are good also. For behold. God hath said, a man being cvil, cannot do that which is good: for if he offereth a gift, or prayeth unto God, except he shall do it with real intent, it profiteth him nothing. For, behold, it is not connted unto him for For behold, if a man being righteousness. evil, giveth a gift, he doeth it grudgingly; wherefore it is counted unto him the same as if he had retained; wherefore he is counted evil before God. And likewise also is it counted evil unto a man, if he shall pray, and not with real intent of heart; yea, and it profiteth him nothing: for God receiveth none such; wherefore, a man being evil, carnot do that which is good; neither will he give a good gift. For behold, a bitter foun-tain cannot bring forth good water; neither can a good fountain bring forth bitter water; wherefore a man being a servant of the devil, cannot follow Christ; and if he follow Christ, he cannot be a servant of the devil. Wherefore, all things which are good cometh of God; and that which is evil, cometh of the devil: for the devil is an enemy to God, and fighteth against him continually, and invi-teth and enticeth to sin, and to do that which is evil continually. But behold, that which whete, and of the commandments, is pleasing continually; wherefore, every thing which in the sight of God. and needful to keep them inviteth and enticeth to do good, and to love God, and to serve him, is inspired of Gcd .-Wherefore take heed, my beloved brethren, that ye do not judge that which is cvil to be of God, or that which is good and of Gcd to be of the devil. For behold, my brethren, it is given unto you to judge, that you may know good from evil: and the way to judge is as plain that ye may know with a perfect knowledge, as the daylight is from the dark night. For behold, the Spirit of Christ is given to every man, that they may know good from evil; wherefore I shew unto yeu the way to judge: for every thing which in-viteth to do good, and to persuade to believe in Christ, is sent forth by the power and gift of Christ: wherefore ye may know with a perfect knowledge, it is of God: but whatso-ever thing persuadeth men to do evil, ard believe not in Christ, and deny him, and serve not God, then ye may know with a perfect knowledge it is of the devil, for after this manner doth the devil work: for he persuadoth no man to do gool, no not one; neither doth his angels; neither do they which subject themselves unto him.

And now my brethren, seeing that ye know the light by which ye may judge, which light is the light of Christ, see that ye conct judge wrongfully: for with the same judgment which ye judge, ye shall also be judg-ed. Wherefo e I beseech of you, biethren, that ye should search diligently in the light of Christ that ye may know good from evil; and if ye will lav he'd upon every good thing. and condemn it not, ye certainly will be a child of Christ. And new, my brethren, how is it possible that ye can lay hold upon every good thing? And now I come to that faith, of which I said I would speak; and I will tell you the way whereby yo may lay hold on every good thing. For behold, God knowing all things, being from everlasting to everlasting, behold, he sent angels to minister-unto the children of men, to make mark-fest concerning the coming of Christ; and in Christ, there should come every good thing. And God also declared unto prophets by his cwn mouth, that Christ should come. And behold there were divers ways that he did manifest things unto the children of men. which were good; and all things which are good, cometh of Christ, otherwise men were fallen, and there could no good thing can e Wherefore, by the ministering unto them. of angels, and by every word which proceeded forth out of the mouth of God, men began to exercise faith in Christ; and thus by faith. they did lay hold upon every good thing: and thus it was ratil the coming of Christ. And after that he came, men also were saved by faith in Lis rame: and by faith they become the sons of Gol. And as suredly as Christ liveth, he spake these words unto our fathers, saying, Whatsoever thing ye shall ask the Father in my name, which is good, in faith believing that ye shall receive. Le-Wherefore, hold, it shall be done unto you. my beloved brethren, hath miracles ceased, because that Christ hath ascended into heaven, and hath set down on the right hand of God, to claim of the Father his rights of mercy which he hath upon the children of ment for he hath answered the ends of the as of God inviteth and enticeth to do good law," and he claimeth all those that hath fa th in him; and they that have faith in him, will cleave unto every good thing; wherefore he advocateth the cause of the children of men; and he dwelleth eternally in the heav-And because that he hath done this, ens. my beloved brethren, hath miracles ceased? Behold I say unto you, nay; neither hath angels ceased to minister unto the children of men. For behold, they are sub ect unto him, to minister according to the word of his command, shewing themselves unto them of strong faith and a firm mind, in every form of godliness. And the office of their ministry is, to call men unto repentance, and to fulfil and to do the work of the covenants of the Father which he hath made unto the children of men, to prepare the way among the children of men, by declaring the word of Christ unto the chosen vessels of the Lord, that they may bear testimony of him; and by so doing, the Lord God prepareth the way that the residue of men may have faith in Christ, that the Holy Ghost may have place in their hearts, according to the power thereof: and after this manner bringeth to pass the Father the covenants which he hath made unto the children of men. And Christ lath said, If ye will have faith in me, ye shall have power to do whatsoever thing is expedient in me. And he hath said, Repent all ye ends of the earth, and come unto me and be baptized in my name, and have faith in me, that ye may be saved.

And now my beloved brethren, if this be the case that these things are true which I have spoken unto you, and God will shew unto you with power and great glory at the last day, that they are true; and if they are true, hath the day of miracles ceased? or hath angels ceased to appear unto the childron of men? or hath he withheld the power of the Holy Ghost from them? or will he, so long as time shall last, or the earth shall stand, or there shall be one man upon the face thereof to be saved? Behold, I say unto you Nay, for it is by faith that miracles are wrought: and it is by faith that angels appear and minister unto men; wherefore if these things have ceased, wo be unto the children of men, for it is because of unbelief, and all in vain: for no man can be saved, according to the words of Christ, save they shall have faith in his name; wherefore, if these things have ceased, then has faith ceased also; and awful is the state of man: for they are as though there had been no redemption made. But behold, my beloved brothren, I judge better things of you, for I judge that ye have faith in Christ, because of your meekness: for if ye have not faith in him, then are ye not fit to be numbered among the people of his church. And again my beloved brethren, I would speak unto you concerning hope. How is it that ye can attain unto faith, save ye shall have hope? And what is it that ye shall hope for? Behold I say unto you, that ye shall have hope through the atonement of Christ and the power of his res urrection, to be raised unto life eternal; and this because of your faith in him according to the promise; wherefore, if a man have faith, he must needs have hope: for without faith there cannot be any hope. And again: Be-hold I say unto you, that he cannot have faith and hope, save he shall be meek, and • why of heart: if so, his faith and hope are vain, for none is acceptable before God, save the meek and lowly of heart; and if a man be meek and lowly in heart, and confermes by the power of the Holy Ghost, that Jesus i the Christ, he must needs have charity: for if he have not charity, he is nothing; where-fore he must needs have chari y. And charfore he must needs have chari y. And char-ity suffereth long. and is kind, and envieth not, and is not puffed up, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil, and rejoiceth not in miquity, but rejoiceth in the truth, beareth all things, beneveth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things; wherefore, my Leloved brethren, if ye have not charity, ye are nothing, for char-ity never faileth. Wherefore, cleave unto charity, which is the greatest of all, for all things must fail; but charity is the pure love of Christ, and it enduseth forever; and whoso is found possessed of it at the last day, it shall be well be with them. Wherefore, my beloved brethren, pray unto the Father with al the energy of heart, that ye may be filled with this love which he hath bestowed upon all who are true followers of his Son Jesus Christ, that ye may become the sons of God, that when he shall appear, we shall be like him: for we shall see him as he is, that we may have this hope, that we may be jurified even as he is pure: Amen.

THE CHILDREN OF THE KINGDOM.

While we witness the gathering of the children of the kingdom, there is a joy flows through the heart, unknown to the world; a prospect before us, that the unbelieving will be strangers to, till, perhaps they are taken out of the world by the pestilential arrows of the Almighty. The time is near when the Savior will appear in the clouds of heaven, with power and great glory, and we rejoice to see his sons and daughters brought home, by his power, where parting will be no more, if they remain faithful. The day has come when a great light has burst upon the understandings of them that sat in darkness, and we thank the Lord, that he is opening eyes to behold it, and unstopping ears to hear it; for verily, it is the news of salvation, opening the mysteries of eternity.

It is not long since we gave the number, that had come up to Zion since the gathering commenced, and we need not. in this article, give the information again, but suffice it to say, that the work goes on, and from our knowl dge of the subject, it will continue to do so, and even increase till the Lord has made a short work of it. There is a day of reckoning at hand, and a time of glory near: yea, truly this generation shall not pass away till the Lord's house shall be built in mount Zion, and the cloud of his glory shall rest upon it. Let the inhabitants of the earth remember, that the word of the Lord, of old was, that, eut of Zion should ge forth the

LET EVERY MAN LEARN HIS DUTY.

Every man ought to know his duty to God and man; especially the saint that bas the benefit of revelation to guide him: he ought to know his duty, not only to say, but to do in all things. He ought to practice holiness before the Lord, that he may be counted worthy of an inheritance in Zion, and meet his Savior in peace.

Every soul that comes up to Zion for an inheritance, for the present, must prepare temporally and spiritually. He should settle all his concerns with the world, and owe no man: he should overcome the "orld, and be ready, when he arrives at the place of gathering, to consecrate all to the Lord, through whom the Lord has appointed for that purpose, that he may be prepared to keep the commandments, and do the will of his heavenly Father: otherwise he may not hold communion with the brethren: nor can he expect an inheritance, according to the regulations and order of the church.

While the gathering is sounded, that Israel may come in from his long dispersion, and also, as many of the Gentiles as will, the invitation is free, but unless the articles and covenants, the law and regulation; yea, verily all the commandments, are kept, all is vaia. The Lord has order, and many that may come to the land of Zion, for an inheritance, without obeying all the requirements of the Lord, will be weighed in the balances and found was ting. It is not every one that says Lord, Lord, that shall abide the day of tithing. Every soul that is saved in the celestial kingdom, shall be saved by its own faith and works: therefore, how necessary it is, that the saints should keep all the commandments, that others seeing a good example, may go and do likewise. If any should ask what is my duty? Let him read: To love the Lord supremely: To love his neighbor as himself: To consecrate all to the Lord: To be faithful to the end, and, above all, to have charity. A saint must be holy, or he cannot have a portion in the holy city.

Again: Let all things be in order. Let every one that quits the world for the sake of eternal life, act consistent in every thing: by obeying the commandments: by paying his just debts; by taking care of his property, if any, if not, by assisting others to de se:

not hurrying up to Zion with some and leaving some to whet the appetite of an over anxious world. The Lord is never in a hurry, but gives every thing its proper proportion of time. Be cleanly: no matter what condition yours may be, cleanliness is a virtue, that will be required in Zion. Heaven shines with glory, and the Lord clothes his angels with WHITE ROBES: How necessary, then, that his saints should be decent.

In relation to consecrating, and continuing worthy, and faithful to the end, we make the following extract of a letter:

It is the duty of the Lord's clerk, whom he has appointed, to keep a history, and a general church record of all things, that transpire in Zion, and of all those who consecrate properties and receive inheritances, legally from the bishop; and also, their manner of life, and their faith and works: and also, of all the apostates, who apostatize after receiving their inlicritance.

It is contrary to the will and commandment of God, that these who receive not their inheritance by consecration, agreeable to his law, whith he has given, that he may tithe his people to prepare them against the day of vengeance and burning, should have their names enrolled with the people of God; neither is their genealogy to be kept, or to be had where it may be found on any of the records, or histories of the church: their names shall not be found, neither the names of their fathers, or the names of their children, written in the book of the law of God, saith the Lord of Hosts: yra, thus saith the still small voice, which whispereth through and pierceth all things: and oftentimes it maketh my bones to guake while it maketh manifest, saying:-And it shall come to pass, that I the Lord God will send one mighty and strong, holding the sceptre of power in his hand, clothed with light for a covering, whose mouth shall utter words, eternal word", while his bowels shall be a fountain of truth, to set in order the house of God, and to arrange by lot the inheritance of the saints, whose names are found, and the names of their fathers, and of their children, enrolled in the book of the aw of God: while that man who was called of God, and appointed, that putteth forth his hand to steady the ark of God, shall fall by the shaft of death, like as a tree that is smitthey who are not found written in the book of remembrance, shall find none inheritance

y who are of the High Priesthood,  $\Lambda \sim$ whose names are not found written in the book of the law, or that are found to have apostatized, or to have been cut off out of the clurch, as well as the lesser Priesthood; or the members, in that day, shall not find an inheritance among the saints of the most High: therefore, it shall be done unto them as unto the children of h priest, as it is written in the second chapter, and 61st and 62d verses of Ezra: And of the children of the priests: the children of Habaiah, the children of Koz, the children of Barzillai: which took a wife of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite, and was called after their name: These sought their register among those that were reckoned by genealogy, but they were not found: therefore were they, as polluted, put from the priesthood.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

Signs and appearances are such, that even the most unbelieving dread coming events: and no wonder, for when the Lord comes out of his place to rebuke the nations, all hearts are faint, and all knees do tremble.— Every man has a right to do as he pleases, being an agent to himself, but we ardently hope, while such important signs, and extraordinary commotions, as:—

The Cholera spreading over the whole earth; The plague breaking out in India;

The Revolutions of Europe;

The dissolution of South Carolina from the Union;

The gathering of the saints to Zion, and The assembling of the Jews at Jerusalem, are passing in rapid succession, that some will turn to God and live. Such strange movements of men; such dreadful sickness; ohl such fearful looking for the wrath of God to be poured out upon this generation, together with the evidence of holy writ, ought to convince every man in the world, that the end is near; that the harvest is r pe, and that the angels are reaping down the earth!

It is certainly a day of dilemmas: The political party that has just been crowned with victory, shudders at the prospect before it.— Horror, with all its fearful gloom blackens in one place, at d commotion, or rebellion, with all its crimson warnings, reddens in another, showing; if ever there was a time when the sword of the Lord hung by a single hair, over the heads of them that have seated themselves round the feast table, it is now. The man that undertakes to run from the pestilence, runs to danger: and he that would leave Europe because her kingdoms are crumbling to pieces, to come to America, beholds the links in the chain of Freedom break, as the new ropes in the hands of Sampson: and he looks, but looks in vain for peace, for the hour is nigh, when it shall be taken from the earth. In the east there is trouble; in the west there is fear; in the north there is no peace, and in the south there is consternation. Well may we exclaim, all things must change: but virtue shall endure forever.

THE BOOK OF ESTHER.

In the remainder of the book of Esther, which the ancient men of the world put down as doubtful, may be found the following:

Then Mardocheus said, God hath done these things.

For I remember a dream which I saw concerning these matters, and nothing thereof hath failed.

A little fountain became a river, and there was light, and the sun, and much water, this river is Esther, whom the king married, and made queen.

And the two dragons are I and Aman.

And the nations were those that are assembled to destroy the name of the Jews: and my nation is this Israel, which cried to God, and were saved: for the Lord hath saved his people, and the Lord hath delivered us from all those evils, and God hath wrought signs and great wonders, which have not been done among the Gentiles.

Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, and another for all the Gentiles.

And these two lots came at the hour, and time, and day of judgment, before God among all nations.

Contraction of the International State

Extract of a letter from brs. P. Dustin and C. Beebe, dated Cole county, Mo. Dec. 11, 1839.

We have meetings duily, and the people have quite an inquiry into the plan, to get knowledge of this great work. We have been provided for our daily support every where we go, as much so as if we were their relatives. We wonder and marvel how the heavenly Father inclines the hearts of the children of men, to feed us. Brethren, no one need fear, nor be afraid, to go out into the world, to reason out of the scriptures with the people, without money or serip. We fare better thus far, without a cent than we did when we had plenty of money. We have been from house to house, and from neigh borhood to neighborhood.

 Give our love to all. Remember us in your prayers: Brothers, God is love, I do feel it.

THE NEW YEAR.

Many years have rolled away since the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy: many years have fled since Enoch built up Zion, and the Lord took him and his city unto his own bosom; many years have passed away since the world was drowned for its wickedness; many years have been forgotten since Israel was scattered for transgressing the commandments of God; many years have vanished like a dream since the angel brought the good tidings, that the Son of God was born in the city of David, and many years have left the earth as they found it, since mankind knew the true way to holiness: But while creations have rolled on; while millions have come and gone from the earth; while seas have divided land from land; while cities have sunk, and mountains have tumbled up as standing monuments of their wickedness; yea, while the vanity of the world has flitted from generation to generation, without ever stopping to satisfy the ambition of one, or turning aside to draw a fac simile to gladden the curiosity of another, the word of the Lord has remained, as a never-failing witness of its Eternal Author.

We need not roll back the curtain of time, to view the rise and fall of kingdoms; to see the follies and vanities of departed generations; no, while men and things have passed, by the current of time, into another state, the word of the Lord remains to point the way to a better world; yea, it remains, to show the end of the ungodly, and, as saith Solomon, when they cast up the accounts of their sins, they shall come with fear: and their own iniquities shall convince them to their face.

Then shall the righteous man stand in great boldness before the face of such as have afflicted him, and made no account of his labors.

When they see it, they shall be troubled with terrible fear, and shall be amazed at the strangeness of his salvation, so far beyond all that they looked for.

And they repenting and groaning for anguish of spirit shall say within themselves, This was he, whom we had sometimes in derision, and a proverb of reproach: We fools accounted his life madness, and his end to be without honor: How is he numbered among the children of God, and his lot is among the saints! Therefore have we erred from the way of truth, and the light of righteousness hath not shined unto us, and the Son of righteousness rose not upon us.

What hath pride profited us I or what good All these tungs are passed away line a shadow, and as a post that hastetli by: And as a ship that passeth over the waves of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neather the pathway of the keel in the waves; or as when a bird hath flown through the air, there is no token of her way to be found, but the light air being beaten with the stroke of her wings, and parted with the violent noise and motion of them, is passed through, and therein afterward no sign where she went is to be found: Or like as when an arrow is shot at a mark, it parteth the air, which immediately cometh together again, so that a man cannot know where it went through: Even so we in like manner, as soon as we were born began to draw to cur end; and had no sign of virtue to shew; but were consumed in our own wickedners.

For the hope of the ungodly is like dust that is blown away with the wind; like a thin froth that is driven away with the storm; like as the smoke which is dispersed here and there with a tempest, and passeth away as the remembrance of a guest that tarrieth but a day.

But the righteous live for evermore; their reward also is with the Lord, and the care of them is with the Most High.

Therefore shall they receive a glorious kingdom, and a beautiful crown from the Lord's hand: for with his right hand shall he cover them, and with his arm shall he protect them.

He shall take to him his jealousy for complete armour, and make the creature his weapon for the revenge of his enemies.

He shall put on righteousness as a breastplate, and true judgment instead of a helmet. He shall take holiness for an invincible shield.

His severe wrath shall he sharpen for a sword, and the world shall fight with him against the unwise.

Then shall the right-aiming thunderbolts go abroad; and from the clouds, as from a well-drawn bow, shall they fly to the mark.

And hailstones full of wrath cast as out of a stone-bow, and the water of the sea shall rage against them, and the floods shall cruclly drown them.

Yea, a mighty wind shall stand up against them, and like a storm shall blow them away: thus iniquity shall lay waste the whole earth, and ill-dealing shall overthrow the thrones of the mighty.

Hear therefore, O ye kings, and understand; learn, ye that be judges of the ends of the earth.

Give car, ye that rule the people, and glory in the multitude of nations.

For power is given you of the Lord, and sovereignty from the Highest, who shall try your works, and search out your counsels.

Because, being ministers of his kingdom, ye have not judged aright, nor kept the law, nor walked after the counsel of God; horribly and speedily shall he come upon you: for a sharp judgment shall be to them that be in high places.

For mercy will soon pardon the meanest: but mighty men shall be mightily tormented.

For he which is Lord over all shall fear no man's person, neither shall he stand in awe www.LatterDayTruth.org Tip.

But a sore trial shall come upon the mighty. Unto you therefore, O kings, do I speak, that ye may lears wisdom, and not fall away: for they that keep holmess holidy, shan be judged holy: and they that have carned such things shall find what to answer.

Bar stop, and lot us r floot, that although almost six thousand years have witnessed the mighty and many scenes which have hap-pened or been acted on earth, few men, since Israel became a chosen nation of the Lo d, have lived to see an hundred New-Years:and that, from the signs of the times, and the convulsions of nations, notwithstanding about one third of this century has air ady hoen numbered among departed years, ver few, if any, in their present existence, will behold the new-year of nineteen hundred!-The destroying angel is on the carth, scat-tering the postilence where the Lord will, and as some of the inhabitants are swept away by this unseen power, the residue seem to harden their hearts and forget that now is the time when all flesh is grass: The Journal of Commerce thus sums up the amount of the cholera in New York: "Cost of the Cholera.—It appears from a report recently sub-mitted to the Board of Assistant Aldermen, that the expense of the city government on account of the cholera, amounted to $100,-000. But this is a small matter in comparison with the damage occasioned by the derangement and suspension of business, the quarantining of our vessels wherever they went, the expense of sickness and flight, and the host of other inconveniences to which the calamity gave rise. Leaving out of the ac-count, all higher considerations, such as the loss of life and the sundering of earthly ties, an assessment of $1,000,000 upon our inhabitants, (perhaps we shoul I say two millions,) would have been a cheap purchase of exemption from the scourge.

It is surprising how soon the effects of this calamity disappear. The pecuniary sufferings is no longer visible—the 6400 persons deceased since the first of July are not missed by the public- the 300J dram shops are again in full action—the Theatres, Distilleries, and other engines of destruction are plied as warmly as ever.

This is the reign of error, and a day o trouble, and we caution the disciples of the blessed Savior. to be aware and not assert or write things as truth without evidence, or a knowledge of their own. The present generation is very much given to lying, and, as a natural consequence, a lie will be believed and circulated by ten persons, where the truth can scarcely be heard by one. Good is seemingly, perished among all nations, and men's hearts fail them, while looking for those things which are about to take place on the earth. No man can calculate from last year's experience, and say, as it was in eighteen hundred and thirty-three: For the Lord is exerting the pow is of heaven, and will, ere long, shake terribly the earth: yea, his arrows are shot to the ends of it, and all flesh will know, that he bath put forth his band to rebuke the world for its pollutions

In proof of this the saints are gathering home to the land of Zion, that they may be ready to meet the Lord when he comes anddenly to his temple. And besides this, the Spirit of the Lord, as it were, works upon the great men of the carth, to Lasten the work of the gathering, in its time. The Fre-sident of the United States, in relation to the remnants of Joseph, thus speaks in his last Message: I am happy to inform you, that the wise and humane policy of transferring from the Eastern to the Western side of the Mississippi, the remnants of our aboriginal tribes, with their own consent and upon just terms, has been steadily pursued, and is approaching, I trust, its consummation. By reference to the report of the Secretary of War, and to the documents submitted with it, you will see the progress which has been made since your last session, in the arrangement of the various matters connected with our Indian relations. With one exception, every subject involving any question of conbas be a happily discosed of, and the con-viction evidently gains around among the Indians, that their removal to the country assigned by the United States for their permanant residence, furnishes the only hope of their ultimate prosperity.

This is true, and we can only say, verily all things move to further the work of the Lord: and now to conclude, we can say as we did at the beginning, many years have rolled away, since the morning stars sang together, but few more shall pass. till the Nons of God will shout for joy! The Lord will come the second time: The Lord will bring again Zion! Let earth rejoice, and let all things, even the bells upon the horses, be HOLINESS TO THE LURD.

INDIAN TREATIES.

The United States continue to buy the land of Joseph, and become nursing fathers unto his children. The Globe in speaking of the treaty of peace with the Indians, states, "That the land acquired by government from the Winnebagoes, contains about 4,640,000 acres, and is represented to be of sxcellent soil, well wavered, and abounding in inducements for agriculturists to purchase and cultivate.

Advices have been received of the formation of another treaty with the Sacs and Foxes. By this compact the United States acquire about 600,000,000 acres, of a quality not inferior to any between the same parallels of latitude. It is known to abound in lead, and the Indiane say in other cres.

For the tract ceded, the United States agree to pay an annuity of twenty thourand dollars for thirty years, to support a blacksmith and gun-smith in addition to those now employed, to pay the debts of the tribes, to supply provisions, and, as a reward for the fidelity of Ke-o-kuk and the friendly band, to allow a reservation to be made for them of 400 miles square on the loway river, to include Ke-o-kuk's principal village.

Black Hawk and his two sons, the Prophet, Napope and five others, principal warriors of the hostile bands, are to be retained as hostages, during the pleasure of the President.

What a beauty it is to see the prophecies fulfilling so exactly. Nephi says:

Nevertheless, after that they have been nursed by the Gentiles, and the Lord hath lifted up his hand upo the Gentiles, and set them up for a standard, and their children shall be carried in their arms and their daughters shall be carried upon their shoulders: behold these things of which are spoken are temporal:

For thus is the covenants of the Lord with our fathers; and it meaneth us in the days to come, and also all our brethren which are of the house of Israel.

And it meansth that the time cometh that after all the house of Israel have been scat-tered and confounded, that the Lord God will raise up a mighty nation among the Gentiles: yea, even upon the face of this land; and by them shall our seed be scattered.

And after that our seed is scattered, the Lord God will proceed to do a marvelous work among the Gentiles, which shall be of great worth unto our seed.

Wherefore, it is likened unto the being nourished by the Gentiles, and being carried in their arms, and upon their shoulders.

And it shall also be of worth unto the Gentiles: and not only unto the Gentiles, but un-to all the house of Israel, unto the making known of the covenants of the Father of heav n, unto Abraham, saying, In thy seed shall all the kindreds of the earth be blessed.

And I would my brethren that ye should know, that all the kindreds of the earth cannot be blyssed, unless he shall make bare his arm in the eyes of the nations.

Wherefore, the Lord God will proceed to make bare his arm in the eyes of all the nations, in bringing about his covenants and his gospel unto they which are of the house of Israel.

Wherefore, he will bring them again out of captivity, and they shall be gath red to-gether to the lands of their inhertance, and they shall be brought out of obscurity and out of darkness, and they shall know that the Lord is their Savior and their Redeemer, the mighty one of Israel.

3 REVELATION GIVEN JANUARY, 1831.

Thus saith the Lord your God, even Jesus Christ, the great I AM, Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the same which looked upon the wide expanse of eternity, and all the scraphic hosts of heaven, before the world was made: the same who knoweth all things, for all things are present before mine eyes: I ain the same who spake and the world was made, and all things came by me: I am the same who have taken the Zion of Enoch into mine owr. bosom: and verily I say, even as many as have believed on my name, for I am Christ, and in mine own name, by the virtue of the blood which I have spilt, have I plead before the Father for them: But behold the residue of the wicked have I

All the other prisoners have been delivered kept in chains of darkness until the judgment up to the friendly Sacs and Foxes." of the great day, which shall come at the end of the earth; and even so will I cause the wicked to be kept, that will not hear my voice but harden their hearts, and wo, wo, wo is their doom.

> But behold, verily, verily I say unto you, that mine eyes are upon you; I am in your midst and ye cannot see me, but the day soon cometh that ye shall see me and know that I am: for the vail of darkness shall soon be rent, and he that is not purified shall not abide the day: wherefore gird up your loins and be prepared. Behold the kingdom is yours and the enemy shall not overcome.

> Verily I say unto you, ye are clean but not all; and there is none else with whom I am well pleased, for all flesh is corruptible before me, and the powers of darkness prevail npon the earth, among the children of men. in the presence of all the hosts of heaven, which causeth silence to reign, and all eternity is pained, and the angels are waiting the great command to reap down the earth, to gather the tares that they may be burned: and behold the enemy is combined.

And now I show unto you a mystery, a thing wh ch is had in secret chambers, to bring to pass even your destruction, in pro-cess of time, and ye knew it not, but now I tell it unto you, and ye are blessed, not because of your iniquity, neither your hearts of unbelief, for verily some of you are guilty before me; but I will be merciful unto your weakness. Therefore, be ye strong from henceforth; fear not for the kingdom is yours: and for your salvation I give unto you a com-mandment, for I have heard your prayers, and the poor have complained before me, and the rich have I made, and all flesh is mine, and I am no respecter of persons. And I have made the earth rich, and behold it is my footstool: wherefore, again I will stand upom it. and I hold forth and deign to give unto you grater riches, even a land of promise; a land flowing with milk and honey, upon which there shall be no curse when the Lord land cometh: and I will give it unto you for the land of your inheritance, if you seek it with all your hearts: and this shall be my covenant with you, ye shall have it for the land of your inheritance, and for the inheritance of your children forever, while the earth shall stand, and ye shall possess it again in cternity, no more to pass away.

But verily I say unto you, that in time yo shall have no king nor ruler, for I will be your king and watch over you. Wherefore, hear my voice and follow me, and you shall be a free people, and ye shall have no laws but my laws, when I come, for I am your Lawgiver, and what can stay my hand? But verily I say unto you, teach one another according to the office wherewith I have anboother as himself, and practice virtue and holiness before me. And again 1 say unto you, let every man esteem his brother as himself: for what man among you having twelve sons, and is no respecter to them, and they serve him obediently, and he saith unto, the one, be thou clothed in robes and sit thou here; and to the other, be thou clothed in rags and sit thou there, and looketh upon his sons and saith I am just.

EVENING AND MORNING BEAR.

Behold, this I have given unto you a parable, and it is even as I am: I say unto you, be one; and if ye ar; not one, ye are not mine. And again I say unto you, that the enemy in the secret chambers seeketh your lives: Ye hear of wars in far countries, and you say that there will soon be great wars in far countries, but ye know not the hearts of them in your own land: I tell you these things because of your prayers: wherefore, treesure up wisdom in your bosoms, lest the wickedmess of men reveal these things unto you, by their wickedness, in a manner which shall speak in your ears, with a voice louder than that which shall shake the earth: but if ye are prepared, ye shall not fear.

And that ye might escape the power of the enemy, and be gathered unto und a righteous people, without spot and blameless: wherefore, for this cause I gave unto you the commandment, that ye should go to the Ohio: and there I will give unto you my law; and there you shall be endowed with power from on high, and from thence, whomsoever I will shall go forth among all nations, and it shall be told them what they shall do: for I have a great work laid up in store: for Israel shall be saved, and I will lead them whithersoever I will, and no power shall stay my hand.

And now I give unto the church in these parts, a conmandment, that certain men among them shall be appointed, and they shall be appointed by the voice of the church: and they shall look to the poor and the needy, and administer to their relief, that they shall not suffer; and send them forth to the place which I have commanded them; and this shall be their work, to govern the affairs of the property of this church. And they that have farms that cannot be sold, let them be left or rented as seemeth them good. See that all things are preserved, and when men are endowed with power from on high, and sent forth, all these things shall be gathered unto the bosom of the church.

And if ye seek the riches which it is the will of the Father to give unto you, ye shall be the richest of all people; for ye shall have the riches of eternity: and it must needs be that the riches of the earth is mine to give: but beware of pride, lest ye become as the Nephites of old. And again I say anto you, I give unto you a commandment, that every man, both elder, priest, teacher and also member, go to with his might, with the la. bor of his hands, to prepare and accomplish the things which I have commanded. And let your preaching be the warning voice, ev. ery man to his neighbor, in mildness and in meekness. And go ye out from among the Verily thus saith the Lord, in addition to the laws of the church concerning women and children, those who belong to the church, who have los hir husbands or fathers: women have claim on their husbands for their maintainance until their h shands are taken; and if they are not found transgressors they shall have fellowship in the church, and if they are not faithful, they shall not have fellowship in the church; yet they may remain upon their inheritances according to the laws of the land.

All children have claim upon their parents for their maintainanc until they are of age; and after that, they have claim upon the urch; or, in other words, upon the Lord's storehouse, if their parents have not where, with to give them inheritances. And the storehouse shall be kept by the consecrations of the church, that widows and orphans shall be provided for, as also the poor. Amen.

PLAGUE, PESTILENCE, FAMINE AND THE SWORD.

IN THESE LAST DAYS.

The Lord has declared that calamities shall cover the mocker: and he has also said, There is no eye that shall not see, neither ear that shall not hear, neither heart that shall not be penetrated, and who can doubt it after reading the following?

From the Weekly Courier & N. Y. Enquirer. THE PLAGUE IN INDIA.

By the last arrival from England, we learn that accounts had been received there of the prevalence of the Plague at Bushire, and that its ravages were of the most dreadful descrip-The disease had almost wholly depoption. ulated the district, the deaths having amounted to from 150 to 200 a day. It commenced by great weakness, and the sufferers were then attacked with swelling in the groin, the armpits, and back, the pain arising from which was excessive, and continued until death put an end to their misery. At one time there were 2,000 bodies unburied in the public streets. The sufferers when attacked crowded the mosques, where most of them died, and it was not until decomposition had commenced that they were buried. Мев were hired at high wages to perform this duty, and at one time 10 | persons were so employed. In most of the houses from one to four dead bodies were left unburied for some days. In the Residency Court, dead bodies were left exposed. Notwithstanding the existence of this dreadful state of things, several thieves had pillaged the houses. The Residency had been broken open, and every thing valuable stolen. Whole families were swept off by the disease, and the utmost distress had prevailed.

The accounts from Bombay state that much alarm existed there lest the disease should be brought to that Presidency. One vessel had arrived from Bushire, in which 70 out of 120 persons on board died of the disease on the voyage. The Governor of Bombay had issued an order, compelling all vessels arriving from the infected districts to perform a quarantine of 30 days, and then their discharge was to be dependent upon the report of a medical officer.

Mr. Daniel Prieur, Mayor of the City of New Orleans.

The undersigned Committee, appointed by the City Council to remain permanent during the dreadful malady that desolates our city, have the honor to inform you, that in consequence of reports made to them by diverse respectable men, on the situation of the Hospital kept by D. McFarlane, they repaired thither to-day, at half past 1 o'oclock, when they visited all the rooms, which they found in the most disgusting state of uncleanliness: all the vases necessary to our natural wants, being filled up, and the patients having declared that for a long while, no care had been extended to them.

In several rooms of that building dead bodies were discovered, which had been for many days in a putrified state; from that room the Committee repaired to another one rear the kitchen, where they discovered the dead body of a negro, whose horrid stench plainly told, it had deen lying there for several days; that finally, the Committee entered another room opposite the kitchen, where every thing was in as bad a condition as the others; that in this room several bodies were seen of men who had been dead for many days; and, that in a bed, (horrible to tell1) they found a dying man lying on a dead body, in a perfect state of putrifaction.

The undersigned, members of said Committee, declare, that all they saw was so shocking that it cannot be described; that it would be most advisable to remove from that Hospital all patients that are still alive, and to beware lest the putrified corpses within its enclosure do not occasion pestilence in that quarter, and perhaps, over the whole city.

November 7.—The Standing Committee have the honor to present the following additional report:—

In one of the apartments where many patients were to be seen, they discovered, under a bed, a dead body, half corroded, whose entrails lay on the floor. In a closet upon the gallery, there were two corpses, one of which was lying on the floor, and the other had his feet upon the floor and his back upon the bed, forming a curve, his legs were pressed up and his thighs were of a livid hue.... Under a shed in a yard, was the dead body of a negro, off which a fowl was picking worms. The number of dead bodies amounted to twelve or fourteen.

ANGUILLA.

From the Barbadoes Mercury, Oct. 20.

The following extract of a letter from Anguilla, we copy from the Antigua Free Press of the 27th Sett. The description given of the distress that has been suffered is truly affecting, and as the work of death is, according to the writer, suspended only for a while, by timely relief received, we trust those who have not yet contributed towards the assistance of the sufferers, will come forward and imitate the laudable example of their fellow colonists:—

"It is impossible for me to give you a correct view of the physical and moral destitution, wretchedness and misery of this degraded people. The contracted muscles, shrivelled skins, and despairing countenances of a great portion of the population are a most heart rending sight.

On every side we behold hungry mothers, with haggard countenances, and weary worn out limbs, trembling under the weight of a baloved child, whose eyes are sunk deep in their sockets, its limbs parched and withered, and its face dried and wrinkled, as though it was bending beneath the weight of four score years! They carry them to the doors of those whose sufferings are not so great:—but alas! such is the general poverty, that few are able to relieve them.

It is an affecting sight, when a liftle food is given, to see the hunger bitten mother sit down on the ground, bathing her squalid child with tears, while she feeds it on the fruits of benevolence, and refuses herself a taste, till her tender charge is satisfied.— Strangers who have heard of the famine, and who have visited us, have said, in my hearing, that the half was not told. For some time, from 2 to 12 a day have died of starvation; but the great liberality of St. Kitt's and Nevis has suspended, at least for a while, the work of death. The drought has been dreadful. There has not been a season of rain the last eighteen months, and this, with the consummate idleness of many, is the principal cause of the famine."

AWFUL MORTALITY.

The British ship Sybella, Thornton, arrived yesterday from Rotterdam. She had on board at the time she left Holland, one hundred and thirty-two passengers, who received an addition of three, on the passage. These and no less than ninety-four others died before the vessel arrived here, for but thirtyeight of all the passengers who embarked in apparent health, reached their port of destinution. They are now at the quarantine and in a most wretched condition. We have not been able to collect as yet further paaticulars. The above however, are sufficiently appalling.--N. Y. paper.

CAPE DE VERD ISLANDS.

Capt. Britten, of the brig Harp, at N. Y. from the coast of Africa, touched on his passage home at the Cape de Verd Islands, from whence he sailed but 30 days since. Capt Britton corroborates to the fullest extent, the accounts which have already reached us of the distressed situation of the inhabitants of these Islands; they were actually in a state of starvation. Capt. Britton saw persons drop down and die in the streets from absolute want. Nor was there any appearance of gelief near at hand.

LATEST FROM CANTON.

By the ship Providence, Capt. Bowers, the Editors of the Journal of Commerce have received a Canton paper of May 20, which sontains the following paragraph:---

The rebellion on the frontiers of the adjoining provinces continues, and from the large bodies of troops which have left Cantonit would seem that the suppression of this revolt is no very easy matter. For some time the official reports of the progress of the Imperial arms, and the intention of the Government, have been kept quiet; at present, how ever, there is much stir among the offic Fif and it is reported that a force of several thousan 1 men will leave Canton to-day for the seat of war, accompanied by his Excellency the Governer. A few days since, a fleet of large travelling boats passed up the river, with a detachment of troops on board, destined to reinfor the army which is now engaged with the rebels.

REBELLION IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

In addition to the above tribulations, South Carolina has rebelled against the laws of the United States: held a state convention, and passed ordinances, the same as declaring herself an independent uation, and, more than all, "Resolved, That this convention do recommend to the people of South Carolina the observance of Thursday the 31st day of January next, as a day of fasting, humiliation and prayer, on which they are invited to implore the blessings of Almighty God on the efforts that are made to restore liberty and happiness to our beloved State."

And Gen. Jackson has ordered several companies of Artillery to Charleston, and issued a Proclamation, urging submission, and declaring such moves as that of South Carolina TREASON. He closes thus: "May the Great Ruler of nations grant that the signal blessings with which he has favored ours, may not, by the machess of party or personal ambition, be disregarded and lost; and may His wise Providence bring those who have pro-Luced this crisis, to see their folly, before they feel the misery of civil strife; and inspire a returning veneration for that Union, which if, we dare to penetrate His designs. he has chosen as the only means of attaining the high destinies to which we may reasonably aspire."

THE LAST DAYS.

Something singular attaches itself to the phrase, The last days. We can take up the bible, and read what took place in the beginning, without any emotion, and generally without realizing what did happen; but when we read the prophecies touching the last days, the very soul starts to know what shall be. We can look back to the morning of creation, when God said, Let there be light, and there was light, without ever remembering that his glory covered the heavens and his brightness was before the brightness of the sun; without reflecting that when he made the firmament, and divided the waters under the firmament, from the waters above the firmament, that the great deep, even the upper deep, was, and he laid the beams of his chambers in it; and that the waters beneath were gathered into one place, so that six parts of the earth were dry: yea, we can lightly read these grand scenes of the beginning, without ever thinking that the earth has since been divided, and that the heap of great waters, has been spread over the earth to frustrate some of the wicked designs of ungodly men; but when the last days begin to cast their studows before, we stop and wonder, with great earnestness, what is about to come to pass. We see nation rising against nation; we hear of the pestilence destroying its thousands in one place, and its tens of thousands in another; the plague consuming all before it, and we witness the terror that reigns in the hearts of the wicked, and we are ready to exclaim, The Lord is certainly about bringing the world to an account of its iniquity. Let us reflect, then, in the last days, that there was to be great tribulation: for the Savior says, nation shall rise against nation, kingdom against kingdom, and there shall be famines, and pestilences, and earthquakes in divers places; and the prophets have declared that the valleys should rise; that the mountains should be laid low: that a great earthquake should be, in which the sun should become black as sackcloth of hair, and the moon turn into blocd; yea, the Eternal God hath declared that the great deep shall roll back into the north countries and that the land of Zion and the land of Jerusalem shall be joined together, as they were before they were divided in the days of Peleg. No wonder the mind starts at the sound of the last days! Great things will come to pass in and it with the second and the second and the

them: sickness, sorrow, pain and death, will come upon the wicked: the righteous will be gathered from all nations, as well as Israel, to Zion, and the Jews assemble at Jerusalem, to behold the Lord of glory gather all things in one, that there may be on earth, one fold and Shepherd.

We live in a great time; one of the most eventful periods that has ever been: it is not only the time when the captivity of Jacob's tents will return, but it is the time when the wicked and their works shall be destroyed; when the earth shall be restored to its former beauty and goodness, and shall yield its increase; when plagues shall be sent to humble the haughty, and bring them, if they will, to a knowledge of God: yea, it is a time when the wicked cannot expect to see the next generation; yea, it is that great time, when none shall live in the second generation unless they are pure in heart.

Esdras, or Ezra the High Priest, we suppose, seems to have had a great view of the last days, and for all that has ever appeared to the contrary, by the wisdom of man, he spake by the Spirit of God, and says:-"And I opened my mouth and began to talk before the Most High, and said, O Lord, thou that shewest thyself unto us, thou wast shewed unto our fathers in the wilderness, in a place where no man treadeth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt. And thou spakest, saying, Hear me, O Israel; and mark my words, theu seed of Jacob. For behold, I sow my law in you, and it shall bring forth fruit in you, and ye shall be honored in it forever. Bui our fathers, which received the law, kept it not, and observed not thine ordinances: and though the fruit of thy law did not perish, neither could it for it was thine; yet they that received it perished, because they kept not the thing that was sown in them.

And lo, it is a custom, when the ground hath received seed, or the sea a ship, or any vessel meat or drink, that, that being perished wherein it was sown, or cast into, that thing also which was sown, or cast therein, or received, doth perish, and remaineth not with us: but with us it hath not happened so.

For we that have received the law perish by sin, and our heart also which receiveth it. Notwithstanding, the law perisheth not, but remainsth in his force. And when I spake these things in my heart, I looked back with mine eyes, and upon the right side I saw a woman, and behold, she mourned and wept with a loud voice and was much grieved in heart, and her clothes were rent, and she had ashes upon her head.

Then let my thoughts go that I was in, and turned me unto her, and said unto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so grieved in thy mind? and she said unto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewail myself, and add unto my sorrow, for I am sore vexed in my mind; and brought very low. And I said unto her, what aileth thee? tell me.

She said unto me, I thy handmaid have been barren, and had no child, though I had a husband thirty years. And those thirty years I did nothing else day and night, and every hour, but make my prayer to the High-est. After thirty years God heard me, thy handmaid, looked upon my misery, considered my trouble, and gave me a son: and I was very glad of him, so was my husband also, and all my neighbors: and we gave great honor unto the Almighty.

And I nourished him with great travail. So when he grew up, and came to the time that he should have a wife, I made a feast.-And it so came to pass, that when my son entered into his wedding chamber, he fell down and died. Then we all overthrew the lights, and all my neighbors rose up to com-fort me: so I took my rest unto the second day at night.

And it came to pass, when they had left off to comfort me, to the end I might be quiet; then rose I up by night, and fled, and came hither into this field, as thou seest. And I do now purpose not to return into the city, but here to stay, and neither to eat nor drink but continually to mourn and to fast until I die.

Then left I the meditations wherein I was, and spake to her in anger, saying:-Thou foolish woman above all other, seest thou not our mourning, and what happeneth unto us? how that Zion our mother is full of all heaviness, and much humbled, mourning very sorel and now, seeing we all mourn and are sad, for we are all in heaviness, art thou grieved for one son? for ask the earth, and she shall tell thee, that it is she that ought to mourn for the fall of so many that grow upon her. For out of her came all at first, and out of her shall all others come, and behold, they walk almost all into destruction, and a multitude of them is utterly rooted out.

Who then should make more mourning than she that hath lost so great a multitude; and not thou, which art sorry but for one1but if thou sayest unto me, My lamentation is not like the earth's, because I have lost the fruit of my womb, which I brought forth with pains, and bare with sorrows; but the earth for the multitude present in it, according to the course of the earth, is gone, as it came.

Then say I unto thee, like as thou hast brought forth with labor; even so the earth also hath given her fruit namely, man, ever since the beginning unto him that made her.

Now therefore keep thy sorrow to thyself, and bear with a good courage that which knowledge the determination of God to be just, thou shalt both receive thy son in time, and shalt be commended among women. Go thy way then into the city to thy husband.-And she said unto me that will I not do: I will not go into the city but here will I die. So I proceeded to speak further unto her, and said, Do not so, but be counselled by me: for how many are the adversities of Zion? be comforted in regard of the sorrow of Jerusalem

For thou seest that our sanctuaries are laid waste, our altar broken down, our temple destroyed; our psaltry is laid on the ground, our song is put to silence, our rejoicing is at an end, the light of our candlestick is put out, the ark of our covenant is spoiled, our holy things are defiled, and the name that is called upon us, almost profaned: our children are put to shame, our priests are burnt, our Levites are gone into captivity, our virgins are defiled, and our wives ravished; our righteous men carried away, our little once de-stroyed, our young men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weak; and, which is the greatest of all, the seal of Zion hath now lost her honor; for she is delivered into the hands of them that hate us.

And therefore shake off thy great heavi-ness, and put away the multitude of sor-rows, that the mighty may be merciful unto thee again, and the Highest shall give thee rest and ease from thy labor.

And it came to pass, while I was talking with her, behold, her face upon a sudden shined exceedingly, and her countenance glistened, so that I was afraid of her, and mused what it might be. And behold, suddenly she made a great cry, very fearful: so that the earth shook at the noise of the woman.

And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared unto me no more, but there was a city builded, and a large place shewed itself from the foundations: then was I afraid, and cried with a loud voice, and said, Where is Uriel the angel, who came unto me at the first? for he hath caused me to fall into many trances, and mine end is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke. And as I was speaking these words, behold, he came unto me, and looked upon me.

And lo, I lay as one that had been dead. and mine understanding was taken from me; and he took me by the right hand, and comforted me, and set me upon my feet, and said unto me, What aileth thee? and why art theu so disquieted? and why is thy understanding troubled, and the thoughts of thy heart! and I said, Because thou hast forsaken me, and yet I did according to thy words, and I went into the field, and lo, I have seen, and yet see, that I am not able to express. And he said unto me, Stand up manfully, and I will advise thee.

Then said I, speak on, my lord, in me; on-ly forsake me not, lest I die frustrate of my hope. For I have seen that I knew not, and hear that I do not know. Or is my sense deceived, or my soul in a dream? now therefore, I beseech thee, thou wilt shew thy servant of this vision.

He answered me then, and said, Hear me, and I shall inform thee, and tell thee where. sath befallen thes. For if thou shalt ac fore thou art afraid: for the Highest will reyeal many secret things unto thee. He hath seen that thy way is right: for that thou sorrowest continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Zion.

This therefore is the meaning of the vision which thou lately sawest: thou sawest a weman mourning, and thou begannest to comfort her: but now seest thou the likeness of the woman no more, but there appeared unto thee a city builded. And whereas she told thee of the death of her son, this is the solution: this woman, whom thou sawest, is Zion; and whereas she said unto thee, even she whom thou seest as a city builded, whereas she said unto thee, that she hath been thirty years barren: those are the thirty years wherein there was no offering made in her. But after thirty years Solomon builded the city, and offered offerings: and then bare the barren & son.

And whereas she told thee that she nourished him with labor: that was the dwelling in Jerusalem. But whereas she said unto thee, "That my son coming into his marriage chamber happened to have a fall and died:" this was the destruction that came to Jerusalem.

And behold, thou sawest her likeness, and because she mourned for her son, thou begannest to comfort her: and of these things which have chanced, these are to be opened unto thee.

For now the Most High seeth that thou art grieved unfeignedly, and sufferest from thy whole heart for her, so hath he shewed thee the brightness of her glory, and the comeliness of her beauty: and therefore I bade thee remain in the field where no house was builded: for I knew that the Highest would shew this unto thee.

Therefore I commanded thee to go into the field, where no foundation of any building was. For in the place where the Highest beginneth to shew his city, there can no man's duilding be able to stand. And therefore fear not, let not thy heart be affrighted, but go thy way in, and see the beauty and greatmess of the building, as much as thine eyes be able to see: and then shalt thou hear as much as thy heart may comprehend.

For thou art blessed above many other, and art called with the highest; and so are but few. But to-morrow at night thou shalt remain here; and so shall the highest shew thee visions of the high things, which the Most High will do unto them that dwell upon the eart! THE LAST DAYS. So I slept that night: another, like as he commanded me.

And it came to pass after seven days, I dreamed a dream by night: and lo, there arose wind from the sea, that it moved all the waves thereof. And I beheld and lo, that man waxed strong with the thousands of heaven: and when he turned his countenance to look, all the things trembled that were seen under him. And whensoever the voice went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voice, like as the earth faileth when it feeleth the fire.

And after this I beheld, and lo, there was gathered together a multitude of men, out of number, from the four winds of the heaven, to subdue the man that came out of the sea. But I beheld, and lo, he had graven bimself a great mountain, and flew up upon it. But I would have seen the region or place whereout the hill was graven, and I could not.

And after this I beheld, and lo, all they which were gathered together to subdue him were sore afraid, and yet durst fight. And lo, as he saw the violence of the multitude that came, he neither lifted up his hand, nor held sword, nor any instrument of war: but only I saw that he sent out of his mouth as it had been a blast of fire, and out of his lips a flaming breath, and out of his tongue he cast out sparks and tempests.

And they were all mixed together; the blast of fire, the flaming breath, and the great tempest; and fell with violence upon the multitude which was prepared to fight, and burned them up every one, so that upon a sudden of an innumerable multitude nothing was to be perceived, but only dus'. and smell of smoke: when I saw this I was afraid. Afterward I saw the same man come down from the mountain and called unto him another peaceable multitude. And there came much people unto him, whereof some were glad, some were sorry, some of them were bound, and other some brought of them that were offered: then was I sick through great fear, and I awaked, and said, thou hast shewed thy servant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted me worthy that thou shouldst receive my prayer: shew me now yet the interpretation of this dream.

For as I conceived in mine understanding, wo unto them that shall be left in those days! and much more wo unto them that are not left behind! for they that were not left were in heaviness.

Now understand I the things that are laid up in the latter days, which shall happen unto them, and to those that are left behind.— Therefore are they come into great perils and many necessities, like as these dreams declare.

Yet it is easier for him that is in danger to come into these things, than to pass away as a cloud out of the world, and not to see the things that happen in the last days. And he answered onto me, and said. The interpretation of the vision shall I shew thee and I will contract the thing that thou hast required.

Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behind, this is the propertation: he that shall endure the peril in that time hath kept himself: they that be fallen into danger are such as have not works and fifth towardthe Almighty. Know this therefore, that they which be left behind are more bleased than they that be dead. This is the meaning of the vision: whereas thou sawest a man coming up from the midst of the sea: the same is he whom God the Highest hath kept a great season, which by his own self shall deliver his creature: and he shall order them that are left behind.

And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came as a blast of wind, and fire, and storm: and that he held neither sword, nor any instrument of war, but that the rushing in of him destroyed the whole multitude that came to subdue him; this is the interpretation: Behold, the days come, when the Most High will begin to deliver them that are upon the earth. And he shall come to the astonishment of them that dwell on the earth.

And one shall undertake to fight against another, one city against anothor, one place agaist another, one people against another, and one realm against another. And the time shall be when these things shall come to pass, and the signs shall happen which I shewed thee before, and then shall my Son be declared, whom thou sawest as a man ascending. And when all the people hear his voice, every man shall in their own land leave the battle they have one against another. — And an innumerable multitude shall be gathered together, as thou sawest them, willing to come, and to overcome him by fighting.

But he shall stand upon the top of mount Zion. And Zion shall come, and shall be shewed to all men, being prepared and builded, like as thou sawest the hill graven without hands.

Abraham, Isaac and Jacob knew of a surety what should come to pass in the last days. Jacob gathered his sons around him, when he was about to fall asleep in God, and told them what should befall them in the last days. As there are many references to the last days, we use the terms last days, latter days, latter times, &c., as synonymous.

Balaam, when the Lord put words in his mouth exclaimed who can count the dust of Jacob, and the number of the fourth of Israel? Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his!

No wonder his heart leaped for joy; he saw the glory of the last days, or, to use his own words, What this people [Israel] shall do to thy people [Balak's] in the latter days. His prophecy is great. We have it thus in Numbers.--And when Balaam saw that it pleased the Lord to biess Israel, he went not, as at other times to seek for enchantments, but he set his face toward the wilderness.--And Balaam lifted up his eyes, and saw Israel abiding in his tents according to their tribes, and the Spirit of God came a for him.

And he took up his parable, and said, Balaam the son of Beor hath said the man whose eyes are opened bath said the man said, which heard the words of Gale which saw the vision of the Almighty, faring but having his eyes open: how goodly are thy tents, O Jacob d thy tubernacles, O Israell As the valleys are they spread forth, as gardens by the river's side, as the trees of lign-aloes which the Lord hath planted, and as cedar trees beside the waters.

He shall pour the water out of his buckets, and his seed shall be in many waters, and his king shall be higher than Agag, and his kingdom shall be exaited. God brought him forth out of Egypt: he hath as it were the strength of a unicorn: he shall eat up the nations his enemics, and shall break their bones, and pierce them through with his arrows. He couched, he lay down as a lion, and as a great lion: who shall stir him uo? Blessed is he that blesseth thee, and cursed is he that curseth thee.

And Balak's anger was kindled against Balaam, and he smote his hands together: and Balak said unto Balaam, I called thee to curse mine enemies, and behold, thou hast altogether blessed them these three times. Therefore now fice thou to thy place: I thought to promote thee to great honor; but lo, the Lord hath kept thee back from honor.

And Balaam said unto Balak, Spake I not also to thy messengers which thou sentest unto me, saying, if Balak would give me his house full of silver and gold, I cannot go beyond the commandment of the Lord, to do either good or bad of mine own mind; but what the Lord saith, that will I speak? and now, behold, I go unto my peoples come I will advertise thee what this people shall do to thy people in the latter days.

And he took up his parable, and said, Balaam the son of Beor hath said, and the man whose eyes are open hath said; he hath said, which heard the words of God, and knew the knowledge of the Most High, which saw the vision of the Almighty, falling but having his eyes open: I shall see him, but not now: I shall behold him, but not 1 igh: there shall come a Star out of Jacob, and a Sceptre shall rise out of Israel, and shall smite the cornera of Moab, and destroy all the children of Sheth.

And Edom shall be a possession, Seir also shall be a possession for his enemies; and Isracl shall do valiantly. Out of Jacob shall come he that shall have dominion, and shall destroy him that remaineth of the city. And when he looked on Amalek, he took up his parable, and said, Amalek was the first of the nations, but his latter end shall be that he perish forever.

And he looked on the Kenites, and took up his parable, and said, Strong is thy dwelling place, and theu puttest thy nest in a rock. Nevertheless, the Kenite shall be wasted, until Asshur shall carry thee away captive.

And he took up his parable, and said, Alas, who shall live when God doeth this! and ships shall come to the coast of Chittim, and shall afflict Asshur, and shall afflict Eber, and he also shall perish forever. And Balaam rose up, and went and seturned to his place; and Balak also went his way.

Ezekiel said:—After many days thou shalt be visited: in the latter years thou shalt come x into the land, brought back from the sword, gathered out of many people, against the mountains of Israel, which have been always waster but it is brought forth out of the nations, and they shall dwell safe y all of them. Isaiah and Micoh said: It shall one to pass in the last days, the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established in the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above he hills; and all nations shall flow unto it.

Our Savior who knew all things that should come to pass in the last days, even when he come in his glory to reign on earth with his saints, said before the end should come, there should be great tribulations, such as was not since the beginning of the world to this time, no, nor ever should be.

Paul, who had the privilege of seeing his Lord and master in the fiesh, and who knew a man that was caught up into the third heaven, while on this all-important subject, thus wrote:—This know, also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, withont natural affection, truce-breakers, falseaceusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, traitors, heady, high-minded, lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God; having a form godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away.

Peter, possessing the keys of the mysteries of the kingdom, wrote to them that have obtained like precious faith with us, through the righteousness of God and our Savior Jesus Christ, said in his second epistle, Beloved, I now write unto you; in which I stir up your pure minds by way of remembrance: that ye may be mindful of the words which were spoken before by the holy prophets, and of the commandment of us the apostles of the Lord and Savior: knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts, and saying, Where is the promise of his coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as from the beginning of the creation.

Having such a cloud of witnesses to prove what should come to pass when the earth is ripe, or when the days of vengeance had commenced, we have double confidence to warn the world, of what shall shortly be.— In the language of Jude, we can say, Remember ye the words which were spoken before of the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ; how that they told you there should be mockers in the last time, who should walk after their own ungodly lusts.

Jeremiah said O earth, earth, earth, hear the word of the Lord; and would to God that the earth would hear, before it is everlastingly too late: That instead of ridiculing the words and works of God, its inhabitants would look for themselves, and behold the great and marvelous events which are happening around them, preparatory to the end.

The bible and common history, are full of the transactions and events which have been; and the hearts of thousands quoke with fear for what shall be: now let us reason from the past, for the benefit of the future. Sacred writ, shows that the Lord has always been Sacred morelful, and miniful of the children of men, and has given the inhabitants of the earth timely notice, that he was displeased with their ungodly conduct, that they may repent, and be saved, rather than be destroyed by judgments. He gave one hundred and twen-ty years' notice of the flood; he warned the judgments. inhabitants of Sodom and Gomorrah, before they were consumed; he did marvelous things in the sight of Pharoah, before he and his host were swallowed up in the Red Sea, and the Lord has ever warned men before destruc-tions yea, from Adam, the language of the Lord has been, Repent, repent! And when men repented, the Lord forgave them; and will he be less mindful of the workmanship of his hands now! No; God will hear, if men, do pray in faith.

We have an earnest desire that men should escape the calamities, that will soon be poured out upon the earth, to scourge the inhabitants. Those that will not hear, as has been the case in all ages, pass on and are punished. The inhabitants before the flord, rejected the preaching of Noah, and were drowned. The men of Sodom and Gomorrah repented not of their sins, and died in their wickedness. Fharaoh, after seeing the mighty works of the Lord, died for his folly. But the Lord is merciful, the Lord is just, and as in ancient days, so now, even in these last days, he warns, that men may repent and live." So much for the world. To the church, a word fitly spoken is like the dew that descended upon the mountains of Zion: for there the Lord commanded the blessing of life forever more. Beloved brethren, you know these are the last days, for the Lord hath said so. You, then, have not to look across the occan for testimony, for you have it in your hearts. You have not to send to heaven for proof, for the judgments of God are already sent forth unto victory as evidence that the end is nigh.

You are independent above all the creatures under the celestial kingdom, if you are faithful; even to the obtaining of eternal life. Walk holy before the Lord. He has sent his everlasting covenant into the world, to be a light to the world and to be a standard for his people, and for the Gentiles to seek to it: and to be a messenger before his face to pre-pare the way before him. And he will reason with them that come, as with men in days of old, and show unto them his strong reason. Wherefore, while he is revealing unto you the great things that will shortly come to pass, learn wisdom, and rejoice for the day, even the day of righteousness that will soon come; yea, that day that was sought for by all holy men, and they found it not because of wickedness and abominations, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth; but obtained a promise that they should find it, and see it in their flesh, and so will you, if you continue faithful. Are you sensible of the bleesings and privileges you enjoy? you can look upon the world and upon them that profess to worship their God, and see the course of cvil, and shun it, be-cause the Lord has shown you the right way. You can see some for gold; some for fame, some for blood; some for persecution; some for fun; some for pleasure; some for yearly; some for lying; some for this, and some for that, and you can pray to God to keep you from such follies, and he will do so, if your hearts are pure.

What blessings! you can shun the dreadful distress of nations, if you are humble and honest in all things before the Lord: you can overcome the world and enter into his rest, where trouble will ccase. You ought to rejoice, with joy unspeakable; for while the nations are crumbling to pieces, and men are filling up the tombs without repentance, you know your redemption is nigh, and you believe that Israel will soon be gathered home to meet his God, when he comes in his glory.

Men without the Spirit of God to guide them into sacred truth have long labored six times as much for the perishable things of this world, as for the one thing needful: brethren, you have better knowledge, act accordingly, for the earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof. Counsel not the Lord but walk by faith, showing good works, that your examples may be worthy of imitation.

The love of money fills the hearts of the wicked; but what profit would it be to you, with all your knowledge of what must shortly come to pass, if you could gain the whole world for thirty or forty years, and then lose your inheritance, and eternal life? This is a solemn question, and when the faithful enter into the joys of their Lord, they will be more spi to say: Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither has it entered into the heart of men to conceive, what the Lord has prepared for them that love him. The Lord will hear when saints do pray.

Among the great men of the earth, many have declared, with thousands to second them, that every man has his price:—but beloved, the saint has not; he is above bribery, and come life or come death, it is all the same; in the morning of the resurrection, he rises above corruption and lives with God; and his last days will be his best days: "And it shall come to pass afterward, I will pour out my Spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions."

THE JEWS:-AGAIN.

The great day is hastening on when the whole house of Israel will be gathered home from their long dispersion, to Zion and Jeru-The United States is a witness to salem. the gathering at mount Zion, if her population will look at things as they are; and the old world in the east, may soon bear record, also, of the gathering at Jerusalem: for the Lord will set a sign among them, and will send those that escape of them unto the nations, to Tarshish, Pul, and Lud, that draw the bow to Tubal, and Javan, to the isles afar off, that have not heard his fame, neither have seen his glory; and they shall declare his glory among the Gentiles. And they shall bring all your brethren for an offering unto the Lord, out of all nations, upon horses, and in chariots, and in litters, and upon mules, and upon swift beasts, to my holy mountain Jerusalem, saith the Lord, as the children of Israel bring an offering in a clean vessel into the house of the Lord. Then shall the offering of Judah and Jerusalem be pleasant unto the Lord, as in the days of old, and as in former years.

So Judah will be gathered: and when the Lord shows himself to them, with the wounds he received of them, more than eighteen hundred years before, they will know him, and rejoice in the Holy One of Israel. The Spirit of God moves upon the face of the earth, and will continue to do so, till every saint that is left alive, worships God. In the Weekly Courier and New York Enquirer, is the following:

We beg leave to invite the attention of the benevolent to the following statement of the distressed situation of the Jews in Jerusalem and their appeal for aid. We indulge a hope that the aid they seek will not be withheld, and as the Society established in this country for the conversion of the Jews, have a large fund without any ostensible mode of appropriating it to a good purpose, it is presumed that they will transmit it to Jerusalem with as little delay as possible.

NEWS FROM JERUSALEM.

[From the Christian Intelligencer.] THE RABBI FROM THE HOLY CITY.

Dr. WESTBROOK: The following is a literal version of the letter which the Rabbi Enoch Zundill, now in our city, brought from the Jews at Jerusalem. On Monday evening last, this learned Jew met a party of our Clergymen, and other friends in Dr. Brownlee's study. Mr. Roy, an eminent Hebrew scholar, presented this version which he had made together with the original document, written in beautiful Hebrew letter, without points.---It was examined by the learned gentlemen present. The evening was spent in hearing the Rabbi, who is truly a polite and accomplished man, detail many interesting things relative to Jerusalem, the holy city; and the condition of the Jews there.

He spoke of the famous mosque, which stands on the site of Solomon's Temple: and stated that it was the custom of his afflicted and bowed down people, especially the priests, to go to the west wall of the mosque, where once stood the west wall of the temple, and kneeling down, to offer up prayers to Jehovah the Almighty God in behalf of their nation. This explains a singular expression in the beginning of the following letter.

He admitted that his people had more than once attempted, in olden times, to rebuild the temple, but that infallible proofs of God's displeasure had always prevented it. This tradition may refer to the attempts in the Emperor Julian's time.

He gave replies to many difficult questions proposed to him on various passages of the Hebrew hible. His views of the Nahash, the serpent who tempted our first parent, exhibit fully as much originality as those of Dr. Adam Clark. The latter decides this shrewd being to have been the Ourang-outang:—Our Rabbi makes it a singular kind of beast, having a kind of soul; and appointed to God to be a waiter, a body attendant on our first parents. Into this creature the devil entered, and made him an instrument of the temptation. This, however, he gave out of the Cabbals and Targum.

He gave some original views on the giants of the days of Noah: showing them to be different (as in the Hebrew expression, they are strikingly distinguished) from the Goliaths and the Anakin. They were giants in wickedness, the wicked children of profligate men, and nobles!

The Rabbi who is a thorough going Jew, felt some difficulty when requested to explain how the Jews are to determine the evidence of their coming Messiah, proceeding in lineal descent from the tribe of Judah, and house of David. For he admitted that the lists of When the genealogy had utterly perished. requested by Dr. Knox to explain the views of Daniel's seventy weeks-the Rabbi shrugged up his shoulders, and declined the task. He is fully in the belief of the Jews being r:called to their own land. And by the calculation he makes, this recall is at the very It is to commence in the year 1841door. only nine years hence. He believes that the present movements of the victorious Egyptians are now working out their deliverance. The Jews consider the Mahometans as the head of their oppressors; and the Court of Constantinople as the head of the Mahome-tan power. That being laid low, and he supposes by the Pacha of Egypt, who is the avowed friend of the Jews, then deliver will then be speedily har nol, all then be speedily he nea, of the exceeding benevolence and charity of the Americans. These are bio own words. "You did much for the Green and will you not admit, even `as christia old testament patriarchs and prophets, that you owe, at least as much, nay, more, T. THE JEWS?" "Yes," said a gentleman pre-THE JEWS1" "Yes," said a gentleman pre-sent," "we love your people for the love of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob." "Yes," said another, "we should love and aid them for the sake of Joseph and Mary1" "And above all," said a third, "for the sake of the Sox of MARY: our Redeemer, according to the flesh, was a JEW!"

And as this is the first appeal made to us as christians, by the Jews, direct from Jerusalem, we should, by responding to the voice of suffering humanity, give them an evidence that we are, as christians, their true and sincere friends.

The Rabbi begs leave to refer those who may feel disposed to aid the poor suffering Jews at Jerusalem, to the following gentle-men who have kindly undertaken to receive any funds which benevolent christians may condescend to give:-viz.

SUFFERINGS OF THE JEWS IN PAL-ESTINE.

There prevails at the present a time of general distress, great wretchedness and want among the Jewish people, in the very land of their forefathers. In the midst of their Mahomedar, oppressors, and burdened with the most unrighteous and exorbitant exactions, they are represented to be in want of the necessaries of life.

Accounts of American benevolence have ached them. They have sent hither one reached them. of their most pious and learned men, Rabbi ENOCH ZUNDIL. He is now in our city, and he brings with him the united testimonials of. both the congregations in Jerusulem-the German and the Portuguese. His documents and letters have been duly examined by his brethren here, and they approve and encour-age his afflicting mission of benevolence.

An article in our paper of the 26th instant, has already called public attention to this subject. But as the article was not examined by Rabbi Zundil before its publication, and has led to some misapprehension, he has re-quested us to state as follows:

"He is alledged, in the article published, to have given some original interpretations of scripture; but he wishes it to be distinctly understood, that, in the cases mentioned, he makes no pretension to originality." He is said to have "shrugged up his shoulders," and to have "declined the task" of explaining a certain prophecy by Daniel; but he would not have it inferred from this, that he is unable or unwilling to give, at a proper time and place, the views of Jewish learned men, on this or any other subject in the old Testament."

EVENING AND MORNING STAR.

"The letter of introduction, appended to the article in our paper, and purporting to be a translation from the Hebrew, is a letter from certain pious and learned Jews at Jerusalem to Mr. Noah of this city. The letter asks for donations from individuals or societies,—but is an appeal to the Jews and not to "all denominations." It is signed by persons who are not "High Priests, but CHIEF RABBINS."

Yet as suffering humanity ever utters a cry, that should touch the heart of all, Rabbi Zundil will be cheered by the thought, if he can carry with him the contributions, not only of his charitable Jewish brethren, but of benevolent christians."

"He is to be seen at number 33, Maiden Lane. And he refers to the above named gentlemen, 'who will receive and hand to him, or forward to the chief Rabbi Hirsch at London, any offerings of those ve hearts to pity and aid the suffering of Palastine."

COMMANDMENTS.

The commandments of the Lord are sacred, and above the inventions of men. Keep them and they lead to eternal life. The first commandment was given to Adam in the garden of Eden, and man became an agent upto him-Again, it is found in Genesis, that the self. Lord said: Sojourn in this land, and I will be with thee, and will bless thee: for unto thee, and unto thy seed I will give all these countries and I will perform the oath which I sware unto Abraham thy father; and I will make thy seed to multiply as the stars of heaven, and will give unto thy seed all these countries: and in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed: because that Abraham obeyed my voice, and kept my charge, my commandments, my statutes, and my laws.

When the children of Israel murmured, Moses cried unto the Lord; and the Lord shewed him a tree, which when he had cast into the waters, the waters were made sweet: there he made for them a statute and an ordinance, and there he proved them, and said, If thou wilt diligently hearken to the voice of the Lord thy God, and wilt do that which is right in his sight, and wilt give car to his commandments and keep all his statutes, I will put none of these diseases upon thee, which I have brought upon the Egyptians: for I am the Lord that healeth thee.

Shortly after this, the Lord said unto Moses, How long refuse ye to keep my commandments and my laws? See, for that the Lord hath given you the Sabbath, therefore he giveth you on the sixth day the bread of, two days: abide ye every man in his place, let no man go out of his place on the seventh day.

So the people rested on the seventh day.

Let it not be forgotten, yet, that the children of Israel were so blind to the glory before them: so stiffnecked, rebellious, and more than all, faithless, that the Lord saw fit in his infinite wisdom, to let Moses break the stone-tables containing the everlasting gospel, and in lieu thereof, to give them the law, and commandments, and a lesser pricsthood, than that of the order of Melchisedec.

en the bood shinsd forth from mount d came with ten thousands of his saint from his right hand went a fiery law for them.

The world, z all as the saints, may read, and profit by the in commandments which Mores wrote upon the second tables: I am the Low thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.

Thou shalt have no other gods before me.

Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth: thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me; and shewing mercy unto thousands of them that love me and keep my commandments.

Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain: for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain.

Remember the sabbath day to keep it holy.

Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work: but the seventh day is the sabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy man-servant, nor thy maid-servant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates: for in six days the Lord made heavon and earth, the sea and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day: wherefore the Lord blessed the sabbath day, and hallowed it.

Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thes.

Thou shalt not kill.

Thou shalt not commit adultery.

Thou shalt not steal.

www.LatterDayTruth.org

Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.

Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his man-servant, nor his maid-servant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbor's.

The ten commandments embrace some of the great principles of our Savior's religion, as well as rules for government and social intercourse. In fact, the word commandment is really great, coming by inspiration, and seems to whisper to the saint, THUS SAITH THE LORD!

When we remember that the commandments of God, came by the gift and power of God: or, in other words, holy men spoke moved by the Holy Ghost, we ought to rejoice with great joy: for in this manner, spake the prophets for the saint's good, even in these last days.

The Lord is imperative on this subject, and when he says keep my commandments, he means what he says: this may be one reason why we have no account, or record, that the Lord ever acknowledged a church to be his, unless there was a prophet in it. There is one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one church, one gospel, and one way of being baptized for the remission of sins; one promise of receiving the gift of the Holy Ghost: one promise of reward for keeping the commandments, and one surety of eternal life by holding out faithful to the end.

The high estimation of the commandments, may be somewhat seen by reading a few verses in the 119th Psalm: Then shall I not be ashamed, when I have respect unto all thy commandments. With my whole heart have I sought thee: O let me not wander from thy commandments. I am a stranger in the earth: hide not thy commandments from me. Thou hast rebuked the proud that are cursed, which do err from thy commandments. I will run the way of thy commandments, when thou shalt enlarge my heart.

Make me to go in the path of thy commandments; for therein do I delight. And I will delight myself in thy commandments, which I have loved. My bands also will I lift up unto thy commandments, which I have loved; and I will meditate in thy statutes. Teach me good judgment and knowledge: for I have believed thy commandments. All thy commandments are faithful; they persecute me wrongfully; help thou me. Therefors I love thy commandments above gold; yez, above fine gold. I opened my mouth, and panted: for I longed for thy commandments. Trouble and anguish have taken hold on me yet thy commandments are my delights. Theu art near, O Lord; and all thy commandments are truth.

Lord, I have hoped for thy salvation, and done thy commandments. My tongue shall speak of thy word: for all thy commandments are righteousness. I have gone astray like a lost sheep; seek thy servant; for I do not forget thy commandments.

It does seem strange that the world should be so clouded in darkness, as not to see, that the church of Christ, (for there never was, nor ever will be any other that will be admitted into the celestial kingdom,) could exist without the Comforter, even the Holy Ghost in it, whereby the members might profit by the gifts, and commandments. The two first verses of Acts read thus:—The former treatise have I made, O Theophilus, of all that Jesus began both to do and teach, until the day in which he was taken up, after that he through the Holy Ghost had given commandments unto the apostles whom he had chosen.

In one of the commandments to the church in Zion, is the following beautiful language: Behold, saith the Lord, blessed are they who have come up into this land with an eye single to my glory, ascording to my commandments; for them that live shall inherit the earth, and them that die shall rest from all their labors, and their works shall follow them, and they shall receive a crown in the mansions of my Father, which I have prepared for them; yea, blessed are they whose feet stand upon the land of Zion, who have obeyed my gospel, for they shall receive for their reward the good things of the earth, and it shall bring forth in its strength; and they also, shall be crowned with blessings from above: yea and with commandments not a few; and with revelations in their time.

And we might quote columns, showing that the Lord is the same yesterday, to-day and forever, giving commandments to them that seek the riches of eternity, that man may know his will and be saved with an eternal salvation in his kingdom.

While on the subject of commandments, it may be worth while to say a few words on opinions, as the church has the sure word of prophecy.

Opinions, where we have the word of the Lord, are worth nothing. Since the days of the Savior, they have strangely divided men into almost as many secte, as the number of the name of the beast that John saw. All men have a right to their opinions, but to adopt them for rules of faith and worship, is wrong, and may finally leave the souls of them that receive them for spiritual guides, infthe telestial kingdom: For these are they who are of Paul, and of Apollos, and Cephas: they are they who say, there are some of one and some of another; some of Christ; and some of John: and some of Moses; and some of Elias; and some of Esaias; and some of Isaiah; and some of Enoch, but received not the gospel; neither the testimony of Jesus; neither the prophets; neither the everlasting covenant; last of all: these are they who will not be gathered with the saints, to be caught up into the church of the first born, and received into the cloud: these are they who are liars, and sorcerers, and adulterers, & whoremongers, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie: these are they who suffer the wrath of God on the earth: [these are they who suffer the vengeance of eternal fire: these are they who are cast down to hell and suffer the wrath of Almighty God until the fulness of times, when Christishall have subdued all enemies under his feet, and shall have perfected his work, when he shall deliver up the kingdom and present it unto the Father spotless, saying: I have overcome and trodden the winepress alone, even the wine-press of the fierceness of the wrath of Almighty God: then shall he be crowned with the crown of his glory, to sit on the throne of his power to reign torever and ever.

Now, brethren, let us turn to our day, and rejoice that the Lord has been so merciful as to give commandments unto men, that they might know his will, and know, also, when they have done it. We can lift up our heads be glad, for the day is nigh, and the hour at hand, when we, if faithful, shall be of one heart and one mind; yea, and shall speak a pure language, and shall see our Lord face to face.

Do good and the reward shall be given; for it is better to give than to receive. The Lord is good: he gives precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little and there a little, and for the sake of them that may come to a knowledge of their situation, by our good example, let us obey the Lord and keep his commandments.

In a letter from our brethren in the east, is the following paragraph of a late

REVELATION:

Therefore, verily I say unto you, my friends, call your solemn assembly, as I have commanded you; and as all have not faith, seek ye diligently and teach one another words of wisdom; yea, seek ye out of the best books words of wisdom: seek learning even by study, and also by faith. Organize yourselves; * prepare every needful thing, and establish a house, even a house of prayer, a house of fasting, a house of faith, a house of learning, a house of glory, a house of order, a house of God; that your incomings may be in the name of the Lord; that your outgoings may be in the name of the Lord; that all your salutations may be in the name of the Lord, with uplifted hands unto the Most High.

Therefore, cease from all your light speeches; from all laughter: from all your lustful desires: from all your pride and lightmindedness, and from all your wicked doings.— Appoint among yourselves a teacher, and let not all be spokesmen at once; but let one speak at a time, and let all listen unto his sayings, that when all have spoken, that all may be edified of all, and that every man may have an equal privilege.

See that ye love one another; ccase to be covetous, learn to impart one to another as the gospel requires; ccase to be idle, ccase to be unclean; ccase to find fault one with another; ccase to sleep longer than is needful; retire to thy bed early, that ye may not be weary; arise early, that your bodies and your minds may be invigorated: and above all things, clothe yourselves with the bonds of charity, as with a mantle, which is the bond of perfectness and peace: pray always, that you may not faint till I come: behold, and lo, I will come quickly, and receive you unto myself: Amen.

Extracts of Letters from the Elders abroad. Kirtland, O. Dec. 21, 1832.

Brothers Orson Hyde, and Samuel H. Smith, have just returned to this place, in good health and spirits, saying, that they had built up four churches; one in the state of Maine; two in Massachusetts, and one in Pennsylvania. They have baptized sixty or more, disciples, who they say, are strong in the faith, rejoicing in the Holy One of Israel.

Brother Lyman Johnson returned a few days since, leaving Orson Pratt among the churches in the east, saying, that they had built up a number of churches, and baptized nearly one hundred.

Brothers Simeon and Jared Carter, we understand, have done wondrous works in Vermont, in breaking down prejudice in a wonderful manner. Better than one hundred have been brought into the kingdom, in a few months past, by their instrumentality.

Brothers Hyrum and William Smith have just returned home, after an absence of about three weeks, having baptized twenty-three in Pennsylvania.

Brother Murdock has also returned from Thompson, Ohio, where he has baptized 23. There is also a number of elders in the east, that we have not heard from particularly, but understand they meet with great success.-We frequently hear of new churches being established in various parts, which causes our hearts to rejoice. Thus you see, brethren, that the cause of truth is prospering, and thanks be to our God, for he is a God of love, mercy and truth; yea, and a God of power; and as good old Daniel said, his kingdom shall break in pieces all other kingdoms, so it shall be done.

The people in this vicinity, generally, are more calm in their minds, and many of them attend our meetings, & appear more friendly than heretofore, and we have peaceable times.

I have just learned, that brothers Martin and Emer Harris have baptized one hundred persons at Chenango point, New York, within a few weeks past.-NEWEL.

Union, Missouri, Jan. 7, 1833.

Beloved brethren, we write to you, praying that the words from the press which has been dedicated to the Lord, in these last days, for the good of men, may go forth for the good of souls; that Zion may flourish upon the hills; that her light may shine to the uttermost parts of the earth; that every secret act may be made manifest.

Brethren and sisters, our prayer to our Father, for you all, is, that your lights may shine continually unto the perfect day: for, says David, when the Lord shall build up Zion, he shall appear in his glory.

Remember, the prayers of the righteous availeth much? and that we are in the wicked world, struggling that we may share in that glory; and not only so, but are anxious that our fellow men may come to the standard of truth also, and be saved? For this cause we labor with much long-suffering, to but little effect; for surely, gross darkness covers the earth, and wickedness greatly prevails among the people, and the truth makes them angry, for they are joined to their idols. We desire your prayers, that God would give us the victory unto life, and open an effectual door for us.

Beloved brethren in the ministry, be encouraged to take your staves and travel without scrip, and proclaim the everlasting gospel; if faithful, the heavenly Father will feed you and clothe you. It is harder to get to the hearts of the children of men now, than last winter. An old methodist preacher informed us, that, in all the cholera in St. Louis, he saw but two families shed tears. He said the people seemed to be in a dead, stapid Union, and two from Liberty, Minsterit dae state, and when the doors of the meetinghouses were thrown open for prayer meeting, few attended, and they had no feeling sense for praying, and since the cholera has disappeared, the people are worse than ever.

Brethren your privilege is great in Zion .--The promises are worth more than fine gold, or any riches beneath the sun. James says, seest thou how faith wrought with his works, and by works was faith made perfect?-The building must be without a jar, that it The time is near at may remain unshaken. hand when every man's work will be tried, and he that is holy will be holy still, &c.-If we are the body of Christ, we are one, and as he has loved us, so let us love one another.

We are about fifty miles off St. Louis, and shall bend our course to the south among the thick settlements on the Mississippi, to search God is yet love. for the meek.

The Lord has said, (by the mouth of David,) when he builds up Zion, he will sppear in his glory; and when I look after Lydia and my children, something attracts my eyes more glorious, it is the recompence of reward that God has promised to the faithful: and as the Lord has called me: and as the time has come that Zion is to be builded: and lest much of the wheat should be left for the fowls and beasts to destroy, I labor with the good servant, and suffer privations patiently.

My mission has been rather swift, since I wrote to brother Sidney. Brother Jared and I left Benson, Vermont, for Albany, N. York. Here we tried but could not obtain a house, and went to Schenectady where we fared the same. We then went to Chenango, preaching by the way, and visited the church that brother Page built up. From thence to Kirtland; and thence to Amherst and New-London, where I took brother Stevens, and came to this place, and since I came here, I have baptized four. Some others are ready and waiting. The Lord is to work here, and O that he would do a great work, for great is the wickedness and unbelief.

I have baptized in all about seventy. and the Lord has kept me and supported me .--The church at this place is expecting to go up to Zion next summer.

REVELATION

Given in Kirtland, August, 1831.

Hearken, O ye people, and open your hearts. and give ear from afar; and listen, you that call yourselves the people of the Lord, and hear the word of the Lord, and his will concerning you: yea, verily, I say, hear the word of him whose anger is kindled against the wicked, and rebellious; whe willeth to take even them whom he will take, and preserveth in life them whom he will preserve; who buildeth up at his own will and pleasure: and destroyeth when he please; and is able to cast the soul down to hell.

Behold I the Lord utter my voice, and it shall be obeyed. Wherefore verily I say, let the wicked take heed, and let the rebellious fear, and tremble. And let the unbelieving hold their lips, for the day of wrath shall come upon them as a whirlwind, and all flesh shall know that I am God. And he that seeketh signs shall see signs, but not unto salvation.

Verily I say unto you, there are those among you who seek signs: and there have been such even from the beginning. But behold, faith cometh not by signs, but signs follow those that believe. Yea, signs cometh by faith, not by the will of men, nor as they please, but by the will of God. Yea, signs cometh by faith, unto mighty works, for without faith, no man pleaseth God: and with whom God is angry, he is not well pleased: wherefore, unto such he showeth no signs, only in wrath unto condemnation.

Wherefore I the Lord am not pleased with those among you, who have sought ailer signs and wonders for faith, and not for the good of men unto my glory; nevertheless, I gave commandments and many have turned away from my commandments, and have not kept them. There were among you adulterers and adulteresses; some of whom have turned away from you, and others remain with you: that hereafter shall be revealed.— Let such beware and repent speedily, lest judgments shall come upon them as a snare, and their folly shall be made manifest, and their works shall follow them in the eyes of the people.

And verily I say unto you, as I have said before, he that looketh on a woman to lust after her, or if any shall commit adultery in their hearts, they shall not have the Spirit, but shall deny the faith and shall fear: wherefore I the Lord have said that the fearful, and the unbelieving, and all liars, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie, & the whoremonger, and the sorcerer, shall have their part in that lake which burneth with fire and brimstone, which is the second death. Verily I say, that they shall not have part in the first resurrection.

And now behold, I the Lord saith unto you, that ye are not justified because these things are among you, nevertheless he that endureth in faith and doeth my will, the same shall overcome, and shall receive an inheritance upon the earth, when the day of transfiguration shall come; when the earth shall, be transfigured, even according to the pattern which was shown unto mine apostles upon the mount: of which account the fulness ye have not yet received.

And now, verily I say unto you, that as I said that I would make known my will unto you, beheld I will make it known unto you, not by the way of commandment, for there are many who observe not to keep my commandments, but unto him that keepeth my commandments, I will give the mysteries of my kingdom, and the same shall be in him a well of living water, springing up unto everlasting life.

And now, behold this is the will of the Lord your God concerning his saints, that they should assemble themselves together unto the land of Zion, not in haste, lest there should be confusion, which bringeth pesti-Behold the land of Zion, I the Lord lence. holdeth it in mine own hands: nevertheless, I the Lord rendereth unto Casar the things which are Casar's; wherefore I the Lord willeth, that you should purchase the lands, that you may have advantage of the world, that you may have claim on the world, that they may not be stirred up unto anger: for satan putteth it into their hearts to anger against you, and to the shedding of blood: wherefore the land of Zion shall not be obtained but by purchase, or by blood, other-wise there is none inheritance for you. And if by purchase behold you are blessed: and if by blood, as you are forbidden to shed blood, lo, your enemies are upon you, and ye shall be scourged from city to city, and from synagogue to synagogue, and but few shall stand to receive an inheritance.

I the Lord am angry with the wicked; I am holding my Spirit from the inhabitants of the earth. I have sworn in my wrath and decreed wars upon the face of the earth, and the wicked shall slay the wicked, and fear shall come upon every man and the saints also shall hardly escape: nevertheless I the Lord am with them, and will come down in heaven from the presence of my Father, and consume the wicked with unquenchable fire. And behold this is not yet, but by and by: wherefore seeing that I the Lord have decreed all these things upon the face of the earth, I willeth that my saints should be assembled upon the land of Zion; and that every man should take righteousness in his hands, and faithfulness upon his loins, and lift a warning voice unto the inhabitants of the carth; and declare both by word and by flight, that desolation shall come upon the wicked. Where-fore let my disciples in Kirtland, arrange their temporal concerns, which dwell on this farm.

Let my servant Titus Billings, who has the care thereof dispose of the land, that he may be prepared in the coming spring, to take his journey up unto the land of Zion, with those that-dwell upon the face thercof, excepting those whom I shall reserve unto myself, that shall not go until I shall command them.— And let all the moneys which can be spared, it mattereth not unto me whether it be little or much, sent up unto the land of Zion, unto them whom I have appointed to receive.

be enabled to discern by the Splrit those who | Lord will own them, otherwise they shall be shall go up unto the land of Zion, and those of my disciples who shall tarry.

Let my servant Newel K. Whitney retain his store, or in other words, the store yet for a little season. Nevertheless let him impart all the monsy which he can impart, to be an the monsy which he can imply sent up unto the land of Zion. Behold these things are in his own hands, let him do according to wisdom. Verily I say, let him be ordained as an agent unto the disciples that shall tarry, and let him be ordained unto this power; and now speedily visiting the churches, expounding these things unto them, with my servant Oliver Cowdery. Behold his is my will, obtaining moneys even as I have directed.

He that is faithful and endureth shall overcome the world. He that sendeth up treas-ures unto the land of Zion, shall receive an inheritance in this world, and his works shall follow him; and also, a reward in the world to come; yea, and blessed are the dead that die in the Lord from henceforth, when the Lord shall come and old things shall pass away, and all things become new, they shall rise from the dead and shall not die after, and shall receive an inheritance before the Lord, in the holy city, and he that liveth when the Lord shall come, and have kept the faith, blessed is he; nevertheless it is appointed to him to die at the age of man: wherefore children shall grow up until they become old, old men shall die; but they shall not sleep in the dust, but they shall be changed in the twinkling of an eye: wherefore for this cause preached the apostles unto the world, the resurrection of the dead: these things are the things that ye must look for, and speaking after the manner of the Lord, they are now nigh at hand; and in a time to come, even in the day of the coming of the Son of man, and until that hour, there will be foolish virgins among the wise, and at that hour com-eth an entire separation of the righteous and the wicked; and in that day will I send mine angels, to pluck out the wicked, and cast them into unquenchable fire.

And now behold, verily I say unto you, I the Lord am not well pleased with my ser-vant Sidney Rigdon, he exalted himself in his heart, and received not counsel, but grieved the Spirit: wherefore his writing is not acceptable unto the Lord, and he shall make another; and if the Lord receive it not, behold he standeth no longer in the office which I have appointed him.

And again, verily I say unto you, those who desire in their hearts, in meekness, to warn sinners to repentance, let them be or-dained unto this power: for this is a day of warning. and not a day of many words. For warning, and not a day of many words. I the Lord am not to be mocked in the last Behold I am from above, and my powdave. er lieth beneath. I am over all, and in all, and through all, and searcheth all things: and the day cometh that all things shall be subject unto me. Behold I am Alpha 'and Omega, even Jesus Chrst. Wherefore let all Omega, even Jesus Chrst. men beware, how they take my name in their lips: for behold verily I say, that many there be who are under this condemnation; who useth the name of the Lord, and useth it in vain, having not authority. Wherefore let the church repent of their sins, and I the ing to Indian rules,) are brothers; the Dela-

Remember, that that which cometh from above is sacred, and must be spoken with care, and by constraint of the Spirit, and in this there is no condemnation; and ye receive the Spirit through prayer: wherefore without this, there remaineth condemnation: Let my servant Joseph Smith, jr. and Sidney Rigdon, seek them a home as they are taught through prayer, by the Spirit. These things remain to overcome, through patience, that such may receive a more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; otherwise, a greater condemnation: Amen.

THE INDIANS.

We continue to glean items of Indian news, and it is really pleasing to see how the Lord moves on his great work of gathering the remnants of his scattered children. The Arkansas Gazette has the following:

THE EMIGRATING INDIANS.

Our latest information from Rock Roe, the general rendezvous of the emigrating Choctaws, is to Sunday morning last, at which time about 1000 of the emigrants had reached that point-upwards of 800 of whom came up on the steam-boats Reindeer and Harry Hill, and the remainder came through by land from Memphis, via the Military Road. Near 2000 more, under Col. Rector, landed on the west bank of the Mississippi, opposite Memphis, on the 4th of November, and had left for Rock Roe-about 1200 on the U.S. steam boat Archimedes, and the remainder by land, with their horses, wagons, &c. and it is probable that all reached that point on Sunday last.

It is not known with any degree of certainty at what time these emigrants may be looked for here; but, from the best information we can gain, we think they may be expected about the close of this week.

In addition to the above, we make an extract of a letter from a gentleman, dated:

Osage Agency, Jan. 1833.

"The last letters from the old Creek nation state that the Creeks were about holding a grand Council, for the purpose of fixing upon the time they are to assemble, with the view of emigrating to this country. Мy calculation is, that not less than 10,000 will emigrate during the present year. With respect to the Cherokees, we do not calculate upon any emigration this year. About eight thousand Choctaws have already emigrated. The Cherokees and Creeks, which are now in this country, amount to seven thousand, (three thousand five hundred each) the Osages amount to between six and seven thousand: so that, in case of a war, they would soon be convinced of their weakness. wares are their grandfathers; and the Shawnees, Senesas, &c. are their cousins. These The tribes, in case of war, would combine. Osages have no relatives; the Kansas call them friends, and sometimes join them in sarrying on their war with the Pawnees."

In one of our exchange papers, we find, also, that "a delegation of the Seminole Indians of Florida, under the direction of Maj. Fagan, came up in the steamer Little Rock, on the r way to explore the country west of Arkansas, with the view of selecting a new residence near the Creeks, to which nation they belong, for the future homes of their tribe. They purchased horses at this place, and left yesterday morning, for the west, and intend proceeding to Fort Gibson."

DISCOVERY OF ANCIENT RUINS IN CENTRAL AMERICA.

A late number of the London Literary Ga sette, contains a letter from Lieut. Col. Galindo, at Peten, in Central America, giving some idea of these antiquities which rescue America from the charge of barbarism.— These ruins extend for more than twenty These runs extend for more than twenty miles, and must anciently have embraced a city and suburbs. The principal edifice is supposed to have been a palace, formed of two rows of galleries, eight feet wide, sepa-rated by walls a yard thick; the height of the walls to the eaves is nine feet, and thence three yards more to the top. The stones of which all the edifices are built, are about 19 which all the edifices are built, are about 18 inches long, nine broad and two thick, ce-mented by morter. The front of the palace Numercontained five lofty and wide doors. ous statues of stone are scattered about. In ous statues of stone are scattered about. In another building, which Col. G. calls the study, are numerous full length figures, of about six feet high, some of them holding naked infants on their right arms, and not in the manner of the modern Indian women, who always sat their children astride on their hips. A place of religious worship and a prison, complete the list of buildings enumerated by Col. G.

"The whole of the ruins," says Col. G. are buried in a thick forest, and months might be delightfully employed ir exploring them. I have seen sufficient to ascertain the high civilization of the former inhabitants; and that they possessed the art of representing sounds by signs, with which I have hitherto believed no Americans previous to the conquest were acquainted." "The neighboring country for many leagues distant, contains re-mains of the ancient labors of its people, bridges, reservoirs, monumental inscriptions, subterraneous edifices, &c." "Every thing bears testimony that these surprising people were not physically dissimilar from the present Indians; but their civilization far surpassed that of the Mexicans and Peruvians; they must have existed long prior to the fourteenth century."

IT REMARKS.-We are glad to see the proof begin to come, of the original or ancient inhabitants of this continent. It is good testimony in favor of the book of Mormon, and the book of Mormon is good testimony that the proceedings of this people, by many of such things as cities and civilization, "prior to the fourteenth century," existed in America. Helaman, in the book of Mormon, gives the following very interesting account of the people who lived upon this continent, before the birth of the Savior.

And now it came to pass in the forty and third year of the reign of the Judges, there was no contention smong the people of Nephi, save it were a little pride which was in the church, which did cause some little dissensions among the people, which af-tairs were settled in the ending of the forty and third year.

And there was no contention among the people in the forty and fourth year; neither was there much contention in the forty and fifth year.

And it came to pass in the forty and sixth year there were much contentions and many dissensions; in the which there were an exceeding great many which departed out of the land of Zarahemla, and went forth unto the land northward, to inherit the land; and they did travel to an exceeding great distance, insomuch that they came to large bodies of water, and many rivers; yea, and even they did spread forth into all parts of the land, into whatever parts it had not been rendered desolate, and without timber, because of the many inhabitants which had before inherited the land.

And now no part of the land was desolate. save it were for timber, &c.; but because of the greatness of the destruction of the people which had before inhabited the land, it was called desolate.

And there being but little timber upon the face of the land, nevertheless the people which went forth, became exceeding expert in the working of cement; therefore they did build houses of cement, in the which they did dwell.

And it came to pass that they did multiply and spread, and did go forth from the land southward, to the land northward, and did spread insomuch that they began to cover the face of the whole earth, from the sea south, to the sea north, from the sea west, to the sea esst.

And the people which were in the land northward, did dwell in tents, and in houses of cement, and they did suffer whatsoever tree should spring up upon the face of the land, that it should grow up, that in time they might have timber to build their houses, yea, their cities, and their temples, and their synagogues, and their sanctuaries, and all manner of their buildings.

And it came to pass as timber was exceeding scarce in the land northward, they did send forth much by the way of shipping; and thus they did enable the people in the land northward, that they might build many cities, both of wood and of cement.

And it came to pass that there were many of the people of Ammon, which were Lamanites by birth, did also go forth into this land.

And now there are many records kept of this people, which are particular and very large concerning them:

But behold a hundredth part of the proceedings of this people; yea, the account of the Lamanites, and of the Nephites, and their wars, and contentions, and dissensions, and their preaching, and their prophecies, and their shipping, and their building of ships, and their building of temples, and of synagogues, and their sanctuaries, and their righteousness, and their wickedness, and their murders, and their robbings, and their plundering, and all manner of abominations and whoredoms, cannot be contained in this work; but behold, there are many books and many records of every kind, and they have been kept chiefly by the Nephites:

And they have been handed down from one generation to another, by the Nephites, even until they have fallen into transgression, and have been murdered, plundered, and hunted, and driven forth, and slain, and scattered upon the face of the earth, and mixed with the Lamanites until they are no more called the Nephites, becoming wicked, and wild, and ferocious, yea, even becoming Lamanites.

In addition to the above, Nephi relates what took place at the crucifixion of the Lord, and should ruins of many cities be discovered, it would be no more than a confirmation of what was once on this land of the The account of the great destruction Lord. at the crucifixion, is confirmed by the appearance of the face of the land now, and the cracks or common seams in the rocks: We give it thus: And it came to pass in the thirty and fourth year, in the first month, in the fourth day of the month, there arose a great storm, such an one as never had been known in all the land; and there was also a great and terrible tempest; and there was terrible thunder, insomuch that it did shake the whole earth as it was about to divide asunder; and there was exceeding sharp lightnings, such as never had been known in all the land.

And the city of Zarahemla did take fire; & the city of Moroni did sink into the depths of the sea, and the inhabitants thereof were drowned; and the earth was carried up upon the city of Moronihah, that in the place of the city thereof, there became a great mountain; and there was a great and terrible destruction in the land southward.

But behold, there was a more great and terrible destruction in the land northward. for behold, the whole face of the land was changed, because of the tempest, and the whirlwinds, and the thunderings, and light-nings, and the exceeding great quaking of the whole earth: and the highways were broken up, and the level roads were spoiled, and many great and notable cities were sunk, and many were burned, and many were shook till the buildings thereof had fallen to the earth, and the inhabitants thereof were slain, and the places were left desolate and there were some cities which remained:

But the damage there was exceeding great and there were many in them which were slain; and there were some which were carried away in the whirlwind; and whither and the inhabitants thereof to be drowned.

they went, no man knoweth, save they know that they were carried away:

And thus the face of the whole earth became deformed, because of the tempests, and the thunderings, and the lightnings, and the quaking of the earth.

And behold, the rocks were rent in twain; yea, they were broken up upon the face of the whole earth, insomuch that they were found in broken fragments, and in seams, and in cracks, upon all the face of the land.

And it came to pass that when the thunderings, and the lightnings and the storm, and the tempest, and the quakings of the earth did cease, for behold, they did last for about the space of three hours; and it was said by some that the time was greater; nevertheless, all these great and notable things were done in about the space of three hours; and then behold, there was darkness upon the face of the land.

And it came to pass that there was thick darkness upon the face of all the land, insomuch that the inhabitants thereof which had not fallen, could feel the vapor of darkness; and there could be no light, because of the darkness, neither candles, neither torches; neither could there be fire kindled with their fine and exceeding dry wood, so that there could not be any light at all; and there was not any light seen, neither fire, nor glimmer, neither the sun, nor the moon, nor the stars, for so great were the mists of darkness which were upon the face of the land.

And it came to pass that it did last for the space of three days, that there was no light seen; and there was great mourning, and howling, and weeping among all the people continually; yea, great were the groanings of the people, because of the darkness and the the great destruction which had come upon them

And in one place they were heard to cry saying: O that we had repented before this great and terrible day, and then would our brethren have been spared, and they would not have been burned in that great city Zarahemla.

And in another place they were heard to cry and mourn, saying: O that we had repented before this great and terrible day, and had not killed and stoned the prophets, and cast them out; then would our mothers, and our fair daughters, and our children have been spared, and not have been buried up in that great city Moronihah; and thus were the howlings of the people great and terrible.

And it came to pass that there was a voice heard among all the inhabitants of the earth upon all the face of this land, crying, Wo, wo, wo unto this people; wo unto the inhabitants of the whole earth, except they shall repent, for the devil laugheth, and his angels rejoice, because of the slain of the fair sons and daughters of my people; and it is be-cause of their iniquity and abominations that they are fallen.

Behold, that great city Zarahemla have I burned with fire, and the inhabitants thereof.

And behold, that great city Moroni have I caused to be sunk in the depths of the se

And behold, the great city Moronihab have I covered with earth, and the inhabitants thereof, to hide their abominations from before my face, that the blood of the prophets and the saints shall not come up any more to me against them.

And behold, the city of Gilgal have I caused to be sunk, and the inhabitants thereof to be buried up in the depths of the earth; yea, and the city Oniha, and the inhabitants thereof, and the city of Mocun, and the inhabitants thereof, and the city of Jerusalem, and the inhabitants thereof, and waters have I caused to come up in the stead thereof, to hide their wickedness and abominations from before my face, that the blood of the prophets and the saints shall not come up any "more unto me against them.

And behold, the city of Gadiandi, and the city of Gadiomnah, and the city of Jacob, and the city of Gingjimno, all these have I caused to be sunk, and made hills and valleys in the places thereof, and the inhabitants thereof have I buried up in the depths of the earth, to hide their wickedness and abominations from before my face, that the blood of the prophets and the saints should not come up any more unto me against them.

And behold, that great city Jacobugath, which was inhabited by the people of the king of Jacob, have I caused to be burned with fire, because of their sins and their wickedness, which was above all the wickedness of the whole earth, because of their secret murders and combinations: for it was they that did destroy the peace of my people and the government of the land; therefore I did cause them to be burned, to destroy them from before my face, that the blood of the prophets and the saints should not come up unto me any more against them.

And behold, the city of Laman, and the city of Josh, and the city of Gad, and the city of Kishkumen, have I caused to be burned with fire, and the inhabitants thereof, because of their wickedness in casting out the prophets, and stoning them which I did send to declare unto them concerning their wickedness and their abominations; and because they did cast them all out, that there were none righteous among them, I did send down fire and destroy them, that their wickedness and abominations might be hid from before my face, that the blood of the prophets and the saints which I sent among them, might not cry unto me from the ground against them; and many great destructions have I caused to come upon this land, and upon this people, because of their wickedness and abominations.

THE CHULCH OF CHRIST.

He that is Alpha and Cinega, the beginning and the ond, even Jesus Christ is the heal of the church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it.

Adam was the first member of the church of Christ on earth, and the first high pricet after the order of the Son of God.

In order to show the rise of the church in the first days, we take an extract from the words of Enoch;

And Enoch continued his speech, saying, The Lord hich spake with me, the same is the God of heaven, and he is my God, and your God, and ye are my brethren, and why counsel ye yourselves, and deny the God of heaven?

The heavens hath he made: the earth is n's footstool; and the foundation thereof is Lis:

B shold he hath taid it, an host of men hath he brought in upon the face thereof.

And death hath come upon our fathers nevertheless we know them, and cannot deuy, and even the first of all we know, even A fam.

For a book of remembrance we have written, along is, according to the pattern gilen by the finger of God:

And it is given in our own language.

And as Enoch spake forth the words of Gul, the people trambled, and could not stand before his presence:

And he saith unto them, because that Adam fell we are; and by his fall came death; and we are made partakers of mistry and wo.

Benoid satan nath come along the children of men, and tempteth them to worship him:

And men have become carnal, sensual and devilish, and are shut out from the presence of God.

But God hath made known unto my fathers, that all men must repent.

And he called upon our father Adam, by his own voice, stying, 1 am God: 1 made the world, and men before they were.

And he also said unto him, If thou wilt turn unto me, and hearken unto my voice, and believe, and repent of all thy transgressions, and be baptized even by water, in the name of mine only begotten Son, which is full of grace and truth, which is Jesus Christ, the only name which shall be given under leav n, wherely salvation shall come unto he children of men:

And ye shall tak all things in his name; and whatever ye shall ask, it shall be given.

A id our father Adam spoke unto the Lord, and said, Wly is it that men must repeat and be baptized by water?

And the Lord said unto Adam, Behold I have forgiven thee thy transgressions in the gurden of Eden.

Thence came the saying abread among the pople, That Christ hath atoned for original g iit, wherein the sins of the parents cannot be answered upon the heads of the children, for they are whole from the foundation of the would.

And the Lord spoke unto Adam, saying, Inasmuch as thy children are conceived in sin, even so when they begin to grow up, s n conceiveth in their hearts, and they taste the bitter, that they may know to prize the good.

And it is given unto them to know good from evil: wherefore they are agents unto themselves, and I have given unto you ancther law and commandment:

Wherefore teach it unto your clildren, that all men, every where, must repent, or they can in no wise inherit the kingdom of God:

For no unclean thing can dwell there, cr

For in the language of Adam, Man of Holines is his name; and the name of his only bigotten, is the Son of Man, even Jesus Christ, a righteous Judge which shall come.

I give anto you a commandment to teach these things freely unto your children, saying,

That, inasmuch as they were horn into the world, by the fall which thingeth death, by water and blood and the Spirit, which I have made, and so become of clust a living soul, even solve must be bern again of water and the Spirit, and cleans d by blood, even the blood of mine only Degotten into the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven; that ye may be sanctified from all sin, and erjoy the words of eternal life in this world, and eternal life in the world to come, even immortal glory:

For by the water ye know the commandment: by the Spirit we are justified, and by the blood ye are sanctified, that in you is given the record of heaven: the Comforter; the peaceable things of immortal gluy:

The truth of all things; that which quickeach all things, which maketh alive all hath all power according to wisdom, mercy, truth, justice, and judgment.

And now, behold I say unto you, this is the plan of sa vation unto all men: the bloo of mine only Begotten which shall come in the meridian of time:

And behold all things has its likeness, and all things are created and made to bear of me, both things which are temporal, and things which are Spiritual; things whi h are in the heavens above: and things which are on the earth; and things which are in the earth; and things which are under the east, both above and beneath: all things bear record of me.

And it came to pass when the Lord had spoken with Adam, our father, that Adam crisil unto the Lord, and he was caught away ly the Spirit of the Lord, and was carried down into the water, and was laid under the water, and was brought forth out of the water:

And thus he was hap' z d, and the Spirit o' Go : descended upon him : and thus he was 1 m of the Spirit, and he became q lickened in he inner man:

And le heards woice out of heaven saying. T u ar baptized with fire, and with the Ho'y Ghost:

T s stie record of the Father, and the S n. ron henceforth and forever. and thou after the order of him who was without 2 b ginning of days or end of years, from al. ete nity. Behold they art one in meason of God; and thus may all become all my sons. Amen

In addition to this, we make a further extract from the words of Enoch, as published in the Star of August last. It shows to what a state of purit, the church had arrivan in his day, bosides being a good example for every disciple to follow, that means to do the will of Gid, in our day, in order to abide a celestial glory in his presence. It reads thus. "And the Lord came and dwelt with his people, and they dwelt in righteousness." The fear of the Lord was upon all nations, ro great was the glory of the Lord, which wrs upon his people: And the Lord blessed the land, and they were blessed upon the mount ins, and upon the high places, and did ficurish.

And the Lord called his people Zior, hecause they were of one heart and of one mind, and dwelt in righteousness: and there was no poor among them: and Enoch contirued his preaching in righteoueness unt the people of God. And it came to pass h things; that which knowsth all things, and this days, that was called the city of holiness. even Zlon."

> As before sais', Christ is the head of his clurch, and from him com s every good and perfect gifl. And for the perfecting of the saints and so forth, he has bestowed offices and ord nances, with order, for the benefit of the whole church. The high pricath od, of which order is he, the Son of God, or this priesthood being a type of his ord r, is set forth as follows, by Aln a:

"And again: my bretlr., I would cite your minds forward to the time which the Lord God gave these commandments unto his children: and I would that ye should remember that the Lord God ordained priests, after his holy order, which was after the crder of his Son, to teach these things unto the people; and these price ts were ercained after the order of his 5 on, in a pronner that thereby the people neight know in what manner to look forward to his Son for reden ption.

And this is the nanner after which they were ordained, being called and prepared from the foundation of the world, accepting to the foreknowledge of God, on account of their good works; in the first place beir g left to choose good or cvil: therefore they having chesen good, and ex reising exceeding great fait! , are called with a ho'y calling, yea, with that holy calling which was prepared with and according to a preparatory redemption for such:

And thus they having been called to this holy calling on account of their faith, while others would rejict the Spirit of God on account of the har ness of their hearts and the blindness of their minds, while, if it had not been for this, they night had as great privi-I-ge as your brethren.

Or in fine: in the first place they were on the same stanci g with their brotheren, thus this holy calling being pr pared from the foundation of the world for such as would not harden their hearts, being in and through the atonement of the only begotten Son, which was prepared:

And thus being called with this holy calling, and ordained unto the high pricaticod of the holy order of God, to teach his commandments unto the childr n of mon, tist they also might onter into his rost, this high pricathood being after the order of his hon, which order was from the to ndation of the world, or in other words, being without heginning of days or end of years, being regar d from eternity to all eternity, according to his foreknowledge of all things. And this it is. Amen.

Now as I said concerning the holy order of this high prist odd: there wie many which w re-ordained and breame high price a of God: and it was on account of the exce ding aith an 1 repentance, and their righteousn as befire God, they choosing to repent and work rightcousness, rather than to perish: therefore they were called after his holy order, and w re-sanctified, and their garments wer's washed white, through the blood of the Lanh.

Now they, after being sanctified by the Holy Ghost, having their garments made white, being pure and stotless before G.d, could not look upon sin, sive it were with abherrence and there wire many, exceeding great many, which were made pure, and entered into the rest of the Lord their God.

And now, my brethren, I would that ye should humble yoursely a before God, and bring forth front mete for repentance, that ye may a'so enter into 11 a: rest: yea, humble ynerselves ev n as the people in the days of Melchiz dek. who was also a high priest after this s.m : order which | hav spoken, which also toos up in him the high priesthood for-PWPP.

And it was this same Melchizedek to whom Abraham paid tithes: yea, even our father Abraham paid tithes of one tenth part of all he presesard.

Now these ordinances were given after this manner, that thereby the people might look forwarl on the Son of God, it being a type of his order, or it being his order; and this. that they might look forward to him for a rereission of their sine, that they might enter into the rest of the Lord.

Now this Melchizedek was a king over the land o' Salem; and his people had waxed strong in in quity and abominations: yea. they had all gone astray: they were full of all manner of wickednesse but Melchizedek having exercised mighty fa th. and received the office of the high pristhood, accor ing to the holy order, of God, d + preach repentance unto his prople.

And hehold, they did ropent: and Melchizedek did establish peace in the land in his days, therefore he was called the Prince of Prace. for he was the king of Salem: and he did reign un ler his father.

As the ange's are the ministers of the Almighty, so are these the servants of Christ, and each accountable in his place.

A private member has no authority to preach, n ither administer ordinances, ncr has a teacher or deacon authority to haptize, or confer blessings; nor las a pricat power to confirm the n.embers, for all things must be done according to the articles and covenants, which are from the Lord.

The church of Christ is the place for his saints to prepare for the celestial kingdom, and no man can explicit to enter into it, except by being born again: for without water and the Spirit, he is not a legal heir, according to the plan of salvation.

I he world is full of strange doctrines, and one says, lo. here is ( hris:, and anothersays, lo, there is Christ; but, O man be not deceived! Truth is not in every man's mouth, nor is the fulness of the gospel taught in every painted chap l.

Our Savior has said, Whatever is highly esteemed among men, is an abomination in the sight of God.

If these plain words are not enough to cause men to hewary. let them look or travel abroad an:ong these that pretend to worship in the world, and see if they answer the definition which Jam s gives of religion. He says, Fu e r light and undefiled before God and the Father is this, to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep hims if unspotted from the world.

Lip service and pride are abominable in the sight of the Lord. Every thing that is not good: every thing that is not plain, and tending to virtue, whether in the world, or among these that profess to be christians; or in the church of Christ, is not of God.

The church of Clrist, in these last days, was established by the Savior, for the restoration of his people, as he has spoken by the mouth of his prophets, and for the gathering of his saints upon mount Zion, when he comes in his glory.

And behol l, it is written also. Thou shalt love thy neighber, and hate thine memy: but behold I say unto you, Love your enemics, blass them that corse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you and persecute you that you may be the children of your Father which is in heaven; for he watch his sum to rise on the evil and on the good of the refore these things which were of old time, which were under the law, in me, are all fulfieled.

Old things are done away, and all things have become new; therefore I would that ye should become perfect even as I, or your Father which is in heaven is prest. Therefore, when ye shall do your alles, do not sound a trump it before you, as will hyposities do in the synagogues, and in the streets, that they may have glory of men. Verily, I say unto you, they have their reward.

But when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand do the that thy aims may be in secret: and thy Father which secth in secret hims if shall reward the openly.

And when thou prayest, thou sha't not do as the hypocrites: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues, and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men.— Ver ly, I say unto you, they have their reward.

But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast stut thy door, pray to the Father which is in secret; and thy Father which such in secret, shall reward thes openly.

But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen: for they time that they shall be heard for their much speaking.

No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other: or else he will hold to the one, and desp se the other. Ye cannot serve God and manmen.

The church of Christ, of these last days, is the same it was in the first days. or in any days: it required repentance and bait sum for the remission of sins and the promise of the gift of the Holy. Glost: it required also, an ob-dience to the commandments of God, in all things.

The disciples of Jesus must love the Lord without disguise: and must love their neighbors as themselves. They must do good in all cases, and shun overy appearance of evil.

Faith is an evidence of a saint, for without faith, he cannot worship in Spirit and in truth: faith being the gift of the Holy Ghest, is the assurance of things not seen: the evidence of what is promised from the Lord, by keeping his commandments.

To obtain faith, we must pray: for by prayer we obtain the Spirit, and the Spirit guides to truth, and truth is light, and fight comes The propriety of this reasoning from Go<sup>4</sup>. can be seen by the daily fransactions of the world, as well as an ong the children of God; for in the world, when men lave crased to call upon the name of the Lord in faith, believing he will answer them, then the Lord, in a measure holds his Spirit from the inhahitants, and they run to evil; and also, when the children of God doubt his promis a as Put they pray, he withholds his blessings. when there is confidence in God, by being obedient to his will, and keeping his com-

REFLECTIONS.

There are but few among those that pretend not to serve the Lord according to his commandments, that have any correct idea how the Lord manifests his power unto the children of men. Some ta'k of miracles as the only way to establish the Lord's words: and some think if they could converse with angels, they would be satisfied; but when we look back and refl et upon what has taken place since the beginning, we must say, that men have to exercise faith before they can enjoy these privileges.

It is true, that many may see signs; but let us ask are these signs unto salvation?— For, when the flood came, notwithstanding it was a miraculous event to those that lived in that period, who will say that the inhabitants then, except Noah and his family, were saved by it?

Again, when men had conceived the idea of building a tower to get to heaven, and the Lord came down and confounded the language, and disporsed them over the face of the whole carth, it must have been to them somewhat miraculous, but where will we turn to learn, that many were convinced, and turned to God to live?

We might bring all the miracles which Moses wrought before the Lgyptians, and ask how many of that nation were converted by them, and what would be the answer? Read the account and the answer is ready.

When the Herald cried alou i, To you it is commanded, O prople, nations, and languages, that at what time ye hear the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut pesitery, dulcimer, and all kinds of music, ye fall down and worship the golden image that Nebuchadnezzar the king hath set up: Lut Shad ach, Mesilach and Abednego, for not obeying the great command, were cast into the fur ace, heated seven times botter than it was wont to be, and preserved by the power of God, who among all the children of Babylon were converted to pure religion? N-buchadnezzar acknowledged the hand of God in it, but he soon wont to or op the grass of the field, as an ox, till seven times passed over him.

When saints know the power of God has been exerted for their salvation, or the destruction of the wicked, they are willing to give God the glory:

Yea: like Shadiach, Meshach and Abednego, they can life up their voices and say: Blessed art thou, O Lord God of our athere: and to be praised and excited above all forcy r.

And blessed is thy glori u (and holy name: and to be praised and exalted above all forever.

Bless'd art thou in the temple of thy holy glory: and to be praised and glorified above all torever. Plessed art thou that beholdest the depths, and sittest upon the cherubins: and to be praised and exaite ! above all forever.

Blessed art thou on the glorious throne of thy kingdom, and to be praced and glorified above all for y r.

Bl sned art thou in the firmament of heaven: an i above al. to be praised and glorified for:w.r.

It is the duty of the children of the Leri, to thank him for all things that they receive of him; and it is well pleasing unto him, alse, for them to sing songs of joy when he has manifisted his power or goodness unto them.

The examples of singing, when the Lord had done great things are many. The Lord asked Job where he was when he laid the foundation of the earth, when the merning wars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy.

When Phuraoh and his host had b en drowned in the Red S.a, then sang Moses and the children of Israel this song unto the Lord, and spake, saying. I will sing unto the Lord, for he hath triumphed glorio sly: the ho se and his r.der hath he thrown into the s.a.

The Lord is my strength and song, and he is been ne my salvation: he is my God, and I will prepare him a habitation; my father's God, and I will exalt him.

The Lord is a man of war; the Lord is his name.

Pharaoh's charicts and his lost 1 ath he cust into the seat h s closen captains also are drown d in the Red S.a.

When Deborah and Ba'ak had delivered Israel, then sang Deborah and Barak the son of Abinoam on that day saying, iralse ye the Lord for the averging of Isra I, when the people willingly off red then selves.

Hear, O ye kings: give ear, O ye princes; I. even I, will sing unto the Lord; I will sing praise to the Lord God of Israel.

Lord, when thou wentest out of Seir, when thou marchedst out of the field of r dor, the earth transhed, and the beavins dropp d, the clouds also dropped water. The mountains melted rom before the Lord, evin that Smail from before the Lord God of Israel.

You that love the Lord, prepare for temptation.

You that low: the Lord, set your hearts in order, that you may endure all chings in time of trouble.

You that love the Lord, cleave unto him, and keep in that way you should go, that your joy may be increased at the last end.

You that seek the Lord, trust in him, that you may be contented when you are changed from the common condition of the world, to the lot of a saint, or in other words, while in prosperity prepare for adversity, that as gold seven times tried in the fire, you may shine brighter and brighter as you approach near r and nearer to God. You that love the Lort, believe in him and he will help you when you need.

Yo1 that love the Lord, wait for him, and yo r reward is certain.

You that love the Lord, prepare your hearts, and humble yourselves in his sight: and fall i to his hands, rather than the hands of men, for his mercy is great.

Be not dismay if at the transaction of men, treas things must needs be.

Say with the Psalmist. Why do the heathen ruge, and the people imagine a vain thing? The kings of the earth set themsuives, and the rulers take counsel together, against the Lord, and against his Anointed, saying, let us break their ban's asunder, and cast away their cords from us.

Ho that sitted in the heavens shall lengh: the Lord shall have them in derision. Then shall he speak onto them in his wrath, and yex them in his size displeasure. Yet have I set my King upon my holy hill of Zion.

I will declare the decre : the Lord hath sail unto me, Thou art my Son; this day have I begotten thee.

THE STAR.

We take this opportunity to tender our thanks to the public and our frien s, for their patronage bestowed upon us, and ask a continuance. For the benefit of ourselves, and subscribers, as many of them live at a distance, we have concluded to consider them subscribers to the second volume, till they order otherwise. With our present arrangement and intention, we hope to publish more original matter in the second volume, then we have in the first.

Number one of the present  $\mathbf{v}$  lume has run out, and we calculate, as it contained the Articles and Covenants, to republish them in the first number of the second volume.

IF in order to give the progress and prospoets of the church, it is necessary that ouchers should transmit to us, an account of what they do from time to time. In this way, the spread of the work, and the increas of faith, can be published as one testimony that these things are of the Lord.

"." Our elders and friends, must recollect, that unless rostage is ram on their letters, they have no assurance of being attended to PROSPECTS OF THE CHURCH. It will be three years the sixth of April next, since the church of Christ was organized, in Manchester, New York, with six members. It has increased steadily in fai h and works since: and the work has spread into several states.

The opposition to this church, a circumstance that has always been experienced by the church of Christ. from the world, because the world low s its own, has been unceasing in one place or another: yet from its six, it has increased to hundry's, that are happy to replace in the new core ant, which makes them heirs of the promises of the Holy One of Israel.

This church was established in these last days, by the will and commandments of the Lord, to bring to pass the gathering of his elect, ev in the righteous, preparatory to his second coming: and the place of gathering, as has been before published, is in the western boun laries of the state of Missouri.

To this place about a thousand persons have emigrated s not the gathering commenced. About half this number are disciples: perhaps more, as five hundred and thirty four disciples have covenanted to keep the commandments of the Lord and walk in his statutes blameless with thanksgiving forever.

As has ever been the case in the chur h of Christ, some have fallen away, and some have been cut off for transgressions.

As it is our intention, in as future number to give the particulars of the rise and progress of the church, we omit some things of interest.

It will be seen in another column, that this c'hurch is built upon the plan of salvation, which embraces truth, meckness, faith and charity, as necessary qualifications for its members, and relies upon all things that the Lord has commanded and spoken by the mouths of his prophets.

Many false statements have gone abrowd, relative to this church; all of which well from time to time, be corrected if possible.

There are many branches of this church abroad, as heretofore published, vizi in Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York, Vermont, New Hampshire, Messachusetts, Maine and Canada; and many of them will come up this season, if the Lord will.

The feeling that is manifested by the world, towards the members of this church is strange, as it does not seem to arise, because the members of the aburch have done wrong to their neighbors, or intend evil to any one: it is, therefore, to be regretted, that men should be persecuted for opinion's sake, or the sake of religion, when the constitution of our country allows all to worship according to the dictates of their own consciences.

The freedom of speech, the liberty of conscience, and the liberty of the pr ss. are among the first principles of a republican government, and we hope they will be held saered by every friend of his country.

The religion of Christ is the only source of lasting happiness, and men disagree, but when a society labor for good, according to the revealed will of God, to make men better, they ought to be respected, because 10 man can be too good.

In the days of the apestles, when persecution against the church of Christ, was carried to an extraor linary degree, Then stood there up one in the council, a Pharisee, named Gamaliel, a doctor of the law, had in reputation among all the people, and commanded to put the apostles forth a lit le space; and said unto them. Ye men of Israel, tak : heed to yourselves what ye intend to do as touching these ment for before these days rose up Theudas, boasting himsel: to be somebody; to whom a number of men, about four hundred, joined themselves: who was slain: and all, as many as obeyed him, were scattered, and brought to nought. After this man rose up Judas of Galilee, in the d ys of the taxing, and draw away much people after him: he also perished; and all, even as many as obeyed him. were disperse l. And now I say unto you, refrain from these men, and let them alone: for if this counsel or this work be of men, it will come to nought: but if it be of God, ve cannot overthrow it: lest haply ye be found even to fight against God.

If men wors as anxiously en; aged to do good, as they are to take advantage of their fell w beings, every man we meet would be a FRIEND.

The gospel as prinched by the disciples of the church of Christ, has been believed by many, and they have great reason to rejoice that the word of the Lord has been thus much respected.

The only way to overcome evil, is with good. He, then, that is a raint, will suffer wrong rather than do wrong. When perseguted, he will pray for his chemics, for their gouls are as precious as his.

When men plisuse, or abuse, he will forgive, for this is god like.

If men wish the good will of men, and ex- of my power:

pect a reward hereafter, let then do unto others, as they would like to have others do unto them.

The fulness of the gospel as taught by this church, is according to the word of the Lord in the Look of Mormon. It is eternal truth, and we bear record of it, that our gamans may be found spothes at the bar of God.

The elders of the church are to teach the scriptures which are in the bills and the lock of Mornon, and invite all to come to Chrit, and repeat and be happined, that they may be gathered with the people of the Lord, and be say, d by keeping at his commandments.

The word of the Lord never tails, we, thereas , give a few words from one of the commandments, to show his will concerning things which will her after come to pass.

Heatkin, O ye elders of ney church, and give car to my word, and icars of me what I will concerning you, and also, concerning this and unto which I have sent you.

For very 1 say anto you, Lessed is he that heepeth my commandments, whether in afe or in destil:

And he that is faithful in tribulation, the r ward of the same is greater in the kingdom of heaven.

Ye cannot behold with your natural ey's, for the present time, the design of your God concerning these things which shall come h read r and the glory which shall follow a'r much tribu ation: for after much tribulation cometh the blessings.

Wherefore, the day cometh that you shall be crowned with much glory; the Lour is not yet, but is night hand.

Remember this which I tell you before, that you may lay it to heart and r ceive that which shall ollow.

Echol.', verily I say anto you, for this cause I have sent you, that you might 1 e obedient, and t at yo r hearts might be prepared to bear testin ony of things which are to come : and also that you might be honored of laying the oundation, and of bearing record of the land upon which the Zion of Gols'all stand.

And also, that a feast of fat things night be prepared for the poor: y a, a feast of fat things: of wine on the less well refined.

That the earth may know that the mouths of the prophets shall not fail.

Yea, a suppor of the louse of the Lord, well prepared, unto which all nations shall be invited:

Firstly the rich and the learned, the wise and the noble; and after that cometh the day of my power:

THE TIMES.

/ We are sorry to see the United States se soon troubled, for the eyes of the world ar upon this government, as an asylum of the oppression. We hope the people of this enlightenel land, in this unhappy crisis which privents itself to their view. w 1 be caln. and in the lang age of Habalauk. In wrath remember morey.

A correspondent from Wishington to the New York Courier and Enquirer, over the signature of "The Spy in Washington," thus wrote on the 21th of Junuary:

"Durk an I portentous are the cloads which ov rsha low our land. Bould and uncertainty accor opaales every movement. Hashed, in silence, is the voice of murmur. De p an i satisd anxiety is depicted in the count :nance of every thinking man. In high plaers, r as in has resigned to passion, her empire over the mind. The great and funda mental principles of our Constitution are in jooparay. The armo, power is to be stringtoeasthadd outspretched. The feeble are to be s nitten and trod len down; and the mighty are to a train over their des date places. This gov rament of constants and concession. is to be made a government of force. The decree mas give i rih, and who shall stay its dir sfal efficies! Conflicting and contending factions have locked arms, and stand shoul der to shoulder, in the cause of the strong against h : weak."

This is a melancholy picture for a reput lican government. If it is ready as above statel, it augurs the near approach of that day, that with try men's hearis: yea, the time that war shal be poured out upon all nations, which shall continue until the consumption decreed shall make a full end of them. For it is written: Nation shall rise against nation. and kingdon against singdom: And great eartinguak s shall be in divers places, and famines, and postilences, and fearful sights and great signs shall there by from heaven.

No one can be mistak n, if he looks at the signs of the times as they are: The harvest is nearly ripe. The hour of the Lord is nigh, even at the doors, and who are ready? not the rebillious, for they are not the blood or Ephrain. The meek only shall inherit the earth. It was said by Isaiah: Behold, the Lord will come with fire and with chariots

Ta a shall the poor, the lame, and the like a whirlwind, to render his anger with hery, and his rebuke with fiames of fire. Fer iv fire and by his sword will the Lord plead with all fiesh: and the slain of the Lord shall be many.

> The Lord has begun to plead with all flesh, that some in these last days may have part in "ie first resarrection, and he will not slack his hand: No, he will continue to plead by the mouths of his servants; and by the voice of calamitics, and by the voice of the thunder of heaven; and by the fierce vivid lightning, and by earthquakes till all that are alive shall know him, and sorve him from the least even to the greatest. Truly. this is a day of warning and not a day of many words, among them that mean to do the will of their Lord ind Master.

> The Lord has said to his disciples, let the solemni is of eternity rest upon your minds. and they have every reason to do so: or if the elders go to preach to the north, or to the south, or to the east, or to the west, they annot go amiss, for the Lord has some precious sous among every nation, kindred, tongue, and prople.

> Though nations shall break the links that hold governments together; though kingdones shall dissolve, and though the friendship of many shall clase, still the kingdom "Jusus Christ will continue to increase and and flourish, until the stone cut out of the mountain without Lands, shall have filled the whole earth.

> In view of this glorious day, notwithstand. ing the wicked shall be cut off. and the kingdoms of this world discolved by the arm of the Alulighty, the saints shall grow in love to one abolier, and to their Savior, and si all merease in faith till the curia.n of heaven shall be unfolded as a scroll when it is tolled together, and they shall see the face of God.

The Lord is full of mercy, and he will call upon all men, every where, to r. p. ni. There is no eye that shall not see, nor ear that shall not hear, and no heart that shall not be penetrated; when the people are so hardened in sin, that they refuse to hear the men that the Lord choos s to warn them, then he sends plagues and pestilence, as seemeth him good. and he will continue to do so until the rightcous are gathered, and the wicked destroyed.

Happy is he that is wise and seeks to save his self, for if he asks he shall receive, and when he knocks it shall be opened unto him. The continent of America is a choice land above all others, and, ever since men have dwelt upon it, if they were virtuous, and 1.11 14 walked uprightly before the Lord, they have been blessed: When they have not done so, they have been visited with calamities.

Perhaps few are aware, that the situation of the country is still the same, for God is the same yesteriay, to-day, and forever.

The following words of Alma, on the subject. are conclusive: And new it come to rass that after Alma had said these things to Helaman, he bless id him, and also his other sons; and he also blessed the earth, for the righteous' sake. And he raid, Thus saith the Lord God: Corsed shall be the land. yes, this land, unto every nation, kindred, tongue and people, unto destriction, which do wickedly, when they are fully ripe; and as I have said so shall it b : for this is the cursing and the blessing of God upon the land, for the Lord cannot look upon sin with the least degree of allowance. He that knows the law of Gol cannot escape his judgments, unlerhe fulfils the r quirements of that law.

The day of vengeance is at hand, when men must suffer the wrath of God in this world, and the world to come, unless they repent.

The saint can look upon the world and say, farewell: My God and my salvation are my all, for I wint to inherit eternal life.

But the man of the world, when he looks upon the world, with all its allerements, exclaims: Lot me become rich, for I want to live at easy, and enjoy the good of my life -But alast the times change, and with them the condition of many change also: and where man looks for happiness he often finds misry, so that men might rather say: This world is hardly worth possessing, without a hope in the world to come, through the merits of Jesus Christ.

One of the great men of the earth once said: Crowns won by blood, by blood must be maintained; and a greater than man said: Put up again thy sword into its place: for all they that take the sword, shall pensh with the sword.

The voice of the angel to the shapterds when the Savior was born was, Fear not: for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all prople. And and ienly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on eacth peac, good will toward men.

V hat a happy time it will be, when all that are left alive on the earth, can shout and war no morel when man will not seek an i seers to opportunity to take the advantage of his fellow man!

There will be none to molest or make afraid then: for there will be peace on each and good will to men.

Men are agents unto themselves and they can propare for a kingdom of glory. or, for one without glory. The language of the Eavior, is, The Spirit and the bride say, Cone: an liet him that hear th say, Come: for n.e. hour of redemption is nigh.

CHILDREN.

Our Savior said, while on earth in the flesh, Suffer little children, and forbid them not, to cone unto me: for of such is the kingdom of haven ; and, in these last days, he las given a law for the b-nefit of children, that they may be haptized at eight years old.

It is as follows. And again, inasmuch as parents have children in Zion, that teach them not to und istand the doctrine of repentance: faith in Cl rist the Son of the living God: and of baptism and the gift of the Holy Ghost by the laying on of the hands, when eight years old: the sin be upon the head of the parents, for this shall be a law unto the inhabitants of Zion, and their chi'dren shall no baptized for the remission of their sins when eight years old, and receive the laying on of the hands: and they also shall teach their children to pray, and to walk uprightly belore the Lord.

When the Lord gave the children of Israel commandments through Mos. s, he said. And these words which I command thee this day. shall be in thy heari: and thos a. It t ach them diligently unto thy children, and then shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thy house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risert up.

And thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thy hand, and they shall be as frontlets between thins cy s.

If it were nocessary then, to teach these things Diligently unto the children, it is so now, that they may grov up without sin, and by able to abide the pres nee of the Lord when he comes in his glory.

It will be a joyiul task to teach the children of Zion, the printed commandments, and all things which may tend to eternal life.

Teach them also to wash themselves; to comb their hair: to be manneriy, and obedient: to be industrious; to be meck and charising likewis I when the nations will learn table: and above all, to pray vocally and in

go to bed a night: (namely:)

And lead us not into the and is seend witnesses of my name, and we forgiv- our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ver: Amen.

Again: how sweet it would sound, to hear a child say:

I must love the Lord, and trust in him, and pray to him always.

I must love my father and mother and ob-y them.

I must not lie; I m: et not steal; I must not swear, but I must be good, and the Lord will bless me.

PRAYER

Prayer, if in faith, is acceptable to God at al times. In or by to keep our though's irom roving spon unlawfal obj cts, we can follow the advice of one of the apostles of old, and pray without ceasing in our hearts. The Lord says in these last days, call upon ine while I am near. The prayer of the righteeus avail much: Therefore, as it is stid in the book of Morinon, may God grant unto you, my brothren, that ye might begin to exercise your mith unto repentance, that ye begin to call upon his holy name, that he would have mercy upon you; yea, cry unto him for merey; for he is mighty to save; yea, humble yourselves, and continue in prayer unto him: ery unto him when ye are in your fields; yea. over all your flocks: cry unto him in your houses, yes, over all your household, both morning, mid-day, and evening; yes, cry +n to him against the power of your enamios: yes, cry unto him against the devil, which is an enemy to all righteousness. Cry unto him over the crops of your fields that ye may prosper in them; cry over the flocks of your fields, that they may increase. But this is not all: ye must pour out your souls in your closets, and your secret places. and in your wilderness: yes, an 1 when you do not ery urto the Lord, let your h arts be full, drav a out in prayer unto him continually for your welfare, and also for the welfare of those which are around you.

And now behold, my beloved brethren, ł say unto you, Do not suppose that is all; for after ye have done all these things, if ye turn away the needy, and the naked, and visit not the sick and afflicted, and impart of your substance, if ye have, to those which stand in need: I say unto you, if ye do not any of these things, behold, your prayer is vain, and availeth you nothing, and ye are as hypocrites which do deny the faith: therefore, if ye do not remember to be charitable, ye are as dross. which the refiners do cast out, it being of no worth, and is trodden under foot of men.

EXTRACT, &c.

The hook of Mermon contains a great many good things. The following extract from the writings of Nophi, is worth a great deal to the saint. While war and commotions are dividing and ruining the nations, he can lif: up his heart to God, that there will be peace by and by.

And it came to pass that I beheld that the wrath of God was poured out upon the great and abominable church, insomuch that three were wars and tu nors of wars among all the nations and kindreds of the earth; and as mother of abominutions, the ang 1 spake unto me saying:

Behold, the wrath of God is upon the mother of harlots; and, behold, thou seest all these thingst and when the day cometh that the wrath of God is poured out upon the mother of harlots, which is the great and abomi-nable church of all the earth, whose founder the Father shall commence. in preparing the Jordan, in its near st place, is twenty thre way for the fulfilling of his covenants, which index east of J rusal-n. Jericho, celebrated he hath made to his people, which are of for its unus al irrillity and exircine heat, is the House of Israel.

And it came to pass that the angel spake untome, saying, Lookt and I looked and be-beld a man, and he was drissed in a white robe; and the angel said ( nio me, Behold one of the tweive apostles of the Lambi behold, he shall see and write the remain d r of these things. y-a, and also many things which have been; and he shall also write concerning he end of the world, wherefore, the things which he shall write, are just and true, and, schold, they are written in the book which thou beheld proceeding out of the mouth of the Jew and at the time they proceeded out of the monsh of the Jew, or, at the time the boo preceded out of the mouth of the Jew, the things which were written, were plain and purs, and most precious, and easy to the understanding of all men.

And behold, the things which the apostle of the Lamb shall write, are nony things which they hast even: and, whold, the renainder shalt they see; but ti . things which thou shalt see hereafter, thou s at not write; for the Lord God hath or lained the spostle of the Lamb of God. that he should write them.

Andalso, others which have been, to them hath he showed all things, and they have written then; and they are saled up, to some forth in their purity, according to the truth which is in the Lamb, in the due time of the Lord, unto the house of Israel.

And I, Nephi, heard and bear record, that the name of the apostle of the Lamb was Joan, according to the word of the angel.

And behold, I, Nephi. am forbid len that I should write the romainder of the things which I saw and heard: wherefore, the things which I have written, sufficieth me: and I have not written but a small part of the things which I saw. And I bear record, t at I saw the things which my father saw, and the angel of the Lord did make them known u. to me.

And now I make an end of speaking concerning the things which I saw, while I was carried away in the Spirit: and if all things which I saw are not written, the things which I have written are true. And thus it is .-Amen.

Capitulation of the Citadel of Antwerp.

The capitulation is at length signed, and the brave tien ral Chasse is a prischer of war in the hands of the French. The n-goclations were carried on during the whole of the day, and it is only within the last hour that terms have been demnitively settled.— Chasse at first demanded that innose and and gare son should be allowed to return to Holland. To this Gerard positively r fus deand desired that the citadel should surrenden at discretion.

A second parlementaire was then sent by Chase, with a different proposition. The Murshal, having consulted a Council of War, return d for answer, that Chase should giv up all the forts belonging to Belgium alon the Scheldt: and that, on such conditions being accided to, he would consent to the first demand of the Dutch General. Chass, anter a little delay, sent a third parlem mean with a note to Grand, stating that he had no control over forts Liflo and Leekenshock, which were placed unfor the orders of Capt. Biks: General a tength sent has all matter biks: General a categorical answer with as short delay as possible.

The Marshal demanded that Lillo and Liefkenshock, with all the forts dependencies of the citalel, should be given up, when the gerison would be permitted to leave the cita del with all the honors of war: or, that the dependencies only sould be given up, an. the garrison remain presoners of war unit. the forts of Lillo and Liefkenshock were in possession of the Belgians.

Chasse accepted the latter condition, and the capitulation was signed, at 10 of the cock, by which the Belgians are to take possession of the out posts of the gaves o. the esplanade and secours, and that the Tete de-Flandre, forts Burght and D'Austruwit wer to be immediately evacuated.

After twenty-four days' seige 75,000 Frenchmen, with upwards of 150 pieces of cannon, have succeeded in reducing the citadel o Antwerp, with its handful of men.

THE GOSPEL.

By a reference to the last number of the Star, it will be seen that the plan of salvation, was revealed to Adam, after he was driven out of the garden of Eden. To show further concerning this subject, we make an extract from a revelation concerning him, after he had been driven out:

For after that he had been driven out, he began to till the earth, and to have dominion over all the beasts of the field, and to eat his bread by the sweat of the brow, as the Lord had commanded him; and Eve also, his wife, did labor with him, and he knew her, and she bare unto him sons and daughters, and they began to multiply and to replenish the earth. And from that time forth, the sons and daughters of Adam began to divide two and two in the land, and to till the land and to tend flocks; and they also begat sons and daughters.

And Adam called upon the name of the Lord, and Eve also, his wife, and they heard the voice of the Lord from the way towards the garden of Eden, speaking unto them and they saw him not, for they were shut out from his presence. And he gave unto them commandment, that they should worship the Lord their God, and should offer the firstlings of their flocks, for an offering unto the Lord. And Adam was obedient unto the commandments of the Lord.

And after many days an angel of the Lord appeared unto Adam, saying, why dost thou offer sacrifices unto the Lord? And Adam said unto him, I know not, save the Lord commanded me. And then the angel spake, saying, this thing is a similitude of the sacrifice of the only Begotten of the Father, which Wherefore, thou is full of grace and truth. shalt do all that thou doest in the name of the Son, and thou shalt repent and call upon God in the name of the Son forever more.

And in that day the Holy Ghost fell upon Adam, which bore record of the Father and the Son, saying, I am Jesus Christ from the beginning, henceforth and forever; that as thou hast fallen thou mayest be redeemed; and all mankind, even as many as will.

And in that day Adam blessed God and was filled, and began to prophesy concerning all the families of the earth, blessed be the name of God for my transgression, for in this life I shall have joy, and again in my flesh I j bread and wine: and he was the priest of the shall see God.

And Eve his wife, heard all these things and was glad, saying, were it not for our transgression we should never had seed, and should never had known good and evil, and the joy of our redemption, and the eternal life which God giveth unto all the obedient.

(Whole No. 11.

And Adam and Eve blessed the name of God; and they made all things known unto their sons and their daughters. And satan came also among them, saying, I am also a son of God, and he commanded them saying, believe it not: and they believed it not, and loved satan more than God. And men began from that time forth to be carnal, sensual and devilish.

And the Lord God called upon men by the Holy Ghost every where, and commanded them that they should repent; and as many as believed in the Son and repented of their sins, should be saved; and as many as believed not and repented not, should be damned: aud the words went forth out of the mouth of God in a firm decree; wherefore they must be fulfilled.

And Adam ceased not to call upon God, and Eve also, his wife. And Adam knew Eve his wife, and she conceived and bare Cain, and said, I have gotten a man from the Lord; wherefore he may not reject his words.

Thus we have the assurance, and so also may all the world of mankind, that Adam had the gospel preached unto him, and he believed, and was haptized, and became a son of God, and was ordsized rate the high priesthood of the boly order of God, to preach repentance unto his seed, and teach them the things of the kingdom.

From this time till Enoch, from Enoch till Noah, from Noah till Melchisedok, and Abraham, and from Abraham till Mosea, the order of the high priesthood, on easth, continued, and the gospel was presched.

Adam, according to the commandment, taught his children the plan of solvation, and some of them believed, for Abel was righteour and the Lord had respect unto his offering .--Enoch after he had gathered the people of the Lord, continued his preaching in rightcousness, and they builded a city, even Zion.

For one proof that the order of the high priesthood was on earth between the days of Adam and Moses, we refer to the time when Abraham returned from the slaughter of the kings: And Melchizedek king of Salem brought forth Most high God. And he blossed him, and aid, bles • ed be Abram of the most high God, spossessor of heaven and earth.

It eannot be authentically disputed, that Moses was not a high priest after this same order, for Peter said, when speaking of the Savior, This is he of whem Moses spake, saying, A prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you, of your brethren, like unto me; him shall ye hear in all things, whatsoever he shall say unto you. Moses also says, the Lord thy God will raise up unto thee a prophet from the midst of thee, of thy brethren, like unto me; unto him shall ye hearken.

The Lord also said by Moses: I will raise them up a prophet from among their brethren, like unto thee, and I will put my words in his mouth; and he shall speak unto them all that I shall command him. And it shall come to pass, that whosoever will not hearken unto my words which he shall speak in my name, I will require it of him.

Moses preached the gospel, and sought diligently to sanctify the chirdren of Israel, that they might enter into the rest of the Lord: even the same good tidings that Adam taught his children; for Paul said, in his letter to his IIebrew brethren, while speaking of the children of Israel: For unto us was the gospel preached, as well as unto them: but the word preached did not profit them, not being mixed with faith in them that heard it.

• The gospel, according to the best knowledge we have, means good, or glad tindings, and is the power of God unto salvation to all that believe; for therein is the righteousness of God revealed from faith to faith; and it is held forth, the gift of God to all men, who are transgressors of his law; and is in the plan of redemption laid from the foundation of the world for all who embrace it, that they may have hope through the atonement of Christ and the power of his resurrection, to be raised unto life eternal; and this because of their faith in him according to his promise.

The gospel, then, according to sacred history contained in the scriptures, and also the revelations which we have given us by the power of the Holy Ghost, has always been given, or preached to men, that they must repent, and become better, by obeying the commandments of the Lord, that they might be saved in the celestial kingdom.

The gospel to Adam, was: If thou wilt turn unto me, and hearken unto my voice, and believe, and repent of all thy transgressions, and be baptized even by water, in the name of mine only begotten Son, which is full of grace and truth, which is Jesus Christ.

the only name which shall be given under heaven, whereby salvation shall come unto the children of men: and ye shall ask all things in his name; and whatever ye shall ask, it shall be given.

The gospel that Enoch preached was the same, for he called upon the people to repent, and he received a commandment to baptize, &c.; and when mcn repented & were brought into the kingdom of God, he continued his preaching in rightcousness, that the saints might know the mysteries of the kingdom; even see and know for themselves, and thro' the power and manifestation of the Spirit, while in the flesh, they might be able to bear the presence of God in the world of glory; for Enoch and all his people walked with God, and were translated, even taken up into the bosom of God.

The gospel that Noah preached to the inhabitants before the flood, was the same that had been preached to his fathers before him; for he was ajust man, and perfect in his generations, and walked with God. To show still further, and more plain respecting the calling and preaching of Noah, we give an extract from his history, as it has been given of him in these last days:

And it came to pass, that Noah and his sons hearkened unto the Lord, and gave heed, and they were called the sons of God. And when these men began to multiply on the face of the earth, and daughters were born unto them, that the sons of men saw that their daughters were fair, they took them wives even as they close. And the Lord said unto Neah, the daughters of thy sons have sold themselves; for behold mine anger is kindled against the sons of men, for they will not hearken to my voice.

And it came to pass, that Noah prophesied and taught the things of God, even as it was in the beginning. And the Lord said unto Noah, my Spirit shall not always strive with man, for he shall know that all flesh shall die; yet his days shall be an hundred and twenty years; and if men do not repent, I will send in my floods upon them.

And in those days there were giants on the earth, and they sought Noah to take away his life; but the Lord was with Noah, and the power of the Lord was upon him.

And the Lord ordained Noah after his order, and commanded him that he should go forth and declare his gospel unto the children of men, even as it was given us to Enoch.

full of grace and truth, which is Jesus Christ, men, that they should repent: but they heark-

ened not unto his words; and also, after that they had heard him, they came up before him, saying, behold, we are the sons of God: have we not taken unto ourselves the daughters of men? and are we not eating and drinking, and marrying and given in marriage?-Our wives bear unto us children, and the same are mighty men, which are like unto them of old, men of great renown. And they hearkened not to the words of Noah.

And God saw that the wickedness of men had become great in the earth; and every man was lifted up in the imagination of the thoughts of his heart, being only evil continually.

And it came to pass, that Noah continued his preaching unto the people, saying, hearken, and give heed unto my words, believe and repent of your sins, and be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ the Son of God, even as our fathers did, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost, that ye may have all things made manifest; and if ye do not this, the floods will come in upon you.

Nevertheless they hearkened not, and it repented Noah, and his heart was pained that the Lord had made man on the earth, and it grieved Lim at his heart. And the Lord said, I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth, both man and beast, and the creeping things, and the fowls of the air: for it repenteth Noah that I have created them, and that I have made them; and he hath called upon me; and they have sought his life.

But Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord: and Noah was a just man, and perfect in his generations, and Noah walked with God, and also his three sons, Shem, Ham and Japheth. The earth was corrupt before God and the earth was filled with violence. And God looked upon the earth, and behold, it was corrupt, for all flesh had corrupted his way upon the earth. And God said unto Noah, the end of all flesh is come before me, for the earth is filled with violence through them, and behold I will destroy thom from off the earth.

The gospel that Moses preached, was the same that was preached by Adam, Enoch and Noah; and also the same that was preached to Abraham: for God is the same yesterday, to-day and forever. And it was as necessary, that men should have the gospel preached unto them before the death and resurrection of Christ, that they might know of the plan of redemption, as after he came.

To name the precise words that might constitute the term gospel, we shall not attempt to do. When the Savior came in the flesh, to do. the gospel was the same, and it is the same now, and will continue the same forever.

The Lord said, while instructing his twelve dissiples whom he had called and chosen to build up his church among the Nephites:-Behold I have given unto you my gospel, and this is the gospel which I have given unto you: that I came into the world to do the will of my Father, because my Father sent me: and my Father sent me that I might be listed up upon the cross; and after that I had been lifted up upon the cross, I might draw all men unto me; that as I have been lifted up by men, even so should men be lifted up but by the revelation of Jonus Christ.

by the Father, to stand before me, to be judged of their works, whether they be good or whether they be evil; and for this cause have I been lifted up; therefore, according to the power of the Father, I will draw all men unto me, that they may be judged according to their works.

And it shall come to pass that whose re-penteth and is baptized in my name, shall be filled; and if he endureth to the end, behold, him will I hold guiltless before my Father, at that day when I shall stand to judge the world. And he that endureth not unto the end, the same is he that is also hewn down and cast into the fire, from whence they can no more return, because of the justice of the Father; and this is the word which he hath given unto the children of men. And for this cause he fulfilleth the words which he hath given, and he lieth not, but fulfilleth all his words; and no unclean thing can enter into his kingdom; therefore nothing entereth into his rest, save it be those who have washed their garments in my blood, because of their faith, and the repentance of all their sins, and their faithfulness unto the end.

Now this is the commandment: Repent, all ye ends of the earth, and come unto me and be baptized in my name, that ye may be sanctified by the reception of the Holy Ghost, that ye may stand spotless before me at the last day. Verily, verily I say unto you, this is my gospel; and ye know the things that ye must do in my church; for the works which ye have seen me do, that shall ye also do; for that which ye have seen me do, even that shall ye do; therefore if ye do these things, blessed are ye, for ye shall be lifted up at the last day.

One important point relative to the gospel, is, whose duty was it to preach? Christ preached the gospel, and gave authority to his disciples to do likewise; he even said, Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel. Paul had authority to preach the gospel: for the voice to him was: Rise and stand upon thy feet: for I have appeared unto thee for this purpose, to make thee a minister and a witness, both of these things which thou hast seen, and of those things in the which I will appear unto thee; delivering thee from the people, and the Gentiles, unto whom I now send thee; to open their eyes; to turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of satan unto God; that they may receive forgiveness of sins, and inheritance among them which are sanctified, by faith that is in me.

In Paul's first epistle to his Coriathian brethren, he says: I declars unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand. He says further: I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures; and that he was seen of Cephas, then of the twelve; after that of above five hundred bre-thren at once; after that he was even seen of ma

Taking for example the calling of all the ancient servants of the Lord, we know that none have authority to build up his church, except they are called, and commissioned of him.--We say nothing here, about the various modes of worship, as they are called, of the different denominations, for all men are agents unto themselves, and can worship as they please; but we are sure, that the time is not far distant, when the works of all men will be proven, and the secrets of all hearts be revealed; the wheat gathered into the garner of the Most High, and the chaff burned with an unquenchable fire!

Nor do we aim to meddle with the different wects that are continually contending, lo, this is the right way! and, lo, this is the right way! The apostle declared many hundred years ago, that there was but one Lord, one faith and one baptism, and the Lord has said by his own voice in these last days, that the church of Christ, is the only true and living church of chirst, is the only true and hving church upon the face of the whole earth, with which he is well pleased, speaking, as he said, unto the church collectively, and not individually, because he cannot look up-on sin with the least degree of allowance.

Before we proceed further on this subject, we take another extract from the book of Mormon. Although but few, or a small portion of our fellow men believe this book: some in consequence of the cunning craftiness of those who seek the praise and glory of this world, and are thus willingly blinded, and thousands have never come to a knowledge of it, yet we know, that it contains the fulness of the gospel of Christ in plainness, and that all things necessary to instruct men to repent of their sins, and of the manner of baptism, and of the giff of the Holy Spirit by the laying on of the hands, and of the plan of salvation, is set forth in that clear and easy style, that all men who are endowed with a common understanding, may receive light and intelligence in the things of God, if prejudice does not interfere; and that by obeying its precepts, all men, if they will, may have eternal life.

The following is taken from the teachings of the Savior, after his resurrection from the dead, when he appeared to the Nephites: On this wise shall ye baptize; and there shall be no disputations among you. Verily I say unto you, that whose repenteth of his sins through your words, and desireth to be baptized in my name, on this wise shall ye baptize them: behold, ye shall go down and stand in the water, and in my name shall ye baptize them.

And now behold, these are the words which ye shall say, calling them by name, saying: Having authority given me of Jesus Christ, I baptize you in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen. And then shall ye immerse them in the wa-ter, and come forth again out of the water. And after this manner shall ye baptize in my ther in me, and the Father and I are one.-And according as I have commanded you, thus shall ye baptize. And there shall be no disputations among you, as there hath hitherto been; neither shall there be disputations among you concerning the points of my doctrine, as there hath hitherto been; for verily, verily I say unto you, he that hath the spirit of contention, is not of me, but is of the devil, which is the father of contention, and he stirreth up the hearts of men to contend with anger, one with another.

Behold, this is not my doctrine, to stir up the hearts of men with anger, one against another, but this is my doctrine, that such Behold, verily, things should be done away. verily I say unto you, I will declare unto you my doctrine. And this is my doctrine, and it is the doctrine which the Father hath given unto me; and I bear record of the Father, and the Father beareth record of me, and the Holy Ghost beareth record of the Father and me, and I bear record that the Father commandeth all men, every where, to repent and believe in me; and whose believeth in me, and is baptized, the same shall be saved; and they are they which shall inherit the kingdom of God. And whoso believeth not in me, and is not baptized, shall be damned.

Verily, verily I say unto you, that this is my doctrine; and I bear record of it from the Father; and whose believeth in me, believeth in the Father also; and unto him will the Father bear record of mes for he will visit him with fire, and with the Holy Ghost; and thus will the Father bear record of me; and the Holy Ghost will bear record unto him of the Father and me: for the Father, and I, and the Holy Ghost, are one.

And again I say unto you, ye must repent, and become as a little child, and be baptized in my name, or ye can in no wise receive these things. And again I say unto you, ye must repent, and be baptized in my name, and become as a little child, or ye can in no wise inherit the kingdom of God. Yerily, verily I say unto you, that this is my doctrine; and whose buildeth upon this, buildeth upon my rock; and the gates of heil shall not prevail against them. And whoso shall declare more or less than this, and establish it for my doctrine, the same cometh of evil, and is not built upon my rock, but he buildeth upon a sandy foundation, and the gates of hell standeth open to receive such, when the floods come, and the winds beat upon them.

Having this plain teaching set forth before us in this generation, the question might arise, whose duty is it now to preach? Were we to consult many of our fellow men for an answer, without any assistance from the re-velations of the Lord, the most probable answer would be, such as have been qualified and fitted for the ministry; but taking the word of the Lord for a guide, the answer is: Those whom he had called and chosen: As for instance, those who come forth in the resurrection of the just, are they who receive the testimony of Jesus, and believe on his name, and are baptized after the manner of bis burial, being buried in the water in his name, and this according to the commandname, for behold, verily I say unto you, that ment which he has given, that by keeping the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Ghos-the commandment, they might be washed and are one; and I am in the Father, and the Fat

Holy Ghost by the laying on of the hands of him who is ordained and sealed unto this power. Therefore, we say as we have said before: Taking for example the calling of all the ancient servants of the Lord, we know that none have authority to build up his church, except those who are called and commissioned of him.

Hence we begin with Adam, for he was called and chosen of the Lord. Abel was called and chosen of the Lord, and offered an acceptable offering, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts. Encch was called and chosen of the Lord, and the Lord blessed him, and even took him and his city into his own bo-Noah was called and chosen of the som. And Paul said: Without all contradiction the less is blessed of the better. Melchizedek was a priest of the most high God, as is said of him in the bible; that is, he was a high priest after the holy order of God, which order holds the keys of the mysteries of the kingdom of God, even the keys of the knowledge of God, and has power to pronounce blessings according to the will and commandment of the Lord

Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, were called and chosen of the Lord. Joseph, the son of Ja-cob was called and chosen of the Lord, and while speaking to his brethren, he says: God sent me before you to preserve you a posterity in the earth, and to save your lives by a great deliverance. Nephi, the son of Lehi, thus writes of the prophecies of Joseph: Behold he truly prophecied concerning all his seed; and the prophecies which he wrote, there are not many greater.

Moses was called and chosen to do the work of the Lord, and the evidence is, that When Aaron and Miriam spake he did it. against Moses, the Lord said unto them: My servant Moses is faithful in all mine house. others, and so the gospel was preached to men, that they might turn unto the Lord. This state of order in the church of Christ, lasted for some time; perhaps till the Nicean council, and from that time till the book of Mormon came forth, the fulness of the gospel of our Lord and Savior to the Gentiles, and also to the house of Israel, there were many sects, that had a form, in some degree, of godliness.

But none declared, by the power of the Holy Ghost, that they were inspired by the Lord to move on his cause, although they would admit that the Lord was unchangeable, the same yesterday, to-day and forever; and that he gave revelations in the first thousand years; in the second thousand years; in the third thousand years; in the fourth thousand years, and in the fifth thousand years; but in the sixth thousand years, he ceased to give his precious word to fallen man, to guide them in the way to eternal life, as in olden times.

The only name given under heaven, whereby man can be saved, is Jesus Christ. Men in days of old heard the glad tidings, that the Son of Man would come in the fulness of his own time, to make intercession for the children of men, and suffer, the just, for the unjust, and rise from the dead, that the bands of the temporal death might be broken, that the resurrection might pass upon all men, that all might stand in the presence of God to These be judged according to their works. glad tidings were communicated from heaven to earth, by the ministering of holy angels and by the voice of the living God. Thousands have looked forward with an eye of faith, and a confidence unshaken in the premises of God, to the time when the great and last sacrifice should be made for fallen man. Many have rejoiced to see the day of the Son of Man, have seen it, and were glad; and have fallen asleep after obtaining the promise, that they should see God in the flesh and should reign with him on the earth a thousand years.

All men who were willing to be instructed in the plan of salvation, before the Lord came in the flesh, if they were obedient to his com-mandments, have had a knowledge of his gospel, and knew how to look forward on the Son of Man by faith, for a remission of their sins. The gospel was preached to the chil-dren of Israel, and the law was added because of transgression; which law was fulfilled in Christ. Nephi while speaking of Christ some hundred years before he came in the flesh, says: Notwithstanding we believe in Christ, we keep the law of Moses, and look forward with steadfastness unto Christ until the law should be fulfilled; for, for to this end was the law given: wherefore, the law hath become dead unto us, and we are made alive in Christ because of our faith; yet we keep the law because of the commandments; and we talk of Christ, we rejoice in Christ, we preach of Christ, we prophesy of Christ, and we write according to our prophecies, that our children may know to what source they may look for a remission of their sins. Wherefore When the Savior come to the Jews he cal-led and chose twelve, (Judas excepted) to them he gave authority to build up his church; they, by knowing the deadness of the law, and they, by his authority, commissioned may look forward unto that life which is in

When the time was fulfilled, and the Savior had made his appearance in the flesh, the gospel was preached by himself and his dis-ciples. The disciples of John, as they were called, whom he sent to Christ, to inquire if he was the true Messiah, were answered thus: Go and shew John again those things which ye do hear and see: The blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the leapers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel preached unto them. When the twelve were preached unto them. When the twelve were first sent forth to preach, the Lord said: Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into any city of the Samaritans enter ye not: but go rather to the lost sheep of the house of go rather to the lost sheep of the in-Israel. Many, and precious, were the in-structions which the disciples received from the mouth of their Lord, before he was lifted up upon the cross. He said to them at one time, Unto you it is given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven. In another place it is said, that he expounded all things unto his disciples, when they were alone.---Again it is said: The Comferter, the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, what-ever I have said unto you: And after he had risen from the dead, he gave them their great commission to preach his gospel to their fellow men, and says: Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations.

With this authority, they proclaimed the gospel on the day of pentecost; some marveled; some mocked; many were pricked in the heart, and three thousand were baptized and added to the church. The language of Peter, at the time the lame man was healed at the gate of the temple, is very plain. He said to the Jews: But ye denied the Holy One and He said to the Just, and desired a murderer to be grant-ed unto you; and killed the Prince of life, whom God hath raised from the dead; whereof we are witnesses. But these things, said he, which God before had shewed by the mouth of all his prophets, that Christ should suffer, he hath so fulfilled. Repent v2, therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord; and he shall gond Jesus Christ, which before was Plached unto you; whom the heavens must receive until the times of restitution of all things, which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets, since the world began.

In this positive manner spake the apostle the truth, and in this plain manner he preached the gospel and bore record of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus; and about five thousand men believed the word. He declares before the high priest, being filled with the Hely Ghost, that there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby they must be saved. The language of the Lord to Adam was also positive, when he said, that Jesus Christ was the only name which should be given under heaven, whereby salvation should come unto the children of men.

When the Galatians had been troubled by mose who preached a false doctrine, and pretended to have another gospel, Paul says: I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another gospel; which is not another; but there be some that trouble you, & would pervert the gospel of Christ. But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed.

The gospel that the apostle preached, was, as he said to his Corinthian brethren, the glorious gospel of Christ. It was even that by which men might be saved.

Paul was an instrument, no doubt, by the blessing of the Lord, in building up the church of Christ very extensively in many places, as well as the other apostles and those who were ordained by them. But yet very little of their preaching to those who were out of the kingdom, is to be found in the New Tes-How much was contained in the tament. Acts of the apostles written by Luke, before it fell into the hands of those who robbed the scriptures of their plainness; and how much was contained upon the parchments which Paul desired Timothy to bring from Troas, which were left with Carpus; and how much was written by others, we shall not here at-tempt to show. The epistles were written by the apostles to churches and not to the unbelieving world; consequently, the manner of instruction to them was different in general from their discourses to the wicked who Yet all their had never heard the gospel. writings will show but one gospel, and but one manner of building up the church of Christ. And Paul declares with much plainness, that as he said before, so he now says again, if any preach any other gospel than that which they had received, let him be ac-cursed. Truly, because there never was, nor never will be, but one gospel

Having proceeded far enough with the subject, to show that there is but one gospel, and that the same in all ages; and that the Lord calls and chooses his own servants to labor in his vinogard, we shall next proceed to bring <sup>80</sup>ine scripture to show how the gospel has been preached and how the church of Christ has been established in days of cld. In the beginning the Lord said unto Adam: I give unto you a commandment to teach these things freely unto your children, saying, in-asmuch as they were born into the world by the fall, which bringeth death; by water and blood and the Spirit which I have made, and so become of dust a living soul; even so ye must be born again of water and the Spirit, and cleansed by blood, even the blood of mine only Begotten, into the mysteries of & the kingdom of heaven, that ye may be sanc-tified from all sin, and enjoy the words of eternal life in this world, and eternal life in the world to come; even immortal glory. For by the water ye know the commandment; by the Spirit ye are justified, and by the blood ye are sanctified, that in you is given the record of heaven; the Comforter; the peaceable things of immortal glory; the truth of all things; that which quickeneth all things, which maketh alive all things; that which knoweth all things and hath all power according to wisdom, mercy, truth, justice, and judgment.

This plain teaching was to Adam after he was driven from the garden of Eden, and points out the way for his seed to be saved. From time to time were the children of men called upon to repent in days of old, by those who were chosen of the Lord to preach his gospel. From time to time were the inhabitants of the earth warned of approaching destructions and sore calamitics, which were sent to scourge them because of their iniquities, by those who were called and commanded of the Lord.

The Lord is just, and he gave the gospel, after man had transgressed, that he might be brought back into his presence. By obeying the gospel and keeping the commandment men are sanctified and prepared for the celestial kingdom where God and Christ is the Judge of all. The gospel, then, is the power of God unto salvation. It is the god news of heaven, and calls upon the children of men every where to repent.

The news that the gospel brought in days of old, was, that Jesus Christ would come into the world; that he would suffer according to the flesh; that he would rise from the dead, and thereby redeem his people from the power of the grave.

RISE AND PROGRESS OF THE CHURCH OF CHRIST.

Having promised in our last number, something on the rise and progress of the church of Christ, we commence with the intention of giving a relation of a few facts, as they have occurred since the church was organized in eighteen hundred and thirty. We shall be brief in this article, as we design to give from time to time the progress of this church, for the benefit of inquirers as well as the satisfaction of those who believe.

Soon after the book of Mormon came forth, containing the fulness of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the church was organized on the sixth of April, in Manchester; soon after, a branch was established in Fayette, and the June following, another in Colesville, New York.

We shall not give, at this time, the particulars attending the organization of these branches of the church; neither shall we publish in this, the account of the persecution of those who were then called and authorized to preach the everlasting gospel. Twenty more were added to the church in Manchester and Fayette, in the month of April; and on the 28th of June, thirteen were baptized in Colesville: and of these we can say as Paul said of the five hundred who saw the Savior after he had risen from the dead: The greater part remain unto this present, but some are fallen asleep. In October, (1830) the number of disciples had increased to between seventy and eighty, when four of the elders started for the west, and founded a branch of the church at Kirtland, Ohio, around which many have since arisen.

These first four, having added one to their number, proceeded to the west, after having baptized one hundred and thirty disciples in less than four weeks and ordained four of them elders, and of the state of Missouri, having been preserved by the hand of the Lord, & directed by his Spirit.

In the winter, (1831) the church in the state of New York, after a commandment had been received from the Lord, began to prepare to remove to the state of Ohio. The following is a part of the revelation referred to above: And that ye might escape the power of the enemy, and be gathered unto me a righteous people without spot & blameless: wherefore for this cause I gave unto you the commandment that ye should go to the Ohio; and there I will give unto you my law, and there you shall be endowed with power from on high, and from thence, whomsoever I will shall go forth unto all nations, and it shall be told them what they shall do, for I have a great work laid up in store: for Israel shall be saved, and I will lead them whithersoever 1 will, and no power shall stay my hand.

In the spring the greater part of the disciples who were in New York, removed to the Ohio. In June, the word having been preached in many places and hundreds having been baptized, a number of the elders, by the commandment of the Lord, journeyed west, proclaiming the gospel and bearing testimony of the work of the Lord in these last days; saying none other things than that which the prophets & apostles had written, and that which was taught them by the Comforter, by the prayer of faith, as the Lord had Many gladly received the word said. and were baptized, so that branches of the church were built up in many places, notwithstanding the opposition with which the elders were often met.

Indeed we have the testimony before our eyes of the faithfulness with which they discharged their duty in publishing salvation to their fellow men. Many have already come up to the land of Zion who were fruits of their labors; and by what we can learn from time to time, we are reminded of the parable of the seed, for we are certain that much of it has fallen on good ground: and we are sure, having the testimony in our hearts, that those faithful elders, although often fatigued and has been fully explained and underwearied with the length of their journey, will at the last day receive a with unprejudiced minds to learn the crown of eternal life, and joy unspeakable in the everlasting kingdom of God desolations and calamities which are were the means of turning from darkness to light. And while reflecting on this subject, a few words from Daniel seems to be applicable: And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness, as the stars forever and ever. For the word of the Lord to them has thus far been verified, which says: Let them go two by two, and thus let them preach by the way in every congregation, baptizing by water, and the laying on of the hands by the water's edge: for thus saith the Lord, I will cut my work short in righteousness: for the days cometh that I will send forth judgment unto victory.

In July they began to arrive in the western boundaries of Missouri, and shortly after a branch of the church from Colesville, New York, came on by water, and thus the gathering commenced.

From this time, the progress of the church though gradual, has been more than many of great faith hed anticipa-Many churches have been built ted. up in different states, and some hundreds of members have come up to this land, and are striving to keep the commandments of the Lord, that they may be prepared, whether in life or in death, to meet him when he comes in his glory with all his holy angels.

It may be proper to say, as we have often said before, that this church is taught by the revelations of the Lord, in all things, as they have been received from time to time from the days of Adam, until now. And it is really a matter of joy to see how fast the work of the gathering is continuing amid the discouragements, persecutions, & falso statements of the world.

It has been reported that the church had settled in this country, and were living as one family. This is not so.

The faith of the church has greatly increased in these first three years of its existence, in these last days. Much is said at home and abroad about Mormonites, as the world has seen fit to call the disciples of Jesus Christ, but wherever the gospel has been truly set forth; wherever the book of Mormon stood, and wherever men have listened truth for the purpose of escaping the and the Lamb, with those that they already abroad in the earth, there the

The progress of the church has been great, and while we witness the spread of the work, knowing it is of God, we are willing to give the world all the light we can that will lead them to salvation.

OLDEN TIME.

On reading the fifth chapter of Genesis, it will be seen that it is the book of the generations of Adam, and contains the names of ten persons from the beginning till the flood, or rather It ought to be remembered, to Noah. that these men or some of them, were the sons of God.

During the time (1656 years) from the beginning till the flood, there must have been a multitude of people on the earth, as many lived to the age of nearly a thousand years and begat sons and daughters.

Enoch, who was a man of God, lived in the latter part of the first thousand years; and when the Lord commanded him to look, he says, And it came to pass that I beheld in the val-lis opened, which will be when the ley of Shum, and lo, a great people which dwelt in tents, which were the people of Shum. And again the Lord said unto me, Look, and I looked towards the north, and I beheld the people of Canaan, which dwelt in tents.

And the Lord said unto me, Prophesy, and I prophesicd saying, Behold the people of Canaan, which are numerous, shall go forth in battle array against the people of Shum, and shall slay them that they shall utterly be destroxed; and the people of Canaan shall divide themselves in the land, and the land shall be barren and unfruitful, and none other people shall dwell there but the people of Canaan; for behold the Lord shall curse the land with much heat, and the barrenness thereof shall go forth forever: And there was a blackness come upon all the children of Canaan, that they were despised among all people.

And it came to pass that the Lord said unto mc, Look, and I looked and beheld the land of Sharon, and the land of Enoch, and the land of Omner, and the land of Heni, & the land of Shem, and the land of Haner, and the land of Hanannihah, and all the inhabitants thereof: and the Lord said unto me, Go to this people and say unto them, Repent, lest I shall come out and smite them with a curse, and they die. And he gave unto me a commandment that I should baptize in the name of the Father and the Son, which is full of grace and truth and the Holy Ghost, which beareth record of the Father and the Son.

It ought to be known, for it is published, that after Adam and Eve were driven out of the garden of Eden, they had many children, and the children went forth two and two and began to multiply and replenish the earth; yea, and all this too, before Adam had the gospel preached unto him or was bap-The fact is very few of the tized. present generation have a knowledge of what took place in the first thousand years.

lift up their heads and rejoice, for the mystery of God will soon be finished: Then the history of olden time will be known; then the family record of Adam and his children down to this generation, with all the thoughts and intents of the heart, will be revealed; then the saints will be crowned and made equal with Michael the Lord's archangel.

Few persons are aware that Adam lived long enough, in the first days, to witness the gathering of the saints, by Enoch, as well as the building up of Adam lived to see, at least, Zion. seven generations of his children around him, multiplying and replenish-Adam fell asleep in the ing the earth. Lord only fifty-seven years before Zion, even the city of Enoch, was taken up to the bosom of God, where it has remained, and will remain till the Lord brings it again, when he comes in his glory with all his holy angels with him, to reign on earth a thousand years.

For the Lord, while speaking unto Noah after the flood, said: I will establish my covenant with you, which I made unto Enoch, concerning the And God remnants of your posterity. made a covenant with Noah, and said, this shall be the token of the covenant: I make between me and you, and for every living creature with you, for perpetual generations; and I will set my bow in the cloud, and it shall be for a token of a covenant, between me and the earth.

And it shall come to pass, when I bring a cloud over the earth, that the bow shall be seen in the cloud; and I will remember my covenant which I have made between me and you, for every living creature of all flesh; and the waters shall no more become a flood to destroy all flesh. And the bow shall be in the cloud, and I will look upon it, that I may remember the everlasting covenant which I made unto thy father Enoch: That when men should keep all my commandments Zion should again come on the earth, the city of Enoch which I have caught up unto And this is mine everlasting myself. covenant. that when thy posterity shall embrace the truth, and look upward, then shall Zion look downward, and all the heavens shall shake with glad-above trump sounds, the saints may joy, and the general assembly of the church of the first born, shall come down out of heaven and possess the carth, and shall have place until the end come. And this is mine everlasting covenant which I made with thy futlier Enoch.

> Then those that have gathered faith. for a treasure, and have kept all the commandments of the Lord, will see God in the flesh; being quickened, they will have part in the first resurrection, and will be raised unto immortality: on such the second death will have no power.

LAMENTABLE FACTS.

The rightcous have always been derided by the wicked, and sacred things ridiculed by those that knew not God.

The Lord said, Bewere of false prophets, and Paul said, This know also that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, without natural affection, truce-breakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, traitors, heady, high-minded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God; having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away.

Now let us ask the sincere, (if there be any in the world) if that sacredness is to be seen in the performances of religion, which ought to distinguish the sons of God? Are the professors who pretend to worship God, examples of piety, that will not look upon sin with any degree of allowance? Or is it not a lamentable fact, that thousands who have a form of godliness deny the power thereof? Is it not a lamentable fact, that whatever is highly esteemed by the world, is also highly esteemed by those that ought not to love the world, neither the things tha are in it?

Is it not a lamentable fact, that those who pretend to worship God, are the first to persecute the church of Christ? The Jews did so in the days of the Savior. Is it not a lamentable fact, that the time has come when men will not endure sound doctrine; but, as Paul said, After their own lust they heap up to themselves teachers having itching ears?

Is it not a lamentable fact, that in all the controversies between the sectarians, a spirit is manifest, which is any thing but that of our Lord?

But let us turn from these lamentable facts, ness, and the earth shall tremble with to others whose record has lain on the pages of holy writ, for ages, to warn the inhabitants of the carth not to do likewise.

Is it not a lamentable fact, that when Adam and Eve transgressed the command of the Most High, they were driven out of the garden of Eden? Is it not a lamentable fact, that when the earth was filled with violence, and all flesh had corrupted itself, that the Lord brought a flood of waters and destroyed the inhabitants of the world, save Noah and his family?

Is it not a lamentable fact, that when men began to build a Tower, that they might go to heaven as they pleased, notwithstanding there was no other name given, than Jesus Christ, whereby men could be saved, that the Lold confounded their language, and they were scattered over the face of the whole earth?

Is it not a lamentable fact, that when the Egyptians pursued the children of Israel into the Red sea, that they were drowned for their folly? Is it not a lamentable fact, that the children of Israel were scattered among all nations for disobeying the commandment of God. Let the bible answer these questions, that those that would become rightcous, and be saved, when the Lord comes out of his place to destroy the wicked, may have a solemn warning to flee from the wrath to come.

THE SIXTH OF APRIL.

On the 6th of April, between seventy and eighty ordained members, representing more than five hundred members of the church of Christ, met for instruction, serving God, &c, in the land of Zion, and spent the day, from ten till four o'clock, very agreeably.

It affords us much pleasure to record this little fact. When the foundations of this earth were laid, the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy: the Passover was kept solemnly by the children of Israel, and so let the solemnities of eternity rest upon our minds, since the Lord has been so merciful as to re-establish his church for the last time, in these last days.

LETTERS.

Since our last number, letters have been received: one from Florida, one from Palmyra, Missouri; one from Pontiac, Michigan, and one from Kirtland Mills, Ohio.

ALL MUST COME TO PASS.

Occasionally we extract some of the signs of the simes, that those that watch for such appearances, as one evidence that the hour of redemption is near, may not look in vain.— With a confidence unshaken in the promises of the Lord, they can look forward to the time of their redemption, notwithstanding every nation will have its calamities, and every year its troubles, until the consumption decreed shall make a full end of the wicked. Although calamity shall cover the mocker, and the scorner be consumed; though the mountains shall depart, and the hills be removed; though the voice of the Lord goes forth in the whirlwind, in the earthquake, in the tempest, in the thunder, and in the lightning, unto the nations to warn them to repent, until, in his wrath, they are cut off, happy will that man be, who has obeyed the gospel, and put his trust in God, and walked by faith and held cut unto the end.

The rightcous have nought to fear; the promise of deliverance to them is certain: though the heathen rage, though bigots cry delusion, yet they know that those who put their trust in the Lord, will never be confounded. The following from the prophecy of Isaiah is to the point: Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look upon the earth beneach; for the heavens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall wax old like a garment, and they that dwell therein shall die in like manner: but my salvation shall be forever, and my righteousness shall not be abolished. Hearken unto me ye that know righteousness, the people in whose heart is my law; fear ye not the reproach of men, neither be ye afraid of their revilings, for the moth shall eat them up like a garment, and the worm shall cat theu like wool: but my righteousness shall be forever, and my salvation from generation to generation.

Short extracts of the scenes that are passing at this day, is all that our limits will allow; for it would be beyond our power to give them in full. We begin:---

CAPE DE VERDS.

A passenger in one of the vessels which carried out provisions to the Cape de Verds, states the number of deaths by actual starvation to be 30,000 (population 100,000.)— He says, "Capt. Hays, of brig Emma, of Philadelphia, with a full cargo of provisions, assured me that the scene of wretchedness and desolation at St. Antonio, where he touched long enough to discharge 500 bbls. of provisions, was beyond the power of tongne or pen te describe. The miserable inhabitants looked more like moving skeletons, than living beings—their flesh was gone, their muscles scemed dried up, and they presented the appearance of only the naked frames of men, which could scarcely be kept together. A pilot was despatched in a boat with some half a dozen skeleton beings to hail the first vessel that could be seen, and beg of it to stop and sell them something to keep them alive for a few days longer; when the Emma hove in sight, and the entreaty pressed to stop and sell them something to sell, but that his vessel was loaded with provisions to give away; and that he had come for the express purpose of affording relief to any of the Iglanders who needed the gratuity. They seem-ed incredulous at first, but when satisfied of the fact, they raised their hands in astonish-ment toward heaven, intimating that he must have been despatched from thence, on such an errand of mercy. Capt. H. states they even followed him to the water's edge, and there, in attempting to give three cheers with all the little energy which they possessed, they made a noise more like a sepulchral groan than the voice of the living. Capt. H. was assured that almost every morning the dying and the dead could be seen in almost every direction from the door of his informant, and that but a short time before, a boy was seen cutting a piece of flesh from the carcass of a fellow creature, to lengthen out his own miserable existence, but was found soon after, dead, with the piece of flesh still in his hand. I have often heard them say, Americans kinder than our own countrywe have two kings, but they no send provisions to keep us from starving—they fight one another to see who shall govern—they care nothing about us, &c. The rains have began to fall in the Islands, and vegetation is coming forward rapidly, and the hope is cherished that something, in a few months may be obtained from the fruits of the carth, to supply the wants of the people .- Boston paper.

Information has been received at Boston from Cape de Verds, that the supplies which have been sent from this country, had been received but would afford only temporary relief, as the great drouth of three years duration had been succeeded by a disastrous flood of rain, by which the crops were utterly de-stroyed. The islands are represented to be stroyed. in a miserable condition.-Exeter News Letter.

A great number of religious Jews in Poland are making preparations to visit Jerusalem, in the belief that the time predicted by their prophets has nearly arrived in which they shall be restored to the possession of that country.-Foreign paper.

VESUVIUS.

Advices from Palermo state that the cruption of Mount Vesuvius continued up to the 9th inst. and that many foreigners had been attracted by the grandeur of the scene. The inhabitants residing at the foot of the volcano, had, however, begun to be considerably alarmed at the continuance of the phenomenon, as the lava had not only advanced, but had likewise extended itself on all sides, threatening destruction to their inhabitants.-Ib.

IRELAND.

The cholera had made its appearance at Belturbet and Monaghan, and many cases had proved fatal.

The papers contain accounts of numerous outrages by the peasantry in search of arms, and an article from Rathangan says, there are many and extensive manufactories of gunpowder throughout the country. An unsuccessful attempt had been made to murder M. Fishbourne, Esq. agent to the Duke of Buck-ingham.-Ib.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE

A great fire had taken place in Liverpool,

The total damages said to be consumed. £150,000 sterling.-lb.

Last week we published the proceedings of a public meeting held at Galena, in consequence of a certain rumor relative to the Indians. A committee had been appointed to inquire whether any cause of apprehension border, or whether the reports now in circula-tion are groundless. They reported that a disposition totally the reverse of hostilities was manifest and apparent; and that the prin-cipal chiefs offered to surrender themselves as hostages, thereby to relieve them of all their fear.

It now appears from the Galenian of Jan. 16th, that a party of Sac and Fox Indians recently fell upon and killed three lodges of Menomonee, and three of the principal men of the Winnebagoes. This accounts for the warlike appearances which gave such uneasiness to some of the citizens of Galena: and renders the professions of peace towards the whites perfectly consistent. But it appears that the Trader, who gave the above information, expressed an opinion that the Indians are determined on a general war in the spring, either among themselves, or the whites .- St. Louis Tinics.

Fort Gibson, Feb. 5, 1833.

Dear Sir-An express arrived at this place, yesterday, from Fort Towson, bringing the intelligence, from the commandant of that post, that a very serious outrage has been committed by a party of Osage Indians, in Miller county, Arkansas Territory. Mr. Simkins, who is represented as a very respectable citizen, has sustained damages in loss of property, to the amount of nearly two thousand dollars; and several other houses have been plundered. Parties of Osage Indians have been discovered within a few miles of this place, within the last ten days approaching this country from the direction of Red River, loaded with articles of clothing, bed-quilts, knives, spoons, and a variety of merchandize, answering to the property stolen.

As the depredating Indians used violence, in driving families from their homes, and killed and drove off a number of cattle, it is supposed a military force will be sent in the di-rection of Fort Towson, from this place, as it is supposed there is still a band lurking in that vicinity. The Commissioners can do nothing more in the matter than direct the Intercourse law, which is plain on this subject, to be carried into effect-that is to demand the stolen goods of the Indians, and if they refuse to surrender them, to report the matter to the War Department, that the proper steps might be taken, to secure indemni-ty to the party injured. I am sorry to say, that the Osages have been very troublesome lately-very little behind the Pawnees and Kimanchees.

The Commissioners are now in the midst of the Cherokee and Creek treaty, for the purpose of establishing their boundaries. in which 10 to 12,000 bales of cotton were trust we shall get through in two or three days, and that the dispute about their lines existing between these tribes, will be adjusted in such a manner, as not only to gratify those who have already emigrated, but also to induce the removal of the whole of the nations still remaining east of the Mississippi. You are aware that this is a matter of deep and absorbing interest to the government, and the adjustment which we hope to make, will be received with much satisfaction by the government and the States interested.

ARRIVAL OF TROOPS.

Regiments are arriving daily at several of our ports, with a hope, on the part of our misguided rulers, that their appearance will operate as a check upon the rebellious manifestations which are assuming so fixed and formidable an appearance. Nothing can be more preposterous than such a hope. The peeple, as they are called, sneer at the military displays of the Marquis of Anglesey, and laugh outright at his sham fights and stage spectacles. Already have the priests commenced regular approaches towards the soldiery, through the columns of their acknowledged journal in the south of Ireland, which contains the following conciliatory paragraph, presenting, as the Register of this day says, a very national view of the subject. It says

We would like to have the troops here by all means—the majority of them are our own countrymen—and they would spend among us some of the taxes which are raised from our sweat and industry.

There is no mistaking the meaning of this patiotic appeal to the national prejudices of such of the soldiers as may happen to be Irish. Whether the bait take or no, just depends upon the number of Papists that each regiment may contain, or the quantum of influence that the priests may be permitted to exercise. If they be treated with the same deference at military head quarters that they receive at those of the civic authorities—at the Castle of Dublin, the worst consequences may be apprehended.

In fact, there is but one course now open to any government—Whig or Tory—a suspension of the Habeas Corpus Act, the proclamation of martial law, and the arming and calling out the Protestant ycomanry.

Dublin, Jan. 13.—The accounts from the country are terrific; and those counties which have been hitherto tranquil, are now the scene of the same system of outrages which have lately characterized the more southern parts of Ireland. A novel addition to the catalogue deserves to be noticed. The tenantry have systematically commenced refusing to pay rent except to their landlords in person. The avowed object of this is to compel the return of the absentees; but the consequences are obvious. A privy council was held at the Castle yesterday, but I have not heard the result.

Lord Anglesey leaves this country on the 25th inst.—positively never to return in the capacity of Viceroy.—Dublin Evening Mail.

FROM CONSTANTINOPLE.

We learn by the ship America, which arrived last week from Constantinople, that Capt. Mathewa, on going up the Archipelago in the middle of November, passed through the Egyptian fleet, consisting of 25 sail, in parsuit of the Turkish, consisting of 40. The latter came to anchor at the mouth of the Dardanelles, & illuminated the whole squadron, presenting a sublime appearance-In consequence of the cowardice of the Turklsh Admiral, he had been displaced, and the command given to the commanding officer who fought the battle of Navarino. At the time of sailing of the America, the 9th of Dec. it was reported and believed that 70,000 men had deserted the Turkish and joined the Egyptian standard; and it was the general opinion that unless the Grand Sultan received assistance in men and money from the European government, he would be obliged to yield to the Pacha of Egypt, and retire into Asia.

The plague had raged violently for about three weeks, during which time about 17,000 persons had died. When Capt. M. sailed, it had nearly subsided.--N. Y. Gaz.

EARTHQUAKES.

Capt. Flint, of the British schr. Brisk, at Wilmington, (N.-C.) from Nevis, reports that on the night of the eighth of February last, the Island of Nevis and St. Kitts experienced sixteen violent and distinct shocks of earthquakes, which very much alarmed the inhabitants; and on the 9th after the Brisk was under way, at 4 o'clock, experienced a considerable shock. It is to be feared that dreadful accounts will be received from these Islands, or some of the neighboring ones, from the effects of these earthquakes.—Boston paper.

Lima, 13th Nov. 1832.

A few days since we were favored here with the suppression of another attempt to produce a revolution in the government. Its object was to put down President Gamara, and substitute in his place Gen. Santa Cruz, from Bolivia. Of the conspirators five were arrested on Sunday moining-among which are three military men and two members of Congress. They are still in search of others. The head of it is Gen. Sardinia, a man of high standing, and it is said a brave officer. It was to have been accomplished by bribing the troops in the city. So great was the alarm, that a battalion was under arms within the palace, the whole of Saturday night. The Peruvian Congress is still in session, but have done nothing of any moment as yet. The difficulties between this country and the Bolivian Republic, have rather increasedand was the finances of Peru in a fit state, I have no doubt they would be foolish enough to declare war at once-but their poverty will, I trust, prevent such a crisis. I have nothing else to tell you deserving mention .-Advocate.

NAVY DEPARTMENT.

U. S. Schr. Porpoise, Pert Prayu, Island of St. Jago, January 3d, 1833.

Sir—I embrace an opportunity from Fayal via London, to inform you of the arrival of our vessel at this place, on the evening of the 26th of November, and our intention of sailing on the 28th in the further execution of vouring functions.

The very many reports which have reached the United States as regards the sufferings of the inhabitants of these Islands have not been at all exaggerated; although at present there are no deaths on this Island, in consequence of the relief which has been extended to them by the citizens of the United States; yet the many walking skeletons and objects of misery which continually present themselves to your view while on shore, but too plainly assure you what recently has been the dreadful situation on the Islands; on St. Antonio, from a population of 24, only 11,-000 are remaining; on the small Island of Fogo 4,000 now remain from a population of 14, and several of the other Islands have suffered equally, and what is still more painful, their sad sufferings are by no means at an end. Another year they must exist, if they exist at all, from the charity of others; for end. these three years previous to the present, scarcely a drop of rain fell from the heavens; although they have had abundance during the present year, it has been so unseasonable as rather to be an injury than an advantage to cultivation. I have been astonished, however, while witnessing the misery of the inhabitants, to view the hills covered with cattle of various kinds, and have asked in vain for an explanation of the fact or what law could restrain starving thousands from supplying, partially at all events, their necessi-ties. I have the honor to be most respectfully, your obedient servant,

OCEAN PHENOMENA.

A naval friend, of high respectability and intelligence, who has seen in a recent number of the Journal, an account of a singular ball of fire, which fell on board the ship Sir Edward Hamilton, has given us the annexed extract from the Journal of a passenger on board the ship Poctolus, capt. Geo. Wilson, while on a passage from Valparaiso to Marblehead, Massachusetts:--

After a succession of heavy gales from Valparaiso, till we were nearly up with Cape Horn, in which we lost our boat, &c. &c., and while in the act of taking in a close recf-ed foresail having scudded her under that sail as long as a due regard for the safety of the ship would allow-at about 11 o'clock A. M. we were enveloped for a few seconds in almost total darkness by a large black cloud from which came wind and hail, either of which were sufficient to take a person off his feet, provided he had hold of nothing: out of this cloud came a ball of fire, about the size of a 32 lb. shot. It descended to within three or four feet of the long boat, where it. was seen by every person on board, previous to its explosion which was several seconds after its first appearance. The report of this after its first appearance. non-descript thing was as loud as that of four or five sharp muskets fired together. It had the effect to knock down nearly every man on deck—without, however, injuring any of them, if I except the injury received from the fright, which was almost death. The air was sulphurous for some time after the burst-ing of the ball. The chief mate was the first the men were, from fear, unable to attend to the duty of the ship, he called out, 'Come on! 'tis only a Cape Horn snow ball!'

I cannot describe the effect it had upon me, better than by comparing it with a severe shock of an electric machine—to which it was very similar. Its effect upon the chief mate was, he said, as if an immense weight was pressing him down, and I think he remarked at the same time, that he had once been struck with lightning and that the sencation was similar. No person on board (and we had some old, very old 'salts,') had ever witnessed any thing of the kind before. It left no trace of its having come on board, except upon our memories, and from mine I am certain it will never be erased.—Previdence Journal.

FROM THE BOOK OF ETHER.

It is our intention to give extracts from the book of Mormon, occasionally for the benefit of the world, or such as have not this book in their possession. And it came to pass that Jared, and his brother, and their families, and also the friends of Jared and his brother, and their families, went down into the valley which was northward, (and the name of the valley was Nimrod, being called after the mighty hunter,) with their flocks which they had gathered together, male and female, of every kind. And they did also lay snarcs and catch fowls of the air; and they did also prepare a vessel, in the which they did carry with them the fish of the waters; and they did also carry with them descret, which by interpretation, is a honey bee; and thus they did carry with them swarms of bees, and all manner of that which was upon the land, seeds of every kind. And it came to pass, that when they had come down into the valley of Ninrod, the Lord came down and talked with the brother of Jared; and he was in a cloud, and the brother of Jared saw him not.

And it came to pass that the Lord com-manded them that they should go forth into the wilderness, yea, in that quarter where there never had man been: and it came to pass that the Lord did go before them, and did talk with them as he stood in a cloud, and gave directions whither they should travel.-And it came to pass that they did travel in the wilderness, and did build barges, in the which they did cross many waters, being directed continually by the hand of the Lord. And the Lord would not suffer that they should stop beyond the sea in the wilderness but he would that they should come forth even unto the land of promise, which was choice above all other lands, which the Lord God had preserved for a righteous people; and he had sworn in his wrath unto the brother of Jared, that whoso should possess this land of promise, from that time henceforth and forever, should serve him, the true and only God, or they should be swept off when the fulness of his wrath should come upon them.

on deck—without, nowever, injuring any of them, if I except the injury received from the fright, which was almost death. The air was sulphurous for some time after the bursting of the ball. The chief mate was the first who came to his senses and observing that the fulness of his wrath shall come upon them. And the fulness of his wrath cometh upon them when they are ripened in iniquity: for behold, this is a land which is choice above all other lands; wherefore he that doth possess it shall serve God, or shall be swept off; for it is the everlasting decrees of God.

And it is not until the fulness of iniquity among the children of the land, that they are swept off. And this cometh unto you, O ye Gentiles, that ye may know the decrees of God, that ye may repent and not continue in your iniquities until the fulness be come, that ye may not bring down the fulness of the wrath of God upon you, as the inhabitants of the land hath hitherto done. Behold, this is a choice land, and whatsoever nation shall possess it, shall be free from bondage, and from captivity, and from all other nations under heaven, if they will but serve the God of the land, which is Jesus Christ, which hath been manifested by the things which we have written. And now I proceed with my re-cord: for behold it came to pass that the Lord did bring Jared and his brethren forth even to that great sea which divideth the lands .-And as they came to the sea, they pitched their tents; and they called the name of the place Moriancumer; and they dwelt in tents; and dwelt in tents upon the sea shore for the space of four years. And it came to pass at the end of the four years, that the Lord came again unto the brother of Jared, and stood in a cloud and talked with him. And for the space of three hours did the Lord talk with the brother of Jared, and chastened him because he remembered not to call upon the name of the Lord.

And the brother of Jared repented him of the evil which he had done, and did call upon the name of the Lord for his brethren which were with him. And the Lord said unto him, I will forgive thee and thy brethren of their sins; but thou shalt not sin any more, for ye shall remember that my spirit will not always strive with man; wherefore if ye will sin until ye are fully ripe, ye shall be cut off from the presence of the Lord.

And this is my thoughts upon the land which I shall give you for your inheritance; for it shall be a land choice above all other lands.

And the Lord said, Go to work and build, after the manner of barges which ye have hitherto built. And it came to pass that the brother of Jared did go to work and also his brethren, and built barges after the manner which they had built according to the instructions of the Lord.

And they were small, and they were light upon the water, even like unto the lightness of a fowl upon the water; and they were built after a manner that they were exceeding tight, even that they would water like unto a dish; and the bottom thereof was tight like unto a dish; and the sides thereof was tight lke unto a dish; and the ends thereof were peaked; and the top thereof was tight like unto a dish; and the length thereof was the length of a tree; and the door thereof, when it was shut, was tight like unto a dish.

And it came to pass that the brother of Jared cried unto the Lord, saying: O Lord, I have performed the work which thou hast commanded me, and I have made the barges according as thou hast directed may And behold, O Lord, in them there is no light, whither shall we steer. And also we shall perish, for in them we cannot breathe, save it is the air which is in them; therefore we shall perish.

And the Lord said unto the brother of Jared, Behold, thou shalt make a hole in the top thereof, and also in the bottom thereof; and when thou shalt suffer for air, thou shalt unstop the hole thereof; and receive air.

And if it so be that the water come in upon thee, behold ye shall stop the hole thereof, that ye may not perish in the flood.

And it came to pass that the brother of Jared did so, according as the Lord had commanded. And he cried again unto the Lord, saying, O Lord, behold I have done even as thou hast commanded me; and I have prepared the vessels for my people, and behold, there is no light in them.

Behold, O Lord, wilt thou suffer that we shall cross this great water in darkness? And the Lord said unto the brother of Jared, What will ye that I should do that ye may have light in your vessels?

For behold, ye cannot have windows, for they will be dashed in pieces; neither shall ye take fire with you, for ye shall not go by the light of fire: for behold, ye shall be as a whale in the midst of the sea; for the mountain waves shall dash upon you. Nevertheless, I will bring you up again out of the depths of the sea; for the winds have gone forth out of my mouth, and also the rains and the floods have I sent forth.

And behold, I prepare you against these things: for howbeit, ye cannot cross this great deep, save I prepare you against the waves of the sea, and the winds which have gone forth, and the floods which shall come. Therefore what will ye that I should prepare for you, that ye may have light when swallowed up in the depths of the sea?

BAPTISM, &c.

In order to keep our minds in a proper channel, and, that all men that would be saved, may have a full knowledge of the mode, and requisites of baptism, we make an extract from the book of Mormon. Before we commence it, it seems necessary, as it speaks of meeting together off for fasting and prayer and partaking the sacrament, to refer the readers to the commandment for keeping the Sabbath, published on the first page of the second number of the Star; where they will observe, that it is a duty to meet every Sabbath to pay their devotions, &cc. to the Most High. It will be seen by reading this commandment, that by offering their oblations and their sacraments, unto the Most High, confessing their sins unto their brethren and before the Lord, is fasting and prayer, or in other words rejoicing and prayer. The Extract:

were And now I speak concerning baptism.---like Behold, elders, priests, and teachers were baptized; and they were not baptized, save they brought forth fruit meet that they were worthy of it; neither did they receive any unto baptism, save they came forth with a broken heart and a contrite spirit, and withast nessed unto the church that they truly regrees pented of all their sins. And none were re-And ceived unto baptism, save they took upon them the name of Christ, having a determination to serve him unto the end.

And after that they had been received unto the baptism, and were wrought upon and cleansed by the power of the Holy Ghost, they were numbered among the people of the church of Christ, and their names were taken, that they might be remembered and nourished by the good word of God, to keep them in the right way, to keep them continually watchful unto prayer, relying alone upon the merits of Christ, who was the author and the finisher of their faith.

And the church did meet together oft, to fast and to pray, and to speak one with ano-ther concerning the welfare of their souls; and they did meet together of to partake of bread and wine, in remembrance of the Lord Jesus; and they were strict to observe that there should be no iniquity among them; and whoso was found to commit iniquity, and three witnesses of the church did condemn them before the elders; and if they repented not, and confessed not, their names were blotted out, and they were not numbered among the people of Christ; but as oft as they reported, and sought forgiveness, with real intent, they were forgiven. And their meetings were conducted by the church, after the manner of the workings of the spirit, and by the power of the Holy Ghost: for as the power of the Holy Ghost led them whether to preach, or exhort, or to pray, or to supplicate, or to sing, even so it was done.

There are many true words spoken, but few heeded. As to the meaning of words, we are sensible, that many contradictions in terms exist, and will till wickedness is destroyed, and the Pure Language returned.

The following close hit upon the present understanding of terms, appeared not long since in the Genius of Temperance:

CIVILIZED AND SAVAGE.

We would thank any body to define these two terms, and tell exactly what makes a savage, and what a civilized personage.— Among savages, every man is regarded as honest: in civilized society, we are taught to regard all as rogues. Among savages, if a family leave their wigwam to visit a neighbor, they put a stick against the door on the outside, to show the passer by they are absent: in civilized society, bars and bolts, and locks, are hardly sufficient security. Savages manage their matters without prisons: civilization fills the country with them.

Which, then, deserves to be considered barbarians? We have learned to read—and savages have not: but we delight more in reading things that tend neither to make us wiss, nor improve our morals, than in those which do—and where are we the better?— The fault, however, is not in civilization but in the want of it: in our semi-savage love of frippery and nonsense: in our ungoverned appetites, and uncultivated morals.

Pontiac, M. T. Feb. 16, 1833.

Dear Sir: I am requested by prother Jared Carter, an elder in the church of Christ, to inform you, that he will pay one dollar over to the bishop in Kirtland, and wishes you to send the Evening and the Morning Star, directing it to Joremiah Curtis, Pontiac, Oakland county, Michigan Territory. Br. Carter has been laboring in the ministry for about five weeks past, in this county. and his labors have been blest by God, to a goodly degree; he has baptized 22 persons and received them into the church of Christ, myself and wife, are two of the above nameder members, for which I desire to bless the Lord, He has ordained me an elder in the church of Christ, and I carnestly desire that God will bless me, and make me faithful, to become an instrument in his hands of building up his church and kingdom in this region.

There is a great opposition to this cause in this section of country, but I hope and trust, that the Lord will overrule and glorify his name, and subdue the hearts of his people, and make them obedient to his will.

I have been travelling with brother Carter for two weeks past; I find him to be a faithful servant of our Lord and Master. When I view the dealings of God, towards me, I feel to adore his great and holy name, that he has opened my eyes to see the wondrous things of his kingdom, which he has commenced in these last days.

I have been a professor of the christian religion for twenty seven years, and stood among the sects, but never, until about four weeks past, have I been brought to see the errors which the different sects embrace.

Be pleased to accept these few lines from a brother in the church of Christ with you, and laborer in the same great cause: altho I am not personally acquainted with you, yet my heart feels to unite with you in the same great cause of our great Redeemer. I hope, if God shall see fit to spare my

I hope, if God shall see fit to spare my life, I shall see you in Zion before long, and converse with you upon things appertaining to the kingdom of Christ.

REVELATIONS.

(F Having given, in a previous number, the Preface to the book of Commandments now in press, we give bebw, the close, or as it has been called, the Appendix. It affords us joy to lay before the saints, an article fraught with so much heavenly intelligence, having previously published many from the same book for their instruction.

We hope that while they read it, they will remember, that it is a voice from him who spake as never man spake. We hope that while they are blessed with revelation upon revelation, with commandment upon commandment, and with precept upon precept, they will remember to do them. We hope that while they are thus blcssed with the precious word of their Lord from heaven, in these last days, to fulfil that which was spoken in days of old, they will hearken to his counsels and lend an ear to all his precepts.

Indeed it is a source of joy to us, to know, that all the prophecies and promises which are "contained in them, which have not been fulfilled. will come to pass. Hearken, O ye people of my church, saith the Lord your God, and hear the word of the Lord concerning you; the Lord who shall suddenly come to his temple; the Lord who shall come down upon the world with a curse to judgment; yea, upon all the nations that forget God, and upon all the ungodly among you. For he shall make bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations, and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of their God. Wherefore, prepare ye, prepare ye, O my people; sanctify yourselves; gather ye together, O ve people of my church, upon the land of Zion, all you that have not been commanded to tarry.-Go ye out from Babylon. Be ye clean that bear the vessels of the Lord. Call your sclemn assemblies, and speak often one to another. And let every man call upon the name of the Lord; yea, verily I say unto you, again, the time has come when the voice of the Lord is unto you. Go ye out of Babylon; gather ye out from among the nations, from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other.

Send forth the elders of my church unto the nations which are afar off; unto the islands of the sea; send forth unto foreign lands; call upon all nations; firstly, upon the Gentiles, and then upon the Jews. And behold and lo, this shall be their cry, and the voice of the Lord unto all people: Go ye forth unto the land of Zion, that the borders of my people may be enlarged, and that her stakes may be strengthened, and that Zion may go forth unto the regions round about: yea, let the cry go forth among all people;"Awake and arise & go forth to meet the Bridegroom: behold and lo the Bridegroom cometh, go ye out to meet him. Go ye out from among the nations, even from Babylon, from the midst of wick. edness, which is spiritual Babylon.-But verily thus saith the Lord, let not your flight be in haste, but let all things be prepared before you: and he that goeth, let him not look back, lest sudden destruction come upon him.

And the Lord even the Savior shall stand in the midst of his people, and shall reign over all flesh. And they who are in the north countries shall come in remembrance before the Lord, and their prophets shall hear his voice, and shall no longer stay themselves, and they shall smite the rocks, and the ice shall flow down at their presence. And they shall bring forth their rich treasures unto the children of Ephraim my servants. And the boundaries of the everlasting hills shall tremble at their presence. And then shall they fall down and be crowned with glory, even in Zion, by the hands of the servants of the Loid, even the children of Ephraim; and they shall be filled with songs of everlasting joy.-Behold this is the blessing of the everlasting God upon the tribes of Israel, and the richer blessing upon the head of Ephraim and his fellows. And they also of the tribe of Judah, after their pain, shall be sanctified in holiness bcfore the Lord to dwell in his presence day and night forever and ever.

And now verily saith the Lord, that these things might be known among you, O inhabitants of the earth, I have sent forth mine angel, flying through the midst of heaven, having the everlasting gospel, who hath appeared unto some, and hath committed it unto man, who shall appear unto many that dwell on the carth: and this gospel shall be preached unto every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people, and the servants of God shall go forth, saying, with a loud voice: Fear God and give glory to him: for the hour of his judgment is come: and worship him that made heaven, and carth, and sea, and the fountain of waters, calling upon the name of the Lord day and night, saying: O that thou wouldst rend the heavens, that thou wouldst come down. that the mountains might flow down at thy presence. And it shall be answered upon their heads, for the presence of the Lord shall be as the melting fire that burneth, and as the fire which causeth the waters to boil. O Lord, thou shalt come down to make thy name known to thine adversaries, and all nations shall tremble at thy presence. When thou doeth terrible things, things they look not for; yea, when thou comest down and the mountains flow down at thy presence, thou shalt meet him who rejoiceth and worketh righteousness, who remember thee in thy ways: for since the beginning of the world have not men heard nor per-

PREACH THE WORD.

It is very necessary that the disciples of our Lord, especially those that have come up to the land of Zion for an inheritance, and those that have been planted in their inheri-tance, should have the word preached unte them, that they may understand the peacea-ble things of the kingdom. Wisdom is profit-able for the saints. Jeremiah said: The Lord is the true God, he is the living God, and an everlasting King; at his wrath the earth shall tremble, and the nations shall not be able to abide his indignation: he hath made the earth by his power, he hath established the world by his wisdom. And it is certainly important, that all who have come up to the land of Zion, professing to be the disciples of Christ, while blessed with knowledge and wisdom from on high, should be dictated with wisdom enough, to walk in obedience to all the commandments, and observe all the statutes of their Lord, not by constraint but willingly, that their reward may be from above. While in the world, surrout ded with fashions, vanities, abominations, and evil spirits, it cannot be expected that the members of the church of Christ, considering their opportunities to acquire knowledge, having but little time, or opportunity, with the elders who declare the word to them, can be free from the world; neither is it expected that they will have a knowledge of the evil spirits which are abroad in the earth, nor keep all the commandments, and have an understanding of all the statutes of the Lord, as perfectly, as those who have been upon the land of Zion Where much is given, much will for years. be required. How important, then, that all walk perfectly, so that, when the destroying angel goes through, he may pass over them and not slay them. Not all that say Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom.

This being the last generation of the wicked, before the Lord comes to his temple, satan will exert himself, and use all his power to overthrow, or hinder the progress of Christ's kingdom. Every deception, there-fore, that he is master of, will be practiced, as far as he has power, that he may deceive some, and lead them to destruction. John said in one of his epistles, supposed to have been written ninety-eight years after the birth of our Lord: Believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God; because many false prophets are gone out in-to the world. If false prophets, and evil spirits were then in the world, what less is to be expected now, since the world has been engrossed in wickedness, and lain in darkness for ages; the sacred scriptures been robbed of their plainness, and man set himself up as a guide, to direct his fellow beings to happiness by his own wisdom? Is it not important, that the disciples try the spirits, and be re-minded continually of the word of the Lord day nor the hour wherein the Son of Man For it is the pure in heart that cometh? shall see God.

After Paul had been writing to Timothy concerning things which would come to pass in the last days, he says: I charge thee there-fore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his our hearts, requires a perfect walk in his appearing and his kingdom; preach the word, statutes. A thousand things may be imaginbe instant in season, and out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort, with all long suffering and doctrine. For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts they shall heap, to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables.

It might be well to bear in mind, that Paul was then writing to the first bishop of the church at Ephesus, and notwithstanding he had previously written to his Ephesian brethren, reminding them of the great promises of the Lord, yet Timothy was required to watch, and labor with all diligence, that he might be blameless, as some of them would not endure, but turn from the truth. And when Paul called the elders of the church at Ephesus, unto him at Miletus, which was the last time they saw his face in the flesh, he said: Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the flock of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood. For I know this, that after my departing, shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock. Also of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them.

After Paul had declared to his Ephesian brethren, that those who first trusted in Christ, should be to the praise of his glory, he says: In whom ye also trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of our salvation: in whom also, after that ye believed, ye were sealed with that Holy Spirit of promise, which is the earnest of our inheritance, until the redemption of the purchased possession, unto the praise of his glory. This then, was the condition of one of the churches built up by the arcient apostles: some were sealed with the Holy Spirit of promise, and some would not endure sound doctrine; and even of the elders, Paul said, some should arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them, &c.; so that Timothy was charged to reprove, rebuke and exhort, with all long suffering and doc-trine. And the Lord has said in these last days, that there will be foolish virgins among the wise until he comes. This has always been the case in the church of Christ on earth, more or less since the beginning, except in the days before the city of Enoch was taken to the bosom of the Father.

To be prepared for the coming of the bridegroom, is an all-important preparation; we must have oil in our vessels, and our lamps trimmed and burning. How necessary then, that we walk in humility before the Lord: this certainly is pleasing unto him, for if we walk so, he bestows his Spirit. In this condition we can search his holy commandments, and learn our duty. For unless we keep all his commandments blameless with thanksgiving, we are not prepared to meet him .-By keeping his commandments, we have the promise of his blessings; and by keeping his commandments, we are endowed with the Comforter, and by it, we can try all the spirits and know whether they are of the Lord or not ed in our minds, and for an instant supposed to be of the Lord, but to be certain, they must be compared with the word, and found to agree. The creations of the Lord, roll in their regular courses, and the stors move in their beautiful order, and will till their time is fulfilled. So likewise with his word. If it has been written and sealed up for ages; if it has been kept from the eyes of man from generation to generation, because of wickedness, when it is brought forth by his own gift and power, the same beauty will manifest itself in it, without a jar or discord, as in that which has been permitted to remain, and still more, as it is given in plainness.

To have the Spirit of the Lord always in

Every good and perfect good is from above: every thing that enlightens, every thing that invites to do good and persuades men to believe in Christ, is sent forth by his gift and power; every spirit then manifested which edifies, is of the Lord, if he from whom it is manifested obeys his ordinances.

As all were not called, nor chosen for the same office, it behoves every disciple to watch that they are not deceived. Our Lord says: To some is given by the Holy Ghost, to know that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, and that he was crucified for the sins of the world; to others it is given to believe on their words, that they also might have eternal life if they continue faithful. And again, to some it is given by the Holy Ghost to know the differences of administration, as it will be And again, to pleasing unto the same Lord, according as the Lord will, suiting his mercies according to the conditions of the children of men. And again it is given by the Holy Ghost to some to know the diversities of operations, whether it be of God or not, so that the manifesta-tions of the Spirit may be given to every man to profit withal.

As all have not the same gift, but to some it is given to discern all the gifts, lest some should be manifested and not be of the Lord, and thereby the church be deceived, we beseech all the disciples to search diligently the revelations, and learn the order of the kingdom of our heavenly Father. In this way we shall be preserved from evil, and delivered from seducing spirits and doctrines of devils, and the commandments and precepts of men. Every thing in the church of God must be conducted in order, according to the authority of the offices which he has given; for these all were given for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ.

In this way, while we are taught from the revelations, and guided by the Holy Spirit, we are strengthened, and grow up in all things, into him who is our head, even Christ; and when the rains descend, and the floods come, and the winds blow, we shall not be harmed neither moved. But if we deviate from his word, and hold not his sacred oracles carefully, we have not the assurance of his protection from the storm of the enemy, who is stirred up in great anger, knowing he has but a short time.

It requires much time and study to learn all the commandments of the Lord; but when we have learned them, they will profit us, for they are sure.

We may readily see by the 14th chapter of sequence of his avenging one who was op-Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians, that he pressed, he was obliged to flee. But after was careful of sacred things, and preserved remaining in the land of Midian forty years, order. He says: Let all things be done unto edifying. Moroni, in speaking of the manner of conducting meetings among the Nephites when they were righteous, says, they were conducted after the manner of the workings of the Spirit, and by the power of the Holy Ghost.

In a revelation given for the instruction of the church in these last days, it reads: But notwithstanding these things which are written, it has always been given to the elders of my church from the beginning, and ever chail be, to conduct all meetings as they are directed and guided by the Holy Spirit.

Again it reads: But ye are commanded in all things to ask of God who giveth liberally, and that which the Spirit testifies unto you, even so I would that ye should do in all holiness of heart, walking uprightly before me, considering the end of your salvation, doing all things with prayer and thankagiving, that ye may not be seduced by evil spirits, or doctrines of devils, or the commandments of men; for some are of men, and others of devils.

Wherefore, beware lest ye are deceived and that ye may not be deceived, seek ye earnestly the best gifts, always remembering for what they are given; for verily I say unto you, they are given for the benefit of those who love me and keep all my commandments, and him that seeketh so to do, that all may be benefitted, that seeketh or asketh of me, that asketh and not for a sign that he may consume it upon his lusts.

There is much said about miracles, and thousands suppose if they could see one performed, they would believe. When Meses had received the message from the Lord, while feeding the flocks of his father-in-law at the mount Horeb, he returned to Egypt, and in company with Aaron, called the elders of the children of Israel together, and performed those signs in the sight of the people, which were given them of the Lord, and they believed: and when they heard that the Lord has visited the children of Israel, and that he had looked upon their affliction, then they bowed their heads and worshipped. But when they were performed before Pharaoh, he said: Who is the Lord, that I should obey his voice to let Israel go? I know not the Lord, neither will I let Israel go.

It would seem that some among the servants of Pharaoh believed the word of the Lord by Moses, when the hail was about to come upon the Egyptians, for they caused that their cattle and their servants should flee into the houses. And also, when the locusts were to be sent into the coasts of Egypt, some of the servants of Pharaoh said: How long shall this man be a snare unto us? let the men go, that they may serve the Lord their God: knowest thou not yet that Egypt is destroyed?

Here we have a sample how far signs and wonders, and even judgments, convince mankind, or the wicked, of the existence and power of God.

When Moses visited his brethren the children of Israel, when he was forty years old, he supposed they would have understood how that God by his hand would deliver them; but they understood not: and in consequence of his avenging one who was oppressed, he was obliged to flee. But after remaining in the land of Midian forty years, the children of Iarael by this time, were humbled by oppression, and heavy burdens, so that, when the message from the Lord came, they were ready to believe; but Pharaob in his pride, said: Who is the Lord1 and was driven on in his wickedness and hardness of heart, until he, and his mighty host, were drowned in the Red Sea.

After the children of Israel were saved from the power of their enemies; brought forth into the desert; fed with angel's food, and with quails to their fill; the Lord going before them by day in a pillar of cloud, to lead them; and by night in a pillar of fire, to give them light; after hearing the voice of the living God in the thunder from Sinai, and even Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, with seventy of the elders of Israel, went up with Moses, where they saw the God of Israel: after Moses had gone up into the mount to receive the precious oracles from his own hand, because he delayed to come down, they took their golden ear-rings, fashioned them with a graving tool, after they had made them a molten caf, and said: These be thy gods, O Israel, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt.

Paul, at the close of his epistle to his brethren at Rome, says: Whatsoever things were written aforetime, were written for our learning. Peter, in his second epistle, says, that the Lord turned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into ashes, condemned them with an overthrow, making them an ensample unto those that after should live ungodly. If the saints in the days of Paul, could learn by those things which were written before them, and if the Lord made ensamples of the wicked by destroying them in the days of old, would it not be wisdom for those who are favored with the oracles of God in these last days, to beware and hold them carefully?.

After the children of Israel were brought to mount Sinai, the Lord said unto Moses,— Thus shalt thou say to the house of Jacob, and tell the children of Israel; ye have seen what I did unto the Egyptians, and how I bare you on eagle's wings, and brought you unto myself. Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a poculiar treasure unto me above all people: for all the earth is mine. And ye shall be unto me a kingdom of priests, and a holy nation.

But they despised the promised rest, and in their hearts turned back into Egypt, and rejected signs and wonders; and after forty years travel, were permitted to enter the land of Canaan. In these last days their seed will be again brought to inherit the same land, the righteous among all nations be gathered according to the word of the Lord, and those who keep his commandments, see his face, while those who will not, perish.

Having taken sufficient from the history of the ancients, to show the dealings of the Lord with them, by all these examples we may in our day receive instruction. In fact, it only needs a careful examination of the records of olden time, to convince the unprejudiced and sincere, that great things await the inhabitants of the earth in the last days.

Much is said in our day relative to the liteval fulfilment of ancient prophecy. Some assert, that the ancient prophecies are to be jierally fulfilled. Others say, that those pointing to the coming of the Messiah, were to be, and were literally fulfilled, but the remainder of the prophecies, contained in the bible, are to be Spiritually understood, and that they are not to be fulfilled literally, or are not to take place as they read, according as they were spoken by the mouths of the prophets.

We find a prophecy contained in the 18th chapter of Deuteronomy, speken by Moses, thus, I will raise them up a Prophet [the children of Israel] from among their brethren, like unto thee. In the third chapter of the Acts, Peter says, this is he [Christ] of whom Moses spake. Thus we see, that the words of Mores concerning the coming of Christ, were literally fulfilled. Peter says further, that it shall come to pass, that every soul which will not hear that prophet shall be destroyed from among the people. A part of that prophecy, so far as it related to the first coming of Christ, then, according to tho scriptures, has been fulfilled as it was spoken; and who will say that the remainder shall not be?

Isaiah said, Behold, a Virgin shall conceive and barc a Son, and shall call his name Immanuel. This prophecy, according to Matthew, was literally fulfilled, probably between seven and eight hundred years after it was spoken.

The word of the Lord to the Israelites, was, that they should be scattered if they rejected his word; and in the 17th chapter of II Kings, we learn that they were led away captive out of their own lands. The Jews were admonished from time to time, and the Lord said that they should he carried captive to Babylon, and according to the scriptures, in the days of Zedekiah their king, they were. He also said that they should return and rebuild Jerusalem, & after twenty seven years' captivity, this promise was literally fulfilled captivity, this promise was literally fulfilled. In five hundred and thirty years from the end of their captivity, the Savior was born in Bethlehem of Judea, as Matthew says; for tbus it is written by the prophet, And thou Bethlehem in the land of Judea, are not the least among the princes of Judah: for out of thee shall come a Governer, that shall rule my people Israel.

Micah, who probably delivered the above prophecy, lived in the days of Isaiah, as it will be seen by the commencement of the two books. Iudeed, his comes very near the words recorded in Matthew. He says, But thou, Bethlehem Ephratah, though thou be little among the thousands of Judab, yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me that is to be Ruler in Israel: whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting.

When Christ rode into Jerusalen, Matthew says all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying, Tell ye the daughter of Sion, Behold, thy King cometh unto thee, meek, and setting upon an ass, and a colt the foal of an ass. Zechariah, from whose prophecy the above no doubt is taken by Matthew, lived at, or near the time of the return of the Jews from Babylon, and is the only prophet in the bible, who mentions a prophecy of this, or of similar kind, of our Savior's entering Jerusalem riding upon a beast.

hold, thy King cometh unto thee; he is just, and having salvation; lowly, and riding upon an ass, and upon a colt the foal of an ass.— This then, has been literally fulfilied. The Lord has rode into Jerusalem according to the word of the prophet, amid acclamations of joy from the multitude, saying, Hosanna to the son of David! Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest!

Before the Savior was crucified, when instructing his disciples concerning the destruction of Jerusalem, and the signs of his coming, he says, There shall be great distress in the land, and wrath upon this people.— [The Jews.] And they shall tall by the edge of the sword, and shall be led away captive into all nations: and Jerusalem shall be trodden down of the Gentiles, until the times of the Gentiles be fulfilled. The prophecy concerning the destruction of Jerusalem, and the scattering of the Jews, was literally fulfilled. All who are acquainted with the history of Jerusalem, know that it has been trodden down by the Gentiles, notwithstanding all the efforts made in the holy wars, to wrest it from the power of barbarsim.

In these quotations, we have a plain sample of the literal fulfillment of ancient prophecy; and not finding any rule directing them to be understood different, given by those from whose mouths they were delivered, the rules of men formed by their own wisdom, certainly must fail to establish the principle in the mind of the diligent searcher after truth, that they were ever designed by the great Author of them, to be understood in the least, contrary from what they were actually spoken, by those who spake moved by the Holy Ghost.

Many parables were spoken by our Savior, and many figures, types, similitudes, &c., We were sent forth by the ancient prophets. conclude then, that a parable is to be taken, or understood and applied as a parable; and that figures, types, or similitudes, are to be But if the understood and applied as such. plain word of God, without a parable, without a similitude, and without type, spoken to man, with all the fulfilment of plain prophewhich ever has been from the beginning C7 to Christ, and from that time to the present, for examples, is not now, in these last days to be literally fulfiled, then certainly a change has taken place, and the Lord is a respecter. to persons, and dealt better with our fathers than with us! but this is not the case: he ever remains unchangeably the same.

The prophet that said, rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion; shout, O daughter of Jerusalem: behold, thy King cometh unto thee; he is just, and having salvation, lowly, and riding upon an ass, and upon a colt the foal of an ass; which was literally fulfilled; also said: Behold, the day of the Lord cometh, and thy spoil shall be divided in the midst of thee. For I will gather all nations against Jerusalem to battle; and the city shall be taken, and the houses rifled, and the women ravished; and half of the city shall go forth into captivity, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the city.

It may be thought by some, that the destruction and captivity here mentioned, would refer to the time of the captivity of the Jews, by Nebuchadnezzar, but a moment's reflecby-Titus, is plain, because the n the city wa tion is sufficient to correct the idea, as only half were to be cut off and go into captivity: and also, this prophecy was spoken after the destruction of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar, who took all except the poor with him to Babylon, and they, [the poor] in a short time fled into Egypt, and Jerusalem and the land of Judea lay waste; and, according to the words of the prophet Jeremiah, enjoyed her Sabbaths for seventy years.

Some may suppose, that if this captivity does not mean the captivity of the Jews by Nebuchadnezzar, that it may be applied to the destruction of Jerusalem after the Savior was crucified: but this is not so, because when Jerusalem was destroyed by the Romans, no part was left. According to the account, one million one hundred thousand Jews perished, ninety-seven thousand were taken prisoners; besides an innumerable company in other places of Judea, killed themselves, or perished through famine, banishment, or other miseries.

It can be seen further by the expression of the prophet, that this captivity has not yet been, for he says that when one half of the city goes forth, and the other half not cut off, that, then shall the Lord go forth, and fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of battle. By the expression above, it will be seen that all nations are to be gathered against Jerusalem at the time of this captivity, which has never been at any of her previous destructions. By the mouth of Jeremiah before the Babylonish captivity, the Lord said, Behold, I will send and take all the families of the north, saith the Lord, and Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon my servant, and will bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof, & against all these nations round about, and will utterly destroy them, and make them an astonishment, and a hissing, and perpetual desolations

By this prophecy from Jeremiah, it may be seen that all nations were not to be gathered against Jerusalem at the time of Nebuchadnezzer's conquest over it, but that the nations round her, were also to become subject to him as well as the Jews; for he further says, These nations shall serve the king of Babylon seventy years. But at the end of seventy years, he would punish the king of Babylon, and that nation, and the land of the Chaldeans, and make it perpetual desolations.

But when all nations are gathered against Jerusalem to battle, and the city is taken, &c. and the Lord goes forth to fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of battle, the prophet says, then, at that time; His feet shall stand in that day upon the mount of Olives, which is before Jerusalem on the east; and the mount of Olives shall cleave in the midst thereof toward the east and toward the west, and there shall be a great valley: and half of the mountain shall remove toward the north, and half of it toward the south.

If the last quotation is to be literally fulfilled, then certainly the Lord himself will come upon the earth once more for the salvation of his people, and according to the word of the prophet, set his feet again upon the mount of Olives before the city of Jerusalem. That the caplivity spoken of by Zecharish, does not mean the destruction of Jerusalem by Titus, is plain, because the n the city wa ntterly destroyed, and according to the word of the Savior to his apostles before he was crucified, the Jews were led captive into all nations: when at the time, of which Zechariah speaks, only a half of the city is to go into captivity, while the residue are not to be cut off from the city.

At the time when the Lord sets his feet upon the mount of Olives, agreeable to Zechariah, and the mount divides so as to form a valley, he further says, [speaking of the inhabitants] And ye shall flee to the valley of the mountains; for the valley of the mountains shall reach unto Azal: yea, ye shall flee, like as ye fled from before the earthquake in the days of Uzziah king of Judah: AND THE LORD MY GOD SHALL COME, AND ALL THK SAINTS WITH THEE. And it shall come to pass in that day, that the light shall not be clear nor dark: but it shall be one day which shall be known to the Lord, not day, nor night: but it shall come to pass, that at evening time it shall be light.

If this prophecy is to be literally fulfilled yet, and the following which immediately succeeds it will also show that it has not been: then the inhabitants of the earth may rely upon the certainty of the Savior's making his appearance in person from heaven. Zechariah further says, And it shall come to pass in that day, that living waters shall go out from Jerusalem: half of them toward the former sea, and half of them toward the hinder sea: in summer and in winter shall it be.— And the Lord shall be King over all the earth: in that day there shall be one Lord, and his name one.

All the land shall be turned as a plain from Geba to Rimmon, south of Jerusalem: and it shall be lifted up, and inhabited in her place, from Benjamin's gate unto the place of the first gate, unto the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananeel unto the king's wine-presses. And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be no more utter destruction; but Jerusulem shall be safely inhabited.

All who are acquainted with the situation of Jerusalem, know that there is but the small brook of Cedron, which takes its rise there, and that empties into the sea of Sodom, or the lake of Sirbon, anciently called, now called the Dead Sea. But the prophet said, that living waters should go out from Jerusa-lem in summer and in winter, half toward the former sea, and half toward the hinder sea. Ezekiel who was among the captive Jewn in the land of Chaldea, after giving a description of the re-settling of the Israelites in the land of Canaan in the last days, and after giving a plan, or description of the house of the Lord then to be built, says, Afterward he brought me again unto the door of the house; and, behold, waters issued out from under the threshold of the house eastward: for the forc front of the house stood toward the east, and the waters came down from under, from the right side of the house, at the south side of the altar. Then brought he me out of the way of the gate northward, and led me about the way without unto the outer gate by the way that looketh eastward; and, behold, there ran out waters on the right side. And when the man that had the line in his hand went forth eastward, he measured a thousand oubits, and he brought me through the waters; the waters were to the ancles.-

Again he measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters; the waters were to the knees. Again he measured a thousand, and brought me through; the waters were to the loins. Afterward he measured a thousand; and it was a river that I could not pass over: for the waters were risen; waters to swim in; a river that could not be passed over.

From the prophecy of Ezekiel then, we also learn, that a change is to take place at Jerusalem, if his prophecy is yet to be fulfilled; and that it yet remains to be fulfilled, must be admitted from the facts, that those waters mentioned, do not now flow; and, that the land of Palestine has never been divided into inheritances for the whole twelve tribes of Israel, as mentioned by him, since they were led away captive by Shalmaneser king of Assyria in the days of Hoshea king of Israel, seven hundred and between twenty and thirty years before Christ came in the flesh.

From this prophecy of Zechariah, if we may understand him as it is written, we may conclude, that the Lord is coming on earth yet before the end, and, that from the city of Jerusalem, where now rises the the small stream Cedron, living waters will go out from thence in summer and in winter: and according to Ezekiel, they will be a great river. A material change will also take place with the country south of Jerusalem according to Zechariah. The city is now situated on a rocky nountain, on all sides of which are steep ascents, except toward the north. But he says, all the land shall be turned as a plain from Gebba to Rimmon, south of Jerusalem: and it shall be lifted up, and inhabited in her place. Men shall dwell therein safely; and utter destruction shall no more be known.

Again, the prophet that said, A virgin shall conceive and bare a Son, also said, Jerusalem is ruined, and Judah is fallen; because their tongue and their doings are against the Lord, to provoke the eyes of his glory.— He further says, Through the wrath of the Lord of Hosts is the land darkened, and the people shall be as the fuel of the fire: no man shall spare his brother. And he shall snatch on the right hand, and be hungry; and he shall eat on the left hand, and they shall not be satisfied: they shall eat every man the flesh of his own arm: Manasseh; Ephraim; and Ephraim, Manasseh: and they together shall be against Judah.

But he says, it shall come to pass that the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the sca. And in that day there shall be a root of Jesse, which shall stand for an ensign of the people; to it shall the Gentiles seek: and his rest shall be Aud it shall come to pass in that glorious. day, that the Lord shall set his hand again the second time to recover the remnant of his people which shall be left, from Assyria, and from Egypt, and from Pathros, & from Cush, and from Elam, and from Shinar, and from Hamath, and from the islands of the sea.— And he shall set up an ensign for the nations, and shall assemble the outcasts of Israel, and gather together the dispersed of Judah from the four corners of the earth. The envy also of Ephraim shall depart, and the adversaries of Judah shall be cut off: Ephraim shall not envy Judah, and Judah shall not vex Ephraim. If this prophecy is to be literally fulfilled, then the Lord will yet gather the Israelites from their dispersion, as Isaiah further says,

The Lord will have mercy on Jacob, and yet choose Israel, and set them in their own land: and the strangers shall be joined with them, and they shall cleave to the house of Jacob. And the people shall take them, and bring them to their place; and the house of Israel shall possess them in the land of the Lord for servants and handmaids: and they shall take them captives, whose captives they were; and they shall rule over their oppressors

Perhaps some may think, that the last quotation was fulfilled when the Jews returned from Babylon. But it will be recollected, that the house of Israel, as the ten tribes were called after their revolt from the house of David in the commencement of the reign of Rehoboam the son of Solomon, were not led to Babylon, but were taken away more than one hundred years before the Babylonish captivity. And that this prophecy cannot be applied to the Jews, will be admitted from the fact, that when they returned from Babylon, they neither took those captives, whose captives they were, nor did they rule over their oppressors.

Some may suppose, that if the above pro-phecy of the return of Israel, when they were to rule over their oppressors, does not mean the return of the Jews from Babylon, it is to be understood in a spiritual sense, or in some But manner different from the plain words. It can be seen in the preceding chapter, that the destruction of Babylon is spoken of by the Lord by the mouth of the prophet, where he says

Behold, I will stir up the Medes against them, which shall not regard silver; and as Their for gold, they shall not delight in it. bows shall dash the young men to pieces; and they shall have no pity on the fruit of the womb; their eye shall not spare children. And Babylon, the glory of kingdoms, the beauty of the Chaldees' excellency, shall be as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomor-It shall never be inhabited, neither shall rak. it be dwelt in from generation to generation: neither shall the Arabian pitch tent there, neither shall the shepherds make their folds there: but wild beasts of the desert shall lie there; and their houses shall be full of doleful creatures; and owls shall dwell there, and And the wild Satyrs shall dance there. beasts of the islands shall cry in their deso-late houses, and dragons in their pleasant palaces; and her time is near to come, and her days shall not be prolonged.

It can be seen from Daniel, that this prophecy upon Babylon, so far as related to its being taken by the Medes, took place in the days of Belshazzar the son of Nebuchadnezzar; and that it has long remained desolate, a habitation for dragons, and a court for owls, a lasting monument of the literal fulfilment of ancient prophecy, cannot but be admitted by all. Not a spire, not a tower, atom remain visible, to show where once stood the ancient and splendid city Babylon, the glory of kingdoms, the beauty of the Chaldees' excellency.

From Isaiah then, we find the prophecy of the coming of the Messiah, and the destructhe coming of the Messiah, and the destruc-tion of Babylon; and we find from others, that rode into Jerusalem, was smitten upon the both were literally fulfilled. If we are to understand that the remainder of his prophecy is to be literally fulfilled, (and he has left no rule to the contrary) then certainly, the chil-dren of Israel may lift up their heads and rejoice, for they will yet be gathered. For the prophet, after saying that the earth should be full of the knowledge of the Lord, and that the Lord should set his hand again the second time to recover the remnant of his people, says, that the Lord shall utterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptian sea; and with his mighty wind shall he shake his hand over the river, and shall smite it in the seven streams, and make men go over dry-shod. And there shall be a highway for the remnant of his people, which shall be left, from Assyria: like as it was to Israel in the day that he came up out of the land of Egypt. When the defenced city is desolate, the habitation forsaken, and left like a wilder-ness, Isaiah says, It shall come to pass in that day, that the Lord shall beat off from the channel of the river unto the stream of Egypt, and ye shall be gathered one by one, O ye children of Israel. And it shall come to pass And it shall come to pass in that day, that the great trumpet shall be blown, and they shall come which were ready to perish in the land of Assyria, and the outcasts in the land of Egypt, and shall wor-ship the Lord in the holy mount at Jerusalem

The Lord also says by Isaiah, Upon the land of my people shall come up thorns and briers, yea, upon all the houses of the joy-ous city: because the palaces shall be forsa-ken; the multitude of the city shall be left; the forts and towers shall be for dens forever, a joy of wild asses, a pasture of flocks, until the Spirit be poured upon us from on high, and the wilderness be a fruitful field, and the fruitful field be counted for a forest. Then judgment shall dwell in the wilderness, and righteousness remain in the fruitful field. And the work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness, quietness and assurance forever. And my people shall dwell in a peaceable habitation, and in sure dwellings, and in quiet resting places, when it shall hail coming down on the forest; and the city shall be low in a low place.

From these prophecies then, we conclude, that if the Lord ever brought the children of Israel out from Egypt, and divided the wa-ters that they might pass over in the days of Moses; even so in the last days he will gather them again, and according to the prophet, smite the river in the seven streams, or beat off from the channel of the river unto the stream of Egypt, and cause them to pass over dry-shod. If Jerusalem and the land of Judea, were inhabited in ancient days by the children of Israel, even so in the last days they will be again.

For the Lord has said, Awake, awake; put on thy strength, O Zion: put on thy beauti-ful garments, O Jerusalem, the holy city: for henceforth there shall no more come into thee the uncircumcised and unclean, Again he says, Break forth into joy, sing together ye waste places of Jerusalem: for the Lord hath comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jerusalem.

If the Lord ever made his appearance in cheek, slain upon the cross, rose from the dead and ascended on high according to the scriptures, then in these last days he will set his feet upon the mount of Olives, deliver his people, that Jerusalem become a quiet habitation, and no more be destroyed. For the prophet said, The Lord my God shall come and all the saints with thee: Thus will he come in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory; and while the sound goes forth, Prepare to meet the Bridegroom, we beseech all the disciples of our Lord to be also ready. For the time is at hand when every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall shall be made low, and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places plain: and the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together, for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

For the time is at hand, when the Lord will bring again the captivity of Jacob's tents and have mercy on his dwelling places: for thus says the Lord by the prophet, the city shall be builded upon her own heap, and the palace shall remain after the manner thereof. And out of them shall proceed thanksgiving, and the voice of them that make merry: and I will multiply them, and they shall not be few; [ will also glorify them, and they shall not be small. Their children also shall be as aforetime, and their congregations shall be established before me, and I will punish all And ye shall be my peothat oppress them. ple, and I will be your God.

For the time is near when that which was written by Jeremiah concerning the house of Israel, will be fulfilled, which says, Therefore, bchold, the days come, saith the Lord, that it shall no more be said. The Lord liveth that brought up the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt; but the, Lord liveth that brought up the children of Israel from the land of the north, and from all the lands whither he had driven them: and I will bring them again into their land that I gave unto their fathers. Behold, I will send for many fishers, saith the Lord, and they shall fish them: and after will I send for many hunters and they shall hunt them from every mountain and from every hill, and out of the holes of the rocks.

For the time is near when the Lord will bring Israel again to his habitation, and he shall feed on Carmel and Bashan, and his soul shall be satisfied upon mount Ephraim and Gilcad. In those days and in that time saith the Lord, the iniquity of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall be none; and the sins of Judah, and they shall not be found: for I will pardon them whom I reserve

None need mistake relative to the time of the fulfilment of the above prophecy; nor need any suppose for a moment that it has yet been fulfilled, for Jeremiah, (by whose mouth it was spoken) lived long after the house of Israel were led away captive, who have not since returned to their former habitation in righteousness, when their iniquity has been sought for and there was none: but the time is near.

And the time is near when the Lord will fulfil his promise to the house of Israel, and to the house of Judah, according to his covpeople. When none will have occasion to say to his neighbor, or brother, Know the Lord: for all will know him from the least of them to the greatest of them. These prom-ises are sure to the children of Israel, as the fact is certain, that the Lord gives the sun for a light by day, and the ordinances of the moon and stars for a light by night; and that heaven above cannot be measured, and the foundations of the carth searched out beneath by man.

For the time is near when the Lord will rend the heavens, and come down, and the When mountains flow down at his presence. he will reign in mount Zion, and in Jerusalem, and before his ancients, gloriously: when there are none to molest or make afraid in all his holy mountain. Therefore, we again beseech the disciples of our Lord, to let solemnity rest upon their minds, to lift up their heads and rejoice, and put their trust in him whose word never fails, and whose course is one eternal round.

CHILDREN.

Lo, children are a heritage of the Lord, says the Psalmist; and our Savior said, Wisdom is justified of her children: let them, then, be trained up in the way they should go, that when they are old, they may not depart from it: let them be trained up in the commandments of the Lord, and they will be saved in his kingdom. After Lehi had finished speaking to his sons, as he was about to leave this world, he said to the children of his eldest son: Behold, my sons and daughters, which are the sons and the daughters of my first born, I would that ye should give car unto my words; for the Lord God hath said, That inasmuch as ye shall keep my commandments, ye shall prosper in the land; and inasmuch as ye will not keep my commandments, ye shall be cut off from my presence. But behold, my sons and daughters, I cannot go down to my grave save I should leave a blessing upon you. For behold, I know that if ye are brought up in the right way that ye should go, ye will not depart from it. Wherefore, if ye are cursed, behold I leave my blessing upon you, that the cursing may be taken from you, and answered upon the heads of your parents.

Among many nations, some of the children are schooled and taught much of the wisdom and knowledge of the world, that they may have a knowledge of men and things, and be-come famous. If, then, the world, merely for gain and fame, which, to their children, cannot last longer than life, train them up to science and learning, for the sake of happiners in this state of existence, how much more necessary is it, that the disciples of Jesus Christ should teach their children, not only in common learning to transact business among men, but in the knowledge of God, which points out their way to eternal life?

As soon as Adam became a member of the enant, when he will put his law in their in-ward parts, and write it in their hearts; when he will be their God, and they will be his first example of teaching children, and might serve as a profitable lesson to all the disciples of our Lord in these last days to do likewise, lest the blood of their souls be required at their hands in a day to come.

We feel anxious on this point, when we reflect upon a certain clause in a revelation given for the benefit of the saints, in November, 1831, and particularly for the saints in Zion, who are required to teach their children the doctrine of repentance, faith in Christ the Son of the living God, that they may be bap-tized, and receive the Comforter, and all this by the time they are eight years old. Cer-tainly, then, there is to be an important duty attended to, by all who are blessed with chil-dren in Zion. In the world, surrounded with wickedness, children are allowed (many of them) to do as they please, or as their fancy leads them, being allured by the scenes of vice and folly constantly presented before them, until they grow up to years, and then are prepared themselves to fill the same paths of wretched depravity.

But in Zion, where the disciples are bles-sed with the oracles of God from time to time, they may so instruct their children, especially those that are now young, that they will be strangers to the thousand vices which now shock the meek and honest in heart, who are striving to do the will of the Lord in the Here they may be kept from polluworld. ting the holy Sabbath, from strolling about according to their own wills, and mingling with those who blaspheme the name of their Maker. Here they may be taught to appear before the Lord from time to time, and unite their petitions to him with their parents, and call down the richest blessings from above upon their heads: so that, out of the mouths of babes, praise may be perfected. Here they may grow up in righteousness, and be prepared to meet their Lord in peace, when he comes in his glory.

How important then, that they be watched over, and instructed in a feeling and impressive manner. How important that they be taught to be sober, and avoid every vain and foolish amusement. How important that they be taught to love one another, and al-ways speak the truth: and that for every word they will have to give an account. How important that they be taught to avoid quarrels, and angry words. How important that they be taught that God sees their hearts and knows the thoughts and intents of the How important that they be taught same. the example of the Savior, who, when he was reviled, reviled not again. How important that they be taught that he laid down his life for mankind, and that ere long he will judge the secrets of all hearts, and that none can escape the glance of his all-searching eye.

Up to the days when the tower of Babel was built, there was but one language, and how far the knowledge of men extended as a whole family, we shall not pretend to say .-But notwithstanding Noah and his sons were saved from destruction, because of wicked-ness the earth was divided in the days of Peleg, the sixth from Noah; after which Abraham was called, and unto him and his seed the promises were made.

gently unto their children also, that they might grow up in the knowledge of God. Rich and important instructions may be gained from a perusal of the commandments giv-He said thou en to the children of Israel. shalt rise up before the hoary head, and honor the face of the old man, and fear thy Ged: I am the Lord.

We said we would not pretend to say how far the knowledge of the world extended so one great family, even up to the days when the tower was built: but as to the saints, we have a right to say from facts revealed, that, before the flood, they knew more than the world will believe now: yes they had a know-ledge of the mysteries of eternity, that have been hid from the eyes of wicked men for ages and generations; mysteries and glorics which have been sought for by holy men, and seen by an eye of faith, even the city of Enoch that was taken up to the bosom of the Father.

What is learnt in childhood, is retained in age: so then, let us teach our children the great virtues, that make men good; and the truth from God that guides to eternal life.

We will teach them to trust in the arm of the Lord; to respect their parents; to honor age, and not rove abroad; for hundreds that have roamed to foreign parts, have been ruined. When children, as soon as they are old enough, are seen seeking employment & diversion for themselves, we may calculate, in nine cases out of ten, that they have not been taught strictly to keep the command-ments of the Lord, for if they had, the words of truth would always be in their hearts: Lord, lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.

Men, that have not professed to be guided by the revelations or religion of Jesus, have had wisdom enough to adopt the maxim of the poet:

"Tis education forms the common mind, Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclin'd."

Now, if the world at large, form their minds by precept, how much more noble will it be in the sight of the Lord, for the saints to teach their children by example. When men preach about being saved, be-fore a scrutinizing generation, they must show, by example, that they are heirs of eternal life themselves, or who will be bettertered by what they say? If children are taught to be humble, and keep the commandments of God, they set a pattern for man-kind, that the angels will rejoice over. The Savior said, when speaking of little children, Of such is the kingdom of heaven.

The prayers of the righteous avail much; yea, much more than many are aware of; and it ought to be impressed upon the minds of children. It ought to be impressed upon their minds also, as soon as they are old enough to know good and evil, that this life is one in which they must prepare for another: that this world will pass away, and bring them in the resurrection, into the presence of Jesus Christ, if they have kept his com-mandments, where they will live and reign.

It is a glorious thought, that some of the present generation will live to see great things, but it is more glorious to reflect, that the time is near when all that live will know The words that the Lord gave to Moses the Lord, from the least even to the greatest: for Israel, were commanded to be taught dili- Then children will be a heritage of God.

SAINT JOHN.

188

It is generally admitted that Saint John wrote his book of Revelations in the year 96 after the birth of the Savior. There has been much said by many on the import of the two following verses, viz: For I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book: and if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prsphecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book.

Now let the reader take notice, that the words of the prophecy of this book, meant the Revelation of Saint John, and not the whole bible, as some have endeavored to make the world believe.

If John meant any other book than his Revelation, it would have been better for him to have written his gospel and his epistles Sirst: But the Index to the Holy Bible, which is appended to many Great Bibles, has this information: Saint John is banished into the isle of Patmos by Domitian, and there receives and writes his Revelation. After the death of Domitian St. John returns to Ephesus, and at the request of the church writes his gospel.

Lus gospel. The fact is, the various books of the bible were not put together, in form, for many hundred years after John wrote the Revelations, and when authorized to be translated into English, by king James, the translators rejected some books, as doubtful, and admitted others with a small majority of one or two votes, as is said, and all this, too, without a prophet to inquire of the Lord, and know what was right.

John was the beloved disciple of the Lord, and would never be the first to break the Revelations of his Savior.

Again: to show that the above quoted verses meant the book of Revelations, it is thus written in the tenth chapter, And I went unto the angel, and said unto him, Give me the little book. And he said unto me, Take it, and eat it up; and it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shall be in thy mouth sweet as honey.

And I took the little book out of the angel's hand, and ate it up; and it was in my mouth sweet as honey: and as soon as I had eaten it my belly was bitter.

And he said unto me, Thou must prophesy again before many peoples, and nations, and tongues, and kings.

This promise to John that he should again prophesy, brings to mind what the Savior said to him before he was crucified: Then Peter, turning about, seeth the disciple whom Jesus loved, following: (which also leaned on his breast at supper, and said, Lord which is he that betrayeth thee?)

t Peter seeing him, saith to Jesus, Lord, and what shall this man do?

Jesus saith unto him, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee, Follow thou me.

Then went this saying abroad among the brethren, that that disciple should not die: yet Jesus said not unto him, He shall not die; but if I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? In one of the late revelations to the church in these last days, it is thus given of what was said: And the Lord said unto me, John my beloved, what desirest thou? and I said Lord, give unto me power that I may bring souls unto thee. And the Lord said unto me: Verily, Verily I say unto thee, because thou desiredst this, thou shalt tarry till I come in my glory.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER.

Rutland, Pa. March 19, 1833. Dear brethren in Zion, peace from God the Father and our Lord Jesus Christ, be with you all. I rejoice much for what my ears hear and my eyes see, of the rising & spreading glory of Zion in thse last days.

As the mild rays of the sun, poured forth upon the earth, causes vegetation to spring up, even so the rays that shine from Zion's hill, upon a benighted world, cause the fruits of righteousness to put forth in many parts of our land: And while we are yet struggling in the midst of spiritual Babylon, to save our souls, and them that hear us, it rejoices our hearts and feasts our souls, to hear through the medium of your Star, the success of our brethren who are also laboring in the vineyard, and have sent up their accounts to the land of Zion.

Now, inasmuch as it is requested in your paper, that the elders abroad should do thus, we, therefore take this opportunity to inform you, that we, through the grace of God, have shared a measure of the blessing shed forth in his new and everlasting covenant. About forty-five have been baptized into the shurch where I live. Some have set out for the land of Zion, and nearly all the rest are ready to go up this spring.

I was baptized one year ago from last June, and after a close trial of about three weeks respecting the revelations and the gathering to Zion, my mind became clear, and I was ordained an elder in the church of Christ.

In the fall following, I went with brothers Potter and Bowen to Shaftsbury, Vermont, where a few received the work. In the winter several of us went to Mendon, New York, and the work of the Lord commenced here. From thence we went to Warsaw, then to Lake Erie, and home by the way of Angelica, preaching the word, and blessed be the name of the Lord, signs tollowed them that believed; insomuch that some who were sick was healed, and some spake with tongues and glorified God.

Last summer four of us from Rutland, and two from Mendon, went to the province of Upper Canada. We landed at Kingston, and labored at Ernest town and its vicinity. Here thousands flocked to hear the strange news; even so that the houses could not contain the multitude, and we had to repair to the groves. Hundreds were searching the scriptures to see if these things were so. Many were partly convinced, and some were wholly so when we left, and a small church was founded there. We have heard since we came away, that the cause of the Lord was prospering in that region.

Brother Miller, an elder that has traveled with me in the two last routes, has baptized about twenty. I have babtized, in all, 35; nine in Rutland and Sullivan; four in Columbia; seven in Troy and three in Canton, Pa.;

five in Shaftsbury, Vermont; one in Chenan-go, and one in Mendon, New York, and five in Ernest town, Upper Canada.

We have labored under some disadvantage, not having instructions till within a few months past, respecting this great work, other than the Articles, book of Mormon, and the Comforter. But we remember, that where much is given, much is required, & where little is given, little is required: Therefore by the grace of God, we mean to improve the talent, or talents that we have received, that we may gain other talents: Hence we would call upon our brethren in Zion, from whence the light is to flow, and the law is to proceed, to remember us in Babylon, and let the strong bear the infirmities of the weak. Pray the heavenly Father to open an effectual door for us, to make our escape from the midst of spiritual wickedness, to the place of the name of the Lord of Hosts, the mount Zion.

We rejoice that the time has come, that the Lord has set his hand again the second time to gather his elect. That he has already set up his ensign and lifted the standard for the gathering of the nations; that the covenants and promises made to the fathers, concerning the remnants of his people, might be fulfilled.

And above all, we have great reason to rejoice, that we, as Gentiles, have the privilege of receiving the light manifested for their restoration; & by entering into the covenant, we may become the spiritual children of Abraham, and with Israel partake of the fatness and the fulness of the Olive tree.

We long to see the time when we can see the tribes of Israel's remnants, coming up to Israel with songs of everlasting joy; we long to see the time when Jacob's face will no longer wax pale; when the bride shall be adorned and ready for the Bridegroom; and finally, we long to see the time, when Jesus shall come in the clouds of heaven, with power and great glory, and be admired by all his saints

Your brethren in the Lord, ELIEL STRONG. ELEAZER MILLER.

The city of Florence stands in a delightful and extensive plain, fruitful, and filled with fine country places. The river Arno runs over which are four fine bridges through it, of stone: that called the Four Seasons has four large statues of marble, representing the four seasons of the year, at one end. It has but three arches, the vaults of which are almost flat: they are the admiration of archi-The work is of Michael Angelo Botects. narotti.

Its streets are spacious, well paved with large flat stones, called pietra forte, of which most of the houses are likewise built.

Its innumerable palaces, churches, &c. are erfect models of architecture. It contains 122 churches, 89 convents, 22 hospitals, 16 public pillars, 2 pyramids, 4 bridges, 7 foun-tains, 17 squares, and 160 public statues, the day, to catch a glimpse of what may be agreeable to the information of my guide .--lts walls are in tolerable repair, but its strength consists chiefly in three fortresses: the first of five bastions, the other two falling into decay. They are called Belvidere, San Minato, and San Giovani, (or St. John.)— The Dome or Cathedral called our Lady del Fiore, is an immensely large Gothic edifice, founded in the year 1294. It is covered with marble, both within and without, is 480 feet long, and to the cross on the globe upon the dome, 380 feet high; it is paved with fine marble: the choir is surrounded with pillars of marble, and with a great many figures of the same material.-Over the high altar, all of marble, appears our Savior in his sepulchre, supported by Piety, in white marble: above is God the Father, holding a book in his hand. On the other side of the altar is Adam and Eve, covered with a leaf, standing under the Tree of Life, exquisitely carved in fine marble; all executed, as well as the high altar itself, by Bandinello.

Against the huge pillars in the church, stand the Twelve Apostles, curiously carved. That of St. James, by Sansovin, is most admired. One of St. Antonius of a gigantic size, is very well executed. Here are many monuments of great men, as of Dante, the Tuscan Poet; of Marsilius Ficinus, the modern great Platonic philosopher, with his epitaph. Michael Angelo used to admire the cupola as an octagon 900 feet high. Each side of the octagon is 75 feet broad. A representation of the Last Judgment is painted on the inside of it by Zuccharo and Lazari; the outside is richly gilt: above the dome is a high capital upon pillars of white marble.-The gilt globe seems not larger than a man's head; yet they assured us it would contain twenty men. This dome is the work of Brunischelli.

The steeple, Il Companile, or La Torre del Compane, is a little separated from the church. It is a square building of a prodigious height, covered on every side with marble of different colors, red, white, and black, ble of different colors, reo, white, and balany and adorned with innumerable great statues incomparably carved, especially one of a bald old man by Donatelli. This towering steeple is ascended by 406 steps, and is rec-koned 180 feet high. It was built by Jottus, a famous architect and painter, as we learn from his epitaph in this church, composed by the celebrated Angelus Politianus.-Foreign paper.

THE CHOLERA IN HAVANA.

Accounts received by the Fun Fas, this Userana, tebrepent, the promorning, from Havana, represent the ress of this most dreadful of all human afand [1,000 whites, and 4,000 blacks] had died of the disease-and, on the day before the sailing of the Fan Fan, 500 persons are stated to have been taken off, and nearly the same number had been burned each day for geveral days previously.

CHINA.

On the 30th of Octobor, 67 houses and 700 boats were burnt in the suburbs of Canton, (Sha-meen.) Ten persons perished. The rebels continued in force, and had destroyed two forts erecting against them at Leenchow. Governor Le of Canton was reported to have been strangled, by order of the Emper-or. Governor Le had ordered 300 members of the Triad society to be put to death. Desapitations were frequent.

INDIAN TREATIES.

The Globe of Tuesday contains the treaty with the Menominees, as finally negotiated by Gov. Porter, of Michigan. Its chief ob-tect is to stipulate a reservation for the New York Indians on the east side of the Winne-bago lake—The New York Indians, includ-ing the remnants of the Stockbridge, Munsees, Brothertown, St. Regis, and Six Nation tribes, assenting. The same paper of the 22d, contains the Chickasaw treaty, duly ratified, stipulating for the removal of the whole Chickasaw nation west of the Mississippi

The Cherokees are now the only Indians remaining within any of the States.

We are informed by a gentleman direct from the neighborhood, in whom implicit credit may be placed, that seven severe ca-ses of the cholera occurred in the family of Mr. Tribew, in the north west part of this county, 12 or 15 miles from this place, three of which proved futal within a very short time. The eyes of one is said to have bursted.-Union.

Two Portuguese vessels also arrived from Oporto while the Marcellus lay at Gibraltar, and were likewise ordered off. The news created great alarm at Gibraltar. This is the first account of the cholera in eithcr Portugal or Spain.

A Proclamation, recently issued by our Board of Health,-exhorting our citizens to early preparations for re-sisting a second invasion by the disease which caused so much consternation last summer-has been republished by many intelligent journalists in other cities of the Union. The Nat. Intelligencer says: The solemn facts addressed to the Philadelphians, by the enlightened Board of that city, appeal with equal force to the inhabitants of every place which has been visited by the desolating scourge and especially of one where, on its first occurrence, its ravages were experienced with such dreadful severity as in this. Let the People, as well as the authorities, look to it, and do their part also, to avert the threatened return of the destroyer. Sat. Courier.

RUSSIA.

Hamburgh papers of the 12th, contain letters from St. Petersburg; their contents refer chiefly to the prevalence of the influenza, under which more than 100,000 persons were suffering. It was still more violent at Moscow, where the Theatres were closed on account of it.

Some of the more respectable people however had died, and the attacks of the disorder were as sudden and its course as short

A paper from Jamaica of the 2d of March, says: We have scarcely had a drop of rain for the last3three months. Several placards had recently been posted in the neighborhood of St. Ann's Bay, tending to excite rebellion and disobedience among the slaves.

The New Montreal Gazette, on the subject of the cholera, says: We take leave to ask what has been done by the constituted authorities of the province on this vitally important subject? If no precautionary measures have yet been adopted, not a moment longer should be lost. It is but reasonable to anticipate a second visit of this depopulating pestilence with the returning tide of emigration from Europe; and it then becomes the imperative duty of those who have the power, to guard, as far as human agency can, against a repetition of those scenes of desolation, which made our city a charnel house, and covered the whole province with mourners.

Our respectable colonists themselves are becoming alarmed at the great number of ignorant and abandoned characters that have arrived within the last twelve months; and almost daily representations are made by those who have applied themselves to the cultivation of the soil, of the deep depredations committed on their crops by the above described people, who cannot be induced to labor for their own support. -North Star.

Age after age has roll'd away Since man first dwelt in mortal clay; And countless millions slept in death, That once supplied a place on earth:

According to the fate of man, Which God had fix'd in his own plan, So age must come, and age must go Till work complete is here below:

Which had been seen by saints of old, And by the prophets were foretold; Which wondrous things are drawing near: That Enoch saw, and saints did cheer.

Enoch who did converse with God: Stood on the mount and stretch'd abroad His soul wide as cternity: He rent the vail and wonders see.

With mighty faith he did expand O'er earth and heaven, o'er sea and land, Till things above and things below He did behold; yes, did them know.

His heart he tun'd to notes above, His soul o'erwhelm'd with boundless love, He sang a song in heav'nly lays, While angels' tongues join'd him in praise.

With finger end God touch'd his eyes That he might gaze within the skies; His voice he rais'd to God on high, Who heard his groans and drew him nigh.

With joy and wonder, all amaz'd, Amid the heav'nly throng he gaz'd! While heav'nly music charm'd his ear, And angels' notes, remov'd all fear.

Hosanna, he aloud did cry, To God who dwells above the sky: Again, Hosanna did resound, Among the heav'nly hosts around.

His voice he rais'd in higher strains, Echo'd and re-echo'd again, Till heaven and earth his voice did hear: Eternity did record bear.

The trump of God around the throne Proclaim'd the power of God anon, And sounded loud what should take place, From age to age, from race to race.

Among the heavenly hosts he sang God's scheme of life for sinful man, And for the gospel's saving grace, He prais'd the Father face to face.

The end of all his labors here, Were all unfolded to him there: Hiis city rais'd to dwell on high, With all the saints above the sky.

He saw before him all things past, From end to end, from first to last; Yes, things before the world began, Or dust was fashion'd into man.

The place of Adam's first abode, While in the presence of his God: Before the mountains rais'd their heads, Or the small duit of balance weigh'd,

With God he saw ! ....... rese began, And from him emanated man, And with him did in glory dwell Before there was an earth or hell.

From age to age, whate'er took place, Was present then before his face; 12 t. 6. And to the latest years of man, Was plain before him, heav'ns' plan.

His eyes with wonder did behold, Eternal glories yet untold; And glorious things of latter time, Which angels have to tell to men.

He then did hear, in days old, The message that to John was told; The angel which the news did bring, He heard him talk and heard him sing.

And knew before the days of John, What glories were on him to dawn, The message which he did receive, He heard and saw, and did believe.

He knew full well what John should bear, Concerning times and latter years, When God again should set his hand, To gather Israel to their lands.

The gospel then from darkest shades, Should rise and go with rapid strides, Till nations distant, far and near, The glorious proclamation hear.

The angel that this news proclaims, Should come and visit earth again, Commit the gospel, long since lost, To man, with power, as at the first.

Ere long the vail will rend in twain, The King descend with all his train; The earth shall shake with awful fright, And all creation feel his might.

The trump of God, it long shall sound, And raise the nations under ground; Throughout the vast domains of heav'n The voice echoes, the sound is given.

Lift up your heads ye saints in peace, The Savior comes for your release; The day of the redeem'd has come, The saints shall all be welcom'd home.

Behold the church, it soars on high, To meet the saints amid the sky; To hail the King in clouds of fire And strike and tune th' immortal lyre.

Hosanna now the trump shall sound, Proclaim the joys of heav'n around, When all the saints together join, In songs of love, and all divine.

With Enoch here we all shall meet, And worship at Messiah's feet, Unite our hands and hearts in love, And reign on thrones with Christ above.

The city that was seen of old Whose walls were jasper, and streets gold, We'll now inherit thron'd in might: The Father and the Son's delight.

Celestial crowns we shall receive, And glories great our God shall give, While loud hosannas we'll proclaim, And sound aloud our Savior's name.

Our hearts and tongues all join'd in one, A loud hosanna to proclaim, While all the heav'ns shall shout again, And all creation say, Amen.
